Side channel referendum wins big

by Sandy Young

A referendum authorizing the city of Charleston to issue a $4.2 million bond for the side channel reservoir passed by more than 500 votes Tuesday.

The final vote totals showed 1,339 voting yes and 795 voting no to the referendum, City Clerk Patsy Loew said.

Loew said approximately 20 percent of Charleston's 10,000 registered voters turned out.

City Planner Larry Stoever said the turnout was "great," but that the college precinct vote was "a terrible disappointment."

Precinct totals showed 27 students voting in precinct 16 and 31 voting in 17.

"The students were flat not interested in this problem which will affect them as much as anyone else," Stoever said.

Now that the referendum has passed, construction bids will be opened May 6, Stoever said. Then if the bids are "within limits of the engineer's estimates" a contract will be awarded and construction will begin within six weeks, Stoever said.

Mayor Bob Hickman said the general obligation bonds to fund the reservoir will probably be issued after the bids are opened. The bonds will be bid through bond markets in Chicago, Hickman said.

Stoever said the bonds will be purchased primarily by large investors.

"They are very attractive to people in higher income brackets as they are tax exempt," he added.

Hickman said an attempt will be made to delay putting the water rate increase into effect "until we absolutely have to."

Water rates will increase 83 cents per 1,000 gallons of water used, Stoever explained.

Hickman said they may try to use methods of interim financing such as sales tax and revenue sharing to pay the increase rather than asking for additional funds.

Hickman added, "It makes me happy that the people realize that the city council is trying to do the very best job they can and they have confidence in us."

Stoever concluded, "We have been working on this for six years and I think we have finally got a problem solved. What this vote boiled down to is the future of Charleston—whether we will be a stagnant community or a prosperous community. I think the voters have decided which way they want it to be."

Khomeini says 'rejoice' over break with U.S.

by The Associated Press

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini urged Iranians on Tuesday to rejoice in their final break with the "world-devouring plunderer" America, and the Tehran government began mobilizing the people for a "holy war" of belt-tightening and possible rationing to grapple with economic woes.

President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr declared there was "no reason to worry" about the U.S. economic embargo against Iran, but added that Iranians would need an extra effort to resist the pressure.

U.S.—Iranian diplomatic relations and the virtual trade ban Monday, he said "other actions" might be taken if the hostages were not released "promptly."

U.S. officials were not ruling out a naval blockade of Iranian ports or other military action. The Carter administration also sent strong signals to U.S. allies Tuesday that it expects some help in the economic offensive, but there were no signs of immediate cooperation.

Bani-Sadr said in a Tehran Radio

U.S. cautions allies to cooperate or oil supplies may be jeopardized

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration, raising anew the possibility of a blockade of the Persian Gulf, warned U.S. allies Tuesday that their oil supplies could be jeopardized unless they cooperate in pressuring Iran to free its 50 American hostages.

The question of new action against Iran arose when White House press secretary Jody Powell was asked to assess the reaction of U.S. allies to President Carter's announcement Monday of new sanctions, including the breaking of diplomatic relations with the Tehran government.

"We will be awaiting with interest their response in this matter," Powell said. Then he added:

"To the extent that they support us in these efforts, the crisis is more likely to be resolved without the necessity of additional actions which could involve additional risks for all concerned."

Powell characterized his reference to possible additional action as "a clear statement of policy."

However, it was understood that options for future action that are considered open by the administration include a naval blockade of Iran's sea routes or the mining of its oil imports.

Either move would have a major impact on U.S. allies who are heavily dependent on imports of Iranian oil. Powell's remarks came shortly after the State Department issued a warning to U.S. allies that their Iranian oil supplies could be placed in danger if they do not support the new sanctions. Iranian officials have strongly indicated they will cut off oil shipments to any country that joins in the U.S. sanctions.

Trial set for fatal stabbing of Eastern December grad

by Jerry Fallstrom

A tentative date of May 12 has been set for the trial of Phillip Peoples, who is charged with the March 17 fatal stabbing of Chere Lynn Crowell-Hyett, a December Eastern graduate.

Crowell-Hyett, who was slain while working as a substitute librarian at the Dr. Howard Elementary School in Champaign, was an elementary education major at Eastern.

Peoples, 18, was working as a part-time janitor at the school. He is a student at Champaign Central High School.

Peoples was indicted March 24 by a Champaign County grand jury. Circuit Judge Harold Jensen ordered Peoples' $500,000 bond previously set to continue.

Police said Crowell-Hyett's throat was slit with a single-edged razor blade during a sexual attack in the school's library basement.

State's Attorney Thomas Difanis has said he will seek the death penalty for Peoples.

Crowell-Hyett was a 1976 graduate of Westmer High School in Joy, Ill. She was married to Allen Hyett, a University of Illinois student and was a member of Kappa Delta Pi education honorary at Eastern.

In a message to the nation, Khomeini said President Carter's anti-Iran actions would have no effect on the status of the 50 U.S. Embassy hostages, in their 157th day of captivity in the hands of young moslem radicals.

He said a decision on their fate still must await convening of the Iranian Parliament, which may be months away.

When Carter announced the break in interview the captive Americans were being treated humanely, and the official radio noted he has called for appointment of an outside observer to oversee their conditions.

Iranian television Tuesday night showed film of the hostages as they were visited last Sunday by three American clergymen who presided at Easter services in the embassy.

Martin-Trigona indicted

Anthony R. Martin-Trigona, the flamboyant political maverick who unsuccessfully sought the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination, was indicted Tuesday on mail fraud charges in an alleged $42,000 loan scheme.

Martin-Trigona, who campaigned during the recent primary by accusing his chief opponent of corrupt and improper acts, was charged by a federal grand jury with fraudulently obtaining a $42,800 loan from the Citizens Building Association of Urbana.

Martin-Trigona, 34, a Chicago millionaire who has had frequent battles with the legal system, said he was innocent and called the indictment a "political smear."

FBI angers judge

A federal judge lashed out at the FBI on Tuesday and warned the government agency that he will hold bureau officials in contempt if agents renew efforts to question him or his staff about any FBI-related case he has under consideration.

U.S. District Judge Prentice Marshall told a government attorney that any future questioning by agents would be considered "an unauthorized ex-parte communication" with the judge "and a direct contempt of this court."

Sadat and Carter meet

President Carter, shifting gears from the Iranian stalemate, held talks Tuesday with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat aimed at pumping new life into slow-moving negotiations over self-rule for more than 1 million Palestinian Arabs.

Iranian students complain about official 'runaround'

CHICAGO (AP) - Several Iranian students, some from as far away as Northern Michigan, milled around outside the Iranian Consulate offices Tuesday, complaining that federal officials were giving them the run-around concerning their status under President Carter's new sanctions against Iran.

The President ordered Monday that all Iranian Diplomatic and consulate offices be closed by midnight Tuesday and that all Iranian diplomats leave the country by then. He also ordered that no further visas be issued to Iranian nationals.

The students complained, however, that Carter had been ambiguous regarding their status and that they were repeatedly told to seek answers to their questions from other government offices.

One student, from the University of Wisconsin-Stout, said he was $1,300 behind in his tuition and was getting "the run-around" from local immigration officials regarding some of his money, which is frozen in a U.S. bank by presidential order.

A state department spokesman said the students were not being given the run-around, but were being referred to the Iranian Embassy in Washington.

FBI agents, who closed down the consulate Monday, maintained security outside the consulate office on the 79th floor of the Standard Oil building.

Walkathon slated by Carman Hall

Carman Hall is sponsoring a "To the Park For a Park" walkathon for Parkinson's disease at 4 p.m. April 11.

Senior Janet Libby, coordinator of the project, said the walkathon will begin at Carman Hall, and participants will hike seven miles to Lincoln Log Cabin State Park.

Sponsor sheets are available at the Carman Hall desk. However, participation is not restricted to Carman Hall residents, she said.

"I became interested in doing this project when I learned that a girl on my floor has a father who has Parkinson's Disease," Libby said.

Petition to decrease House is sensible

One criticism of government has been its large bureaucratic size. The larger government structure—agencies, commissions, elections—grows, the more waste grows.

The Coalition for Political Honesty, a citizen watchdog group, is critical of the structure of the Illinois House of Representatives.

The group wants to reduce the size of this legislative body from the current 177 members down to 118. This is a sensible solution for the change in the state bureaucratic structure considering the following reasons.

The elimination of one representative per district would save the state $7 million in office, staff, and salary expenses.

It also would change the archaic and confusing cumulative voting system from three votes per voters to the standard one man one vote principle.

The present system of guaranteed minority party representation is outdated. Electing no more than two candidates from one party from a three-man district delegation was to correct power imbalances across the state. Today, political parties are equally strong in organization and membership.

Also the elimination of cumulative voting and guaranteed party representation will create more competition for the seats. Therefore parties and the candidates will have to offer something more than party labels and rhetoric during campaigns.

The Coalition is about 40,000 signatures short of getting their referendum on the ballot. If they do, it will be the first citizen incentive to drastically change the format of Illinois government. It's about time someone took the incentive to make government more responsive to sensible change.

Letter to the editor

A great service

Editor,
Model U.N. is an organization that has been in existence for 15 years and each year it has successfully justified its request for funding. We believe the organization should continue to be funded in 1980-1981 and strongly disagree with the decision of the Apportionment Board.

Each year the Model U.N. sponsors two or more Security Councils attracting approximately 75 students. The best performers are selected to attend one of the two off-campus conferences that are attended each year. These conferences give its participants an opportunity to discuss and debate the most prevalent international issues, including Iran, Afghanistan, Middle East and World Population and Energy Legislation.

Last year the Communications Board sent three students to a conference in St. Louis to observe and report on the value of the conference, and the performance of Eastern students. The Communications Board report in both areas was favorable and they recommended continued funding for the Model U.N.

The Security Councils that the Model U.N. sponsors attract not only political science majors but students from many different vocations including business, science, home economics and arts. The only reward for these participants are the off-campus conferences and there is much competition to be selected. In

The survey which the Apportionment Board used showed a small percentage of students supporting the

Confusing greek letters are better for the birds

During my two and one-half years as a college student, I have come to hold great respect for the greek system. Greeks provide a vital social and friendship-fostering function to their membership. Sororities and fraternities also hold periodic fundraisers for worthy community causes. In fact, my admiration for Greeks is such that I once lived in a fraternity house for a semester as independent at another university.

But unfortunately, my admiration for the greek system has been dampened somewhat by what I view as one frustrating, unnecessary actuality—the incomprehensible greek names which the frats and sororities possess.

Now, I am sure that those within the greek system can readily differentiate between Sigma Pis', Sigma Kappas' and Sigma Sigma Sigmas'. In fact, I believe they are all required to do so. But we outsiders unfamiliar with the greek language often experience great difficulty telling one frat or sorority apart from another.

Hence, I think this lack of knowledge has hampered the greeks in their annual membership drives, and also has contributed to the negative stereotypes some people attach to the greek system. So, in order to help improve greek recruiting success, and to foster better greek-non-greek relations, I have a suggestion.

Scrap the greek name designations assigned to fraternities and sororities, and replace them with titles of various types of birds.

Now, this may seem like an outrageous, even blasphemous idea to some, but just think of its possible positive effects.

If the Alpha Phis' were named, lets say, the Penguins, they could aid naive freshmen during rush who are unfamiliar with the greek language by replacing the greek lettering on the outside of their house with a large, brightly colored Penguin. After these perspective greeks visit the Alpha Phi house, they would not remember it as just another greek sorority house. Instead, they would instantly recall that it was the Penguin Sorority.

And the Alpha Phis' could extend the practice by wearing equally large and brightly colored Penguins on the greek clothing. Then, when, those same naive freshmen see them on campus, they will not say: "There is greek with incomprehensible lettering on her jacket. I want to be a greek. No. They will say: "There is a Penguin I want to be a Penguin."

And when the fraternities stage their annual football tournament in the fall, it won't pit the Delta Chis' versus the Alpha Kappa Lambdas' anymore. Instead it will be the Pelicans against the Woodpeckers.

If instituted, I think these bird names would serve to increase greek attendance at the games, and also provide good public relations for non-greeks.

Why? Because besides being easier for a non-greek to recognize, the names of birds are infinitely more attractive than those greek names. Phi Sigma Epsilon. Delta Sigma Pi. Tau Kappa Epsilon. Not too aesthetically pleasing, are they? But if replaced with the pretty names of birds and announcements would sound like this:

"Attention: The Men of the Mocking Birds invite the Women of the Bald Eagles to their annual 'Mocking Bird Picnic' at 12:00 p.m. Saturday. Be there. Tweet, Tweet!"

And there could be Sea Gull Smokers and Flamingo Formals too. The possibilities are endless.

Unfortunately, this proposal will probably never get instituted. It just seems to be a little too far ahead of the tradition-steeped greeks' time.

However, if the greeks do turn out to be adverse to naming themselves after birds, maybe they would be more receptive to taking the titles of snakes, spiders, or insects.

Model U.N. But the amount of money Model U.N. receives each year is less than 1 percent of the total student budget, thus making it only a drop in the bucket. It also explains why a small number of students mentioned Model U.N. in the survey.

We believe the Model U.N. is an organization that benefits Eastern and its students and deserves to continue receiving student funding. We would welcome a Student Senate review of the Model U.N. budget.

Council formed to evaluate CAA, CGS, COTE

by Laura Rzepka

A temporary council has been formed on campus to look into the operating procedures of three councils already existing, the Council on Academic Affairs, the Council on Graduate Studies and the Council on Teacher Education.

President Daniel E. Marvin approved the formation of the Committee on Campus Councils, Stephen Whitley, chairman of the CCC, said.

The CCC will also evaluate the relationships among the existing councils, the relationship of the executive officers to the respective councils and the relationship of the councils with the vice president of academic affairs, who deals with them.

Problems with communication among the councils will also be discussed by the 12 members of the CCC.

The CCC is composed of the three chairmen from the CAA, CGS and COTE, three faculty members appointed by the faculty senate, and two faculty members appointed by the executive officers of each of the councils.

The CCC is interested in the function of each council, and it is hoped that a more efficient system will evolve from the CCC evaluations, Whitley said.

A report from the CCC on its findings will be submitted to Marvin May 1.

Dorothy Hart, a member of the CCC, said she would like to see more interaction between the three councils because they seem isolated from each other.

"There has to be a meeting of the minds," Hart said. When the CAA makes decisions on course concerning the graduate program or teacher education, the CGS and COTE need to know, Hart said.

Louis Grado, another member of the CCC, said the new committee will promote better cooperation and better understanding among the councils.

Graduate students exhibit work in art show at Sargent Gallery

by Laura Ziebell

A wide variety of art forms will be featured at the graduate student art exhibition in the Paul Sargent Art Gallery beginning Wednesday.

The show will run through May 9 and will feature the works of twelve graduate art students: David Durham, David Olson, Dave Thomas, Steve Havens, Simon Edmondson, Angel Bradley, Angela Rivers, Brian Sullan, Susan Randall, Maureen Howe, Lisa Larson and Joyce Bonwell, faculty member Rod Buffington said.

Among the different styles of art shown will be jewelry, ceramics, sculptures, drawings, water-color, oil paintings and prints, graduate student Maureen Howe said.

Howe is a photo-realist, she said. "My paintings look like photographs. They make you want to go up to them and touch them to see if they're real."

Steve Havens will also show his oil paintings and prints. Havens and many others who will be showing their work have had paintings in several national shows.

"It's a real honor to have your work in a national show. You take a picture or a slide of your art work and send it to a jury who judges them. If 500 artists send their pictures to these judges, only about 50 are chosen to be in the national shows," Havens said.

The exhibition will open Wednesday night with a reception from 7 to 9 p.m., graduate student Simon Edmondson said. "All the graduate students will be there to discuss their work."

The show is free to everyone and most art pieces are for sale by contacting the artist, Howe said.

Hours for the show are 9 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Write-in Voelz wins Congress nomination

Peter Voelz

by Dan Brannan

Peter Voelz of Paris won the Democratic party nomination for U.S. Congress in the 22nd district by receiving more than 1250 write-in votes in the March 18 Illinois primary.

"We were surprised by the large number of write-ins," Voelz said. "We expected about half of the 500 or so precinct committeemen to write us in, so we received about triple the number expected."

Voelz attributed his strong showing to a widespread feeling in the district to support an alternative to incumbent congressman Dan Crane, R-Danville.

"A lot of people I've talked to throughout the district are upset with the way this congressman has turned out," Voelz remarked. "They don't like the way he bought the election or the great amount of tax payers' money he spends on a bigger staff and outlandish use of the franking privilege," which is when congressmen are given free mailing privileges.

Voelz has begun to outline his strategy for the coming campaign. "Mine will be a people's campaign" he said. "That means a wide use of volunteers from people inside the district."

Voelz said his main aim in politics is "to get the big money out of dictating our politics to us, to decrease the number of millionaires running for office and buying the office and decrease the number of rich candidates who rely on millionaires to get them elected and then vote the way the rich tell them to."

Incumbent Crane won the Republican nomination for the 22nd District unchallenged.

The total number of votes Crane received in the primary was not available.

Matt Snead, a campaign worker for Crane, said Crane does consider Voelz a tough challenger in the general election.

"Anybody can be beaten," Snead said. We are going to conduct our campaign as we normally would."

Snead said Crane plans to headquarter his campaign in Danville, but he does not plan to emphasize his campaign on any one group.

"We are going to try to continue to appeal to all the people," Snead said.

Snead said Voelz's charges that Crane relies on support from rich contributors is outside the district is not true."

"Congressman Crane has displayed the ability to raise money, but our average campaign contribution is only $18," Snead said.

Snead said he feels Crane has voted very positively in his term in Congress.

"Crane votes for what he considers a good vote for all the people, not just a certain kind of people," Snead said.

Gastroenteritis attack kills 89 after bathing in contaminated water

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — At least 89 persons have died in southern India during the past two weeks after an outbreak of gastroenteritis, an inflammation of the stomach and intestines, United News of India reported Tuesday.

UNI quoted the health director in Andhra Pradesh province as saying the outbreak of gastroenteritis was caused by a lack of sanitary facilities at a recent Hindu religious festival.

He said the problem began after hundreds of Hindu pilgrims bathed in contaminated water in a lagoon considered holy.

Students, faculty members report good working terms

by Beth Murphy

Student and faculty members of four different Eastern councils said recently they believe students and faculty work cooperatively on the boards.

All of the councils excepting the Council on Academic Affairs have two student representatives who are appointed to two-year terms by the student body president. The CAA has three such representatives.

Kenneth Sutton, chairman of the Council on Graduate Studies, said, "I believe this term we have two of the most active representatives we have ever had."

Both student representatives on the CGS, Sue Dominach and Mary Doll, said they feel they work well with the faculty on the council.

"They are very receptive; they let the students talk," Dominach said.

Bob Glover, student representative on the Council on University Planning and Budgeting, said, "Student members on all university councils are well taken; they are very viable to the boards."

Dave Saunders, CAA student representative, said that the council "is one of the most important student-faculty boards because it deals directly with the students."

CAA representative Linda Phillips termed the council "more important than the Student Senate."

Mel Pashea, the third CAA student representative, said student and faculty members are equals on the CAA. "We're all on the board to accomplish the same thing."

Patricia McAlister, chairman of the Council on Teacher Education, said student feedback is important to the council, but the COTE has difficulty obtaining student members.

She pointed out that student representative Bruce Swart has been absent all semester due to a class conflict, and he has not yet been replaced.

Neither Swart nor Cindy Will, also a COTE representative, was available for comment.

The question of whether student council representatives should be appointed or elected has risen out of the recent controversy concerning Student Body President Bill Houlihan's request that CAA representative Phillips be removed from her position because she was "not representing the Houlihan administration."

Houlihan made a request to the Student Senate to remove Phillips because he said she was losing the "sincerity" she had when he appointed her last fall.

Most of the student representatives contacted said they feel that the appointment process works best. Phillips, though, said she believes the positions should be filled by election.

"I think that's a really good idea. I said that two years ago."

Doll and Dominach, however, said they feel the appointment process should stand.

"If I had to be elected to this position, I wouldn't do it," Doll said, adding that if council representatives had to be elected no one would run, because there is not that much interest in working on the councils.

"Someone who runs for a council might not even know that it is," Dominach said.

Glover also said the appointment process yields the most qualified representatives. "A popular election would be a popularity contest," he added.

Faculty members interviewed were ambivalent about the issue.

Sutton said, "You can have a process that you don't particularly believe in that yields excellent representatives," but he said if selection of representatives goes to election, he would like to see individuals elected from different areas so the council would have "both a democracy and a representation."

Glenn Williams, member of the CUPB, said, "The main thing is that whether the students are appointed or elected, they go as representatives of the student body. They must act and react in the light of the students' best interests."

Hostage's family hope revived after latest action

HOMER, Ill. (AP) — The father of one of the hostages held in Iran said Tuesday that his family members were beginning to believe they would not see Marine Sgt. Paul Lewis again.

But, Phil Lewis, the Marine's father, said he approves of President Carter's latest action against the government of Iran, and believes that it may save his son.

"To tell you the truth, we were resigned to the fact that we may never see him again," said Lewis. "And, we still might not have if they hadn't imposed these sanctions."

President Carter announced Monday he was breaking diplomatic relations with Iran over the issue of the 50 Americans being held hostage in the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

"I'm glad to see he finally got his hackles up and is going to do something," said Lewis, but he added he thought the action was four months late.

Lewis said a naval blockade of the country was the next step if the hostages, who have been held by Iranian student militants since November, were not released.

Lewis' wife, Gloran, has been disturbed over the administration's policy of allowing Iranians to enter this country while their son and the others were being held hostage.

"She felt a lot better Monday," said Lewis.

The president's latest action means Iranian diplomats will be expelled, and virtually all trade with the country will be ended. It also means Iranians will not be allowed into the U.S., except in special circumstances.

Tornadoes wreak havoc in 9-state assault

by The Associated Press

Dozens of tornadoes born in a "family of storms" splintered scores of homes and businesses, killed two people and injured more than 90 others in a two-day assault on nine states.

The National Weather Service said that since noon Monday, 14 tornadoes had hit Arkansas, six had touched down in Wisconsin, four in Missouri, three in Oklahoma, three in Texas, two in Illinois, two in Mississippi, one in Kansas and one in Tennessee.

And the National Severe Storms Forecast Center in Kansas City warned that more were likely. The National Weather Service said the tornadoes and thunderstorms that lingered in the region were "part of a family of storms."

While hail the size of baseballs pelted parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas, the twisters tore roofs off houses, schools and churches, ripped down power lines, flattened barns and wrecked airplanes parked at airports, leaving damage in the millions of dollars.

In the St. Louis suburb of Florissant, 96 homes were damaged and five were flattened in a tornado late Monday.

At least 42 persons were injured in Arkansas alone, including 20 hurt early Tuesday when a twister hit West Memphis, just across the Mississippi River from its sister city in Tennessee.

At least $1 million in damage was reported at the West Memphis Municipal airport where a dozen private airplanes were destroyed and at least 10 other planes were damaged.

In Mississippi, tornadoes hit Tuesday in opposite ends of the state.

About 16,000 electric customers in Arkansas were without power Tuesday after the winds toppled huge steel transmission towers.

Reginald Strunk, his daughter, Michelle, and his niece, Ann, were hospitalized after their mobile home near Witcherville, Ark., was dumped onto a pickup truck.

Hail four inches in diameter hit some areas of Arkansas as well as Oklahoma, the weather service said.

Other Arkansas communities suffering extensive damage were Mayflower in Faulkner County, where 13 persons were injured, and Clarksville near the Oklahoma border where four persons were hospitalized.

In central Texas, one man was killed, another was injured, 15 houses were destroyed and 12 were damaged as tornadoes struck Round Rock, Lund and Elgin.

In Oklahoma, a 9-year-old boy drowned when a boat on Foss Lake in the west central part of the state capsized in high winds.

Bernice and Ketchum, both northeast of Tulsa with populations of about 300 each, had property damage estimated at $2 million with four injured and as many as 40 homes demolished.

Damage estimates ranged up to $1 million in the eastern Oklahoma city of Poteau, hit by high winds and baseball-size hail.

In Beaver Dam, Wis., about 25 miles northeast of Madison, 19 persons were injured when a tornado ripped through a trailer court, destroying or damaging 27 mobile homes.

Contract negotiations tentatively set to resume

by Sandy Young

Contract negotiations between Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center and its nonprofessional employees are tentatively scheduled to resume on April 24, Union president Robert Camp said Monday.

Camp said the hospital and the employees "will try to work out an agreement if possible--but if not, I don't know what will happen."

He said an international vice president of the United Food and Commercial Worker's Union will act as the union's spokesman at the April 24 negotiations.

Prior to this time, the last contract negotiations were held March 4, Camp said.

At that last meeting the hospital made a final contract offer, but the hospital employees met on March 19 and voted to reject the offer, he added.

He said the remaining contract problem areas include benefits for part-time employees, wages and union shop.

Under union shop, employees must join the union after a set time.

Although rejection of a final contract offer usually constitutes impasse, Camp said the state of negotiations cannot be described using that term.

Camp said impasse is a "strong word" to use, but "we are on the doorstep of impasse."

He said if the hospital is willing to amend its final offer, the situation is not yet at an impasse.

"But if they are not willing to amend their final offer, they are forcing us to take any action we feel is necessary," he added.

Camp said a strike is a "possibility," but he "wouldn't go so far as to say probability."

At the March 19 meeting employees voted "overwhelmingly" in favor of a strike authorization, he said.

The vote means the employees authorize a strike "if it becomes necessary," he said.

But Camp added, "We are trying to get the two parties together to try and resolve it without a strike."

Sarah Bush representatives declined to comment on the issue.

Annual Tri-Sig benefit carnival to include food, drinking booth, jail

The Annual Tri-Sig Carnival will be held April 10 from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. on the tennis courts across from Andrews Hall, junior Janet Gutzler, chairman of the carnival, said.

Each year the carnival, sponsored by Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, helps different campus organizations raise money. The Tri Sigs' proceeds go toward the Robbie Page Memorial Fund. This money then goes to various children's hospitals for physical therapy rooms, Gutzler said.

At the carnival, the Tri Sigs will have a dunking booth and a jail. They will also sell barbeques, chips and soda at another booth. Each fraternity and sorority will put up their own booths.

Sullivan Theatre program to begin on June 4

by Sue Ann Rentfrow

Sullivan Theatre, Inc. has begun subscription ticket sales for its 1980 summer season which will center on a "Salute to Richard Rodgers" theme.

The Little Theater On The Square in Sullivan, Ill., will feature three of Rodger's most famous and popular musicals during its 24th season this summer.

"The Sound of Music" will open June 4 and run through June 22. "Oklahoma!" follows, running from June 25 to July 13. "The King and I" will conclude the three musicals, running July 14 to Aug. 3. The play "Angel Street" will run Aug. 6 through Aug. 17.

Discount and season tickets will be sold at last year's prices if they are ordered before April 15, Gerald Sullivan of Eastern's theater arts department and managing director of the Little Theater, said.

Season tickets for the four performances will be $31 and discount tickets good for eight performances will cost $56 until April 15, he said.

These "early bird" prices are about a 10 percent saving over the regular prices of $33 and $60, Sullivan added.

Three children's productions will also be sponsored, he said. "Snow White" is scheduled for June 7, 14 and 21; "Winnie the Pooh" on June 28, July 5 and 12; and "The Wizard of Oz" on July 19, 26 and Aug. 2.

Sullivan, along with his wife Barbara, took over as managing director last March. Sullivan also serves as the artistic director and his wife is the musical director.

"We became involved with the theater last March and it was really too late to get the season together," he said. "We learned a lot from the experiences and with Barbara now working with the theater full-time it should run more smoothly."

Sullivan said last summer the performances were more sophisticated entertainment such as Neil Simon's "California Suite."

He said although the shows were popular with regular theater viewers, the general public wanted something lighter.

"This season the shows are definitely more light-hearted in nature," he said.

The Sullivan Theater, Inc. runs as a star theater, meaning some name star will perform the leading role in each show. Sullivan said the leads for this summer have not been officially confirmed.

Some Eastern students will be hired as Equity apprentices to work on sets, costumes and as part of the chorus for the performances, he said.

An Equity apprentice is someone who wants to become an Equity actor. To do this they must work two seasons as an apprentice in legitimate theater productions, Sullivan said.

Being an Equity actor is an aid in receiving theater roles, he added.

Applications for these apprentices will be sent out to nearly 300 colleges in the Midwest, Sullivan said.

Sullivan Theater, Inc. is a non-profit corporation that is supported by contributions and ticket sales.

Tickets can be purchased by writing to Sullivan Theater, Inc., Box 159, Sullivan, Ill. 61951, or by contacting the Sullivans at 345-6215.

King, Queen elections to begin Greek Week

by Keith Palmgren

Greek Week, an annual event at Eastern for the past 26 years, will begin this year on Monday, April 14, with Greek king and queen elections.

Ann Cavanagh, assistant director of student activities, said elections will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the University Union Walkway, and all Greek students can participate in the election.

Cavanagh said the Greek coronation dance for the newly-elected king and queen will be held at Mother's starting at 8 p.m. Monday.

Terri Sullivan, co-overall Greek Week chairman, said the actual games for Greek Week will start on Wednesday, April 16 and will run from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. with the men's preliminary tugs as the first game.

She explained that this year the big and little men's tugs have been combined into one tug. She said one team will consist of seven men less than 165 pounds and seven men more than 165 pounds.

The second event, at 4 p.m., will be the sorority preliminaries for the tricycle races. At 4:45 p.m., cage ball is set between all the fraternities. It is a non-competitive game, Sullivan said.

At 6 p.m. there will be an honors banquet held at Reflections in Charleston. She said the banquet basically honors the "mothers" of each fraternity and sorority.

Also included at the banquet will be scholarship awards presented by the Panhellenic Council.

Thursday's games include shoe boards, a coed game, which starts at 3 p.m.

At 3:30 p.m. the men's canoe race is scheduled to be held at the campus pond, Sullivan said.

She added that the shoe boards game consists of eight people who will attempt to walk a total of 25 yards with the boards connected to their feet.

She said the men's canoe race will involve two canoes in the water at one time attempting to go from one side of the pond, under the bridge, to the other side.

Sullivan said that because only two canoes can fit under the bridge at once, five heats will be held.

At 4:30 p.m. the sorority pyramid preliminaries will begin, with 10 women attempting to beat the clock against other teams' times.

The first event on Friday will be a coed game called sleeping bag roll slated for 3 p.m. Sullivan said this consists of eight people, four men and four women, with a pair getting into the bag, zipping it up, rolling down the archery hill, getting out, running back up the hill and handing the sleeping bag to another couple who will start over again.

At 3:30 p.m. the women's canoe race will be held with the same rules as the men's game, and at 4:30 p.m. the men's obstacle preliminaries will begin.

Sullivan said the obstacle course for the men consists of six individual events. The finisher of the last event must toss a pony keg 30 to 50 yards.

Sullivan added that the kegs across the finish line with the best three times will advance to the finals which will be held on Saturday. Also on Friday will be the women's tricycle finals at 5:15 p.m.

On Saturday the games begin at 8 a.m. with the tug semi-finals followed by the women's pyramid finals and the men's obstacle finals at 9:30 a.m.

Sullivan said at 10 a.m. the women's obstacle finals will be held in heats,

At 11 a.m. men's bombardment will be held. Women's volleyball is set for noon, with all sororities competing together. The men's tug finals are at 1 p.m.

Ralph Milano, Greek Week unity co-chairman, said both the lunch and unity kegger will start at 1:15 p.m. in the back parking lot of Sporty's.

Milano said there will be food served with buckets or large glasses provided at a special rate for students' beverages.

He said it is still undecided if students will be assessed a flat rate or pay each individual time for their beverages.

Sullivan said the Greek Week festivities will conclude with Greek Sing at 1:30 p.m. Sunday in McAfee Gymnasium.

Phi Sigs to clean up campus pond for April Greek Week activities

The Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity will clean up the campus pond from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Steve Corzine, a member of the fraternity, said.

Bob Pierce, president of the fraternity, said a lot of the Greek Week activities will take place around or in the pond. Greek Week is April 14-20.

He said a similar attempt to clean the pond was made by the fraternity in 1965.

Leonard Durham, director of the life science division and chairman of the zoology department, will supervise the cleanup.

Durham said the fraternity members will walk along the shore, wade and use boats and rakes to pull debris and junk out of the pond.

The debris will be placed in a convenient location so that the physical plant can haul the material off, he said.

Durham said, "The more we can take out, the better. We hope it will make the pond look better and maybe we will get some student cooperation if they see some attempt to clean it."

Band applications available from UB

Eastern's University Board Concert Committee is now taking applications for bands which want to perform May 3 as part of Crazy Daze in May.

Concert Coordinator Mike Berggren said the UB is looking for several good bands with sound systems that will play on the Library Quad.

He said some of the bands that are chosen may win a contract with a booking agency.

New expenditure procedure proposed by IAB

by Andy Savoie

A new procedure "designed to facilitate the processing of athletic department expenditures" was among the subjects discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the Intercollegiate Athletic Board.

The procedure, outlined in a March 20 letter from Financial Vice President George Miller, requires the athletic department to submit requisitions and check requests directly to the business office, with copies also going to the Student Government Office and the Office of the Financial Vice-President.

The letter said "the business office will process the requisitions and check requests as long as sufficient funds are maintained in the sports accounts.

Certain expenditure requests, however, must have prior Intercollegiate Athletic Board approval."

The letter also said that purchase exceptions noted by the IAB may require the athletic director to provide additional information. It said exceptions which are not resolved after the additional information is provided will require Athletic Director R.C. Johnson to designate non-activity fee money to cover such expenses. Expenses of such nature can also be paid initially by non-activity fees if an exception is expected, the letter said.

The business office began providing an "in-depth analysis" of the athletic department's finances last year. He said on Jan. 29 that this action was prompted by concern with Title IX (which requires equal funding for men's and women's sports) and the athletic department's $100,000 deficit.

In other business, assistant athletic director Ron Paap said next fall's Eastern-Youngstown football game will be played at Eastern. Paap said Eastern owes Youngstown a home game, but that the Penguins agreed to play in Charleston next year after being guaranteed $12,000 instead of the normal $8,000 required by the Mid-Continent Conference.

Noting that this arrangement will save Eastern the expense of traveling to Youngstown, Paap said, "this should save us money in the long run."

Problems which exist in Eastern's women's athletics were also touched upon at the meeting by Jill Nilsen, head of the Ad hoc Title IX committee. Nilsen said Associate Athletic Director Joan Schmidt wrote a letter to Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin which outlined the women's "inability to purchase equipment because of lack of funds." The letter also cited crowded hotel space, a limited number of coaches and practice times conflicting with meal times.

The IAB also approved the fall schedules of soccer, women's tennis and women's cross country.

hitter to his credit, are slated to start against ISU-E.

If Wednesday's games are rained-out, the duo will not pitch until Saturday, McDevitt said.

The coach said he would start freshman southpaw Bill Morton (0-1) in one game against Chicago Circle Thursday and either freshman right-hander Ken Polarek (0-0) in the other.

McDevitt said he is hoping to see some improved relief pitching when needed this week.

"I feel we should have won more games than we did on the trip," McDevitt said. "But our relief pitching just didn't do the job. As a result we got beat."

The Panther offense has been led by senior outfielder Mark Steppe, who sports a .341 average with three home runs and 12 runs batted in.

Sophomore infielder Tim Pyznarski has a .340 average and 11 RBIs.

Johnson named Illini MVP

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Eddie Johnson, who averaged 17.5 points per basketball game for Illinois last season, has been named the team's Most Valuable Player.

Johnson, a 6-foot-8 junior from Chicago, also hauled down 8.9 rebound per game in helping the Illini to a 22-13 record and a third place finish in the National Invitational Tournament.

The honor makes Johnson eligible for the Chicago Tribune's Silver Basketball Award, presented yearly to the Most Valuable Player in the Big Ten.

Panther baseballers to play home opener?

by Brian Nielsen

One of these days, Eastern's baseball team will play its 1980 opener at Monier Field.

The Panthers' first home game was scheduled for 1 p.m. Wednesday against Indiana State-Evansville, but Tuesday's rainy weather may have made the field unplayable for the scheduled double-header.

"We won't know for sure until early tomorrow, but it doesn't look favorable right now," Eastern coach Tom McDevitt said Tuesday.

The Panthers also have home twin-bills scheduled for Thursday against Chicago Circle and Saturday and Sunday against Illinois State.

Eastern returned from a two-week road trip with seven wins, eight losses and several injured players. But McDevitt said he still is not hoping for any days off this week while some of his Panthers recover.

"There's no way that I want any rain-outs" McDevitt said. "We want to get these games in."

McDevitt said three of his four injured Panthers will probably be back in action this week.

The only one out indefinitely is junior pitcher Elliott Skorupa, who last year led the Panther staff with a 5-0 record and a 2.78 earned run average.

But in the first inning of Eastern's season opener at Evansville on March 22, Skorupa pulled a muscle in his throwing arm, and McDevitt does not know when or if his right-hander will return to action this year.

Also last week, senior catcher Marty

Pulley was hit on the wrist by a pitch and senior outfielder Ken Saxe was hit by a pitch on the hand. And junior first baseman Gordon Smith was spiked on the right ankle and needed six stitches.

Pulley was able to return to action last weekend, although he still is not at full strength.

"Pulley's arm is still bothering him," McDevitt said. "He can't swing the bat the way he should. But we're a completely different team without Marty Pulley."

McDevitt said Saxe may be able to play Wednesday or Thursday and hoped Smith would be ready by the weekend.

The Panther coach did not know how this week's opponents have fared so far this season, but expected Indiana State-Evansville and Illinois State to both be tough.

"Evansville is a good team with experienced ball players and some good pitchers," McDevitt said. "I don't know how they've done, but I'm sure they've played more games than we have by now."

"I don't know anything about Chicago Circle, except they've got a new coach," he said. "Illinois State will be tough though. They are always one of the best teams we play. We've never done anything better than split against them."

Junior right-hander Max Weibel, who tops the staff with a 3-1 record and a 2.96 ERA, and junior lefty Ken Westray, who stands 1-2 but has a no-

Ruggers bury LSU, shut out twice on tour

by Jane Meyer

Eastern's rugby club defeated Louisiana State University, but lost to Tulane University and the New Orleans Rugby Club during its spring-break tour in Louisiana.

The club soundly defeated LSU 19-6 with the first score coming as the result of a 30-yard run by Bill Baumann.

Club president Gary Siville said the back line was the major factor for the team collecting the win.

"I don't suppose the backs dropped half a dozen balls all day," Siville said. "We were really clicking. It's one of the best games our back line has played since I've been at Eastern."

Junior Al Chiles scored twice for Eastern before the second half of the game.

Mike Jones collected the remaining points for the club on a penalty goal.

Club member Victor Bobb said Tulane posed the toughest competition the team has met all year. Tulane took the win 43-0.

"We were outclassed," Bobb said. "They were the best rugby team we've played in the four years there's been rugby at Eastern, and they blasted us."

"They scored on us in the first minute—giving us a taste of what we'd done to LSU—and then they kept scoring through the first half," Bobb continued.

Siville said Tulane capitalized on Eastern's injuries to take the win.

"We had some completely inexperienced backs in there," Siville said.

"They're good athletes and good rugby players, but they just didn't have the experience to handle the stuff Tulane was throwing at us. I think it would have been a hell of a lot closer game if we had played the same line we used against LSU. But we were hurting by then."

Only 17 of the 24 players that made the trip were able to play in the game due to injuries received in previous action.

The New Orleans team also took advantage of the club's injuries, collecting a 36-0 victory.

Eastern will host the second annual Four Corners Tournament this weekend starting at 10 a.m. Saturday. Teams participating in the tournament are Eastern, Northern Illinois University, Southern Illinois University-Carbondale, and Western Illinois University.
