FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--Linda Huddleston of Charleston has been honored as the Eastern Illinois University November 'Employee of the Month'.

She is the fifth monthly employee to be honored in a newly-implemented program designed to "recognize exemplary performance" by the civil service employees.

Mrs. Huddleston is employed as the department secretary for Speech Pathology and Audiology and the Speech and Hearing Clinic. She attended EIU for two years and except for a four year period has worked at the university since 1967.

"It is an honor and I was struck by the fact that so many people supported me. I appreciate the time and effort they took to nominate me. I really enjoy working here . . . the people are very pleasant," she said.

Recipients were selected by a committee from a list of nominations. Eligible is any fulltime employee after a six-month probationary period.
