Walker gains financial post

by Julie Zook and Linda Wagner

Junior Tammy Walker was elected Eastern's Student Government financial vice president with a landslide victory in Monday's special election.

Walker, who was appointed acting financial vice president earlier this fall, received 324 votes in the election.

Becky Tichenor, elections co-chairman, said senior Grant Sterling received 81 votes, while 25 votes of the 437 total were declared invalid.

In addition, compared to last spring's special election for the financial vice president seat, this election's voter turnout took a drastic fall.

In the Feb. 8 special election, 775 students turned out to vote. This year's election was about a 56 percent drop from last spring's voter turnout.

Tichenor said she was "disappointed" with the voter turnout in the election. "I expected at least 1,000 voters," she said. "Some students were still unaware of the election. It would help if they would read the paper."

Walker said she was "really confident" about the election and noted that she was "ecstatic" because of the results.

Sterling said he was not surprised by Walker's victory, but noted that it was worth running against a "good, competent opponent, and I wanted a contested election after so many others had previously run unopposed."

Sterling was referring to last spring's general senate elections in which three of the four executive senate seats had single candidates vying for office.

Walker said she has big plans for her office, mainly orienting the recently appointed Apportionment Board members for next spring.

"I'm really confident about my term," she continued, saying her past temporary position was "kind of touchy, since I didn't know if any of my decisions would be permanent."

IBHE: Vote planned concerning whether freshmen entry rules will be stricter

by Mary Holland

The Illinois Board of Higher Education Tuesday will vote on a recommendation to strengthen freshmen admission standards.

The board is recommending that students seeking admission to Illinois universities complete a minimum of four years of high school English, three years of social studies, mathematics and social sciences, and two years of electives in foreign language, music and art.

These admissions standards are more stringent than the ones most state universities submitted last spring in response to the board's request that prospective college students complete specific subjects in high school.

In November 1983, the board asked each state public university to include in its admission requirements specific subjects that students should complete in high school.

However, at last month's meeting conducted at Eastern, the board indicated that admission standards submitted by the universities need to be even more stringent.

Under the set of admission standards that Eastern originally proposed, students seeking admission to Eastern would be required to take three years of high school English, and two years of high school mathematics, social studies and science.

The board is requesting that state universities consider its recommendations and report back to the board by July 1, 1985.

CAA chairman Ronald Wohlstein said the CAA will not discuss any changes in the admission standards that Eastern originally submitted until the board makes an official recommendation.

However, Wohlstein would not comment on the board's recommendation, other than saying it is a "more difficult" set of requirements.

Pat Wright, who was chairman of the CAA when Eastern's standards were proposed, said he favors the board's effort to make standards even more stringent.

But Wright said he has "reservations" about the board's attempt to quantify academic competency. "What really bothers me is the attempt to quantify academic requirements into X number of years," he said.

"Four years of high school English under some teachers will hardly make a dent," Wright said. However, he added that requiring specific high school subjects is better than no requirements at all.

"Quantification is not the ideal solution but it is certainly better than what we have now," Wright said.

Wright said he originally favored more stringent admission requirements than what Eastern originally proposed, "but there was too much opposition on the council."

Although Wright is no longer a council member, he said he would be willing "to speak his piece" at the council's invitation when they consider the board's recommendation.

At the September meeting of the IBHE, some board members expressed concern that some high schools will not have the resources to provide the required subjects, and the requirements may limit access to college to some high school students.

But a recent report issued by the board states that these concerns should "continue to be considered by the Board and institutions themselves as they consider the board's recommendations for minimal subject requirements."

Wright said he believes each school will come up with an "escape clause" for students who have deficiencies but show potential.

Because final implementation of the new requirements is not scheduled until 1990, Wright said, both students and high schools will have time to prepare themselves for the new requirements.

"I think most of the students who want to go to college will seek out the means to get those requirements," he said.

The IBHE will meet at 9 a.m. at the College of DuPage in Glen Ellyn.

Reagan, Mondale trade ideas

by the Associated Press

President Reagan charged Monday that his Democratic challenger has a "knee jerk addiction to tax increase," while Walter F. Mondale accused the Republican incumbent of offering a "parade of alibis" to explain the Sept. 20 bombing of the U.S. Embassy annex in Beirut.

With just five weeks to go until election day, the rhetoric intensified in advance of Sunday's presidential debate. Both Reagan and Mondale planned to spend most of the week preparing for their televised confrontation, the first of two planned before Nov. 6.

"I don't doubt that the president's for peace," Mondale told a rally in New Brunswick, N.J. "But he has not mastered what he must know to command his own government and to lead."

"When the president doesn't know what he must do, he can't command. It guarantees deadlock among his advisors. When a president is not vigorously involved, things just don't happen," he said.

"In Central America, there are no talks," Mondale said. "In the Middle East, there is no policy. In Lebanon, there was no protection. And on Earth, there is no arms control."

Reagan focused on the economy, ridiculing his opponent's plan to reduce the deficit.

Without referring to Mondale by name, Reagan said the policies that the Democrat "has supported all his political life" resulted in "an economic hangover that we must never-ever suffer through again."

"Some people have labored so long at making government bigger they've developed a knee-jerk addiction to tax increases," the president told the Economic Club of Detroit as he set out on a three-day campaign trip. "And every time their knee jerks, we get kicked."

U.S. labor secretary indicted

WASHINGTON—Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan was indicted Monday by a county grand jury in the Bronx, N.Y., in connection with his past business dealings as a construction executive. Donovan charged that the indictment was "not worth the paper it is written on" but said he was granted a leave of absence by President Reagan pending the outcome of the case.

A Reagan administration source, who spoke only on condition he not be identified, said the indictment concerned a subway project by Schiavone Construction Co., the firm Donovan formerly served as executive vice president.

Six officials of the Schiavone Construction Co. of Secaucus, N.J., were also named in the 137-count indictment, one source said. The source spoke on condition he not be identified.

Simon gets sizable showing in poll

CHICAGO—Democrat Paul Simon, challenging Republican Sen. Charles Percy's re-election bid, is making a respectable showing among conservatives despite Percy's attempt to portray Simon as an ultraliberal, a new poll indicates.

Released Monday by the Chicago Tribune, the telephone poll of 767 randomly selected Illinois residents indicates that among those likely to vote—703 of those surveyed—Simon, a congressman, was preferred by 42 percent and Percy by 40 percent, suggesting the race is a dead heat.

The newspaper said results for the total survey or for likely voters shouldn't differ more than five percentage points from results that would be obtained by interviewing all Illinois adults. Results for smaller subgroups within the total sample have larger error margins, the Tribune said.

The survey indicates that Percy, a three-term incumbent, is having trouble appealing to conservatives but is holding on to enough of his moderate voting base to make the contest close.

Judge delays inmate abuse case

MARION—A federal magistrate has delayed a hearing on allegations of inmate abuse at the nation's highest-security prison until he rules on a motion that seeks to disqualify him and another judge from the case.

Magistrate Kenneth Meyers indefinitely postponed the hearing at the U.S. Penitentiary at Marion while he considers the latest motion, Warden Jerry Williford said Monday.

Lawyers for several inmates at Marion asked Meyers last week to disqualify himself and U.S. district judge James Foreman from hearing the case. Meyers agreed late Friday to consider the request.

Nancy Horgan, a Carbondale attorney who is among the inmates' lawyers, said Monday:

"We think both ought to be off (the case). They've had a lot of contact with the Marion administration and, at times, assumed an administrative role rather than a judicial role."

She said the motion also contends Foreman has "joined in personal attacks against attorneys and shown a pronounced prejudice against prisoners."

No date was set for hearing the inmates' injunction petition, aimed at halting the alleged abuse, which originally had been scheduled Monday. Horgan said Meyers was expected to reschedule it soon.

High court upholds ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court on Monday let stand a ruling that former FBI officials did not violate the rights of a man killed in Chicago in the presence of an FBI informant who knew the murder was about to be committed.

The high court did not explain its decision in the lawsuit, filed by the victim's sister in the 12-year-old killing.

The informant, William O'Neal, had said he tried to telephone his FBI supervisor but was unsuccessful.

Furthermore, Justice Department lawyers said O'Neal's behavior was "consistent with his need to protect his identity."

O'Neal accompanied Stanley Robinson on May 17, 1972, as Robinson—then a Chicago police officer—searched for the victim, Jeff Beard.

Robinson, a hired killer carrying out a contract on Beard's life, later was sentenced to life in prison on federal charges of violating Beard's civil rights.

For years, Beard's sister, Eloise, has tried to obtain a court judgement that the FBI must share the blame for her brother's death and pay her damages.

The FBI did not supervise O'Neal properly, she contends, and had enough evidence against Robinson to arrest him before the killing.

In February, the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that "O'Neal did not have a constitutional duty to prevent Jeff Beard's murder."

"O'Neal's failure to take steps to protect Beard may be considered 'monstrous,' but such failure did not violate the constitution," the appeals court said.

Beard's "case is against Robinson, not O'Neal and the FBI officials," the appeals court added.

Named in the lawsuit were former Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray, Roy K. Moore, the agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office at the time, and others.

China displays nuclear arms

PEKING (AP)—China unveiled a homemade arsenal of nuclear and conventional weapons, including three-stage intercontinental ballistic missiles not shown in public here before, at a lavish national day parade Monday.

"It was a very impressive display of equipment," said a Western military observer. "It demonstrates a pretty good capacity in terms of standards of manufacturing."

Military attaches had their cameras whirring as ICBMs, an Exocet-type missile, an Israeli-like tank gun and new artillery filed through Tiananmen Square in a two-hour pageant celebrating the 35th anniversary of the People's Republic of China.

Normally, even invited military delegations fail to see China's weaponry.

Most impressive were the strategic missiles, including two squat submarine-launched missiles for China's first nuclear submarines.

Also on view were three medium-range CSS-2 ballistic missiles, 3 CSS-3 intermediate-range ballistic missiles, and 3 CSS-4 intercontinental ballistic missiles, painted red and white and towed in three stages.

With missiles able to hit targets up to 8,000 miles away, China, a nuclear power since 1964, counterweights the Soviet Union.

There were 24 armored columns, including 428 tanks, trucks, jeeps and other war vehicles carrying anti-tank guns, rocket launchers, mine-laying rockets, cannons, and missiles.

ISA speaks about goals for the year

by Denise Wilkey

The Illinois Student Association met for the first time this semester to discuss this year's goals.

Eastern's newly-elected ISA representative, junior David Cox, said ISA is similar to a corporation. It has a general assembly consisting of senators and representatives from schools across the state of Illinois.

Ten major university members and two junior college members were present at the first meeting.

Cox said ISA serves two main purposes in the education system. "We lobby educational interests to the general assembly so they can act upon those interests. We also share given information from the general assembly with the schools being represented."

"I think the meeting went well. It was more like an orientation this first time, but more business discussions will begin in October," Cox added.

ISA President Carlos Rodriguez said, "We discussed some good issues to start working towards. I think once people realize what ISA is and what it does for them, more students will want to get involved," he added. "Their input makes the difference."

Cox said he would like to get "students' opinions to be heard and let them know that I will listen. ISA is going to make much more of an effort to see that information concerning the students gets to them."

One of the major issues discussed during the groups first meeting was student voter registration drives, Cox said.

"Every major university has a voting drive just like we do here at Eastern," he noted.

"What we have noticed is an increasingly large number of student voters. I, as a representative, want ISA to be aware of the fact that students want to take part in the voting action," Cox said.

Rodriguez said other goals included establishing "more committees on campuses and getting more input on how people feel about ISA. We'd also like to get more secure funding for ISA."

In addition, ISA discussed full funding for Illinois State Scholarship Commission—funding for higher education through state contributions and tuition increases, he said.

"I wouldn't be surprised if there was a proposal for a tuition increase next spring," Rodriguez said.

Energy-saving program starts Thursday

by Kevin McDermott

Charleston residents and businesses will soon have the chance to learn how to lower their utility bills, with guidance from the federal government.

Representatives from the Community Energy Management Planning Assistance Program (CEMPA) will conduct a series of workshops in Charleston on ways to save energy.

The workshops are scheduled to begin Thursday and will continue throughout October.

CEMPA Manager Forrest Lupu said the workshops are funded by the U.S. Department of Energy and administered through the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources.

"It's really a community effort," Lupu said Monday. "We've gotten a good deal of cooperation from the city and the (Charleston Area) Chamber of Commerce."

Thursday's workshop, which will focus on ways for residents to make their home more energy-efficient, will be conducted at 7 p.m. in Council Chambers at City Hall.

As well as assisting homeowners, the workshops will also focus on energy-saving techniques for small businesses, churches and apartments.

Subsequent workshops will be held at locations such as E.L. Krackers Resturant, the Charleston Motor Inn and the First Christian Church.

Before Charleston, CEMPA has conducted a similar series of workshops in Peoria, Jacksonville and Evanston. Mattoon is next on the list, beginning in November.

Lupu said the 18-month state-wide program has a budget of about $40,000. The month of workshops in Charleston will take up about $6,000 of that, which, Lupu said, is a lower-than-average cost for the size of the city.

"We've gotten quite a bit of help from CIPS (Central Illinois Public Service Company) with posters and printing costs," Lupu said. "The city and its residents have been very helpful in providing locations for the workshops to be held."

Lupu added that Energy Management majors at Eastern are welcome to get involved in the program by contacting him through City Hall.

Roodhouse teacher's strike sends children home

By Associated Press

School buses in the North Greene district at Roodhouse in west-central Illinois turned around and took children back home Monday when teachers went on strike, increasing the number of strike-affected Illinois school districts to seven.

The walkouts kept about 16,860 pupils and 797 teachers out of school.

North Greene Superintendent Ed Butler said teachers went on strike after failure to agree on money issues and what the teachers consider non-professional duties.

The district has 1,360 pupils and 97 teachers.

Butler said the teachers turned down the school board's final offer, which would have amounted to a 4.6 percent average salary increase with $300 added to each step of the salary schedule. Base pay would have gone from $12,990 to $13,290. The maximum pay would have risen to $23,710.

The board's offer in additional pay totaled about $1.8 million.

New bus may keep students shuttling home

Although Greyhound Bus service has left north-bound Eastern students stranded in Charleston, Amtrak officials and Union Area Head Bill Clark are developing a train of thought that would keep students shuttling between school and home.

Three weeks ago, Greyhound canceled bus service to Chicago. This, in turn, has canceled the sale of tickets for students who are homeward bound.

However, Amtrak has pulled into the station with a golden chariot of an idea—a shuttle bus service between Charleston and the Mattoon Amtrak train station.

Currently, Clark and representatives of Amtrak are negotiating a contract that will provide students with a way to jump the train to Chicago.

As a matter of fact, the Board of Governors is now reviewing the feasibility of such a service.

With fall, Thanksgiving and winter breaks chugging along soon, these negotiations could not be taking place at a more opportune moment. And it would be advantageous for both Amtrak and students to see that the agreement is signed as soon as possible.

While a considerable proportion of Eastern students have family in Chicagoland and do not own the luxury of a car, these students may find comfort in knowing that Clark believes the service will be rolling "as soon as possible."

Sure, the Amtrak fare is not comparable to Greyhound's rates, but weighing the choice between staying in Charleston or venturing homeward bound will probably lure students to use Amtrak to reach their final destination.

As an additional boon, perhaps Greyhound could offer a list of available bus routes from major Amtrak lay overs for those students who are trying to travel to destinations east and west of the Chicago line.

Though Greyhound has missed the bus with Eastern students, Amtrak's noble efforts to accommodate travelers from here to there will steer students on the right track home.

Three reach quota

Editor:

In regard to the article concerning rushing activities in the Sept. 25 issue of The Daily Eastern News, we would like to inform the journalists who wrote the article and the campus that Alpha Sigma Tau was not the only sorority to reach a pledge class under quota.

Only three sororities on Eastern's campus accepted 41 pledges. Alpha Sigma Tau and three other sororities did not reach this number. However, which is more important? Quality or quantity? Our answer to this question is definitely quality.

In addition, it was printed that Charlotte Arnold is our rush chairman. Even though she was quoted in the article, her actual title is pledge director. We, as members of Alpha Sigma Tau, would appreciate it if the newspaper would use the correct titles of our officers.

This Cub's for you

Editor:

CUBS WIN! CUBS WIN! CUBS WIN!

The only thing better than reading these immortal words is to hear Harry Caray say them. It may have taken 39 years to do it, but it is done and Cub fans should rejoice. What makes this championship even better is that it drives Cardinal fans crazy.

I'm a die-hard Cub fan and like most of them, I hate the Cardinals. Any time the Cubs can make the Cardinals only second best is great. Whenever you talk to a Cardinal fan about the Cubs, they always start talking about "next year." It is finally gratifying to hear other teams talk about next year. I really don't care about next year because my dream has come true in 1984.

Whether the Cubs win or lose in the playoffs, I can always look back and say 1984, the year the Cubs won it and Harry Caray drove the Cardinal fans crazy.

So all you Cub fans out there, let's unite. Wear any and as much Cub memorabilia whenever you go out, especially to Ike's. Sing "Take Me Out To The Ballgame" and chant "Cubs Win!" I love it.

Oh, one more thing, in the immortal words of Harry (changed a little), "For all you Cardinal fans, this Cub's for you."

Ch-ch-chilliness c-c-causes changes

Regardless of whether changes are found in the weather, politics or lifestyles, people just don't seem to appreciate them these days.

Case in point. It's fall. That glorious season during which the leaves turn a variety of colors and the brisk autumn chill wakes students as they traverse the campus.

Quite a change after the summer's drip-dry heat, huh? And what a welcome change the new temperatures are—at least for some of us. Yet, some people on this campus don't want to accept the seasons' changing. They have clothed themselves in a summer shell, or lack thereof.

These people are still strolling the sidewalks in shorts. It's 40 degrees out there folks. Nobody wants to see the veins of somebody's legs working overtime pumping enough blood to heat their insides. Nor do most people enjoy getting shivers down their spines as someone with goose bumps brushes past them.

It would appear these shorts-clad individuals can't deal with reality. Mother Nature is making some changes. They still want it to be July. But the fact is, no matter how hard people try to live in the past season, change is here and we must either adapt or die. (See Charles Darwin's theory on survival of the fittest in most science texts.)

And modes of dressing are not the only indications that folks are mixed up by the change of seasons. All summer, people were sweating it out due to lack of cool air in certain buildings. Now that it's fall, and no one cares about air-conditioning, the library is finally getting a real air-conditioner. What logic.

Changes in temperature are not the only changes which we could witness prior to the winter. The presidential election could bring on some changes in the White House. But it probably won't.

What's the Point?

Diane Schneidman

According to the latest poll, our latest leader will win. The amazing thing is that most of Reagan's supporters respond to questions regarding their support with a most incredible answer, "Well, things have been okay so far. Why change now?"

How do these people know things wouldn't improve with change? Reagan's commercials telling the public to "stay the course" must have been pretty effective.

Weather and political phenomenon are not the only possible changes which students may notice during the fall semester.

Closer to campus, many people undergo lifestyle changes with each new semester. These seem to be the hardest changes to face.

Many people notice changes in the behavior of friends, eating habits, money management and the like. No one likes to go through these changes; however, they too, serve a function.

These changes make us stronger people and prepare us for more worldly advances in the future, like dealing with unemployment or living in gutters.

No matter how much we may try to hide from change, it will always be with us. "The only thing that is constant is change," some wise person once said.

Now go put some jeans on. It's cold out there.

—Diane Schneidman is a regular columnist and editor of The Verge, the weekly supplement of The Daily Eastern News.

Senate eyes interpretation of its roles

The Faculty Senate will hear an official interpretation of its role during Tuesday's meeting.

Senate Chairman Ken Sutton wrote the interpretation in response to requests by senate members that he provide a specific definition of the senate's role.

Sutton said the interpretation of the Faculty Senate Constitution will pay particular attention to the issue of collective bargaining.

In addition, the senate will discuss a proposal made by senate member Lewis Coon to the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

Coon has proposed an increase in the number of basic courses required for entrance to state-funded universities.

In other business, the senate plans look into problem areas associated with the Faculty Activity Analysis sheet.

The Faculty Senate is scheduled to meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Martinsville room.

Seminar set for students with first interview jitters

by Kerri Niemann

Most job applicants face first interview jitters. To help combat this, the Placement Center is conducting interview seminars to discuss the problem and offer advice on how to alleviate it.

Donald Schaefer, placement center assistant director, said the seminar will stress procedures students must go through before, during and after an interview to make a good impression on prospective employers.

Schaefer, who will be conducting the seminar, said a good portion of the seminar time will focus on questions employers generally ask applicants and the best answers interviewees can give.

In addition, he will discuss how students can get an interview at a chosen company and procedures to go through once the interview is obtained.

Company research will also be discussed at the seminar. Schaefer said it is important for students to know about the company before going into an interview situation.

Schaefer said all students are welcome to attend one of the sessions which will be presented at 10 a.m. Tuesday, 1 p.m. Wednesday and 4 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Martinsville Room.

City council to consider Homecoming resolution

The Charleston City Council will consider a resolution regarding Eastern's Homecoming Parade at the regular council meeting Tuesday.

Other items on the agenda include the discussion of a resolution adopting handicapped grievance procedures, and the approval of a bid for one ton trucks.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers.

Pollution of Lake Michigan topic of Supreme Court suit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court on Monday asked the Justice Department for its view in suits that contend Lake Michigan beaches have been polluted by sewage from Wisconsin and Indiana communities.

The suits were filed by Illinois and Michigan officials and a Chicago man.

The court wants to know the Reagan administration's opinion of a ruling that dismissed federal suits seeking at least $1 million in damage and a stop to the alleged pollution.

After hearing from the Justice Department, the court will decide whether to review those rulings.

On March 27, the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that such suits against communities in one state could not be brought in federal courts located in other states.

The appeals court said, however, that nothing would stop the victims of pollution in one state from suing the alleged offenders in the offenders' home state.

In its ruling, the appellate court said: "For a number of different states to have independent...authority over a single discharge would lead to chaotic confrontation between sovereign states. (A) state claiming injury cannot apply its own state law to out-of-state discharges."

The appeals court threw out two similar cases.

In one, Michigan and Illinois officials charged Milwaukee and other Wisconsin cities with creating a public nuisance by dumping insufficiently treated sewage into Lake Michigan and infecting drinking water.

Anne Frank rehearsals going well

Jack Smith

The theatre arts department's Homecoming production, "The Diary of Anne Frank," is progressing well, Director C.P. Blanchette said Monday.

"I feel it is coming along well, but one doesn't really know until after opening night," Blanchette said.

The play, which is about a 13-year-old Jewish girl, was adapted by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett from the girl's actual diary.

The play tells how Anne Frank hid in a narrow Amsterdam attic from the Gestapo during World War II.

Blanchette said he is enthusiastic about the cast he is working with because it is beginning to work well together.

Leading characters in the production include junior Christine Tressel, Anne; senior Dean Leitzen, Anne's father; sophomore Da Niel Cunningham, Anne's mother; and senior Diana Hopkins, Anne's sister.

In addition, sophomore Andy Biel will portray, Peter, the young man Anne falls in love with.

Seniors Joe Jahraus and Karla Williams will portray the two courageous Hollanders who shield the refugees and help feed them.

Also, Blanchette is in charge of the set design, as well as directing. Nancy Pauley is supervising costume design, Ann Cooob is in charge of lighting, and Lisa Blaylock is in charge of "props".

The play opens Oct. 12 and runs through the 16th. All performances are at 8 p.m., except for the Oct. 14 show which will be presented at 2 p.m. All performances will be at the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

Tickets are $3 for adults, $2.50 for senior citizens and children, and $2 for students. Reservations and ticket information can be obtained by phoning 581-3110.

IN 1960, THE PILL GAVE WOMEN A NEW FREEDOM. IN 1984, THE SPONGE GIVES WOMEN A NEW CHOICE.

It's been a long time. Twenty-four years, and there hasn't been a sensible new option in birth control.

Until Today.™ Today, the 24-hour Contraceptive Sponge.

Today is a soft, comfortable sponge that contains Nonoxynol-9, the same effective spermicide women have been using for over 20 years.

The Sponge is easy to use. You just moisten it thoroughly with water and insert it like a tampon, and it works for a full 24 hours.

Best of all, The Sponge is safe. (You don't have to worry about hormonal side effects.) And no other non-prescription vaginal contraceptive has been proven more effective.* It's been through seven years of extensive testing, and over 17 million Sponges have been sold.

Of course, you don't need a prescription for The Sponge. It can be found at your local drug store and at selected supermarkets. In the 3-pack or convenient 12-pack.

And the Today Sponge is the only contraceptive that comes with someone to talk to: our 24-hour Today TalkLine. If you have any questions, or you're just wondering if The Sponge is right for you, visit your student health center or give us a call at 800-223-2329. (In California, 800-222-2329.)

Finally, you have the spontaneity you want and the protection you need. But, best of all, you have another choice you never had before.

Until Today.

CJHS instructor reinstated after board confrontation

by Tom Parisi and Kevin McDermott

In a precedence-setting decision, an arbitrator has ordered the Charleston School Board to rehire a first-year teacher following his dismissal last Spring.

Harvey A. Nathan, a Chicago arbitrator, has ordered the Coles County Board of Education to reinstate Jeff Compton, a 1981 Eastern graduate, to his former teaching job at Charleston Junior High School effective the beginning of the 1984-85 school year.

Nathan's decision, which is binding, was issued Sept. 22.

Don Starwalt, chairman of the Charleston Education Association grievance committee, said the decision marks the first time in Illinois history that a school board has been forced to reinstate a first-year teacher.

Starwalt said the school board unanimously voted not to renew Compton's contract March 21, after board members Gene Scholes and Lynne Padovan brought complaints about Compton to school principal John

“My first concern is the youngster in the classroom, and based on my firsthand observations, I thought we could put a better teacher in that position.”

—Gene Scholes
school board member

Dively.

Following his dismissal, Compton petitioned the CEA grievance committee, which brought the matter to arbitration.

According to written accounts of the hearing which followed, Scholes testified that he went to an open house meeting in September of 1983 because his daughter had complained that Compton used incorrect grammar in class.

Another parent at the open house meeting testified that Scholes fired detailed questions at Compton concerning the curriculum and grading system. In response to that testimony, Scholes said that he “might have been badgering” Compton.

In the statement, Nathan said the school board had argued that under the school code, it had exclusive power to fire non-tenured teachers without having to give a reason. The board believed an arbitrator would have no jurisdiction in such a grievance.

This theory has been “the state of law in Illinois for many years,” Nathan wrote. “Having been frustrated by the courts, teacher unions turned to the state legislature and in 1981 were successful in lobbying for a change.”

Nathan said a subsection of the school code was altered, allowing school boards to enter into agreements to resolve disputes and grievances by binding arbitration.

Nathan wrote that this provision “implied that the legislature sought to overturn the line of cases that nullified arbitration awards involving teacher disputes. I find that the grievance before me is arbitrable.”

In arbitration, Nathan ruled that the Coles County Board of Education had violated the terms of the of the Professional Negotiations Agreement when it refused to renew the teaching contract of Compton.

As a result, the board was ordered to reinstate Compton immediately and pay him all salary and fringe benefits which he had missed, plus nine percent interest on the earnings.

Scholes said that he was surprised and disappointed at the outcome of the arbitration.

“My first concern is the youngster in the classroom, and based on my firsthand observations, I thought we could put a better teacher in that position,” Scholes said.

Compton was unavailable for comment, but Starwalt said he may or may not take his job back. “He currently is working at another teaching job near Hinckley,” Starwalt said.

Panama Cruise ship overturns in Atlantic; 31 injured

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Panamanian cruise ship with 145 sleeping crew members aboard fell off a dry dock and crashed on its side into the water early Monday, briefly trapping about 50 people and injuring 31, authorities said.

The 50 people trapped inside the overturned vessel were rescued or got out on their own, said Coast Guard Petty Officer Tom Armstrong.

“Everybody is off the ship,” Armstrong said.

Spokesmen at three hospitals where the injured were taken said one man was in critical condition with head injuries, but the other 30 were treated mostly for cuts and bruises and released.

The accident occurred at about 3:48 a.m. at the Norfolk Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Don Haupt, director of paramedical rescue in Norfolk, said.

The 27-year-old ship, which had arrived in Norfolk for 10 days of routine maintenance, was supported by wooden blocks on a platform above the water when it tipped and fell on its starboard side, crashing into a wall, Bill Birkhead, a lawyer for the shipyard, said.

About 100 people were able to leave the ship immediately, but some 50 others were trapped for several minutes until they could climb to upper decks or were reached by rescuers, Haupt said.

It was not immediately apparent why the ship fell, and both the Coast Guard and company planned to investigate, officials said.

Birkhead said several shipyard employees were also working on the vessel when it fell, but all of those injured were crew members.

“I heard a little creaking noise, and I thought, ‘Oh God, the ship is going over,’” Sylvia Ventineglia, a purser who was sleeping in her berth when the accident occurred. Several items in the berth fell on top of her, and she suffered a cut foot, but she was able to climb of the ship, she said.

“I’m just glad I’m alive,” she said.

Williams hoping Padres to relieve commissioner

CHICAGO (AP)—San Diego Padres Manager Dick Williams has a plan he hopes will take some pressure off the commissioner's office.

"We're going to try to take the decision of what to do with that Sunday game here (during the World Series) out of the commissioner's hands," Williams said.

If the Cubs win the best-of-five National League Championship Series, beginning here Tuesday, the World Series will start in the American League to avoid weekday games in lightless Wrigley Field.

The three games on Friday, Saturday and Sunday would be played in Chicago with a 2:45 CDT start on Sunday, more than an hour later than the 1:25 CDT start of the playoff games.

If the Padres win, the World Series begins in San Diego and moves to the AL city over the weekend.

"We'll just out the weekend games in the American League, and we'll host the first two in San Diego," Williams said.

Pitching in the playoff opener will be right-hander Rick Sutcliffe, 16-1, for Chicago and righty Eric Show, 15-9, for San Diego. Game Two will be played here Wednesday, with Game

Three moving to San Diego Thursday night. If needed, Games Four and Five will be played in San Diego Saturday and Sunday.

"I just hope we can play these games in a short period of time," Williams said. "I'd hate to see a game lost on a flyball in right field late in the day."

The Cubs, who last won the NL pennant in 1945, and the Padres are the only two teams in the league that have not been to the playoffs since 1969, when the current division format was adopted.

Manager Jim Frey, in his first season with the club, guided the Cubs to the NL East title with a record of 96-65; the Padres won the West with a mark of 92-70. The two teams split the season series 6-6.

"Jim Frey and Dick Williams—that's a little different than Tom Lasorda and the Pope (Paul Owens)," Williams said, referring to the managers of last year's NL playoff teams, the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Philadelphia Phillies. "We're just glad the Cubs invited us."

It appeared the games, or at least the first few, would be played without regular league umpires, who were on strike.

Golfers place 6th at Illinois Intercollegiate

by Ken Dickson

The Eastern golf team, after two "average tournaments" Thursday and Friday, made a comeback Sunday and Monday to record its best team scores of the season at the Illinois Intercollegiate Tournament.

The busiest week in the team's schedule—which began Sept. 27 with the Kentucky Wesleyan Invitational, continued Friday at the Indiana State-Evansville Tournament and ended Sunday and Monday at Bloomington—was completed somewhat successfully.

In the three tournaments, Eastern took a second place out of eight teams at Kentucky, an eighth out of 12 teams at Indiana and a sixth out of 10 universities at Bloomington.

"We just played average tournaments Thursday and Friday," golf coach Kevin Anglin said Monday night. "But, we played a lot better at Bloomington. I was very happy with the scores."

"There were a couple teams like Western (Illinois) and ISU (Illinois State) that we beat last year in the intercollegiate tournament, and lost to over the weekend, but they've improved this year."

"I'm real confident going into the conference tournament this weekend," he said.

"This is such a mental sport," Anglin continued. "It's important for us to be on the upswing going into the conference tournament."

The seven-team conference tournament will be held Friday and Saturday at Cog Hill Country Club in Lemont.

Included in the tournament will be Western Illinois—which finished ahead of Eastern at the Illinois Intercollegiate—Northern Iowa, Southwest Missouri State, Cleveland State, Wisconsin-Green Bay and Valparaiso.

Western Illinois, which returns three of its five golfers from last year, has won the conference tournament for the past five seasons. Included in the returnees are last year's No. 1 and No. 2 finishers Mike McNeil and Tom Roegner.

• At the Illinois Intercollegiate Tournament, junior Brent Richardson shot a 80-72-74 226 to lead the Eastern team. Brent Herrin's 78-74-76 228 and Dave Ransom's 74-75-78 227 were close behind. Clay Snyder and Joe Fremgen rounded out the Panther's field with 234 and 247, respectively.

For the 54-hole tournament, which Northwestern University ran away with, the Panthers shot 307-301-307 for a team total 915 strokes. The tournament hosted all the major state universities and several smaller universities in Illinois. Four colleges competed separately but simultaneously in their own tournament.

• At Kentucky Wesleyan, Eastern placed second behind St. Joseph's College from Indianapolis, Ind. St. Joseph's won by 10 strokes, 312 to 302.

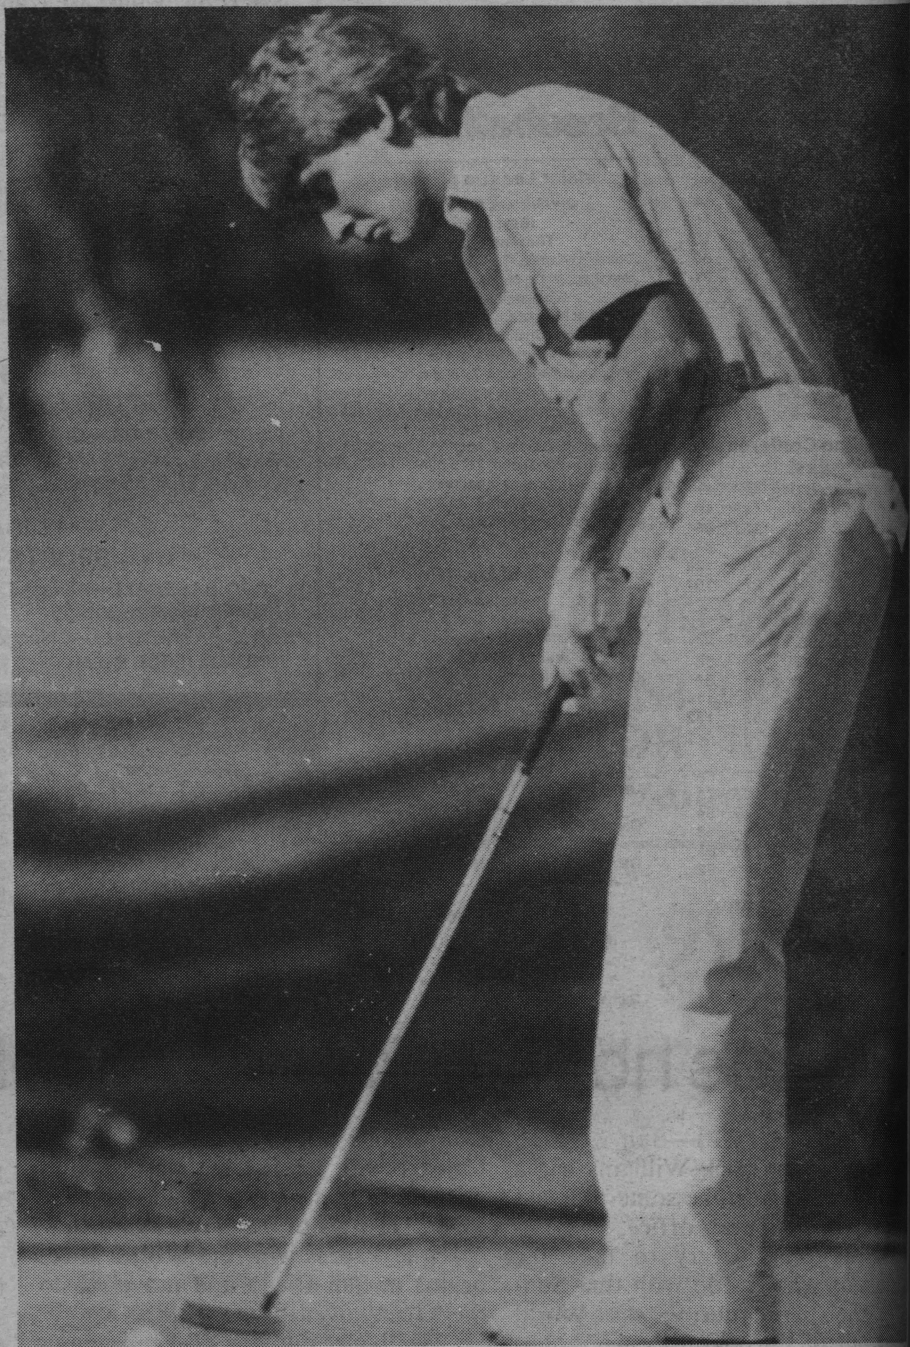

Richardson tied for second place, but lost in a playoff to St. Joseph's Pat Dayley. Doug Tennant from Kentucky Wesleyan took medalist honors with a one-over-par 73.

Rounding out Eastern's scores—Ransom had a 77, Todd Lindsey an 80 and Jay Lavick and Brent Herrin 81's.

Friday at Indiana, Eastern took eighth and Anglin said the team just had "one of those days."

"There was some better competition at Evansville," Anglin said. "And our top players just didn't play very well."

Herrin led the Panthers with a 77, while Ransom and Lindsey had 79's and Lavick an 81. Richardson described his score as "the worst I've shot in competitive golf." He finished with an 83.

Major league baseball's game of musical chairs involving managers continued Monday with Joe Torre getting fired by the Atlanta Braves.

Torre, 44, is likely to bounce back as manager with the San Francisco Giants and the Montreal Expos among the possibilities. The Boston Red Sox also seeking a new manager to replace Ralph Houk, who retired last week, and the New York Yankees have hedged whether Yogi Berra will return.

Danny Ozark, who replaced Giants' manager Frank Robinson in midseason on an interim basis, is retiring. Jim Fanning is expected to return to the Montreal front office after taking over as interim manager for Bill Virdon earlier this season.

On Sunday, Paul Owens moved back upstairs with the Philadelphia Phillies as a special assistant to club president Bill Giles to make way for new manager John Felske. The Phillies, last year's National League pennant winners, finished fourth in the NL East this season.

The prime managerial candidate for the Red Sox and Yankee jobs appear to be Earl Weaver, the successful former Baltimore Orioles' manager who retired two years ago and has been working as a baseball commentator for ABC-TV.

But Weaver said last week he wasn't sure what he wanted to do.

"I'm waiting to see about my contract with ABC," he said.

The Red Sox reportedly also are interested in John McNamara, who may be on his way out as California Angels' manager. Bobby Valentine, New York Mets' coach, also has been mentioned as a Red Sox possibility.

George Bamberger was named to manage the Milwaukee Brewers last week, replacing Rene Lachemann. The Brewers finished last in the AL East with a 67-94 record.

No successor was named to replace Torre, who had guided the Braves to their most successful three-year run since they moved from Milwaukee in 1966. The Braves finished second in the National League West this season with an 80-82 record.

Torre has two years remaining on his contract worth an estimated $425,000.

Eddie Haas, who finished the season as one of Torre's coaches, is expected to be named the new Atlanta skipper. He has never managed in the big leagues but was the front-office choice for the post when owner Ted Turner selected Torre after the 1981 season. Torre previously managed the Mets for five seasons as manager.

"He has offered to have me stay on in the organization and he wants to talk about that," Torre said of Turner, "but I'm going to wait until after the World Series. There's no immediate need for me to find employment."

Spikers defeat Arkansas State for 11th victory

Eastern downed Arkansas State three-sets-to-one in volleyball action Monday night in Jonesboro, Ark.

The Panthers, who won 16-14, 15-10, 10-15 and 15-11, improved their record to 10-9 on the season with the road victory.

"It was a good win for us this evening," coach Betty Ralston said. "Everybody got an opportunity to play."

Senior Donna Uhler played her most active game of the year by recording season-highs of 22 kills in 4 attempts.

Freshman Diane Eiserman and sophomore Maureen LeFevour added 13 and 12 kills, respectively, to the Panther cause.

Junior April Deer contributed 11 kills, 24 assists and 18 digs. Senior co-captain Gretchen Braker had eight kills, 36 assists and 22 digs.

"I'm pleased with the road trip, but we are anxious to get home," Ralston said.

The Panthers' next match is Friday and Saturday at the Loyola Lakeshore Classic in Chicago.
