FACULTY PRESENTS
FOUR ACT COMEDY

The four act comedy "The Peri-plused Husband," as given by the Pedagog Players last Monday eve-ing in the assembly hall, was a very pleasant evening's entertainment.
It followed the precedent which was initiated last year when three one act plays were presented by members of the faculty. Students in and above the ninth grade, members of the faculty, and a few other friends were invited to enjoy the treat.

The play itself is the work of Alfred L. Beach. It was originally given in this country by John Drew the leading man in about 1875. The acting for the play was a doing room of the Pedagog Players, as directed by Bradley T. Barnum.

The all-star cast included: Tom Pelling, Howard DeF. Wediger; Clarence Woodhouse, E. F. K. Daniels; Pitts, Charles P. Lantz; Supple, John B. Wood; Warming, Clara M. Boyer; Wel.

The last scene was constantly crowded by costumed and painters that they might be guided and inspired by them. The contrast to this character was Sophophorus A. Apthorp, and Daniker, who were already stands for: in the community good fellowship, education, and patriotism. Much the same way we can make you feel as if you were back at the Charter. I always feel sort of naturally sympathy with the feeling. You are not all of you always near, you will be warmly welcomed, and we hope to see you all on the occasion.

McKinley Turner, writer of Clinton, Iowa, and its school system.

Due to the large number of articles from E. L. alumni that have accumulated for this issue it was necessary to publish a latter this week in order to use all of them in the remaining issues. W. McKinley Turner presents in this article an interesting description of Clinton, Iowa, and it's school system. Mr. Turner was president of his class and is now a student in engineering. In speaking on his subject he said:

"The school system in Clinton is, as a whole, an excellent one. The teachers are all well trained and have a good reputation. The pupils are well educated and have a good knowledge of the subject they are studying. The buildings are all well kept and the grounds are well cared for. The school system is supported by the taxpayers and the results are satisfactory."

I am only too glad to be able to say to my Alma Mater, or to have an op­portunity to express my affection and loyalty to E. L. by responding to any of my classmates. The town that I love is away from E. L., and I must say that I am very glad to be here now.

The newspaper of the town, The News, is a very good one, and I have always found it a pleasant read. This is the first time I have written a letter to the paper, but I hope to do so in the future.

The school system is very good, and I think that it is one of the best in the country. The teachers are all well trained and have a good knowledge of their subjects. The pupils are well educated and have a good knowledge of the subject they are studying. The buildings are all well kept and the grounds are well cared for. The school system is supported by the taxpayers and the results are satisfactory."
