Enrollment Figures are Expected to Pass 1000

E. I. LETTERMEN HAVE EXCELLENT BANQUET

By Stanley McIntosh

June fourth in the future is to be a great day, complying with the activities of that day as an example set by the letter men at their banquet and dance. The four end tables in the dining room of the Methodist Church, decorated with blue and gray streamers and a bouquet of roses in the center, furnished a delightful atmosphere for the occasion.

"Bill" Green heaped glory upon his head by batting a thousand per cent as toastmaster. His hitting was superb, and his total "score" was never outdone.

Adams First Up

The lead-off man was our trusty quartet-letter-man, Adams. One never knows what the first man will do, but Ralph gave an idea of what the coaching has done for him and other teammates from the grades up. Adams was well qualified for his position as a speaker since he has won honors as guard on the basketball team, line-man on the football team, and catcher and outfielder on the baseball nine. He can also run a hundred yards in about ten flat—but he never had a chance to turn loose, so he strolled to first base.

Marshall Boy Talks

Routeledge came up with a deceiving, meek look on his football physiognomy, but his plea for sports material for next year upset the atmosphere, and he also drew a pass.

Next year Routeledge will be king of the football eleven—he's a star and knows how to shine.

By this time Bill Green's wit was warming up considerably and he introduced "Long-winded" Newlin, our famous two miler and ace of our track men. Newlin began with his convincing drawl, and at once everyone began to realize that he was a speech-maker. He whiffed twice and then sacked the old lemon in the tea glass for a two bagger, scoring both Adams and Routeledge.

Francis Craig Pinch Hits

Right about then things looked pretty good, but Bill must have felt a weakness in his batting list, so Miss Frances Craig came up as a pinch hitter (we don't know for whom). She placed a nice little single over the infield, taking first and sending Newlin to third.

Pratt Foreman refused to bat because his girl wasn't in the grandstand, but he insisted that in the future there be such a sportsman's meet and as often as there is a Christmas and on the calendar with a big red June 4. Pratt sat back in the dugout and whispered that he'd rather play basketball and shut up.

Redmon Coach a Poet

Now all during Forney's speech directly across the table was our good "ol grinder" on deck swinging some bats—Carroll Dunn. He got up and showed his usual stuff by getting on first base—a free pass for the little poem he read which he had composed. Dunn was a letter man in baseball, football and basketball.

Coach Makes Big Hit

The last up was Coach Leantz, who hit hard, cleaned the bases, and tried to steal home since the game was already won, and made it three down.

Coach said that in honor of Walter Camp, greatest football player, and man responsible for the establishment of the game, our school would donate a small sum of money to help erect a monument at Yale University, and that our contribution would be awarded by a gold plate bearing the school name.

Dance in Gym

The school song was sung and then

EIGHTH GRADE CLASS LEAVES A MEMORIAL

The eighth grade class in the Training School left a very nice memorial to the Training School in the form of a fence along the drive east of the building. The structure consists of a series of concrete posts, between which is swung a chain.

Construction done by Students
The concrete posts were made by the eighth grade class in Home Mechanics. The boys constructed the wooden forms under the supervision of the student teachers and then mixed the concrete and molded the posts. Each post has a hole near the top through which the chain may pass. After school was dismissed the class set the posts and fastened on the chain. On each side of the gateway to the front entrance to the building is a block of wood suspended from the chain, on which are the numerals of the class—1926.

The entire piece of work is very neat, and the class has a memorial of which it may be proud. The youngsters and their student instructors are certainly to be commended for their excellent work.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR YOUR REGISTRATION

DIRECTIONS TO BE FOLLOWED DURING THE WEEK

I
As soon as you are sure that your programme is satisfactory and that no further change is necessary, take your registration ticket to the textbook library and get your registration blank. This blank should bear the same number as your recreation ticket.

II
Fill both sides of the registration blank in ink.

III
Take the completed blank to the student clerk at the table in the front corridor and receive class cards to be filled out and returned to the clerk for inspection.

IV
Your registration blanks and class cards should be filled out sometime between noon on Tuesday, June 15, and four o'clock on Friday afternoon, June 18; but do not get your registration blank from the textbook library until you are ready to fill it out and hand it in. This blank should be taken away from the Main Building and you will be asked to buy a duplicate if it is damaged and unfit for filing.

V
No change of programme should be made after you have completed your registration on Friday, June 18. If any mistake has been made, go to the office with your registration programme and ask to have the mistake corrected.

VI
A student may drop a course by handing in at the textbook library a slip with the date, his name, and the hour and name of the course to be dropped. He must at the same time return any textbooks taken out for that course. No other change in programme should be necessary after Friday, June 18.

All were off to the dance. In the gymnasium the evening was climaxed by the dance. Bandore furnished the jazz.

This evening's affair is what took the form of one of E. I.'s traditions, and should be upheld by all the boys in the future.

DR. PAUL FLEMING OF PENN UNIVERSITY TO APPEAR

Those who attend summer terms in our college and universities feel the need for entertainment to give them relief from hot weather and stiff courses. The Eastern Illinois State Teachers College has recognized that need in arranging a course of entertainment for the first six weeks summer term, as may be seen by reading the following. It should be noted that the recreation tickets given out at registration admit to all these without further charge. The programme will be published later.

Magician First
Almost anybody enjoys watching a first class magician; and the students in the 1926 summer school at E. I. are to have the opportunity of seeing a first class one next Wednesday evening, June 16, when Dr. Paul Fleming will appear as the first number on the summer entertainment course.

Dr. Fleming a Professor

To begin with Dr. Fleming is different, I. e., he leads a Real life. During the regular school year Dr. Fleming is teacher of economics at the University of Pennsylvania, but when summer comes he puts aside the cares of the classroom and sallies forth to entertain with feats of legerdemain, mind-reading, and pseudo-spiritualism. He is perfectly at home, college professor though he be, when picking white bunnies from the corners of unsuspecting gentlemen's hats, or causing orange trees to grow in empty flower pots, or transforming his assistant James into a charming young lady. This summer of 1926 he is appearing at about fifty (Continued on page 4)

MANY CHANGES WILL TAKE PLACE IN THE COLLEGE NEXT YEAR

LETTER GRADING SYSTEM TO BE STARTED NEXT FALL

A number of changes is to take place in the college next year. There are several important alterations to be made in the time schedules and the grading system.

The grading will henceforth be done by a letter system. This plan is used in almost all the colleges and is considered a better policy than the numerical system.

Along with this plan scholarship honors will be adopted.

Rules designed to improve the scholarship of students at the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College.

Grades will be recorded in letters as follows:

I	Grade Points
A—Excellent	.....3
B—Good	.....2
C—Fair	.....1
D—Poor	.....0
F—Failure (Course to be repeated)	.....-1

For graduation and for admission to practice teaching not more than one-fourth of a student's credits may have a grade of D. That is, three-fourths of his grades must be C or above. No student who is failing in a course shall be permitted to drop the course after four weeks without a failure being recorded against him. This means a requirement of 18 grade points for a diploma and of 36 grade points for a degree.

II
I. Requirements for graduation with high honors:
A in three-fourths of his work.
B average in the rest.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT DURING THE SUMMER

Tennis will probably continue to be a very popular sport throughout the summer. Last summer the courts were busy at all hours of the day.

Occasionally the courts went rolling and in this hot weather, when used so much, they need marking very often. This work should not be left up to a few, but should be shared by all who intend to use the courts. (Of course this applies only to men).

Tennis Tournaments

If enough players are interested during the first six weeks, a tennis tournament may be arranged for. It is quite probable that both a singles and doubles tourney may be had. A very successful singles tournament was held during the spring term.

Court Regulations Proposed

The rules and regulations governing the use of the courts are posted on the bulletin board in the east corridor near the stairway. All persons interested in playing should consult this board and make arrangements accordingly.

SHOEMAKER WINS TENNIS TOURNAY

GWINDELL BAILS PUSHES HARD UNTIL LAST

The college tennis tournament came to a close during the last week of school when Bob Shoemaker eliminated Gwindell Bails in the final round. The last match was very close throughout, and it was no easy task to attempt to pick a winner at any stage of any of the games.

Bails Leads

Bails jumped off to an early lead by winning the first set by a close margin. The final score of this set stood 7-5. The second set was even more hotly contested, this time with Bails again as winner. He took it with an 8-4 tally.

Shoemaker then seemed to get to going a little better and came out on top of the next set, 6-4. Still going well, he proceeded to take a comparatively easy marker in the next set by winning 6-2.

In the final set of the match Bails seemed to have weakened considerably. Neither of the contenders displayed any great tennis during the final round. However, Shoemaker seemed to possess a little more stability at the finish and took the final struggle 6-4.

Not in Best Form

Neither of the men displayed his best tennis ability. Yet, it was an evenly matched affair and a very good match to the eyes of a tennis fan.

Semi-Final Rounds

Gwindell Bails earned the right to compete in the finals by eliminating Ernest Bails in the semi-finals. This, too, was a hotly contested match, the younger brother winning by a scant margin, staged a comeback and took the match, winning the final set 6-4.

Shoemaker Nears Out Gehl

The other semi-final match was just as close. Shoemaker had to defeat Johnny Gehl before he could compete for championship and it was no easy task to overcome him. But started out strongly enough and took the first two sets before Gehl could get lined up. With his back to the wall then, Gehl pulled out of a bad hole by making the count two all. It was then a question of who had the best brand of tennis left. Shoemaker finally took the set, which gave him the match and the right to go to the finals.

A BAD, RAINY DAY KEEPS MANY FROM COMING SATURDAY

MANY OLD GRADUATES ARE RETURNING TO SCHOOL

The enrollment for the first six weeks of the summer term at the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College this year is expected to surpass that of any previous year. Indications show that the school will be very crowded again this year.

Over 1000 Last Year

The first term of summer school last year brought over a thousand teachers to our school. This number was greater than any previous number which had registered.

A few more than last year are expected, but it would be exceedingly difficult to admit many more because of the crowded condition of some of the classrooms.

Saturday a Bad Day

The first day of registration on Saturday brought fewer students than were expected. This was undoubtedly due to the heavy rain which persistently fell almost all morning.

However, there were two hundred thirty-six who paid fees on the first day. This is only about ten behind the number for the first day last year. So, in reality, in spite of the weather conditions, the total amount comes up to last year's number.

Many Graduates Returning

A large number of the graduates of the school are returning this summer. Especially those who have completed but two years are anxious to get back and further their education. Several who have graduated from the two year course are coming back to take up a four-year course for the degree. By going during the summer and two regular years, they can finish their work and receive the degree.

This shows the tendency toward taking the four-year course. There are more and more candidates for the degree each year. It shows that the teachers really find four years of training almost necessary in their work.

Monday to Bring Many

Today, Monday, there will probably be a large rush at the school in registering. About eight hundred are expected to come in today.

FLOWERS ON CAMPUS ARE JUST SET OUT

The flowers, which at this time of year are generally very becoming to the campus, have just been set out. They are much later this year than last. This, however, is no fault of our gardener, but of the weather man. In a few weeks, though, the campus will be of sufficient size to add much to the beauty of the grounds.

Students should help to keep the grounds in good shape by using the sidewalks and by not molesting the shrubbery, especially that which bears such fragrant blossoms.

OLD MANUAL ARTS STUDENTS HERE

Among those who are returning for summer school are Dow Smith and Roy Stillona, manual arts men.

Roy taught the letter part of the year in Asheville, North Carolina. He was instructor of mechanical drawing in the city high school. He is to teach at Asheville again next year.

Dow Smith comes back from Elkhart, Indiana, where he has been teaching the Hoosier youngsters how to properly manipulate shop tools and drawing instruments. He will probably take up some advanced work in the Manual Arts field.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Do you who attend the six weeks term during the summer months ever stop to consider real seriously the proposition of coming to school each summer, year after year? Do you ever consult your inner self as an adviser and ask why you come these few weeks? No doubt all of those who come do this very thing at some time or another.

But why do you come? Some would answer that they attend school in order that they might get an education. But that is such a broad and sweeping statement that it has no great meaning. Another person might reply that he is coming to the summer school because he needs the credit to renew his teaching certificate. Some seem to go because of habit. Others attend because the school in which they teach requires a certain number of weeks attendance in school during the summer.

A few might answer that they come here to have a good time. However, this group—if such exists—is certainly in a decided minority. But the best reason of all for attending summer school is the getting of a start in college education that will lead to graduation.

How much will a six weeks term of school affect one's salary if the schooling stops at the end of that time? Probably not at all. Yet, how much does the completion of a college course, either a general or special course, affect the pay that the teacher receives? A great deal. Not only that, but the time will eventually come when a college education will be required by school boards in hiring an instructor. Hence, will it not pay you to start soon with preparations for graduation? Would it not be a fine thing to use the six weeks term as a foundation upon which an entire course might be built?

With such a plan in view, one should use much care and deliberation in choosing the subjects that he takes. He should select something that will fit into a course that he might later choose. Never should a subject be taken because it is "easy" and with only the credit obtained in mind as the sole objective. By careful planning it will not take long to become a college graduate if one will only use discretion in making a choice of the course taken in the summer months.

Be discreet, teachers. Use good judgment in your selection. Make your work be of some avail.

STUDENT PATRONAGE

The Teachers College News, or college paper, has always been published by a staff chosen from the members of the student body. The different members of the staff have definite work to do, such as editing, business management, and circulation management and have certain portions of the publication to write up, such as literary, editorial, social, and athletic sections.

On registration day each student pays a small sum which is supposed to pay for the publishing of his paper for the term. No part of that sum, however, goes to the staff as pay, because no members except the editor and business manager receive any pay. And their pay is not sufficient recompense for more than one-half of the work done. However, the staff members are willing to give of their time and means because of their loyalty to the school.

Realizing that the fee alone is not enough to pay for the publishing we are made to wonder where the rest of the finance comes from. This question is easily answered when we investigate the contents of our paper and find there several advertisements. These advertisements are those of the Charleston business men.

Why do they advertise in our college paper and pay a rather high rate for the space? We have learned to believe that it pays to advertise, and we may conclude that that is why their advertisements appear in the columns of the paper. Upon further consideration one is led to believe that, after all, that is not so great an incentive. The men do it because they are interested in the college and students.

We may on the spur of the moment say that the business men are not sociable; but are we as sociable as we should be? When we go into their places of business, do we ever try to start a conversation about anything except the weather? Do we thank them for showing everything they have to satisfy our desires? Do we ever ask them for advice? They have had more experience than we, and surely we could profit by their mistakes and successes.

In the colleges and universities of today, loyalty is the prominent characteristic of the students. We, as students of E. I., are loyal to our institution, and realizing that the business men are interested in us and our school, we should in some manner show our appreciation. The advertisers deserve our patronage. Notice the business men's names and remember that they are our friends. They are, of course, in business to make money, but they are also there to make a success by making friends, and by being a boost to society as a whole.

THE PLACE TO EAT

Well, here we are—back on the job again.

After a week's mental rest Chit-Chat will try to think of something to say for another six weeks.

You students who are just coming in have missed the beauty of our tulip beds. They passed away a week or so ago.

Yet, you will soon see the cannaes in all their splendor. Probably they are even more beautiful than the tulips.

Lake Ahmweenah appears to be getting rather low. There is a lot of sea-weed—maybe lake-weed—growing in it and it is almost covered with algae.

It wouldn't hurt the appearance of the lake one particle to pour in enough "Ambrav" fluid to raise the water level to normal.

We're sorry that the papers must be given out in the corridors, but it is impossible to get a correct mailing list for such a large number of students for just six weeks.

You who are registering must not appear to make yourself appear so utterly devoid of intelligence as did a certain frog last fall.

He seemed to think that one had to get in line for everything.

He got in line for payment of fees; approval by registrar; conference with adviser; and securing of texts.

Finally, after he was successful in navigating all these paths he was overheard to ask of a soph as follows: "Now where do I get in line for my assignments?"

Of course you know better than that.

Well, we'd better sign off until another week.

P. R.—Hope you like The News.

MANY CHANGES WILL TAKE PLACE IN THE COLLEGE NEXT YEAR

UNASSIGNED DAY DROPPED

Several deviations from the present customs have been made in both college and high school courses. One of the major changes is the dropping of the library use course, in place of which, the Psychology and English departments will give work on library use.

Another important change is the doing away with the unassigned recitations in the Junior college. The time schedule will also be changed slightly.

Following are the alterations that are to take place:

I
Physics or chemistry is required in the high school.
Students who wish to get both take chemistry in the third year and physics in the fourth year.

There shall be no exemption for the requirement of one year of chemistry or physics. Previously students who were very poor in mathematics were allowed to substitute an elective for physics.

II
The year of laboratory science for the two-year manual arts curriculum will be Physics 20 (mechanics), Physics 21 (electricity), Botany 23 (botany) with special reference to dentology.

Each course will have six periods a week including 2 double laboratory periods.

III
Our schedule will be changed to 50-minute periods, with a 5-minute period in addition for change of classes.

IV
The unassigned recitation in the Junior College will be done away with. This leaves college students with four courses, four periods a week, or 16 hours of prepared work.

The off day for all afternoon college classes will be Saturday.
Teaching will remain a five-period course.

The time for the work required in the use of the library will be taken from English 20 and Psychology 21; six lessons being required of students in English 20 and six of students in Psychology 21, graduates of our high school being excused from the six lessons given as part of English 20 and from any other lessons which duplicate Library XI.

In arranging the time for these lessons, half of the students in English 20 may take the lessons in the first half term and half of them in the second half term, and similarly in Psychology 21.

No student will receive a passing grade in English 20 or in Psychology 21 until he receives a passing grade in the library work required.

The library grades will be reported to the English (or psychology) teachers and recorded in the English (or psychology) teachers book in the class list for English (or psychology). Under "remarks" at the close of the term a condition due to failure in library use shall be so indicated.

MANY STUDENTS RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

ELSA DIEMER, SOPRANO,
SINGS TWO SOLOS

The commencement exercises for the graduating classes of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College were held in the Teachers College auditorium on Saturday, June 8. There were three large classes to participate in the exercises—the senior college class receiving degrees; the junior college, and the high school class. Seventeen received degrees, one hundred twenty-six received junior college diplomas, and fifty-two received high school diplomas.

Elsa Diemer Sings

The greatest treat of the day was furnished by Elsa Diemer, well known soprano soloist, who sang two numbers. Miss Diemer is the daughter of Mr. Koch, who teaches music in our school. This was her third appearance here this year. She sang as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and then again as a number on the entertainment course. It would indeed be difficult to say which of the times she was best, but the beauty of her singing seems to grow with each recital. Such clarity of tone, ease of production, and beauty of interpretation have never been equaled in the school auditorium.

Address by Mr. Waldo

The commencement address was given by Mr. D. B. Waldo, of the State Teachers College of Kalamazoo, Michigan. He is from an institution very similar to our own. In his talk he emphasized the need for loyalty to the institution from which we are graduated. He encouraged the graduates to boost for the school wherever they might be and try to help the college get the many things that are needed in the way of equipment. He also emphasized the personal need of everyone for a sense of humor. A person without a sense of humor neither fully enjoys life nor adds his full share of the world. He tried to discourage extreme viewpoints, such as pessimism, but also remarked that as long as there are pessimists, we should try to get along with them. As a whole his talk was thoroughly enjoyable.

The diplomas were given out and the degrees conferred by Mr. Lord.

MAGICIAN TO ENTERTAIN COLLEGE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

colleges and universities. One of his classic tricks is the East Indian "Mango Trick," an illusion in which a small sprig develops into a full grown mango tree. In Mr. Fleming's version a common flower pot is filled with earth and an orange seed planted in it. Almost immediately there appears a green shoot, followed by leaves, and then buds. After the tree reaches considerable height the blossoms begin to open, and finally the ripe fruit develops. To convince the skeptics, Dr. Fleming distributes the oranges to the audience.

Begins at 8:00

In his pseudo-spiritualistic tricks, Dr. Fleming is very convincing, though he does not claim for the anything but perfect bits of conjuring. Do not miss this entertainment. The performance will begin at 8:00 o'clock P. M. Recreation tickets admit.
