Economics, education growth considered

By JULIE ZOOK
Government editor

SPRINGFIELD—Economic development and higher education must work together to achieve Illinois' long-term goals, a state official said Saturday.

Jim Reilly, chief of staff for Gov. Jim Thompson, said "economic development and higher education go hand-in-hand," and that we "cannot have economic progress in a state like Illinois without an educational base."

Reilly made his remarks during a luncheon address to a conference of the Illinois Federation of Teachers in Springfield Saturday, in conjunction with the University Professionals of Illinois and the Board of Regents.

Reilly spoke on behalf of Thompson, who was unable to attend because of meetings with state leaders designed to loosen the deadlocked legislature. Thompson has postponed a scheduled trip to Korea and Japan to bring foreign trade into the state until the legislature comes to an agreement on a proposed eight-cent tax on cigarettes and funding for Chicago's McCormick Place.

The cigarette tax, if approved by the legislature, would benefit Illinois higher education.

Reilly told the group that the recently-implemented Illinois Better Schools Program is a direct link to the economic development sought with the much-debated Build Illinois plan.

"The key to the program is partnership," Reilly said.

Educators, Reilly said, need to "accept the challenge of educating Illinois and there's no question we'll be able to build Illinois as we need to."

"If we provide the resources, we will be able to move forward to a really bright future," he added.

AFT President Albert Shanker said public universities need to build a stronger network with the corporate world.

"Institutions of higher learning have come to realize that private universities have done a great job of maintaining a relationship with the business world. Most public institutions have not," he said.

"Fortunately, public education is beginning to develop closer and closer relationships with the business community," Shanker added.

Shanker's remarks at the noon luncheon echoed sentiments expressed by several panelists at a morning session focusing on the role of higher education and the business connection.

The morning session, headed by Board of Governors Chancellor Thomas Layzell, focused on the roles of higher education and business in today's universities.

Panelist Ted Ivarie, Eastern's College of Business dean, said corporate support of universities and their facilities are "terribly important to all of us in education."

Signs of trouble in the future for universities and students

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Universities in general do a good job, but there are a number of "warning signals" of trouble ahead, a Michigan State University official said Saturday.

One of these signals includes statistics indicating only half of all entering college students obtain a bachelor's degree, Kenneth Mortimer, vice provost of Michigan State University, told more than 200 educators this weekend at the Illinois Federation of Teachers professional conference.

Also, Mortimer said during the conference's opening session, standardized test scores for college graduates have declined steadily since 1964 and college education is becoming increasingly specialized with fewer liberal arts students.

Mortimer urged educators to increase student involvement. "Students should be participants, not passive observers," he said.

Educators also should raise their expectations for students, Mortimer said, and student performance naturally will rise to meet those expectations.

Colleges need to assess their progress then make (See SIGNS, page 7)

Ivarie noted several advantages to corporate support.

- Scholarships.
- Training of students.
- Joint consultancies.

- In-residency programs.
- Academicians to serve on corporate boards.
- Corporate access to university resources.

In addition, panelist John Pembroke, vice chancellor for administrative affairs for the BOR, said the business linkages to universities were needed.

"Especially small firms can benefit because they tend not to have the resident expertise that reside in university communities," he said.

However, panelist James Ward, of the division of education at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, said there are inherent dangers in universities becoming too involved with the business community.

Ward noted there is usually a problem in maintaining a balance of functions of academics and faithfulness of values in education.

But, Ward said, although there are risks involved in becoming connected with the business community, the "probable risks are greater of not being involved."

But accusations of campus racism came during an afternoon session, where a black university president said there was still racism on state university campuses.

George Ayers, president of Chicago State University, told a mostly minority audience of about 20 people that "we still find racism on our campuses."

Ayers was one of five featured panelists at the discussion, which focused on minority concerns in the university community. The session was (See ECONOMICS, page 7)

Antifreeze-like chemicals found in bottles of Riunite

By JIM ALLEN
City editor

Riunite on ice might not be so nice. The disclosure last week that low levels of automobile antifreeze-like chemicals were found in bottles of Riunite wines had local businesses responding in various ways.

While some have totally removed the products from their shelves, others said they had only done so partially or not at all.

CNN television reported Friday that federal officials had found traces of ethylene glycol—a chemical used in car antifreeze—in Riunite bottles with four different lot numbers, all bottled in Italy, a local distributor said.

Bob McDowell, a wine salesman for Central Wholesale Liquors in Mt. Vernon, said Riunite's distributors, Banfi of New York, have yet to make a public statement on the wine problem. However, he said the levels of the chemical in the bottles were harmless.

"It's no big deal," he said, adding that one of his clients joked that they had merely moved the product into the automotive section of the store.

Chet June, spokesman for the Illinois Department of Public Health, said .008 grams of the chemical per liter of wine had been detected in the bottles and limited lot numbers were tainted.

June said Riunite's 750 milliliter Bianco, Lambrusco, and Rosato—all numbered 1124-RE on the right side of the labels—were among the lots called off the shelves. Also pulled were 1.5-liter bottles of Riunite Rosato, numbered 3321-BR, along with bottles of Spumanti, numbered 83-RE on the foil covering.

June said the chemical has been found in other wines, and he said it sometimes is an almost harmless—yet illegal—"trick" winemakers have used to sweeten the product.

June did not speculate on this case.

McDowell said he had received a letter from Riunite which said the mishap occurred at one of the winemaker's bottling plants and was limited to one plant in Italy.

Area stores responded in varying ways, some clerks saying they had heard "nothing like it had happened" and that there was "no problem."

But the offspring of parent company Jewel, Inc.—where memories of salmonella poisonings are still fresh—reacted differently.

Both Charleston's Osco, 566 W. Lincoln Ave., and White Hen, 200 E. Lincoln Ave., have stopped selling all Riunite products, clerks there said.

"I came in yesterday and was told not to sell any," said Osco clerk Mary Tapscott. "We're just not going to sell any of it until we know for sure."

Clerks contacted elsewhere said there was "no problem" and some said they were still selling the products with the exception of the bad stock which had been yanked from the shelves.

Teamster accused of fixing case

CHICAGO (AP)—Former Teamsters President Roy Williams told a presidential commission that current union chief Jackie Presser volunteered to fix a criminal case for him for $10,000, a published report said Sunday.

In a copyright story, the Chicago Tribune also reported that Williams told the President's Commission on Organized Crime on Sept. 13 that Presser offered him kickbacks to arrange a Teamsters loan to buy a Las Vegas casino.

Williams made his accusations in a 57-page secret sworn statement to the commission, a copy of which the Tribune said it had obtained. The statements were made at Williams' farm in Missouri, the paper said.

Presser was out of the country and could not be reached for comment, said Teamsters spokesman Duke Zeller.

Williams was forced to give up the union presidency after being convicted of bribery in 1982 and was succeeded by Presser.

Two dump sites face shutdown

CHICAGO (AP)—Two commercial hazardous waste dumps, one near Chicago and the other near St. Louis, may not make the grade by Friday's deadline for meeting new standards and could be shut down, say officials at the state environmental protection agency.

Under guidelines issued by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the dumps must close if the new standards are not met. The sites in question are among just four landfills in Illinois for toxic wastes generated by state industries.

The Browning Ferris landfill near Winthrop Harbor in Lake County may have trouble meeting the standards, said Kenneth Bechely, regional hazardous-waste director for the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

However, Browning Ferris spokesman Jack Lucott said the company expects to get federal certification for the 145-acre landfill that serves about 100 industries in Chicago.

Chicago remaps ward boundaries

CHICAGO (AP)—The boundaries of Chicago's political terrain are about to be redrawn, giving Mayor Harold Washington a shot at ending them city's "Council Wars" and consolidating his power before facing re-election in 1987.

U.S. District Judge Charles Norgle was expected on Monday to begin considering how the lines should be redrawn on a map of the city's 50 wards, with Washington supporters saying the outcome will change the face of Chicago politics for years to come.

"The grumbling already sounds like something from the old feudal system, where the stronger barons decide which of the weaker barons gets absorbed into which fiefdom," said Alderman Danny Davis, a Washington ally.

Washington, elected the city's first black mayor in 1983, has been outvoted and outmaneuvered in the council by a 29-member white majority bloc led by Alderman Edward R. Vrdolyak.

Rallies set to revive Soviet Jewry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans hoping the Reagan administration can negotiate a resumption of massive Jewish emigration from the Soviet Union are planning rallies in scores in the cities before the Geneva summit to keep the issue alive.

Another purpose of the public demonstrations is to convince Congress, which would have to approve any arms control agreement reached at the summit, that Americans might look dimly upon deals with Kremlin leaders unresponsive to human rights pleas.

Next week, the leading advocates of rights for Soviet Jews plan to publish a directory of events being held in the days before the Nov. 19-20 summit.

A preliminary list includes demonstrations and possible sit-ins at the Soviet Embassy in Washington, ceremonies led by Massachusetts

Gov. Michael Dukakis and marches in Chicago and Philadelphia.

Other major cities where events are planned are Miami; Dallas; Tucson, Ariz.; Los Angeles; Kansas City, Mo.; Baltimore; Tulsa, Okla.; and Atlanta.

"No stone will go unturned in demonstrating the importance of this issue to the American people," said William Keyserling, director of the Washington office of the National Conference on Soviet Jewry.

Keyserling said the group is seeking the establishment of a reliable system that would permit Soviet Jews to "get on airplanes" and leave the country according to international human rights agreements and past Soviet practices.

From a high of 51,320 departures in 1979, emigration declined to 896 in 1984.

Congress battles over budget plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress begins this week where it left off last week, stalemated over sharp differences between House and Senate versions of a plan to force a balanced federal budget by the end of the decade.

Separately, the Senate resumes work Monday on omnibus legislation setting farm policy while the House, after considering routine matters Monday and Tuesday, will begin work at midweek on legislation authorizing hundreds of new water projects.

Arguments over the budget proposals have delayed final action on legislation needed to raise the government's borrowing authority, the national debt limit, from the current $1.824 trillion to more than $2 trillion. The budget plans are being considered as an amendment to the debt legislation.

Congress's failure to raise the debt limit has forced the Treasury Department to, in effect, dip into the Social Security trust funds and other trust funds to keep the government solvent.

Both Houses of Congress have passed different versions of stopgap measures to ease the credit crunch until Wednesday and avoid the loss of interest to the trust funds.

However, the Treasury Department officials have said the move to shift money from the Social Security funds will provide enough money for the government to continue operating until Nov. 14.

The situation on the budget plan is that the Republican-led Senate passed a package that would set statutory ceilings on budget deficits beginning with $180 billion in the current fiscal year and decreasing by $36 billion a year until zero is reached in 1991.

Hussein urges better PLO image

WASHINGTON (AP)—Jordan's King Hussein, calling recent Middle East violence a terrible setback for the Palestine Liberation Organization, said Sunday he told PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat that the peace process is in danger unless we "put our act together."

Hussein said he was sticking by the PLO as the legitimate representative of the Palestinian people in proposed peace talks with Israel, but that he demanded steps by Arafat to improve his organization's image.

The two leaders met in Amman last week to discuss the latest cycle of violence that began in September with the killing of three Israelis in Cyprus, followed by an Israeli air attack on PLO headquarters and culminating in the hijacking of the cruise ship Achille Lauro by members of a PLO faction.

"I believe it was our mutual view that some of these actions represented terrible setbacks and if anyone suffered, the Palestinian image and the Palestinian dimension was adversely affected more than any," Hussein said on NBC's "Meet the Press."

"We have looked at where we stand right now and it's obvious to me and to him that we have to put our act together once and for all," Hussein said.

A major stumbling block in getting Israel to accept the PLO as a bargaining partner has been refusal of Arafat to recognize Israeli statehood.

Reagan submits new arms control ceiling to Soviets

HELSINKI, FINLAND(AP)—The United States has proposed a ceiling on American and Soviet strategic bombers and a freeze on nuclear missiles in Europe as part of a new arms control accord with Moscow, a senior U.S. official said Sunday.

Other key elements of the package now before Soviet negotiators in Geneva include a ceiling of 3,000 on long-range nuclear warheads and no limits on submarine-launched cruise missiles.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said there is "compromise" in President Reagan's proposal to overcome what he described as "hookers"—snares—in the plan Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev submitted five weeks ago.

For instance, the ceiling of 3,000 on intercontinental ballistic missile warheads is 500 higher than the initial U.S. position in the Geneva negotiations. It would allow the Soviets to retain more of their land-based missile arsenal, the heart of the Soviet missile strength.

Gorbachev called for a 3,600-warhead limit on strategic ground missiles, bombers and nuclear submarines.

The U.S. official said that if the Soviets accepted the American package deal, there would be no mobile Soviet strategic missiles or any new heavy intercontinental ballistic missiles added to the superpowers' arsenals.

This would presumably prompt the United States, in return, to scuttle the single-warhead Midget Man, which has stirred complaints by some members of Congress. The Soviet SS-24 missile and SS-25 mobile missile are more advanced than the Midget Man, which is still on the drawing board.

But the outlook for an early agreement appears dim. Secretary of State George P. Schultz, who is expected to discuss prospects for an accord during two days of talks in Moscow beginning Monday, told reporters the two sides remain "quite a distance apart."

The main stumbling block is a Soviet demand for a "total ban" on all arms in space. The senior official said Moscow's definition encompasses all U.S. attempts "to counter objects in space." It is aimed at stopping Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative, which envisages using futuristic technology in space to intercept and destroy attacking missiles.

After a rest stop here, Schultz leaves for Moscow Monday morning to discuss preparations for the Nov. 19-20 Reagan-Gorbachev summit meeting with Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze and Gorbachev.

Schultz made a courtesy call Sunday on President Mauno Koivisto and and Foreign Minister Paavo Vayrynen. Finland is neutral in East-West disputes.

The ceiling on heavy bombers proposed by Reagan is 350, the official said. They could carry up to 1,500 air-launched cruise missiles. By U.S. count, the Soviets now have 375 Backfires, Bisons and Bears. The U.S. has 263 B-52's.

Gorbachev's call for a total of 6,000 nuclear "charges" lumped bombers in with all kinds of nuclear weapons, from potent globe-girdling missiles to mines.

American and Soviet intermediate-range missiles in Europe, meanwhile, would be frozen at 140 under the U.S. proposal.

To require or not require? IBHE to consider standards

By MIKE BURKE
Staff writer

The Illinois Board of Higher Education will decide Tuesday whether or not to adopt controversial statewide college admission requirements.

The board, which is planning to meet at Governors State University, is proposing that high school students complete the following: four years of English, three years each of mathematics, social studies and natural science, and two years of fine arts or foreign language.

The IBHE is proposing that students complete these requirements in order to gain admission into an Illinois university or junior college.

Eastern's Council on Academic Affairs, as well as Edgar Schick, Eastern's vice president on academic affairs, have voiced their opposition to the proposed requirements.

Marsha Langsjoen, administrative assistant to IBHE Executive Director Richard Wagner, said the board had received "a lot of correspondence, both one way and the other," supporting and opposing the admission requirements.

CAA member Bob Barger, who wrote the first draft of a letter opposing the requirements that the CAA eventually sent to the IBHE, said there are several reasons not to support the requirements.

Some Illinois public school administrators said about 60 percent of the Illinois high schools would not be able to provide most of their students with all the courses needed to be admitted into college, Barger said.

"Theoretically, everybody should have an equal chance" to go to college, Barger said.

"We want to keep the doors open so that anyone can go to college," because in today's job market, a college diploma is often the minimum requirement for employment, much as a high school diploma was in the past, he added.

Also, with the proposed requirements, a student would have to decide by the ninth grade whether or not he was going to go to college. If the decision was made any later, the student would not have enough time to complete the requirements, Barger said.

If adopted, the requirements would allow for "provisional" admission for students.

Triad council to present Ford Aid

You've heard of LiveAid, BandAid and FarmAid, but now the Triad Hall Council is sponsoring Ford Aid which will begin at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union's Subway.

Ford Aid Musical Director Jeff Shurts said the free program is a variety show utilizing the collective talents of Triad residents.

The show is being presented "to benefit boredom facing college students," Shurts said. "I anticipate that the performers will do well, however, it's more important that everyone involved has a good time.

"We encourage the students to enjoy some free entertainment and the Subway's atmosphere," he said.

The show will feature bands ranging from heavy metal to top 40. In addition, comedy acts and individual performances will be presented.

Ford Hall President Grahame Wilkins said there will be a wide variety of acts that should appeal to everyone.

Wilkins added that Ford Aid will give students the chance to appear on stage.

During the Ford Aid show, Wilkins said the Subway will be serving sandwiches and mocktails.

Autonomy death should not happen with BOG change

Whether added power affects the relationship between newly named Board of Governors Chancellor Thomas Layzell and system presidents is worth paying attention to.

Layzell was appointed by the board after it approved a restructuring plan most university presidents opposed.

Editorial

Long fearing a loss in autonomy, presidents are faced with the possibility of just that. Now when problems arise, presidents go to former Executive Director Layzell, who in turn, reports to the board. Previously, presidents and the executive director reported to the board.

Presidents cannot "negotiate" on their own with local legislators, but must work through Layzell to get an agenda item before the board. It's called creating a "united" voice.

If Layzell would choose not to address a particular need, meaning the board would also not address it, a university president could be flat out of luck. That isn't the type of "unity" we want.

Proponents of the change believe that with a powerful spokesman, the system will have added clout in the eyes of the Illinois Board of Higher Education and the General Assembly.

Other state systems, such as the Board of Regents and the bodies governing the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois University, use similar set-ups with few apparent problems. But those systems would have clout with or without a chancellor because of the lobbying power bigger universities yield.

The disadvantage of size will always loom over the BOG so innovative approaches must sometimes be initiated. If the change works, then initiators deserve credit for foresight. But if presidents are denied free access with their universities' needs, as we fear, it will be a total blunder.

Getting more funding, which is what "clout" is all about, is a commendable but difficult venture. But let's not get caught up in searching for it and forget the system's main goal: to educate students.

Union, media don't promote culture

The University Union, radio station, and The Daily Eastern News all have one thing in common: They support almost universally, the popular arts only.

The state of mind in a university should be one of wholeness, for that is what the term university stands for, but it would appear that we are pouring a lot of time, expertise, and money into a monothematic monoversity.

At the Union, we see either sterile paint on the walls, hear popular music in the air, or witness meeting rooms that shout blandness of purpose. The music of the new radio station format sounds nothing of the music of the ages, only the most recent gut music.

The News provides nothing much of value that one can't find in any little town newspaper. This is not a little town, editor, this is a cultural goldmine of 10,000 educable minds.

Let's start with the Union. We immortalized the towns of Arcola, Tuscola, Mattoon and Charleston by naming meeting rooms after these little nowhere towns in the middle of Illinois. What's educational about that? I propose that we name them after intellectual giants, perhaps Leonardo Da Vinci and Beethoven, and Albert Einstein, and then appoint (decorate to you) the walls with reproductions of their works: drawings from Da Vinci, music from Beethoven, and writings of Einstein. To tie all this beautiful information together, paint a flowing mural on the walls in the halls to tell the story of mankind through history.

Also, to enhance the atmosphere of the Union, give the music listeners an option at the juke box. Now, there is no option: It's either rock and roll, or rock and roll. I propose installing 10 records with short fine arts music: waltzes, arias, gigues, and the like. Give students and faculty an option to the thump thump thump stuff . . . same argument for the radio station.

It's a newspaper's job to scrutinize

For the most concise, thorough definition of journalism, pick up the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and turn to page 2 of its opinion section.

You'll find in the page's upper right corner the words written by an elderly Joseph Pulitzer, a sensationalist albeit, but a man who is remembered as one of the profession's shaping influences.

I know my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

If you've made it this far, what the Post-Dispatch calls its platform sure makes for one hell of a long sentence. But beyond its structure, the passage pretty well sets a standard most newspapers fall short of reaching—this one included.

But for all of their shortcomings, the "rags" that make up America's print media often are scrutinized by critics, blind of what a newspaper's function is. A couple of items came across my desk recently that touched on what I mean.

The first was a memo that referred to a recent editorial cartoon suggesting few students were using the Union's non-alcoholic pub, the Subway.

The point of the memo, as I understood it, focused on one thing: There are a lot of hard-working people, namely employees and management, trying to make the Subway a success, and any negative comment might damage their efforts.

The memo had a point. The Subway, apparently well intended, should be given a chance by those who would make any decision involving the business's fate. What the memo missed, however, was that a newspaper's function, as Pulitzer pointed out, is to remain independent of government.

It's not the News' responsibility to be a cheerleader for the administration or student government. If the Subway or any other venture fails, it won't be a newspaper's fault.

Because of the student fees that support it, the Subway should be subject to scrutiny on the editorial page or through editorial coverage.

Both the right of opinion and an uncensored

Viewpoint:

Robert C. Snyder

The News should provide students with intellectual challenges. Each day, students write hundreds of papers at Eastern that are never shared in public. I propose that the News collect some of the best papers from the various schools on campus and publish them. How can students otherwise compare their own work with excellence if they never read excellence?

The publication of excellent student papers should extend also to faculty works. We have faculty who travel across the world to deliver papers, but have you ever seen one of those world famous papers published in the News? I haven't, and I've been here nearly 20 years.

What do you know of the fame of Eastern faculty? I know of faculty who've lectured to world famous intellectual leaders in Europe, faculty who've performed in New York's Carnegie Recital Hall, faculty who've studied with Nobel Peace Prize winners, but what interest does the News have in these remarkable success stories? None that I know of. I propose a regular feature that we might call BIOS in which aspiring newspaper reporters interview our quietly fabulous faculty and students.

Finally, I propose that we analyze our daily activities at Eastern to find out how many of our dollars and hours are spent in pure popular entertainment. There is a need for popular entertainment, but it should be funded by the consumer, and not the mind-centered institution which we call the university.

—Robert C. Snyder is an Eastern music professor.

News notes:

Dave McKinney

editorial package are guaranteed through the auspices of the First Amendment, a national treasure.

The second item was a little more lengthy: the column above by music instructor Robert Snyder. He contends that the News should focus on the merits of an intellectual environment. Unfortunately, I believe Snyder went to the extreme.

He says the newspaper should publish papers researched by students and faculty to provide an intellectual challenge for readers. His idea might work if our readers all held doctoral degrees.

Obviously the problem in approaching our readership with a "we're smarter than they are" attitude, is that we might lose some readers. Like it or not, that is a realistic concern all newspapers must deal with.

Most newspapers suggest that staff members write introductory paragraphs (leads) using less than 25 words so as to not overwhelm anyone. Instructors also suggest word limitations for sentences within a story's text.

The same holds true for story topics. If an issue isn't from the "popular" mainstream with which the public is familiar, what most readers will do is turn the page. To me, that is too big of a sacrifice to uphold an intellectual tradition.

When Snyder suggests that we do a piece called "BIOS," he doesn't have a bad idea. The story would be about a real-life issue, not some topic in a faculty paper that deals with an entirely alien topic. To pull off his feature story idea, though, it takes a staff which has regular contact with the campus and a campus with regular contact with the staff. We try to hold up our end of the arrangement. That's where the reader must come in.

Criticisms are beneficial to the News much like an instructor's evaluation is beneficial to a student. The staff, comprised entirely of students, learns from feedback—good or bad. And with feedback comes the assurance that there are readers.

—Dave McKinney is editor in chief of The Daily Eastern News.

Betty Coffrin announces bid for Coles County Clerk

By JIM ALLEN
City editor

You could say Betty Coffrin is looking for voters to promote her next year.

The 14-year veteran Chief Deputy County Clerk last week announced her bid to climb a link on the county chain of command, intending to seek the Republican nomination for the office of Coles County Clerk.

Current County Clerk Jackie Bacon recently announced her retirement from the office, effective Dec. 1, and named Coffrin as her choice to hold the office until the 1986 elections.

But Bacon said she was not endorsing any candidates yet.

Coffrin, also currently the county's election administrator, said she was running "to provide the fair and professional service that is the tradition in this office."

The candidate said if elected, any changes she would make in the office would be small.

"There's always minor changes, but I have no plans to make major program changes," she said. "The service is the primary thing."

While in her current post of deputy chief, the Charleston resident has seen the change in the consolidation of elections, and has administered the change to punch-card voting.

Betty Coffrin

"The state's change to election consolidation was to make election dates uniform, to increase voter participation and to save election costs," she stated in a press release.

"I look for ways to save tax dollars on otherwise expensive elections," she added. "The bottom line is fair and honest elections."

She further stated that she feels confident in administering property taxes, promising a policy of checking computerized tax extensions with an "accurate manual back-up."

Coffrin, 35, was born in nearby Oakland and lives in Charleston with her husband and son.

Bad weather doesn't stop party goers

By LARRY KAHAN
Staff writer

Despite the cold and rainy weather Thursday night, many Eastern students appeared in seasonal costumes in celebration of Halloween.

While many students celebrated at private parties, others flocked to area bars to show off their costumes.

Senior Phil Otten appeared at Mother's, located at 506 Monroe, resembling a Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings. Otten had a plastic turkey on his head and a red checkered table cloth, that had various food taped to it, covered his body.

"In the past I dressed with the norm," Otten said, "but I'm a seasonal kind of a guy and being a senior, I had a creative surge."

Sophomore Donna Love, who appeared at Mother's as a wrapped present, said, "Four people have tried to unwrap me already."

The Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, in association with Miller beer, sponsored "A Halloween Bash" Thursday to add to the day's festivities.

Dave Hess, Pi Kappa Alpha fund raising chairman, said, "It's about time that we (Eastern) celebrate Halloween like Southern Illinois University does."

Traditionally, in observance of Halloween, Carbondale blocks off city streets where students and other individuals are allowed to party.

"Maybe we could block off Charleston streets like S.I.U. does," Hess said.

Some Eastern students said they traveled to Champaign for the weekend to participate in the University of Illinois' Halloween celebration which is similar to Carbondale's party.

Senior John Zimmerman said he could not pass up the opportunity to "party in the streets of Champaign."

However, other students stayed home because of the cold and rainy weather.

Ayers said minority students find "hostility" on university campuses and they are forced to "survive and cope instead of studying."

Charles Morris, vice president for administrative services at Illinois State University at Normal, said there are several danger signals that should be noted in looking at the status of minorities in higher education.

*A report from the Illinois Literacy Council, headed by Secretary of State Jim Edgar, which found two million students illiterate.

Of the two million illiterates, 25 percent are from the Chicago area. The report estimated the loss of human capital to be upwards of $4.7 billion, Morris said.

And Chris Narcisse, an instructor from Sangamon State University in Springfield, said the "essence of the problem is that the existing institution does not see itself as needing to be healed."

certain that the results of the assessments are communicated to instructors and students on a regular basis, he said.

"Assessment is an organic part of the academic process," said Mortimer, adding such feedback also will tend to increase students' involvement in their own education.

Stanley Ikenberry, president of the University of Illinois, told the educators that they also need to commit themselves to fostering leadership and promoting volunteerism among their students.

"I think we have walked away from our fundamental concern for students as human beings,"

Ikenberry said. "What are we doing to make them strong, persuasive, articulate human beings?"

Such concerns are especially appropriate for minority students, he said.

Albert Shanker, president of the American Federation of Teachers, said Saturday's conference was representative of the union's desire to not only negotiate contracts for its members, but also to promote educational excellence.

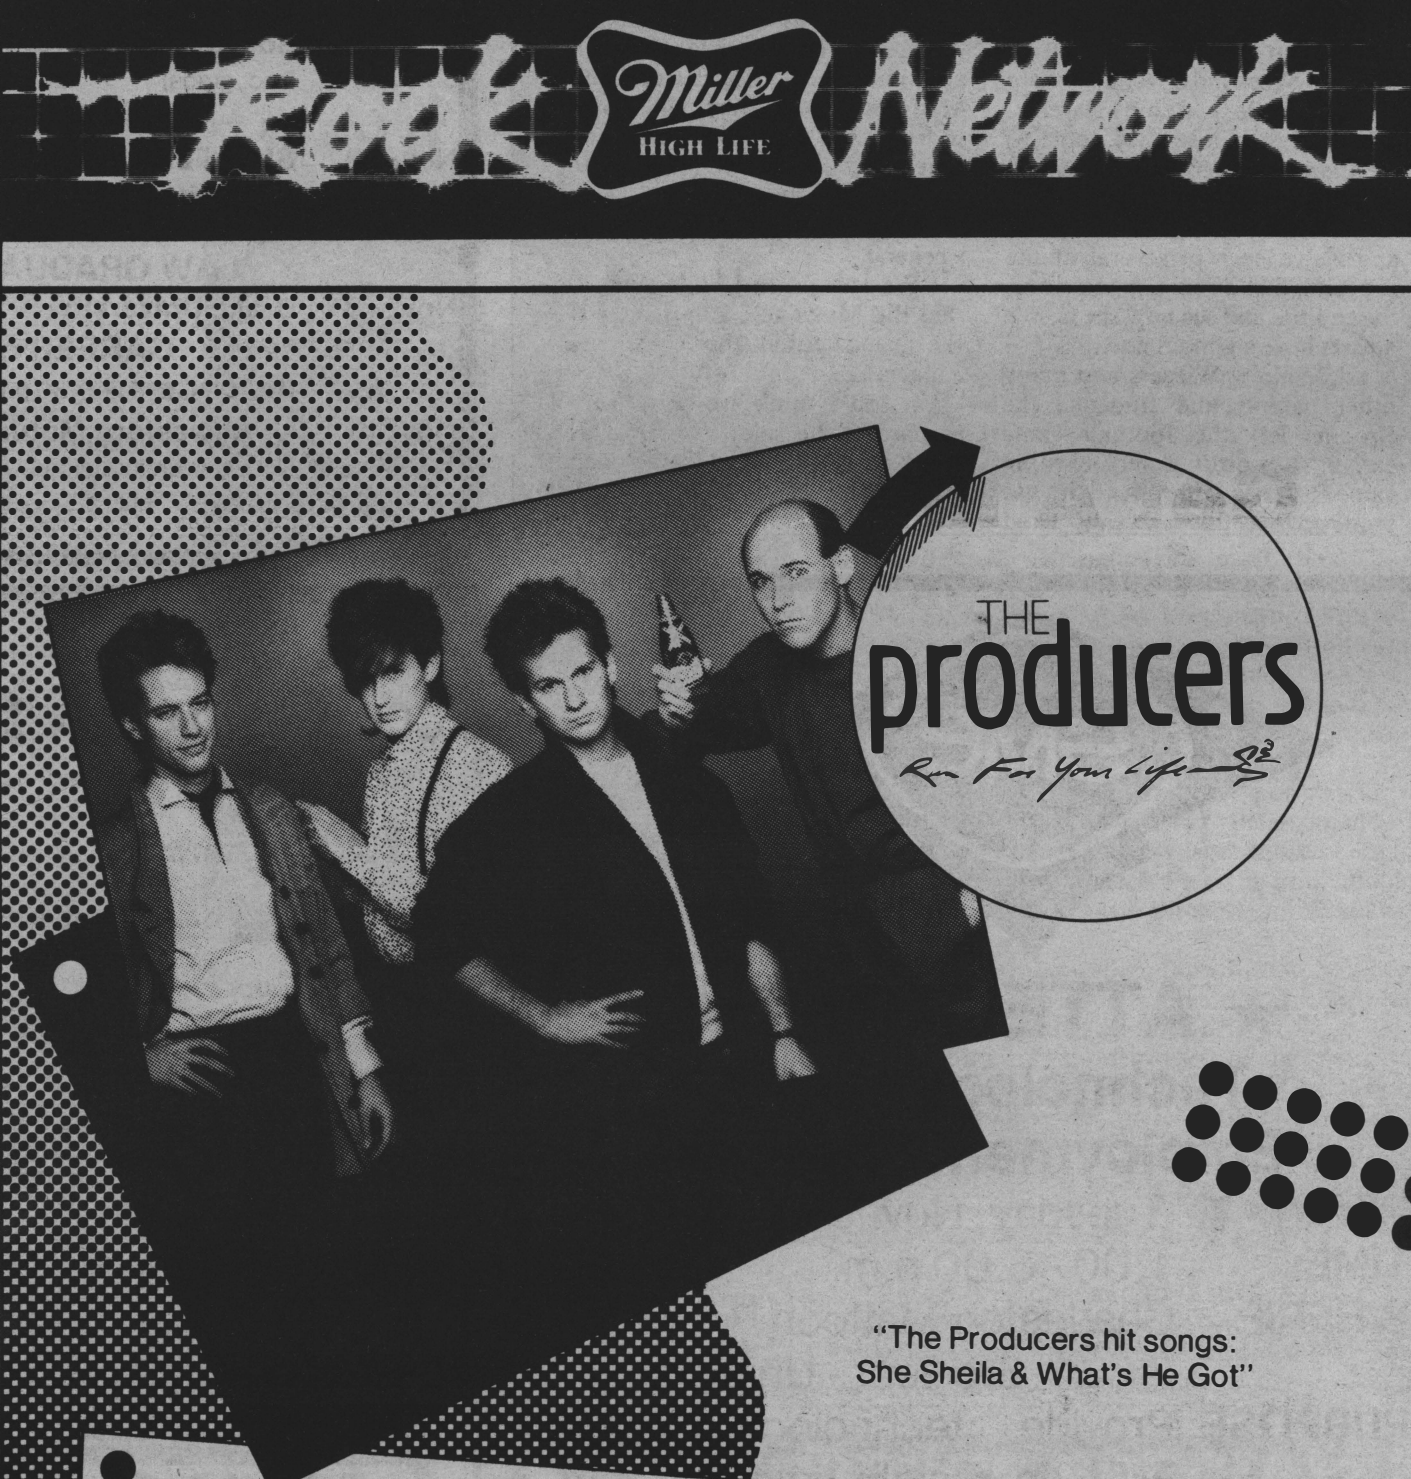

"It's a new idea to our members," Shanker said. "In addition to the traditional adversarial role, you need a colleague relationship (with administrators)."

Togetherness focus of Parents' Weekend

By TOM HOEFER
Staff writer

Although with Parents' Weekend comes the hassles and frustrations of hotel bookings and packed restaurants, the weekend also provides a time for students and families to be together.

"I always think it's great," said Shirley Wieggers. "It's nice to see my kids and meet their friends." Wieggers has two sons who attend Eastern, Scott, a sophomore, and Steve, a senior. She has made the trip from her home in Pontiac four years in a row.

"It's nice to meet new people. Every year I meet someone new," she said. "I only wish we could have Parents' Weekend a little earlier so we don't freeze to death at the football game."

Jerry and Nancy Broom of Salem have also been to Charleston four consecutive Parents' Weekends. Nancy Broom said that while they enjoy Parents' Weekend activities, they come to see their daughter Julie, a senior, and spend some time with her.

"We always enjoy the ball game and we've been to several of the concerts, but we mostly just come to see Julie and see how she is. We always have a good time."

Like Shirley Wieggers and many other parents and students, the Brooms left the football game early. "It wasn't a very exciting game," Jerry said. "And it was pretty chilly. But we really liked the halftime show. The band was really entertaining," he added.

The Brooms were also very impressed with Frankie Avalon. "We usually go to the ball game and the concert because it gives us something to do," Jerry said. "This was the best concert we've seen."

Shirley views the activities of Parents' Weekend like the Brooms. "We go to the events because it gives us something to do together. We didn't go to the concert this year because the kids didn't want to go. I leave the decision up to them."

Along with the inflow of parents came an inflow of problems. Because most Charleston and Mattoon restaurants had long lines, The Brooms ate dinner in Casey. Others went as far away as Effingham to find a place to eat. In addition, most Charleston and Mattoon hotels were full since shortly after last year's Parents' Weekend.

However, businessmen were basically satisfied with the weekend.

"We were packed all day long," said Bill Mulvaney, a bartender at Ike's, located in the University Village.

"I don't think we were very prepared," he said. "We had as many people in here from lunch until evening as any four o'clock club all year."

Avalon ends well after slow start

After a slow starting first half, Frankie Avalon put on a good show for the Parents' Weekend crowd in Lantz gymnasium Saturday.

Avalon sang only four songs in less than a half hour before the Rockin' Robin Orchestra took over. Though their music wasn't bad, it didn't quite fit the Parents' Weekend occasion.

Avalon made one more brief appearance in the first half to announce an intermission.

While Avalon got off to a less than impressive start, he did try to "satisfy the music tastes of all," as he put it. He went from the Oak Ridge Boys' "Elvira" to Bob Seger's "Old Time Rock 'n Roll" and the recent hit "Footloose."

Avalon's portrayals of this wide variety of music was not bad, but he was much better suited to the music of the 50s and his greatest hits.

Singing wasn't the only item on Avalon's agenda. He included different impersonations in the show. Dean Martin, John Wayne, Gary Cooper, Bella Lagosi and James Cagney all made "special appearances." Avalon wasn't in Richard Little's league, but did a fairly decent job of bringing these "characters" to life.

Avalon moved into more familiar territory as he sang popular 50s tunes before moving into his greatest hits. "I Love My Dinah," "Gingerbread,

Review:

Pamela Lill

"Gingerbread" and "Hey Venus" were all included in Avalon's "Career Journey."

The crowd really got into the act when Avalon chose four couples to come up on stage. The couples received hearty applause as they did the jitterbug-lindy.

After the crowd was riled up from the "Bandstand" competition, Avalon paid tribute to Elvis Presley, Bobby Darren and Bill Haily. Again, this was much more suited to Avalon's style. You could also see that he cared about all three of the performer's music.

Avalon left the crowd with a song reminiscent of his "Beach Party" side-kick Annette Funicello. The crowd sang along with Avalon to the tune of the Mickey Mouse Club goodbye song.

Bidding the audience farewell with the statement, "If you come to the end of your rope, tie a knot and hang on."

After a less than impressive first half, Avalon himself hung on by giving a much improved second half.

Frankie Avalon visited Eastern for Parents' Weekend. Throughout his act, Avalon presented himself as a number of characters. Although the first half started slowly, most audience members seemed to enjoy the second half.

Character acts out Robert Frost's story

By PAMELA LILL

Activities editor

"Robert Frost" appeared at Eastern Friday in a play about his own life and works.

Arthur Peterson (known for his role as the Major in SOAP) played the one and only character in Robert Frost Fire and Ice. He told Frost's story as Frost, working in poetry throughout the show.

"Education is the ability to listen to another fella's point of view without losing your temper," Peterson said, quoting a lecture Frost gave at the University of Minnesota.

On a stage with a podium, a front porch and a desk, Peterson worked alone, weaving the story of Frost's life.

The audience learned of Frost's childhood and his grandfather who wanted Frost to pursue a career in law. Not interested in the suggestion, Frost made a deal with his grandfather to try farming while continuing to write poetry.

After trying his hand at farming—as well as teaching—Frost and his family went to England. The move was successful as Frost had two volumes published.

In 1915 the war "spoiled it all," and the Frosts returned to New Hampshire. "I came home to find I was famous."

Frost continued writing and also lecturing. "The figure a poem makes is the same as for love," Frost said before a women's group in Oak Park. "It begins in delight and ends in wisdom."

Riding to the train station after the speaking engagement, Frost talked to a young man interested in theater. The man suggested to Frost that he write a play. Their talk continued, including a tense moment about the suicide of Frost's son.

When he arrived at the station, Frost asked the young man his name. "Arthur sir, Arthur Peterson."

The story is a true one, Peterson said in an interview after the show. It is condensed, but it really happened, he added.

Petereson finished off Frost's life telling about the speaking engagements Frost made. "At 80, you'd think you'd have time to be a pet," he said. However, Frost was busy talking at numerous universities—he received over 40 honorary degrees.

During one lecture, Frost told the audience that if he could write his epitaph it would say, "I had a lover's quarrel with the world."

The play ended with Frost dying. His last words came from a poem: "...and a mile to go before I sleep."

The audience at the well-attended performance seemed to like the performance.

"Really, it was a very nice program," Fran Johnson said.

Her husband, Bill, agreed. "I was impressed. He was excellent," he said.

Greg Segal "found the second half more engaging." However, he said he believed the play was "great."

"The Performance was superb," Ruth Berkowitz said. "He pulled in a lot of things about Frost's life."

"People forget and think I am Frost," Peterson said. Psychics who have seen the show have come up to Peterson and said "Frost was here," he said.

Peterson said he never knew he was going to do a show on Frost, but co-author June August talked him into it.

"You have to have a few years put on you to know what lies under his poetry," Peterson said.

The poems used in the play were chosen because they used a single character, Peterson said, adding, "We knew we had to have 'Birches' and 'Road Not Taken.'"

The performer conceded, though, that he's been saying much of the poet's work for a long while without knowing what they meant.

"Fire and Ice," a poem used in the play, was chosen as the title because it gives two essences of Frost, Peterson said. It wasn't until after Peterson was 40 that he knew what the poem meant.

"I practically stopped in the middle of the highway one day and said 'Oh my gosh that's what it means,'" he said.

"Robert Frost Fire and Ice" was the first in the University Board's Performing Art Series. Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol is scheduled for 8 p.m. on Dec. 8 in McAfee gymnasium.

Eastern's Barry Gravenhorst struggles to maintain his balance returning a kickoff in Eastern's 27-12 victory over Northern Michigan Saturday at O'Brien Stadium. Gravenhorst hit the ground moments later, netting only a four-yard return.

Payton, Banks set new records

Quarterback Sean Payton broke a pair of school records Saturday while wide receiver Roy Banks tied another in the Panthers' 27-12 victory over Northern Michigan.

Payton, who last week became Eastern all-time leader in career passing yardage, broke career records for total offense and pass completions.

Payton's 22 pass completions Saturday gave him 480 for his career, eclipsing former Panther Jeff Christensen's mark of 469.

Payton, who set nine school passing records in his banner year last season, also passed Christensen's record of 6,185 yards of total offense. The junior has 6,405 career yards of total offense and still counting.

Banks, who set a single season record last year with 17 touchdown receptions, caught two more Saturday to bring his season total to 27, which ties Scott McGhee's mark set in 1977-80.

"I didn't find out about it (record) until later," Banks said, "but I feel real good about it."

Grogan's arm lifts Pats past Dolphins 17-13

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP)—Steve Grogan capped New England's second 80-yard scoring drive in a 12-minute span with a 1-yard touchdown run with 3:03 remaining, lifting the surging Patriots over the Miami Dolphins in National Football League action Sunday.

The quarterback's rollout around the right side gave New England, 6-3, its first lead of the game and its first four-game winning streak in five years.

The 17-13 victory broke a second-place tie in the American Conference East and handed Miami, 5-4, its third loss in four games.

Giants 22, Bucs 20—Eric Schubert, just activated this week, kicked five field goals and Joe Morris rushed for a career-best 132 yards and a touchdown as the Giants came alive in the second half to down Tampa Bay, handing the Buccaneers their ninth straight loss.

Schubert, who until this week was an assistant coach at a New Jersey high school earning $1,000 for the season, hit from 24, 36, 24, 41 and 33 yards as New York overcame a 13-6 halftime deficit to raise its record to 6-3. The five field goals were one short of the Giants team record by Joe Danelo in 1981.

Vikings 16, Lions 13—Jan Stenerud kicked three field goals, including a 28-yarder as time expired, lifting Minnesota over Detroit.

Stenerud had missed a 37-yarder with 4:12 to play before his winning kick, which was set up by Darrin Nelson's 21-yard punt return and Nelson's 23-yard run. Nelson ran for a career-high 122 yards.

Minnesota had taken a 13-3 lead 5:37 into the third quarter before the Lions stormed back to tie it on a one-yard TD plunge by quarterback Joe Ferguson and a 20-yard field goal by Ed Murray with 11:46 to play.

Bengals 23, Bills 17—Boomer Esiason threw for two touchdowns and fullback Larry Kinnebrew rumbled for another as Cincinnati erased a 10-point deficit and beat Buffalo.

Esiason, the American Football Conference's highest-rated passer, threw a 68-yard scoring bomb to rookie Eddie Brown and a 22-yard touchdown toss to tight end M.L. Harris as the Bengals improved their record to 4-5.

Aside from Esiason's 11 completions in 21 attempts for 193 passing yards, the Bengals also got 128 rushing yards from Larry Kinnebrew in handing Buffalo its eight loss in nine games.

Oilers 23, Chiefs 20—Tony Zen-dejas kicked a 38-yard field goal with 14 seconds to play to give Houston a tight victory over Kansas City and a share of the AFC Central Division lead.

NFL Roundup

The Oilers blew a 20-6 lead before coming back to win by driving 57 yards in the final two minutes. Quarterback Warren Moon hit tight end Jamie Williams with a key third-down pass, and a holding penalty against Kansas City's Albert Lewis kept the drive alive.

Houston, 4-5, won its third straight game for the first time since closing out the 1980 season with three consecutive wins. The Chiefs, 3-6, extended their losing string to five.

Steelers 10, Browns 9—Gary Anderson kicked a 25-yard field goal with nine seconds to play as Pittsburgh edged Cleveland in a driving rain to extend a 16-season stadium jinx over the Browns.

The Browns, falling into a tie with the Steelers, 4-5, for the American Conference Central Division Lead, have not won in Pittsburgh since Three Rivers Stadium was opened in 1970. The last Browns' victory came in 1969, when the Steelers played in Pitt Stadium.

Redskins 44, Falcons 10—Keith Griffin ran for 164 yards and two touchdowns, one a 66-yarder, and George Rogers had 124 yards rushing and one TD as Washington scored on its first five possessions in crushing Atlanta.

A fake punt gamble at its 29 by Atlanta in the second quarter helped launch the rout as the Redskins stretched a 10-3 lead to 17-3.

Bears shoot down fired-up Packers 16-10 to remain undefeated at 9-0

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Walter Payton rushed for 192 yards and scampered 27 yards for a key fourth-quarter touchdown Sunday as the Chicago Bears remained undefeated in the National Football League at the expense of the Green Bay Packers, 16-10.

Payton's touchdown run followed a safety sack of Green Bay quarterback Jim Zorn by Steve McMichael and a short free kick by Packers punter Joe Prokop that left the Bears in good field position.

Bears quarterback Jim McMahon hooked up with tight end Tim Wrightman for a 17-yard completion for a first-down at the Green Bay 27. Payton's scoring run, with 10:31 left in the game, came on the next down.

The game, a rematch of NFC Central Division rivals, was a defensive struggle which featured a fired-up Packers squad trying to overcome a thin defensive secondary weakened by injuries.

William "The Refrigerator" Perry, a rookie defensive lineman who ran for a touchdown against the Packers earlier in the season, caught his first NFL TD pass in the second quarter to give Chicago its first lead of the game.

The Bears went to 9-0 and remained the only undefeated team in the NFL. The Packers dropped to 3-6.

The Packers entered the final quarter with a 10-7 lead courtesy of a 55-yard pass catch and run in the third quarter by Jesse Clark, who hauled in Zorn's first TD pass in a Green Bay uniform. Zorn was signed by Green Bay in September after his release by Seattle and was making his first NFL start in two years in place of regular Lynn Dickey.

The safety allowed the Bears to narrow the Packers lead to 10-9.

The Bears grabbed a 7-3 halftime lead at overcast, unfriendly Lambeau Field by going to the Packers nemesis, Perry, on a 4-yard touchdown pass play with 25 seconds remaining in the second quarter. Perry had rushed for a short-yardage touchdown in the Bears' 23-7 victory on Oct. 21.

Sunday, Green Bay was lined up in a goal-line defense on a second-and-goal situation on the 4-yard line. Perry lined up in the left slot and went in motion to the right. He was unguarded in the end zone and caught the pass from McMahon, capping a 65-yard drive that featured steady running by Payton. Payton gained 110 yards in the half, hurdling the 14,000-yard career mark and achieving his 68th career 100-yard game.

The extra point by Kevin Butler, the Bears' rookie sensation out of Georgia, made it 7-3.

The Packers' field goal, a 40-yarder by Al Del Greco, came early in the first quarter after a Payton fumble was recovered at the Chicago 29.

The first half was marred by penalties and cheap shots. The Bears were assessed 50 yards in penalties while the Packers were hit for 46 yards. Defensive back Mark Lee was ejected with 10:57 left in the first quarter after he dragged Payton over a sideline bench.

AMCU Championship

Personal records lead harriers to third place

By JOHN STROUD
Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD, Mo.—Personal bests were recorded for all seven of Eastern's men's cross country runners en route to a third place finish in the Association of Mid-Continent Universities' Championship Saturday.

Southwest Missouri (23) and Northern Iowa (37) finished first and second respectively as they were seeded at the coaches' meeting on Friday night. Eastern was picked to finish fourth behind Western who beat the Panthers twice this season.

Eastern had 81 points while Western finished with 103.

"It is outstanding when all seven of the guys run PR's," assistant coach Tom Akers said. "We came through and ran above our capabilities in essence."

Senior Mitch McClure earned all-conference honors by placing eighth overall in the 10,000-meter race with a time of 32:00. Sophomore Dale Righter placed 14th in 32:23 followed by freshmen John Wells and Jeff Williams in the 18th and 20th positions (32:37 and 32:45). Sophomore Van Gardner rounded out the teams' top five in 21st (32:46).

Matt Wegenka of SWMO won individual honors with a course record time of 30:44.

"It was a great way for Mitch (McClure) to end his cross country career at Eastern," Akers said. "Also we had two sophomores and two freshmen in the top five which makes things look bright for the future."

Freshman Brad Conte got sick Thursday night and was unable to run in the conference meet as Akers had originally planned. As a result senior Dan Newman was taken as the team's alternate and Williams, who was going to be the alternate, was moved into the line-up.

"Williams did a good job of moving up to fill the position well," Akers commented. "Everybody went out and competed to the best of their ability."

Akers admitted the competition was a little tougher than he had expected after he felt Eastern could win if everyone had their best races.

"Our conference is definitely improving. In comparison with last year the times were no where near as fast as this year."

The harriers will spend the next two weeks preparing for the NCAA District qualifying meet on Nov. 16 in Bloomington, Ind. With one of Eastern's longest cross country seasons nearly over Akers wants to make sure everyone stays healthy.

"We're going to have some personal conferences with the runners and make some intelligent decisions," Akers said. "This is probably the longest cross country season we've had and we don't want to overdo it with indoor track season coming up."

"We will stay with what we've done the past two weeks," Akers added. "We're just starting to show what our capabilities are."

With several Big 10 teams included, Eastern's district is normally one of the toughest for qualifying in the nation according to Akers.

"We're looking forward to going over there and finding out just how well we can do."

Bad times in NFC east for struggling St. Louis Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, considered a preseason title contender, have come upon tough times during the 1985 National Football League season, and that doesn't surprise Dallas Cowboys quarterback Danny White.

"I've seen that happen to our team, I've seen that happen to other teams," said White, who is hoping to add to St. Louis' miseries Monday night. "It's something that happens quite a bit, especially when you start finding yourself in the upper echelon."

The Cards, 3-5 following three straight defeats, probably will have a patched-up lineup against Dallas, 6-2.

Running back Ottis Anderson, who missed last week's game with a sore toe, suffered a recurrence of the injury Saturday. All-Pro wide receiver Roy Green is limping with a banged-up leg. And rookie Lance Smith may start at right offensive tackle in place of Tootie Robbins, who has a pulled hamstring.

However White said, "None of us think the Cardinals are dead. They are a dangerous football team, and there's no doubt they will be back on top before long. We just hope we can get them while they're struggling a little."

To revive a sagging passing attack, St. Louis has brought back former quarterback coach Harry Gilmer to work with Neil Lomax.

"Our timing hasn't been quite what it was last year," said Gilmer, who had been serving as a Cards' scout. "That's what I'm going to be looking at—situations to try and remedy."

Last week, during a 20-10 loss to the Houston Oilers, the Cardinals' problems also involved letdowns by the special teams that resulted in two deflected punts and three missed field goals by veteran Neil O'Donoghue.

Afterward, O'Donoghue was released, and rookie Jess Atkinson, who was dropped by the New York Giants, signed to replace him. Wasted in the defeat against Houston was Stump Mitchell's strong running—148 yards on 21 carries.

The Cowboys, meanwhile, rebounded from a 16-14 loss to the Philadelphia Eagles two weeks ago with a 24-10 victory over the Atlanta Falcons last week.

White, now firmly entrenched as Dallas' No. 1 quarterback, recovered from bruised ribs to key a Cowboys' offense that gained 461 yards. Tony Hill caught 10 of White's passes, and Tony Dorsett raced 60 yards for a touchdown, giving him 10,278 career rushing yards.

"Everyone has an excellent attitude, and they're working hard. I guess that's the reason for it," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said of his team's No. 1 position in the National Conference East.

St. Louis, although able to beat Dallas only twice in their last 13 meetings, usually has proven tough for the Cowboys.

Last year, after winning 31-20 in Texas Stadium, the Cards lost 24-17 at home, in part because of an offensive pass interference call that negated a Lomax-Green touchdown strike. Dallas, which has a 14-13 record on Monday nights, is 0-2 in that time slot against St. Louis.

"They've got too many good players and good people in that organization to stay down for very long," White said of the Cards.

Swarming defense throws Wildcats for loss

Panthers not pretty, but win 27-12

By JOFF LONG
Sports Editor

Winning ugly is no longer exclusive to baseball and Chicago's South Side.

Eastern's football team showed that it, too, can be outdone in nearly every phase of the game and still win as if everything went its way.

Northern Michigan, a Division II team with playoff aspirations, proved nothing more than a pesky mosquito to the Panthers, who showcased the theory of it's not how you play the game, but if you win or lose.

Behind tenacious defense and raw emotion, the Panthers turned back Northern Michigan's upset hopes with a 27-12 victory Saturday before a Parent's Weekend crowd of 9,529 at O'Brien Stadium.

But there won't be many clips finding their way onto the Panthers' highlight film. Eastern was outrushed and outpassed by the Wildcats, and committed 15 penalties for 144 yards.

So naturally there had to be an equalizer, and the Panthers had that in the form of their defense, which created six turnovers and sacked Wildcat quarterbacks nine times—a season high for Eastern.

"We played real hard," Eastern coach Al Molde said. "I think we wanted it more than they did."

The victory pushed the Panthers over the .500 mark at 5-4, leaving them with a good shot for a seventh straight winning season with road games at Northern Iowa and Western Kentucky remaining. Northern Michigan fell to 5-3.

The Wildcats came into the game possessing a balanced offense which put the same emphasis on both the pass and run. That all went out the window after the Panthers jumped on the board first.

The contest featured 100 passes between the two teams, 64 of them from the Wildcats, which in all probability is a record for an Eastern opponent, although that record has not been kept.

Most inspiring was the effort put forth by the Panthers' swarming defense. Eastern allowed Northern Michigan only 24 completions—37.5 percent—and repeatedly hurried Wildcat quarterbacks with a barreling pass-rush. Linebacker Rick Ziemann led the way with three QB sacks.

"We wanted to put pressure on them to make them throw the ball," said cornerback Brian Newby, who intercepted two passes on the afternoon. "We were blitzing a lot and that put enough pressure on them to make them throw it up."

Newby's heroics were even more significant, considering a knee injury had sidelined the senior since the Kansas game on Oct. 5.

"My knee felt really good," he said. "I was playing at 100 percent and trying to play at 110. I played at my best and that's why I got the picks (interceptions)."

The Panthers held NMU without a touchdown until 2:12 in the fourth quarter, when the outcome had been long decided.

"As much as we bent, we didn't break there until the end," Molde said. "We used a lot of blitzing and were able to get good pressure all day."

The Wildcats ran off 97 offensive plays to Eastern's 72, but it was the Panthers who made theirs count.

Quarterback Sean Payton completed 22 of 36 passes for 263 yards and three touchdowns. Two scoring passes went to Roy Banks, who was obviously underestimated by the Wildcat defense, which yielded an average of only 14 points a game prior to Saturday.

The All-American receiver caught eight passes for 128 yards to lead all receivers, while split end Charlie Williams returned from an injury to catch Eastern's first touchdown.

"Offensively we got going right away," Molde said. "But when you're seeing eight people defending the pass it makes it hard to call plays."

Molde was referring to the defense employed by NMU which sent a three-man rush and left eight pass defenders back in an attempt to stymie Eastern's pass attack.

That, Banks says, was the Wildcats' biggest mistake.

"They really underestimated Sean because they tried a corner blitz and there's no way you're going to blitz Sean from the corner without him picking it up," Banks explained. "That's how we got those touchdown passes to me and Charlie."

Booters suffer double misery

Texas losses leave playoff chances in limbo

By DOBIE HOLLAND
Staff writer

DALLAS, Texas—Things couldn't have been any worse for Eastern's soccer team this weekend after losing to North Texas State, 2-1 Friday, and then falling short in their rebound attempt against Southern Methodist, losing 1-0.

A dual defeat nearly diminishes the Panthers' chances of making the playoffs and drops their record to 10-5-1 with one game remaining.

Eastern can tie its record of 11-5-1 last season, at best.

The entire weekend campaign depended on the success of the newly implemented 4-4-2 offense and the defense.

The new offense was to strengthen the offense and the defense but required more running and harder work. Apparently, it was not enough to overcome the Mean Green or SMU, since the Panthers could only muster one goal for the entire weekend.

Rick Lansing scored the only goal on a penalty kick in the first half of Friday's game to tie the score at 1-1 with 16:43 remaining. Previously, Mark Henn opened the scoring on a penalty kick at 23:27.

Armin Mello won the game for North Texas State in the first half with a penalty kick score with 5:15 left. Neither side could manage a goal in the second half.

On Sunday, former Panther Mark Francis scored the game's only goal on a pass from Jerry Graham with 39:08 remaining in the game.

Eastern's new offense—which coach Cizo Mosnia kept secret all last week—could only account for 10 shots on goal compared to SMU's 26, which kept goalkeeper Mark Simpson, who recorded 11 saves, busy all afternoon.

The Panthers will try to end the season on a positive note when they face Association of Mid-Continent Conference foe Illinois-Chicago on Saturday for the league's crown.

In all probability, Eastern has already clinched the title, because second place Western dropped an AMCU game last week to Wisconsin-Green Bay 1-0, placing them two games behind the Panthers.
