BOG considers tuition hike for fall

By CRAIG EDWARDS
Managing editor

In the wake of Gov. James R. Thompson's dead income tax increase proposal, Eastern administrators are uncertain what steps will be taken to provide the necessary funding for the university. However, several university officials indicated Wednesday that a increase in student tuition may be the only answer. Thompson's proposal, which would have created $217 million in tax revenue for higher education, came to a halt June 28. Thompson blamed the failure on House Speaker Michael Madigan, D-Chicago. In an effort to provide some additional funding for education, the Illinois Legislature spent the next four days reallocating funds and preparing a revised budget for the governor.

Although Thompson had hoped for salary increases of 10 percent with the tax increase proposal, the reworked budget allocates $65 million to higher education, permitting faculty and staff salary increases of 5.7 percent.

The budget, which is still subject to an amendatory veto by the governor, provides Eastern with $40.86 million for fiscal year 1989 — an increase of $5.33 million or 13 percent.

Dave Fields, press secretary for the governor, said Wednesday that he expects the governor to act on the budget within a week.

"He has to look at the budget and determine what the state can and cannot afford," Fields said.

Although the budget calls for an additional $22 million in funding for the University of Illinois, President Stanley Ikenberry has recommended a $300 increase in student tuition there.

But Eastern officials say it's still too early to seriously consider a tuition hike. Robert Kindrick, vice president for academic affairs, said Wednesday that no action will be taken until the governor approves the revised budget.

"We won't know anything for a while," Kindrick said.

The Board of Governors, the governing board for Chicago State University, Governors State University, Northeastern Illinois University, Western Illinois University and Eastern, must approve tuition increases at the five universities.

Thomas Layzell, BOG chancellor, said Wednesday that he expects it will be necessary to recommend a tuition increase to the board. He will be meeting with presidents from the five universities next week to discuss the matter.

Pam Meyer, BOG spokesperson, said even though a tuition increase is under consideration, a specific amount or time frame has not been discussed yet.

However, Meyer did say that it is theoretically possible to implement an increase for the fall semester, which begins August 24 at Eastern.

If a tuition hike is approved, it will be the second increase for BOG students in less than a year. A mid-year tuition increase of $96 per semester was instituted during the 1988 spring semester.

Undergraduate students at the five BOG universities currently pay $1,236 per academic year for lower division coursework and $1,260 per academic year for upper division coursework. Graduate students pay $1,344 per year for tuition.

Time to give

The Emergency Blood Drive held by the American Red Cross Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Union Grand Ballroom attracted a large number of students, faculty and staff wishing to donate. However, Vickie Rumohr, a consultant for the Red Cross, said the hot weather prevented the drive from meeting its 270 pint goal by just nine pints. She said 56 possible donors were deferred because of low iron counts, which is caused by drinking too many fluids.

Search launched to replace Meese

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House launched the search for Attorney Edwin Meese III's replacement Wednesday, saying President Reagan's aides were collecting names of candidates "from various sources." Reagan met privately with Meese, his longtime California friend and political confidant, the White House said. Meese indicated that he might leave the end of the administration. "We had an attorney general until (Tuesday) yesterday," Fitzwater said. "We don't compile lists for positions where they're already filled." Fitzwater had said earlier Attorney General Edwin Meese III announced Tuesday at a press conference in Washington that he will resign some time next month.

Meese was investigated by a special prosecutor on his business dealings with Wedtech. Independent Counsel James C. McKay recently submitted an 800-page report on his findings (which are expected to be made public this month).

that Meese told Reagan "some time ago that he might want to leave before the end of the administration. The president left the timing up to him."

Reagan, who conceded

Political science instructor Richard Wandling called the Meese resignation "a tremendous benefit for our political system. He should have never been attorney general."

Sen. Alan J. Dixon (D-Ill.), agrees with Wandling. "He is doing the people of the United States a service by leaving."

Meese has already went on the record to claim vindication. He was not (See INSTRUCTORS, p. 10)

Tuesday that he had "nobody in mind" to take Meese's place, on Wednesday "briefly discussed" a successor for Meese with White House chief of staff Kenneth Duberstein and general counsel A.B. Culvahouse, the spokesman said. He did not say whether Reagan or Meese had talked about whom to select.

A Justice Department spokesman, Patrick Korten, was asked whether the attorney general would play an active role in choosing a successor.

"I think he's already weighed in on the subject," Korten said in reference to Meese's meeting with Reagan.

As he left the White House, Meese was asked what he had told Reagan. He gestured in the direction of his car and said "I've got to go." Interviewed later on Cable News Network, Meese was asked what kind of person he thought should succeed him.

"I don't think anybody would be a clone of anybody else," he said. But Meese said he hoped the person selected is "someone (See SEARCH, p. 7)

Congress not critical of Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress sought details Wednesday about a U.S. warship's downing of an Iranian jetliner, but lawmakers declined to criticize the U.S. captain for firing his missiles, calling his actions appropriate under the circumstances.

Defense Secretary Frank C. Carlucci and other Pentagon officials were meeting behind closed doors with House and Senate members to brief lawmakers on Sunday's Persian Gulf incident.

Administration officials said the cruiser Vincennes fired two missiles in the Strait of Hormuz because it thought it was under attack by an Iranian F-14 fighter. Instead, the missiles destroyed Iran Air flight 655, killing all 290 people aboard in what President Reagan termed a tragic accident.

Meanwhile, State Department officials said the United States remains willing to open an "authoritative dialogue" with Iran to discuss improving relations. Iran has expressed a similar interest in return, said deputy spokeswoman Phyllis Oakley.

Oakley said it would not be possible to have a normal relationship with Iran as long as the Iran-Iraq war continues. American hostages continue to be held by pro-Iranian militants in Lebanon and Iran engages in international terrorism.

As Congress returned from the Fourth of July recess, legislators wanted to know what led Capt. Will C. Rogers III to order the Vincennes' missiles fired, but they refused to second-guess him.

Cross burning in Southern Illinois

BELLEVILLE (AP) — Police on Wednesday were looking for those responsible for burning a cross in the front yard of a black family's new home in a white neighborhood in this Southern Illinois town.

Police Lt. John Hassenstab said investigators had no suspects in the cross burning, which took place in front of Willie Carter's home about 3 a.m. Sunday.

"This is something out of the pages of the Old South," said Carter, a retired Air Force staff sergeant.

He said he planned to move to another home as soon as his real estate agent can find the family another home.

We just want a nice place to live," said Carter's wife, Elsie.

"I have small children and we just don't have time for this."

Hassenstab said family members didn't wake up when the cross was being burned, but that Carter found the charred remnants Sunday morning.

Carter said he threw the remains of the cross and its sawhorse base into a drainage ditch before going to church Sunday morning.

"I'm not a violent person, but when I saw the cross, I felt upset . . . I wanted to know who did it, so I could choke him, although I'm not that type of person," Carter said.

Peach crop looking good in Illinois

(AP) — Southern Illinois farmers began picking early peaches this week and liked what they found-juicy, sweet fruit in spite of the severe drought.

But the bulk of the state's peach crop won't be harvested until August and farmers warned that their fruit trees need several good, soaking rains before then to avoid damage from the drought.

"We are going to need some water before we get into our main varieties in order to have a plentiful crop," said Bill Hartline, who grows about 150 acres of peaches on his farm near Alto Pass.

"If we don't get any rain between now and the end of August, I'd say we'll probably cut our peach crop in half," Hartline said.

"You're really not safe until you have them in the box and sold," he added. "It's a very risky business."

For now though, Hartline and other farmers are encouraged by the peaches they have been picking.

Injunction delays firefighter layoffs

EAST ST. LOUIS (AP) — Thirty firefighters have won a reprieve from being laid off, with a ruling by a circuit judge that allows them to remain on the city's cash-starved payroll.

St. Clair County Circuit Judge Robert Craig on Tuesday signed a restraining order delaying the layoffs-scheduled for Friday-until at least after the July 15 hearing.

Craig also barred the city from implementing a June 22 ordinance that lifted an earlier ban it imposed on layoffs in the police, fire and public works departments.

East St. Louis Mayor Carl Officer said he had not seen the order, but didn't believe the court could prevent the city from laying off its workers.

"That's not worth the paper it's printed on, is it?" Officer said of the temporary restraining order.

Questions remain-odd theories rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unanswered questions remaining about the Iranian Airbus destroyed by an American missile have given rise to some bizarre theories about the downing of the plane.

Those television images of bloated bodies floating in the Persian Gulf fuel speculation but no answers.

On television, the bodies appeared to be nude and to be so bloated as to suggest they were in the water for some time. How come?

How did the Iranians have a television camera in place to capture what Iranian television said were shots of the plane at the moment it was hit? (To the viewer, the plane was a mere dot on the screen and the pictures were too grainy to lead to that conclusion.)

No American official has publicly suggested that Iran's revolutionary government deliberately sent civilians on Iran Air flight 655 to their death, but terrorism expert Robert Kupperman said he had heard "a few people in the Pentagon" advance such theories.

"I don't give much credence to it personally," said Kupperman, a senior adviser at the Center for Strategic and International Studies, a think tank. "I don't believe that anybody is going to be able to prove that this been a set-up."

Neil C. Livingstone, a conservative expert on terrorism said there are "some real strange questions" about the incident, citing television footage provided by the Iranians.

"It's very hard to explain someone would be taking pictures of a plane flying in the gulf," Livingstone said.

Dr. Charles Ruehle, the former commander of the Armed Forces Institute of Medical Pathology, said finding floating, bloated bodies within a short time would not be unusual after a crash in warm, salty water.

Ozone levels rise-possibility of rain

(AP)— Near-record temperatures and health-threatening ozone levels made up a 1-2 punch Wednesday and left the Chicago area reeling, while farm experts warned much of Illinois' corn crops faces a more devastating blow without a significant rainfall by week's end.

The state Environmental Protection Agency issued an ozone advisory for Chicago for a second consecutive day, as pollutants from automobiles and factories in the four-county metro area built up in the hot, stagnant air.

"And the longer the weather doesn't change, the worse it gets," said Will Flower, spokesman for the Illinois EPA.

The EPA urged people with respiratory problems to remain indoors, and diners at the city's lakefront food festival, "Taste of Chicago", were advised not to overexert themselves or overindulge.

The National Weather Service, meanwhile, said chances for relief from the continuing heat and dry weather appeared slim-even though a band of thunderstorms could reach Illinois within days.

"The heat, haze and humidity are building up and what you're seeing are things getting primed for thundershowers," said meteorologist Rich Brumer in the National Weather Service's Chicago office.

"The problem is we won't get them (showers) until Saturday the earliest, and there will likely be more rain in the north than the central and south," he added.

After climbing steadily all day, the mercury hit 99 degrees at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport at 3 p.m., tying a record for the day established in 1874.

Pollution was not a problem in central or southern Illinois, but the continuing dryness continued to bring dire predictions.

"If weather forecasts of continued heat and dry weather are true, this week will be the kiss of death," said Jim Daugherty, Piroia County agriculture board tension adviser. "We already have fields that will have low yields."

Bush plans ahead-Dukakis searches

(AP) — Republican George Bush promised he would name a Hispanic-American to his Cabinet Wednesday as he sought minority votes in Texas.

Democrat Michael Dukakis searched for a running mate as his homefront headaches grew.

Bush also declared he would not apologize to Iran for the shooting down of a jumbo jet with 290 people aboard.

"We probably ought to do what we did, which is to officially express regret, which I guess should happen when you have the loss of innocent life," the vice president told reporters.

Dukakis, two weeks away from the Democratic presidential nomination, continued to check out vice presidential prospects. He interviewed Rep. Lee Hamilton of Indiana, a respected but little-known congressman who was chairman of the House committee that led the Iran-Contra investigation.

Hamilton, the eighth man Dukakis has interviewed in his search, said he would accept No. 2 spot if offered.

While attention focused on search for a running mate, Massachusetts governor plagued with an increasingly frustrating budget dilemma a new poll showing his popularity dropping at home.

The state government's fiscal year began last Friday, and Dukakis has yet to close a $40 million deficit for fiscal 1988 to sign a budget for the new year.

Coleman Hall annex nears reality

campus editor

Eastern Illinois University's Joplin College of Business is one step closer to having its own facility last week when the Illinois legislature passed a bill appropriating such funds. The bill designated $231,500 for the construction of an annex to the existing Coleman hall to house the school of business, said Rep. Micheal Weaver, R-Charleston.

When asked when ground breaking would start on this project, Weaver said, "I want to see this thing this year." However, he also commented that the bill had a way to go before construction would start.

According to Weaver, Governor Thompson will sign the bills that were passed during the recently concluded General Assembly in August. The governor has the power to veto an item at this time, especially dealing with the budget.

After this, Eastern can start making bids which Weaver says will happen in September. Ted Ivarie, dean of the college of business, added that the bids must also be reviewed by the Capital Development Board before construction can begin.

If this schedule is followed, ground breaking could begin in October, said Weaver. A time saving element which he mentioned is that the architectural work had already been finished; therefore, construction can begin as soon as the finances are finalized.

Ivarie said that the estimated construction time is 18-22 months and that the date of ground breaking would determine the date that the building would be in use.

Weaver commented, "I would hope that we would have people in there operating in the fall of '89."

Eastern has been asking for a building such as this since 1972, said Ivarie. In 1979, when Ivarie began at Eastern, he appointed a faculty committee to evaluate the situation and they recommended a separate facility at that time. Eastern has been waiting since then for this building.

Ivarie said that the money appropriated by the Capital Development Board may or may not cover the entire cost of the new facility. He explained that when the bids are put in, Eastern will tell the contractors what must be involved with the building. Then Eastern will give other features that they would like to have included in the building but that could wait or be done without.

The contractors will set a price for the initial building and another price for each feature. Eastern will choose from those prices exactly what will be included in the building. This could cost more than what the Capital Development Board has designated for the project. However, Ivarie said, "We are prepared to supplement the basic funding with some funding from the foundation."

The annex will be located between the existing Coleman and Clem Halls and will be connected to both of these buildings. A ground breezeway will connect the annex to Clem Hall, and a second story walkway will connect it with Coleman Hall.

The structure will be four stories. The first and second stories will be classrooms, auditoriums, student advisement offices, microcomputer labs and a student lounge. The third and fourth floors will house faculty and staff administrative offices and a faculty lounge.

Ivarie believes that the auditoriums and the microcomputer labs are needed by the university in general.

The classrooms will be set up in a case study fashion which Ivarie explained as semi-circle tables tiered like steps in the room. Ivarie said that this facilitates observation by both the students and the teachers.

The school of business has an enrollment of approximately 2,500 for the fall semester. Classes are presently being held in six different facilities throughout the campus. Faculty offices are in Blair Hall and some classes are held there.

Ivarie commented that the sparseness of the classes, "Causes quite an inconvenience for the students to go from one end of campus to the other." He also said that the lack of a central location makes it difficult for faculty to get together for faculty meetings and extreme weather makes carrying books, papers and sometimes projectors difficult.

Ivarie mentioned that another problem that arises is new students will ask, "Where is the business school?" and there really is no one answer at the present time.

Parking regulations changed on campus

editor in chief

Parking is again changing at Eastern Illinois University. No, it's not lot designation this time, or higher permit costs, although that's probably not one to rule out yet, it is hours.

Beginning with the opening of fall semester, permit parking on campus will be enforced 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

According to Sgt. John Hensley of the University Police Department, students with permits will still be allowed to park in staff lots after the designated "staff only" hours.

The problem seems to be with persons parking cars not displaying stickers on Eastern's campus.

"As far as I know," said Hensley, who is in charge of the parking division in the police department, "The order came out of Vice President Williams' office to change the hours. I think they feel anyone parking on campus should pay for it."

Those who wish to park in a lot on the University's campus will pay for the privilege one way or the other, either through a parking ticket fine or by purchasing a permit. Permits are sold at the same cost to everyone, $25 a year or $12.50 a semester, at the University Police Department at the corner of Seventh and Grant Avenues.

Weekend accident leaves former student dead, others injured

By SUSAN THOMAS
Asst. campus editor

A July 4th weekend getaway ended in tragedy when a one-car accident left a former Eastern student dead and another student in the hospital.

On July 3 at 2:30 p.m., Daryl Hubbs, 21, Eric Zuspenn, 20, and Mary Bonifas, 24, headed for an annual Chicago summer festivity called "The Taste of Chicago."

Gay Hamilton, a secretary in the Grundy County sheriff's department, said the car apparently, while headed north on Illinois 47 near Dwight, "went off the road, hit loose gravel and ran head-on into a tree."

Hubbs, who left Eastern after the 1988 fall semester, was "killed instantly of spinal cord injuries," said coroner Leo Reeves, adding, "the car was a total wreck."

Hubbs was at the wheel with Zuspenn accompanying him in the front seat while Bonifas sat in back.

Eric Zuspenn, a junior health major who presently attends Eastern, and Mary Bonifas, Hubbs' girlfriend, were rushed to Copley Hospital in Aurora.

Zuspenn, who suffers from a broken leg, bruised lungs and shoulders, and lacerations, vaguely remembers the accident. "I don't remember anything that happened a half an hour before the accident. What I mean is, we were driving and when I woke up I was on an operating table," he said from the hospital Wednesday.

Council hears pit bull complaints again

Several Charleston residents took their complaints about three pit bulls in their neighborhood to the Charleston City Council again Tuesday night. John Dively, city attorney, told the council that Tim Rash, owner of the pit bulls, pleaded guilty last week to misdemeanor charges.

But Wendy Kurz informed the council that the pit bulls were loose again the same day.

Tehran should talk peace, not threaten U.S.

As we cheered the flag on Independence Day, families in Iran wept in sorrow on a national day of mourning in that country. Iran Air Flight 655 was shot down on Sunday by the U.S. guided missile cruiser Vincennes, killing all 290 people aboard.

According to the U.S. Defense Department, the Vincennes mistook the Airbus for an Iranian F-14 fighter and the plane did not respond to radio warnings. Later reports indicate the airbus was also broadcasting radio transmissions on a military mode, Mode-2.

Commander of the Vincennes, Capt. Will Rogers III, sent a message to his superiors stressing that he had followed procedures and would make the same decision if faced again with the situation.

A captain's duty is to protect his crew by defensive measures when they are threatened. After all, we've gone that route before in the Persian Gulf when a jet has approached a U.S. vessel, only last time the error was by Iraq and the blood spilled was American.

Television has again brought the magnitude of the tragedy home with shots of dead men, women, children and babies being pulled from the cold sea. It is truly a terrible tragedy.

But false charges by Iran's revolutionary leader Ayatollah Khomeini claiming that the U.S. intentionally shot down the passenger jet are ludicrous and can only heighten tensions in the region.

What must be stopped is the eight-year war between Iraq and Iran which the Vatican has called "a never-ending conflict that has already sowed so much death and destruction."

President Reagan is urging Tehran to work with the United States to end the Persian Gulf war while a six-member Naval investigating team, headed by Rear Adm. William M. Fogarty, conducts an on-sight probe into the incident.

According to a report in Wednesday's New York Times, Secretary of State George P. Shultz disclosed Tuesday that before the airliner was shot down, Iranian officials had sent messages through third parties indicating a desire to open a direct dialogue with the United States and that the United States had responded positively.

Let us hope that sorrow over the loss of 290 innocent lives will escalate talks instead of threats, and that from the tragedy of war will come the triumph of peace.

High School students invade Eastern

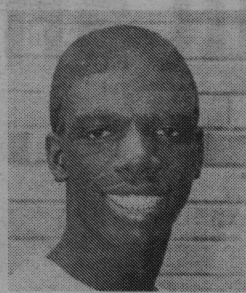

I have been informed that Eastern has been invaded by Chicago's Percy L. Julian High School. I am confident that these gifted, academic students will perform well in the classrooms.

As a graduate of Percy Julian High School, I know the meaning of the word "challenge." And taking college courses at Eastern will indeed be a challenge for these honors students. But remember this "Julianites," you are only what you make of yourself. If you think about failing you will fail. If you think this is a high school, you're sadly mistaken. You are now in college (temporarily) and you must conduct yourselves as college students.

I'm sure when you were little you use to play house and pretend that you were older than you really were. Well, this is your home away from home (for the time being), so you might try and play house while you're here (acting older and more mature than you really are). Don't act immature (if you can help it), be strong and most of all be productive. That's what college is for, to make students more productive and better thinkers. That way when you go out into the world seeking employment, you will at least have the basics under your belt.

Don't be afraid to ask people for help. That's what there're here for, to help you adjust to the college atmosphere. Everyone that attends Eastern was once a freshman, and they know how it feels to be "the new kid on the block."

If you don't understand something in class, raise your hand immediately and ask questions. Nine out of ten times, the question you ask is the same question everyone else wanted to ask (but was too afraid to ask). Whatever you do don't fall behind in class, because once you fall behind it's hard to catch up. You're not here to play "catch up," your're here to advance yourself in learning and in critical thinking. If you need help, there are tutors here to assist you in comprehending college material. There is also a writing and math center on campus, to support students weak in these areas.

This may not be Chicago, but it's all you've got to go on for five weeks, so make the best out of it. Charleston is only as fun as you make it. There are movies, inexpensive restaurants, bowling in the University Union and a whole lot more. Activities on campus are here for the enjoyment of students. Take advantage of what Eastern has to offer you, get all you can while you can.

Remember this Julianites, you're a representative of Percy Julian High School and the minority students of Chicago. What you do here reflects upon Julian and the minorities in Chicago. You have a vast opportunity to show Eastern what Julian has installed inside of it. No other public high school in Chicago can say they have a strong relationship with an Illinois University.

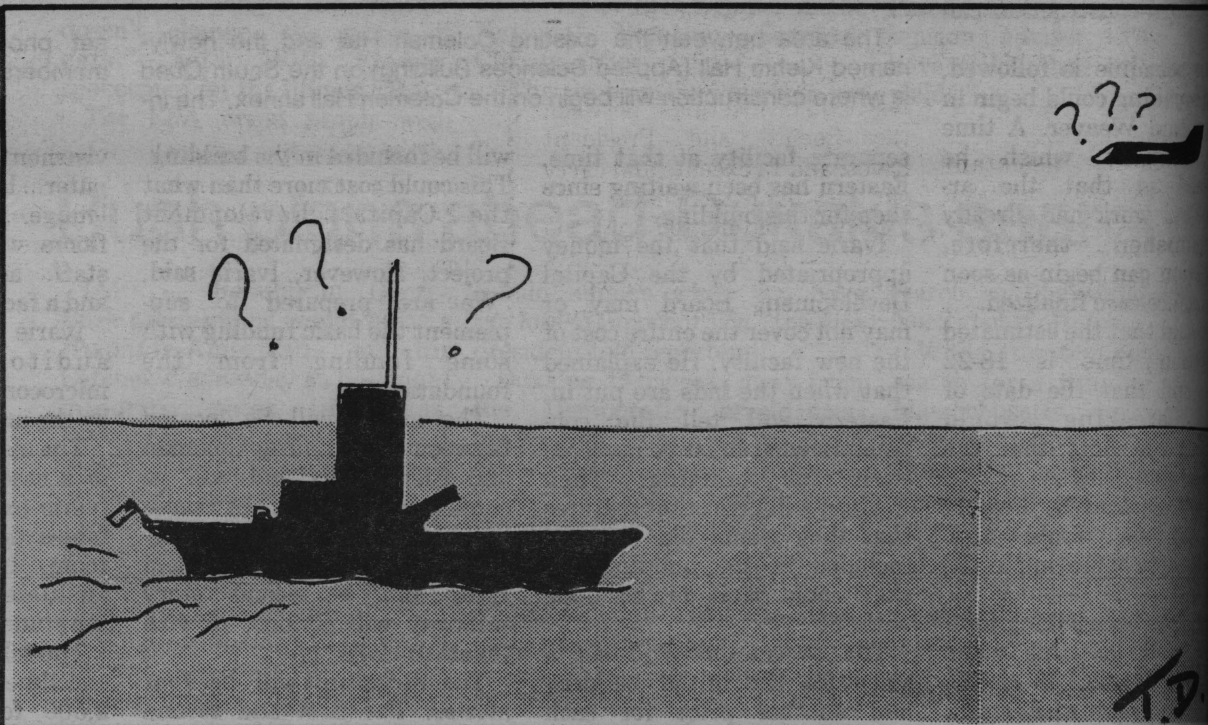

That puts you a step ahead of Whitney Young, DuSable, Park, Kenwood and other magnet schools in Chicago. Keep Dr. Percy Lavon Julian's dream alive, the students of PLJ will carry themselves in a manner befittingly.

I only hope that the love and fond memories for Julian is felt by you as well. As former editor of the student newspaper, Soul Searcher, at Julian, I know how good it feels to open up a paper and see a familiar face. Which is why I waited until today to have this column printed.

Today is your second day of class. Don't be nervous or scared, be brave and face the challenge of growing up. I know in the end you'll come out ok. Take your notes, listen carefully and sit up front (the ones who sit up front are usually the ones who do better).

I am so excited that you're here. I feel as if I have a brother and sister I never had is down here visiting. If I haven't said it already, I'll say it now, WELCOME, WELCOME!

—Wendell Hutson is a regular columnist for the summer edition of The Daily Eastern News.

Bailey concert will aid Brooke Jordan

By REBECCA GAMBILL
Staff writer

"As much (money) as possible," said Jay Martin of WSAK 106FM when asked the goal of the benefit concert for Brooke Jordan Friday night.

The Children's Organ Transplant Association and WSAK are sponsoring the free concert of Razy Bailey, country-western singer at 8 p.m. Friday in the Mattoon High School gymnasium.

Donations to the Brooke Jordan trust fund will be accepted at the concert, and all money from concessions will go to the trust fund.

Eleven-month-old Brooke of Mattoon had a liver transplant in early May at Chicago's Cook Children's Hospital and successfully returned home on June 17 with her parents.

Martin said that Brooke is, "recovering very well, but is still on anti-rejection medications."

Martin did not give an estimate of how many were expected to attend, but said, "We'd like at least 1,000. We'd certainly like 2,000 there."

WSAK and COTA are trying a new way of funding this benefit. Martin says they are, "Treading ground that we've never covered before," with this concert.

WSAK sold advertising to area merchants for the specific purpose of funding this concert. The merchants remain anonymous and WSAK donated the money brought in by this advertising to pay for the concert.

Concessions have been donated by local merchants so all money collected from this will go directly to the trust fund.

This is the first benefit that COTA has funded this way and, according to Martin, if the benefit goes well COTA will try this again for other children.

Presently the trust fund has $27,472. The money from the trust goes to pay for Brooke's medical bills, medicine and living expenses. Martin commented that the Jordan's lost many work hours during Brooke's hospitalization.

Foster new chair of Faculty Senate

By MIKE BROWN
Staff writer

Jerry Foster, assistant professor of sociology, has been elected chairman of the Faculty Senate, effective immediately. He is in the third year of his Senate term and will remain chairman for the remainder of his term.

Before becoming chairman, Foster was the executive secretary for the senate. He said this would help in the transition from John North, former chair, to himself, because he had to attend all meetings with North. Foster already knows all the tasks that are his responsibility. He said there should be no problem with the transition in the senate constitution in 1990 and if everybody acts within the bounds of the constitution.

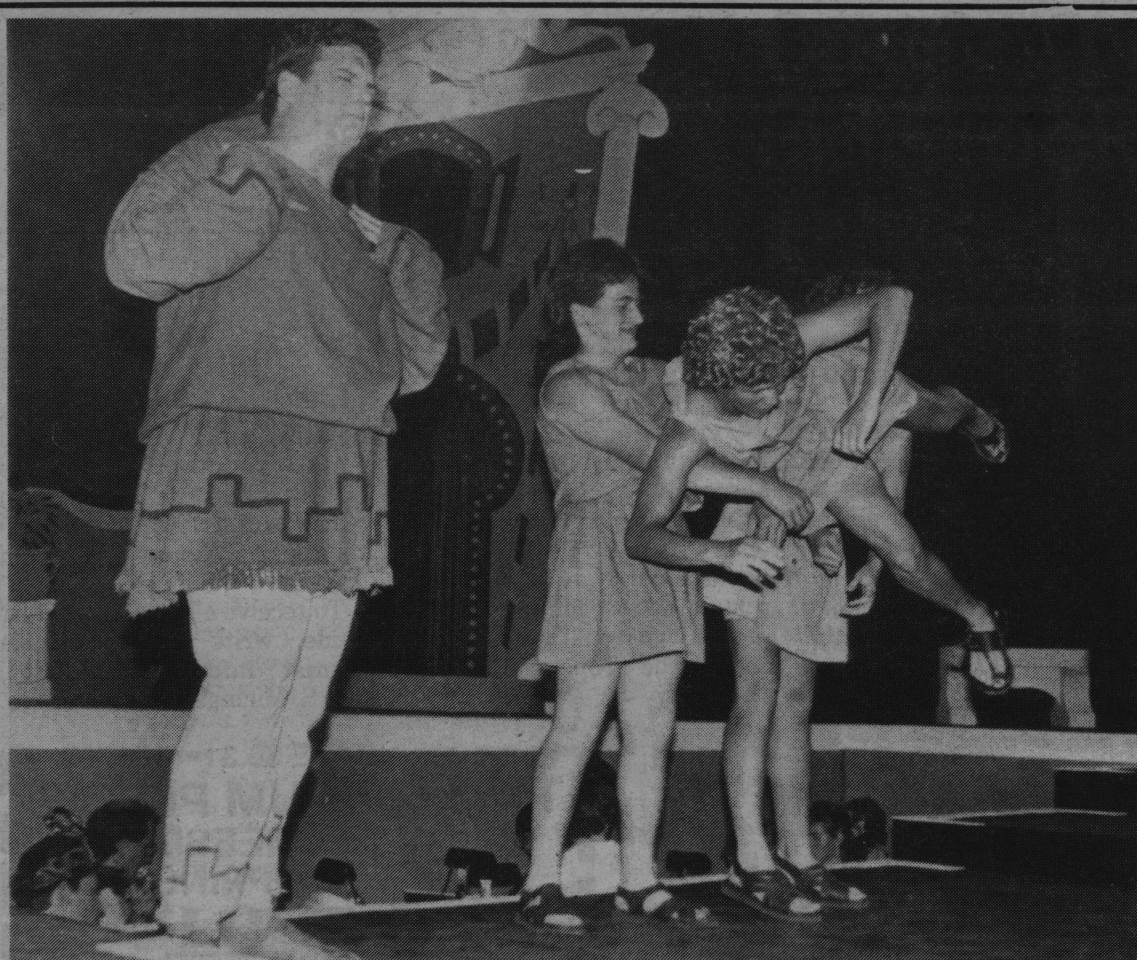

The duties of the chairman are to serve and function as the leading officer, schedule and reschedule meetings between the Senate and President Rives, and to execute and carry out the will of the Senate.

Foster commented on the goals and plans of the Faculty Senate in the future, "I would like to see the Senate continue to address the issues regarding the campus and faculty, with an emphasis on research, relationships between the faculty and students and faculty morale."

Foster would also like to continue the work and role of North. He added that there are no new significant issues to be addressed, but he will continue to address the short and long term issues.

Foster, a 1981 graduate of Kansas State University, came to Eastern in August 1981. He and his wife, Myra, are originally from Kentucky. They live with their three children in Charleston.

"...Forum" opens Friday

By JODY ELDER
Staff writer

After weeks of hard work, Eastern Illinois University's Summer Theatre Company proudly presents A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum.

This bawdy musical comedy opens at 8 p.m. Friday night at the Doudna Fine Arts Center Theatre and will continue at 8 p.m. July 9, 11, 12, and 13 with a 2 p.m. matinee July 10.

"It's just a fun play," said Jason Winfield, a member of the cast. "It's also a challenge to the actors because they must be able to act while reacting to the audience at the same time."

The comedy is a medley of all time-honored stock situations of farce from mistaken identities to desperate deceptions.

Terry Allen is directing with the help of June Johnson as musical director, Donna Conrad as costume director and C.P. Blanchette as set director.

The members of this talented cast are: Tom Schnarre, J. Sain, Alison Eudeikis, Jason Winfield, Jerry Eisenhour, Terry Allen, Bret Peppo, Ken Barnett, Rebecca Snead, Jana Ellison, Danielle Colbert, Cari Strangeman, Anglea Snead, Lisa V. Berg, Jenna Kyle, J.B. Faires, Brian Harris and Matt Gillispie.

Tickets can be obtained at the university theatre ticket office from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The cost of each ticket is $5 for adults, $4 for senior citizens and youth and $3 for EIU students.

If more information or reservations are needed call 581-3110 during the ticket office hours.

Oakland's Inn listed in new Ill. Bed and Breakfast guide

By REBECCA GAMBILL
Campus editor

The Inn on the Square, located in Oakland, is part of the first Illinois Bed & Breakfast guide which lists nearly 100 such facilities throughout Illinois.

The free guide describes Oakland's Inn on the Square, at 3 W. Montgomery, as a Williamsburg colonial house with a tea room, apparel shop, antique shop and gift shop.

The inn, owned by Matt and Carolyn Coon, charges $40 for a single plus tax and $45 for a double plus tax. This includes accommodations for the night and a full country breakfast in the morning.

The breakfast includes juice, fruit, a meat dish, an egg dish, different homemade breads and "the whole works," said Carolyn Coon.

Under one roof, complimenting the inn, are four charming businesses. The Window Pane Tea Room is open 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday and presents a style show each Wednesday of fashions from the inn's dress shop, The Top of the Inn Fashions.

The inn also houses The Front Parlor gift shop and a craft and antique shop.

There are two other inns in the area that are listed in the Bed & Breakfast guide. One is Arcola's Curly's Corner Bed & Breakfast, described as a modern ranch house set in Amish country. Another is Arthur's Favorite Brother Inn which is described as a turn-of-the-century house in Amish country.

To receive a Bed & Breakfast guide, write to the Illinois Tourist Information Center, 310 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Foreign students concern faculty

DAU DASHTI

The dramatic decrease in the number of international students has concerned the Faculty Senate to form a special committee to deal with the issue.

Most universities in the United States have a large number of international students, but not Eastern.

Since 1978, the number of international students on campus has been decreasing year after year. According to Charles Anderson, a former advisor for the Association of International Students, between 1973 to 1978, the time he was in office, Eastern had about 150 to 187 international students.

Today, there are 72 international students at Eastern from 16 countries. AIS (Association of International Students) and Faculty Senate together are trying to bring more international students for Fall semester.

"When I came to Eastern, the population of the students was less than 10,000, and today it has increased, but without having more foreigners," said Anthony Oseguera, chairman of the Senate's international students committee.

He added the international students, when they come to Eastern, brought with them their cultures and new points of view. "It is not the international students who need us, we need them," said Oseguera.

"We want our American students to know about the international students," said Brigitte Chen, AIS advisor.

Most of the students on campus have very basic information about the countries of the world, and international students can provide a good opportunity for American students to exchange their cultures with them. "The main reason to bring international students is to exchange culture experience," said Colleen Moore, secondary education instructor and member of the Senate committee.

She added there are two positive things behind the program: One is to increase the student's awareness about the world and help them to communicate with the international students. Second is the international students, some of who came from a country that has a higher education level, will help to build America by offering a new ideas.

"What we have at Eastern is a great deal of apathy," said Oseguera. He cited this as the main problem that American students face on campus. He said students are not interested in interacting with foreign students.

Mrs. Chen disagreed with the idea that the university wants to bring more international students because they pay more tuition than Americans, which is good for the school's budget. "We are not in business to make money from the international students," said Mrs. Chen.

She added that the university charges foreign students the same tuition as Americans from out of state.

Eastern offers some scholarships for international students as part of the program to register more foreign students, but lack of money has made the university offer fewer scholarships for international students. "A lot of international students applied for Eastern, but we don't have enough scholarships to offer them," said James Johnson, assistant dean in the office for student personal services.

Johnson said that the university has lowered the TOEFL (Teaching of English as a Foreign Language) score, but the problem (the decreasing of international students) has remained.

One way to attract foreign students is for the faculty to travel overseas to encourage more international students to attend Eastern. Talking to the students face to face will promote more interest in the university.

he subscribes to the principles of Ronald Reagan and his administration."

"I think a lot depends on the willingness of the Senate to fulfill its responsibility and inform someone," he said. "I would hope that someone would be confirmed and take over the day I leave office."

Meese announced Tuesday that he was resigning, effective July or early August. He said that he had been vindicated by the fact that independent counsel James McKay concluded an exhaustive investigation without seeking his indictment.

Meese acknowledged that the Office of Professional Responsibility, a Justice Department unit, may decide to pursue an ethics examination of Meese despite the fact that he is resigning. He said he saw no purpose in such a probe because "the task of OPR is to ensure integrity and adherence to regulations by (current) department officials."

Meese, in the CNN interview, said he had "no concerns on the score."

"This is something that someone else would have to determine, whether there is any reason to have such an inquiry. As I say, if there is, I'll be glad to answer all the questions," Meese said.

Fitzwater said that the "will be concerning processes and procedures and so forth over the next few days—ad criteria, collecting the names of candidates from various sources."

"So we are beginning the search immediately," he said. "I'd like to have a candidate replace the attorney general when he leaves, but you just can't predict what the candidate will be."

A new attorney general has been confirmed by the time Meese leaves, Fitzwater said, the administration probably will install Solicitor General Charles Fried in the job on an interim basis. Fried is outranked by two Justice Department members, Deputy Attorney General Harold Christensen and Associate Attorney General Francis Keatino, but neither has been confirmed by the Senate.

found guilty of committing any crimes in the investigation. However, Meese has not read the report prepared against him by independent counsel. Meese said he did not quit sooner because he did not want to "resign under a cloud."

"I have refused to bend to the constant drumbeat of political and media pressure," he said Tuesday at a press conference.

"He can now resign without looking guilty," said Dr. Peter Voelz, of the department of journalism.

Some instructors said that Reagan is partially to blame for Meese's unethical behavior over the past years. "He (Reagan) doesn't watch what's going on in his administration," said Tom Scism, a political science professor. "He has never been a good attorney general. He has done shady things in his time," added Scism.

With less than seven months in office, President Ronald Reagan must now select someone to fill Meese's shoes, once he steps out of them. Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson, a former federal prosecutor, has been rumored as a possible candidate.

"If I was him I would stay away from the Department of Justice. I would not want my reputation tarnished," Wandling said.

Public Notification Lead Contamination in Drinking Water

Congress legislated a ban on use of all lead solder and pipe as a part of the Safe Drinking Water Act Amendments of 1986. The language in those amendments requires that all public water supplies notify their water consumers of the potential dangers of lead in drinking water, and provide information regarding steps consumers can take to prevent ingesting water containing high lead levels.

Lead has been used in piping, solder, flux and plumbing appurtenances such as faucets for many years. Solder and flux used to join copper pipe contains lead. It is likely that some portion of your home or business plumbing system contains lead, if the system was constructed prior to the implementation of the lead ban in 1986.

Routine chemical sampling in Illinois has not confirmed lead above the national standard in the drinking water which leaves your local water treatment plant and enters the public water supply distribution systems. Contamination occurs within the private plumbing systems attached to the public water supply distribution system. Plumbing fixtures, solder containing lead and, in some cases, lead pipe, can permit lead to leach into the drinking water if water is left standing in the pipes for several hours, or if the water itself is somewhat corrosive. To prevent lead contamination, remember:

Use only cold water for drinking, cooking and preparing baby formula.

If water has not been run in your home, school or business for several hours, (overnight, on weekends, during vacation periods), turn on the tap and allow the water to run until you feel a temperature change. This will remove or flush the water which has been standing in the pipes and supply water directly from the public water supply distribution system piping. It is very important that school custodians flush the drinking fountains each morning before children arrive.

Home softners should not be plumbed to the cold water which is used for drinking and cooking. A separate pipe can be installed for cooking and drinking, or the softener can be installed to include only hot water processing.

Place a glass or pitcher of water in the bedroom or bathroom for small children or members of the family who get up in the night for a drink of water. Store some drinking water in a glass jug in the refrigerator for drinking.

Be sure small children understand the importance of allowing the water to run until the temperature changes before drinking.

The water source for Eastern Illinois University is the City of Charleston. The City of Charleston Water Treatment Plant practices water treatment to minimize the dissolving of lead from your plumbing into your drinking water. The City of Charleston Water Treatment Plant treats your drinking water using the following methods:

Water produced by the City of Charleston Water Treatment Plant is in compliance with state and federal limits for lead in drinking water. Water is filtered, softened using lime, and disinfected using chlorine. Fluoride is added to prevent dental caries. Stabilization using chemical treatment to adjust the pH and hardness of your water is practiced to prevent corrosion of piping. The layer is thin enough to prevent flow restriction or tuberculation, but thick enough to provide a buffer against corrosion.

The average lead content in the water delivered to your home is less than 5 parts per billion allowed by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

If you think lead has been used in your home plumbing system, conduct this easy test of pipes or solder. A key or screwdriver can be used to scratch the surface of any dull grey pipe or soldered joint. If the metal scratches easily and appears bright silver, the pipe or solder is most likely lead. Consult with a licensed plumber to discuss whether or not lead is present in your plumbing system, and which methods you can use to remove the lead from your home or business.

Question concerning lead in drinking water should be directed to:

Questions regarding Water Treatment and Distribution: Dick Sherman, City of Charleston Water Superintendent, 345-2977, for Eastern Illinois University Campus: Victor, E. Robeson, Director of Physical Plant, 581-2178, Questions regarding plumbing regulations should be directed to: Jeff Finley, City of Charleston Building and Zoning Officer, 345-4741, for EIU: Tom Cross, Plumbing Foreman, 581-2178.

Jim Wright, City of Charleston Plumbing Inspector, 345-4741, or Gary Swank, State Plumbing Inspector, 1-333-6914.

Questions regarding actual health effects information or physical screening should be directed to: your personal physician, pediatrician or obstetrician; or the Coles County Public Health Department, for Eastern Illinois University, Health Services in the Clinical Services Building, 581-3013.

Questions regarding sampling and analysis of your home or business water should be directed to a laboratory certified to perform lead analysis is available from Dick Sherman, Water Superintendent, 2600 McKinley Avenue, 345-2977 or at the Water Department Office, 520 Jackson Avenue, Charleston, Ill. 61920.

USEPA has a toll-free Safe Drinking Water Act hotline. Questions regarding federal regulations should be referred to this number, 1-800-426-4791.

The following information is required by USEPA to be included in all public notification issued:

"The United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million

(ppm) (this is equivalent to 50 parts per billion). Based on new health information, USEPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

USEPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

- if your home or water system has lead pipes, or
- if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
- if the home is less than five years old, or
- if you have soft or acidic water, or
- if water sits in the pipes for several hours.

When using water which has been standing in your system for several hours or longer, be sure to flush the system as recommended above.

Director, Physical Plant

Summer 1988 Commencement

Commencement instruction letter and regalia order forms were mailed late last week to Summer 1988 graduation candidates to permanent addresses. Deadline for cap and gown orders to reach Collegiate in Champaign is JULY 18. If your mail order does not arrive there by that date, we assume you are not going to participate in the August 7 Commencement ceremony. If a letter/packet did not arrive at your permanent address and you do wish to participate, contact University Relations/Commencement Office (581-5981, Old Main) for assistance. Faculty wishing to rent regalia should contact that office also.

Cap and gown handout times and locations will be as follows:

- Thur., Aug. 4—from 10-4, Old Ballroom
- Fri., Aug. 5—from 1-6, Old Ballroom
- Sun., Aug. 7—from 1-3, Fieldhouse

Rehearsal will be held Friday, August 5, at 6:30 p.m. in Lantz Fieldhouse.

Unclear Records

The academic records for students who have outstanding obligations with such departments as Athletic Department, Textbook Rental Service, Booth Library, Financial Aids, Chemistry Department, Security, Housing, etc., will be marked unclear. Each student should check with all departments prior to semester or summer term breaks and/or leaving the university permanently.

Transcripts of the academic records of any student with an unclear record will be withheld and not sent to any one or any place. If the obligation is extremely serious or prolonged, it may result in a complete hold on a student's record, which includes withholding grade

White Sox to replace Comiskey

In a ceremony behind home plate at aging Comiskey Park, Gov. James R. Thompson signed into law Wednesday night a bill providing financing to build a stadium for the Chicago White Sox.

"I want to send the message that Chicago is most American of all cities and Illinois is most American of all states," Thompson said.

The White Sox threatened to move to Petersburg, Fla., if the Illinois General Assembly didn't come up with a financing package to build the American League team a replacement for the 10-year-old Comiskey, the oldest ballpark in the major leagues.

"We don't give up anything in Chicago and we don't let anyone take anything from us," said Thompson, flanked by Chicago Mayor Eugene Sawyer and White Sox owners Jerry Reinsdorf and Eddie Einhorn.

"We are a two-team city and we will always be a two-team city. You and I will attend a Sox World Series," Republican governor said in a speech minutes before the White Sox took the field against the Baltimore Orioles.

Giants shut out Cubs a second straight day

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jose Uribe doubled and scored on two sacrifice bunts and Rick Reuschel and two relievers combined on a seven-hitter as the San Francisco Giants defeated Chicago 2-0 Wednesday to shut out the Cubs for the second straight game.

The Giants have won 10 out of their last 13 games. It was the first time this season they had back-to-back shutouts.

Reuschel, 11-4, allowed six hits, walked none and struck out four to win for the fifth time in six decisions. Craig Lefferts allowed one hit in the ninth before giving way to Scott Garrelts with two outs. Garrelts earned his seventh save.

Jamie Moyer, 5-8, gave up four hits and two walks and struck out one before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The Giants took a 1-0 lead in the third when Uribe led off with a double high against the left-field fence and scored on sacrifice bunts by Reuschel and Donell Nixon.

San Francisco added an insurance run in the eighth when pinch-hitter Harry Spilman doubled, took third on an infield hit and scored on Robby Thompson's single.

The Giants had blown a scoring opportunity in the sixth inning when Nixon became the fourth player in major-league history to be caught stealing twice in one inning.

Nixon led off with a single but was apparently picked off when Moyer threw behind him to first baseman Mark Grace. Nixon, who stole 144 bases at Bakerfield in 1983, broke for second and was safe when Grace's throw was dropped by second baseman Ryne Sandberg for an error. Even though he was safe, official scoring rules say that Nixon was caught stealing. Nixon reacted third on sacrifice but was caught trying to steal home.

The other players to be caught stealing twice are Don Baylor in 1974 and Jim Morrison and Paul Noe in 1987.

The Giants, in their 45th home game, passed the million mark in attendance with 21,884 fans at Candlestick Park.

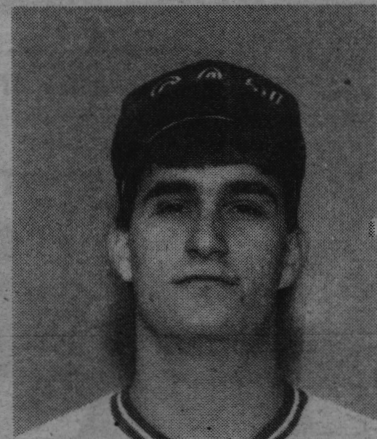

Taylor signed by Athletics to pitch for Arizona minors

Eastern Illinois University senior right-hander Bill Taylor, 1988 Association of Mid-Continent Universities pitcher of the year, signed a free-agent contract June 30 with the Oakland A's.

Taylor, who tied for the league lead in victories with an 8-3 record and 3.26 earned run average, has been assigned to a rookie league in Arizona. He became the 25th EIU player to sign under Coach Tom McDevitt.

"I talked to the A's scouting director about 10 days ago, and he had seen Bill pitch at the conference tournament," said McDevitt, who announced his retirement in May after 11 seasons. "I expected Bill to sign. Doggone right, I expected it after the kind of year he had. I can't believe somebody passed him up in the draft. But there's 40-50 guys in the major leagues who signed as free agents."

Taylor recorded 50

Bill Taylor

strikeouts and 35 walks in 60 2/3 innings in his only year with the Panthers. He appeared in 17 games, with seven starts.

"Bill has got an above-average major league fastball," McDevitt said. "I've got him at 88 miles per hour on a Ray gun and that's the slow one. At 95 miles per hour for the A's gun."

"But he's got to learn to pitch. Presently, he's a thrower. He's got a quality and all the right tools. He's a good size at 6-4 and determined. He's a competitor. Bill has a lot of positive things going for him. If he learns to change speeds and gets control, he's got a chance."

Taylor became the first Eastern player to sign a professional contract this summer. He was selected in the first round by Oakland and outfielder Shannon Coppel was chosen the 15th round by the San Francisco Giants.

The Panthers posted their 17th consecutive season of 15 or better this spring with a 23 overall record.

Koch to lecture on baseball personalities

On Monday, July 11, The Coles County Historical Society and the History Department of Eastern Illinois University will be sponsoring a public lecture on many of the great personalities of American baseball. The speaker will be Dr. Raymond Koch of Eastern's history department, who for the past ten years has taught a course on American sports, which is a popular elective for students. The lecture begins at 7 p.m. in Coleman Hall 121, and is open and free of charge to the public.
