Edgar faces same old budget woes

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — For Gov. Jim Edgar, it must be deja vu — the major fiscal questions he will address this week in his third budget address are the same ones he addressed in past budgets.

From the income tax surcharge to user fees to the Medicaid tax, old problems are rising up after quick fixes last year. And if the questions are familiar, the resulting political battles will be familiar too.

Local governments, for instance, are already complaining because Edgar has hinted he will propose diverting the $280 million surcharge from local government to education and child-welfare programs.

"We don't spend the money unwisely," Chicago Mayor Richard Daley said Monday at a news conference of mayors. "You're talking about basic services." Nursing homes and hospitals will gripe about extending the $700 million Medicaid tax, but no one has suggested a politically palatable alternative.

And Democrats may repeat last year's opposition to user fees, a move that ties Edgar's hands financially while letting Democrats seem more concerned about people's budgets.

At least Wednesday's budget proposal, unlike the first two, comes during a time of good economic news. State revenues won't be frozen by recession this coming fiscal year, experts say. But the thaw will be small — 3 percent, or $429 million, according to one forecast.

The courts are forcing Illinois to beef up its troubled Department of Children and Family Services, and most state workers are scheduled to get raises this year. The state also has almost $600 million worth of unpaid bills at any given moment — "a crisis" says Comptroller Dawn Clark Netsch.

Those problems will absorb the natural

Women's Awareness Month events planned

By TERESA JOHNSON
 Staff writer

The Women's Studies Council will sponsor Women's History and Awareness Month, which includes a variety of activities and speakers throughout the entire month of March.

"Come Back to the Five and Dime, Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean," a play focusing on society in 1955, will have its first performance at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Fine Arts Building.

"Women in 1955 had formed a club of James Dean disciples," said Marjorie Duehmig, the play's director. "He died Sept 30, 1955 and 20 years later, they got together for a reunion."

"The play deals with women. Fifteen women in the play are from different perspectives facing their fears and admitting they have lied," Duehmig said.

The play will also be held at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and 2 p.m. on Sunday. The play also runs March 11 and 12.

Bartling said she hopes an awareness of women's roles that have been played in the past, and will play in the future, will be shown.

The first event for Women's History Month was Monday, when the Women's Studies Council sponsored "Discover the Voices of Women in Research," a panel that was held in the Charleston/Mattoon Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

The purpose of the panel was to discuss topics relating to women's lives and professions.

The panel included faculty members, Susan Kaufman, associate professor of journalism; Carol Lundgren, associate professor of business; Judy Oehler-Stinnett, assistant professor of psychology; Genie Lenihan, of the counseling services; and Karen Lavarick Sanders, professor of music.

Events in conjunction with the rest of and Awareness

Women's History and Awareness Month scheduled for this week include:

- Abortion Rights, a lecture sponsored by University Board, will be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union Ballroom. Speaker Janet Benshoof has been director of the Reproductive Freedom Project of the American Civil Liberties Union since 1977.

- Carlos Cortez, will be speaking on the topic of "Cultural Diversity in the Curriculum" at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Lumpkin Hall auditorium. The events are sponsored by the Women's Studies Council, the Eastern colleges of business and education, and the Eastern Cultural Diversity Professorship Committee.

- The Patchwork '93 Concert will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Rathskellar of the Union. It is co-sponsored by the Charleston Area Arts Council, Information Service and the Women's Studies Council.

- Professor Melinda Hagarty will give a lecture entitled "Civic Patronage in Late Quattrocento Florence," at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Booth Library Lecture Hall co-sponsored by the American Association of University Professors Lecture Series and the Office of the President.

- Marge Percy, a feminist writer, will lecture at 7:30 p.m. March 11 at the Tarble Arts Center.

City to authorize panel search for city manager

By KAREN MEDINA
 City editor

The Charleston City Council will consider a resolution to authorize an advisory panel to search for a city administrator Tuesday in its regular monthly meeting.

The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the City Council Chambers, 520 Jackson Ave.

When asked about the position and the resolution concerning the advisory panel, Streets Commissioner Jim Dunn speculated that the committee chosen would propose what a city administrator's responsibilities would entail.

He added that the city council meeting would further set aside time to discuss candidates for the panel.

The creation of city administrator posts have become popular additions to local governments in the past several decades. They traditionally work with the mayor and city council as full-time professionals dealing with day-to-day city business and planning.

However, each city choosing to hire a city administrator, or city planner as they are sometimes called, is largely free to decide for itself what specific duties the position involves.

The job is often established to add a measure of professionalism to municipal governments where commissioners and the mayor are part-time jobs.

Also on Tuesday's agenda is the rehearing of three requests for liquor license reclassifications.

The requests heard will offer tavern owners the opportunity to be judged on their own merits after two tavern owners were denied requests last month.

Stix Billard Bar and Restaurant, 1421 Fourth St., and Jokers, 1412 Fourth St., were denied their first requests for license revisions.

Stix owner Don Yost asked the city council to change his liquor license from a Class C license, which is limited to sale of beer and wine, to a Class D restaurant license.

Union selects its delegate to Washington conference

By SHERRY SIDWELL
Student government editor

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Allies Union named newsletter director Shannon Henne as its representative to the Demand Diversity conference in Washington D.C. at its regular Monday meeting.

The conference on cultural diversity will take place March 4-6. Representatives going to the conference include one member each from the Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Allies Union, the Black Student Union, the Hispanic Student Union and Student Government.

Also at the meeting, the union continued its discussion on hosting a coffee house poetry reading Sunday at 6 p.m.

The poetry reading will be an open microphone event for anyone wishing to speak or perform, executive director Seth Rodgers said. Possible locations for the event include the African American Cultural Center, Phipps Lecture Hall in the Science Building or the Booth Library Lecture Hall.

Discussion also continued on the upcoming Gay Awareness Week, which will take place April 25-30. The event is scheduled to coincide with the April 23-25 Gay Pride Parade in Washington D.C., Rodgers said.

The union plans to set up information tables in Coleman Hall on April 25, 27 and 28 and sell ribbons and buttons supporting gay rights. Union members also discussed the possibility of holding forums in the residence halls, setting up a library display and creating posters to depict famous gays and lesbians in history.

Charleston square owned by Taki Iatropoulos, has also requested a restaurant license.

Joker's license request would be changed from a Class C license to a Class A license allowing sale of packaged alcohol. Charleston bar owners currently hold 12 Class A licenses.

Charleston allows only nine Class D licenses, seven of which local restaurants currently hold.

In other business, the council will vote on the watershed zoning ordinance that regulates construction and logging activity in the Lake Charleston reservoir area.

The ordinance is designed for further degradation of the city's water quality.

The council will also hear a resolution authorizing agreement of the library (computer funding).

The Charleston Library Committee requested funds from the city for a new computer system at last month's meeting. The library committee presented a new system, Dynaxz, which would enable patrons to request books from university libraries.

revenue growth.

So any added spending — and Edgar has promised increases for agriculture and education — must come from somewhere else. The biggest "somewhere else" is the surcharge, approved for two years in 1989 and then renewed in different forms in 1991 and 1992.

The surcharge, which adds .25 percentage points to personal income tax rate, is split between cities and the state. Edgar could put city officials in the awkward position of opposing more spending for schools and children's health programs.

Another somewhere else is user fees, such as entrance fees to state parks and historic sites. Democrats opposed such fees, but Edgar has said he will push for them again.

Search for new bookstore manager gets under way

By VICKI MARTINKA
Staff writer

Eastern's department of Human Resources has begun advertising the position of bookstore manager for the University Union Bookstore, a position that became vacant about the same time that the Illinois State Police Department began its investigation of purchasing irregularities in early November.

The position first became vacant when the previous manager, Myrah Marks, left for unknown reasons in early November. Molly Grady has been the acting manager since Marks' departure.

Maj. Robert Crites, supervisor the state police investigation did not return phone calls Monday. The investigation has been ongoing since November.

Crites has said previously the reason the investigation has lagged was due to early retirement paperwork of state police officials and other ongoing investigations.

Acting Vice President for Student Affairs Lou Hencken said that Grady previously was the assistant manager of the bookstore, and she was eligible according to civil service requirements for the position of manager.

Grady said she has already applied for the open position.

According to a classified ad in Monday's Times-Courier, applicants for the position should have a bachelor's degree or four years experience in a commercial operation with the responsibility of buying and selling.

In addition, a combination of the above is acceptable if the applicant's experience was in a private or university owned college bookstore and had an additional two years of experience in a private or university-owned college bookstore in a supervisory capacity.

Patricia Hill, employment manager for the department of human resources, said that for someone to be considered for an interview, applicants must first take a civil service examination.

"People with the three highest scores on the civil service test go in for an interview," Hill said.

Joan Gossett, director of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union, said the main duties of a Union bookstore manager include buying and selling merchandise for the store, paying the bills, managing the supervising the students working at the store and making a schedule hours for the employees.

Textbook committee to begin formulating recommendations

By DAVID M. PUTNEY
Administration editor

Eastern's Textbook Rental Committee will continue to sift through information gathered at its Feb. 16 forum in order to begin formulating its recommendations, said the committee's co-chairs.

The committee will meet at 5 p.m. Tuesday in a McDonalds meeting room in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

About 80 people attended the forum, so the committee is taking longer than expected to discuss all of the issues raised, said committee co-chair Kara Restagno.

The forum featured both faculty and students discussing the current rental service. The entire meeting had been taped and the committee is picking out issues from the recording.

Committee co-chair Richard Wandling said he wants to get done with the information from the forum and begin pointing the committee toward its final goal of formulating recommendations by next week's meeting.

"We are trying to get to the point of where all members of the committee have some appreciation of the arguments made by both sides," Wandling said. "We are going to pick up where we ended last meeting."

The committee still plans to make recommendations by the first week in April, Restagno said.

Restagno said she also expects to begin formulating the committee's findings by next week.

Wandling said the committee has still working well together, despite initial worries that the process might have been derailed.

Female poetry focus of reading

By BRIAN HUCHEL
Staff writer

The Dudley House Open Poetry group will focus on women as its theme at their second reading of the year at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

"The subject of this month's reading will be poetry by and about women," said Nan Hennings, director of literature of the Charleston Area Fine Arts Council. "This topic was chosen simply because March is Women's History Month."

Dudley House is located at 895 Seventh Street. The reading is sponsored by the Charleston Area Arts Council and is open to the public.

As part of the readings, the poetry group will allow people to bring in and read their own poetry and the poetry of other authors.

"We encourage everyone to bring in both their own poetry about women and poetry from other writers," Hennings said. "By doing this, people are able to open their mind up to different ideas and different kinds of poetry other than their own.

"The poetry can be either comedic or dramatic. It also can be as old as the Bible. It doesn't matter."

Because the group is open to the public, Hennings said the meeting's attendance is usually high.

"On average, the group has an attendance of about 15 to 20 people," she said. "It is hard to tell, however, because it can vary a great deal. The number of people who attend usually depends on how much publicity the reading is given."

Hennings said that the number of females present at the readings will not change because of the topic.

"I think there will be just as many females as there are males at the meeting," Hennings said. "As far as I am concerned, the group is open to all sexes."

Overall, Hennings said the Dudley House Open Poetry group is very successful.

"I think the group helps to bring the community together," Hennings said.

Buzzard flying high with new capital project

It is the largest capital development project in higher education; it left much of Eastern's faculty jumping for joy; but more importantly, it was a great move.

Gov. Jim Edgar unveiled part of his 1994 budget proposal Wednesday when he said he would recommend an $11.3 million renovation of Eastern's Buzzard Building. The proposal would be the first major construction effort to take place in the 35-year life span of the building.

Eastern has waited approximately 10 years for the governor's recommendation to renovate Buzzard. The request was warmly received, and should continue to be applauded by the university community.

"This project will allow this facility to be up to standards to meet the needs of Eastern Illinois University as we move into the 21st century," Edgar said at a press conference last week.

Buzzard Building, which was built in 1958, was long overdue for an overhaul. The building has foot traffic of more than 3,000 students a day and houses Eastern most prominent college, the College of Education.

The project will create 54,737 feet of useable space on the first floor and 38,335 feet on the second. According to the preliminary plans, 14 classrooms, three computer laboratories and three child development laboratories will be created, as well as additional space for the College of Education and journalism/student publications are planned.

Other construction would include total inside and outside renovation, central heating and air conditioning, replacement of the roof and new windows.

This recommendation — along with the $1.4 million renovation request for Lake Land Community College in Mattoon — demonstrates Edgar's dedication not only to education, but to his home area as well.

Renovation of Buzzard means new and better technology, a more attractive campus, a better reputation and a building that will allow the university to maintain itself in the areas of education and journalism for the next 10 years.

Spring Break can sometimes bite

Spring break is usually a time that many students look forward to with great anticipation and excitement.

Plans for a week-long trip to Cancun or Padre, or some other southern paradise, appears in almost every student's head about this time of year. Of course, not all students get to make that trip far from the Midwest, but many wish they could.

Some students even start planning a year in advance, so they can be sure to get reservations where they want them or to make sure they will be able to get the funds to support such a venture. I know several students who get spring break packages for Christmas, their birthdays or some other auspicious occasion.

Ever since I was a freshman, I have wanted to go to Daytona or some other warm environment where I will be surrounded by millions of people my age. I've heard wonderful tales from other spring break goers, and I've just itched for the chance to experience a collegiate spring break with a few of my friends.

I've always wanted to swim in the ocean, get a tan in the middle of March and just get away from school for a week. The closest I've ever come to the ocean was in December when I stood on huge rocks in a Connecticut harbor and let the cold Atlantic wind whip my coat.

I even stuck my fingers in the salty water. However, the water in a Connecticut harbor in the middle of December wasn't quite warm enough to swim in. The rocky beaches wouldn't allow any sunbathing either.

Cassie Simpson

So, my freshman year I swore that by the time I graduated from college I would go on a spring break trip. The only thing wrong with that is no one gives away free trips, so I didn't go anywhere in freshman or sophomore years.

I thought maybe I would get to go this year, but I didn't put much hope in it.

So, I figured I would probably stick around Charleston and catch up on things that I've let slide and just relax for the week. I was actually looking forward to having time to do what I wanted or do nothing.

Then a recent and very persistent toothache made me schedule an appointment with a dentist on Monday. An X-ray of my mouth showed three very crooked wisdom teeth coming in at directions a little bit off from what they were supposed to be. The fourth tooth would be useless unless I wanted to bite myself.

No thanks.

The dentist scheduled me an appointment with an oral surgeon to get my teeth removed over spring break so I wouldn't miss any of my classes.

Exactly what I wanted to do — spend my week drugged and asleep.

I'm not a good sick person, as almost anyone can tell you, and I imagine that week will be hell for my caretaker.

So, as most of Eastern's population are enjoying themselves on the beach or in a bar, I'll be in my bed, with lots of painkillers.

Not exactly your average run-of-the-mill spring break. And definitely not what I wanted.

Perhaps next year I'll finally make it south, but somehow I really doubt it.

Your turn...

Recent speech typifies BOG kill bill rhetoric

Dear editor:

This letter is to set the record straight. There is no plan by the Board of Governors Universities to rename Eastern or to "even out enrollment" in the system by assigning students to the university of the BOG's choice. Both assertions were attributed to Rep. Mike Weaver in a story from The Daily Eastern News about a recent speech ("Weaver: It is time for BOG elimination," Feb. 17).

The claim that the BOG has plans to simply assign all student applicants to one of five BOG universities defies reason. Students apply to individual universities for specific and very personal reasons and would strongly resist any interference. At the three Chicago commuter universities, most of the students are placebound and not only would not, but could not move.

The claim that logos exist or ever existed which rename Eastern "The Board of Governors University at Charleston" is untrue. Over the past three years, much time and effort has been spent by both the BOG and Eastern on improving and focusing Eastern's message to its constituents.

The development of the now two-year-old Eastern logo was part of that effort. A logo change, much less a name change, would reverse everything accomplished.

There are problems with some of Weaver's other assertions concerning the advantages of the Task Force proposal that recommends the elimination of the BOG and the Board of Regents — in particular the claims that the proposal will save money and increase accountability. But those disagreements will be part of a healthy public policy debate this spring.

In the meantime, misinformation will only inflame emotions and sidetrack this important discussion.

Michelle Brazell
BOG assistant vice chancellor

The Daily Eastern News encourages letters to the editor concerning any local, state, national or international issue.

Letters should be less than 350 words. For the letter to be printed, the name of the author, in addition to the author's address and telephone number, must be included. If necessary, letters will be edited according to length and space at the discretion of the edit page editor or editor in chief.

Anonymous letters will not be printed.

If a letter has more than three authors, only the names of the first three will be printed.

Board to consider money for work-study job funding

by DAVID M. PUTNEY
administration editor

Eastern may receive $55,000 to provide work-study jobs for students next year if the Illinois Board of Higher Education approves the money Tuesday.

The money is part of the Illinois Cooperative Work Study program, which placed 30 Eastern students in jobs last year. Overall, $1 million has been allocated for the program statewide, which is enough to fund 28 programs for 2,500 programs.

The IBHE will hold its regular meeting at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Westin Hotel in Chicago.

Students in the program are offered internships at businesses such as the Chicago Tribune, county conservation districts and the Illinois Natural History Survey.

The program seeks to reduce reliance on state financial aid while improving universities' ties with business, said IBHE spokeswoman Deb Smitley.

Students in the program are paid $5 to $7 per hour, half of which comes from the state and the other half from the business which employs the student.

In other business Tuesday, the IBHE will be updated on information from four reports urging universities to re-examine the priorities of their budget expenditures.

One of the reports reveals that universities have funded research at the expense of undergraduate programs and building maintenance. Statewide, funding for instruction increased from 2.6 percent while departmental research increased 17 percent from 1990 to 1992. In that period, repair and maintenance expenditures fell 2.7 percent.

The report said that most of this funding came from increases in tuition. These must be examined to see if the state wants to continue these trends, the report says.

According to a report on research expenditures, Eastern spent more than $3 million for research, nearly twice as much as any other Board of Governors school.

The report urges universities to re-examine their research expenditures to put universities more in line with their mission statements. Eastern's mission emphasizes undergraduate education.

The IBHE will also discuss a report on state support for intercollegiate athletics. The Priority, Quality and Productivity initiative seeks to eliminate state funding for athletics and channel the money saved into academic programs.

Athletics receive state support through tuition waivers and use of Monetary Award Program grants to pay athletic fees, the report says. The total dollar amount of academic and athletic tuition waivers a school can give is set by law. As a result, the statewide 12.6 percent increase in the number of athletic tuition waivers from 1990 to 1992 came at the expense of academic scholarships, the report said.

According to report figures, the dollar amount of academic scholarships at Eastern remained steady from 1990 to 1992, but the dollar amount of athletic waivers increased $12,000.

In addition, Eastern spends $2.6 million, or about $232 per student on athletics. About 1.7 percent of Eastern's state appropriation goes to athletics, the second highest figure in the state.

In Illinois, state support for athletics totalled $12.9 percent or $76.92 per student.

The report estimates that by cutting state athletic contributions at universities, $7 million could be reallocated into academic areas.

Another report to be submitted to the IBHE will outline the state's system of off-campus course offerings. It urges colleges to examine the courses in four ways.

- Universities should concentrate off-campus courses in their primary service area.
- Universities should coordinate their activities to prevent duplication of course offered in the same area.
- Universities should examine telecommunications technologies to lower costs.
- Universities should offer off-campus courses to fill statewide needs, not just regional needs.

UB to continue its budget requests for 1993-94 year

By EAN ESKRA
Staff writer

The University Board will continue budget presentations for the 1993-94 year to the Apportionment Board at its regular meeting Tuesday.

The AB will meet at 7 p.m. in the Arcola-Tuscola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

The Special Events Committee's budget request will triple from last year's request of $6,026 to $18,440. AB Chairman Ron Carmona said this occurred because of UB plans to hold a Spring Fest next year.

Earlier this month during the additional allocations process, the Special Events Committee was denied additional funds which would have provided for a Spring Fest this year. The event would have included free concerts, a three-on-three basketball tournament and a "human fly" wall of Velcro.

"Poor planning" on the part of the Special Events Committee was blamed for the cancellation after it failed to budget funds for security or schedule a rain

Carmona said he thinks the presentation for next year's Spring Fest will be better because the UB has had more time to plan the event. He also said it will provide more information to aid the AB in making a decision.

Other UB committee requests include:

- $21,640 for the Subway Committee.
- $35,740 for the Performing Arts Committee.
- $23,464 for the Human Potential Committee, which funds events such as Black History Month, Cultural Diversity Week, Latino Awareness Week and Women's Awareness Month.

- $17,700 for the Movies Committee.
- $6,350 for the Productions Committee.
- $1,815 for the Graphics Committee.

Carmona said none of these budgets has changed significantly from last year.

"All of the budget presentations look good so far," Carmona said. "It will be really tough to decide where to make cuts, but, unfortunately, we don't have enough money to fund everything."

Three ensembles to perform Tuesday

By BRIAN HUCHEL
Staff writer

Three of Eastern's choral ensembles will perform a free winter concert at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Dvorak Concert Hall.

The music ensemble will consist of performances by the University Mixed Choir, the University Chamber Singers and the University Concert Choir. Tuesday's event will begin with several performances by the 40-member University Mixed Choir under the direction of Robert Hills.

Some pieces to be performed are "Cantate Domino" by Hans Leo Hassler and five songs by Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy. Steven McCann, a junior from Hoopeston, will accompany the choir on piano and organ.

Following the mixed choir will be, who will perform five sections, the University Chamber Singers of five selections, including Scarlatti's "Exultate Deo" and "Music When Soft Voices Die" by C. Hubert Parry.

The University Concert will conclude the concert with nine selections, including "Glory to God in the Highest" by Randall Thompson and "Sicut Cervus Desiderat Ad Fontes" by G.P. da Palestrina.

Both the chamber singers and concert choir are directed by C. Wallace Hinson. Hinson is a member of the music department assuming responsibility for the chamber singers and concert choir from music professor Robert Snyder, who is on a semester's leave.

Hinson attended the University of Central Arkansas where he received his bachelor's degree in music education in 1984 and two years later received his master's. Hinson is currently working on a doctorate of musical arts at the University of Illinois.

Bankers oppose Clinton's proposed loan program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bankers who would lose millions of dollars annually under President Clinton's plan to bypass them on student loans, will try to kill the bill Tuesday.

About 60 bankers, trying to end their success last year in blocking proposed changes in the federal student loan program, planned a lobbying effort by members of Congress.

"We've suggested that they make appointments with their congressional delegations," said Fritz Kendorf of the Consumer Bankers Association.

"We feel that there's not very much understanding of either the existing student loan program or the Clinton proposal, and we're trying to raise the level of debate," he said.

But some lawmakers are criticizing the bankers. And congressional aides say it could backfire.

"I don't think anybody's going to look at them and think they're that much worried about students," said a congressional aide who spoke on condition of anonymity. "They're just worried about their own profits." Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill., an ardent proponent of switching to so-called direct loans, said in a newspaper column that the bankers had "declared war" on Clinton's plan.

Under Clinton's plan and proposals backed by some members of Congress, loan money would go directly from the federal government to schools, which would then distribute it to students much the way they now do grant funds.

Parking stubs provide some leads in New York bombing

NEW YORK (AP) — A check of parking stubs produced some leads in the bombing of the World Trade Center, investigators said Monday.

Authorities also obtained a videotape of vehicles entering the complex's garage before the blast.

Meanwhile, the center's commodities markets reopened despite the damage.

The videotape shows vehicles going in and out of one of three entrances to the center's underground garage, where Friday's explosion blew out three levels, leaving a huge underground cavern under the center's Vista Hotel.

Explosives experts believe the bomb was so large it would test the springs of any car or van, "making it conspicuous on the tape," said James Fox, head of the FBI's New York office.

Officials with the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey said police were able to collect parking stubs from the garage with the plates of each car written on them, and Fox said the stubs have provided some leads.

He also said witness accounts suggest a pattern of suspicious movements near the center before the blast, "activity ... that we find very interesting and we're following up on."

But Fox said investigators still haven't settled on prime suspects or even decided the bomb was the work of terrorists. He said it could have been planted by drug cartels angered by U.S. anti-narcotics efforts.

He also said investigators were asking Port Authority officials about possible disgruntled employees. The Port Authority operates the center.

Friday's noontime disaster killed five people, injured at least 1,000 and sent dense black smoke into neighboring buildings. The center's trademark 110-story twin towers will remain shut at least a week, affecting 50,000 workers.

One World Trade Center worker has been missing since the blast and another was reported missing Monday.

A 35-year-old maintenance worker who was last seen in the basement where the bomb exploded hasn't been seen since Friday. A man who was last seen at work Friday morning in a 14th-floor bank in one of the towers was reported missing Monday by his son.

As the commodities markets reopened after the weekend, hundreds of traders worked an abbreviated session in a separate building that houses the New York Mercantile Exchange, the Commodity Exchange, the New York Futures Exchange, Cotton Exchange, and the Coffee, Sugar & Cocoa Exchange.

Rodriguez said. "We know each other much better now. It just happens that chemistry comes for different teams at different times of the season. I'm just glad that we are coming together at the most important time."

A quick glance at the statistics shows that the Panthers' recent rise coincides with the rise of Rodriguez, a 6-foot-7 sophomore from Oak Park. During the Panthers' four-game winning streak, Rodriguez has averaged nearly 15 points and seven rebounds per game.

"He is a reflection of our whole team right now," Eastern coach Rick Samuels said of Rodriguez. "As a result, we have a better feel of how the game needs to be played."

The Panthers are currently sixth in the Mid-Continent Conference with a 7-8 record and are 10-15 overall.

Rodriguez was a key factor in the Panthers' win over Valparaiso this past weekend, recording career-highs of 24 points and 10 rebounds.

Samuels said some outside work has helped Rodriguez get to a higher level of play.

"He is a very dangerous offensive rebounder regardless of who we are playing," Samuels said. "He has also spent some time working on his shot."

Rodriguez isn't the only Panther maturing as they get ready for the conference tournament, which starts Sunday at Wright State.

Sophomore guard Derrick Landrus has scored in double figures for the last seven games and has averaged 19.5 points per game in the last four Panther victories.

Junior center Curtis Leib has come off the bench averaging nearly nine points and four rebounds during the Panther winning streak. Sophomore Louis Jordan is averaging over 14 points in Eastern's last four games, and freshman Johnny Hernandez has been doing the job both offensively and defensively.

The Panthers get a chance to see just how much they have grown while at home when they finish the regular season Wednesday at Illinois-Chicago with a 7:05 p.m. conference game against the Flames.

Panthers have six honored for grades

Six Eastern football players were honored last week for academic excellence by the Gateway Conference.

The six, who each received the Commissioner's All-Academic Award, were Chris Anderson (3.71 GPA), Jason Caldwell (3.69), Sean Drendel (3.22), Darrell Rennels (3.76), Mike Rummell (3.35) and Mike Tarpey (3.54).

To qualify for the award, athletes must have a minimum 3.2 cumulative GPA and at least sophomore standing.

Caldwell, the only senior of the group, was also awarded the President's Academic Excellence Award, which is presented to graduating seniors who have a minimum 3.5 GPA.

The Eastern football team was 5-6 last season and has a large number of players returning

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

UNFORTUNATELY, THIS IS WHERE PEOPLE ARE PUTTING TOO MANY RETIREMENT DOLLARS.

Every year, a lot of people make a huge mistake on their taxes. They don't take advantage of tax deferral and wind up sending Uncle Sam money they could be saving for retirement.

Fortunately, that's a mistake you can easily avoid with TIAA-CREF SRAs. SRAs not only ease your current tax-bite, they offer a remarkably easy way to build retirement income—especially for the "extras" that your regular pension and Social Security benefits may not cover. Because your contributions are made in before-tax dollars, you pay less taxes now. And since all earnings on your SRA are tax-deferred as well, the money you don't send to Washington works even harder for you. Down the road, that can make a dramatic difference in your quality of life.

What else makes SRAs so special? A range of allocation choices—from the guaranteed security of TIAA to the diversified investment accounts of CREF's variable annuity—all backed by the nation's number one retirement system.

Why write off the chance for a more rewarding retirement? Call today and learn more about how TIAA-CREF SRAs can help you enjoy many happy returns.

Benefit now from tax deferral. Call our SRA hotline 1 800-842-2733, ext. 8016.

Steinbrenner makes return

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The Boss is back. With an airplane overhead heralding his return, fans in the stands early for his arrival. George Steinbrenner walked back into baseball today. Steinbrenner's 2 1/2-year suspension ended at midnight and at 10:30 a.m. EST he strode through the front gate at the New York Yankees' spring training camp, surrounded by a several hundred reporters and two-dozen camera crews. "It makes me feel good. I'd rather get shoved around a little bit than have no one here," the New York Yankees owner said. The Yankees, meanwhile, braced for his return. Players and staff have spent the last week saying the right things, saying — whether they meant it or not — they thought Steinbrenner's presence would help them return to winning ways. While Steinbrenner's return certainly creates excitement, it may not be the kind of commotion the Yankees — or baseball — wants.

"There will be some differences," Steinbrenner said. "In many ways, it will be different and I'll be different."

Steinbrenner has pledged to be more patient with his players and be more understanding of their failures. That, though, remains to be seen.

"I've been waiting 2 1/2 years for this opportunity," Steinbrenner said shortly after midnight.

Steinbrenner and longtime friend Tom McEwen, a sports columnist for The Tampa Tribune, flew in Steinbrenner's private jet to an airfield about a quarter-mile from the Yankees' camp at Fort Lauderdale Stadium.

The two walked alone without fanfare for 10 minutes and got within 20 yards of the gate before being spotted.

Instantly, many reporters — wearing special credentials reading "The Boss is Back" — stampeded toward him. In the next 45 minutes, Steinbrenner moved less than 25 yards as he answered questions.

Callahan said should lead the Panther pitching staff.

Playing a new role for the Panthers this year will be junior Mike Fahey. Over the past two years, Fahey has been the Panthers stopper out of the bullpen. This season Callahan sees Fahey moving into the starting rotation.

"Fahey has done too good a job in relief for us to keep him there," Callahan said. "To be honest, we weren't in too many save situations last year and probably didn't use him as well as we could have."

Fahey led the Panthers last season with seven saves and an ERA of 2.84.

Two transfers will complement the two returnees in the Panthers' starting rotation.

Derek Johnson, who is the lone left-hander in the group of four, spent his first two years at Lake Land Junior College.

"He originally went to Indiana, but things didn't work out there for him. We are more than happy to get him," Callahan said of the junior from Normal.

The final piece to the Panther puzzle is junior Basil Clausen, a transfer from Triton Junior College.

Callahan said the Panthers haven't found their closer yet, but there is interest in the position that Fahey held exclusively for the past two years.

He said left-handers Joe Keusch and Phil Huchel have expressed interest in becoming the Panthers' stopper.

Women set for non-conference game

By RYAN GIUSTI
Associate sports editor

The women's basketball team will take a break from Mid-Continent Conference action on Tuesday when it travels to Chicago to take on Chicago State.

The Lady Panthers are 3-21 on the season and have lost their last two games. Tuesday's game will be their first non-conference game in over a month. Chicago State enters the game with a 6-16 record and has lost three games in a row.

"I think it's a good time to step out of the conference and see where we stand," Eastern coach Barbara Hilke said. "Chicago State should be a little bit of a refresher."

Hilke said the Cougars have faced a similar situation as the Lady Panthers have this season.

"They have played a very tough schedule and that accounts for most of their losses," Hilke said. "They're pretty good at home; five of their six wins have come at home."

Eastern will use its usual lineup to start the game. Freshman Kenya Green, Sophomore Nicky Polka and senior co-captain Karen McCaa will be at the guard positions and senior co-captain Sheriel Brown and red-shirt freshman Sharon Pozin will be in the post.

"We have given our younger kids experience all throughout the year," Hilke said of keeping the same lineup. "That has been our goal all year. In most programs, freshmen never see the time of day. But our kids all have been gaining experience."

Pozin scored 16 points, one point off of her career best, to lead the Lady Panthers in their last game against Illinois-Chicago and has averaged 14.7 points and 5.6 rebounds over her last three games. Brown and McCaa will be looked at to step up in the second to last regular season game of their careers and Polka will be leading the offense at the point.

Chicago State is led by a pair of seniors as well. Forward Debbie Scott and guard-forward Molifenge Millhouse are the top two scorers for the Cougars. Scott averages 10.5 points and 6.7 rebounds per game and Millhouse averages 9.2 points and 3.4 rebounds.

Eastern is in good shape to claim the final Mid-Con playoff spot. Western Illinois must beat nationally ranked Northern Illinois on Thursday to overtake the Lady Panthers and knock them out of the post-season tournament.

The Lady Panthers will conclude their regular season at home on Saturday, playing host to Wisconsin-Green Bay at 2 p.m.

Eastern replaces pitchers

By DON O'BRIEN
Staff writer

With their No. 1 pitcher for the past two seasons and two other starters from a year ago gone, it would seem the Eastern's baseball Panthers would be short in the pitching department.

"Right now we have 13 pitchers on our roster, that is too many," said Callahan, who enters his fourth year as the Panthers' skipper with a 105-111 record. "There is going to be a certain point in time when we will have to designate who our top 10 or 11 are."

But trying to replace Lemke's durability and the innings that Connor and Kundrat pitched will be the more difficult task for Callahan.

The lone returning starter for the Panthers on the mound is

Snow forces cancellation

Eastern's baseball Panthers were scheduled to start their season Tuesday at Monier Field against the Hoosiers of Indiana.

But with snow still blanketing Monier Field on Monday, Eastern head coach Dan Callahan was forced to cancel the Panthers' opener.

Also in doubt is Wednesday's home game against Indiana State. "There is no way we will be able to play (Tuesday) and it is supposed to rain on Wednesday," Callahan said.

One possible move Callahan said that the Panthers could make is having Wednesday's game moved to Indiana State, which has astro-turf on its infield.

"We could try to move it over there, but I have no idea on what condition their field is in," he said.

Should the Panthers get washed out on both Tuesday and Wednesday, they will try to open their season at Murray State this Saturday. Eastern will play both Murray State and Bradley in single games on both Saturday and Sunday.

Eastern will try to open its home season on March 10, when Northeastern Illinois comes to Monier for a noon doubleheader.

Panthers looking to end road woes

By DON O'BRIEN
Staff writer

It would be easy to assume that most teams grow up on the road.

Through long bus rides, unfamiliar living quarters and hostile playing environments, players get to know one another better and they come together to form a team.

Eastern's men's basketball team hasn't followed this scenario though.

Instead, the Panthers have been less than spectacular on the road so far this year, posting a 1-11 mark away from Lantz Gym.

So the Panthers have had to grow up at home. After a six-game homestand, in which Eastern went 4-2, it appears the

Andre Rodriguez

Panthers have finally grown up. "We are a whole different team now," forward Andre
