FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--Randall Stearns, an Eastern Illinois University masters in business administration student from Charleston, is one of four statewide college students to receive an Export Development Internship through the Illinois Export Council.

Stearns is assigned this semester to the Department of Commerce and Community Affairs/International Division and "will help exporters improve their financing and enhance their trade missions," according to a spokesman from the Lt. Governor's office which administers this program.

The goal of the internship is to provide practical learning experiences to quality students and to develop the export capabilities of small and medium-sized firms that may not have the expertise or manpower to enter international markets.

Stearns is the son of Ron and Rachel Stearns, R.R. 4, Charleston.
