ENTHUSIASM FOR BASKETBALL GROWS

PROSPECTS BRIGHT IN BASKETBALL

The prospects for a stellar basketball team are very bright this year at E. I. as one is prone to conclude after looking over the fifty candidates who reported for practice Monday. Coach Lantz is jubilant, as he visions a team that will probably surpass his last year's aggregation. The Coach's imagination is not unreasonably uncontrollable when he becomes enthusiastic over prospects either. Fenoglio, our all-conference quarterback will be as conspicuous on the floor as he was on the gridiron. He is a snappy, southpaw forward, can shoot from any position and is unemmy in receiving passes while on a dead run.

Hall, a three year man, is ready to lend his services as the situation determines. He is fast, a clever passer and accurate shot, and should prove a big factor in any high powered combination.

Meurlot, the elusive forward, center, or whatnot, will Captain the E. I. "loopsters" this year. Shifty, fast and deadly under the basket, he is the type of player that will worry any guard to distraction.

Gilmore, the Stonington youth, will complete his fourth basketball season this year. He is a wonderful guard, and an accurate shot. His ability to slip down the floor for short shots under the basket will undoubtedly help to prove the opposition undoing. He also is rather consistent in long shots at the hoop.

Others remaining from last years squad are Conrad, rangy, versatile player, Mattix, and Story. In addition to this capable array of athletes many other "worthies" have appeared upon the scene to add spice and interest in the matter through the competition they will provide for the regulars. The competition, judging from the recent performances of the newcomers, will be very keen, and every aspirant to a place on the team will need to hustle and work for the coveted goal. Among the potential stars are: Waaum, flashy center from Patoka, Riley, a Vevay Indiana product, Porter, a speedy forward from Louisville, Dappert, determinative, capable, forward from Stewardson, Hain, a gritty, versatile candidate from Hebron, Hall who has played with Flora and Canton, and Thomas a skillful individual from Patoka or thereabouts.

As far as players are concerned Coach Lantz's prospect are quite rosy as most will agree, but there

PLAYERS PROMOTED AT LAST MEETING

Those who worked on the last play were very pleasantly surprised by the announcement of promotions among the Players. There are now eighty seven members: twenty two members, thirty associatory members, and thirty-seven probationary members. The promotions are as follows:

THE PLAYERS

Promotions made after "You Never Can Tell."

- Full Membership.
1. Dorothy Dunlap.
  2. Hilda Dehl.
  3. Mrs. Bernice Chamberlain.
  4. Aileen Marley.
  5. Delbert Nave.
  6. Helen Mayfield.
  7. Marcia Rozell.
  8. Franklin Turrell.
  9. Lena Teril.
  10. Theodore Whitesel.
  11. Mary Margaret Summers.
  12. Maurice Chester Springer.

Associate Membership.

1. Glenn Dodd.
2. Austin Baker.
3. Emma Eal.
4. Don Beaty.
5. Mary Elizabeth Callahan.
6. Velma Fritts.
7. Mary Fitch.
8. Raymond Hall.
9. Irvin Lanman.
10. Mary Etta Marshall.
11. Graydon Ingram.
12. Paul Pennington.
13. Goldie Hartman.
14. Palph Parkinson.
15. Hortense Le Fever.
16. Edith Hovious.
17. Lorene Laingor.
18. Rita Nay.
19. Elmer Schlutz.
20. George Rice.
21. Inez Taylor.
22. Chlorea Weaver.
23. Genevieve White.
24. Alfrida Marie Schuetz.

A very interesting meeting of the Players was held in Room 16 at 7:30 Friday night. There was a fairly large attendance despite the attraction of a basketball game in the gymnasium. The Players had been promised a surprise, but they surely did not expect it to be a double surprise: there is to be a new staff in the Players called a Construction Staff with Maurice Springer as its head. His staff has not yet been appointed. This staff has been needed for a long time, and is expected to add much to the next production.

In order that the regular meetings of the Players may entertain as well as inform a new committee, called the Entertainment Committee, has been appointed to provide something special for each meeting. Emma Ball is to act as chairman.

ALUMNUS WRITES CHRISTMAS STORY

"Crumbs for Christmas" by Homer King Gordon appears in the December number of the "Country Life". Like "Sally of Show Alley" and so many of his stories it is one of the stage and its characters.

Mr. Gordon graduated from Teachers College in 1918.

Gathering news and securing sufficient advertising are not all that make up our T. C. News. The staff has a duty that few readers ever think of: about when reading their papers Tuesday morning. The writers are paper folders as well. On last Monday three of the staff Ione Bertollet, Wilkin Sims and Bob Mattix folded more than 1100 papers.

HEADS COLLEGE FIVE

Andy Meurlot, the basketball captain for this season is a graduate of Charleston High, class of 1924. This is his fourth year of service for Teachers College, and his brilliant work as center has earned him a letter each year.

He was president of the Varsity Club last year. He is a member of Delta Lambda Sigma and represents the senior class on the Student Council.

VARSITY FORMAL TO BE DECEMBER 22

The Varsity formal, formerly known as the Boys' Christmas Dance will be given Saturday 22nd in the gym.

William Stone, who is president of the Varsity Club is general chairman of the dance.

The following committees have been appointed to carry out the details of the affair:

- Favors—Richard Story, Andrew Meurlot, and Ruel Hall.
 Programme—John Powers, Andrew Meurlot, and William Stone.
 Decorations—Nolan Sims, Leland Routledge, John Miller and Burl Ives.
 Tickets may be purchased from any Varsity Club member for $2.50 each. Efforts are being made to secure the best orchestra possible.

Originality in favors and decorations are being striven for by the committees. All indications point to the most successful Christmas dance for the past several years.

The Math Club programme for this Wednesday will be a discussion centering around a group of men who have contributed most to the study.

Sophomores, pay for your pictures this week as this is your last chance to get your pictures in the Warbler.

E. I. TO MEET STRONG TEAMS

Coach Lantz has thus far booked twelve games for his "basketeers" this season and is endeavoring to procure one or two more to make the schedule complete. At present the schedule provides for twelve games, six at home and six on foreign floors. The schedule as now planned embodies the following:

- Dec. 19—Rose Poly at Charleston.
- Jan. 10—St. Viator at Charleston.
- Jan. 12—Normal at Normal.
- Jan. 16—Sparks at Charleston.
- Jan. 19—Carbondale at Carbondale.
- Jan. 25—Sturteff at Alton.
- Feb. 4—St. Viator at Bourbonnais.
- Feb. 8—Normal at Charleston.
- Feb. 12—Rose Poly at Terre Haute.
- Feb. 16—Carbondale at Charleston.
- Feb. 19—Sparks at Shelbyville.
- Feb. 23—Sturteff at Charleston.
- March 1 and 2—Tourney at Ma. comb.

CHAPEL NOTES FOR THE PAST WEEK

Tuesday

Hymn, My Country 'Tis of Thee. Scripture. America the Beautiful.
 Mr. Lord spoke about the ability to read a printed page and gave for an example the sentence, "That little boy reads well" which can be read in five different ways.

Wednesday

Hymn, Lord, While for All Mankind We Pray.
 Scripture—The story of Creation—King James Version.
 Hymn—Lead, Kindly Light.
 Mr. Lord discussed marks or reports that we might receive, and said that each student made three records; first, the record in the office, second, the record made on teachers and fellow students, and third, the record made on each one's own mind.
 "Be your own first, best, and severest critic."

Thursday

Hymn—God of our Fathers, Whose Almighty Hand.
 Bible reading—Psalm 19.
 Hymn—Purer Yet and Purer.
 Mr. Lord read an address by William Lyon Phelps, which was given at the Eastern Illinois division of the Teachers' Association, entitled "Happiness."

"The happiest person is the one who thinks the most interesting thoughts. Happiness should have its source within the individual, because it can last if dependent on exterior things. Don't allow yourselves to be discouraged by outsiders. It is impossible to be jubilantly happy all of the time. Money is a blessing, but is not the chief factor in happiness. I should dislike very much to lose a limb, but I should much rather lose a limb than my mind."

Friday

Hymn—While Thee I Seek, Protecting Power.
 Bible Reading—Psalm 23.
 Hymn—Doxology.
 Mr. Lord announced the Band Rehearsal adding that the organization was looking forward to a spring concert. He then continued the reading of the address of William Lyon Phelps, on Happiness.

"The individual grows happier as he grows older. It is said that youth is the golden time of life. It is not true that all of the fun of life is over at forty-five years. If it were true, the college student would have ahead of him about fifty years of decreasing happiness. The child is not much more than a well kept slave.

Saturday

Hymn—Let Songs of Praise Arise.
 Bible Reading—Luke 22:23.
 Hymn—Courage Brother, Do Not Stumble.
 Mr. Giles, in the absence of Mr. Lord, had charge of chapel, and spoke about several important things he had thought a good deal about this year.

"In most action, there is no reckoning because we are forty to one. Envy, jealousy, and hate are poisonous breeders.
 Must pain and failure make bitterness that shrivels what it touches, and shrink the soul? Will you hunt with the pack, and be proud of your kill?
 How many of you have stood against the herd for your beliefs?
 You talk about sportsmanship in athletics—how about sportsmanship in the classroom, on the street at dances, and parties? Do you want to

C. C. C. COMPLIMENTS CHAMPION TEAM

150 ENJOY PLEASANT OCCASION

Tuesday evening at six-thirty o'clock, the Charleston Chamber of Commerce gave a banquet in honor of the E. I. football squad, co-champions of the Little Nineteen Conference, Coach Lantz, Chester Waltrip, cheer leader, and Mr. H. H. Giles. Besides these guests of honor about one hundred twenty-five members of the Chamber of Commerce were present to enjoy the delicious banquet.

The tables and the hall were very effectively decorated in blue and gray, the colors of E. I.

An interesting programme was well carried out by the toastmaster, Frank E. Lee. Earnest Freeman gave a history of football from its beginning in the middle ages, down through its history in Greece, Italy, England, and this country. The Odd Fellows Quartet gave two numbers which were enjoyed very much. Mr. H. H. Giles revealed several amusing incidents in the private lives of some of the football boys.

"Pete" Fenoglio, captain of the victorious squad gave a talk on the strong line and the capable backfield men who worked so satisfactorily in unison. He also praised the versatility of the players and gave the different combinations that are effective on wet and dry fields. "Check" Waltrip gave a speech that proved uproariously funny.

Jack Clear also went into the past of several of squad members lives for interesting incidents. Ruel Hall spoke of the determination and cooperation among the team and the effective community service work that has been carried on by the business and professional men of Charleston for the past few years. He also made a plea for the continued cooperation and support of the Teachers College. Burl Ives, Johnny Powers, and Ruel Hall gave several musical selections.

Coach Lantz, who is the oldest coach in service in the Little Nineteen Conference gave an amusing account of football teams of other years. He introduced each member of the squad to the Chamber of Commerce, after which "Check" Waltrip led the hosts in several rousing cheers for E. I.

The affair was highly successful, and was very much appreciated not only by those present, but by the entire Teachers College faculty and student body.

Pay for your Warbler anytime this week from 1-1:20 at the table in the front hall.

After December 22 the price is increased. Pay now.

A rare treat is in store for the college body when Carl Sandburg, American poet, speaks Monday night at eight o'clock in the college auditorium. Recreation tickets admit students and single admission to others is seventy-five cents.

Mr. Sandburg gives a lecture recital and usually is very generous in reading selections his audience asks for. If you are desirous of hearing a special poem drop the suggestion in the News box.

It isn't often that this student body has an opportunity of this kind and it is hoped that every student will attend.

BE PATIENT

The News appreciates the large number of contributions it receives each week. However, it seems necessary for the writer to state some facts about these. Most of the articles are signed and are of sufficient interest to a majority of the student body are published, if not this week, perhaps next.

Many contributors become very anxious if their articles do not appear at the earliest moment. The inside pages are "made up" Saturday morning. Only front page items should come in on Monday morning. The staff may have a definite plan to follow for one issue—and in that particular one perhaps your article would be inappropriate, but in a succeeding one most opportune. Have this in mind when your article does not appear as early as you think it should.

SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE ABOUT THIS

A library in a teachers college should provide:

- Adequate reading space for students and teachers;
- Enough room for reserve books;
- Facilities for handling large crowds of students;
- Opportunities for uncrowded reference work with student teachers;
- A quiet place for all grades in the elementary school.

This library has: 818 square feet for readers and about 900 students in high school and college;

A loan desk with almost consistent movement and talking close to the reading tables

Room for only two grades of the elementary school.

THE RECIPE WHEEZE AGAIN

Said one hard working domestic science students in the cooking lab. to another, "These recipes are silly. This one said: "add whites of two eggs and beat until stiff," but I didn't and the cake was great."

"I wish," says the sax-maniac's roommate, "I knew how to play the saxophone. That has become one of my ambitions. You see, if I know how to play the saxophone, I could benefit humanity by refraining".

MOTHS LIKE LOVE

Moths, like love, come fluttering 'Round the flame that calls. What, though it may pain and Search? It still enralls.

—Joel Craig

Western Union and Postal Thank You

College statistics show that girls send more telegrams than boys. Sure! They need more dough.

TO A DUCK

Lone wanderer,
Solitary figure—
Floating black against a hazy blue.
Winging silently
Through cold mists,
Over peaceful fields.
Anxious, untiring,
Drifting southward,—
Slowly fading:
A wanton figure
All but gone. —J. F. M.

Sign on a Hot Dog Stand: We Are Best at our Wurst.—The Dust Pan.

PRONOUNCING "WHSE"

A fresman tells us of a large sign "Cold Storage Whse", which he saw while riding through a neighboring city. He asks us if we will undertake to pronounce "whse." We might suggest that the question would be easier if the word were put in a phrase—say, "bad to whse." But perhaps that wouldn't help. Will someone please help us?

NEW EDITION ARRIVES

The fourth edition of The United States Catalog is in the general library, and those students who are desirous of knowing the price of some book will find this volume to be of great benefit. All the books printed in the United States are listed here along with their prices.

The book is very large, containing 3164 pages, and is published by the W. W. Wilson Company, New York.

On the very first page of the book are several statements. One of these is an article on Suggestions for Finding the Book You Want in the United States Catalog. Reading this article before one starts to look for the name of the book itself saves much valuable time. The preface is a history of the catalog which dates back to 1804.

Please understand that this book prints a list of books on many subjects as history, physics, chemistry, reading, in fact subjects embracing every walk of life.

"In the Spring (Summer, Fall or Winter) a young man's fancy....."

This note, presumably by mistake, found its way into the News box. It seems too good for the waste-basket. "Demure Maiden", it began, "I am still unattached. If you are in the same condition, may we not continue our courtship so rudely interrupted by our final exams?"

The note was signed "Morty". We Hope "Demure Maiden" will give it the proper consideration.

There are just two kinds of people: Happy ones, and those who take themselves seriously.

Correct this sentence: "I never whine when my parents say 'No!'" said the flapper, "for I know their judgment is better than mine."

MAUPASSANT—YOU WILL LIKE
"I know not," said Flaubert to Guy De Maupassant at their first meeting, "whether you have talent. What you have shown me proves a certain intelligence. But do not forget, young man, that genius according to Buffon, is only a long patience."

The man to whom these words were spoken has long since proved their worth. It is assumed that a certain amount of intelligence together with an ideal is fundamental to the highest art. Maupassant had the intelligence.—His ideal was his passion. Unlike Alexander Dumas he aspired to greater things than the writing of a mere cook-book. The fact that he was apprenticed to Flaubert for seven years proves that he had the patience. He wrote his stories, rewrote, and rewrote them until Flaubert ceased to command him to write them again. All of the stories written during the apprenticeship Maupassant destroyed, for the French do not expect to find diamonds in the first handful of sand. They wait until there are diamonds to find.

Today there is no doubt that but many of De Maupassant's literary gems are diamonds of the clearest water. He is the master of the short story. No one else can ably present a tragedy or a passion within six or a dozen pages. His style is forcibly simple, concise, and is vibrant as the voice of a song bird.

But it is silly to pin place cards on roses to tell people that the roses are beautiful. Read "The Necklace," "Apparition," "A Piece of String," "The Chair Mender," "A Woman's Hair," "Fear," and as many others as you wish.

The Americans like to compare Edgar Allan Poe with De Maupassant. It is to the Frenchman's discredit. Perhaps one could safely say with caution that Poe is more dramatic of his skill. But by the superiority of his two De Maupassant far outclasses the American. There are Americans, some of whom are in this school, who would give to O'Henry the royal crown of short-story writing. They have a right to their opinion, as they all tell you. Some of them get down on their knees every night to thank God Almighty that they are not weak-willed even as Clytemnestra was. No doubt God blesses them, and also pities them.

If one tells an Englishman that the stories of De Maupassant are the greatest short stories in all the world, he will immediately ask: "Is not Mr. Rudyard Kipling as great as your French friend?" The answer is in the negative. Kipling did not write as well as Poe, not to mention De Maupassant. Kipling was guilty of catering to the public. He rewrote "The Light that Failed" so that it would have a happy ending because the people asked him to. Maupassant never did a thing like that.

If I had to entertain, he four gentlemen, Maupassant, Poe, O'Henry, and Kipling to dinner, first of all I would request that either Helen or Cleopatra be sent down or up, which ever the case might be, to act as hostess. It might not be a bad idea for both Helen and Cleopatra to be present. It would be shameful if Maupassant die of envy while there.

Maupassant would be the guest of honor. Helen would act as hostess. (Cleopatra would sit beside Poe. Next to them would be Kipling conversing with his beloved Tommy Atkins. I would earnestly pray for Maupassant to refrain from saying every ten minutes "Never mind, brother, your tail hangs down behind."

O'Henry could have a nice comfortable chair with a cushion on it. A special waiter would be engaged to supply him with an abundance of brown bread and spinach. Perhaps he could have ice cream for dessert.

Wanted: Freshmen boys who are likely to be in school two or three years longer and are interested in seeing electrical work for the Playhouse. See Sam Mitchell. Also wanted, several heavy Freshmen boys, interested in seeing what goes on backstage for stage-hands. See Mahlon Hillman.

Basketball Team Looks Like Winner

are, unfortunately existing conditions which will tend to prohibit the development of the team's resources to their greatest potentialities. In the first place, the gym. is so over-crowded when fifty candidates are on the floor, that the coach must walk on stilts and use a megaphone in order to be seen and heard. Furthermore, plays of the intricate variety cannot be practiced and executed on the very abbreviated E. I. basketball floor without the bleachers, the playing space is quite inferior to that of our neighboring high school gymnasiums, and when the bleachers are added in order to increase the seating capacity, the playing of extremely high grade basketball of which our players are capable, is almost out of the question.

Another thorn in the side of E. I. basketball, is the fact that only one hour each day, (from 5 to 6 P. M.) is allotted to the varsity team for practice. This situation is due to the fact that college classes in Physical Education, not to mention high school classes of the same type, infest the gymnasium each day until 5 o'clock. After this time (5 o'clock) the E. I. basketball squad is allowed to work out for one hour, after which the high school team replaces the college team. In this justice, I ask you?

Notwithstanding the seemingly impossible obstacles which the Coach and players must overcome, E. I. will, in some manner make good use of her splendid material and produce a team which the student body will be very proud to back with all the school-spirit it can possibly muster.

E. I. STARS NAMED ON ALL-STAR TEAMS

Various "Little 19" All-Star teams have been selected by scribes, sport editors, coaches and officials, since the close of the football season and there seems to be quite a difference in opinion as to the naming of individual stars. E. I. was represented more or less on every mythical team. Captain Fenoglio seemed to be the unanimous choice of every writer and Hall, Creamer, Gibson, Ashmore, Ives and Barthage were selected at least once each for the second or third team.

THE CRUTCH HISTORY

There is a pair of crutches around our school which has a very interesting history. Please don't expect me to go to the forest and cut the tree down, and through the lumber mill, and on through the manufacture and sale; because that is all unnecessary and would not get you to know a great deal more about this particular pair of crutches. But their history is going to start, as far as I am concerned, during the early part of the football season. The team was working hard getting in shape for the Millikin game when Gilmore, one of the ends, stepped on his foot in such a way as to severely strain and tear some of the muscles of the ankle. It was a very painful injury and after a lengthy time spent in convalescing he was able to be about, only if he used crutches. The patient being quite tall made it necessary to purchase an exceedingly lengthy pair of crutches. Well, as you all know the Stonington boy was finally able to discard the crutches, much to his sorrow? The crutches said good bye to Sherman and disappeared into the coach's office. Their stay there was very short lived as they had to be called in to service for Rex McMorris who was injured in the Rose Poly game. Rex not being as tall as "Gilly" necessitated the amputation of a slight distance off the ends of the crutches. McMorris enjoyed the pleasure of having four legs, only three of which were of any service to him at that time. In the course of human events nature, as it has a way of doing, allowed the muscles in McMorris's knee to become healed and he also discarded his crutches and took to a cane. The crutches were again sent back to the coach for retirement. They they remained in their dusty corner 'till the last week of football practice when Fred Cheney was seriously injured. Mr. Cheney had just executed a fine job of tackling out in the entanglement which took place immediately after this masterpiece. Fred had the vertebrae in his back slightly twisted from their intended position and so he was also confined to his bed. We all realize what a terrible week-end Fred put in during the Thanksgiving holiday but as encouragement for his lagging spirits he is now able to be about, but he must resort to the crutches, which was (the crutches) supposed to have been the main essence of this article, but which has not proved so, as I have digressed many times from the main or central theme. Mr. Cheney being of still shorter stature than McMorris, the legs of the crutches were again amputated to fit his slight height. Suppose he had been taller? Would we have finished this history by a lesson in grafting? Well, perhaps so! Let's hope that "Patty" has a speedy recovery and, as the final moment arrives when he is allowed to discard the wooden legs, that the fraternity house will need some kindling and these historical relics shall be placed in the furnace to die as many martyrs before them have died; by the scorching of the flames. And let us also ask fate to deal more gently with our football players in the future seasons so that we will not have to resort to the crutch method of recuperating. I thank you. —B. M.

Coach Lantz and Mr. Beu attended a meeting of the "Little 19" coaches and officials in Chicago, Friday and Saturday of last week.

RECETON ON THE MAP

Princeton, N. J. (by New Student)

Millions who are denied the privilege of dying for dear old Siwash nevertheless have come to know our colleges as intimately as if they had attended one. Thanks to Hollywood's many films of "College Life", the plain people now recognize a tattooed slicker when they see it and are able to tell you with one assurance that a college is a place where men wear battered headpieces, where rooms are decorated with "Keep Off the Grass" signs and where football games invariably end with fifty-yard dashes and last minute scores for the home eleven.

The latest of these educational films is called "Varsity" and some interesting stories are told about it. It has been the custom to make these films at the hospitable University of Southern California but lately the tendency has been to vary the scenery. "Varsity" was to have been taken at Yale but the authorities demurred. Princeton was found willing so the story was fitted out with Princeton names.

Only The Tiger, Princeton's comic magazine failed to see the joke. The issue of that magazine for last June criticized the administration for turning the campus into a temporary Hollywood. Several telegrams were received from alumni. Mr. Struthers Burt, '04, called Yale's refusal a "distinct victory for New Haven." "If we are going in for such things," complained Mr. Burt, "why not start nationwide advertising campaigns with such slogans as "Princeton, The Friendly University," or "You don't know what education is until you've been to Princeton."

Now that "Varsity" has been released the exhibitors are afraid to show it at Princeton. Perhaps mindful of the reception "Brown of Harvard" received on the banks of the Charles the local theater owner has cancelled his order for the film. Some of the students have seen the picture in New York and their reports are not of such a nature as to cause a theater owner to expose his property to the possible wrath of a student body.

The saddest words
A sign can say
Are, "Go back home;
No class today."

OH, YOUTH, YOUTH!

In the philosophic department of the "American" there appeared this statement:

"There are 22,000,000,000 atoms at the corner of your eye, each one a little solar system. 'Laugh that off,' as the modern youth would say."

We're not that kind of modern youth. What we say is, "Here's looking atom."

PRYING POLLY

Question: Which do you enjoy more, football or basketball?

Rex McMorris, freshman—I like football better because it is more interesting. I can play better football than basketball too.

Julia Thomas, sophomore—Football, by all means! I like basketball, but football is my favorite. I prefer football because it is played outdoors, we have a better football field than basketball court, and the players don't move so fast but that one can tell what is happening.

Helen Sheehan, junior—I prefer basketball, because I know more about the game.

Harry Phipps, senior—I prefer basketball because it requires a finer type of physique than football. It requires greater coordination of muscles with the mind. Therefore, it takes a better skilled athlete.

Mr. Major—I think one is more comfortable at a basketball game. Football is more spectacular. I enjoy both. If there were a basketball game and football game at the same time, I'd have to flip a coin to decide which I would attend.

Do you like to act in plays? Do you know anyone who has any acting ability? There will be try-outs for membership in the Players next week, probably for the last time this year. Watch for a notice.

T. C. Outclasses Kansas but Loses

T. C. showed flashes of excellent basketball when it opened its season against Kansas High School in the gymnasium Friday night. Although losing 20 to 15 Meurlot's five cagers led 9 to 7 at the half. Wyeth was high point man of the evening making four field goals. Dillard following with a close second made three field goals and one free throw. T. C. lost the game on fouls, Kansas making eight points on free throws. McHenry with a total of seven points, two field goals and one free throw was high. Allowing for fact that T. C. has only practiced one week, this being the sixth game for Kansas, the local boys played a very spectacular game.

Lineup and Summary

KANSAS (20)	FG	FT	P
RF Hughes	2	1	0

John Wyeth had just informed the Pullman agent that he wanted a Pullman berth.
"Upper or lower?" asked the agent.
"What's the difference?" asked Johnny.
"A difference of fifty cents in this case," replied the agent. "The lower is higher than the upper. The higher price is for the lower. If you want it lower, you'll have to go higher. We sell the upper lower than the lower. Most people do not like the upper although it is lower on account of its being higher. When you occupy an upper you have to get up to go to bed and get down when you get up. You can have the lower if you pay higher. The upper is lower than the lower because it is higher. If you are willing to go higher it will be lower."
But Johnny had decided to go in a day coach.

THRALL ELECTED BASKETBALL CAPTAIN FOR 1928-29

Friday night, just before the game with Kansas, the basketball lettermen elected Wayne Thrall captain. Thrall a senior, is a three year letterman in basketball and two year letterman in football. Under Wayne's leadership the team is confident of a successful season although, like the varsity, they are handicapped by the small floor. The good showing of the team against Kansas would indicate that T. C. has a good chance to win both of the T. C.-Charleston games. The first of which is to be played on our floor.

FOOTLIGHTS CLUB PLANS ENTERTAINMENT

At a special meeting Wednesday at one o'clock, attended by most of its members, the Footlights Club discussed plans for its next meeting night.

Miss Orcutt proposed a plan of having the entire high school and all high school teachers as the guests of the Footlights Club and the ninth grade Boys' Glee Club at a Christmas Programme shortly before vacation on December 20. The special Christmas play is to be given then. The Club voted in favor of the entertainment, providing the Boys' Glee Club cooperates. The Programme Committee will take care of further entertainment, with the S. B. C. in charge of the "eats." The next meeting was postponed until shortly after vacation.

Before the meeting adjourned there was some discussion about the Warbler picture of the Club, and the required amount was appropriated. Except an invitation of the club as a group to outsiders the meetings are restricted to only members of the organization. —R. K.

SENIOR ACTIVITIES GIVEN

The list of Senior activities has been requested by Frances Hale Weir of the 1928-29 Warbler Staff. The list of athletic activities are those in which you have made your letter and not in those in which you expect to make your letter. These lists should be handed in as soon as possible to Miss Weir. All school organizations and offices are included.

SENIORS TO CHOOSE CLASS PLAY

The Senior Class Play committee started work Saturday to choose the play for the class of '29. As soon as a play can be agreed upon, active work will start and the tryouts will begin. The tryouts will be finished and the cast selected in time for it to be included in the list of Senior activities and will be added by the Warbler staff. Under Miss Orcutt's expert coaching the class play should be one of the best in the history of the school.

EARLY BASKETBALL SEASON FOR TEACHERS HIGH

For the first time in a number of years T. C. plays its first basketball game before the middle of December. Not only did we play Kansas last Friday but we play Lerna there and Humboldt here this week. Humboldt has one of the best teams in its history having won 7 out of 8 games played and if we beat Humboldt as we've been doing in the past it will take some real basketball.

Miss Orcutt spent the week end at a teachers meeting in Chicago.

PRIDE GOES BEFORE THE FALL

While peacefully dreaming in the 10:25 study period Saturday of running through broken fields for assorted touchdowns, field goals, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound or what have you, Clarence Rogers suddenly came down to earth with a crash in which he lost both his dignity and his seat.

After the crash in which his seat broken into 13 1/2 pieces utterly without provocation he slyly peeked over his desk to see if others had noticed his dilemma, which of course no one had and the calm of the study hall remained unbroken.

GOODBYE DARTMOUTH

Hanover, N. H. (by New Student Service). A Dartmouth student has done what almost everyone who has read Walden years to do at one time or another. Curtis H. Glover, twenty and a Junior, has bid goodbye to college and civilized life to begin anew in the woods, far away from the painful pressures of organized society.

"Goodbye Dartmouth," he wrote in a letter published in The Dartmouth: "By the time you read this I shall be aboard a train speeding to northern wilds where I intend to prepare myself for higher life than college leads to; the life described in Thoreau in Walden.

"I have existed in your civilization now for twenty years. I have existed merely as a spectator. You have forced me to do certain things, and I have done them—reluctantly always inwardly rebelling. Now I have decided to give expression to my wild nature, and to try whether it be possible to live humanly."

The new Walden is located in the White Mountains on the estate of Mr. Glover, senior, who is a wealthy Boston architect. The news reports do not tell us much about the economic side of the experiment, which, to us, seems the crucial one. For what Henry Thoreau was principally intent upon doing was to find out how one might live the most complete and satisfying life that was possible, with the minimum expenditure of energy in filling of the experiment it will be worth watching.

Why doesn't the boys' quartet sing? There isn't an organization more enjoyed, and it has appeared once this year. Let's hear the boys soon. We like "My Scotch Bluebell."

FASHION HINTS FOR THE MUSTACHE CLUB

Now that the members of the Mustache Club have learned how to properly adjust their monocles and say in true English fashion "Ah, really by Jove," it is time that they directed their attention to some other things.

It is rumored that they are considering seriously the matter of carrying a cane. Would not natty gold-handled canes lend an air of distinction? Then, too on these cold December mornings, spats preferably the yellow ones, would further add to the comfort and distinction of the club members. And if they go this far, their attire certainly would not be complete without a tall silk hat to properly "top off" the outfit.

But now come the palpitant tidings that there are being displayed by these same males perfectly cute vanity cases all fitted with a mirror or everything. Something has got to be done. Pretty soon someone will begin using the term "male flappers." It's not unusual for college men to fuss about their clothes, but if they continue being so clothes-and-beauty conscious, it's the great wide open spaces for ours where men are still men—at least we hope so!

Plans are being made to have a concert sometime in the spring. Unless the members of the band do their full share of the work and attend now and the time for it to be given, it will be impossible to give such a concert that people enjoy listening to. Remembering that practice makes perfect let's all turn out for hand practice on Tuesday and Friday nights.

Fred Chaney, the member of the football squad who was so severely injured about two weeks ago in football practice, after being confined to his room for about ten days, was able to return to school last Saturday morning. Mr. Chaney who is very popular in college circles was welcomed with a great deal of pleasure by his many friends.

CHAPEL NOTES

When you find something you can't understand?" The College Trio, at the close of Mr. Giles' talk played two numbers, Legato by Chaminad, and Reverie.

FOOTBALL LETTERMEN 1923

In last week's issue of the News an incomplete list of football lettermen was given. The list of players earning their letter are: Cavins, Wyeth, Marker, Hutton, Dillard, D. Replogle, R. Replogle, Reed, Level, Stillman, Cole, Blake, Rogers, McMorris, Scott, Hedges, Geiser, Ingram, Meyers, Titus, Herman and Captain Craig. Those who played their last game for the blue and gold are Reed, Craig, Dillard and Rogers in the backfield and Scott in the line.
