MILLIKIN 29, E. I. 21

The Millikin basketball team defeated the E. I. five on the Decatur floor Tuesday evening by a score of 29-21, in a game in which both teams were playing out of form. Millikin put up a good exhibition of the five man defensive style of playing, forcing the E. I. team to make long and difficult shots. Lack of confidence at the start of the game, and inability to hit the free throws, prevented the game from being closer, with a possible victory for E. I. The first half ended 10-9 in Millikin's favor, the final result being in doubt until the middle of the last half, when Millikin obtained a lead that was impossible to be overcome.

Millikin has a much better defensive than offensive team. Captain Wilson and Coach Lantz wish to meet them on our floor, but it is doubtful if Coach Wann will risk a game here this year for the championship of the I. L. A. A. will be determined by the percentages (won and lost) at the end of the season, and he will not care to play a game where every advantage will be against him.

Bailey (captain) and Curl, two former H. S. stars, played their usual strong game, Bailey being rated as an all conference guard. E. I. showed an improvement on defensive, but are still weak in this part of the game. Black and Dunn showed up well.

Moving Picture Machine

While in Chicago Mr. Ashley made arrangements for securing a moving picture machine, which will soon be here, ready for installation in the rear of the assembly room. This machine will add to pleasure and work of the students, as it can be used educationally to a good advantage.

The Impressario

Given Wednesday

Before a good sized audience Wednesday evening the musical comedy, "The Impressario" was presented by Percy Hemus supported by an excellent cast. The costumes and scenery were quite above those of the ordinary traveling company. Mr. Percy Hemus in the title role was easily the center of attraction. The cast supporting him interpreted their roles in a thoroly entertaining manner. This attraction was the equal of anything of its kind ever seen at our school. The music was up to expectations and left impression that it was truly a musical comedy.

H. S. Athletics

The High School Athletic teams have come to stay. They furnish practice to boys that are too young to compete for the varsity. In a few years E. I. will be getting experienced material from this department that will rival any from neighboring high schools. Next year, men from this team, Kerr, Donaldson, Iknayan and Whittemore, will be strong candidates for the varsity.

The High School has adopted for their colors purple and gold, and for their monogram, T. C.

Miss Osborn Speaks

At 9:30 Wednesday morning, the students returned to the assembly room to attend a talk given by Miss Grace Osborn. Her subject was "Health," and she spoke particularly about prevention and treatment of tuberculosis.

Christmas seals are on sale in the library. These seals have not been given the publicity that they should have been. Go now and buy one, two or a hundred of them. Help the Red Cross fight tuberculosis and other diseases which Miss Osborn described to us Tuesday morning.

The Devereux Players were greeted by an audience, small in comparison to what it should have been, in the assembly room Tuesday evening when they gave the play, "Magic." The play was well presented and well received, and it is hoped by many students that we may have these players in the entertainment course next year.

Christmas Dance

Invitations for the boys' Christmas dance have been sent to former students and friends of the school, whom the committee thinks, might be interested. If your name has been overlooked, notify Floyd Wilson and get your programs. This dance is one the most pleasing of the many social affairs of the school year. The committee are spending much to make this dance unusually successful and entertaining.

Balcony Assured

Mr. Ashley went to Chicago Friday to see the state architect about the balcony, which is going to be built in the gymnasium. Mr. Ashley reported that he did not get to see the state architect, but obtained the approval of his assistant. The plans had to be laid before an engineer, who will take two or three days to look over the plans and make some necessary drawings of certain parts. These drawings may make it impossible to secure the materials in time to build the balcony during Christmas vacation. However, the student body will be glad to spend time enough in the evenings, or on Mondays, if necessary, to put it up. Mr. Ashley deserves much credit for the sacrifice of time that he is giving to this school affair.

Christmas Party

The Training School will give a Christmas entertainment Wednesday evening at 7:30 in the assembly room to the students, parents and friends of the school. The entertainment is under the direction of Miss Major, which is enough to recommend it to any one. It will consist of a procession, Christmas songs, and a Christmas play which will feature Mother Goose characters.

Faculty Party

The faculty had their annual Christmas dinner in the parlors of Pemberton Hall Monday evening. After the dinner the play, "Suppressed Desires," was given by Miss Shortess, Miss Stewart and Mr. Daniels. Christmas songs were sung by a quartet composed of Miss Weller, Miss Morse, Mr. Allen and Mr. Moore. with Mrs. Thomas at the piano. Following the music, some English games were played.

Miss Major sang an Indian love song in chapel Sunday morning.

This is the last issue for 1921. The next is Jan. 10, 1922.

E. I. 16, LINCOLN 42

E. I. couldn't hit the basket; out of sixty-eight shots, six resulted in baskets. Coupled with some rough playing during the last few minutes, and Lincoln's accurate shooting, the E. I. gang was buried under a 42-16 score. Both halves, the Teachers started off with a rush but were unable to keep it up. Playing as good a floor game as Lincoln, but clearly outclassed in shooting, the outcome was never in doubt after the first few minutes, Wilson started things with two long baskets, while Lynch, later in the game, made the longest shot so far this season, on the home floor. For Lincoln, Johnson and Runion, both guards, and Madden, right forward, made five baskets apiece. The Lincoln men could shoot baskets, E. I. could not. We had plenty of fight, but that alone does not win games. The fellows may have played in bad luck, but nothing is gained looking for alibis. Beat Sparks. Make this the first of a long string of victories. Get behind the team. E. I., and fight, fight, fight.

$267.66 in S. C. Treasury

At present, the Student Council has just $267.66 in the treasury. Of this amount, $80.75 was left in the treasury from the Homecoming fund. A sum of $209 was taken in from the carnival. Expenses were $22.09, leaving as net receipts $186.91. Total, $267.66. By a rule of the Homecoming committee, $15 of this amount must be left in the treasury to be used for the Homecoming next year. The rest of the money may be used as the council sees fit, and, probably, the bulk of it will go toward building the balcony in the gymnasium.

Published weekly by the students of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers' College on each Tuesday during the school year at 511 Jackson St., Charleston, Ill.

Entered as second-class matter Nov. 3, 1915 at the Post Office at Charleston, Ill., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Vacation will soon be here and we will all be leaving for home. When you are home remember you are a son of old E. I., and you have certain duties to perform. One of them is to boost our school. You will meet a number of friends, who are planning to attend school next fall. Start to talk E. I. and give your school a push. We want the very best material possible, and the way to get this material is to select our students. If you think they are good E. I. material, see that they give your school every possible consideration.

Now another matter. We realize that the football season is over, but now is the time to be on the lookout for new material. Inquire and find out if any member on the local high school football squad distinguished himself. If you find a prospect, talk E. I. to him.

WARBLER '22

The members of the staff are busy on the '22 year-book. Since the school is larger, we are planning to make an annual that will correspond to its new size. Every condition points favorably to the most successful annual in the history of the school. This annual is your annual as much as ours. You have a certain section given entirely over to your class. This section should be filled with your class pictures, class history and class activities. See if you cannot make your part of the annual better than the other classes' parts. Talk it over in Wednesday morning class meetings. Start now. Give your ideas, suggestions, poems, pictures, cartoons and write-ups to your class representatives. Help the staff make this go. Be a booster, and not a knocker. Sign a pledge now. Price of the annual is only $1.75, and you have the best souvenir of the school year.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

VIEWPOINT OF AN ALUMNUS

From reading the News, and from various reports, it seems as if E. I. again had a wonderful chance for a stellar basketball team. By reading over the lineup in a recent game, we think that Coach Lantz has fine material and that the greater percentage of the games will be won. We have the team. Now let's look to the "pep." It always seemed as if the E. I. crowds were a little stiff and formal. They didn't have the spirit that says, "you have to win," the enthusiasm of the old days has disappeared. Many of today's high schools still display this fighting spirit which makes the team "carry on." The students have started out right by providing a sum for a balcony, which will improve the gym very much. Students, let's get a little more of the "go and get it" spirit, and you can say we've done our best. Coach Lantz is doing his best, since he is putting all his efforts into making our team go. He has also arranged an excellent schedule for the students and citizens of Charleston. The team is undoubtedly doing its best. So with these three factors working in perfect harmony, the season of 1921-22 will stand out in everyone's memory as the best in the history of the school.

The term of office of six members of the Student Council end on Dec. 5. All class officers should consult the Student Council constitution, and see that the necessary elections take place.

• THE FIRST CALL

A Freshman, lean and tall,
Was making his first call,
In the parlors of Pem Hall.

He'd struggled half a day
To get in his glad array.
But at last came down the way.

His hair, with grease, was sleek,
And a faint blush did peek
Thru the powder on his cheek.

Surely no knight of old,
Arrayed for conquest bold,
A braver heart did hold.

But as he neared the hall,
Looming there, dark and tall,
He began to feel quite small.

The ringing of the bell
Is most too sad to tell;
At the sound he almost fell,

Its clanging was so near,
It brought the sweat of fear,
When it burst upon his ear.

That hair so sleek stood up
Like the bristles on a pup,
When its wrath is stirred up.

His throbbing heart rose till
His throat it 'most did fill.
His courage now was nil.

The mischief was all done,
He was too weak to run,
So he waited what should come,

Expecting some dire form,
Raging like a tempest storm,
To come rushing from the dorm.

Imagine his surprise,
When thru his bulging eyes,
He Miss Molyneux descries,

With such a pleasant smile,
It did at once beguile
The fears of that poor "chile."

So, his troubles nearly o'er,
He waited at the door
For about an hour more,

While in the room above,
The object of his love
Was adjusting hat and glove.

When she at last came down,
The beauty of her gown
Shed a splendor all around.

It was enough to pay
His efforts made that day,
And it's pretty safe to say He'll call again, if he may.

An Ideal Heroine

In many a book the heroine represents the author's ideal woman. Thackeray, in Vanity Fair, did not give a perfect character to any one woman, but rather divided these good attributes between his two main woman characters. If these two characters were combined, the effect would be quite charming. This ideal woman would be as beautiful as Amelia Sedley, as vivacious as Becky Sharp. Her expression would not be as childlike as Amelia, nor as shrewd as Becky. She would have as broad a knowledge of human nature as Becky, as ready sympathy as Amelia. This heroine would be too kindly to make fun of Miss Juanita, but not too scrupulous to laugh at Miss Barbara Pinkerton. With Becky's cleverness and humor guided by Amelia's gentleness and friendliness, this heroine would become the ideal of all the fiction-reading public.

4th-Grade Christ- mas Stories

The Fairies' Christmas Gift

Time: at midnight.
Place: at Mrs. Graham's.
Ten fairies came out on a rosebush leaf, dancing with delight because they were going to give a big bagful of articles to Mrs. Graham and her four children, who were William, Robert, Dorothy and Alice.
They were very poor, yet they were kind and believed in fairies, whi h very few people do.

All the fairies climbed down the stem, danced over to Mrs. Graham's humble house. The lights were out. They had hung up their stockings on Christmas eve.

When the fairies reached their house, they filled the family's stockings full. Robert got a drum. Every time he played it, gold dropped from it. William got a flute. Every time he played it, a lantern would shine through the instrument. A radiant beam appeared on top of it, and around it, too, which would remind you of the Christ Child.

It was four o'clock when the children got up to see what Santa had brought them. William got up first, next Alice, then Robert, and, last of all, Dorothy. When they went down stairs to see what the fairies had brought them, they were elated to see what had been brought to them.

The mother and the girls each got a beautiful book. They all lived contented and happy. This is how the fairies are useful.

Edward Foreman.

The Christmas Vacation

One Christmas eve there was a vacation at Tommy's and Sally's school. Tommy thought it would be a good thing to visit Mister Bear.

Mister Bear was not at home, but was in the field. Mister bear was preparing for his luncheon when he saw Tommy and Sally coming toward him.

When they got there, they asked him to tell them a story. He was just beginning a nice story when Peter Rabbit came running up. He said he had been looking every place for him and that he had met Brer Rabbit on the way, who said he wanted Mr. Bear to come to his show, which would take place on Coney Island. Then Mister Bear said: "Do you care if these tota come?"

"No," said Peter Rabbit, "I don't care." Then Peter Rabbit hopped off.

At the Island, seats were being put in rows. Although the show was very good, it was time for them to go home. At home, their mother was in bed. So they went to bed, too. In the morning what should they find but the hearth full of dolls, beds and guns, and there in the midst of them sat Mister Bear.

He jumped up and hugged the children, and they built him a little house where he lived always.
