New tuition proposal ready for BHE vote

by The Associated Press

The state Board of Higher Education will vote Tuesday on a new policy that suggests university officials, not legislators, have the final word on tuition rates, and that those rates increase each year to keep up with inflation.

But the General Assembly may be reluctant to give up its control over tuition rates at public universities in Illinois, key lawmakers say.

The board believes lawmakers will be happy to avoid the politically sensitive issue of tuition increases, but higher education committee members said the plan may meet with strong resistance in the General Assembly.

"I would suggest that the Legislature would look at that very hard, and would be reluctant to relinquish that power," said Sen. Richard Newhouse, D-Chicago, chairman of the Senate Higher Education Committee.

"You can't have us abdicate our responsibility just because of political pressure, or because it's an election year," said Sen. Kenneth Buzbee, D-Carbondale. "The General Assembly ought to have the final say on that."

"I don't think the universities or the Board of Higher Education should be making that decision," said Rep. Larry Stuffle, D-Charleston, a committee member. "We're elected and they're not."

The legislature now controls tuition rates because it appropriates all tuition revenues to the universities. The schools collect the money but cannot spend it until lawmakers give the go-ahead.

The new policy would allow university governing boards to raise tuition annually, collect the money and spend it, without legislative approval.

The only proposed control is a statutory tuition limit of one-third of instructional costs. Currently, university tuition averages less than 30 percent of instructional costs.

The board staff suggested the new policy because the legislature has not allowed tuition to go up at a steady pace, but has approved increases erratically.

A report by the staff shows that tuition did not increase at all between 1973 and 1977, but when the Legislature finally okayed an increase, it averaged 20 percent - much more than the inflation rate.

"Universities will benefit if a more stable pattern of tuition charges can be achieved, and students will not be forced to deal with an unpredictable policy," the report said.

Newhouse said that although he believed the new policy faced tough sledding in the General Assembly, the idea had merit.

"That sounds like an argument I could listen to," said Newhouse.

The concept of taking tuition out of the political arena was supported last year by Gov. James Thompson. A spokesman said he had not reviewed the specifics of the new policy.

"The governor in principle has been in favor of having the tuition decisions made by the university community," the spokesman said.

Thompson is a Republican, while both chambers of the General Assembly are controlled by Democrats.

The new tuition policy has other elements which may make it more palatable to legislators.

Under the new policy, tuition could not exceed one-third of instructional costs without legislative action.

Word of shah's Texas move angers militants

by The Associated Press

TEHRAN, Iran AP—Word that the ousted Shah of Iran was on the move again drew an angry new warning Sunday from Moslem militants that they will put their U.S. Embassy hostages on trial.

It would be a "big mistake" if the shah leaves the United States, a militant spokesman said after learning that former Iranian monarch Mohammad Reza Pahlavi had left New York for Texas. But Iran's acting foreign minister said a trial of the hostages would not take place soon.

The shah flew before dawn Sunday to an Air Force hospital outside San Antonio for an indefinite period of recuperation from gallbladder surgery and cancer treatment he underwent in New York.

Egyptian officials, who have offered Pahlavi asylum, said in Cairo they believe the ailing ex-monarch is likely to remain in the United States for several more weeks. One said the shah would go to the Bahamas, though the Bahamian government has not confirmed that.

U.S. officials said nothing about the shah's eventual destination. President Carter, asked whether he might be offered permanent U.S. asylum, replied, "I cannot answer that now."

The militant students holding 50 American hostages at the embassy apparently believed the trip to Texas was a prelude to the shah's departure elsewhere.

"If the shah leaves the United States for another country, we will try the hostages," one said when reached by telephone.

"This is another trick taken by the CIA to protect the shah," said another. "But everyone in the world knows he cannot be protected against the will of God and the will of the people."

The students and Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini have threatened to put their captives on trial as "spies" if the United States does not hand over Pahlavi to face charges of mass murder and corruption.

Mattoon family opposes Fuller parole

by Jane Meyer

After 11 years and three months, Charles Thomas Fuller III is up for parole before the Illinois State Prison Review Board on Dec. 18-19.

Fuller has been serving time at the Menard Correctional Center in Menard for the April 27, 1968 murders of five of 12 children of the William and Lydia Cox family of Mattoon.

Petitions protesting the parole of Fuller have been passed out in the Mattoon and Charleston areas as well as in Champaign, Effingham, and Decatur.

Much of the petitioning has been done by the Cox family although area businessmen and students have become involved also.

Petitions have been posted in all of the residence halls on campus except the Triad. Area grocery stores and other businesses have also posted the petitions. William Cox, father of the family, said response to the petitions has been great. He has collected more than 27,000 signatures as of Sunday.

In addition, Cox said an extension on the Dec. 1 date for mailing petitions and letters to the parole board has been granted. The board will accept petitions until Thursday.

The Coxes started their petition drive Oct. 19 when they learned of Fuller's parole hearing through the newspapers. The Coxes were also notified of the upcoming parole about a month ago by Paul Komada, Coles County states attorney.

James Irving, chairman of the Illinois State Prison Review Board, said the board sends word of the upcoming parole hearing to the states attorney who has the responsibility of notifying the family.

Cox said the board had sent letters to their former rural address but the family has not lived there since the murders.

When Cox heard of the release he said his first reaction was one of anger. "We got very angry so we went door to door soliciting names," Cox said.

"I have no faith in the law," Cox said of the possible parole situation. "I'm not against Fuller because of revenge but I just don't feel that he has done the amount of time that he

Some 2,000 Libyans chanting support for Iran stormed and ransacked the U.S. Embassy here Sunday, sending staff members scurrying for safety through a back door, embassy officials said. No injuries were reported in the assault, latest in a wave of angry anti-American protests in Moslem capitals.

The Carter administration immediately filed the "strongest possible" protest with the government of Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy over the attack.

Walter Mondale is to substitute for President Carter at a fund-raising reception and dinner Thursday night in Chicago, the Carter campaign committee announced Sunday.

Carter has canceled political appearances outside Washington this week because of the Iranian hostage situation.

People suffering from high blood pressure who received treatment at special clinics had a 17 percent lower death rate than those treated by their regular doctors, a nationwide study revealed.

A five-year study of 10,940 persons with high blood pressure found that those who visited 14 special clinics at least once every two months had lower death rates than those who remained under their regular doctor's care. The clinics were in various communities throughout the country.

Joseph P. Hannon still won't tell exactly why he has resigned as superintendent of Chicago's schools, but he hinted in weekend interviews that it was because he had lost support among Chicago city officials and the financial community.

Saying that the schools system is "being portrayed as a leper colony," Hannon said he had decided to quit because he was being asked to do too much with too little help.

Paper accuses O'Neal of misusing state car

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Lt. Gov. David C. O'Neal may be improperly billing taxpayers by allowing his wife to make personal use of a state-supplied car and gasoline, a copyright newspaper story Sunday quoted state officials as saying.

The News-Democrat, published in O'Neal's hometown of Belleville, said a month-long investigation showed that O'Neal is charging the state for a leased automobile, used mostly by his wife, Sandra, to commute to work, shop and run other personal errands.

It quoted O'Neal as saying a two-way radio installed in the car was needed for his wife's security, but that he acknowledged the auto itself does not provide security and that no direct threats had been made against his wife.

The vehicle is leased by the state for $2,400 a year, and the state also pays for the gasoline used in the car, the newspaper said.

Bill Schaub, an official with the state comptroller's office, and Jon Bauman, of the state Department of Administrative Services, questioned the propriety of the arrangement, the newspaper said.

"I have no reaction," O'Neal said Sunday when asked about the story. He declined to answer whether he felt state money was being misused or the car actually provided security for his wife. He said such questions should be referred to Dan K. Webb, state law enforcement director.

Webb, who is normally responsible for providing security for state officials, said Sunday the arrangement was approved in 1977 before he became law enforcement director. Webb said it was approved as a substitute for providing state troopers as security for O'Neal's family.

Asked if he felt any misuse of state funds might be involved, Webb replied that "I'm not qualified to render an opinion on that."

MIG provides political experience for students

by Jim Holland

The Model Illinois Government Association is providing a way for students to get involved in the political process.

The MIG, a group open to all students, held its organizational meeting Thursday. A constitution was adopted and officers were elected.

The MIG was founded at Eastern in 1978 but reorganized with a new sponsor this year.

The second MIG meeting will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in Coleman Hall Room 205.

Officers elected include senior Murphy C. Hart, president, senior Jackie Motley, vice-president and junior Joe Bailey, treasurer.

The main goal of the MIG this year will be to give the students a chance to attend the Model Illinois Legislature which will be held April 17, 18 and 19 in Springfield, sponsor Dorothy Schultz said.

The Model Illinois Legislature is attended by students from colleges and universities throughout Illinois who act out the law-making process, she said.

Delegates will be using party considerations, constituency concerns and the public interest as guidelines, Schultz said.

The delegates to Springfield will represent the legislative districts which contain their schools, Schultz said.

Bills defeated in last year's Model Illinois Legislature include a constitutional amendment to limit state and local tax increases and the bill to raise the drinking age to 21.

This year the Model Illinois Legislature will focus on budget and finance bills because it was agreed that the economy is the main issue concerning voters today.

Another issue to be considered is the adoption of the Equal Rights Amendment and a companion measure regarding the majority needed for the adoption of a constitutional amendment.

should for killing five people."

During the hearing Irving said the board examines three basic criteria for determining whether an inmate should be released on parole.

These three items are the type of offense, the inmate's record at the institution and the risk involved in paroling him.

Irving said the board examines petitions and any related matter dealing with the parole hearing, although they are not the sole basis of the decision on whether the inmate will be released.

"The petitions have quite a bit of bearing on how the public responds but we would not let them make the decision for us," Irving said.

Most of the petitions the Cox family have circulated are signed by citizens in the immediate area, although Irving said the area where the signatures are collected isn't significant. "Of course we want to know what the people in the community have to say about it," Irving said. But he said releasing the inmate could be just as dangerous anywhere as it is at Eastern Illinois.

Fuller was sentenced to two consecutive 70-99 year terms in 1969.

At the time of the murders, Fuller was 18 years old and told psychiatrists he had wanted to kill the family in order to relieve some of the household burdens for his girlfriend Edna Louise Cox. He felt she had been mistreated at home.

Fuller had dated Cox for seven months and had asked her father permission for the two to get married. The father told the two that he thought they were too young for marriage.

Horney said Jazz Band II will be playing a tune called "Home At Last" from the Steely Dan album "Aja" and a Thad Jones tune called "Us."

The concert is free to the public and all students are invited to attend, he added.

Band to play rock, classic tunes

A student jazz ensemble will perform at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Dvorak Concert Hall.

Many soloists and a wide range of jazz band tunes will be featured including standard jazz tunes, rock music and ballads, Allan Horney of the music department said.

"Impromptu", a play written by Ted Mosel and directed by Kelly Carr will be presented at 5 p.m. Tuesday in the Fine Arts Building Playroom.

Carr said the play concerns four actors who are called to the stage for reasons unknown to them.

"In short, it's a play about realism," Carr said. "In the play, everyone's perception of realism is different," she added.

Carr said the characters in the play are Ernest, portrayed by Jim Pierson, and Tommy, who is played by Jim Mitchell. Kris Salamone and Merel Ray fill the roles of Winifried and Laura, Carr added.

Plenty of tickets remain for Harry Chapin concert

by Juli Wahlund

Plenty of tickets are left for students to enjoy the music of the "king of story-book music" Harry Chapin Thursday night, Mike Berggren, University Board concert coordinator said.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. at Lantz Gym.

Approximately 1,100 tickets out of 5,000 available have been sold, Berggren said. Tickets are $6, $6.50, and $7.

"It should be a real good show," Berggren said, noting that Chapin's music is very well known and his 1972 concert at Eastern was well received.

Chapin will perform for about three hours with only his band which includes his brother Tom Chapin, Berggren said.

The light and stage crews are also Chapin's, making the show totally his creation.

Chapin's career began "like any other musician's," Berggren said. "He took a job wherever he could get one."

In 1972 he recorded his first album "Snipers and Other Love Songs."

In 1973 "Taxi", one of his most successful songs, was released on the album "Heads or Tails," Berggren said.

In September, 1974 "Cats in the Cradle" was released, contributing further to Chapin's success. In the top 100 chart of 1975 it ranked 39, Berggren said.

City should not re-install downtown meters

After removing parking meters for a six month trial period, a political controversy is brewing between some city officials and downtown merchants.

It seems the city is losing money from this venture, while the store owners are making money from increased traffic and business.

City Planner Larry Stoever said the city would probably lose about $40,000 with the removal of the parking meters. He said the city would try to make up this lost revenue by using general funds such as property and income tax assessments.

City Commissioner Clancy Pfeiffer disagreed with Stoever's estimate of the lost revenue. He gauged the city would only lose around $20,000.

The city, in order to save the downtown business district from the rapidly growing competition of chain merchants on Lincoln Avenue, took away the meters to induce more residents to shop on the courthouse square.

In a series of news stories conducted by the Eastern News last year on the Lincoln Avenue development, several merchants felt they were being hurt by the chains locating new stores close to the campus.

However, several chain store managers contacted in the stories said they were not trying to compete with the downtown merchants, but complement them by offering different kinds of merchandise to attract more business for all Charleston merchants.

The same sort of compromises and complements were established between the city and the merchants when the meters were removed.

We believe the city should not try to re-establish meters on the square as a few officials said might happen at a city council meeting this January.

Wayne Lanman, a city commissioner, had a good point when he said "...the city will have to tighten its belt economically (by the absence of meters revenue)." This is a reasonable solution to this money shortage problem.

The vitality of the downtown area has a direct relationship between the amount of free parking available to shoppers and the amount of business attracted to the square.

The Lincoln Avenue stores have no meters, which is one less inconvenience for shoppers. Downtown merchants should remain at the same competitive basis as Lincoln Avenue, if indeed both areas will complement each other.

The downtown section should not be returned to the disadvantage of having parking meters when the city has alternatives to collect revenues from other sources to make up the difference and to tighten its own city budget wastes.

U.N. forum will have to solve Iranian crisis

The crisis and tensions between the United States and Iran have finally reached the international forum of the United Nations.

The discussions during Security Council sessions and General Assembly talks will have a great impact on how and when the Iranian situation will be resolved.

Iranian officials want an international investigation of the deposed shah's activities, his secret police and his wealth.

The United States wants to resolve the hostage situation at the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

The United Nations was established after World War II to promote world peace and security. In its charter, the U.N. members voiced their determination to affirm human rights, to establish justice and respect in international treaties and to unite their strength to maintain international peace and security.

It is ironic that both the United States and Iran, the two nations embattled in this international rights and economic conflict, were both charter members to the United Nations.

But other charter members are worried the crisis might disrupt world peace. Indeed, they have a right to be concerned.

Most nations in the industrialized western world have a vested interest in the Middle East, namely the oil commodity.

The United States-Iranian crisis has affected the oil flow from Iran to the United States, and may spread extreme hardships to other countries if Iranian officials wish to punish U.S. allies.

And the United States has many allies in the U.N. Security Council already. The Associated Press reported Sunday that a half dozen countries, including the Soviet Union, criticized Iran for seizing the embassy and holding American hostages.

However, displaying a disdain for a diplomatic solution to the crisis, Iran was not present at the first council session on Saturday.

If and when Iran comes out of its terrorist shell and into the diplomatic arena, the United Nations will be the best place to settle this dispute.

Yes, the United States has filed a suit with the International Court of Justice but it may take months to reach a decision.

The only other international tribunal would be the U.N. Security Council, which has the power to set economic and military sanctions with its decisions.

We look toward the United Nations to promote a peaceful solution to this problem. The road to this solution may include investigations into the shah's past, Western involvement in Iran and perhaps the ayatollah's government as well.

Letter to the editor

I.M. sweep

Editor,
We are very lucky to have the facilities at this school that allow us to engage in most forms of sports activities. The sport I like to play is racquetball.

I was playing Thursday night, when in the middle of a point I heard a knock on the court door. My partner and I stopped our play in order to see what this person wanted. He wanted to sweep the court floors.

Being a hot head, and a little excited from the game I yelled at this man, "You are not going to sweep while we are playing! Why can't you sweep at the end of the night after everyone is through playing?"

The man replied, he had to, he was hired to sweep at this time. We exchanged words and I left to play at another court which opened up because the players thought the floor was too slippery, after just being swept, to resume play.

I wish to say that I am sorry that I yelled at the sweeper. He was just doing his job. I should have yelled at whoever hired him. Why does the school, or whoever, hire people to sweep in the middle of a game?

Not only that, but I have been allowed to sign up for court only to find out that the racquetball club plays at this time. This happened more than once, in fact it has happened three other times.

To the innocent person that I yelled at I sincerely apologize. To the people who run the I.M. office, and to the people responsible for hiring sweepers, I say get your act together.

Allotey found innocent

by Linda Morgan

Joshua Allotey of Charleston was found innocent Friday after being charged with failure to yield to a pedestrian in a crosswalk.

Allotey struck Eastern junior Gail Decker March 4 at the crosswalk on Garfield Street between Coleman Hall and Booth Library.

Decker said she was walking to the library when the accident happened.

At the trial, which began Thursday,

Decker testified she was walking in the marked crosswalk when Allotey struck her as he was driving his car east on Garfield.

Allotey said he had stopped and gone through both crosswalks when he hit Decker.

Decker told Assistant States Attorney Mike Marsh that when she was crossing the street in the crosswalk she saw automobile headlights coming toward her from the left. She started walking faster to avoid being hit, she said.

Decker told defense attorney Stephen R. Ryan that she did not remember exactly where she was when she saw the car lights but it was somewhere in the crosswalk between the curb and center dividing line on the street.

Allotey said he did not see Decker until after he hit her.

Dirty water soon cleaned

by Carolyn Waller

The bad taste and smell of Eastern's drinking water should go away within one or two days, a Charleston city official said.

Steve Buxton, superintendent of Charleston's water works, said silt or alkaline in the Embarras River is possibly causing the problem.

The problem is occurring throughout Charleston because the city's water supply comes from Lake Charleston and the Embarras River, Buxton said.

However, he said the water will not hurt anyone.

City workers are taking bacterial tests of the water to determine what the problem is and are adding carbon to the water to alleviate the bad taste, Buxton said.

Buxton said the water they are drinking at the plant is tasting better.

He added that the quality of the rest of Charleston's water should improve as soon as residents use up the water in their storage tanks.

Tickets on sale for the 'Shrew'

E.G. Gabbard, director of the play, said performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and Dec. 14 and 15. He added that a matinee performance will be held this Sunday.

Gabbard said tickets will go on sale at 1 p.m. at the Fine Arts Ticket office. The office is open from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Ticket prices are $3.50 for adults, $2.50 for children and senior citizens and $2 for Eastern students.

HIT MOM AND DAD UP
IT'S EASY.
All you have to do is cut out, sign and send the letter below.

Dear Mom and Dad,

How are you? I'm fine, and the doctor says I'll feel even better when I get a few days' rest and a couple of home-cooked meals. But with the condition of my wallet, it looks like I'll have to hitchhike home for the holidays.

My roommate just made plans to go home with Greyhound and says Greyhound is a great way to fight inflation because their fares are so reasonable.

Greyhound even makes it possible for someone to prepay a ticket in one place so someone at another place can just pick up the ticket and come home. You can even send along a small cash advance with the ticket. Greyhound will take care of everything for just a small fee. Boy — is my roommate lucky.

Well, I have to run to pick up some more of that expensive medicine. I miss you all very much and hope to be home next weekend.

Thompson signs bill to increase ISSC awards

by Laura Rzepka

Gov. James Thompson signed a bill last week appropriating an additional $4.5 million to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, John Flynn of the financial aids office said.

This money will be disbursed among all state universities to cover those students who submitted their applications on time and are eligible for aid, Flynn said.

"The fall semester deadline for applicants requesting aid from the ISSC was Oct. 1 and the ISSC ran out of money Sept. 14," Flynn said.

During the first week in November the supplemental appropriation was tacked on to a bill, Flynn said.

Senate Bill 1438 was a supplemental appropriations bill to aid the University of Illinois because of flood damage, Ralph Godzicki, ISSC director of grants and scholarships, said Thursday.

The legislators had to look for a vehicle bill to add the ISSC appropriations to because there were not enough legislative days left to start another bill, Godzicki said.

"The bill had to be related to Higher Education so this bill (SB 1438) was appropriate to include the ISSC appropriations," Godzicki said.

"Normally, supplemental appropriations are not dealt with until the spring session, but that wouldn't have done the kids a damn bit of good because we would have been out of school by then," Flynn said.

"They (ISSC) have a commitment they have to cover. I don't think that (4.5 million) is enough," Flynn said.

Students still have until Feb. 1 to apply for spring semester aid from the ISSC, Flynn said. "This money also has to cover those students who applied after Oct. 1 and for those who have applied for spring semester," he added.

"So far we (ISSC) feel comfortable with the $4.5 million," Godzicki said.

"We expect to receive between 13,000 and 13,500 applications prior to the February deadline," Godzicki said.

About 9,000 of these applications will receive assistance with each student averaging $500, Godzicki said.

"The $4.5 million was based on these estimates," he added.

Flynn said, "I heard today (Wednesday) that it will be another 60 days before we hear if the students who have applied for ISSC before Oct. 1 are eligible for aid."

"I don't think it will be that long. I would have assumed that when the funds were forthcoming the process would have started," he added.

Brown and Bernard Borah. The quintet will perform the "Quintet for Wind" by Washburn and the "Maple Leaf Rag" by Joplin and Frankenpohl, Greer said.

Another woodwind quintet featuring Roberta Vines, Joanne Findley and Judy Kalita will play the "Trio Sonata in G minor" by Handel, she said.

Jazz will be performed by Cream in the Coffee, featuring Mike Morgan, John Easley, John Konya, Kevin Gainer, Mike Murphy and Murray

Proska.

Cream in the Coffee will play "Red Clay" by F. Hubbard and "Bluesette" by T. Thielman, Greer said.

Officials, landlords say law will not affect rent

by Herb Meeker

Eastern students living off-campus may be relieved to learn that city officials and landlords say Charleston rents should not be affected by the new smoke detector requirement.

The Charleston City Council voted on Nov. 20 to require smoke detectors in rented property and single-family homes sold after March 1, 1980.

The ordinance will require one detector per occupied floor and one per sleeping room, if the rooms are for a party, Terry Sharp, Charleston building and zoning officer, said Thursday. No detectors will be required for the basement or attic areas, unless used as sleeping rooms, he said.

Sharp said he saw no rent increases resulting from the ordinance.

"Rented houses and apartments should not be affected since they may need only one smoke detector," Sharp said. "It's the apartment houses, with dozens of units, that may have to pay a small fortune."

The city of Normal passed a similar ordinance three years ago. Though rents have increased over that period, the smoke detector requirement could not be linked directly to the increases, Kent Cauwales, coordinator for the Illinois State Tenant Union, said Friday.

Cauwales said what increases have occurred could not be blamed on the ordinance.

George Waden, of Normal's housing division, claimed he had heard complaints about the landlords using the ordinance as a "cop-out" to raise rent, but agreed there was no "direct impact" from the requirement.

Three spokesmen for Charleston apartment complexes said the effect on rent from the ordinance would be minimal if there was any whatsoever.

Andy McArthur, owner of McArthur Apartments, said "I don't think this will adversely affect rents, not as much as utility rate hikes affect rent."

McArthur, who rents 24 apartments and four homes, said he plans to install the smoke detectors under the suggestion of the Charleston Fire Department.

A Village Apartments spokesman said he had received no information regarding rent from the complex owners. "The ordinance probably won't affect rent this year," he said.

Doris Hamilton, manager of Regency Apartments, said she would comply with the ordinance, yet she expressed concerns over installation costs.

"It depends on how many (smoke detectors) we need to put in," she said.

Arthur Hoffman, of Eastern accounting, data processing and finance department, said there is a possibility the landlords could deduct the smoke detector expense from their tax returns.

"It depends on the landlord tax bracket, but as much as 30 percent of the net cost could be deducted," Hoffman said. "However, the landlords could legitimately raise the rent, but not for the net costs of the detectors."

ASC to discuss class proposals

The Arts and Sciences Curriculum Committee will meet Monday to discuss class proposals for the geology department, Chairman Laurence Crofutt said Friday.

According to the agenda, the class proposals are geology 3410, "Petroleum Geology," 3490, "Coal Geology" and 4480, "Optical Mineralogy."

This meeting is a special one to pass the new class proposals so they can go into effect next year, Crofutt said.

The committee will meet at 4 p.m. Monday in the Union addition Greenup Room.

Mondale to visit here before finals

Vice President Walter Mondale will be at Eastern before final exams to drum up support for President Jimmy Carter's presidential campaign.

A definite date has not been set for his appearance, Joe Connelly of the political science department said Sunday.

He said a representative from Carter's campaign called him to find out when final exams were.

Connelly said because Illinois is a key primary state Mondale will be soliciting support for Carter in the upcoming election and also for delegates for the president to the Democratic National Convention.

Mondale's stop at Eastern will come between visits to Effingham and Danville.

Panther wrestlers dominate Illinois Open meet

by Dave Claypool

CHAMPAIGN — Although no team scores were kept Eastern's wrestlers were "declared the undeclared state champions" after their strong showing Friday and Saturday at the Illinois Open, Panther coach Ron Clinton said.

"Everyone had a real strong tourney," Clinton said. "A lot of the teams had some individual strength, but our overall depth was superior. I'm highly pleased."

Clinton said that had team scores been kept the Panthers would have won with Illinois probably second and Southern Illinois-Edwardsville third.

Senior All-American heavyweight Dave Klemm led the Panthers by gaining the Outstanding Wrestler of the tournament award while Randy Blackman and Bob Stout also won individual titles.

Three-time All-American Ralph McCausland, now a graduate assistant at Eastern, won the 142-pound title unattached by clobbering Illinois' Al Sullivan 12-0.

Hens, Penguins reach title tilt

Powerful Delaware and Youngstown State romped to semi-final victories and will meet for the NCAA Division II football championship next Saturday at Albuquerque, N.M.

Top-ranked Delaware romped over Mississippi College 60-10 Saturday, while No. 2 Youngstown outclassed Alabama A&M 52-0.

Gino Oliveri and Bo Dennis both rushed for over 100 yards for Delaware, which raised its season record to 12-1. Last season the Blue Hens also advanced to the championship game, but then lost to Eastern 10-9.

Keith Snoddy passed for four touchdowns, including three by wide receiver Jim Ferranti in Youngstown's lopsided win.

The Penguins are now 11-1 with their only loss coming against Delaware 51-45 on Nov. 10.

Last year Youngstown was eliminated by Eastern 26-22 in the semi-final game.

Klemm, who defeated Western Illinois' John Pasholock 8-1 for the championship "impressed everyone," Clinton said.

Blackman won the 118-pound class defeating Bruce Irussi of Illinois 9-4, while Stout routed another Illini, Steve Briggs, 10-2 for the 177-pound crown.

"Bob Stout had a real strong tourney as did Geno (Savegnago)," Clinton said.

Savegnago took second place losing to Mark Johnson of the Iowa State Wrestling Club 6-0 in the 190-pound championship match.

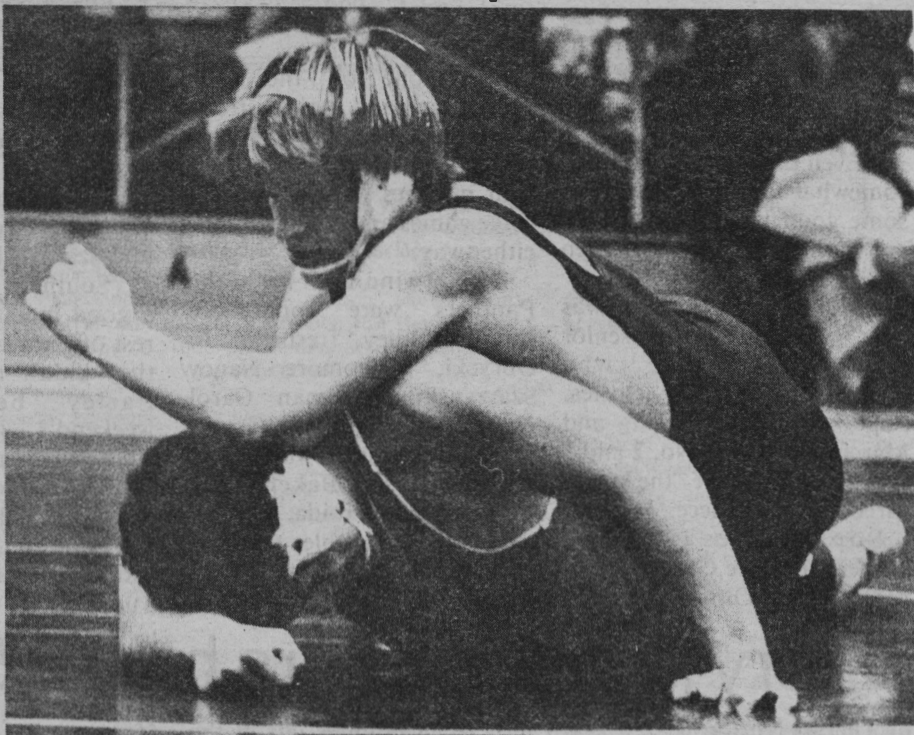

Doug Schafer and Mark Grownowski each gained second place honors in their respective 126 and 158-pound weight classes. Schafer lost to Southern Illinois-Edwardsville's Tom Reed for the second time in three days 8-4.

Grownowski fell to Drew Meshes, wrestling unattached, 14-4, while another 158-pound Panther Mike Polz, took fourth.

All-American Bob McGuinn whipped Bob Davis of Northern Illinois 8-2 for third place in the 134-pound class.

"I had hoped that Bob would be a finalist," Clinton said. "I think he has a case of the third place blues."

Kenny Blackman, a 150-pounder, showed improvement by taking fourth place, Clinton said.

Eastern's 177-pound wrestler Bob Stout used this victory over Southern Illinois-Edwardsville's Norm Mitchell Thursday night as a springboard for this weekend's individual championship at the Illinois Open. (News photo by Valerie Bosse)

Also showing improvement was 142-pounder Kelly Jackson, who gained fifth place.

Another fifth was nabbed by 126-pounder Derek Porter, while Johnny Jackson and Rick Giese took fourth and fifth respectively in the 177-pound class.

"I'm super pleased with the kids, they're really coming around," Clinton said. "They are performing better at this point than I expected."

Badminton team blasts SIU-C

by Jill Anderson

Eastern's women's badminton team started off its season with an impressive 58-4 win over Southern Illinois Carbondale Saturday.

"Even though the score was somewhat lopsided, there was some good badminton played on Saturday," coach Karen Earley said.

Leading the Panthers was No. 1 singles player senior Becky Stuckwisch, who registered three easy victories. Sophomores Lisa Young and Marcia Metzger at No. 2 and 3 singles, also gave the team three victories apiece.

Sophomores Janet Haberkorn, Sue Gonnella and senior Cathy Oltman rounded off the top six positions by going undefeated in all their matches.

"Everyone on the team played well and looked strong for the beginning of the season," Earley began. "The four matches we lost all went three games and could've gone either way."

The No. 1 doubles team of Stuckwisch and Young led the doubles competition winning all their matches easily.

Haberkorn and Gonnella at No. 2 doubles and Metzger and Oltman at No.3 doubles won all their matches against Southern. Also registering victories for the squad were junior Jody Lyon and Obrycki, Groth and Jeppsen and Szarzynski and Hadley.

"Southern didn't really give a good indication of how the rest of the season will go since they didn't really push us," Earley began. "Next weekend's invitational will since the strong teams of Illinois State and Western (Illinois) will be there."

The Panthers will host Indiana State at 5 p.m. Tuesday in McAfee Gym.

Jittery jayvee cagers bow 75-49

by Theresa Norton

First game jitters may have been one reason for the Eastern women's junior varsity basketball team's 75-49 loss to Lincoln College Saturday in Lantz Gym.

"I think we are definitely a better team than the score shows," head coach Bobbie Hilke said. "We did not look bad, we just didn't show tremendous desire to get the ball. It was probably just a case of first game jitters."

Freshman guard Kelly Waldrup led the Panthers with a team-high 12 points, while guard Carla Haney deposited eight points.

Eastern led the game 8-4 with 16:44 minutes left in the first half, but then "Lincoln rattled off eight unanswered points. We came back trading baskets and then Lincoln ran off another seven points, which really put us behind then," Hilke said.

Then in the second half, Eastern used a pressure defense and outscored Lincoln 22-12.

"The press was effective. But it could have been more so, should the team have showed more desire to get the ball," Hilke said.

Eastern scored a total of 23 field goals, while Lincoln netted 36. The Panthers shot 50 per cent from the field in the second half.

"If we had shot the ball more, we would have been all right," Hilke said.

Eastern was also outrebounded 46-28.

"That's the story of the ball game. We had a 41 percent field goal percentage for the entire game, and we didn't rebound the ball," Hilke said.

"I don't believe we were outclassed. The team just laid back too much," she added.

The Panthers will next see action Tuesday against Western Illinois when both the JV and varsity teams travel to Macomb.

Robinson

foul troubles, with starters Mike Pickens, Mumford and DeWitt all saddled with three personals.

"That really watered down our first half effort," Eddy said.

This first half fouling allowed the Bears to chalk up an 8-0 advantage at the free throw line, but Eastern still managed to take a 34-28 half time lead. Aiding the Panthers' cause was Southwest Missouri's poor 41.7 percent field goal shooting and Robinson's 10 point outburst at the end of the half, which helped transform a 22-22 tie into a 34-28 advantage for Eastern.

Still, Southwest Missouri did not give up, and when Bear forward Ed Liliensiek sank two free throws with 10:02 left in the second half,

Eastern's lead was only 48-47.

Lilinsiek and Bear center Mike Robinson combined for 15 points during this surge and were the Bears leading scorers with 18 points apiece.

A & M tops booters for NCAA crown

by Kathy Klisares

MIAMI, Fla.—Eastern's soccer team reached its goal but was beaten by two goals as Alabama A&M shutout the booters 2-0 in Saturday's NCAA Division II national championship game to reclaim the national title.

"Our goal is to finish better than we did last year," soccer coach Schellas Hyndman said prior to the post-season play in reference to last year's third place finish.

The Panthers did indeed get off to a better start by shutting out Southern Connecticut 1-0 in the first round before advancing to the championship match against Alabama A&M, which beat Seattle Pacific 1-0 in a preliminary bout.

Although the scoreboard showed the booters on top, "We didn't play to our full potential," Hyndman said. "We dominated the first half, but we couldn't put the ball in the goal."

Scoring in the 65th minute of the game, striker Ross Ongaro put in the only goal of the game. "The one we scored on was probably our worst shot of the day," Hyndman said. "Southern Connecticut came out second half and played a wide open game which led to more shots. We should have had a couple more."

Reviewing the preliminary match and looking ahead to the championship battle Hyndman said, "I don't think we exerted ourselves so much today that it will hurt us tomorrow. Alabama won't be any more ready than we are," he added, but they were.

Now a 21-1 team, Alabama had a 1-0 lead at half time and scored late in the second half to secure a 2-0 win and the national title. "We played pretty good, but Alabama is a super team," Hyndman said. "They're definitely No. 1."

"We had a few good chances to score and Ross Ongaro hit the post once, but because Alabama is so skilled we were in a defensive formation most of the game," the coach continued.

Finishing with their best season ever, Eastern's soccer team compiled a 14-4-3 season total and the distinction of having "Most Valuable Defensive Player" awarded to senior centerback Terry Rolheiser. As an outstanding defender, Rolheiser has been chosen to compete in the Senior Bowl while teammate John Schram was selected as an alternate goalie.

Robinson, defense pace cagers to opening win

by Andy Savoie

Propelled by Ricky Robinson's 20 points and a pesky, hustling defense, Eastern's basketball squad beat Southwest Missouri State 71-61 Saturday night in its season opener at Lantz Gym.

"It was an excellent game against a very good team," Eastern head coach Don Eddy said. "Everybody did a nice job when they had to."

Indeed, it was a total team effort which carried the Panthers over the Bears, as starters Dennis Mumford, Craig DeWitt and Warren Patten scored 13, 12 and 10 points to place four Eastern starters in double figures.

But it was the stingy Panther defense which seemed to finally wear down the Bears and ignited Eastern's fast breaking offense to burst open what had previously been a close game.

"We felt the break was a big part going in," Eddy said. "They had four catch-and-shoot players and we wanted them to dribble the ball. To me, it was a struggle for them to get an opening."

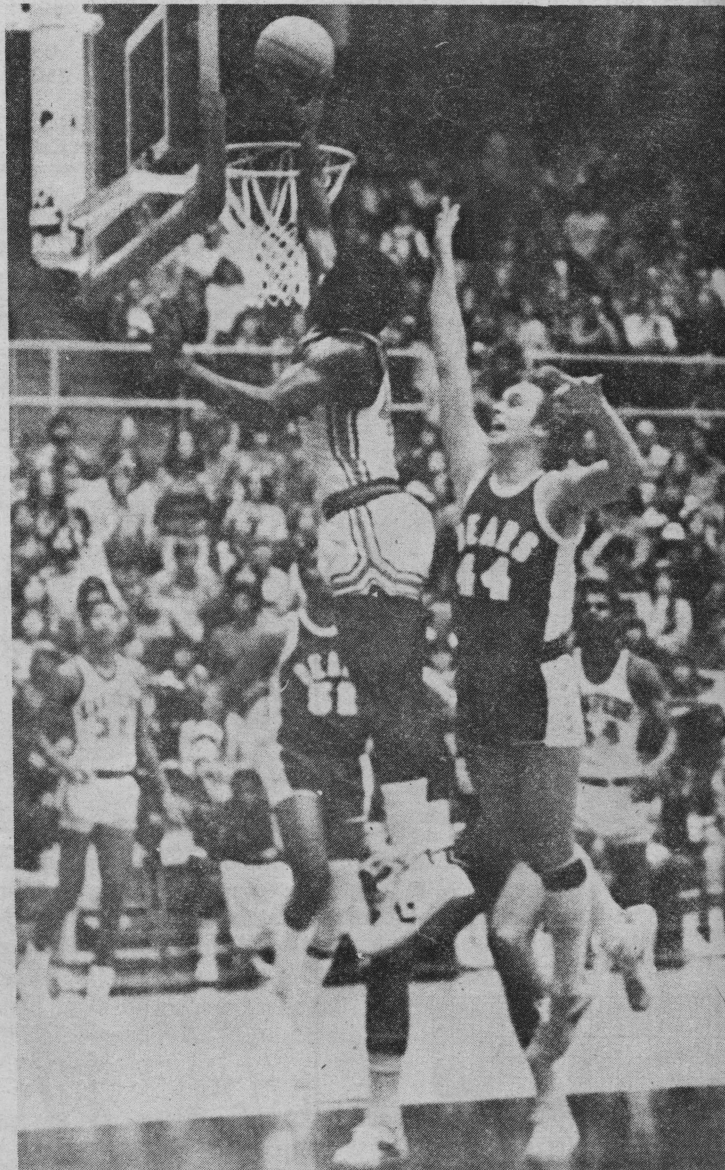

The Panthers' hustling defensive play began paying off with 9:17 left in second half, when Eastern outscored the Bears 13-3 to turn a narrow 48-47 lead into a comfortable 62-51 a margin with 4:43 left. The spurt was keyed by a crowd pleasing Mumford stuff shot and a jumper by Robinson, who earned special praise from Eddy.

"Ricky played a heck of a game at both ends," Eddy said, adding that Robinson's 20 point output was "definitely a bonus."

Eddy also said Robinson's shooting "has improved a lot," and that was evidenced by the sophomore's 10-for-14 shooting for from the floor.

However, Eastern's team shooting proficiency did not quite match up with Robinson's, particularly in the first half when the Panthers made only 47.2 percent of their shots. And Eastern's first half play was further crippled by

OVC doesn't admit Eastern

The Ohio Valley Conference admitted Youngstown State but took no action on Eastern's application for admission into the NCAA Division I league Friday at its winter meeting.

Youngstown was admitted as the ninth member of the conference effective July 1, 1980, although the school will not be eligible for conference titles until they meet all Division I requirements.

Youngstown and Eastern are both currently members of the Mid-Continent Conference, a Division II league. The OVC competes in Division I-AA in football and Division I in all other sports.

Eastern president Daniel Marvin said "The Ohio Valley decision was based upon the changing nature of Division I and I-AA requirements. That caused them to delay their decision in regard to Eastern."

"We will continue to compete in the Mid-Continent Conference through 1980-81," Marvin said. "In the interim, we will now review and reevaluate our situation."

OVC Information Director John Verner said the next time of official conference discussion can come up in regard to Eastern's application would be in the summer meeting late in June.
