High and dry

Sunday's warm and sunny weather seemed just right to be outside for this hot air balloon and its unpictured companion balloon. The two were seen drifting lazily across the city and campus in the late afternoon. The balloon pictured here was photographed from atop Stevenson Tower, as it and the other were heading downward toward the west. (News photo by Craig Stockel.)

Lair renovations rescheduled, may cost more

by Lori Miller

Panther Lair renovations, originally set to begin this summer at a cost of $100,000, are now scheduled to start in April—and possibly at a higher cost.

Bill Clark, area head of the University Union, said Thursday that plans are being set now to prepare the Lair for construction work this spring.

Bids for construction work must be approved before those renovations begin, and Clark said the $100,000 total was a "figure we used" to estimate cost.

"If the bids come in higher, we'll have to set a priority for the work we want done," he said.

The changes are designed to turn the Lair into a food service similar to McDonald's restaurants, which Clark said is the "most successful merchandising concept."

Although Clark said no surveys were taken among Eastern students to determine what kind of Lair they wanted, he said "we pretty well know what people want."

"The McDonald's chain is obviously successful and it's the best chance we've got," he said.

Clark cited one magazine article which showed McDonald's profits leading all other food service organizations, including the Kentucky Fried Chicken organization, the Department of Agriculture, the Marriott chain and Pillsbury Foods.

Clark also said the renovations are necessary to keep competitive with other area restaurants.

"Environment for food is extremely important," he said. "If you go to a chain restaurant, you go to a place that's neat to eat in."

"That's why McDonald's changes so much. Ten years ago, you would have gone to a McDonald's with golden arches and little plastic tables and chairs," he added.

Clark said he plans to hire some students who have worked in a McDonald's restaurant before so that they can help run the operation and understand it better.

Growing competition in the Charleston restaurant market meant renovations now, and possible in the future, Clark said.

"If the Union fails to change again in five years, I would say that would be a mistake for the students, who have to support the operation," he said.

Clark said the Union must now compete with several more restaurants now than it did in the past.

"In 1957 the competition was Walt's on the west side of campus, Ike's and Ko-op," Clark said. "It wasn't hard for the Union to compete under those circumstances."

"But the situation in Charleston and the industry itself changed. For example, Walt's went out of business, and I don't think Ko-op serves many students any more," he said.

"When you're in business for the state of Illinois though, you can't go out of business, you have to improve or pass the cost on," he said.

As part of the renovation plan, students will be appointed to a food advisory committee to discuss a menu and theme for the Lair, Clark said.

He said the Union had investigated other student Unions which had themes, including the Union at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The Union there is called "The Dock," Clark said, "and everything there is riverboat."

Clark said the committee will look at different themes and prepare ideas on expanding the idea of the "panther lair."

16 administrative salaries top $35,000 per year

by Ted Gregory

Sixteen Eastern administrators earn annual salaries over $35,000, according to the Internal Budget for fiscal year 1979.

Heading the list is President Daniel E. Marvin, who earns $48,270 per year. Lawrence Ringenberg, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, follows Marvin with a $44,520 annual salary.

Rounding out the list of the five highest paid administrators at Eastern are Jerry Heath, director of the Health Service, who earns $42,840 annually; Thomas Bond, vice president for academic affairs, who receives $38,000 per year, and Vaughn Jaenike, dean of the School of Fine Arts, who earns $37,740 a year.

The remaining 11 highest paid administrators and their salaries are: --vice president for student affairs, Glenn Williams, $37,620

--Mary Ruth Swope, dean of the School of Home Economics, $37,560

--Harley Holt, vice president for business services, $37,200

--A.J. DiePietro, Math Department chairman, $37,087

--Walter Lowell, dean of the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, $36,360

--Director of Booth Library, Joseph Szerenyi, $36,180

--Leonard Durham, director of the life sciences department, $36,110

--Wayne Thurman, chairman of speech, pathology and audiology department, $35,760

--Donald Lauda, dean of the School of Industrial Technology, $35,760

--Donald Moler, chairman of educational psychology and guidance department, $35,362

--William Butler, director of the physics department, $35,042

Mideast negotiators to talk

CAIRO, Egypt, (AP) - Egyptian government sources confirmed Sunday that Egyptian, American and Israeli negotiators will meet in Washington Oct. 12 to begin talks leading to the signing of an Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty.

The sources, who would not be identified, said the location was changed from the Suez Canal city of Ismailia to Washington so participating American officials would be more available.

The talks are the next step outlined by the Camp David agreements signed by President Jimmy Carter, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin last month. They hope the accords will end 30 years of Mideast warfare.

Ventriloquist Bergen dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Edgar Bergen, who over six decades became America's favorite ventriloquist playing straight man to an irreverent dummy named Charlie McCarthy, is dead at age 75.

Bergen died in his sleep of an apparent heart attack Saturday, less than two weeks after announcing his planned retirement. His body was being flown here Sunday.

The night before his death, Bergen appeared at Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas in the second performance of what was to be his farewell nightclub run.

Toga craze hits U of W

MADISON, Wis. (AP) - The toga party craze sweeping the nation's college campuses has reached the University of Wisconsin in a big way.

About 10,000 students, most of them wearing bedsheets, jammed under and around a huge tent for a raucous Saturday night and Sunday morning of beer, music, food and more beer.

Inspired by the college fraternity party in the popular film "National Lampoon's Animal House" toga parties are "in" this season, and sponsors said Wisconsin's was the biggest.

Most students wore standard white sheets, but there were many striped or printed togas and a few people somehow managed to drape themselves in fitted sheets.

Homemade plane crashes

HIGHLAND, Ill. (AP)— One person was killed and another injured Sunday when a replica of a 1912 single-engine aircraft plummeted into a field in Madison County, authorities said.

Illinois State Police said the identities of the victims were withheld pending notification of kin.

The homemade replica did not explode when it crashed about five miles east of Highland at 12:15 p.m., authorities said.

Student Senate elections idea still on agenda

A proposal to revise the structure of the Student Senate Elections Committee was defeated Thursday by a vote of 16-5.

However, the proposal was brought up later in the meeting and tabled for another week.

The revision is intended to remove control of the committee from senators who could somehow use their position to influence elections, senate Speaker Kevin Sandefur said.

Although 16 senators voted in favor of the proposal, it failed because two-thirds of the entire senate, or 20 senators, must approve a revision of senate bylaws.

Also included are Big Brothers, Big Sisters, Charleston Civic Association, Charleston Community Day Care, Council on Aging and the Coles County Mental Health association.

Other groups include Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs, Parent's Group for Mentally Retarded, Charleston Athletic Association and CEAD (Hour House.)

Materials for the United Way drive have been distributed to all departments on campus by Ruth Dow of the home economics department and Jake Zane of the Business Office. Contributions and pledges may be sent to Zane at the Business Office.

Faculty names Moore cultural center head

by Karen Kunz

Milton Moore, a senior, was recently named director of the Afro American Cultural Center across from the University Union on Seventh Street.

Moore was recently honored by the Near North Community Services Center in Chicago for his outstanding service to black students on Eastern's campus.

A committee of black faculty members appointed the senior to the position of director.

Moore said his duties will include working with the Black Student Union as an adviser, and planning activities which will motivate students to use the center.

Also Moore will be working with Vice President for Student Affairs Glen Williams and President Daniel E. Marvin to make the center a functional unit.

Moore said he has no definite plans for immediate changes in the operation of the center, located at 1527 Seventh St.

Any student groups interested in using the house for activities can write a letter stating when and why they want the house and put it in the house mailbox or in the suggestion box at the center, he added.

Moore also said he is looking for ideas on how to run the center and make it a more useful part of the university.

"I'm open to suggestions and creative ideas," he said.

Hall's position uncertain

University Union Food Service Director John Hall has not yet notified Bill Clark, area head of the Union, concerning the status of the reconsideration of Hall's resignation.

Clark said Sunday he has not heard from Hall, who was to resign his office effective last Wednesday.

Clark said Thursday he expected to hear from Hall sometime Friday morning.

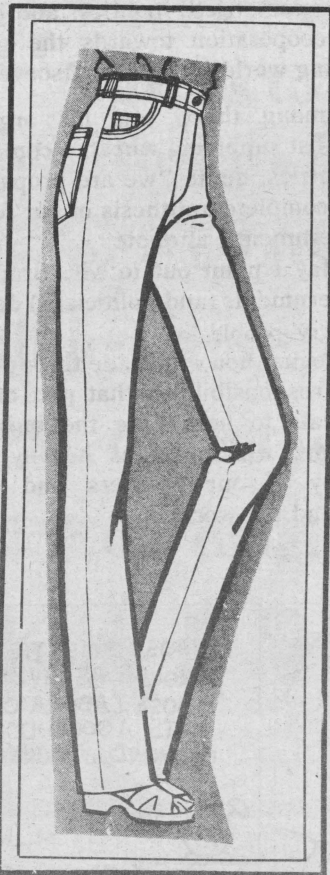

No further decisions have been made concerning the situation, Clark added.

Take some time to donate blood

It's the time of the year when all redblooded students roll up their sleeves for a good cause: life.

The Red Cross blood drive begins its fall visit to Eastern this week, with four days open for us all to give of ourselves for a vital cause.

Blood is an expensive commodity, but it is one that saves life.

By donating an hour of time, we can help keep that supply at a sufficient level.

Many people are afraid of giving blood because of the expected pain. But giving blood is a relatively painless procedure, and trained people are always present to help or answer questions.

Those who give blood are escorted to a free snack of sandwiches, cookies and juice, which help restore energy.

Apart from this immediate benefit, all donors and their families will receive free blood when necessary during the next year. That may seem a remote possibility now, but if an accident were to occur, it would be comforting to know blood is available.

Finally, giving blood is one of the most generous acts we can perform. Because of this donation, someone's life may be saved.

Times are open throughout the week for those who have not already made appointments to come in and donate blood.

We urge all who can to help keep up Eastern's tradition of good-will during the drive.

Season not over

Something different happened to the Panthers on Saturday: they lost a football game.

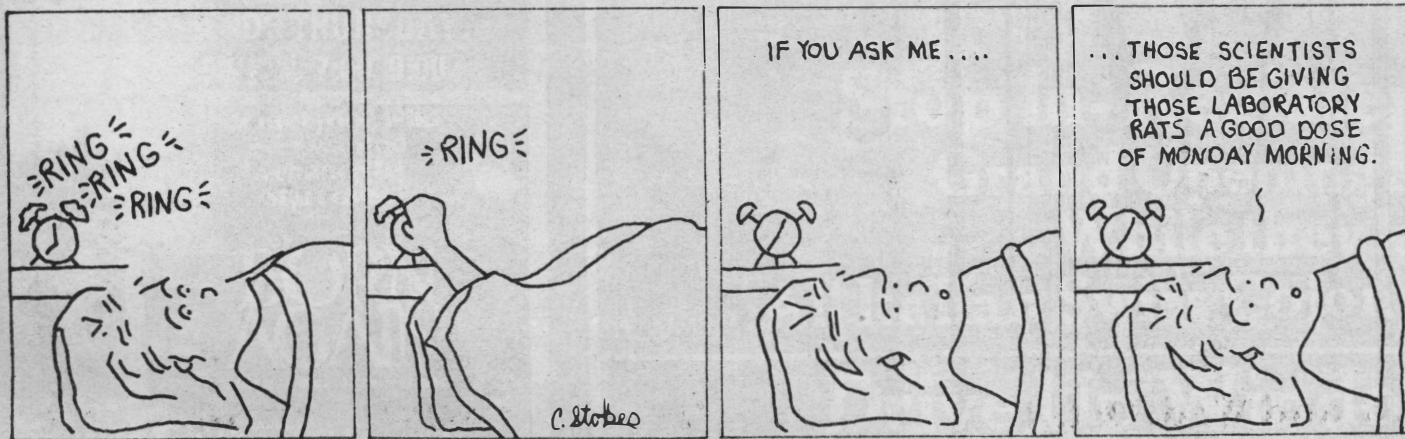

Before the campus doomsayers begin evoking images of the 1976 Panthers, who began the season at 4-0 and ended in ignominy, we want to say a few words.

First, this team bears little resemblance to the 1976 team. It is colorful, exciting and knows how to win.

Secondly, although a loss cannot be mitigated, it should be remembered that this one came by one point, not 14 or 30, which has happened in the past.

Finally, we do not think that one such loss will instill a losing attitude in the Panthers. They appear to have the ability, and for once the campus support, to end the season successfully.

Use care at night

Don't let anyone tell you that a university campus is unlike the real world--that crimes that occur in the city and suburbs don't happen here.

It's not true. Crimes do occur here. In fact, violent crimes--rapes, assaults and murders--are a part of university life.

There's no easy solution to the problem. But there are ways we can help prevent future incidents.

Students and staff also should be more aware of the dangers on campus. Don't assume that crimes don't happen. They do--and will.

There are ways to reduce the risk of being attacked.

--Never travel by yourself. You're an easy mark for persons who delight in taking advantage of people who walk alone. Always walk with friends and stay with the crowd.

--Stay away from dimly lighted areas. Don't loiter near campus buildings after your night classes are finished.

--If you have to be at the library or the computer lab late at night, make arrangements to have someone walk you home. Make sure your friends know where you are and when to expect you.

--If you think someone is following you, head for a restaurant, bar or grocery store. Have the manager call the police. Don't hesitate.

--If you are robbed or attacked, call the police immediately--don't wait.

Above all, remember you're not immune to these crimes. Watch out for yourself. Sometimes, no one else will.

Letters to the editor

Hunger a vital issue

Editor:

I would like to comment on the article "Bruce, Crane's sister discuss world hunger."

First, I am happy to see the issue of world hunger make the news. Step one to solving any problem is to recognize it and make the public aware that a problem exists.

However, I would like to point out some deficiencies of their "discussion."

Bruce made several remarks that to me were strictly politics, and offered no cooperation towards the goal of easing world hunger whatsoever.

Among these was his argument against supplying wheat to communist countries, quote "we are propagating the complete antithesis of our form of government" unquote.

May I point out to Mr. Bruce that governments (and politicians) don't go hungry--people do!

No mention was made throughout of the responsibilities that rest on individuals to help ease the burden of hunger which weighs heavily on so many of our brothers and sisters around the world.

Some of the things we as individuals may do include:

1. Eat less meat. If each of us limits our meat intake, by just one pound a week (let's say it's four quarter pounder hamburgers) that would leave more grain for people to consume directly, computed as follows:

9,000 ElU students eat one pound less each, 9,000 pounds of meat each week which required 90,000 pounds of grain to produce, which could have fed quite a few more people if not reduced via the cow! (For more, see "Diet For A Small Planet," F. M. Lappe.)

2. Try fasting one day (or even one main meal) a week. Aside from saving food, you may gain an appreciation of what it feels like to be hungry.

3. If you haven't registered to vote, do so. And when you vote, vote for the man who's concerned about the real problem, rather than the politics of the problem.

Finally, I want to commend Mrs. Ross for her statement that "food charity should be handled by local church organizations instead of the government because of government inefficiency."

It might be added that local church organizations are also more likely to provide food on the basis of need, rather than for political reasons.

Bruce's final comment gives me pain. He says that if peace in the Mideast is finally established, Israel's need for military aid will decrease and we can "pick up the slack with food programs."

How sad, how positively vexing it is that feeding hungry people must take second place to organized murder.

Wendy Rashidi

Editor's note: The first Bruce quote cited in the letter should actually be attributed to Ross. The story in which the quote originally appeared was corrected in the subsequent News issue.

New AB logo to increase student awareness

by Pat Sheehy

The Apportionment Board recently approved a new logo to be on all printed materials "within reason" which are supported by the student activity fees, AB chairman Tom Dersch said.

The logo is intended to increase student awareness of what is funded by student activity fees.

Dersch said the logo will be on printed materials, such as the back of certain athletic programs, campus radio station WELH playlists and student government materials.

He said "it's not mandatory-we're just recommending it. I want to give people a choice."

Although the logo has been accepted by most organizations, Lori Miller, Eastern News editor, chose not to print it.

She said recently "To place a government symbol on a production of the press is an infringement of the First Amendment guarantee of a free press. I won't put it in the paper."

However, Sara Knapp, editor of the yearbook, the Warbler, said Friday, "One half of our budget is covered by student activity fees. I don't see anything wrong with putting the logo in."

Dave Reed, adviser to the News and Warbler, said Sunday "it's the editor's prerogative to refuse and I support their positions."

Dave Dutler, head of Eastern's Intramural Department, said Friday he will print the logo on the cover of the intramural handbook.

"I wanted to have a logo contest about two years ago but it never surfaced," Dutler said, "I'll support this one."

The administrator of another area affected by the policy, Rhoderick Key of the music department, said. "It would make sense to put the logo on our publications instead of just a statement."

In addition, Anita Craig, adviser to the University Board and its publications, and J. Sain of the theatre arts department were unavailable Sunday for comment.

Local businessmen to decide statue fate

by Theresa Norton and John Plevka

This week a decision should be made to determine the fate of the 62-foot Lincoln Statue near Charleston.

The corporation of local Businessmen who own the Lincoln likeness have repeatedly tried to arrive at a final agreement with bidders from Springfield, Effingham and Charleston, but Honest Abe remains standing in Lincoln Park, southeast of Charleston.

A decision was expected but not reached last week by the corporation. However, the attorney for the owners said that the corporation met Friday and will again meet Monday.

The attorney, Henry Kramer, said Sunday a decision should be announced Tuesday.

At Friday's meeting, the corporation worked on the "formation of an agreement" with the statue's new owner, "Kramer said.

He said last Friday it would be "premature" to announce the name of the purchaser, but that he probably would be able to do so Tuesday.

It appeared at the beginning of the summer that Lincoln would be moved to the site of his namesake, Lincoln, Ill. That deal fell through due to a price disagreement.

After Lincoln's decision not to buy, there have been repeated delays in resolving the matter of where the fiberglass Abe will go.

The shotgun hole ridden statue has been at the Lincoln Park for 10 years.

Although the owners had hoped to move Abe somewhere during the summer months, he still stands in Coles County as autumn falls.

Senior citizen centers to be topic of workshop

A workshop to encourage and inform groups in small communities who want to build multi-purpose senior citizen centers will be held Tuesday at the new Charleston Area Senior Citizen Center.

The workshop will be jointly sponsored by Eastern's School of Home Economics, the Illinois Department on Aging and the East Central Illinois Area Agency on Aging.

Topics of discussion will be Title V requirements, how to develop community support, how to develop a proposal for a center in a rural area and the technical assistance and resources that are available.

Multi-purpose senior citizen centers are partially funded under the Older Americans Act of Title V.

Joyce Crouse, workshop director and a member of the home economics department, said that the meeting will be held at the recently opened Charleston Area Senior Citizens Center to show participants an example of a center that meets federal requirements.

The center is located at 720 Sixth St. The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Budweiser, UB to host all-star sports team

by Angie Patrick

All full-time students who are not intercollegiate athletes now have a chance to experience the fun of competition between colleges in the Budweiser Super Sports event.

Persons interested in competing may sign up in the Union lobby Monday through Oct. 13. Actual competition will be Oct. 20 and 21.

Eastern will select a team to represent it in state competition by elimination in a contest on campus of 40 teams.

Each team will have four men and four women and will compete in six events: volleyball, 880-yard relay race, obstacle course, frisbee relay, six-pack "pitch-in" and tug-of-war.

Sponsored by the University Board Special Events Committee, the competition is hosted by Ronchetti Distributors in Mattoon, area distributor of Budweiser and other Anheuser-Busch, Inc., beers.

Events will be held at fields surrounding the Lantz Building and McAfee Gym. Times will be announced at a later date, Bill Macfarlane, Special Events Coordinator, said Friday.

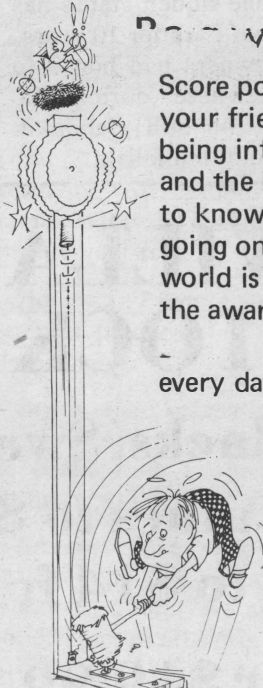

Last year the competition was known as the Budweiser College Super Stars Competition. The University of Idaho bested teams from more than 175 colleges and universities from around the country to take the national championship in the finals at Busch Gardens in Tampa, Fla.

This Year, an estimated 350 schools are expected to take part in the program.

Campus winners advance to state and regional competition and a representative from each region will travel to Florida during spring break.

Campus winners receive Super Sports jerseys, while state winners receive jackets and hats and regional winners take home complete Budweiser uniforms. Winners will also be awarded team and individual trophies and merchandise prizes.

Course hours conflict delays new class

Ed. Mazzocco

Course teaching reading will be delayed for secondary education candidates when the Council on Teaching Education decides how to eliminate the hours of course to compensate for the new course.

COTE discussed the issue at their meeting last Tuesday.

The proposal of adding a reading course has been on the COTE agenda for the past five months because of the problem with finding the compensatory hours.

Faculty and instructors involved in the secondary education program at Eastern have definite opinions on where the course hours should come from.

William Shuff, an instructor in the secondary education department, said a three-hour reading class is needed in the program to better qualify secondary education teachers in the sixth through 12th grades.

But, she added, no course can afford to lose the three hours which must be subtracted from present courses in order to justify the 120 curriculum hour limit.

Harry Merigis, dean of the School of Education, agreed the course is needed, but he said he was uncertain how the three hours will be worked into the program.

Merigis suggested asking the Board of Governors, Eastern's state governing board, to increase the 120 hour limit in the secondary education department.

Another possibility discussed at the COTE meeting was to subtract hours from the 23 core hours in the secondary education major.

Most COTE members are in favor of requiring a reading course of secondary education majors partly because of a survey which showed students expressed a need for such a course.

COTE Chairwoman Kathlene Shank said a questionnaire was circulated to secondary education majors at Eastern in regard to their ability to work with students with reading deficiencies.

Students from 12 majors were surveyed and 91 individuals responded, Shank said.

According to the survey, of the 91 responses, 67 persons felt they did not enter student teaching with sufficient background in teaching reading. Also, 63 persons said a course on teaching reading would be beneficial.

Shank added that certain states, including Illinois, require such a class in order to obtain employment in their school system.

Bosox win, Yanks lose; playoff game today

NEW YORK (AP)—Andre Thornton and Gary Alexander tagged Catfish Hunter for home runs in the first two innings Sunday and the Cleveland Indians posted a 9-2 victory over New York that prevented the Yankees from clinching the American League East Division flag and forced an all-or-nothing one-game playoff Monday in Boston.

The Boston Red Sox, who blew a sizeable lead in August and September and trailed by 3½ games with 15 days left, gained a tie on the final day of the regular season by defeating Toronto 5-0.

The Yankees will send ace Ron Guidry against Boston's Mike Torrez Monday in the second such playoff in American League History.

The Indians, who had lost six games in a row, pounded Hunter, 12-6, and Dick Tidrow for six runs in the first two innings. Thornton hit a two-run home in the first while Alexander's leadoff shot in the second snapped a 2-2 tie and touched off a four-run uprising.

Meanwhile, left-hander Rick Waits, 13-5, settled down after yielding two runs in the bottom of the first and allowed only two more hits the rest of the way, finishing with a five-hitter.

Cleveland's Rick Manning delivered two singles and a double and drove in two runs while Buddy Bell reached Tidrow for a back-breaking two-run single to cap the second-inning burst.

Manning opened the game with an infield hit when his grounder to deep short kicked off Bucky Dent's glove just long enough for Manning to beat the throw to first. After Jim Norris grounded out and Bell popped out, Thornton lofted his 33rd home run of the season, a lazy fly ball that landed just inside the left field foul pole at the 312-foot mark.

BOSTON (AP) -

Veteran Luis Tiant, Boston's Mr. Clutch, pitched a brilliant two-hitter as the Red Sox blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 5-0 Sunday, forcing only the second playoff in American League history.

Both teams finished with 99-63 records. The playoff game will start at 2:30 p.m. EDT and will be nationally televised by ABC.

New York will send its ace left-hander, Ron Guidry, against Boston's Mike Torrez, a former Yankee.

Tiant, considered to be older than his listed age of 38, pitched the Red Sox into the tie, allowing only singles by Roy Howell in the fourth and John Mayberry in the seventh.

The Red Sox picked up unearned runs in the fifth more on Rick Burleson's fifth-inning homer and the seventh.

Jim Rice, the first AL player to amass 400 total bases in a season, capped the Boston scoring with a 46th homer in the eighth.

Rice 405 total bases for the season, which he played in all 162 games.

The Red Sox rolled to their 14th consecutive victory and their 14th straight win in the last 14 games.

Penalties play large part in Rugby Club loss to ISU

by Christopher Squire

The Eastern Rugby Club, plagued by penalties and mistakes, dropped a 6-3 decision to Illinois State University Saturday, and their record dropped to 1-3 for the year.

Penalties cost the ruggers the game as ISU scored both of their field goals after Eastern penalties.

Chuck Squires converted Eastern's only score on a beautiful running field goal from 30 yards out. Eastern's defense played exceptionally well, as it kept the game close the entire way.

The game was a hard hitting contest as many players from both squads were shaken up. At the end of the first half, Eastern's Kevin Hunt was rushed to the hospital after a head on collision with teammate Tom Raguse.

Hunt needed 15 stitches to close the cut on his forehead. Raguse was able to return to the game at the beginning of the second half.

Eastern's 'B' team won its game by a score of 8-3 lifting its record to 3-1 on the year.

Eastern will compete in the Illinois State Championships next weekend at the University of Illinois.

Volleyball squad wins 2 of 3 in home opener

by Jane Meyer

In their first home meet of the season Saturday, the Eastern volleyballers took two of three matches.

"I anticipate that we'll be coming around now that the season is so far underway. Every team has a lapse half way through the season or so, but I think we are ready to pull out of it now," said coach Margie Wright.

In the last match, Northeastern toppled the Panther's in the two games of the match 15-12, 15-8.

"I think we took them (Northeastern) too lightly," said Wright. "I knew they were a much better team than the other two but we just couldn't pull it together."

In other action, Eastern smashed Evansville in the opening round of the day 15-3, 15-7.

Likewise, the Panther's next victory came a little bit harder but nonetheless the same way via scores 15-3, 14-16, 15-5.

"The first two teams weren't really attacking like we are used to," said Wright. "We didn't use most of the effort that we had to beat them because we didn't need it. Not having to play the first teams more aggressively hurt us in the long run."

Wright cited senior Nancy Jurgenon for her consistent serving, as one of the key performances.

"Nancy did just a super job," said Wright. "She was able to serve aces at the key times in the matches."

She also credited Diann Schrader and Liane Erickson, a senior and a junior respectively, for their serving abilities.

"Those two girls were great," Wright said, "they had key plays when we needed them."

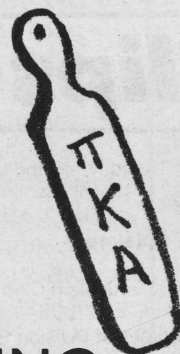

Eastern's front line was not without its good players either.

"Beth Riser, a senior, did exceptionally well on the front line, finding the open spaces with spikes and then hitting the ball there," said Wright.

Next action for Eastern will be at the St. Louis Invitational, Oct. 6-7.

Harriers set record in winning invitational

by Brad Patterson

INDIANA, Pa.—The Eastern cross-country team, once again paced by an excellent overall team effort, set a meet record for scoring as it overwhelmed some of the top Division II teams in the nation at the Indiana, Pa. Invitational Saturday.

Eastern won the event, totaling only 26 points, far ahead of the host school's 112 points, which garnered runner-up honors.

Indiana finished third in the NCAA Division II championships last fall, and coach Tom Woodall said that they were ready for his harriers.

"The course was really hilly, and most of the courses we run on around here are relatively flat," Woodall said. "The Eastern teams thought they would have an advantage on the hills."

Reo Rorem was the Panther's top finisher, coming in second overall, with a 31:46 clocking. Rorem's time was :13 behind the winner, Henry Winger of the University of Pittsburgh-Johnstown, who took 3rd in the team competition.

"Reo tried to steal the race at the 1 1/2 mile mark," Woodall said. "He may have tried to do too much too soon, but he felt it was the right time, and he ended up second, so you can't fault him."

The race was run over a 10,000 meter course, which is just over six miles.

Bill Bandy was the second Eastern finisher, placing 4th in the race with a time of 31:55, just ahead of teammate Larry Schuldt, who took fourth with a 32:05 time.

All-American Joe Sheeran was sixth for the Panthers, finishing in 32:11, a run that really pleased Woodall.

"Joe ran a real good race, considering it was his first real competition of the season," Woodall said. "His foot did not seem to give him much trouble, which will sure help us later on."

Mike Moore was ninth, and the fifth Eastern performer to cross the finish line, which gave the Panthers a spread of only :35 between their top five finishers.

John McInerney and Casey Reinking rounded out the seven Eastern runners, McInerney finishing 10th, and Reinking taking 15th to complete the domination.

At the outset of the race, Moore broke for the lead on a hill, a tactic which took according to Woodall.

"They really took out early on a steep hill," Woodall said. "The course is different from what we used to running on, and Mike got up there high, and

Raiders dump Bears

CHICAGO (AP)—The Oakland Raiders, plagued by interceptions this season, turned things around Sunday when Neal Colzie intercepted a Bob Avellini pass and returned it 24-yards to set up a two-yard touchdown sweep by Art Whittington to give the Raiders a 25-19 overtime victory over the Chicago Bears.

"Greg Latta came out and gave me a fake and a look over the middle and I just waited," said Colzie, who was the sixth man in the Oakland defensive backfield. "I wouldn't say he's easy to read, but tight ends kinda give themselves away trying to avoid a linebacker."

With Ken Stabler hitting on 25 of 43 passes for 278 yards and no interceptions, compared to 12 in his first four games, Coach John Madden said, "This is the first time we got out passing game going the way it used to be. You can say I'm happy."

Zips zap Eastern on Graham's P

by Brad Patterson

AKRON—Andy Graham celebrated his 20th birthday in style Saturday night, as his 28 yard field goal with only :07 remaining lifted the Akron Zips to a 17-16 win over the previously undefeated Eastern Panthers.

"I knew it was good when I kicked it," Graham said. "It really felt good when I hit it."

Graham's heroics came at the end of a 12-play, 72 yard drive by Akron, who began the march with only 4:55 left.

"I really didn't think that they could move the ball all the way on us," said Eastern head coach Darrell Mudra. "I thought we'd come up with a big play somewhere along the line to stop them."

Most of the action was concentrated in the final period, as the first three quarters were mainly a battle of punters.

The game was played throughout in an almost constant downpour, in fact the contest was delayed 35 minutes at 16, where Simon took it in five plays later.

The Panthers were sluggish on offense throughout the first half, due primarily to a combination of the wet, slick artificial turf playing surface and the long delay at the start.

The biggest play of the half came with only :10 remaining, when Turk completed a 38 yard pass to freshman tight end Rob Mehalic. A pass interference penalty moved the ball to the Akron 16, where DiMartino kicked a 33 yard field goal to bring Eastern to within 7-3 at intermission.

At the beginning of the second half, the Panthers marched 78 yards in 11 plays with Cobb doing a majority of the work.

The junior tailback carried the ball eight times in the drive, and scored the touchdown on a 15 yard scamper to put the Panthers in front 10-7.

The Panthers had a chance to put the game away in the third period, but were stymied twice by their own mistakes.

A bad pitchout, followed by Turk being sacked stopped one drive, and a clipping penalty ended another well into Akron territory.

Scott McGhee had a punt partially blocked, and the Zips took advantage of that break to march 59 yards to take a 14-10 advantage.

This set the stage for Graham's late heroics after Cobb had put the Panthers back on top.

Akron moved the ball on the last drive with an obvious eye to the field goal attempt.

"I knew we were going for the field goal," Graham said. "That shows that the coaches have confidence in me as a kicker."

Mudra pointed to mistakes charged as the key points.

"We stopped ourselves once by mistakes," Mudra had our chances to win this game.

Offensive coordinator Shanahan echoed these sentiments.

"Our game plan was to establish a running game, which we did. Execution just was not the passing game," Shanahan said.

Mistakes or not, Akron's probably summed up the contest.

"There was two good football out there tonight, and we fortunate to pull it out."

Cobb sets rushing mark

Eastern tailback Poke Cobb reached another milestone in his checkered career at Eastern Saturday night, as he became the all-time leading career rushing leader.

Cobb broke the record set by Mark Stettner just last season. Stettner gained 2535 in his four year career as a Panther, while Cobb has amassed 2679 yards only halfway through his junior campaign.

Going into the Akron contest, the Clover, S.C. product was 100 yards short of the mark. Cobb surpassed the record on his 19th carry of the game, going 15 yards up the middle on a draw play.

Cobb had a super night in a losing effort, rolling up 237 yards in total offense.

Cobb rushed for 143 yards in 25 carries, caught three passes for 35 yards, and returned two kickoffs for 59 yards, including one 43 yarder, which almost became a game breaker.

"When we had to move the ball we did it," Akron head coach Jim Dennison. "I was really happy with our poise late in the game."

The Panthers had taken a 16-14 lead with 5:07 left in the fourth period when Poke Cobb scored on a one yard plunge. Dan DiMartino's extra point attempt sailed wide to the right, however, and the slim margin was not to hold up.

the outset due to lightning.

Akron got on the board first 7:52 to go in the opening half, when Dan Simon bulled over from four yards out.

The touchdown was set up Panther quarterback Steve Turk had a pass intercepted by Akron's Jim Valencich at the Eastern 31.

A personal foul penalty on the runback moved the ball down to the
