Budget requests reviewed by IBHE for FY82

by Scott Hainzinger

The Illinois Board of Higher Education will continue working on fiscal year 1982's budget Tuesday as representatives of the five higher education systems and other affected Illinois agencies voice their concerns over the requested budgets.

The IBHE will meet at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Continental Plaza Hotel in Chicago.

IBHE Executive Director Richard D. Wagner said representatives from each of the university systems, including the Board of Governors, will go before the IBHE to "highlight (the) needs for both the institutions and the system" in justifying their budget requests.

Illinois Bureau of the Budget director Robert Mandeville will present a report on the financial situation of the state of Illinois to the IBHE.

Wagner said this "state of the state address" should give the board an idea how the state stands in funding possibilities.

Margaret Schmid, chairman of the Illinois Federation of Teachers Universities Council, will also appear before the board Tuesday to make "a specific faculty case" to point out concerns which Illinois faculty have over their "substandard" salaries and decreased buying power.

Next year's budget requests for Illinois higher education totals $1.34 billion, a 17.6 percent increase over last year's budget.

A total of $31 million of the Board of Governors' proposed FY 82 budget of $143 million was requested by Eastern.

Eastern's portion of the FY 82 budget request represents a 14.9 percent increase over last year's budget, the highest proposed increase among BOG schools.

The IBHE will submit its recommended budget to the governor's Bureau of the Budget meeting in January.

In other action Tuesday, the IBHE will vote whether or not to implement proposed changes to the grant and scholarship awarding process, Wagner said.

These changes, recommended by the Policy Committee to Study Student Financial Aid, were drawn up as a result of questions which board members and other higher education personnel had regarding Illinois' financial aid processes.

Wagner said the board will also review two informational reports concerning the use of space and the outlook for enrollments in higher education.

The first of the reports, the Fall 1979 Statewide Space Survey, examines the total available usable space and use of that space in Illinois colleges and universities.

The survey can be used by an institution to justify the need for another building when available space is found insufficient, Wagner said.

The other report the IBHE will look at is an examination of higher education enrollments for Fall 1980, Wagner said.

This report could have some "impact on the decision making process," Wagner said.

Air pollution claims, 'acid rain' charges cloud Eastern's coal conversion plan

by Dave Kidwell

The conversion of Eastern's power plant from gas to coal will create problems in the atmosphere around Charleston, Mike Rogers, a representative of the local anti-nuclear Prairie Alliance group said.

Prairie Alliance is a group of concerned citizens opposed to using nuclear energy as a curb to the energy crunch. However, Rogers said the group is concerned with any form of energy that will effect the environment.

Rogers said that when coal is burned a chemical called sulfur dioxide is given off. This is due to the sulfur content in coal which is especially high in Illinois coal, he said.

This process will cause several problems, Rogers said, because residents surrounding the power plant should be warned that when snow falls on their car it will mix with the sulfur emission to form the acid.

"The sulfuric acid will eat the paint off of the cars in the long run," Rogers said.

He said that another problem with the sulfur dioxide emission is the formation of 'acid rain.' "When the chemical mixes with rain the acid will hurt crops and fishing in the Charleston area," Rogers said.

Marty Ignazito, assistant director of the physical plant, said there is a definite concern over these problems. However, the extent of the problems is undetermined at this stage of development.

Ignazito said that the purchase of a new boiler instead of rejuvenating the old boilers would reduce sulfur dioxide emission by many fold.

The argument that coal conversion is economically feasible is controversial, Rogers said.

He said, "Although it (conversion) will directly create several jobs, the air will inevitably be dirtier. This will force the Environmental Protection Agency to limit other industry from coming to the Charleston area."

"If the problem of particulate matter is not addressed there will be definite deterioration of the campus and surrounding area," Ignazito said.

One solution would be the use of the baghouse filtering system, which is much more efficient than the currently planned multiclone system, Ignazito said.

Ignazito stressed the fact that the physical plant is not lax in their concern with these problems and they are doing what they can to help solve any problems that come up.

Ten applications filed for A and S dean

by Stacy Wells

Although the position has only been open for two weeks, a total of 10 applications have been received for the position of dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Shirley Moore, search committee chairman, said.

The search committee has also received five letters which express an interest in the position.

Moore said the deadline for receiving applications for the dean position is Jan. 31.

Eastern has been in need of a dean of the College of Arts and Sciences since Lawrence Ringenberg retired in August 1980.

Although a search committee was formed last year and, according to Eastern Daniel E. Marvin, more than 140 applications were received, no one was found to fill the position.

Moore said a candidate will be found in time to take over his/her duties by July 1.

Moore said the search committee, when reviewing the applicants, will be specifically looking for someone with an earned doctorate degree, scholarly achievement, significant administration skills, personal commitment to higher education and evidence of the ability to exercise academic leadership.

Moore said Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin told the committee that the candidate must be able to administrate a complex variety of programs and link the efforts of the various departments in arts and sciences.

Although an attempt was made to form a search committee and begin the process early, Moore said the reason the committee got a late start was because the process of selecting the search committee members was time consuming.

Each member was elected by the faculty and department chairmen of the College of Arts and Sciences. Search committee members are usually appointed by Marvin.

Ten faculty and two students comprise the group.

Student members of the committee were appointed by Student Body President Bob Glover, who usually handles appointments of students.

U.S. sends response to Iran hoping to return hostages

WASHINGTON—Deputy Secretary of State Warren M. Christopher is flying to Algeria on Monday night with the U.S. response to Iran's request for clarification on terms for freeing the American hostages, the State Department said.

There, Christopher will meet with Algerian Foreign Minister Mohamed Benyahia and Algerian officials who have been serving as intermediaries between the United States and Iran.

The Americans will be prepared to answer any questions the Algerians might have regarding the U.S. position, David Nall, a department spokesman, said.

Personal doctor proclaims Reagan health 'excellent'

WASHINGTON—Ronald Reagan's personal physician says the 69-year-old president-elect is in excellent health and "quite able to handle stress."

In an interview published Sunday in U.S. News & World Report, Dr. John Reynolds said Reagan had no medical problems during the recent campaign.

Reynolds, a Los Angeles internist, said the most recent complete physical examination he performed on Reagan took place last year in Santa Monica, Calif.

The physician noted that Reagan has a moderate hearing loss, which might make it difficult for him to hear questions at a press conference if there were a lot of background noise.

Draft and registration for women to be decided

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court said Monday it will decide whether any U.S. military draft, or draft registration, must include women.

In a case likely to become the most closely watched controversy now before the high court, the justices will decide whether a male-only draft unlawfully discriminates against men.

Historically, young American men have been required to register for possible military service and to serve. Young women face no such obligations.

A three-judge federal court panel in Philadelphia last July struck down the system, citing unconstitutional sex bias.

If the Supreme Court were to uphold that ruling, Congress would have to amend the Military Selective Service Act to include women as potential draftees.

Illinois nuclear waste ban to go before Senate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—This is do-or-die week for state Sen. Jerome Joyce's two-year struggle to ban imports into Illinois of radioactive waste from other states' commercial nuclear power plants.

The Illinois Senate is expected to vote this week on whether to override Gov. James R. Thompson's veto of legislation outlawing imports of spent nuclear fuel rods from states that won't accept such waste from Illinois' seven commercial nuclear reactors.

Saturday is the deadline for legislative action on Thompson vetoes. But the override vote on the nuclear fuel import lid is expected Thursday, when Senate attendance likely will be at its fullest.

"It should be a major battle," Jim Edgar, Thompson's chief legislative lobbyist, said Sunday of the expected override effort.

"It could be close. I know we're going to try to stop it (the override in the Senate)," Edgar said.

The important ban is aimed at blocking a proposed federal purchase of a spent fuel rod storage site near Morris, about 55 miles southwest of Chicago in Grundy County.

Marvin—Buzzard renovations have priority

by Vicki Shaw
 Making better use of existing space in the Buzzard Education building will have priority over any other renovation projects at Eastern in the coming years, Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said at a recent Council on University Planning and Budgeting meeting.

"Buzzard is a relatively small project undertaking and we will make it our first priority," Marvin said.

Marvin said the estimated cost for the Buzzard renovation project is $189,000 and the university is pushing to get the project funded by the Illinois legislature.

Marvin added that the university should know by July 1 if it will receive the requested money.

If the money is received, the university will finish planning the specific renovations in 1980, '81 and '82, Marvin said. The money would be received in July 1983.

Frank Lutz, dean of the School of Education, presented a proposal to the CUPB which would allocate the north wing of both the first and second floor of Buzzard almost entirely to the School of Education.

The school currently uses all of that space except for an office for the Tarble Arts Center and some rooms for the home economics department.

No action was taken on the proposal.

In addition to discussing possible renovations in the Buzzard Education Building, the CUPB also discussed ideas to expand the business department.

Dean of the School of Business Ted Ivarie said that because roughly one-third of the students at Eastern have or will declare a major in business, the business department needs to improve on existing deficiencies.

Ivarie said the most important deficiency in the School of Business is the separation of the faculty between Coleman Hall and Blair Hall, which created a communication problem.

Ivarie's list of deficiencies also included several problems with the building which mainly houses the School of Business—Blair Hall.

Such problems include no accessibility for the handicapped, old air conditioning units, the use of the original plumbing installed in 1911 and no room for administrative meetings.

In addition, Ivarie said the school is in need of additional faculty.

Ivarie added that the school needs an additional 25 instructors to bring the department up to a quality level.

Marvin said he felt the best approach to resolve the space problem in the School of Business directly would be to either build on to the current structure or build an additional building.

Marvin said that since the School of Business has requested an additional 23,000 to 24,000 square feet of space, it would be extremely difficult to get extra funds from the state.

Marvin added that Gov. Thompson has already made commitments to three other Illinois universities—University of Illinois, Western and Northeastern—for extra money to build additional buildings on their campuses.

The CUPB members also discussed the possibility of renovating the Old Main admissions office.

Because the admissions office is the first sight a student and parent has of Eastern, a spokesman for the admissions office said he feels the current facility is "inadequate."

He said the university could enlarge the office by building rooms in the hallway which is two-thirds the size of the current rooms.

In other business, Richard Liu, director of planning and budget analysis, announced to the council that the due dates for budget plan process materials to be completed, has been moved back two weeks to give departments more time to develop their budgets.

The next due date is Dec. 15 when the individual departments must turn in their budget requests to their deans.

Discussion of proposed Kroger center taken from Tuesday's council agenda

by Sandy Young

The controversy surrounding the building of a proposed Kroger center in Charleston seems destined to continue.

Discussion of the issue was included in the City Council's agenda for its 7:30 p.m. meeting Tuesday. But it has since been taken off the agenda.

Henry Kramer, attorney for Fleming, Weller and Wood of Danville, developers of the proposed center, requested the item be removed from the agenda.

Kramer said he requested about three weeks ago that the item be put on the agenda for discussion. But he then informed the council that his clients "were not ready" and wanted to remove the item from the agenda.

"My clients don't want it brought before the council as they are still trying to develop something that will be agreeable (to the opposition)," Kramer said.

The proposed center has been heavily opposed by residents of Circle Drive, an area adjacent to the proposed center site, and downtown merchants.

Priscilla Ebdon, attorney for Circle Drive residents, said

Monday "we are interested in whatever plans they (the developers) come up with.

"I think they are going to try to come up with some new configurations. The council has stated they want more room between the property (and the store)," she said.

She added any new proposals will have to be brought up before the Board of Zoning and Appeals again.

Ebdon said she doubts if Circle Drive residents "will show up in full force" for Tuesday's council meeting.

"We can't proceed in any affirmative way until they (the developers) give us something to look at," she added.

Kramer said the developers are "trying to get an alternate proposal that they will submit to the people from Circle Drive, and meet with them if necessary, to try to find a plan that is agreeable."

Kramer also said the matter will go back before the zoning board, who can "again reject or recommend approval."

The zoning board will then relay their decision to the City Council, he said.

Use of stadium causes conflicts

Eastern has lost a chance to host a NCAA Division II semi-final playoff game because of the poor condition of O'Brien Field, and people seem to be looking for someone or something to blame.

But this finger-pointing reveals a deeper problem on campus—the conflict over the use of athletic facilities. This is a problem which must be resolved, and a report which Athletic Director R.C. Johnson plans to complete on various groups' use of the field is a step in the right direction.

Eastern will not only lose the home field advantage in its game against Northern Alabama this Saturday, but also an estimated $3,000 in net gate receipts as well as the publicity from a regional television broadcast on campus.

It was a combination of bad luck and poor planning which caused this situation, and steps should be taken to prevent it from occurring again.

It was bad luck that eight inches of snow fell on Charleston on Nov. 27 two days before Eastern was to host a playoff game with Northern Colorado.

But it was poor planning for the removal of the snow that added to the bad condition of the field. The snow had to be cleared with snow plows instead of snow blowers because the snow was so wet and heavy. The plows added to the sloppy conditions.

Eastern head football coach Darrell Mudra has said the High School Marching Band Contest held Oct. 18 at O'Brien Stadium also contributed to the poor condition of the playing field. Mudra said the 42 bands "destroyed" the field.

We agree that the band contest added to the wear and tear of the field, but it can hardly be blamed solely for causing the quagmire on Saturday.

Mudra's complaint reveals the conflict revolving around the use of O'Brien Field. This problem pertains to more than O'Brien as more groups wish to use athletic playing fields for their special events. This conflict must be resolved.

We believe that Johnson is taking the right step in preparing a report on the use of O'Brien Field by different groups. This conflict should be resolved before it affects any other athletic teams' playing areas, and Johnson's report should receive careful consideration in the search for a solution.

Whose field is it?

Editor:

Sometimes the football team and its staff can really get many people infuriated by making meaningless statements. The Chicago Tribune's article in Sunday's edition is an example of such nonsense.

As everyone who attended Saturday's quarter-final game at Eastern knows, the football field was in very sad shape. Head coach Darrell Mudra states that the reason that the field was in such lousy shape was because of the "thousands of little feet" that were allowed to march in O'Brien Stadium for the annual High School Marching Band Contest. Since that contest was held in the middle of October and the football team has won all of its home games since then, the condition of the field has not been a great detriment to the games.

The fact of the matter is that the snow came at the wrong time. There were quite a few inches covering the field, and as maintenance attempted to clear away the snow, they took dirt and grass along with it. Naturally after that beating (along with the paper particles scattered everywhere to soak up the water), the field was not going to be in prime condition to host a playoff game.

If Mr. Mudra is going to place the blame in Band Director Harold Hillyer's lap by stating that one marching band contest ruined "his team's" field, then let's all shed a tear for poor old Mr. Mudra.

And let me remind you, Mr. Mudra, that every pair of "little feet" that marched on the field that day has Illinois-residing parents that have paid taxes to help build and maintain that field. Their one day of marching cannot begin to compete with and be as hard on the field as the daily practices of the football team with their "big cleated feet."

Apathy plagues today's college campus

An objective outside observer, after a visit to a 1980 university campus, would, perhaps, come away with the feeling that things are much the same as they have always been. The students are studying; the professors are professing; and life on campus seems pleasant and smooth.

Underlying this pleasant contentment of today's college student, though, is a deep and potentially dangerous problem. Apathy seems to be the prevalent attitude among SIU students.

Lack of commitment, of ideals and of strong opinions may seem to some students like an oasis in the bleak world of international tension. But our hopes for the future rest with these same students. Too soon, perhaps, the reins of leadership will be turned over to them.

Today's students, seemingly aloof from the problems of the world and content within the cocoon of college life, are under a heavy burden. They came of age in the midst of an uncontrollable, international arms race. They were confronted, many while just entering high school, with the reality of an energy crisis of staggering proportions. They grew up with the Vietnam War on the evening news.

Perhaps it is too much to ask of them to cherish some vague ideals, to remain committed to some noble cause, to pursue their education in an attempt to better their world.

Viewpoint:

Dan Sitarz

For many of the students on this campus, education is merely a means to an end, a way to achieve social and monetary success. An education must be more than that. It must be viewed as a social responsibility, a trust that society bestows upon its most gifted and capable individuals. The students of today do not seem prepared to accept that trust.

This is not to say that the demonstrations and marches of the past should be repeated or even that voting for its own sake should be revered, but somewhere there should be evidence that the students at SIU realize their potential for shaping the future.

For the students of today to ignore this potential is, perhaps, the most serious danger. If even the fresh young faces on our college campuses are apathetic and resigned to the major problems confronting the world, to whom do we turn for hope?

Light timers face delay

by Julie Held

Installation of timers on light switches in classrooms in Coleman Hall has been discontinued indefinitely until a new shipment of 50 timer devices arrive, Marty Ignazito, assistant director of the physical plant, said Monday.

Originally, 16 timers were installed, two of which were defective and will be replaced, Ignazito said.

Timers were originally installed in classrooms in order to save money on electricity, he said. Several surveys were taken in Coleman Hall to see if timers were cutting down on electricity, indicating there were as many as 30 classrooms with the lights on that were not in use, he said.

"If one light burns for 15 minutes when it is not needed, it costs approximately $17," Ignazito said.

During the summer, several timers were installed on a trial basis to find out how much energy the devices would save and whether it would be worthwhile to install the timers in all classrooms in Coleman Hall. Ignazito said Coleman Hall was chosen because it is the building with the highest energy consumption.

Determining how much money the timers are saving Eastern is difficult, Ignazito said.

"It is hard to determine what energy is used by Coleman as opposed to all the other buildings on campus because there is just one electric meter for the entire school," Ignazito said. Once all the timers are installed, it will probably save $300 to $400 or more per month, he said.

Hearing date not set for CIPS rate hike

by Patty O'Neill

The Illinois Commerce Commission has not yet determined a date for a local hearing concerning the proposed Central Illinois Public Service Company's rate increase.

In April of 1980, CIPS filed for an 18 percent increase in electric rates and an 8 percent increase in natural gas which, if granted, will increase the company's revenue by $65 million per year.

Student Body Collective Bargaining Representative Tom Lamczyk requested a local hearing after the Student Senate approved a letter, which Lamczyk drafted requesting the hearing, to the Illinois Commerce Commission Nov. 5.

"I made the request because I was here in 1978 when CIPS had their last increase. I am also the only experienced veteran in this area on the Student Senate," Lamczyk said.

In addition, Lamczyk is a student member on the energy conservation task force.

CIPS spokesman Reg Ankrom said CIPS must go through the ICC for any kind of rate increase or decrease, as the ICC determines the dates for any informational hearings in Illinois. This way the public is assured the company is working for the consumer's interest, he added.

Lamczyk said he has not been in contact with an ICC hearing officer.

Ankrom said the hearing examiner listens to all the information provided, determines what information is admissible, organizes the testimony and makes recommendations to the other five Illinois commissioners in order for them to make a decision in late March or early April.

"It takes the ICC approximately 11 months to listen to all the hearings," Ankrom said.

The only response we have from ICC is the fact that they received our request," Lamczyk said.

Lamczyk added he would like to have the hearing in late December or early January.

Students would feel the increase through higher student housing and fees if they live on campus or through higher electric and gas rates if they live off campus, Lamczyk said.

The Student Senate, who is sponsoring the hearing, has not taken a position concerning the increase one way or the other, he said.

In a press release, CIPS Vice President for Corporate Planning Carl F. Wall said the increase is needed to help with inflation of both electric and gas operations and to recover the company's cost of capital invested in a coal plant under construction in Newton in Jasper County.

Lamczyk said the controversial question is, "should CIPS pass on their construction costs to the consumer, who are the students?"

Lamczyk said he has spoken to sororities, the Residence Hall Association and the Student Senate and has received a positive reaction from both for a local hearing of the CIPS.

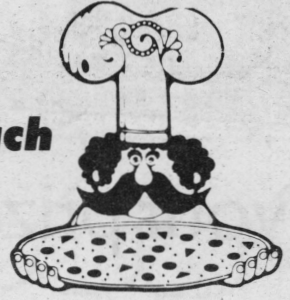

Lamczyk added "The groups I talked to responded as though they could not believe the increase. I think they are in support of the hearing."

CIPS spokesman Reg Ankrom said CIPS must go through the ICC for any kind of rate increase or decrease, as the ICC determines the dates for any informational hearings in Illinois. This way the public is assured the company is working for the consumer's interest, he added.

Lamczyk said he has not been in contact with an ICC hearing officer.

Ankrom said the hearing examiner listens to all the information provided, determines what information is admissible, organizes the testimony and makes recommendations to the other five Illinois commissioners in order for them to make a decision in late March or early April.

"It takes the ICC approximately 11 months to listen to all the hearings," Ankrom said.

The only response we have from ICC is the fact that they received our request," Lamczyk said.

Lamczyk added he would like to have the hearing in late December or early January.

Students would feel the increase through higher student housing and fees if they live on campus or through higher electric and gas rates if they live off campus, Lamczyk said.

The Student Senate, who is sponsoring the hearing, has not taken a position concerning the increase one way or the other, he said.

In a press release, CIPS Vice President for Corporate Planning Carl F. Wall said the increase is needed to help with inflation of both electric and gas operations and to recover the company's cost of capital invested in a coal plant under construction in Newton in Jasper County.

Lamczyk said the controversial question is, "should CIPS pass on their construction costs to the consumer, who are the students?"

Lamczyk said he has spoken to sororities, the Residence Hall Association and the Student Senate and has received a positive reaction from both for a local hearing of the CIPS.

Retired administrator dies of natural causes

by Laura Henry

Harley J. Holt, a 65-year-old retired Eastern administrator, died Friday at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center of respiratory arrest.

Holt joined Eastern's administration staff in 1963 as Director of Business Services and was later named Vice President of Business Affairs where he served for 17 years before retiring in July 1979.

Holt was born May 22, 1915 in Schofield, Wis., the son of Henry and Emma (Wendorf) Holt. In 1940 he married Carol Anderson in Wausau, Wis., who survives.

He graduated from Wausau High School and later received a degree from Wisconsin State University in Whitewater.

Holt taught at Arlington Heights, Ill., Green Bay, Wis., and Stoughton, Wis., and served in the Army from 1943 to 1946 before residing in Charleston.

A son, Harley Dan Holt of Seneca Falls, N.Y.; a daughter, Mrs. Ronald (Jean) Cihlar of Huntington Beach, Cal.; and two grandchildren survive. A daughter preceded him in death.

Services were held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Caudill-King Funeral Home with the Rev. John Dodson officiating. Burial was at Roselawn Cemetery in Charleston.

Harley Holt

He was a member of the Charleston Rotary, Elks Lodge, Retired Teachers Association and was an elder of the First Presbyterian Church in Charleston. Holt was also treasurer of the Eastern Foundation until his retirement.

His family requested that all memorials go to the Heart Fund or the First Presbyterian Church.

COTE ratifies Afro studies revisions

At a recent meeting, the Council on Teacher Education unanimously approved revisions that would bring the Afro American Studies minor "up to date."

Seven courses, in the areas of Afro American studies, history, music, educational foundation, home economics and political science were added to the minor.

Six courses from history and political science were dropped from the minor's requirements.

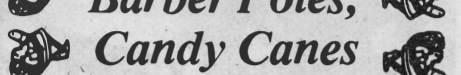

The revisions to the minor will be effective the summer semester of 1981.

Changes in the requirements for a mathematics major and minor were also approved by the COTE and will be effective the summer semester of 1981.

The new courses approved were mathematics 1330, "Analytical Trigonometry;" 2361, "Introduction to Integral Calculus;" 2362, "Applications of Integral Calculus;" 2371, "Infinite Sequences and Series;" 3800, "Seminar in Mathematics;" and 4850, "Operations Research."

Both the Afro American Studies minor courses and the mathematics additions were also approved by the Council on Academic Affairs at its last meeting.

Because the Council on Academic Affairs voted down a proposal from the department of music, which would have made student attendance at recitals a graduation requirement for all music majors, the COTE removed it from their agenda.

Mud and guts: Eastern's playoff win shows 'dirty' effort

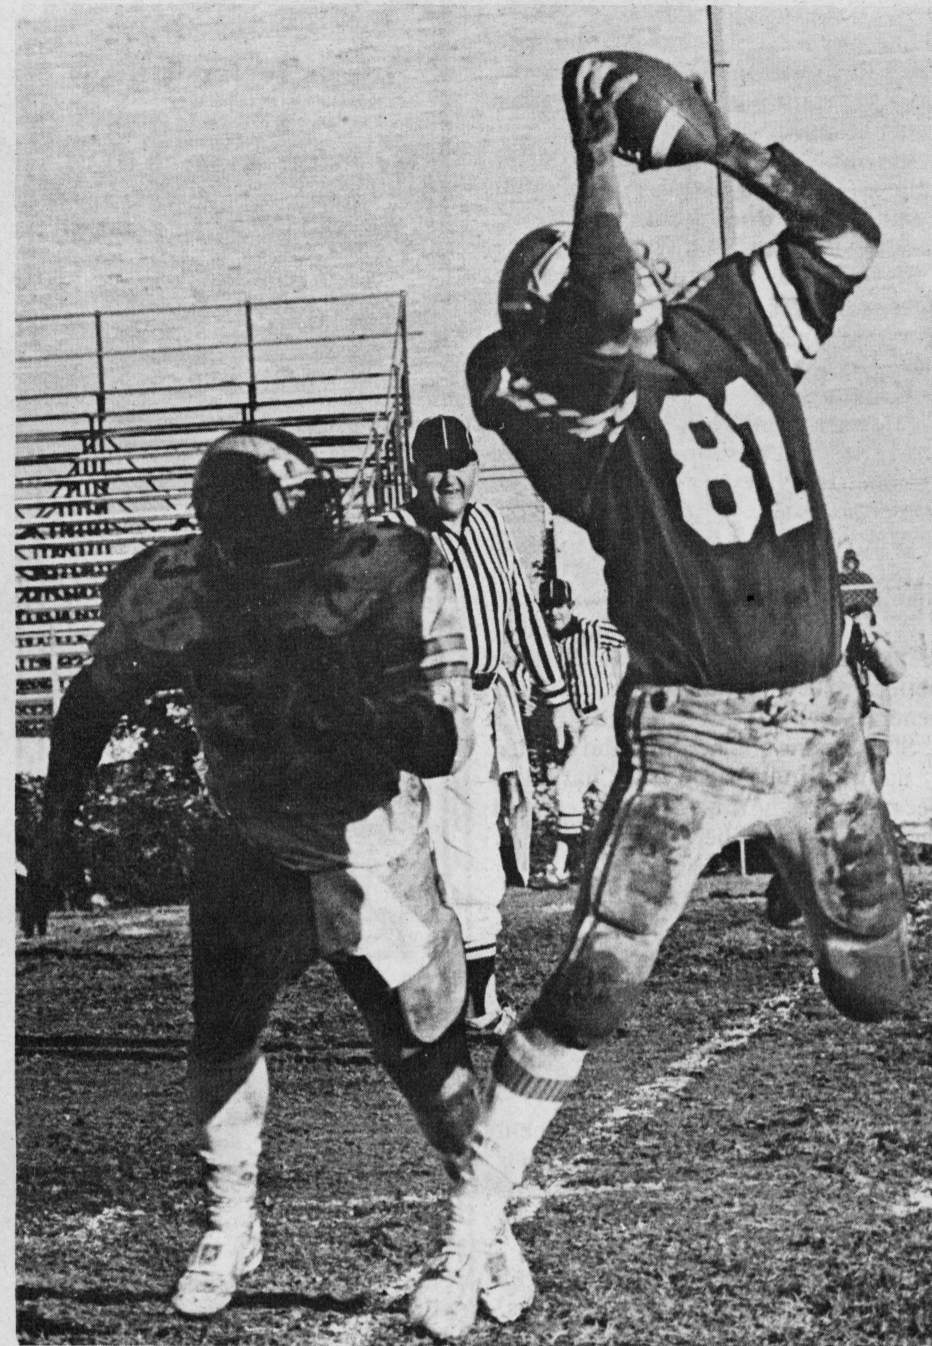

Eastern's 21-14 victory over the university of Northern Colorado was not a clean one in fact the muddy terrain of O'Brien Stadium made for one interesting ball game.

Left, tight end Rob Mehalic (81) hauls in one of six passes for 58 yards in Eastern's quarter-final game.

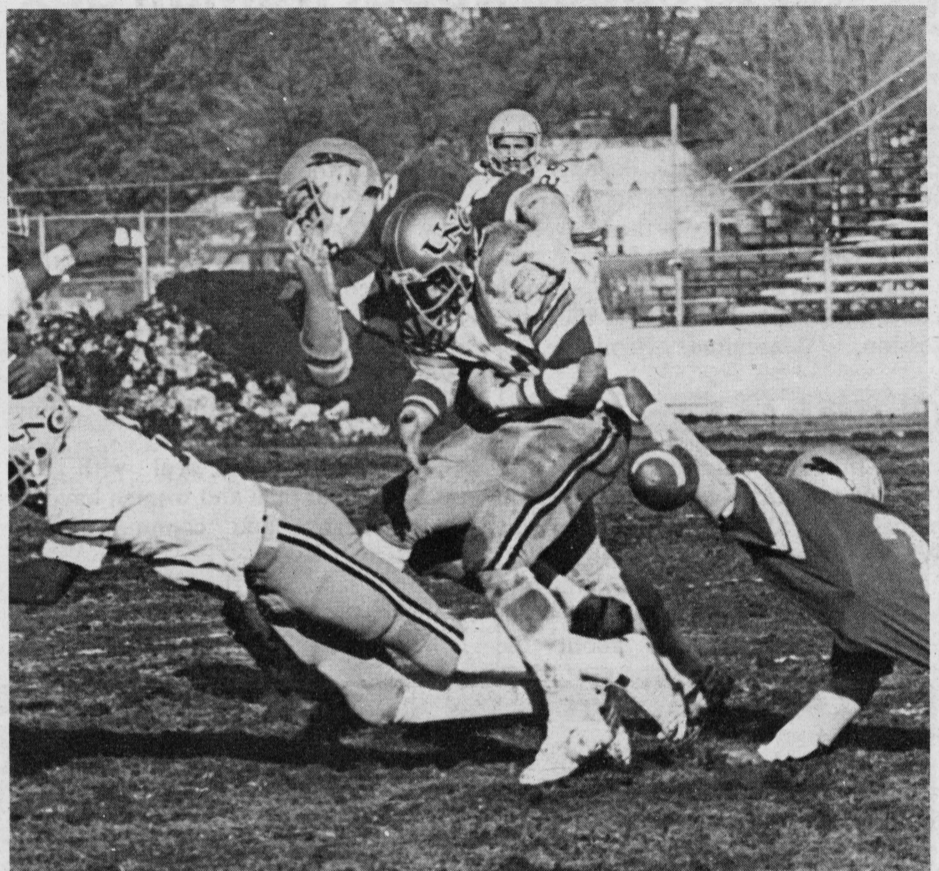

Below, Eastern's defense this time Tom Murray (57) and Wilbur James (20) account for this UNC ballcarrier's loss of the ball.

Bottom right, Quarterback Chuck Wright (14) scores a touchdown on a one-yard run to give Eastern a 21-7 lead in the first quarter of play Saturday. Wright completed 12 of 22 passes for 140 yards and one touchdown.

Bottom left, Fullback Rod Slaughter (45) runs after a screen pass. He ran 12 times for 37 yards in Saturday's win.

Playoff tickets available for bus, plane ride only

Bus and plane trip tickets to Eastern's semi-final football playoff game Saturday with North Alabama in Florence, Ala., will be available for Eastern students until Thursday.

The round-trips, sponsored by Arrow Travel in Charleston, will cost $160 for the plane and $36 for the bus, Bill Clark, area head of the University Union, said Monday.

The plane will leave Charleston at 9 a.m. Saturday and return after the game, and the bus will leave at 11 p.m.

Friday and also return after the game, Clark said.

Costs cover transportation only, and do not include tickets for the game, Clark said.

Tickets for either trip must be purchased by 5 p.m. Thursday, Clark said. If the bus or plane reservations are not completely filled by that time, the trips will be canceled, Clark said.

For further details or to purchase tickets, call Arrow Travel at 348-0147.

No fumble—NFL ruling; Payton's fine undecided

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League Monday ruled Walter Payton did not lose control of the ball and fumble in a controversial play Nov. 23 in a game which the Atlanta Falcons won 28-17.

The NFL issued the following statement Monday:

"The National Football League said today it had received and reviewed additional television tapes of the controversial play involving running back Walter Payton did not lose control of the ball in a play ruled a fumble and recovered by Atlanta.

"The National Football League advised Chicago coach Neill Armstrong of its conclusion after viewing the tape supplied by a television station in Atlanta and received in the National Football League office in New York this afternoon."

The Bears were leading 17-14 and heading for another touchdown when Payton carried the ball to within inches of the goal line where head linesman Ed Marion ruled Payton had fumbled.

Payton jumped up and touched Marion to get his attention but the move resulted in the ejection of Payton from the game which could carry a fine.

An NFL spokesman said no fine has yet been levied against Payton and that the matter still is in the hands of Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

New ISU coach wants to hire high school staffers

NORMAL (AP)—Bob Otolski, Illinois State University's new head football coach, says he intends to recruit at least two high school coaches from Illinois as part of his staff.

"I think the high school setup is very important," Otolski said Monday. "So I'm definitely going to hire one or two high school coaches in the state of Illinois. Presently I've talked to seven or eight already and in the next two or three days I've made arrangements to talk to another 10." Otolski was named head football coach at a news conference Monday. He has been an assistant football coach at Indiana University since 1973.

ISU Coach Charles Cowdrey announced earlier in the season that he would resign at the end of the year. ISU was 4-7 this year. Cowdrey finished with a 12-31-1 record after four years at the helm of the Redbirds' football program.

Women cagers lose 71-68

DAYTON, Ohio—Eastern's women's basketball team nearly brushed a victory, but could not get a win from the University of Dayton, as they lost 71-68 Monday.

The Panthers defeated Missouri-Rolla 83-69 Sunday to capture third place last weekend in the River Roast Tournament in St. Louis, Mo.

In Monday's contest, the Panthers were leading the defending national champions 40-28 going into the half, coach Bobbie Hilke said, but the team's offense did not keep them on top.

"They did not run offense well in the second half," Hilke said. "We didn't have the team to run the patterns," she added.

Nancy Kassebaum lead the scoring with 20 points, and Linda Ellsworth helped the squad with 17 points.

Joann Archer had 13 points, while Suzette Eshoo racked in eight points.

In the weekend action, sophomore guard Nancy Kassebaum deposited a game-high 28 points for the Panthers to lead all scorers, and Eastern's Linda Ellsworth added 20.

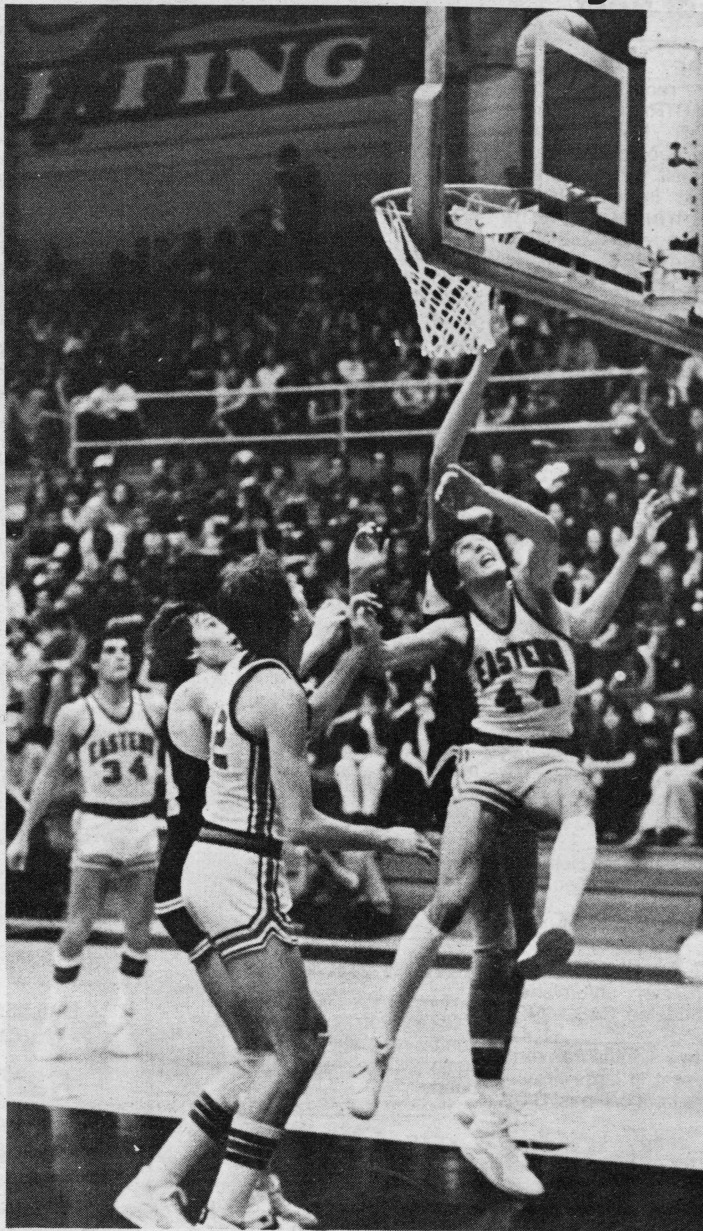

Missouri-Rolla's Becky Ommen led her squad with 27 points.

The Panthers advanced to the third-place game after crushing Maryville College 117-22? Friday and losing to Nebraska-Omaha 71-58.

Eastern outrebounded Nebraska-Omaha 33-27, but 36 percent shooting from the field was its undoing.

JoAnn Archer tallied 14 points to pace the Panthers, while Kassebaum chipped in with 11.

Evansville rally beats Panthers

Indiana State-Evansville reeled off 13 unanswered points in the final 5:05 to take a 72-70 non-conference basketball victory over Eastern Monday night at Lantz Gym.

A hustling Eastern squad had scrapped its way to a 68-59 lead over ISU-E and its 7-foot-6 giant John Hollinden, but then the roof caved in on the Panthers.

After Ricky Robinson's two free throws with 5:15 remaining, Eastern did not score again until the 6-foot-6 junior put in a meaningless rebound basket with four seconds left.

Robinson's late bucket was the Panthers first field goal since the 7:16 mark.

"We wanted to bring them out of their zone, but when they did we didn't run our man-to-man offense," Eastern coach Rick Samuels said. "We had two or three people running the offense and two or three people weren't, so we had some surprise passes.

"We had some good shots too, though, that just didn't go in, and they hit some critical baskets," Samuels said.

The Screaming Eagles came up with five straight critical baskets capped by an inside goal by Doug Alexander that gave ISU-E a 69-68 edge with 1:59 to go.

The two teams traded turnovers, but then Eastern's Jeff Jacob, starting in place of flu-stricken Jim Williams, missed a jumper from the foul line.

ISU-E's John Brown rebounded and was fouled.

Brown hit the first of his one-and-bonus free throws, missed the second and Jacob was fouled on the rebound.

Eastern's 6-foot-7 senior missed the first of a one-and-one ISU-E's Kelly Williams rebounded and was fouled.

Williams' hit both of his charity tosses with only 14 seconds left to seal Eastern's fate.

"What we've got to understand is when you start to lose your momentum, you've got to run your offense to regain your momentum," the first-year head coach said.

Other than the problems in the late going, Samuels was happy with his team's play, which included very balanced scoring.

Guards Warren Patten and Chuck Turk led Eastern with 11 points apiece.

Robinson added 10, Jacob nine, Williams and Rico Ellis eight apiece, Ricky Serkin seven and Leigh Hankins six.

Wrestlers finish with one placer at weekend meet

by Steve Binder and Andy Savoie

CARBONDALE—Eastern 190-pound wrestler Geno Savegnago placed second last weekend to pace Eastern's grapplers at the Southern Open in Carbondale.

Savegnago was the only one of six Panther wrestlers to place at the 30-team meet.

Eastern wrestling coach Ron Clinton said Savegnago turned in a fine performance.

"Geno got beat by last year's national champion," Clinton said. But the coach added, "he can go with anybody in any league. He held his own and did a highly respectable job."

Although no team scores were kept, Clinton said Oklahoma State dominated the meet.

Other teams participating in the meet were Auburn, Tennessee, North Colorado State, Indiana, LSU and Purdue.

"We did well in comparison to the other smaller schools there. We stood out in Division II like Oklahoma State stood out in Division I. We definitely have a respectful program," Clinton said.

Other Eastern wrestlers participating in the meet were Derek Porter, Kenny Blackman, John Polz, Mark Gronowski and Earl Edwards.

"It was a good tournament. We're making progress technique-wise. We're getting a lot stronger," Clinton said. "I've seen a lot of improvement with the kids even though they lost. With the type of competition they faced, I can still see the improvement."

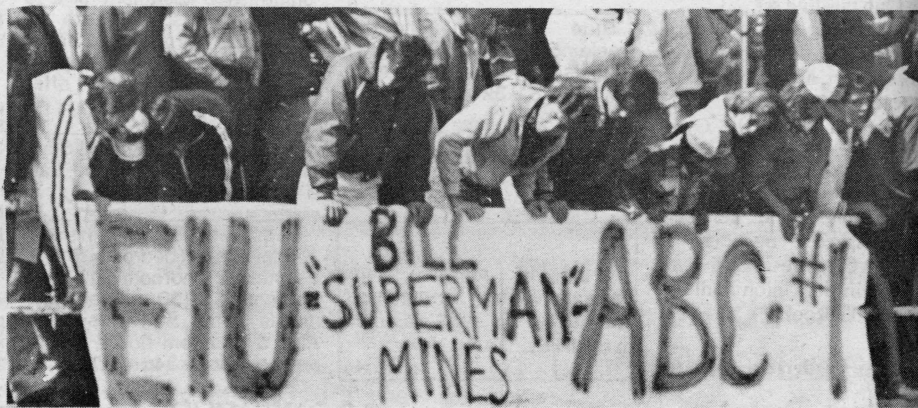

And Clinton anticipates additional improvement in the future.

"Until we get healthy, we won't be able to field our strongest team," Clinton said.

Clinton also sent several other wrestlers to meets at Northern Illinois University and Concordia, but none of them placed.

"I could have taken all the kids to the Southern Open but since most of the kids live near the Chicago area I felt they could get more match time. We're a young team that needs match time and the more competition they get the better they'll be," Clinton said.

The purpose of the meets were "to stabilize their weight and give them match time against tournament competition," Clinton said.

Fans poured out to O'Brien Stadium last season when Eastern hosted a televised game against Western Illinois. Now they must be settled to watch the semi-final game on TV, or go to the game in Florence, Ala. (News file photo)

Game to be aired on ABC

Eastern's semi-final football playoff game with North Alabama will be televised over WAND TV-Channel 17 Decatur starting at 11:25 a.m. CST Saturday, Eastern Sports Information Director Dave Kidwell said.

Kidwell said Eastern officials were hoping the game would be shown on a few other nearby stations, but currently Decatur and Huntsville, Ala., are the only ABC stations scheduled to show the game.

"ABC offered WRAU-TV in Peoria the opportunity to air our game, but they opted to carry the Florida-Florida State game, which disappoints us," Kidwell said. "But if enough alums, students and parents create a demand to see the game, it's possible they could switch to the Eastern contest.

"It happened two years ago, but it takes a lot of phone calls from a lot of people to do this," he said. "But we know it can be done."

Two years ago, WLS-TV in Chicago made an 11th-hour schedule change to cover Eastern's semi-final game against Youngstown State due to the demand of Eastern alumni and fans in that area.

The Eastern-North Alabama game probably will not interfere with ABC's national telecast of the Notre Dame-Southern California game, because the network moved up the starting time to 11:25 a.m. The Notre Dame-Southern Cal game is scheduled to kickoff at 3 p.m.
