Metcalfe won the tournament, but the events leading up to that last game are of greater interest to the readers of The News than the triumph of the dark horse contender, as gracefully as it was. The most enjoyable spectacle from a neutral's point of view was the friendship game between the T. C. High and Kansas, Saturday evening before the final. Aside from the entertainment it afforded, the strengthening of the ties of friendship between the two schools was one of the best things that came out of the tournament.

Thursday Evening Session
Three teams were eliminated Thursday evening in as many hard fought battles. Casey opened the schedule of 16 games with a well earned triumph over Mattoon, 18-15. The work of the losers was a great deal better than we had been led to expect, and Casey had to extend themselves in order to come out on top. Westfield lived up to advance notice of their improved form and held Kansas 12-12 the first half but could not stand the terrific pace, and Coach Metcalfe's squad emerged with their first win, 24-18. Martinsville met Paris home with the small end of a 11-6 score after 35 minutes of action playing, during which neither exhibited the basketball they were capable of. The attendance at this session was exceeded only by the mad crowd of Saturday evening.

Friday Morning Session
Hugh Adams' little Ashmore strugglers went home in defeat before the Newman five in the first Friday morning game by a score of 19-7. It was another case of an evenly fought first half and then an assertion of the superior staying powers of the bigger team. The next game between C. H. B. and T. C. High was one bit the battle it was doped to be. A first quarter lead of 4-1 and a last quarter rally did the trick, and the Purple and Gold was triumphant by the third time this year over Charleston, 16-15. The half ended 14-4 and before the third quarter was well advanced the margin had increased to 11-4; the northriders apparently had the contest well in hand. Then T. C. erupted and almost caught its leaders, finishing in the rear, 24-11. The final 8 minutes were desperately fought, the losers gathering a total of 16 points while T. C. took from 12 to 16.

Out of the six men on the victorious team, five broke into the scoring column. Cooper with a pair of field goals and a magnificent defense was the brightest star of all the players. The defensive work of all the players was of the highest order and contributed more than anything else to the victory.

Neugat was the main show of the first five, racking up 4 field goals that almost won the game for his team. But Neugat was the only one able to locate the basket regularly and once more T. C. defeated C. H. B. on a score of 29-12.

Hume defeated Hinsdabor, or rather J. Barrett outscored Clapp 21-15, in the next contest. The scoring duel was interesting to watch from a spectator's standpoint and the scrappy floor game of Barrett was at all times in evidence.

Friday Afternoon Session
Coach Ashbrook of Neoga presented a well balanced scoring machine that swept over Oakland, 28-12, the size of the score occasioning some alarm among T. C. High supporters. The football tactics of both sides were responsible for this game being designated the roughest of the tournament. Metcalfe made its eagerly awaited appearance and in impressive style swamped the small Montrose outfit, 33-5. This was the high score of the tournament. The grudge combat between Martinsville and Casey turned out to be another victory that was in doubt until the final gun. Score Casey 13 Martinsville 12.

Friday Evening Session
Kansas and Newman had it out, with the former five staging its well known final quarter rally to come out on top, 22-11.

The Hughesmen played their second and great defensive game and held Neoga scoreless for three quarters, winning 12-5. A slow start kept the half totals to 4-0, but after his regulars had speeded up sufficiently to put the contest on ice Coach Hughes sent the out-basketed Oakland in the afternoon, rarely coming near the goal despite plenty of pep and fight in their attempt to do so.

Gannaway was high point man this time and almost all of the quintet accounted for one or more points. The strong defense of the entire team was the big factor, while the scoring power was there when needed.

To Voris went the honor of making the only enemy basket in addition to which he counted from the foul line for most of the Neoga total. The five man defense functioned a great deal better than the offensive plays.

Metcalfe proved beyond all doubt that they were to be seriously considered as possible contenders for first honors by trouncing Hume 29-12 in a free-for-all scoring spree of Vaughn and Canter, Metcalfe forwards. Thompson, Hume forward, accounted for almost all his team's score.

Saturday Afternoon Session
The semi-finals were certain to be tight games with Casey vs. Kansas and T. C. High vs. Metcalfe making up the schedule. In the first of them Casey saw to it that the famous Kansas comeback did not show its head, but the Swoley aggregation had a hard tussle to achieve the honor of going into the finals. Final score 14-12. Fancher and Foreman by their work in this game deserved at least honorable mention in the all district selection. Metcalfe encountered the first real team they had met during the tourney and were returned the victors over T. C., 14-11. The reliable Purple and Gold defense was as good as ever, but a poor quality of free throwing—each side is credited with five field goals—was responsible for the defeat. The first quarter went in favor of the losers 4-3 and along in the next quarter the score stood 7-3 but the half ended 7-7. Jumping into a lead in the succeeding quarter that was never headed, the Metcalfe team earned the right to meet Casey in the final game.

Stone and Osborn garnered all the T. C. points while Gannaway's floor game and Cooper's and Stillions' guarding held the famous Vaughn to one lonesome goal from the field.

Taylor and Canter were the chief scorers for Metcalfe and with Vaughn composed the main defense, too.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. L. C. LORD

The funeral services for Mrs. L. C. Lord, who died at the family residence, 838 Seventh street, were held at the home at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, with the Rev. Walter Johnston, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. The simple but impressive services were conducted in the presence of the friends of the family. The pall bearers were E. H. Taylor, L. F. Ashley, Fluke Allen, H. DeF. Widger, A. B. Crowe and S. E. Thomas.

Francis G. Blair, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of Springfield, and J. Stanley Brown, president of the Northern Illinois Teachers College, of DeKalb, as well as Frank Lord of Washington, D. C., Mrs. George Satterthwaite and two children of Huntington Valley, Pa., and Mrs. Ethel Awty and daughter, Inez, who had been visiting in the East, were present for the last rites.

Mary E. Cook Lord, wife of President Livingston C. Lord of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College at Charleston, was born at Terryville, Connecticut, December 6, 1853, and died at her home in Charleston, Illinois, March 1, 1924, after an illness of four months.

On July 16, 1874, she was united in marriage to Livingston C. Lord, who, with three children and four grandchildren, survives her. The children are Mrs. Ethel Lord Awty, Charleston, Illinois, Frank Lord, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. George Satterthwaite, Huntington Valley, Pennsylvania. The grandchildren are Livingston and Dwight Satterthwaite, William John and Inez Awty. A sister, Mrs. C. B. Emery, and a brother, both of Terryville, Connecticut, also survive her.

Half of her married life was spent in Minnesota at Winnebago City, Mankato, St. Peter, and Moorhead, and half in Charleston, which has been her home for nearly a quarter of a century.

In early life she united with the Congregational church and remained a consistent member of it throughout her life. She attended the Presbyterian church in Charleston, and was very active in the work of the Ladies Aid of that church.

Wherever she has lived, she has been unsparring in her work for the poor and for any good cause that needed her help. She was president for three years of the Charleston Woman's League, an organization for local relief, and for six years of the Welfare Committee and the Red Cross executive committee which later carried on the good work of the earlier organization, and for many years was president of the Hospital Aid society.

For sixteen years she has been president of the Charleston Reading Circle, and has been a distinct help in maintaining the high standards of that club.

She was an appreciative student of poetry and a reader of good books. In acquiring a reading knowledge of foreign languages, she showed remarkable ability, having gained without instruction the power to read German, French, Spanish and Italian as rapidly as most people read their native tongue.

Mourned by husband, children, and grandchildren, by her sister and brother, and by friends in every place in which she has ever lived, she lies at rest in Rose Lawn Cemetery, crowned with the glory of a full life, well lived.

BELTING HONORED
Paul E. Belting '09 has been appointed director of physical education for men and women at Iowa state university. He is remembered to E. I. alumni as one of the great linemen of E. I. football teams in '08 and '09.
His work after graduating from this school has consisted of several high school principalships, an A. B. from the University of Illinois, degrees of A. M. & Ph. D. from Columbia, a supervisoryship of athletics in the Horace Mann school, New York, and the position of assistant professor at University of Illinois.

AMPLE MATERIAL FOR WARBLES

When the editors made final preparations to send the Warbler to press they had more material than they could possibly use. So they had to discard that which bore no particular relation to the school, and ask those whose work could not be used to not feel hurt when the Warbler appears without it. Every person who contributed anything to the bulk from which the material used was selected is deserving of the appreciation the staff feels. Heartly cooperation of the school has made this annual what it will be, the best ever.

Warbler pledges may be paid in the reception room Wednesday from 2:20 until 4. Sometime this week a full schedule of places and times of payment will be posted. Students should remember to pay before April 1.

MOTION PICTURE SATURDAY

Jack London's "The Call of the Wild" will be given as a motion picture in the assembly room March 15 beginning at 7:30. This will be a regular entertainment course number with admissions of fifteen and twenty-five cents charged those not showing season or recreation tickets.

SIX REELS PORTRAY ELECTRICITY USES

Six reels of educational pictures were shown in the assembly room Wednesday afternoon. These showed the developments of electricity which have extended into the motor vehicle industry.

One may trace the interest in electricity back to the experiments of Galvani and Faraday which followed the ancient discovery of the force produced by rubbing pieces of amber together. The motive of these men was to find, in some way, what lay behind that force. Galvani experimented using frog legs, and Faraday finally found that electricity can be generated with a magnet.

The vital part that electricity plays in our daily life was emphasized throughout most of the pictures. Among other things of modern convenience made possible through this development by various experiments are the products commonly known as electric sweepers, washing machines, lights, radios, X-ray machines, electric furnaces, motor boats and motor cars. These are but a few of the numerous uses that can be made of electricity.

"Electricity in the Motor Vehicle" was taken up in one group of reels; the importance of this has often been overlooked. This was shown in such a way that even the youngest person in the audience could enjoy it. Franklin and his kite descended upon the oldtime stage coach and soon transformed it into a shining limousine.

To do this, two queer "men" decided to put into the new vehicle an ignition coil, spark plugs, a starting motor, a starting switch, lighting and igniting switches, an ammeter and a horn. The question of, "how about the juice?" was settled with, "battery." "What should one do when the battery runs down?"—"Get a generator and keep the battery charged." Then these two queer creatures showed the various parts of a generator by taking one apart and putting the numerous pieces together again. The different types and sizes of generators that have to be used in different sized motor boats, buses and tractors were mentioned. The one used in the latest form of swift transportation and is a highly developed one.

After differences between a starting motor and a generator were shown, the single unit, or starter-generator, was taken up. One may find this, but this mechanism does much to start the family on its outing to the country or on the lake, or on its man's tour. It is also largely responsible for the quick get-away that a fire engine can make.

The question of "friction was taken up last. The simplest way of getting the high voltage that is necessary, as well as the most complicated, was expounded.

THE PROPOSED COLLEGE COUNCIL

The time will soon be upon us when we must decide whether there shall be separate high school and college student councils or one representing the entire school. Four years ago, when our school was a five year normal school, a student council was organized for the purpose of providing a means of communication between the faculty and students, and to provide a permanent organization through which the students could express their views on school affairs. In the year of 1921-22 the last step was taken in dividing the school into a four year college and a four year high school. This necessitated a change in the organization. So, now we have been having the Student Council with members from the two divisions of the school. Just recently the high school organized a student board of control for the purpose of originating and carrying on activities which are vitally important to the high school alone. Now it is being discussed in the college whether it shall continue to have high school members in the school Student Council or dissolve the present organization and make a new one for just the college.

The matter will probably soon be in the hands of the students to be voted upon. What are you going to say? Will the new plan be a good one for our school? If our advantages will more than balance all disadvantages, then we should have the change. If this is not the case, we should not and we will be making a mistake to change our present form.

Of course, when there are matters to be discussed which concern either department alone, it is a waste of time for all the members to be present. Then, too, the college and high school may not be able to talk freely, with the present Council, about matters which pertain to both departments.

At the same time the separation of the two bodies is going to greatly hasten the split in the student body. Is this what we want or not? One danger, however, is that the two parts of our school will fall so far apart that they lose track of each other's affairs. They will gradually lose interest in each other, and on occasions when we need the support of both the high school and college we will not have it.

Being organizations of equal rank will also be a handicap. The feeling, created in the division, that the two bodies are separate will prevail even in the joint meetings. Thus the high school will be for the high school and the college for the college. Matters which concern the two departments will not be looked at from the proper point of view. Besides not being able to understand each other's er's situations, matters of joint interest might not be seen as readily by two councils as with one representing the whole school.

The above points are a few of the many to be considered in connection with the proposed college council. Barring any feeling between the college and high school except that which is for the best for our school as a whole, we ought to consider the new proposal seriously.

EDUCATION PAYS

In School Topics for February 19, 1924, appears an editorial for boys and girls by Mr. Jones, superintendent of the Cleveland public schools.

Education pays in every way. The difference between the Indians we found here in 1492, and the men and women who have made this a great country in education. Get your education early; go through the elementary school, the high school and the college, if you have the mental power to do the work.

Think about what you want to do in life—irrespective of whether or not it will produce large financial returns. Do not hesitate to start at the bottom of the business or profession you enter upon, and learn it thoroughly. Do your school work thoroughly and disregard the opinion, sometimes expressed, that indifference or mediocre work in high school and college will have no bearing upon your future success. It has been proven that your standing in studies, in character, in athletics, in behavior, in school, is a fair forecast of your success in your life work.

First safeguard your health by establishing good habits. Participate in athletics, group games especially, and learn to do team work. Learn to work, to work hard, in some useful occupation. If you are busily engaged with mental or physical improvement through useful work or play, you won't have to worry about keeping clean in mind and body. Hard work is the key to success.

Don't depend upon others—depend upon our own efforts. Don't underestimate your ability. You have no idea what possibilities are locked up in our mind. Work and persistence will unlock the mind and body and permit you to succeed to a degree that will astonish you as you advance.

Cast out fear. It paralyzes you, mentally and physically. Remember everyone is interested in youth. Keep up your courage. Fix in mind early what you want to do and how far you want to go, and then go to that very spot. Read and read more. Read about the lives of men and women who have accomplished important tasks.

Everyone is watching you, examining you, educating you—your parents, your teachers, your neighbors and friends, your school mates. Every hour counts for something. Never think failure. Always think success. Work.

If you do a good job in your school and a good job in your work, you will be a good citizen and your country will be prosperous and safe.

DO NOT GROWL AT YOUR FRIENDS AT YOUR PUBLIC

One should not run a friend down to the public. That we all make mistakes we realize. If one of your friends is making a mistake and is unconscious of it, he will probably appreciate it very much if you go around to him quietly and inform him of the erroneous action. Then he can reform, and you will have done him a friendly act. If, on the other hand you growl about his actions to the public, you are no friend of his. You are either ignorant or are trying to run him down. You are certainly not trying to help him out of his troubles in a very friendly manner.

The Review of Reviews for February contains an article "The Influence of Highways upon Religious Life," which consists of four papers written by high school students upon this subject.

In "A Magnetic Pageant that has 1600 million Players," Stuart Mackenzie tells amazing facts about this universe of ours.—The American for March.

basketball game this writer ever saw. Goals were made regardless of whose basket they were thrown in and the passing was either to an opposing player or into the crowd. The coaches came out on the floor to instruct their men, and every violation of technical rules, running mostly, that could be thought of were committed. The ludicrous attempts at the basket, when a player would take numerous set-up chances and miss, set the crowd into howls of laughter. The final quarter witnessed more intentional fouling than any six games will ever have on the local floor, and all of it was done in the best of spirit that could be shown. At one time T. C. needed a point to tie the score and Kirchner clamped onto Cooper in order to give him the free throw. The crowd rewarded the efforts of the players with a shower of coins which were in turn given to the officials and coaches. The referee and umpire decided to take a hand and tried to ~~cege~~ several attempts. The final gun ended the orgy of shooting and fouling. A final and official score was announced as 19-19.

The championship contest was fast at intervals but slow and poorly played for the most part. Casey copped a 6-3 lead the first half due to some accurate shooting of Houser, running guard. The third quarter wiped out that margin and replaced it with a 1 point lead in favor of Metcalf, 11-10. A field goal on each side left the difference unchanged and after Houser missed a free toss in the final minutes of play, Coach Swee-ly's team did not have an opportunity to tie things up.

Taylor with three successful tries from the field was the main cog in the offense of the victors and with the two forwards again formed the defense.

Foreman and Houser were frequently able to penetrate their opponents' defense but could not connect from the penalty mark, resembling T. C. in this respect. The absence of Seaton, regular back guard, who suffered a sprained knee in Friday's Martinsville game, contributed to lowering the morale of the team, although Barkhurst filled in acceptably at his position.

Timers—Willey, Spoonier.
Scorers—Boyd, Shoemaker.

A good way of selecting an all star team and naming all the outstanding players of the tournament is to follow the plan many officials adopt—that of not limiting the team selected to five men but putting all on who deserve it. In the opinion of The News the players who are entitled to be mentioned are: forwards—Osborn, T. C.; Vaughn, Metcalf; Fancher, Casey; Canter, Metcalf; Gannaway, T. C.; centers—Foreman, Casey; Stone, T. C.; Taylor, Metcalf; Towles, Kansas; guards—Cooper, T. C.; Redman, Kansas; Houser, Casey; Stillions, T. C.

Tournament Notes

The officials were Mr. Priser, principal of Camargo high school, and Mr. Wagner, gym instructor at the University of Illinois. The timers were Mr. Willey, Mr. Spooner and Mr. Nehring, and the scorers were Mr. Boyd of Decatur and Robert Shoemaker.

The Student Council had a prosperous business running a stand, banking over $200. Expenses are not yet known but it is believed that about $75 will be cleared.

Coach Lantz had about 25 or 30 college and high school men to help him run the tournament. On Tuesday the seats were marked off by the ushers in charge of Hugh Osborn. Errett Warner was designated as head doorkeeper and Roy Stillions had the important task of managing the ticket sales. A free checkroom was run in conjunction with the information office in charge of Harold Kerr. The courtesy and consideration that was shown by these E. I. men to the visiting teams and supporters is one of the best advertisements that the school could have.

JAMES FORD HERE

James T. Ford of Syracuse, New York, who is a former student of E. I., spent a few days in Charleston last week on his way home from Panama via Los Angeles. He was the guest of his aunt, Miss Ellen A. Ford. He reported that while in San Diego he met John Smyser who is planning on going into the real estate business there.

Mr. Daniels has again been able to claim the honor of getting a poem published; his recent one appears in the March 5 number of The Freeman.

The March National Geographic contains: "Geography and Some Explorers" by Joseph Conrad; "Beyond the Clay Hills," by Neil M. Judd, which is an account of the National Geographic society's reconnaissance of a previously unexplored section of Utah; "Among the Craters of the Moon," an account of the first expedition through the remarkable volcanic lava beds of Southern Idaho, by R. W. Lambert; and "Australia's Wild Wonderland," by M. P. G. Adams.

SHURTLEFF DEFEATED IN E. I.'S FINAL GAME

The Lantzmen ran up their highest total of the season in the finishing game with Shurtleff college last Monday, 48-29. Loose guarding on both sides coupled with the fact that everybody had an "on" night in shooting kept the scorers busy. The first half was a see-saw with Shurtleff doing more basket tossing than the Blue and Gray and better floor work. The second period was not very many minutes old before the locals started on a scoring rampage that ran up 20 points while the enemy was counting a single field goal. The tighter defensive play of the winners in the last half was a big factor in their triumph.

Towles, playing his last game in a Blue and Gray uniform, ended his career in a burst of scoring that totaled 9 baskets and a free throw, more points than any E. I. player has made in a single game this season. Hall was not far behind with 6 field goals and a free throw. The new team that played the last five minutes was featured by McCall's two difficult counters.

Shurtleff was distinguished by the scoring power of Smith, Kelsey and Rice, the trio locating the hoop with enough regularity to make the contest interesting the first half. The guards were completely puzzled by the whirlwind attack of the E. I. scorers.
