Indoor Baseball Leagues Organized to Play Series

Last Wednesday afternoon at 1:15 a good number of boys and girls, who have not yet lost the vigor of youth nor yet assumed too dignified a mien, met in Room 16 to plan for the indoor baseball league to be formed.

All who were present that had not previously handed in their names did so at this time. About one hundred sixty students desire to play. The students who had previously played indoor baseball were gathered in one group. From the veterans, managers of the various teams were chosen, while the other members of the teams were arranged almost alphabetically.

Two leagues, each containing four teams were organized. Each manager has twenty or twenty-one students to draw his best team from. The relative number of boys and girls on each team was carefully regulated. The teams should be fairly evenly matched.

In each league there are four teams. Each team will play each other team a series and the winners of League One will play the winners of League Two for the school championship. It is rumored that members of the losing league treat the players of the winning league at the cost of the series.

At the meeting Lawrence Hill explained to those who had never played indoor baseball just how the game is played. Miss Scott emphasized the necessity of old clothes and low heeled shoes.

Miss Scott Names Social Committee

The Social Committee which aids Miss Scott in planning the summer recreation programme has been definitely chosen. The committee is composed of Charles Ball, Carrol Dunn, Sarah Gant, Granville Hampton, Lois Henderson, O. P. King, Mary McKnight, Ben Morgan, Margaret Pierson, Doris Smith, and Maurice Sullivan.

This committee has a picnic planned for every Monday, a dance for every Saturday night, dancing classes for Wednesdays and Fridays, indoor baseball for Tuesdays and Thursdays, and a show for some of the Wednesdays nights.

As soon as the campus gets dry enough, students wishing to learn about our campus may take a tour of the grounds with Mr. Nehrling or with Mr. Stover who will point out the strange and beautiful plants on the campus.

On July 16 the losing baseball league will be host to the winners of the indoor baseball championship at a campus picnic.

On the last Saturday night before school ends there will be a gala campus carnival and costume dance if weather permits.

Sometime during the term there will be a picnic out at Edgewater with bathing, dancing, and roller skating the popular sports.

SEVERAL COUNTIES ELECT CHAIRMEN

At chapel time Tuesday the students from each county met to organize and to discuss plans for entertaining the county superintendents from each county, the members of and candidates for the General Assembly.

Each group elected a president, vice president, and secretary. Plans were made to meet the visitors and to show them the school, besides having them meet the members of the faculty and of the student body.

The presidents of the various county organizations are as follows: Champaign County, Berniece McTaggart, Champaign, Ill.

Coles County, Antha Endsley, Charleston, Ill.

Richland County, John L. Bower, Olney, Ill.

Lawrence County, Richard O. Level, Bridgeport, Ill.

Douglas County, Eileen Haley, Arcola, Ill.

Edgingham County, Bernice Chamberlain, Edgingham, Ill.

Macoupin County, Bernice Barrick, Carlinville, Ill.

Montgomery County, Mildred Clotfelter, Hillsboro, Ill.

Wayne County, Marsdon U. Grubb, Chicago, Ill.

Montricie County, Wanneta Dur-borow, Sullivan, Ill.

Clark County, Core Church, Martinsville, Ill.

Marion County, Laura Bolber, Pa-toka, Ill.

Jasper County, Bertha Albert, Hidalgo, Ill.

College Plays Host to Candidates

A reception was given Friday afternoon at four o'clock to the candidates for the State Legislature and to the County Superintendents of Schools from Eastern Illinois and to the students of the Summer School. A dinner for the visitors was given in Pemberton Hall at six-thirty. The school orchestra played during the dinner and after the dinner the College Trio, composed of Edward Thomas, Mr. Koch, and Mr. Stover, played two selections.

During the afternoon the visitors were shown the buildings and grounds of the college and were told of the needs of the school, after which a short musical programme was given in the auditorium. After the dinner President Lord spoke of the needs for better training of teachers in Illinois and of the necessity of adequate support for the State Teachers Colleges. He made it clear that for the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College to continue to offer a high grade of work in teacher training and to keep its present standing as an educational institution it must have more money to pay instructors and it must have a library building and a new gymnasium.

The needs for a library building and for a new gymnasium were made very evident to the visitors by the overcrowded condition of the library reading room and by the small gymnasium floor which is smaller than most high schools, even in villages in this vicinity. The candidates for the Legislature showed appreciation of the needs of the college and promised support in the next legislature by securing adequate appropriations.

This reception was a success from every standpoint. The guests were aware of our genuine hospitality, and the students enjoyed it as a social event in that it made them better acquainted with members of the faculty and with each other.

Rain Confines Picnic To Gymnasium

Due to a steady rain all day Monday, those picnickers who had planned an outing at the Rocks in the afternoon retreated to the gymnasium where they forgot the weather and became as little children again.

From three until five-thirty, time was passed in playing indoor baseball running relay races, and in playing old-fashioned games.

At five-thirty the party partook of refreshments of weiner sandwiches, pickles, bananas, and pop served on long benches in the east end of the gymnasium.

MOVIE TO BE SHOWN WEDNESDAY

Wednesday night at 8:00 o'clock there will be presented in the assembly room several reels of motion pictures from the Yale Series of Historical pictures illustrating the Signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Gerald Benson and Fred Creamer spent the week end at Gerald's home near Vincennes, Indiana, and visited friends in Lawrenceville and Bridgeport, Illinois.

Sketches of American and of Russian Life Please Students

(By Mr. H. H. Giles)

Ivan Lazareff came to this country with the Moscow Art Theatre some years ago. This company of players under the direction of Stanislavsky made itself internationally known before the Revolution drove it from Russia. "Here," said Mr. Kenneth Macgowan, in his book Continental Stagecraft, "are actors who have got by all the small egotisms of their kind. Here for once are actors who realize the importance of crossing a stage, as a display not of themselves but of their characters." After the brilliant performances in New York, particularly of Chekhov's "The Cherry Orchard," the company broke up. A few remained on these shores to carry on in the tradition of their great theatre, and Mr. Lazareff, one of these, established his art theatre in Chicago.

It was with particular anticipation that this reviewer went, last Wednesday night, to see what Lazareff and Miss Astrova had sent to the E. I. platform, and whether or not the beautiful ensemble playing of the Russians would find its echo in the performance there.

It seemed to me that the ensemble was disappointing, but that individual performances were excellent. Some allowance must be made because of the fact that one member of the cast was new to the group. And, on the whole, it must be said that the work of the players was decidedly above average.

The bulk of applause and enjoyment was awarded by the large audience to the second and third plays, "The Proposal" by Anton Chekov, and "The Flattering Word" by George Kelly, the comedies on the bill.

"Strasti Mordasti" (Evil Spirits), the first, is Gorky's terrific indictment of a social order which brought about the tragic circumstances depicted in the play. The scene is laid in a cellar room, where Mamka and Lenka, mother and son, are the grotesque and pitiful figures of the submerged world whose distorted lives are the focus of interest. In the filth and semi-darkness of this room lives the little cripple, Lenka, in the boxes which serve as chair and bed for him. His mother, formerly an honest peasant girl working in the home of a high government official, has been betrayed and cast onto the streets by her rich employer and is now the victim of the evil spirit of vodka and the brutish world to which she has been condemned. "But," says the little Lenka, "mother is good, she's awful good when she is here with me alone." So this is the tragedy of the half crazed and wholly lost mother, and the sweet and elfin spirit of the little boy, with the heritage of withered limbs and a soul that thinks "the green fields" which he has never seen must be like heaven.

John Marsh, as the dealer in Kvasa, gave us a most interesting impersonation of the dull but intensely kind

FIRST DANCE IS WELL ATTENDED

The first Saturday night dance was held in the gymnasium Saturday night from 8 to 11 o'clock, with a large number present. The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Heu, Mr. and Mrs. Langford, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, Miss Scott, and Mr. and Mrs. Waffle.

Although quite a few of the new students were out, the old students were very much in the majority. With the opportunity which the dancing class affords, all the students in school who desire to dance should take advantage of the environment where many others are just learning as this bolsters up confidence.

There will be another dance in the gymnasium next Saturday night.

Entered as second class matter November 8, 1916, at the Post Office at Charleston, Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

YOUR INFLUENCE IS NEEDED

Friday saw assembled at the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College Representatives and candidates for the General Assembly.

These state officers and candidates for office came to Charleston because they were invited here to learn the needs of this college. They were invited to come here to see the school, to see the lack of library room, to see our kindergarten gymnasium, to see our inadequate laboratories.

These candidates now know of some of our limitations. It is up to us to constantly keep them conscious of what we need. It is up to us to keep the school in the public imagination.

The faculty alone cannot keep the college in the public imagination. Members of the faculty live in and about Charleston, and hence know but few of the candidates. It is you who have the most influence with the candidates. You live among them. Every student knows some candidate or knows someone who knows a candidate. By writing to the candidate or to your friend who knows the candidate from your district you can make these legislators realize the importance of having teacher training institutions that are of the highest order.

It is not that the school is degenerating, losing caste or prestige. The college is far from that. In fact the school year 1927-28 has seen more recognition accorded the college than any other single year. Rather, it is to better justify those recognitions given and to invite further progress that the college wants its needs understood.

Start now by sending newspaper clippings to your county paper, to your local paper, and to the candidates. Send news of the college that is of interest to your community. Make the name Eastern Illinois State Teachers College the shibboleth of state citizenship and of educational progress.

pleasant who can deeply feel and generously sympathize. Miss Ellis as the boy was effective. Miss Marwein could have added subtlety and restraint to her part with benefit.

"The Proposal," an uproarious piece of fun was written by Chekhov for the Moscow Art Theatre for which he also wrote his masterpiece "The Cherry Orchard" in which his widow, Mme. Knipper achieved great laurels. Ivan Vassilyevitch calls on Stepan Stepanovitch to propose to his daughter, Natalya Stepanovna. The old dispute over a certain piece of meadowland arises before Ivan has worked up courage to ask the question, and so for a time it looks as if neither the argument nor the question of marriage will be settled. The first because of the whole-hearted stubbornness of both families and Ivan's liver complaint and heart trouble which threaten to carry him off every time he works up to the grand climax of his argument, the second because of the first.

Here again, John Marsh carried off the honors. His make-up and mannerisms did indeed express with just an exquisite touch of caricature added to that already written into the part, the eccentric landowner of Chekhov. Chas. McReynolds made a there and study without being bothered by someone whispering too loudly or even talking out loud.

Just the other day, students in the library were much disturbed by the loud talking of a faculty member.

fine appearance as the old father complete in silver beard, white Russian blouse and indulgence to the daughter over whom he should, as a proper patriarch, tyrannize.

Mr. Marsh is the gentleman who set up the portable stage set and lighting during the hours between noon and performance. He was assisted by Mr. McReynolds, the business manager of the troupe. One wished that Miss George had also assisted, for the manual exertion might have toned down her tendency to play a continuously high pitch which was a bit out of range of the other players.

In the last play, "The Flattering Word" we saw the whole company together, and here Miss Ellis and Mr. McReynolds easily carried off the honors, while Mr. Marsh was somewhat disappointing. However his really distinguished performance in the second play was enough to expect in one evening. Miss Ellis did the gum-chewing young hopeful of the entire delight of the audience, while Mr. McReynolds ambled amus-

Dancing Classes Every Wednesday and Friday

Beginning last week those students who could not, but desired to learn to dance, have had an opportunity to join a dancing class. Only students who cannot dance are allowed to attend the classes, because of the embarrassment good dancers cause those just learning.

There are three classes, each of which meets twice a week on Wednesdays and Fridays. The hours are 11:20, 2:45, and 3:40.

THE LACQUER SHEET

Lacquer comes in assorted colors and may be used in various ways. Ask the Hall girls—they know. Red lacquer may be used to a very good advantage on black satin slippers, if one doesn't care about getting his hands lacquered, too. Ask the Hall girls—they know. White lacquer is good on black slippers unless you wear the slippers. If you wear them the result may be a little crackled effect, but it is quite original. Ask the Hall girls—they know. Lacquer may be used even on compacts and a special design of creosones may be applied if one wishes to be "different." Ask the Hall girls—they know. We wonder if, when all the shoes are lacquered, they will use the remaining lacquer on their faces? But please girls, don't smile! What next? Ask the Hall girls—they know.

PRUDENCE AND FORESIGHT REWARDED

The Equitable's Retirement Annuity makes it possible for any prudent, farsighted person, whether a man or woman to make financial provision for old age through savings out of income during the years of greatest earning power. The only requirement is a willingness to exercise thrift and economy.

The Equitable of New York will give you real service in insurance. I solicit an opportunity to explain their plan to you.
