Senate bill harmless to Eastern

by Matthew Krasnowski

A bill, recently approved by the Illinois General Assembly, which was originally designed to limit sales of on-campus stores at public university, will not affect Eastern, Union Area Head Bill Clark said Wednesday.

The revised version of senate bill 1470 does not prohibit competitive on-campus businesses that have been established since Jan. 1, 1980.

All Union businesses have been established prior to 1980.

Representative Harry "Babe" Woodyard (R-Chrisman) said the revised version of senate bill 1470 passed the house earlier this month with 117 votes for the bill and no votes against. It passed the senate by 51 votes for and one vote against.

Before, the bill was revised, it stated that public university stores could not sell any line of merchandise that could be sold at any local retailer.

This version could have closed the Union bookstore, Clark said.

However, in the revised version which was passed, the bill will not allow the sale of only merchandise that is a "radical departure" from the usual items sold at university stores, Woodyard said.

"Originally, I did not think it had much of a chance of passage," Woodyard said. "Once it was amended, I was in favor of it."

Woodyard said the bill now says, "Okay, keep a status quo to what your selling...this is more acceptable."

Clark noted that it may affect Union store sales in the future, if Union stores have major changes in the merchandise they sell.

He added that the bill does not dictate how or where merchandise will be (See SENATE, page 8)

Report indicates CASP effectiveness...

By Karen Sisulak

The Illinois Department of Transportation's evaluation of the first three month quarter for Charleston's Comprehensive Alcohol Safety Project (CASP) indicates that alcohol-related accidents in Charleston have decreased by 23 percent.

Since the program was implemented in January in an effort to reduce drinking-under-the-influence (DUI) accidents, the Charleston Police reported 30 incidents, beginning in January and ending in March.

In comparison to previous years' statistics, the expected accident rate was estimated at 39 for the first quarter period for Charleston.

This number represents a number down by nine from the actual rate reported by the evaluation.

Within this period, CASP units "spent 310 actual patrol hours" on the street. The CASP units are specially designated squad cars devoted to patrolling "high incidence areas."

The evaluation also reported that the CASP units made 25 DUI arrests and three reckless driving arrests. Non-CASP units were responsible for 36 DUI and four reckless driving arrests.

Consequently, a total of 68 DUI arrests resulted from the first quarter.

However, the overall accident rate for the entire state is stated as being up by 14 percent, but this number only reflects the number of accidents reported for the month of January.

According to the report, the statewide accident rate does not retract from the net change for the state though. The net change reflects a 37 percent decline in accidents occurring throughout the state over last year's rate. Although the quarterly report does not mention whether the CASP grant is directly or indirectly related to the reduced accident rate in the state, several officials and staff involved with the grant are "extremely pleased with the results."

Assistant Police Chief Herb Steidinger said, "I'm fairly well satisfied with the results," but did imply the belief that the rates for Charleston will continue to decrease close to the same proportions.

Dan Bolin, Eastern's director of safety programs, said, "Since the statewide accident rate is up by 14 percent and Charleston's accident rate is down by 23 percent, I feel the CASP project has had a significant impact."

"Even the critics of the CASP program have to admit there's a positive change," Becky Markwell, Eastern CASP coordinator, said. "It's doing what it's supposed to be doing and this will carry on."

Council meeting postponed

by Matthew Krasnowski

The first Council on Academic Affairs meeting of the summer, originally scheduled for Thursday, has been postponed because there are not enough members to reach a quorum, CAA Chairman Pat Wright said Tuesday.

Two faculty members, Alan Aulabaugh and Pat McAlister and the three student members were not able to be at Thursday's meeting, Wright said.

Student Senators Ed Blakemore, Tammy Walker and former senator Leslie Garrigan were appointed by the Student Senate in the spring but are waiting to be approved by Student Body President Joe Butler.

Wright said he was not aware that three student members were still waiting on presidential approval.

Wright said that in previous years the appointees were approved by the president prior to the summer session.

Wright added that he will have to meet with the three student members prior to the meeting to inform them about what the CAA is doing.

Wright said he considered including alternate members to take the place of the absent faculty members, but once alternates take the place of elected members, the alternates must serve out the remainder of the term.

"There is no real problem, we're just getting the summer session ready. We can certainly postpone the CAA meeting and get our work done at the June 28 meeting," he added.

Eight of the CAA's 12 members are needed to reach a quorum, he added.

Blackmore said at Monday's senate meeting Butler will approve or not accept the senate's recommendation for CAA members.

The CAA meeting has been rescheduled for 10:30 a.m. Thursday, June 28.

... enforcement continues

by Karen Sisulak

Although the Charleston Police are anticipating a "relatively slow" summer, Assistant Police Herb Steidinger said strict Driving Under the Influence (DUI) enforcement through the Comprehensive Alcohol and Safety Program (CASP) will continue during the summer.

The CASP grant, issued to the City of Charleston last October from the Illinois Department of Transportation, has allowed the Charleston Police to concentrate additional enforcement units in high DUI incidence areas, Steidinger explained.

"To date there have been 98 DUI arrests for the year," which is starting to push over last year's 153 arrests, he said.

In April, 17 DUI arrests were recorded over last April's nine arrests.

While in May, 13 were arrested for DUI offenses over last year's 12, he added.

Currently for the month of June, the Charleston Police have made 21 DUI arrests.

Since the CASP grant was initiated in January, the Charleston Police are recently observing the effectiveness of the program at work. Steidinger believes the CASP grant is "looking at some positive changes that should have or are working."

One of the goals set by the grant was to lower the number of alcohol-related accidents in the high incidence areas, which Steidinger says has decreased "in the target areas by 23 percent."

Although arrests are above last year's monthly rates, the inception of the grant has brought the seriousness of drunk driving to the public eye.

Ambulance ultimatum set

by Karen Sisulak

Depending on the result of a special meeting next week, the Charleston City Council may cancel ambulance service to three Coles County Townships.

Since a contractual disagreement last January, seven townships in Coles County have been in dispute with the City of Charleston over an additional ambulance transport charges for any ambulance calls made outside of the city limits.

Problems arose when the Coles County Board deferred allocations for county maintenance of the ambulance service to the City of Charleston.

Definitions of the service boundary have been partially drawn by a signed agreement between townships wishing to use the ambulances. However, conflicts within the transport and service charges have kept four townships from signing the agreement.

During Tuesday's council meeting, members voted unanimously to cut off the ambulance service to the remaining townships if an agreement has yet to be decided upon by July 3.

"In the meantime, we have been absorbing the fixed cost," Public Property Commissioner John Beusch pointed out. Until a signed agreement is finalized Charleston will "pick up the remaining tab."

Controversy lies in the fact that "people outside the city limits aren't paying a tax" for the same service Charleston residents have been and are paying Public Health and Safety Commissioner Olga Durham explained.

"If we're not in agreement by the next meeting, then we should terminate the service."

Charleston, Hutton, Lafayette and Morgan Townships have not reached decisions regarding the agreement.

Although the council unanimously passed a deadline for a definite decision, Beusch said he would "sure hate to live outside of the service," while Streets and Public Improvement Commissioner Wayne Lanman commented, "I hope we're not going to hurt anyone," before he voted with other council members.

In other business, concerning plans to reconstruct Lincoln Avenue, the council authorized the plans to specification with the exception of questions about the installation of a traffic signal at the intersection of Lincoln Avenue and Sixth Street.

Beusch brought to the council's attention an editorial in the Times-Courier which questioned the necessity of the traffic signal at the intersection during evening, weekend and university off-session hours.

The question of whether the signal would serve community interest over student pedestrian use has yet to be determined by the council, and it moved to research the Illinois Department of Transportation's proposal.

The council also awarded a general maintenance bid to Huckaba Construction of Charleston for $46,000.

Police arrest alleged flashers

by Diane Schneidman

Two men were arrested Tuesday for indecent exposure, Campus Police Chief Tom Larson said.

The first incident involved a 35 year-old male who allegedly exposed himself to a female employee in the stacks of Booth Library at about 5:45 p.m., Larson said.

Wilson Luquire, dean of Booth Library, said that unfortunately, the girl who witnessed the incident had been employed at Booth for only one hour prior to the event.

Larson said the man, whose name has not been released, has been charged with public indecency and charges are still pending.

Also arrested for alleged indecent exposure was Mason Jackson, 28, of Cave City, Ky.

Jackson was apprehended at 9 p.m. for his possible involvement with three counts of indecent exposure. One of the incidents took place on campus; the others occurred in the area of the downtown square, Det. Ken Belleau, of the Charleston Police Department, said.

Jackson was incarcerated in Coles County Detention Center pending filing of formal charges, Belleau added.

Grilling away summer boredom

Summer is here again and the proverbial season question arises: What to do, what to do?

One could always go to the bars; but that takes too much cash. And then there is the nightly gathering around the grill to roast marshmallows and to watch the briquettes smolder. Ah, what stimulating experiences.

Editorial

However, summer does not have to be an endless beer binge; nor does one have to suffer from marshmallow mouth. There are many activities in which one may indulge.

For example, intramurals provide an action-packed way to release all the physical energy that gets wasted during two-hour lectures.

Of course there's no need to worry about getting all sweaty and smelly from the games because everyone on campus is already in the same condition due to the hot weather. Also, participation in intramurals is a great way to burn off the calories from the marshmallows eaten when there didn't seem to be anything to do.

Perhaps sweating more profusely than necessary doesn't sound particularly appealing, but a nice air-conditioned activity probably does.

One indoor organization which may be considered is student government. This group provides the interested individual with a chance to get a taste of politics. In addition, it opens up possibilities to meet other summer students and administrators at Eastern.

Another indoor activity will bring out the ham in anyone. It is still possible to register for summer theater which comes complete with three to six credit hours. The theater department will present the musical Working, based upon the Studs Terkel book of the same title. And what better way to forget the troubles of summer school life than to pretend to be someone else?

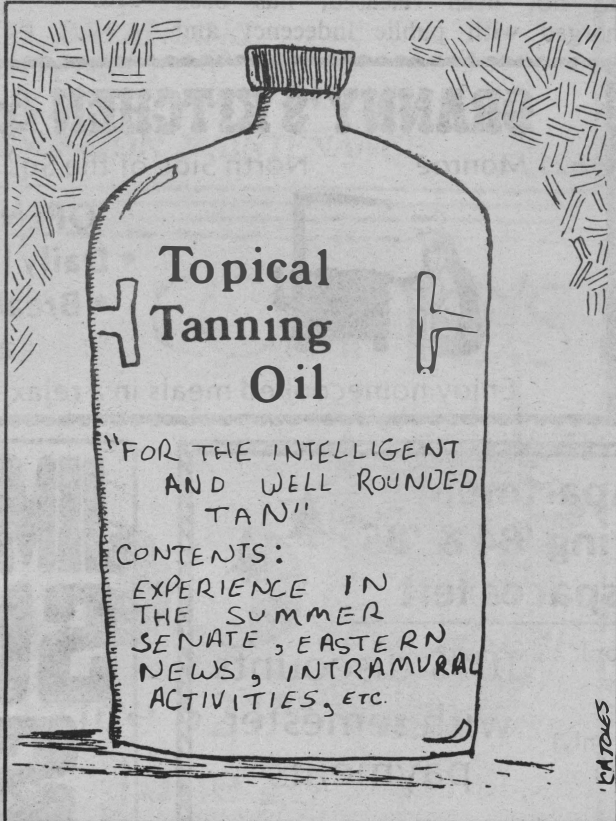

Even if credit hours are not at stake and just the sight of a stage makes the hair on your legs curl, the troop could use some volunteers to work behind the curtain with the props, set and costuming.

Speaking of working, The Summer Eastern News could really use some willing people to do reporting, take pictures and participate in night copy desk.

This particular establishment will sharpen communication skills, but not your pencils. Imagine the numerous friends which can be gained as one trapes around campus equipped with pen and paper or camera.

No previous experience needed for any of the above. So combat summer boredom and find out more about the activities offered during the next couple months.

Stop staring into the depths of a dirty grill, it's hard on the eyes.

Sleeplessness brings bouts of silliness

Sleep is truly one of the greatest physical and psychological activities in which one can engage. Unfortunately, it is not always possible to acquire daily recommended dosages.

This fact often leads to feelings of depression, anxiety and general draining. These are the bad points. However, sometimes too little sleep has some good points.

For example, ability to see things that were never visible before is intensified. At what other time would one stare at a wall and count all the miniscule holes left there by some other slap-happy person armed with thumbtacks?

Also, sense of humor becomes heightened (or so it seems). Maniacal laughter relieves tension. Such everyday incidents as lost papers, bounced checks and announcements of tests are now colorful, happy experiences. Think of all the money one could save on intoxicating substances after enough late nights.

However, heightened perception is not the only factor to consider when searching for the bright side of lack of sleep. The idea of having faced a real challenge can be exhilarating.

Not everyone can or cares to participate in sports or any other form of competition with other people. But when the clock strikes 3 a.m. and it's just the individual, a stack of books and tiny rodents underfoot, one can prove that yes, survival is not only important, but something which must proven.

Even if the sense of self-worth begins to get lost around 6 a.m., other philosophical questions are much easier to grasp. Such as, will the project pending have any drastic effects on life 10 years from now? Why do beetles have shiny backs? If this album which is becoming warped from use tonight is played one more time, will the subliminal message stand out? Why I am I asking myself these silly questions?

A final advantage to nights which turn into day is that when one is still awake as the birds begin their song of daybreak one seems to become part of nature. Ponder that one for a while.

Yet regardless of all these fascinating advantages, it is not recommended that one engage in these rituals too often. Any habit can become dull after a while; besides, it causes sensitive skin to blemish.

Paper bins resume operation

Editor:

Paper is one of the most wasted natural resources that America has. It is with this thought in mind that I would like to announce that the paper bins located behind Student Services and Buzzard will be in operation during the summer.

The bins are run by Alpha Phi Omega, the national service fraternity on campus, and in previous years they have been shut down in the summer due to a lack of storage space. This problem has been corrected this year and the papers that you place in these two bins will be picked up during the summer months.

This is one of the easiest ways to help the environment. If each student would just save his papers, a great deal of paper could be collected. This paper is recycled and the money is used to support the many service projects of Alpha Phi Omega. I would like to urge your continued support of this project and I thank you.

Different approach to Martin Luther's views

by Maureen Foertsch

History books tend to paint theologian Martin Luther as a positive influence on Western Civilization, but Tuesday night, historian Mark U. Edwards portrayed a less-than-pleasant side of Luther.

Edwards, a history instructor at Purdue University and author of two books concerning Luther, told an audience in Phipps Lecture Hall that he "specializes in the unpleasant side of Luther."

That unpleasant side of Luther Edwards described was an intense attack against Judaism which reappeared in the 20th century as fuel for the Nazi campaign against the Jews.

Edwards noted an example of Luther's suggestions for dealing with the Jews, "Their synagogues and schools should be burned," Luther wrote, "and whatever will not burn should be buried. Their homes should be destroyed. . . rabbis should be forbidden to teach."

"Their usury should be forbidden. Their money taken from them. They should be put to work in the fields so they earn a living by the sweat of their brows. Better yet they should be expelled from Germany. . .," Edwards quoted the 15th century religious Reformation leader.

"Luther's teachings remain to this very day a potent force in Christian theology and a potent force in German society. His attacks on the Jews—especially involving the holocaust, the murder of some 6 million Jews—cannot be ignored or lightly cast away," Edwards said.

"We have to realize Martin Luther was one of the great seminarian figures in Western History," he noted.

"Without Luther, Western Christianity, Western civilization would be quite different. Lutherans, Catholics—some of the most serious Luther scholars—and Protestants study Luther and they're fighting about how much Luther can they reclaim. Much of what he said is hard to accept," he continued.

"There's another side to Luther; other than the wit and humor, the fantastic German translator of the New Testament, the writer of hymns, there's also the old cranky man who lashed out against Catholics, other Protestants, Turks and Jews in the last years of his life," Edwards noted.

Edwards said that although some Luther scholars use the facts that the religious leader's anti-semitic outcries could be dismissed as "the unfortunate product of ill health and old age" or as unexplainable, he and other scholars "advocate the attacks within their historic context."

"These attacks are not an aberration. They're not peculiar to his old age because he had always attacked his opponents, and old age only exacerbated this longstanding characteristic of his polemical self," the speaker noted.

"The attacks fit into. . . a dualistic view of the world and a vision of the world coming to an end soon. And was this the dualistic view Luther applied consistently to all his opponents. He saw them all: Catholics, fanatic Protestants, turks and the Jews, as the willing servants of Satan," Edwards continued.

"Luther categorized all his arguments as a constant struggle between God and Satan. Luther saw evidence of this struggle throughout history but he believed was reaching its climax during his own day," he said.

"That the world was in a climatic battle before the last judgment. If he had not attacked his opponents with all the skills he had, he would have been like a soldier shirking his duties in the last, climatic battle of the war," he continued.

"We must realize that Luther's major concern was not the Jews, but the proper understanding of the scriptures. He placed considerable importance on the reading of the Old Testament, the Hebrew Bible," he noted.

Edwards cited an example of Luther's disagreement with the Hebrew interpretation of the Bible.

"The Jews were so convinced the Messiah had not yet come, Luther wrote, 'even if God himself and all the angels had said God had come, they would not believe him,'" he said.

"The bulk of his writings are meant to dissuade his colleagues from using the Rabbis' countenance. Luther knew that to discredit the message, it helps to discredit the messenger," he added.

"Luther said Jews had claimed Jesus was a magician in the nature of the devil. Luther said the Jews called Jesus a whore's son and Mary a whore. They claimed that Mary had conceived while menstruating which meant her offspring Jesus was insane or a devil's child," Edwards said.

"16th century Christians refused to allow blasphemy in their midst. He believed that he had not made attempts to end blasphemy, God would not punish only the blasphemers but the whole community," he said, adding Luther believed that the blasphemy was committed by the Catholics and other Protestants in addition to the Jews.

"Luther became more shrill as he got older and more scatological." As a matter of fact, Edwards said, Luther said "the papal church was excreted from an enormous she-ass."

"Few people today share Luther's dualistic view of true and false churches" and "only fringe extremists believe it is their sole right to persecute Jews," but nonetheless, Edwards noted, Luther's currently uncommon anti-semitic beliefs have left a turbulent mark on Jewish and Christian political relations.

Lincoln heritage brings the past into the present...

by Karen Sisulak

Although many students have heard mention of the Lincoln Log Cabin State Historical Site, not too many have ever made the eight-mile venture to see what's out there.

The cabin, once Thomas and Sarah Bush Lincoln's residence, is situated on an 86-acre farm approximately four miles south of Charleston. The farm, originally named the Gooseneck Prairie Farm, is a living tribute to the Lincoln's heritage and to 1840s' lifestyle.

Sure, Abraham paid several visits to father Tom and stepmother Sarah (which probably is the reason why the site is historical), but the farm also serves as a site for archeological, geneological, historical and agricultural research.

Since the State of Illinois bought the farm, restoration of the two-room cabin, barn and corn crib has found the farm in top 1840s' working condition. Further restoration efforts have reconstructed the well, the garden and orchard, the root cellar, and an ash hopper.

Historical accounts and land surveys have revealed that during peak production of the farm, Tom Lincoln had cultivated the land to raise wheat and corn.

Historical interpreter Bill Combs said to date the Lincoln farm is in the same working condition as it originally was in 1845. The cultivation of wheat and corn, along with raising of chickens, cows, horses and ducks, are still flourishing.

Lincoln's cabin has sustained its original stature only through the efforts of volunteers from the area. John Hickey, a site personnel member, said between 80 and 100 local citizens help with the farm, but only a group of 30 are regular contributors to the farmwork.

In the course of a 12-day training session volunteers are instructed to use the 1840s' dialect and methods of open-hearth cooking, open-field harvest and spinning wool.

The training of the volunteers is directed toward the visitors' benefit to see a realistic re-enactment of history. The regular staff at the cabin consider the volunteers the backbone of the park.

If Tom and Sarah Lincoln, who are buried at the nearby Shiloh Cemetery just south of the cabin, were to take a step into the present they would find a warm welcome as their farm remains yesteryear.

Other than the restored cabin and outer structures, the Lincoln Log Cabin Park features a visitors center, gift shop and picnic areas.

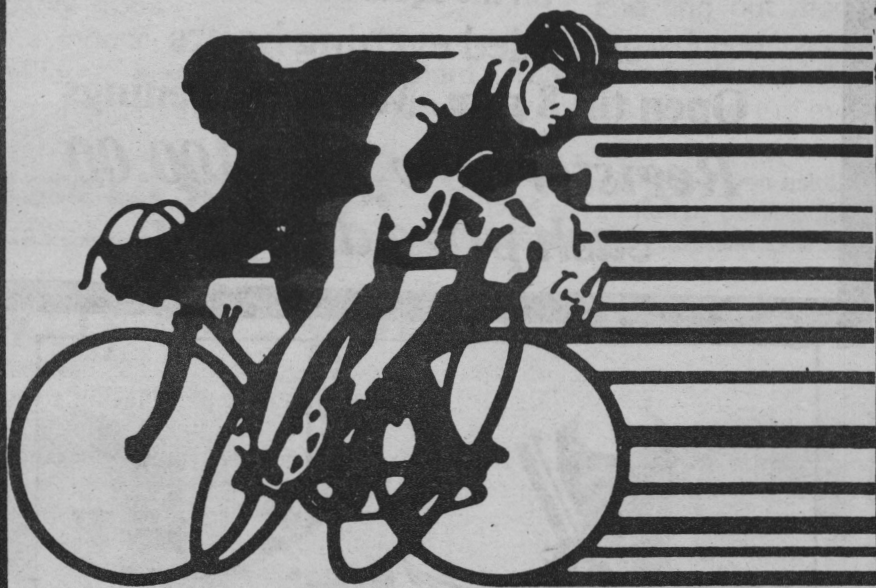

Considering the cabin is only eight miles from Charleston, a visit to the park is a short distance from the present into the past.

•Lincoln Log Cabin State Historical Site—Lincoln Log Cabin is administered by the Illinois Department of Conservation, Division of Historic Sites. It is open 8:30 a.m. to dusk all year, and the Lincoln cabin is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. all year except Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years.

Annual special events featured this summer include visiting itinerant tailor (July 4th weekend), blue grass festival (Aug. 12) and militia muster (Sept. 7).

CONFERENCE GUIDE

Thursday June 21, 1984

A weekly supplement of The Summer Eastern News and the Housing Office

Roundball skills for men, women offered at camps

by Matthew Krasnowski

Three groups of students will be instructed in basketball skills on Eastern's campus in the next few days.

One men's, one women's and one co-ed basketball camp will take place starting with the men's Fundamental Basketball camp, which is already on campus, Steve Yount, assistant basketball coach, said.

The camp will teach grade school and junior high school students basic skills of basketball, Yount said.

The students will run through drills and game strategies, he added.

Yount and Eastern Men's Basketball Coach Rick Samuels will instruct the students.

The co-ed basketball, Inside Players, workshop is a truly quite a different camp that is growing in popularity, Yount said.

The workshop's purpose is to show high school-aged basketball players how to build up agility and strength, Yount said.

Deanna D'Abbraccio, assistant basketball coach, said Inside Players instructs students in post play, basic moves to the basket and offense and defense tips.

D'Abbraccio added that Inside Players, "may be the first co-ed basketball camp in the state."

Though, there are only thirty students in Inside Players, Yount said, the workshop is increasing in popularity. "Other coaches that have heard of the camp think it is a good idea."

The women's Fundamental Basketball camp, consisting of 10 to 15-year-old students will begin Sunday.

The students will receive individual attention and learn basic basketball skills, D'Abbraccio said.

There will be much competition at this camp, D'Abbraccio said.

"They divide into teams and have play-offs," she added. "There are free throw contests and an all-star game, also."

D'Abbraccio said she and Eastern Women's Basketball Coach Bobbie Hilke will instruct the students.

The men's camp will stay at Lawson Hall until Friday, the Inside Players will stay in Lawson until Saturday and the women's camp will stay at Taylor Hall until June 28.

Universal Cheerleaders bring spirit to Eastern

Plenty of cheering will be going on at Eastern with the Universal Cheerleaders conference on campus.

Two-hundred and fifty cheerleaders and 150 dancers will take part in the camp, which runs from until June 21, Greg Webb, vice president of Universal Cheerleaders, said.

During the cheerleaders stay at Eastern they will practice and attend sessions on new cheers, dance routines, sideline chants, working with bands, and traditional cheer routines, Webb said.

At the end of the sessions awards will be distributed to those who excel in cheerleading, dancing and other areas, Webb added.

Most of the cheerleaders who attend the camp are with cheerleading troops at their high school, Webb added.

Universal Cheerleaders, based in Memphis, Tenn., is a nation-wide camp and will instruct over 40,000 cheer leaders this summer, Webb said.

But the conference at Eastern will only have cheerleaders from the Midwest, he added. Most of the cheerleaders are from Illinois; others are from Indiana and Kentucky.

The Universal Cheerleaders will be staying in Taylor Hall until Thursday.

Two journalism workshops offer paper advising and production skills

Two journalism conferences, one for advisers and another for students, will be conducted at Eastern this week.

The advisers arrive on Friday and will take sessions on how to improve their advising skills. Peter Voelz, Eastern journalism instructor and director of the Eastern Illinois High School Press Association's said.

Twenty-five students will arrive Sunday to take part in workshops on news paper skills, Voelz said.

The students will attend sessions on basic news writing skills, feature writing, sports writing, editorial writing, graphics, headline writing and ethics Sunday, Voelz said.

The students will then produce a newspaper that will summarize the week-long workshop, Voelz said.

The advisers will instruct the students in the sessions and will advise them as they produce the newspaper, he added.

The students that attend the newspaper workshop are usually the top editors at high school newspaper, Voelz said. "They come here to improve the quality of their papers."

The director of the newspaper workshops is Brother Bob Murphy, who is an instructor and newspaper adviser at Mt. Carmel High School in Chicago, he said.

Murphy has taught at workshops at many high school workshops and "is one of the top in the country," Voelz added.

Workshops take speech to the public

by Matthew Krasnowski

The Twelfth Annual Speech-Communications workshop will aid students in four separate sections, Eastern speech-communications instructor Terry Perkins said.

The four areas—theater, oral interpretation, mass media, and public speaking—will be presented in the workshops, Perkins said.

For the theater workshops students will be act out scenes in three person groups. "It is a introductions to acting," Perkins said.

In the oral interpretation workshops, students publicly perform prose and poetry, he said. The students try to read with "feelings consistent with the authors' intentions."

In the mass media workshops, students gain hands-on experience by working in television and radio production, Perkins said.

The students create scripts, direct and work in other areas of production while utilizing Eastern's Radio/TV Center, Perkins said.

The public speaking workshop teaches basic speech skills such as how to inform or persuade an audience, Perkins said.

The students who take these workshops come from all over Illinois, Perkins said.

Some of the students that come to the workshops are in thespian groups, others are involved in extracurricular speech and some are just interested in speech skills, he said.

The conferees will be staying in Lawson Hall and the workshop will continue until June 29.

Welcome parents, students to-be...

Future Eastern students and their parents visit Eastern's campus almost every day of the summer to take part in the New Student Orientation program.

Mary Smith, assistant director of housing, said nearly 1,500 future students and their parents will tour the campus as part of E.I.U. Debut 1984.

During this program both students and parents are introduced to all different aspects of Eastern's campus and students can pre-register for classes, Smith said.

The program begins in the as soon as the parents and students arrive in the afternoon.

First, students majoring in business, industrial technology, pre-engineering, chemistry, physics or mathematics may report to Phipps Lecture Hall (Science Building) by 3:30 p.m. for the required placement examination. The placement exam will be offered during the morning of the second day for those who could not arrive in the afternoon.

After dinner, a panel program will be offered, Smith said. In this program, titled "A Student View of E.I.U.," Eastern students will answer questions that the future students and parents have about life on campus and in Charleston.

At 7:45 an optional campus tour will be offered and access to free bowling lanes and billiards tables will be offered.

The next day, pre-registration activities will take place for students. Within this an adviser appointment is scheduled. Participation for students in this is mandatory and it is recommended for parents.

Smith said the program begins at 8 p.m. in Pickles (the basement of the University Union addition).

From there students will meet with advisers, register for classes and take tests that will aid in course placement.

At registration, photos will be taken for student I.D. cards.

Speech and hearing tests will be required during the afternoon, also.

After lunch, future students and their parents can tour the campus, or search for off-campus housing in Charleston, Smith said.

For those who want to see what living in one of Eastern's residence halls is like, a tour of a residence hall will be offered at 1:30 p.m., she added.

There is a greeting area in the University Union addition lobby for those who want to relax while their others tour the campus and town.

The orientation program has been popular, Smith said. "People leave with a fairly positive impression of Eastern."

"We want to show them that Eastern is a caring school and that we care about the students here," she added.

...tips to make your stay pleasant

Check-In All guests may check in and obtain their room key and linen at the main desk located in the lobby of the residence hall which you are assigned. Generally, most rooms will be ready after 1 p.m. on the specified day of arrival.

Check-Out Noon Due to the great demand for residence hall accommodations during the summer months we ask that you please plan to check out of your rooms by noon. We rotate our rooms throughout the summer and the noon check-out time allows our cleaning staff enough time to clean the rooms before our next guests arrive. If you have a conflict with scheduling, please consult the Hall Counselor at the main desk.

Meal Tickets If you have pre-ordered meal tickets through the mail or via telephone, they should be in the envelope with your key. If you have not purchased tickets and now would like to do so, they are available at the main desk.

If you want to purchase breakfast tickets, it will be necessary for you to purchase them on your arrival night, because the main desk will not open until 8:30 a.m. Breakfast is scheduled before 8 a.m. because the first pre-enrollment meeting begins at 8 a.m.

Also, lunch tickets need to be purchased before noon of the pre-enrollment day because the desk closes between noon and 1 p.m.

Meal Ticket Refunds If you have ordered tickets and are unable to use them, please leave them at the desk and your money will be refunded at a later date via Eastern Illinois University check. It is not possible to refund cash. Please make sure your correct name/address is attached to the tickets which you want refunded.

Room Refunds If for some reason you do not use as any room reservations as you previously requested, please inform the Hall Counselor. Again, it is not possible to refund cash.

Linens/Keys When checking out of the residence hall (noon), please bring your dirty linen and key to the check-out area and have an Eastern Summer Staff member check your linen ad key in so that additional charges will not have to be assessed.

Questions? Please feel free to consult one of our Summer Staff persons.

Linens and things

- Each room will be furnished with one pillow per bed unless notified differently by the Linen Coordinator.
- Each room will be furnished with one bed pad per bed.
- Each person, upon checking into the residence hall will be required to fill out the "Linen Check-Out/Return" card.
- Each person will be required to complete "Return Side of Linen Card" when returning dirty linens to desk at completion of camp.
- Each person will be assessed for missing linens at the cost of:

Sheets	$4.50 each

Want to know more about Eastern? Admission information is available

Conferees who are interested in attending Eastern Illinois University should contact Eastern's Office of Admissions.

John Beacon, director of admissions, said that potential future students can receive admission information and applications for entry into Eastern by contacting the Office of Admissions.

When one receives an application it is best to wait until the early fall of a students' senior year in high school to apply, Beacon advised.

There is no fee for applying and applications are processed immediately after they are received, Beacon said.

Applicants will receive a notice from the Office of Admissions in two weeks, he added.

Guaranteed admission into Eastern does not mean that on-campus housing is guaranteed, Beacon said.

He advised students to apply for housing before applying for admission.

To be eligible for entry into Eastern some academic requirements must be met.

To be admitted to the Eastern candidates must:

- Fall Semester—
- rank in the upper half of their high

- school class based on six or more semesters,
- or achieve an ACT composite score of 19 (SAT of 820).

Spring Semester or Summer Terms—

- rank in the upper two-thirds of their high school class based on six or more semesters,
- or achieve an ACT composite score of 17 (SAT 760).

Beacon noted that beginning freshman who could not meet regular admission requirements have the chance of entering Eastern through the Prescriptive Curriculum Admissions Program.

The PCAP is not remedial or conditional—it includes only regularly offered University courses—and the number of students accepted into the program is limited by available resources.

Summer Senate plans election

by Matthew Krasnowski

Electing a Summer Student Senate Speaker and approving spring senate appointees will be the first tasks of the senate at their first meeting Monday.

The meeting will consist of senators and executive officers who are attending Eastern this summer and Fall Senate Speaker Ron Wesel, Student Body President Joe Butler said.

Wesel will oversee the election of the speaker, Butler added.

Senators Ed Blakemore and Cindy Keller are both vying for the position.

Blakemore said he hopes to prepare groundwork for a variety of programs for the senate in the fall that include a voter registration drive and establishing a testing center.

Keller said that if elected she will try to prepare programs for the fall senate that will increase the accessibility and performance of the senate to students.

The Summer Senate can not vote on programs, but rather research programs for the fall senate.

Also on the agenda will be the approval of the three appointed members of the Council on Academic Affairs, Butler said.

Blakemore, Senator Tammy Walker and former Senator Leslie Garrigan were appointed by the spring senate in the spring pending presidential approval.

The meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday. The location has not yet been announced.

Items sold in the Union Bookstore could be sold at other shops in the Union, Clark said.

He added that the bill originated from a lobbying movement of the Illinois Retailers Association.

Problems with university-owned and leased stores at the University of Illinois Champaign-Urbana and Illinois State University aided in this movement, Clark said.

Clark noted that the Union does not receive funds received from the government or student fees. "The Union supports itself. We do not receive any tax dollars."

He added that, eventually the Union would close if the stores closed.

Woodyard said that he expects Governor James Thompson to pass the revised bill in July or August.

"He would be looking at the numbers," Woodyard said, noting that only 71 votes are necessary to override a gubernatorial veto.

Lady panthers have poor showing at GCAC

Bobbi Holland
Eastern's sport teams did not fare well while competing this spring in the Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference, as the best showing that any team for the Panthers could muster was a fifth place finish by the women's basketball and softball units.
Meanwhile, the women tracksters have fallen to the depths of a disappointing seventh place finish in the conference. But one man's pleasure is another man's pain.
Case in point, during the '83 season the women's tennis team tallied a record tie for last place, in '84, the net moved up to an optimistic ninth place standing in the 10-team conference.

The women cagers finished their season with a respectable 10-7 record, .62 overall. Injuries and turnovers worked out any light that the cagers might have seen at the end of the conference championship tunnel.
Despite all of the Lady Panthers' troubles, they still managed to maintain a steady beam. All-Conference forward Toni Collins had an excellent season. Collins scored an averaged 13.9 points per game and led the team in rebounds and assists. "She did a great job for us", head coach Bobbi Hilke injuries and errors were not on the list of practical reasons for the softball team's rollercoaster season. The softballers and head coach Deanna D'Abbraccio were plagued by misfortune in what D'Abbraccio termed "a disappoint-

Waller resigns to accept job at other school

Bill Tucker and Dobie Holland
"I've taken another job" was the answer that former Eastern basketball assistant coach Tim Waller gave for resigning his position. Official word was announced Tuesday, Waller said.
Waller did not say where his new assistant coaching position would be. "I don't feel I'm in the position to say where I am going because this information will not be released until July 2, by the particular school I am going to."

But, Waller did say that the school he would be going to is a major university in the Midwest.

Panther head coach Rick Samuels had a positive response to Waller's resignation. "I respect Tim (Waller) and his decision to move on. He did a good job while he was here."

"I've enjoyed working here (at Eastern), Waller said, "My biggest regret at leaving centers around the fact that I won't be able to see people like Kevin Duckworth, Jon Collins and Paul Niedig reach their full potential." Now the burning question is who will replace Waller?

"Rico Ellis is a strong candidate, Samuels said, he knows the program well." But an announcement will not be made until mid-July. Applications are being accepted by the department until June 22, he added.

"It has been a good experience for me being able to work with a quality athletic department and a quality coaching staff here at Eastern," Waller said.

ting season."

"We lost a lot of one run-ball games. I felt we could have won. In that respect I felt the season was a disappointment," she added.

If it were not for the play of All-Conference seniors Mary Tiegs and Becky Jochim, the squad's tough season would have been even tougher, D'Abbraccio said.

D'Abbraccio also praised the performances of freshman Kathy Range, the 'walk on' third baseman, team batting leader Shelley Eddington with a .342 batting average, and sophomore Tammy Rettig, who led the team with 17 RBI's.

Eastern's women's track coach John Craft had to be sulking over the results of the GCAC meet. Once the dust had settled at the University of Northern Iowa's UNIdome, the trackers were bunched in the middle of the standings with a seventh place slot, far behind the repeat champs, Illinois State University.

"I wasn't too happy with the results (of the GCAC meet), but these things happen," Craft said. But Craft had to be happy about the year that All-Conference trackster Gail Stephens had.

Stephens set a GCAC indoor track record while running the 600-yard dash with a clocking of 1:21.6.

And the upstart performance of women netters certainly has coach Gail Richard looking forward to next season. The young squad will welcome the return of No. 2 singles player Heather Englands and No. 5 singles player Dawn Pavlik.

Panthers named AMCU champs for 1983-84

by Bill Tucker

Eastern was recently named the All-Sports Champion for the Association of Mid-Continent Universities for 1983-84.

Finishing behind the Panthers were Southwest Missouri State University and Northern Iowa University in a tie for second place.

The Panthers totaled 59 points in the scoring which involves the nine sports sponsored by the AMCU.

"I think it is a nice award," Panther basketball coach Rick Samuels said. "The conference is very competitive in all sports from top to bottom and it says something about our sports program that we could finish in the upper division in all sports."

"Winning this award speaks well of the Eastern tradition in athletics. I feel we might be able to win the award in future years," Samuels added.

Eastern's soccer team used a 23-6 record to post the only team title for the Panthers in the AMCU.

In recent seasons, the booters have featured stand out players such as All-Americans Agyeman Prempeh and Damien Kelly as well as top net minder Eric Hartman. But these booter greats have graduated.

And coach Schellas Hyndman made his move to greener pastures. Hyndman had accepted the coaching chores at Southern Methodist University back in January. Hyndman's record at Eastern was a brilliant 98-24-11.

Tarcisio Mosnia, an Eastern graduate, will be replacing Hyndman at the helm of the Panther soccer team.

The Panthers placed second to Northern Iowa in the AMCU outdoor track competition.

Eastern's tracksters were lead by sprinter great Claude Magee, who won both the 100 meter and 200 meter dashes at the AMCU meet.

Other individual conference track champions include Perry Edinger in the 3000 meter steeplechase, A.J. Lockett in the javelin and Roxy Wood in the pole vault.

Eastern's golf team used a fourth place finish by Brent Richardson and a fifth place finish by Dave Ransom to capture second place in the AMCU golf tournament.

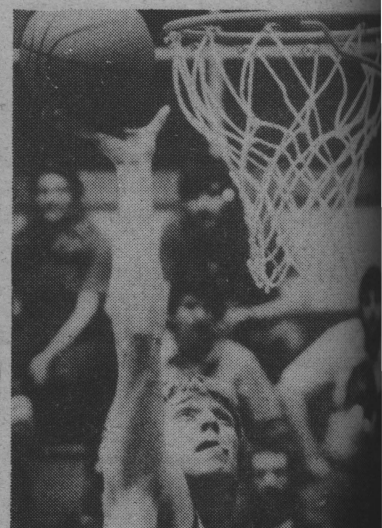

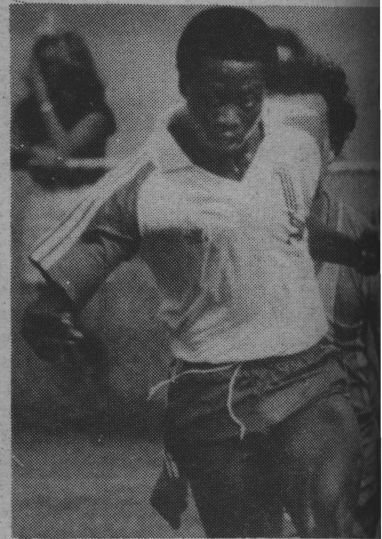

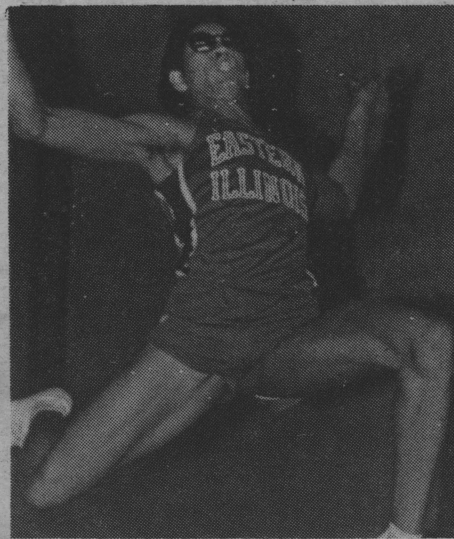

Meanwhile the Panthers' tennis team nabbed runner up honors in the AMCU tournament. Jay Johnson finished second in No. 1 singles while John Suter won the No. 4 singles title during head coach Carl Sexton's last season as the netter mentor.

Eastern also finished second in swimming and indoor track.

In addition, the Panthers placed third in baseball and fourth in both basketball and cross country in the AMCU.

Points were awarded in descending order with a first place finish being worth eight points and a last place finish being worth one point.

Editor's note: (Final AMCU all-sports standings are as follows: Eastern 59 points, Southwest Missouri and Northern Iowa 53 points each, Western Illinois 47, Illinois-Chicago 29½, Cleveland State 24, Wisconsin-Green Bay 18, and Valparaiso 14½).

Former gridder gets free agent nod from the NFL franchise; Jets camp

by Steve Binder

Although Dirk Androff admits his chances for making the New York Jets' squad are slim, the 6-7, 235-pound Eastern athlete isn't the least bit discouraged.

After all, when Androff picked up the phone last Wednesday and was invited to attend the Jets' summer camp as a free agent, it was like music to his ears—music that rang an ample opportunity for Androff to play in the National Football League.

"That's the only thing that really matters to me," Androff said from his hometown Decatur Wednesday. "I'm just excited that I have the chance to show them (Jets) what I have."

"Truthfully, I know my chances to make the team are slim. Anytime you try out, you're chances are slim, especially when it's your first time," he added.

The Jets organization has been keeping tabs on Androff through former Eastern offensive coordinator Mike Faulkner, who went New York-bound in 1982 and has served as a Jets' offensive assistant since then.

"We've (Androff and Faulkner) been keeping in touch for the last six months, and he's always said my chances for making the league were good. I don't know for a fact that Mike had anything to do with it, but I'm sure he pushed my name pretty heavy," Androff said.

Androff's best season was in 1981 when the tight end, who also plays the power forward position for Eastern's basketball unit, caught 38 passes for 472 yards. With the addition of a new offensive playbook and a new head coach, Androff saw limited action his final two seasons.

He is scheduled to report "somewhere in the New York area by July 13. They haven't told me where I'll need to go yet and they said they'll be sending me more information in the mail. I really don't know too much about the competition, either," he said.

"Last week, Mike said they had six or seven tight ends, so something must have happened since then. I know they drafted an excellent tight end in Chris Dennison from the University of Miami, but other than that, I really don't know too much about what else will be there," he continued.

"And I really don't care who else is there because I'm going to have to compete against myself. I don't start worrying about my competition, I'll just be myself nervous," he added.

Despite it being his first chance at playing professional ball, the Jets' tryout could bode well for Androff because of his size.

"I'm definitely one of the tallest tight ends. I've been looking up and down all of the rosters and the tight ends were averaging 6-6, 235 (pounds). So playing at my size will be a bonus for me," Androff said.

But if the tryout does not bode well for him, Androff said he would return to Eastern in the fall to use up his final year of basketball eligibility.

"Yeah, the best thing about this whole thing is that I have something to fall back on if this doesn't work out," Androff said. "Coach (Rick) Samuels has done a lot for me, and we talked things over and I told him that I would play next season if he didn't make it. I'm signed to a basketball scholarship, anyway."
