FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

EIU OFFERS CLASS IN FLORA

CHARLESTON -- Eastern Illinois University is offering a course in the Board Room of Community Unit #35 during the spring semester.

The course is part of Eastern's Family and the Law Series and will address "Life Planning Issues." Learners will explore trusts and recent changes in trust law, wills, durable powers of attorney and advance directives as well as probate concerns. The emphasis will be on the relationship of the law to family life.

Taught by Kirsten Bays, an attorney with an advanced degree in family and consumer sciences, the course is offered on Friday evening, Feb. 28, and Saturday, March 1.

This course applies toward Eastern's Board of Governors Bachelor of Arts degree program, a nontraditional degree program for working adults, which allows learners to combine university courses with portfolio credit for life experiences to earn an undergraduate degree.

For information about how to register for this course, contact Eastern's
