Warbler Sponsors a Sales Contest Between Leagues

Contest Between Men's Union and Women's League Starts January 6.

ON PERCENTAGE PLAN

The 1931 Warbler is sponsoring a sales contest between the Men's Union and the Women's League, according to a statement issued by James Reynolds '33, business manager of the publication. The contest is to start on January 6 and will last through February 6.

Number of Sales
According to the plans as stated the prize awarded will be based on the number of sales made. If a minimum of 400 copies is sold in the college, the winner will receive twenty-five dollars. If 500 copies are sold the prize will be $50.00 and if the total number comes to 600 or more the grand prize will be $75.00. It is up to the members of the organizations to push the sales to these totals.

This is the first real chance to see how these newly-formed organizations will function under pressure. The prizes are well worth working for and will be quite an honor to the winners.

Percentage Basis
The contest will be decided on the percentage basis of sales; that is, if 95 per cent of the men buy Warblers and 90 per cent of the women make purchases, the Men's Union will win and if the percentage is reversed, the opposite will be true.

It is rumored that the Men's Union is to be organized into sales units in order to be better organized in its drive for the prize and the right to win over the girls' organization. So far, no news has been forthcoming from the calm but positive statement of President Malloy that "The girls will win."

On the other hand, Rex McCormick states that "The result is easy to see. Of course the women haven't a chance. Someone is going to be wrong; the question is who?"

Beginning today, from one to twenty-five, students may pay for Warblers and do their part toward supporting their organizations. The money will be taken at the above time every school day except Saturday. The price is three dollars until January 15. After that date it will be $3.25 until February 15.

"Thermometers" Erected
Two large "thermometers" will be erected in the front hall on Thursday and every day at 2:25 p. m. the increases in percentage and the comparative standings of the sides will be posted on them. Students will be able to watch the results of the race day by day and the interest is expected to be great.

Of course the contest is based on sales, so when you buy your Warbler you are also helping your organization win the valuable prize.

Who will win? Jim Reynolds. "The men will win in a walk." Mr. Abraham. "The women have already made their plans to spend the prize." Take your choice.

Shields Business Manager Players

Thompson Shields '31 was elected business manager of the Players at a meeting last Friday evening. This election was caused by the withdrawal of Alleen Marley from school.

Fred Foreman '33 was promoted to associate membership in the scenic department at the same meeting.

News to Enter Annual Paper Contest Soon

The News is preparing at the present to enter the seventh annual contest by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association on March 12, 13, 14, 1931. A copy of each issue of the paper has been mailed to New York for the judges' scrutiny and a long bank of questions answered to acquaint those in charge with the handling of the paper.

This questionnaire is a new feature of the contest. In it, all possible conditions which should be brought to the attention of the judges are explained and the paper analyzed carefully.

Prizes are awarded each year to the best papers in each class, one of which is for teachers colleges and normal schools only. Last year the Vidette of State Normal was awarded a first place.

Besides the prizes, the sponsors of the contest furnish each paper with a careful analysis of the publication, showing any and all possible improvements which can be suggested. Editors have found these very helpful in correcting make-up and content.

There is a convention in connection with the contest, but present indications seem to show that the News will not be represented there.

Twenty-four are Honored by Initiation Friday Night

F. B. Snyder to Lecture Here On Friday Evening

Franklyn B. Snyder, professor of English at Northwestern University, will appear at the college on Friday evening, January 9. This is the second number on the Entertainment Course and students' recreation tickets will admit them. Mr. Snyder comes very highly recommended and is a man of high abilities and scholarship. Mr. Lord says of him, "His subject matter is presented clearly. It is interesting and well-worth while."

Story and Blair Attend National Phi Sig Conclave

Blair Elected National Vice-President at Kirksville, (Mo.) Convention.

Richard Story '32 and Paul Blair '33 recently attended the national convocation of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity, which was held at Kirksville, Missouri. They report that they had a very profitable and enjoyable time.

In the elections of officers of the national organization, Paul Blair was elected vice-president of the fraternity and will serve in that capacity until next year. He will attend the next convention, to be held in Pittsburgh, Kansas next winter. Other officers include: Fred Schwengel, Kirksville—president; Fogg, Pittsburg, Kansas—secretary; Freeman, Emporia, Kansas—treasurer; and Morris, Kirksville—historian.

Since the last convention two new chapters have been added to the list. One at Tonkwa, Oklahoma and another at Hayes, Kansas. During the convention the petition of Greeley, Colorado was accepted and other chapters are coming in shortly.

The fraternity will soon be incorporated under the laws of Kansas and will then exist under a charter from the secretary of that state. With this improvement it will be possible to eliminate many of the defects of the present unincorporated body.

A book of the fraternity songs is being prepared and will be issued shortly by the national officers.

Greeson to Head the Science Club

J. C. Greeson '32, will head the Science Club for the next year as a result of the election of officers held at the last meeting. Other officers are Mary Holmes, vice-president; Frances Finley, secretary; and Forest Montgomery, treasurer. O. L. Railback will act as the faculty adviser.

The election of the officers followed the report of the nominating committee consisting of Mahlon Hillard, Charles Askew and Rhule Chidress. The intention of the sponsors of the club is to give the office some continuity and this election is the first held under the new system.

After the election of officers, Mr. Spooner of the Zoology department gave a very interesting talk on "Evidence of Intelligence in Animals." Because of the short amount of time allotted to him, Mr. Spooner's illustrations were drawn largely from the lower groups of animals especially insects.

Many Organized Houses are Scattered Over the Campus

Activities of Houses Explained—First Attempt of the Kind.

Since the formation of the Women's League there have been several houses out in town organized. The girls living at the Mac Cochran house, 1707 Ninth street, were the first to organize and to them goes the credit for starting this movement. Ruth Corley is President of the Hangar, as it is called. Blanche Walden, Shirley Poland, Edna Fortner, Lois Addins, and Mary Miller are the other members of the organization. Regular meetings are held and entertainment is given. The Hangar House had a pleasing float in the Homecoming Parade.

The second group of girls to be bitten by the organization bug were those living at the Wm. Crispin home, 1527 Seventh. These girls organized October 10 under the name of the W. W. C. C.'s. Shirley Bancroft is President, Cecile Burckille is Vice-President, and Chairman of Program Committee. Mae Lindsay is Secretary-Treasurer, and Mabel Lonsbury is Sergeant-at-Arms. The other members are Ruby Hendrix, Alice Conover, Isabel Sigel, Martha Glathart, Helen Craig, Blanche O'Brien, Thelma Major, and Geraldine Lewis. The W. W. C. C.'s meet every two weeks on Monday night. A club song has been composed, and several very interesting meetings have been held as well as some parties and one birthday dinner given December 7 in honor of Ruby Hendrix and Mae Lindsay.

The Ten Trimbles reside at the Trimbles home on Seventh street. Marie Fureval is President, and the remaining nine are Naomi Jones, Mary Powell, Esther Kiger, Hazel Sparks, Jenavie Burton, Madonna Greener, Lillian Gobie, Pauline Bennett, and Lillie Donley.

The Wumbel's Club was organized November 20. Madonna Masteyson is President, and Betty Broom is Vice-President. The other members at that time were Ira McCrillis, Lena Sherrick, Elsie Waterford, and Mary Whitaker. Since that time, however, there have been two new members added, namely Velma Rodebaugh and Maxine Stockbarger. This club is conducted in the manner of a sorority having pledges, initiations, and so forth.

This is the first time that the out-in-town girls have ever had an organization of this sort and it is hoped that in the near future there will be more houses organized, and in this way a basis for a sorority secured.

College Class Christmas Party

The college class of the Methodist Sunday school gave a Christmas dinner in the basement of the church for nearly one hundred poor children of Charleston on Monday, December 15. After a well prepared dinner which was served by Hazel Whitesell, Kathryn Moss, Evelyn Harwood, Dorothy Henry, Ruth Morris, Mildred Handley, Helen Westrup and several other members of the class, the children played games which were under the direction of Agnes Gray, Alfreida Schuetz and Lois Harrison.

Miss Ruth Major then led the children in singing well-known Christmas carols and sang some to them that were not so well known. Miss Hansen played two piano solos, "Sparks," and "Butterflies." Miss Henrietta Westrup played a violin solo and Lowell Monical gave a cornet solo accompanied on the piano by Karl McWilliams. Rev. White told a Christmas story of his early childhood after which Mrs. Naomi Warber gave several delightful readings. Santa Claus then took charge and distributed toys which had been donated to the class by church members.

The class has given an annual Christmas party for several years, this year deciding to add the dinner also. Each member of the class gave thirty cents and invited an unfortunate child. The class which is made up of college boys and girls has an average attendance of 75, the attendance reaching 120 just before Christmas. A social meeting is held once a month and much interest is shown in the class which is very efficiently taught by Mrs. Frank Popham.

"Ignorant" Smith College Freshmen

Instances of "amazing ignorance" among freshmen at Smith College were cited to a student health conference by two members of the Smith faculty. Many young women at the school, Dr. Frances Scott and Dr. Anna Richardson said, believed:

1. That raisins are a better source of iron than eggs.
 2. That the potato is the most fattening of foods.
 3. That fat is more likely to result from drinking water with meals than from eating potatoes.
 4. That the toe-out method of walking is best.
 5. That Turkish baths are the best method of exercise.
- The samples were called typical of popular misconceptions and superstitions among young college women about exercise, food, ventilation, infant welfare, mental hygiene and preventable diseases. The conference was attended by student health supervisors of 150 colleges.

AT THE SHOWS

Tonight for the last times the Fox-Lincoln is presenting a new Fox release "Just Imagine," starring El Brendel, Maureen O' Sullivan, Marjorie White, John Garrick, and Frank Albertson.

Just imagine El Brendel hilarious on pills. Just imagine this little world of ours in 1980 where a man has to submit his application for marriage to a marriage tribunal. 'Tis all true in "Just Imagine," the picture that is idealized as a successor to their previous "Sunny Side up."

"Under Suspicion" is the offering for Wednesday and Thursday, starring Lois Moran. The personification of charm, poise, and personality, and J. Harold Murray.

This picture is a song romance of the Northwest with Murray as a war hero who joins the "Mounties" and is forced to hide in the shadow of disgrace to shield another.

Friday and Saturday brings Marilyn Miller, the girl who made "Sally," in a captivating movie called "Sunny." Marilyn is supported by Lawrence Gray, Joe Donahue, Mackenzie Ward, and Inez Courtney.

Sunny is a dancer and performer in a circus where she meets Tom Warring and it is love at first sight for Sunny. Tom leaves for America and Sunny goes to the boat to see him off and becomes a stowaway. Jim is very much in love with Sunny and is on the same boat and of course Tom is engaged to another girl. In order to get into America Sunny marries Jim who gives her a divorce as soon as they get in America. Sunny, thinking that there is no chance to get Tom, prepares to leave for England. Tom is able to break his engagement with Marica which leaves him free to propose to Sunny—and, of course she accepts.

Sunday brings "Part Time Wife," starring Edmund Lowe and Lella Hyams, supported by Tommy Clifford and Walter McGrall.

News that his oil company has had a colossal drop in earnings cause Lowe to hurry home in an angry mood. On arriving home he finds that his wife is not there. He finds later that she has been playing golf with one Johnny McGrall and orders her not to spend so

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE

We are proud possessors of a charter from the National Council of Kappa Delta Pi, establishing the Beta Psi chapter of that organization in this school.

Those who were honored by being initiated into the chapter last week have in turn brought honor to the school by bringing such an outstanding order to the school. We now take our place in the sun with other teachers colleges and schools of education by housing this honor society.

Someone has asked, "What can a society of this kind do in a school where the primary motive is education and the training of educators?"

Kappa Delta Pi is professional as well as honorary. If teaching is to be removed from the present classification of a calling and raised to that high standing of a profession, it is up to organizations of teachers and educators to do it. Kappa Delta Pi is undertaking at present a program which may ultimately lead to this.

We heard a talk last week on "our noble calling" in which the speaker tried to point out to us the fact that we should take some pride in our calling and do our level best to better it. It is organizations such as Kappa Delta Pi which will do this and with such men as Bagley, Thorndyke, Judd, Cubberly, and a host of others in its ranks, something is bound to be accomplished.

STANDARDS AND PREPARATION

The present status of the teaching profession brings to light two conditions, both of which deserve more than passing attention. With the teacher market over-supplied and the demand at somewhat of an ebb, it is the best of the graduates who will secure the positions.

The various school boards and systems over the country can do much to improve conditions if they have the interests of education at heart. There is no better time than the present to weed out the misfits and unprepared teachers in the school systems. Well trained and capable teachers can be hired at the same salaries and the level of the system will be raised that much.

The schools themselves can help by raising their standards for graduation and awarding of degrees. The wise ones are taking care of this possibility and this school is following suit.

A possibility which has been overlooked in the schools, however, is the increasingly present specialization of training. In the business world, it is the specialist who commands the fine position and high salary. It should be the same in school teaching.

While we should acquire a liberal education along with our training, a certain amount of this narrowing specialization should be introduced. Our high schools are specializing, yet the teachers colleges still turn out jacks-of-all-trades.

E. I. should prepare teachers in special branches. At present this is impossible except in the academic subjects. What can one of our graduates do in the teaching of business law, typewriting, shorthand, and related commercial subjects? What can he do in teaching journalism, which is becoming a part of nearly every high school in the country? And though we may not like the idea, how can he compete with athletic coaches from the universities when he is primarily a history or manual arts teacher and secondarily a coach?

The next few years should see the development of a special physical education department, a course in journalism, commercial courses and any other special courses necessary.

Kicks and Komments

Letters do not necessarily reflect the opinion of the News. Please limit communications to 150 words if possible. All contributions must be signed, though names will not be printed unless requested.

Dear Editor:

I should like to see another serial or group of short stories started in the future. This was one of your best features last year and would be good again this year. Won't you try it?

—J. A. 33

(Are you speaking for a group of students or is this a personal opinion? If the story feature is popular with the students, the News is glad to supply it.)

Dear Kicks:

What has happened to our Entertainment Course? They promised us big things at the first of the year and so far we have had only the Kedroffs. Where is the "Beggars' Opera" and those others? What do we pay for anyway?

JAYKAYELL

(My, my, you ask a lot of questions which we can't answer.)

To the News:

I feel sorry for those Freshmen next fall. The way these year's Frosh are taking their great cap rules and other Freshman rules they'll make it plenty tough on the next class.

They are getting their real class spirit, though, and that is a good sign. I notice that they even drag their own classmates over to their side of the gym at the basketball games and that demonstration they put on at chapel on Homecoming shows that they have some pride in their class honor. That should make it really set by next year.

The class fight in the spring will probably find this at its height and as it should be. Fifteen for the Frosh.

—A Rhine

Dear Editor:

What's happened to the girls' basketball? I'd like to see some games if they ever play any, and I think there are more.

The intramurals provide most of the students with athletics and the girls should not fall down after this start.

I DO NOT know that I could make entirely clear to an outsider the pleasure I have in teaching. I had rather earn my living by teaching than in any other way. In my mind, teaching is not merely a livelihood, a profession, an occupation, a struggle; it is a passion. I love to teach as a painter loves to paint, as a musician loves to play, as a singer loves to sing, as a strong man rejoices to run a race. Teaching is an art—an art so great and so significant that to master that a man or woman can spend a long life at it, without realizing much more than his limitations and mistakes and his distance from the ideal. There never has been in the world's history a period when it was more worthwhile to be a teacher than in the twentieth century; for there was never an age when such vast multitudes were eager for an education or when the necessity of a liberal education was so generally recognized. It would seem as though the whole world were trying to lift itself to a higher plane of thought.—WILLIAM LYON PHILIP

A "SELF HELP" PLAN

From "The Victim"

"Not cheap, but different"

That is the way Dr. Wm. M. Hudson, president of Blackburn College, Carlinville, Illinois, briefly describes the college, which uses the rather unusual "self-help" plan.

Blackburn is not cheap as is shown by the fact that tuition there is $100 each semester, or $200 for the school year. To this must be added the cost of text books and incidental fees such as laboratory fees in chemistry and physics. From this one can readily see that it is not a cheap school in any sense of the word.

Your question arising now is "How is Blackburn different from other universities and colleges?" Blackburn is different in that it has developed and used very extensively the "self help" plan.

At Blackburn no person pays for board, room rent, or laundry fees. That may sound rather striking now, but after studying at the school, you will see how easily this is accomplished.

Student Manager has Charge

What does "self-help" mean? It means exactly what it says, that every one helps himself. In the spring before school is dismissed the president of Blackburn chooses a student, who is intending to return the next year, to serve as student manager. The qualifications for this position are that one must know people, and how to get along with them with the least difficulty.

The student manager has charge of the purchasing of school supplies, such as food, and laundry supplies. He also has in his charge the care of the heating plant, laundry, janitor work, painting, and refinishing work, and landscape gardening.

The following fall when school opens and all of the students have been registered, the student manager makes out a work schedule on which each student's name is placed. Each student is required to work two and one half hours each day at his designated task. He is also given a time card on which he registers each day the number of hours that he works.

The student manager appoints several students to assist him in his work. In this group are a head janitor, librarian, dressman, carpenter, painter, cook, laundress, and landscape gardener. Each of these persons has charge of the various phases of work and are responsible for them.

Entire Work Done by Students
An imaginary trip through this school would make this system much clearer. As we enter the campus, we see students caring for trees, shrubs, and grass. Entering the main building, we find a student book store and a library run by students. Here we find the administration offices where the clerks and secretaries are college students. And a student is janitor of this building.

Let us now go to the girls' dormitory. There in the basement we find a large dining room and kitchen where the food for 200 students is prepared and served to them by their fellow students, both men and women.

In another part of the basement we find men and women students washing and ironing the clothing of the student body.

Trips to the college farm and heating plant would reveal the fact that all of the work there is also done by college students. On another part of the campus we find a new building being erected and there are the students again excavating, laying foundation, mixing concrete, wheeling concrete, carry-

AS WE SEE IT

THE BIG event of the week has been the installation of the Beta Psi chapter of Kappa Delta Pi at this school. Every student who was initiated into the society Friday night has been distinctly honored and the rating of the school has been raised because of the fact that a national honor society of this calibre has been located here. We have been honoring every other form of achievement and finally we have come around to honoring scholarship, the highest aim of the school.

THE OTHER Greek letter organization of the campus, Phi Sigma Spellon, also included in a little broadening lately by sending two of its members to a national convention of that fraternity. These two men report that the interest of the other chapters in our school and its progress was one of the highlights of the meeting. It certainly pays students to come in contact with students of other schools and to acquire in some degree at least the cosmopolitan attitude toward education. There is not enough of this sort of thing.

ALUMNI and others formerly connected with the school are probably surprised at the large number of "organized houses" on the campus this year, but this is only a natural outgrowth of the feeling which has been developing in this school for the past three years. This year should see it come to the surface. The natural result will be the formation of a group of savants in the school.

THIS ACTION seems to be a certainty and with the administrative approval should be brought along in good shape before the end of the year. We have been trying to convince the world that we are not a flock of country yokels, now is the time to clinch our arguments. The News has advocated the formation of at least one sorority for the past year. We feel, however, that this number should be raised and that there should be at least three groups organized. Give the girls a chance.

ANOTHER COLLEGE is taken over and our process of examination continues. There has been a tendency in the past few years to consolidate various overlapping branches of learning for the sake of efficiency and economy if nothing else. Knox took over Lombard last year and now Wesleyan has acquired Harding college. It will not be many years until the country will see no more of the struggling small college.

AND WHILE we are mentioning Wesleyan, we note that a writer in that school recently referred to Milikin, Bradley, and Wesleyan as the big three of Illinois. With such self-complacency, it's no wonder the poor teachers colleges can't be seen. Why not erect a big high-board fence around the three above-mentioned schools and let them continue merrily along as "The Big Three" (and only three)?

THE FROSH come through and put their Frolic on in fine shape. How different are these class affairs from the regular Saturday night dances, and there is only one cause. They are advertised. Why not give it a trial on the Saturday night school dances?

OUR BROADCASTS will be resumed shortly and from present indications will be put on the air weekly. This means that the school will have to be secured for talent and all the possible talent employed if we are to continue giving varied and interesting programs. A director of programs will be selected soon and he will sign up all the performers he can use. Volunteers will be appreciated.

THE NEWS enters the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, soon and hopes to gain several helpful suggestions from the judges of the contest. It will be interesting to compare the report on the paper of last year and the one of this year. Such criticism coming from a professional and impartial source is the most helpful we can get.

WHICH REMINDS us that there is to be an editor and business manager elected in the not far distant future. Applicants for the positions should start showing some interest in the work before long. There are two good positions for some students. Who wants them?

ing hod, putting steel frame work in place, and doing other kinds of work necessary for the construction of the building.

This work is all being done in addition to a full college course that must be taken by each student.

Work Days Declared
At regular intervals during the year "work days" are declared, school is dismissed and every one works for eight hours. This time is spent in making apple butter and jelly, or in the canning of fruits and vegetables for use during the winter. The students who are not needed for this work spend their time giving the building a thorough cleaning.

After seeing the self help plan in action you can readily recognize why students do not pay board, room rent, or laundry bills. They merely use the "self-help" plan and help themselves.

Malone's Basketball Riot

"In conclusion," writes Corey Ford, The Grand Old Man of Basketball, in the February College Humor, "I feel that the history of basketball would not be complete unless I mentioned the great Basketball Riot of 1843, which took place while I was Captain of the Princeton team of that year. It was a direct result of this riot, in fact, that the modern basket, in which the bottom of the net was cut out, first came into vogue. In my day the basket was not cut as it is today, but consisted of a large closed net hanging from a round iron brace, in which the ball rested after it entered the basket without falling through. At first these nets had seemed satisfactory but as months went by and one basketball after another came to rest within these nets, high off the floor, it became apparent that sooner or later we would be faced with a serious basketball shortage, threatening the whole future of the sport. Pleas of the undergraduates were of no avail; the authorities steadfastly refused to cut the nets and release the captive basketballs, and at last the loyal supporters of the game decided to take a hand. A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in the old Nassau Hall on the evening of December 2, 1843, and one Dudley Malone, center of the Princeton team, made a stirring speech pointing out the dire possibilities of the situation.

"When in the course of human events," said Malone in part, "it become necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of Nature and Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation."

"This stirring speech had the desired effect. An undergraduate uprising followed, known as the Princeton Rebellion, in which scores were killed or wounded, and at last the frightened authorities gave in and consented to cut the ropes at the bottom of the basket. Thus the game of basketball was saved. On the other hand, the nets were ruined."

Entering on the second round, the intramural play finds only two unbeaten teams, and they have not played their second games yet. The Senior Mules and Toledo Bums lead the procession now, but their games this week may tell a different story. Four teams have won and lost one each and are knotted in the middle group. The Junior Indians and Fourth Street Monks bring up the procession. The week's results:

Rhines 21 — Physigs 15

The Prosh trampled on the Phi Sigs in the second battle of the series and emerged victors by a score of 21-15. Burns led the Rhines in their first game, sinking four baskets. Buckler performed the same duty for the Physigs.

Baseball to Be Continued at Knox

Baseball will be carried on the Knox athletic schedule for another year as a result of a successful campaign carried on by students to raise the amount necessary to guarantee its continuance.

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Board of Control it was decided to approve the action of the budget committee removing baseball from the sport calendar but devote of the sport argued against the action and were assured college sanction of the sport providing five hundred dollars could be raised to take care of the customary college allotment. As a result the members of the team and other interested students conducted a vigorous campaign and succeeded in raising the necessary amount, guaranteeing the presence of the sport another year.

E. I. Trims Sparks In the Last Non-Conference Game

Von Behren Ties with Wasem For High Point Honors of Panthers.

In their last nonconference game before the opening of the regular season the Panthers upset the highly touted Sparks B. C. five Friday night by a 35-22 score. Sparks was outplayed from the starting whistle to the final gun and their only menacing threat came at the beginning of the second half when Fiesel, the former Shurtleff center, sank three field goals in rapid succession. Without Fiesel the game would not have been much of a contest as he snared seven field goals to capture high point honor for the night.

VonBehren played the best game that he has exhibited this season and tied with Wasem for local high point honors with five field goals. Both VonBehren and McClain played clever floor games and their passing although somewhat erratic at the beginning of the game was working somewhat smoothly at the second half. Seemingly it was the forwards night off as far as basket shooting was concerned as they were only able to contribute seven points to the total.

The game started off fast and furious as Hall fouled Babe Salsi, the Sparks captain, going under the basket for a sleeper. Salsi missed both of his free throws, a rare occurrence for him, and seemingly Salsi never recovered from the effects of the foul for the remainder of the game as far as his performance was concerned. York fouled McClain and he made the free toss good to send the Panthers into an early one point lead. VonBehren and Burrey came through with long field goals but

Basketeers Meet Millikin Wednesday Night; Tangle With Shurtleff Saturday

Expect Hard Battle at Decatur
—Teams About Evenly Matched.

Fresh from an easy 55-22 victory over Sparks B. C. the Panthers are looking forward to the Millikin tussle Wednesday night with more than ordinary interest. The Panthers have rounded into form quickly since their one-point defeat at the hands of the Taylorville Scouts early in the season and have run their winning streak to four straight games.

Powerful Offense

Featuring the play of the Lantz men so far this season has been their powerful offensive demonstration. In their first five games of the 1930-31 season the Panthers have averaged 39 points per contest while their opponents have averaged 26 points per game. All five of the Blue and Gray regulars have scored at least twenty points this season and Captain Wasmann leads in this respect with fifty two points.

Another feature of the local scoring is that in five games all the regulars with the exception of Joe Hall, veteran forward, have averaged with high point honors at least once.

Contrasting current season records with Millikin tend to make the outcome of the game a tossup. Both colleges have played Rose Poly, of Terre Haute, and Sparks B. C. The Decaturites had an easier time in defeating the Rangers than did the Panthers although the score was a few points closer but on the other hand Millikin had a hard battle before they finally subdued Sparks B. C.

Millikin Lame Two

Millikin has not fared so well in their last two contests although it is generally conceded that the caliber of their opponents was of the highest class. On New Year's eve the North Dakota Aggies handed them their first defeat of the season 77-24 and on Friday night, Loyola of Chicago, had little trouble in downing Millikin 27-13.

Hank Gill, the Millikin basketball mentor, was handicapped by the ineffectiveness of several of his stars in early games but all of these players have now returned within the good graces of the instructor. The return of Charles Smith, last year's captain, Gene Woods, and Stahlbaum, also former lettermen, has noticeably increased the strength of the squad.

Lantz Backed

Cochran Lantz is well satisfied with the present condition of his squad and in both practice sessions held this week attempted to polish up the team's short pass attack. One of the reasons for the team's success this season has been that every man on the floor is a clever shot. Joe Hall has not attained his high point's form when he was high point man for the season but if his play in practice can be taken as a criterion Hall is due to break loose with plenty of baskets soon. Von Behren's play was the feature of the Sparks game and with the team clicking on all five prospects seem bright for a victory.

First Meeting

Although the two teams have not met on the basketball court for several years, in the past the Panthers have always been able to give a good account of themselves. In fact, for the last two seasons that Millikin has appeared on the schedule the Panthers have been victorious on both occasions. The last victory achieved over the Decaturites was about four years ago when "Frat" Furman, "Quick" Brown and "Andy" Menzies got hot on the basket and swamped their opponents.

The regular five will start for the locals; Hall and Burrey, forwards; Wasmann, center; and Von Behren and McClain, guards. For Millikin, Smith and Holmes will probably start at forward, Captain Merklebach at center, and Musso and Miller, guards.

Pioneers Return to Avenge
Last Year's Defeat in Local Crackerbox.

One of the bright spots of the local sport calendar comes to light next Saturday night when the Shurtleff team plays at the local gymnasium. This contest will be the third conference game of the Panther schedule and appears to be one of the toughest of the schedule.

Last season Shurtleff was riding on top of the Little Nineteen cage conference until they had misfortune of playing E. I. in the local "crackerbox." Memories of that defeat will insure fans a hard fought contest. Some strength of the Alton squad can be estimated by their close 28-24 defeat at the hands of St. Victor, undoubtedly the toughest team in the conference.

Three Men Back

Two men are lost from the squad last year that carried the team near the top rung of the Little Nineteen basketball ladder. "Red" Wead, last year's captain has graduated and is now playing independent basketball around Edwardsville while Fiesel withdrew from Shurtleff and is now performing with Sparks B. C. Both men were of great value to the team and the loss of Fiesel was especially a hard blow.

This year's team is moulded around three veterans — Nicolet, Mayfield and Tallman. The name Nicolet needs no introduction to any basketball fan that has been following basketball among the minor colleges of Illinois. Bill Nicolet, the player in question, succeeds the famous red-head as the shooting fool from Shurtleff. "Red" Nicolet was a former all-conference guard on the I. A. I. C. team and his brother received quite a lot of recognition in his freshman year.

Mayfield to Forward

Mayfield paired with Nicolet at a guard position last year but his ability to sink baskets has caused Coach Woods to shift him to forward. His great height makes him an extremely valuable man under the basket. Tallman, Fiesel's understudy last year, has blossomed out into a full fledged center this season and will cause plenty of worry to the Panther guards in the Saturday night game. A former all-Kankakee high school forward, Sammy Bason, is quite a performer as a forward position and if he can duplicate his football success on the basketball court he is going to be hard to stop.

E. I. Trims Sparks
In Slow Game 35-22

Cochran countered with a field goal on a upoff play and Fiesel hooked in two short field goals to send Sparks in the lead 6-5.

McClain tried a long shot and was successful in playing the rebound to again force into the lead but Fiesel's third field goal within five minutes sent Sparks into the lead for the last time. Burrey tied the game up with a free throw and when VonBehren and Hall came through with field goals the Panthers established a lead they never relinquished. McClain dropped in a short shot from the side of the court just before the half ended to increase the lead to 14-9.

Wasmann came to life in the second half to account for five short field goals and with VonBehren and McClain still peppering away at the basket the Panther lead soon safely tucked away. Shortly after the opening of the second half Fiesel broke loose to score three consecutive baskets in less than two minutes and forced the Blues

Plays to Insure College Athletes

"Present day football has shown us that the successful coach (meaning one who wins games and fills stadiums)" says H. N. Swanson, Editor, in the February College Humor, "will be known hereafter not as a mentor who believes in sports to build a man's body and mind, but as a crafty stage director who drives his men and sacrifices them whenever scoring is at stake. The successful coach (still meaning the best showman) will urge his men to play hard and dangerously. The public loves a fast running attack, with plenty of spectacular tackling and spills. More men will be hurt and permanently crippled. Literally, it will be dying for dear old football."

Games of this sort cause the outside public to help lift the burden of higher education. For the price of a cheap theater ticket the dear old public is, knowingly or not, doing a great service. And that's fine. But it says that since players of football, basketball, hockey and the other sports are so important to the school, the school should do something about them. Business institutions are required by law to insure workers against injury or death. I feel there should be a state law, requiring every school to take out compensation insurance for all players, except in intramural sports. In case a man is injured, a certain sum should go to him until he recovers—no matter if he leaves school. Today's undergraduates don't ask that their expenses be paid or his academic work be made easy. But he is entitled to the assurance that if he does get a shattered knee or broken collar I am certain the schools will need bone, his future will be protected, no laws to force them to this. As business institutions they cannot help seeing its worth."

and Gray to call time out. The newly organized defense worked to perfection and Fiesel only scored one more field goal in the last fifteen minutes of play.

Old Man Time Over- Takes the Alumni; Panthers Win 45 to 29

Most of Squad Breaks Into Lineup as Blue and Gray
Take Oldsters.

In a New Year's eve contest played last Wednesday night, Old Man Time served notice on the former stars that their playing careers have just about come to an end. The young Panthers staged quite a scoring party at the Old Timers' expense and were well satisfied with a 45-29 victory.

The spirit was willing but the body certainly was weak. In all, the Alumni players attempted to score from the field on 72 different occasions but they were only able to account for nine field goals and most of these came within the last few minutes of the game. Foreman, the same old "Frat," was particularly ineffective in his attempts to score and, at last, when he was successful on a long shot the crowd gave him a big hand.

Gilmore was the outstanding member of the Alumni. He broke through to score three field goals and also added four points from the free throw line. "Junk" Cooper was the only member of the Old Timers that failed to score from the field but did add a free throw. Two years ago the Alumni team upset the Panthers during the Christmas vacation and the sting of that defeat still rankles in the hearts of those players who were members of that squad. Coach Lantz was taking no chances of a repetition of that defeat and started his strongest lineup. The play of the varsity was somewhat erratic but led by Burrey's accurate sharpshooting the score at the half was 18-6 in favor of the new edition of Lantzmen.

Burrey ran his string of field goals to seven early in the second half before he was finally replaced by Abraham. Both teams became rather loose in their guarding as the second half wore on and the score of both sides began to climb. Featuring the work of the reserves who entered late in the game was the play of Voic, the tall center who has been shifted to guard, and Grafton, a substitute to forward. Both broke into the scoring column.

Former T. C. Students and Graduates Back

The Christmas and New Year's holidays give T. C. the pleasure of meeting old students and graduates who came back to spend the vacation in Charleston. The high school and its faculty always are glad to know that T. C. and its members are remembered by those who come back. Among those seen about the corridors and visiting in various class rooms were Bobby Wyeth, Ines Awty and Frances Hale Weir, all of Northwestern; Jack Awty of Ohio State; Virginia Frazier of Dana Hall; Irma Edwards of C. H. S.; Bob Duncan of Principia, a school for boys; Lucille Ennis of Battle Creek, Michigan; Marjorie Gannaway of Martha Washington College; Marjorie Digby of the Women's State College of Florida; and Natalie Lantz of Cornell University.

Miss Elizabeth Blackman of Oak Park and in school at Northwestern, also visited T. C. as the guest of Miss Bobby Wyeth. Miss Blackman was a former student in a dramatic class of Miss Orcutt's.

The Curious Cub

How Would You Win the Girl of Your Choice?

John Powers—There it is. (Pointing to Paul Blair). When you're handsome you can dress like that.

Paul Timme—Let conscience be my guide and let consequences come. Play the delayed offense.

Lyle Henderson—Get some friend to introduce me and then lead up to the question firmly but gently.

Harlan Baird—I still don't know.

Wayne Sanders—Say nothing and do everything.

Joe Hall—I'd try to get a date with her and that's all I'd need. Just one date.

Eddie Grant—I'd reveal my unknown qualities.

Dale McNutt—The only way I could get her would be to kidnap her.

John Berceios—This question does not bother me. I've already solved it.

News Receives Alaskan Paper

The News has recently received a copy of the "Farthest-North Collegian" student publication of the Alaska Agricultural College and School of Mines at College, Alaska. The paper is very interesting and shows the efforts of this "farthest-north" college to follow after its United States sisters.

The college was founded in 1922 and has been steadily forging ahead since that time. An addition was made to the building in 1923, a mine shop building erected in 1924, several buildings constructed in 1925, and the boys' dormitory built in 1927. Since that time steady work has added several improvements to the school.
