Tylenol product recalled

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A 34-year-old with a heart murmur died after taking Co-Tylenol, prompting local police to ask store owners statewide Sunday to withdraw the cold medicine from their shelves.

But authorities said Sunday afternoon they had no evidence linking the death to the cold tablets, and they said the recall was voluntary and precautionary.

An autopsy on the victim, Randall Hummel, proved inconclusive, and toxicological tests were turned over to the FBI for analysis, said Dr. James Malcolm, who conducted the autopsy.

"We have a couple of possibilities on the cause of death but the toxicology will be the determining factor," Malcolm said.

The FBI will also test a sample of the drug from Hummel's home, authorities said.

In the meantime, Sunday's recall was voluntary and precautionary, officials stressed.

"It's a recommendation, that's all it is," said Harold Erdley, a dispatcher with the Union County Department of Emergency Services.

"They had a fairly young person die yesterday, Saturday. The only thing we know about any recent past medical history is that the person took Co-Tylenol," Erdley said.

One year ago, seven people died in the Chicago area after taking cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules. The person responsible has not been found.

Hummel, of East Buffalo Township, was discovered in his home at 11 a.m. Saturday by his 12-year-old daughter, police said.

Authorities believe Hummel had been dead about eight hours.

Patrolman Roger Rivera, who had investigated the death, said Hummel "had a heart murmur a couple of years ago, but that was it."

Phone books distribution set

Eastern phone directories will be distributed within the next few weeks, Harry Read, Eastern's director of information and publications, said.

Read said the directories will be shipped Oct. 6 by truck from the printer in Kankakee.

The directories should be distributed "earlier than last year," he said. Last year the directories were distributed in mid October.

In addition, all publication deadlines set for the directories were met without problems, Read said.

One reason the directories are not printed earlier is that "a federal law does not require a student to have his or her name printed in the directory and ample time must be given to these students to have their names removed from the directory listing."

Nicaragua still receives CIA aid

WASHINGTON—President Reagan has won at least a reprieve in Congress for the CIA's embattled "covert" aid to Nicaraguan counter-revolutionaries.

The Senate Intelligence Committee has accepted a slightly revised aid plan and the House may shy away from a head-on fight to stop it.

The administration's recent success has buoyed some Reagan backers who believe Congress will let the program continue for the foreseeable future.

Meanwhile, the CIA-backed "contras"—or counter-revolutionaries have stepped up attacks against economic targets deep inside the country. The leftist Nicaraguan government claims to have beaten back the attacks.

Marcos: protests hurt economy

MANILA, Philippines—President Ferdinand E. Marcos warned Sunday that demonstrations against his government were hurting the country economically and said violent protests have to be stopped "as quickly as possible" to assure foreign businessmen the Philippines is stable.

Marcos said in a separate interview with ABC-TV that it would be a set back if President Reagan canceled his trip to Manila in November.

"But safety is the most important issue. The primary consideration is the safety of President Reagan ... and this must be decided by President Reagan and his advisers."

As the day began, about 300 Filipinos wearing yellow T-shirts, demonstrated against Marcos.

Lebanon: separation plot exists

BEIRUT (AP)—Druse leader Walid Jumblatt set up a council to administer Chouf province, and an adviser to President Amin Gemayel on Sunday accused Jumblatt's Syrian Backers of plotting to split Lebanon into separate states.

Christian militiamen, meanwhile, freed about 200 Druse women and children after several weeks' captivity.

Jumblatt on Saturday announced he was forming an eight-man "civil administration committee" to run the day-to-day affairs of Chouf province "in the emergency circumstances ... until the return of central government institutions."

He told reporters in his Chouf mountain home at Mouktara that the central government's management of social, economic and administrative affairs.

Farouk Jaber, a political adviser to Gemayel, told reporters after emergency government meetings Sunday that Syria was using Jumblatt to partition Lebanon into cantons, or separate states.

"I believe there is an attempt to partition Lebanon on a canton basis," Jaber said. "The action taken by Mr. Jumblatt falls in the long-term strategy of the Syrian government to extend its hegemony over the parts of Lebanon."

Gemayel met with Prime Minister Shafik Wazzan and former President Camille Chamoun, and Chamoun told reporters afterwards that he too thought Jumblatt meant to divide Lebanon on the basis of "federal cantons."

"The most urgent question is whether this applies to the Chouf only or to all other Lebanese areas," he said.

The Christian Voice of Lebanon radio reported brief artillery exchange around the town of Baasir in the southern Chouf mountains Sunday.

Democrats seek removal of Watt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats are seeking a quick floor vote this week on a resolution urging the dismissal of Interior Secretary James Watt, but Reagan administration allies, mindful that the measure could pass by a comfortable margin, are searching for ways the block or delay the vote.

"We're ready to vote on Mr. Watt. But the administration doesn't want a vote," said Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia. He is author of the "sense of the Senate" resolution calling on President Reagan to request Watt's resignation "without delay."

Byrd has indicated he will take the first opportunity to press for adoption of his measure, which labels as "insensitive and insulting" Watt's characterization of appointees to an advisory commission as "a black, ... a woman, two Jews and a cripple."

That chance could come within the next few days, as Congress works for another week before taking a one-week Columbus Day recess. Also up in the Senate this week is legislation to designate a new holiday to honor slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr., a bill that could be filibustered by a small band of conservatives.

Production achieves success

The theatre art department's production of "You Can't Take it With You" opened to a receptive audience Friday night in the Doudna Fine Arts Center Theatre.

For the most part, the overall performances were deftly amusing with each character being played to the hilt. Despite a few minor exaggerations, the play achieved success.

Deadpan humor was the key to this particular interpretation of the Kaufman and Hart American comedy. Each line was executed with a high level of professionalism, which made the characters believable.

The story centers around the happy-go-lucky Sycamore family, and focuses on how each family member goes about their own way pursuing their own pet diversions.

The family's patriarch, Grandpa Vanderhof (played by senior Jeff Bennett) is convinced that everyone should stop what they're doing and enjoy life

Review:

Don
Leonard

because "you can't take it with you."

Vanderhof's daughter Penny (played by senior Kathleen Scott) starts writing plays mainly because a typewriter was delivered to her house by mistake.

Penny's husband Paul, junior Ed Brumley, manufactures fireworks in the cellar with Mr. DePinna, freshman Tim Estep, who was delivering a block of ice to their house one day, and ended up staying eight years.

Penny and Paul's daughter Essie, sophomore Diana Hopkins, makes candy and dances ballet while her husband Ed, freshman Andrew Biel, plays the xylophone when he's not working his printing press or making masks.

The only family member who is firmly in touch with reality is the Sycamore's oldest daughter Alice, freshman Lynn Mara, who tries to create a good impression on her fiancé's stuffy parents, junior Dean Leitzen and senior Nancy Paloian, at a disastrous dinner party that turns out to be the high-point of the show.

Karl Daniel and Nancy Slusser stole the show playing the roles of the brutish Russian ballet instructor Boris Kolenkhov and the boozing, two-bit actress Gay Wellington.

The costumes were in keeping with the style of the depression era, with the exception of a few outrageously funny outfits such as that of the Grecian discus thrower and the sugar plum fairyish ballerina, that actually served as sight gags.

The lighting and special effects were extremely effective, especially during the fire-cracker explosion at the end of the second act.

The stylish set, circa 1936 New York, enhanced this production immensely, setting the stage for the plays' zany antics.

The play's schedule continues at 8 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and is a worth-while production for those who enjoy a good laugh.

Noted photographer to speak

George Hallett, one of South Africa's most noted photographers, will give a lecture entitled "Life in South Africa" Monday, Johnetta Jones, director of Afro-American studies said.

Born in Cape Town, South Africa, Hallett displayed his first African photography exhibit in 1970. His photographic work has been featured at one-man shows in Paris; Berlin; London; Amsterdam, Netherlands and Oslo, Norway.

In addition, Hallett has also made films for the British Independent TV and the BBC and has taught at Central London Polytechnic.

An exhibit of Hallett's work will be on display Oct. 3 and 4 in the Union walkway, Jones added.

Hallett's appearance, co-sponsored by the sociology, journalism, afro-american studies and political science departments, will be at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

Senate should heed 'Good' advice

Student Senate received a healthy dose of advice last Wednesday.

In his State of the Senate Address, Senate Speaker Glenn Good told the senate its performance "is not picture perfect this semester" and suggested ideas for improvement.

Editorial

The senate must heed Good's advice because its members were elected by a campus populace which believed they were choosing candidates who would breed responsible representation. So far, as Good notes, they are not living up to the campus' expectations.

More importantly, senators are risking the students' trust in their administration. Student respect is vital to the senate's ability to govern responsibly.

Good said there are many problems facing the senate this semester. The senate must correct these problems or they will not serve as an effective voice for Eastern students.

One of the biggest obstacles the senate has to overcome is a lack of dedication. The deficit in enthusiasm is obvious because the senate turn-over rate is high.

Several students had resigned and left the senate temporarily in limbo as it searched for other students to fill senate seats.

Good also cited that senate committee meetings are not as productive as they could be because senators are not conducting them seriously.

If senators would treat committee meetings as productive channels through which they could generate ideas and formulate proposals, the senate would be, in the long run, better representing the students.

Most of all, the senate needs to establish a sense of unity, effectively working together to discuss ideas and legislate with the students in mind.

Good noted that certain cliques have been formed within the senate which could influence votes and "destroy the unity" of the senate. Cliques will be formed within every large group of people, but the senate must remember to vote independently and without the influence from cliques.

If the senate does not unite, the whole year will be a waste not only for the senate, but for Eastern students as well.

Senators must always think of Eastern students when confronting issues. If the students are neglected when senators vote on vital issues, the senate renders itself as an ineffective and unsympathetic voice to students.

The senate can become a better, more-effective vehicle for expressing student concerns.

Following Good's advice would be a good start.

Your turn

Vandal solution offered

Editor:

I find your solution for protecting outdoor exhibits at the Tarble Arts Center an ineffective solution. You have given a 19th-century solution—more patrols—to a 20th-century disgrace.

The answer is both obvious and simple to save the TAC; install closed-circuit cameras on the grounds around the TAC. The TAC could be monitored 24 hours-a-day by Eastern's campus police. An officer monitoring the grounds from a television monitor could report any unusual happenings to both Eastern campus patrols and/or the Charleston police patrols, almost insuring apprehension of vandals.

Cartoonists' strip ideas become community property

"Hey! I think I've read that before!"

That statement, heard many times a year, is usually said by a particular breed of person—the daily comics reader. And to every outcry across the country

News notes:

Tim Broderick

there is a simple explanation for this feeling of "deja vu."

That familiar gag was probably used not just once, but quite possibly dozens of times in dozens of other cartoons all over the world.

Recently, a letter was printed in The Daily Eastern News describing the similarities of a "Doonesbury" strip published during the 1970s and a "rat's tales" strip printed last week. The two were very similar. So similar, in fact, that I, as art director of the News, aspiring cartoonist and professional comics fan, have to agree with the writer of the letter.

But it wasn't plagiarism. It's a common occurrence, a sharing of ideas. Even G.B. Trudeau does it.

Mort Walker, creator of "Beetle Bailey" and many other strips, described the situation best. He said when someone comes up with a pretty good gag and it gets printed, it becomes community property.

Most of the time, a cartoonist may read a gag and then forget it. At a later date, sometimes years later, a particular subject comes up that may bring the gag to mind. Most of the time the cartoonist thinks of it as his original idea; he usually doesn't remember that he read it somewhere else.

This is what happened with "rat's tales." Homecoming is a time when alumni return to their alma mater and reminisce about the college days. The gag in "rat's tales" is a good reflection of what has been happening for years.

Sometimes, however, a cartoonist may see a gag and think, "Hey this is great" and automatically apply the situation to his characters and come up with a different version.

Most of the time the artist may feel the gag works

"Doonesbury" strip published in the 1970s.

Last Tuesday's "rat's tales."

particularly well with his characters. He might visualize a different version of the original, or he just might regret buying that extra six-pack last night and think "If I can come up with just one more strip I'll be done for another week and I can go back to bed."

Of course, this practice is not good to do often, and no professional cartoonist of any considerable talent will rely on constantly stealing ideas from his competitors, who very often are also his friends.

Professional cartoonists borrow. Trudeau has done this. Take the famous character of Duke in "Doonesbury." Duke is a character based on Hunter

S. Thompson, a real-life journalist.

Remember one of the first times we met Duke? He was under his desk killing bats with a ruler (whenever he drinks too much tequila, he sees bats). If anyone has ever read "Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas," a book written by Thompson, they will find the gag with the bats in the first few pages.

So Trudeau borrows ideas from other people too. But is that illegal? Is that immoral?

Nope. That's the comics.

—Tim Broderick is the art director for The Daily Eastern News.

Admiral speaks in favor of nuclear freeze

by Patty Connolly

A nuclear freeze could halt the military preparations which will inevitably drive the United States to an unsurvivable war, Rear Admiral Gene R. LaRocque said Friday.

LaRocque, director of the Center for Defense Information in Washington, D.C., spoke to about 125 people at the St. Charles Parish Center in Charleston on "The Effect of a Nuclear Freeze on U.S. Defense Policy."

A nuclear freeze, in LaRocque's words, is "a mutual, verifiable agreement between the United States and the Soviets to stop testing, making and deploying nuclear weapons."

LaRocque, a Kankakee native and a University of Illinois graduate, added that a nuclear freeze could reduce the likelihood of a nuclear war.

"The freeze makes a lot of sense," LaRocque said, who served in the U.S. Navy for 31 years. "They (the Soviets) can't destroy us any more than they can now."

LaRocque said, "Nuclear war is insane," adding that he believes nuclear war would be the result of any confrontation between the Soviet Union and the United States.

The retired admiral sees the United States "planning, training, arming, and practicing" for a nuclear war.

"We don't want, we can't control, we can't defend ourselves against and probably can't survive" a nuclear war, he said.

LaRocque said that if all countries stopped testing nuclear weapons, the tensions between the Soviets and the United States will be reduced.

He also said that President Ronald Reagan has intensified the tensions between the United States and Soviets. Before Reagan, the Soviets and Americans were getting along, he said.

In regard to the Korean jet incident,

LaRocque said that if they had shot down a U.S. plane, we would have taken military action.

LaRocque said the President wants to make 17,000 weapons in the next 10 years—or five weapons per day. Right now, the United States has 30,000 weapons, and the Soviets have 20,000, he added.

He added that our nuclear problems may be, at some point, "out of control." There will be no winners, only losers in a nuclear war, he said.

Striders finish respectably at Illini Invitational

by Crystal Schrof
CHAMPAIGN—John Gassmann, hampered by a mild cold, paced Eastern's men's cross country team to a fifth-place finish Saturday at the eight-team Illinois Invitational.

Gassmann, who has battled a cold since Monday, placed seventh overall after challenging for the lead. Gassmann (30:52) eventually fell 49 seconds behind the leaders.

"John did a super job considering he was sick Monday and Tuesday and that he was not feeling well the day of the race," Eastern assistant coach Tom Akers said.

University of Illinois' Mike Patton (30:03) and Kerry Dickson (30:05) broke away from Gassmann to finish first and second Saturday.

Patton and Dickson's efforts proved enough for the host Illini who captured the meet with 38 points. The University of Nebraska and Purdue University followed with 56 and 79 points, respectively.

Kentucky University grabbed fourth with 118 points, while Eastern rounded out the meet's top five teams with 129 points.

"We're not disappointed with the results," Akers said. "No doubt it showed that we can compete with the big schools.

In addition to Gassmann's effort, Bob Beine placed 22nd with a time of 31:46 and Paul West finished 30th with a 32:04 clocking.

Aaron Shepley's (32:13) followed in 34th place, while teammate Nick Whiteside took 36th place with a 32:18 time to round out Eastern's scorers.

Panthers turn back Youngstown State 21-20

by Kirby Flowers

Eastern quarterback John Rafferty threw for three touchdowns and 307 yards Saturday to help the Panthers outlast Youngstown State University 21-20 at O'Brien Stadium.

Rafferty, who connected on 21 of 36 passes, registered scoring strikes of 59, 54 and 27 yards, but it was Eastern's defense which eventually held off the visiting Penguins.

The Panthers, leading 21-20 with 17 seconds left, foiled Youngstown State's potential game-winning, two-point conversion and escaped their second loss in five outings.

Leading 14-0 after three quarters, Eastern let the Penguins, who collected 20 fourth-quarter points, back into the contest. Defensive players not in their regular assignments and a fumble nearly spelled the end for the Panthers.

The Panther defense, which had shutout the Penguins for three quarters, began to feel the first-half loss of standout linebacker Tyrone Covington who left the game with an elbow injury.

"When Covington went down, we were hurting because (Dave) Ferguson couldn't get the calls when he replaced Tyrone," Eastern defensive captain Robert Williams said.

"I was giving him the calls, but I was too far behind him," Williams continued. "Don't get me wrong, Ferguson played a great game today."

Consequently, the Penguin offense capitalized on Eastern's defensive confusion and put together three impressive fourth-quarter drives.

Eastern had built up a 21-7 lead with 8:01 left in the game, but eventually saw that advantage dwindle to 21-14 by the 6:27 mark of the final quarter.

Minutes later, Youngstown State put together its desperation scoring drive, 55 yards in 11 plays, when Eastern's Kevin Staple fumbled on the Penguin 45-yard line with 3:30 left.

two quick first downs which moved the ball to Eastern's 44-yard line. The Penguins racked up 12 more yards rushing for another first down.

Penguin quarterback Mike Sloe hit John Goode on the next play for a 17-yard reception to the Panther 15-yard line. Eastern's defense held intact for three plays and forced the Penguins to throw on fourth down.

However, a pass-interference call on Panther defensive back Charlie Person gave the Penguins a first down and goal-to-go situation on the five-yard line.

Eastern's defense held once again, but on third down and three yards-to-go Sloe hit Goode in the end zone to pull the Penguins within one point.

Youngstown State head coach Bill Narduzzi elected to go for the win rather than a tie and the Penguins attempted a two-point conversion.

Fortunately for the Panthers, Sloe's pass to Goode, who collected two touchdowns on the afternoon, bounced in the end zone following a heavy Eastern rush.

In the first half, Eastern's defense was able to keep the Penguins scoreless on two trips inside the 15-yard line.

"If we didn't have some big plays in the first half, it would've been fatal for us," Williams said.

Offensively, Eastern had little trouble posting a first half advantage as Rafferty and junior receiver Jerry Wright took command.

"I feel a little more comfortable every game we play," Rafferty said. "I am getting to know the receivers and they are getting to know me."

The Panthers, who led all day, opened the scoring on their first possession. Rafferty, on the second play from scrimmage, hit Wright on a short sideline pattern.

Wright took the pass in stride, broke two tackles and sprinted 59 yards for a touchdown and a 7-0 lead at the 13:17 mark in the first quarter.

After the Wright score, both defenses took control. Although the Penguins threatened, Eastern's defense came up with the big plays and held a 7-0 advantage at intermission.

Spikers dominate foes, post third tournament crown

by Jeff Long

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Paced by some strong and aggressive play, Eastern's volleyball team captured an eight-team University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee tournament Saturday.

The Panthers marched to their third tournament title of the season by defeating Northern Michigan University 15-3, 15-3 and 15-5 in the title match.

Eastern overpowered its competition by winning all 12 of its games during the tournament.

"Our defense was superb all weekend," Eastern head coach Betty Ralston said Sunday. "Everyone attacked extremely well and kept the ball on the court all the time."

The Panthers earned a shot at the title after defeating University of Dubuque, Wisconsin-Osh Kosh, Northern Michigan and the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Ralston said, however, that the tournament's competition was not very formidable which created some problems for the Panthers.

"It's very tough to keep a competitive edge against those kind of teams," Ralston said. "We showed a lot of character by playing our game and not playing down to their level."

Eastern's kill percentage was a good indication of the Panthers' play this weekend. Eastern registered a 45 percent kill rate in its five matches.

Ralston said any time a team has a kill rate of over 25 percent it is "really good."

Senior Bonnie Fisk led Eastern's offensive attack by notching 45 kills in 70 attempts for an impressive 58.6 percent efficiency. In addition, Fisk registered six solo blocks.

Stacy Cook was equally impressive, registering 45 kills in 76 attempts for a 57.9 percentage while committing only one error.

The Panthers also received top performances from Judy Planos and Gretchen Braker. Planos, who missed last week's action because of bad knees, served up eight aces while Braker dished out 82 assists.

Eastern gained entry into the second-round Saturday after defeating Northern Michigan two games to none in the first round.

However, the Panthers again found themselves pitted against Northern Michigan, this time for the championship. Northern Michigan had earned a shot at the title by winning the tournament's second division.

"Northern Michigan is a good team. We just continued to play well and beat them handily," Ralston.
