BOG approves housing improvement spending

By PATTY CULHANE
and ANGELA ODOM
Staff Writers

Eastern's administration has been wanting to improve Student Housing, and now with the help of the Board of Governors they'll be able to.

At a meeting last month, the Board of Governors approved the spending of more than $8 million dollars for capital improvements. The money comes from the financing of local revenue bonds. New bonds were issued, based on existing room and board charges, as well as expected income from the additional Greek Court housing.

Vice President of Student Affairs Lou Hencken thinks the improvements will give Eastern an edge over other schools.

"We're constantly competing with other universities, making our facilities better, makes us better all the way around," Hencken said.

Three million dollars will go to build additional housing on Greek Court. The new buildings will house Sigma Kappa and Sigma Sigma Sigma sororities as well as three sororities and a fraternity affiliated with Black Greek Council.

President David Jorns said although the new housing will be in greek court, there is still a need.

"We always have a need for housing; we have more applications than we can fill," Jorns said.

More than one million dollars will go to develop a 42-acre recreation field east of Greek Court. The development will include the building of softball, football and soccer fields, as well as restroom facilities.

One million dollars will keep Eastern in accordance with the Americans With Disabilities Act by improving accessibility to housing and to the University Union.

Residence halls will benefit from the money also, with $900,000 going to improve energy efficiency. The money will be spent on efficient and draft resistant windows, improved temperature controls, energy efficient lighting and new insulation.

Other proposed projects include improvements to Taylor Hall Food Service, new-and-improved seating in Lantz gymnasium, air conditioning for Thomas and Andrews halls and the University Union and other minor building repairs.

Hencken said most of the improvements will be visible by the end of fall, but construction of the new Greek Court houses will begin late this summer.

Going, gone?

BOG to discuss elimination of state athletic funding

The Board of Governors is coming to Eastern to discuss how they're going to eliminate state funding for intercollegiate athletics.

The BOG is the governing body of Eastern and four other state universities.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education wants Universities to stop funding athletics by 1995. So far, Eastern has cut more than $95,000 from the intercollegiate athletic program.

The BOG will also elect new officers including a Chairperson and a Vice-Chairperson who will serve two year terms.

Other business to be discussed is the announcement of this year's distinguished professor award. The winner is chosen from a pool of candidates from each of the five universities overseen by the BOG.

Dr. Gary Wallace, a professor of geology and geography is Eastern's candidate. The winner of the award will receive a $2,500 stipend and have his or her base salary increased by $2,500. The recipient will also receive 50 percent released time during the next academic year in order to make presentations to the other BOG universities.

The Board members will also hear reports from the Presidents of each university.

The meeting is scheduled for the Grand Ballroom in Eastern's at 8:30 a.m. Thursday in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Study: Eastern second in state

Eastern's overall graduation rate ranks second only behind the University of Illinois among the state's public universities in an Illinois Board of Higher Education study released in early May.

"This is genuinely good news for Eastern," said Camille Compo of the university's Main Planning Services.

The study tracked freshman classes of 1983-84 through 1989-90, involving more 13,877 Eastern students. Eastern's six-year graduation rate of 59.7 percent is above the statewide average of 52.2 percent.

The nationwide rate for similar institutions is 48 percent.

Eastern's minority graduation rate also ranks among the peak of state universities.

The university's African-American graduation rate of 27.6 percent is nearly seven percentage points above the statewide average (20.8). The rate for Hispanics of 49.3 percent is second among Illinois public universities and more than 16 percentage points above the statewide average.

Compo explained the drastic difference between Eastern's overall graduation rate and those of minority students, "Is it because these students are black or Hispanic? No."

"It's a lot of other factors," she continued. "It could be related to academic factors or just simple culture shock. Can you imagine coming here and finding that you are a true minority?"

"People have to be brave to come here."

The study included 922 African-American and 97 Hispanic students.

Summerfest '94 debuts with music and a shrew

By ELIZABETH RAICHLE

Eastern's theater department will bring Broadway to Central Illinois with this year's Summerfest '94.

Celebrating its fifth year, Summerfest '94 will feature three musicals in addition to a special children's production of Snow White.

"Musicals are more popular than, for instance, Neil Simon's plays," said producer and director of Summerfest E.T. Guidotti. Guidotti direct this season's opening production of "Kiss Me Kate," a musical set in the late 1940s.

But Summerfest '94, which caters to area theater-goers, does not come by with a small price. A entrepreneur loan granted by the university will provide the theater department with its first ever all-professional summer season.

"With high-quality productions, and with professionals hired out of St. Louis, we should be able to meet our debt," said J. Sain of the university's theater department.

The actors featured in this year's Summerfest carry an array of talent from the area, some of whom will be performing their first "professional" production. In addition to these thespians, student interns will also have their "professional" debut in the season's production of "Snow White."

"There are 12 interns and 10 resident actors (professionals)," Guidotti said. "They get housing and a stipend a little smaller than the resident. But they are training with us and do minor roles that will later build them up to bigger roles."

Along with "Snow White" and "Kiss Me, Kate," Eastern's Summerfest '94 will host the two-person romp "I Do, I Do!" and "The Man of Lamancha."

"People will travel out of the way to see a good musical," Sain said. "So far we have a good response with our subscription mailing."

"Kiss Me, Kate" will debut at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Fine Arts Building.

Courthouse cavern

Underground tunnel transports prisoners from jail to courthouse

By JEREMY R. KIRK
City editor

As if going to court wasn't enough to make a person uncomfortable, imagine having to trek through a damp, musty tunnel to reach the courtroom.

But this is exactly what many prisoners must do everyday to reach the courthouse from the Coles County jail.

Constructed in 1898 when the current courthouse was built, the tunnel connects the basement of the jail on Seventh Street to the basement of the courthouse on the Square. The tunnel is used by police officers to transport prisoners from the jail to the courthouse.

"This is the fourth or fifth trip we've made today," said Undersheriff Bob Campbell, as preparations are made to walk two orange-clad prisoners through the subterranean cavern. "We don't get any complaints from prisoners."

The tunnel is constructed of red bricks, which arch near the ceiling and are lined by lights every 10 feet.

The lights, however, do not help alleviate the creepy atmosphere of the tunnel.

"It leaks a little, but there are grooves along the path that channel the water," Campbell added.

The tunnel's floor is excessively damp, but Campbell said it is rarely affected by heavy rains. The tunnel also used to be heated, however, before the old jail was razed in the late 1970s.

"The heating plant used to be in the back of the old jail," said Leyla Waddell, a historian of the previous county jail. "Pipes from the heating plan went from the jail to the courthouse."

— Police officer

Officers at the jail said even though the tunnel is no longer heated, using it is still better than walking the prisoners outside in the winter.

"It could be 30 below zero or raining cats and dogs, but it won't affect us," the officer accompanying the two prisoners said.

Campbell said many prisoners like the tunnel because it allows them to not have to walk outside and into the courthouse wearing handcuffs.

Campbell also said Eastern students used to complain about having to see prisoners paraded from the jail to the courthouse.

Pipes sticking out of the walls make it necessary for one to stoop down occasionally when walking. The path curves slightly right and left before ending at a group of stairs that lead inside the middle of the courthouse.

The journey is over, and the prisoners solemnly climbed the stairs into the courthouse to face a judge.

Eastern needs to move their clock into the future

Eastern Illinois University hopes to keep up with the new trends in education and prepare itself and its graduates for the next century.

Expansion in greek court, new computers and an overhauled curriculum are all steps that the university has taken toward preparing itself for the dawning of the new century.

It seems odd, however, that a university that wants to be ahead of the times can't even keep proper time.

The clock on MacAfee Gym, one of the major campus landmarks, and a boon to all the students that use the campus, has not worked for several years.

According to the clock, the time, at 2:15 pm Monday afternoon, was 1 o'clock. The time at 3 o'clock that same morning would also be the same.

This is just one sign of how the university seems to be going for changes in the wrong order.

The clock can be seen from all sides of the north quadrangle, as well as from the MacDonald's in the Martin Luther King University Union, so why doesn't its repair seem to be a priority.

There are many stories similar to the clock, but it seems that the University desires to build new buildings over repairing the ones that are already there.

The clock is a minor issue, but it is the minor things such as this that attract students to the campus.

In the coming years, the competition between universities for the ever scarcer student dollar will be a rough and tumble business. Having a clock on the quad that shows at least an approximation of the correct time may not be the deciding factor for many students, but if other things are let slide, the small things may begin to add up and turn off prospective students.

New computers and housing for the greeks may seem like a priority now, but with parts of the university infra-structure such as the clock are left to disrepair, all the new computers may have no buildings left to hold them in the new century.

(Ollie) North by no clue in the U.S. Senate

Oliver North for Senate? It sounds like a bad joke by liberals, but believe it or not, the ignominious Oliver North has jumped back in the limelight. And this time he is running for Senate.

North received the Republican nomination for the Senate seat in Virginia on June 4 to the chagrin of many in his party. Calling himself the "real comeback kid", North entered the race full-force, blind to his past record.

North first gained notoriety for his role in the Iran-contra affair. Among other things, his role in the scandal included such patriotic duties as lying to Congress, obstructing justice, and shredding documents that implicated wrongdoing on the part of many in the Reagan administration.

Despite his actions, North maintains that he did nothing wrong. Now he's ready to join the Senate to "spearhead a new generation of leadership."

At the press conference in Herndon, Virginia when he announced his candidacy, supporters cheered as he affirmed his reputation for "keeping my commitments, no matter how much trouble I get in."

What? North's attitude toward his past actions is especially disconcerting. He claims to have only followed orders from former President Reagan and was just doing his job. However, when a person's job conflicts with the law, that person must make a difficult ethical choice.

North made a choice. He attempted to mislead Congress and the American people as to what those dirty rats were doing in the White House in the mid-1980s. North chose to protect a lawbreaking hierarchy that blatantly lied to the public.

North is a charlatan who knows the clandestine power of Washington and did everything he could to maintain it. Any politician worthy of public office would have realized these unethical practices and tried to stop them.

It is inconceivable that he has the effrontery to say with a straight face that he wants to be a player in American politics. It is even harder to believe that he has a following besides his wife.

Jeremy Kirk

North, however, is not the only candidate in the race with skeletons in the closet. The current occupant of the Senate seat, Democrat Charles S. Robb, has experienced chronic problems in his private life, confessing to the press that he received a nude massage from a former beauty queen.

While receiving a nude massage from a beauty queen may not get a politician a positive reputation, it still looks better on a political resume than lying to the United States Congress. Many political analysts see Robb, however, as a very vulnerable incumbent.

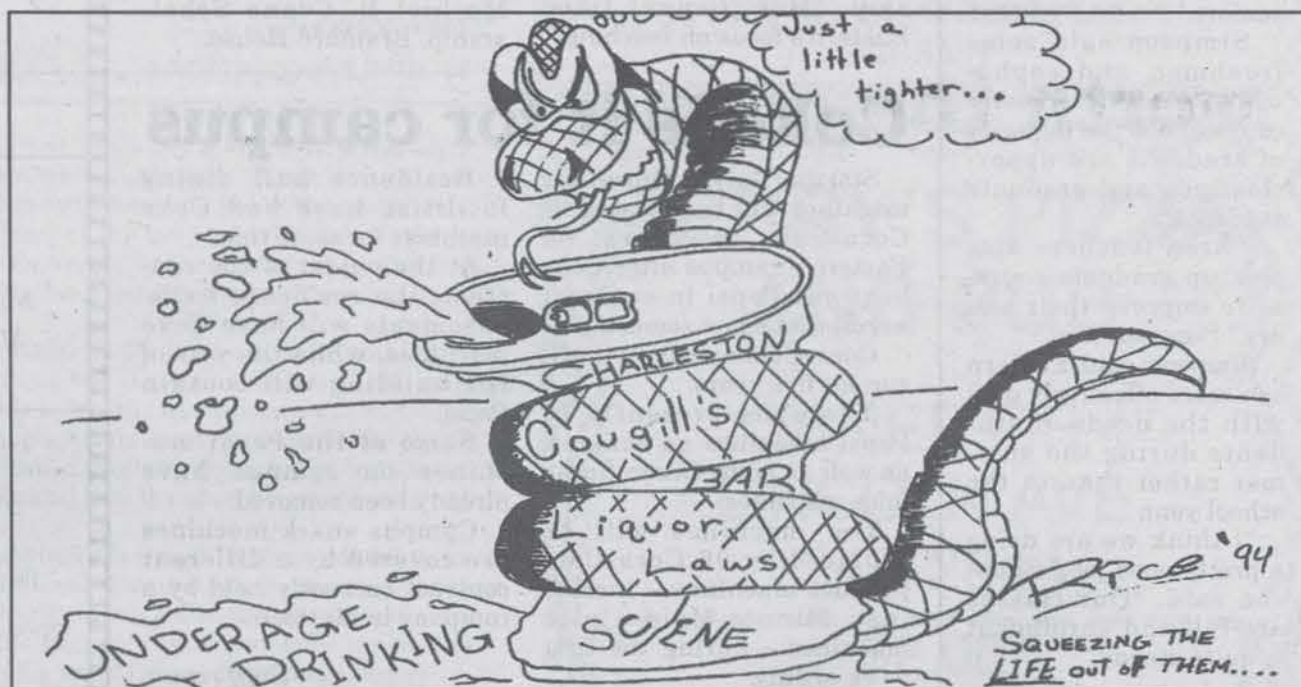

North's candidacy puts the Republican party in a new quagmire. While managing to capture the support of the conservative right-wing God-fearing Republicans, North has also alienated others. Senator John Warner (R-Va.) openly stated that he would not back North, and instead support the independent candidacy of Virginia Att. Gen. J. Marshall Coleman.

It is good to see some Republicans take a stand and oppose the absurdity of Ollie North in the Senate. The North candidacy, however, sets a new course for the Republican party. With the religious conservative movement in the party gaining more and more power, Republicans don't have a unified ideology anymore. A division is forming within the party, and will set the stage for many future confrontations, similar to the North situation.

Oliver North is just one example of the declining standards of politics in the United States. Anyone who supports North should be caned. Voters must demand a more honest trend in government to prevent weasels like North from getting into office. Only this way can integrity be restored to our government.

What's that I hear? Spiro Agnew is running again?

Royko wanna-be needs to be kinder to postal patrons

Dear editor:

In regard to your article of Friday April 29 ("Federal Officials Better Off Without Genitals"), why do you feel that only government employees are this way? As females who work for Jerry's Pizza, we feel that you were very cruel and uninformed when writing this article.

The gentlemen in question have been patronizing our establishment for several years, not only as government officials, but as regular people. In all of this time, they have acted as perfect gentlemen. They have been friendly, courteous and very well behaved. When they come in on their lunch hour, they order their food and lemonade or ice tea, eat, and are back out the door within thirty minutes.

We would like to know where were you when this gawking and elbowing was taking place? Have you never been around construction workers, farmers, or even other college students when they

Dear editor:

Eastern memories certainly won't run dry for student

I entered Eastern in the fall as a freshman. Coming in I was not sure what to expect, but I was excited to be escaping the immaturity of my fellow schoolmates I had to put up with for so long.

Only a few short days after I arrived here, I felt like I was in high school again. What made me feel this way was hearing every other person pathetically bragging about his/her time last night, or in the night to come. I'm sure everyone had heard, "I got so fucked up last night! I had 16 beers, a fifth of Jack, and four shots of tequila!" or some other outrageous amount.

Or how about, "Tonight I'm gonna start drinkin' at four! I should be passed out by ten!"

It seems as if these people, as do high school students, think drinking is impressive and want to let everyone know that yes, they do get drunk.

They have to let people know just how "cool" they are for drinking so much they pass out. I cannot believe how much of an emphasis is put on drinking.

But since there are so many students here who act this way, when it comes to Eastern's student body, these are the memories I will have forever.

'Speed' is a decent summer ride

Damn Jan De Bont.

Damn him straight to directoral purgatory for making "Speed," the most predictable, laughable and contrived action-thriller in recent memory.

Most of all, damn De Bont for somehow making "Speed" the most relentlessly exciting action romp to hit the screens in some time.

The premise for "Speed" is simple, or what Hollywood calls "high concept" — it's "Die Hard" on a bus.

After a failed attempt to hold hostages for ransom on a wired elevator, a "crazy, but smart" bomber (Dennis Hopper) attaches a bomb to the bottom of a Los Angeles public bus.

Hopper gives the police three hours to come up with a $3.7 million ransom for the passengers on board the bus before the bomb is detonated — but there is another catch.

Once the bus reaches a speed of 50 miles per hour, the bomb is activated. If the bus' speed dips below 50, the bomb will detonate.

Enter Keanu Reeves as police officer Jack Traven whose job it is to calm the passengers without using the word "dude," keep the bus above 50 and gaze sternly out the front window of the bus while trying to think of a way to diffuse the bomb and unload the passengers.

Reeves has the depth of a wading pool, and Dennis Hopper is wasted as a cardboard cutout of any psycho action villain, but that doesn't seem to matter here. The real star of "Speed" is the bus.

What "Speed" lacks in high-gloss dialogue, it more than makes up for in preposterous, thrilling action.

De Bont jams almost every scene with full-throttle action — exploding elevators, the bus flying in Superman fashion over 50-foot gaps in the road, a subway train being launched off its tracks and into a busy L.A. street, and the bus crashing into an airliner causing an explosion that makes Hiroshima look like a firecracker.

In other words, "Speed" is the perfect summer movie — brainless, but engaging and fun.

As long as you check your brain at the door and suspend your disbelief in flying modes of mass transit, "Speed" is an enjoyable summer ride.

—Steve Lysaker

'Speed' overtakes 'Flintstones' in summer box office scramble

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The mad bomber movie "Speed" zoomed past "The Flintstones" in the weekend box office race, with a $14 million debut.

"Speed" stars Keanu Reeves as a good guy cop and Dennis Hopper as the villain who plants a bomb on a city bus.

"The Flintstones" earned an estimated $12.1 million for second place and "City Slickers II, The Legend of Curly's Gold" was third with $11.7 million, according to projections Sunday by studio and industry sources.

Official box office figures will be released Monday.

The big-screen version of TV's frontier gambler saga "Maverick" was fourth with $6.8 million, followed by "Renaissance Man" with $4.1 million and "Beverly Hills Cop III" with $3.5 million.

"Cowboy Way" was seventh with $2.8 million, "When a Man Loves a Woman" was eighth with $2.3 million and "The Crow" was ninth with $2.2 million.

'Throwing copper' worth the copper

Live
Throwing Copper
Radioactive

Sophomore efforts are more known for let down than for greatness, but Live has managed to break the second-time-around jinx.

The sound that originally shoot the band onto a major label is still intact, but the years between releases have added a feeling of maturity to a still raw sound.

"All Over You," a strange song about getting over a woman is given an upbeat tempo and lyrics that are enigmatic at best. The young quartet manages to pull-off songs like this, but only just barely.

Perhaps they would be better off leaving the confusing lyrics to REM. These attempts at deepness through confusion, however, do not make huge problems.

Songs like "Selling the Drama" harken back to the sound that Jerry Harrison captured so well on the first EP and LP. Harrison, who is also onboard for this LP, manages to not over-produce a band that may see itself catapulted out of the ranks of bands forcefeed to the masses by MTV and into its own well-deserved spotlight.

'Kate' first mid-summer play

BY JOSEPH INGOLIA
Staff writer

The Eastern Illinois University Theatre Department's production of the Cole Porter classic, "Kiss Me, Kate" opens Thursday, June 16 in the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

The play is a 1940s version of the "The Taming of the Shrew." The plot involves the backstage exchanges and conflicts between directors and cast members. The main emphasis is on Fred and Lilly, a divorced couple who are forced to work together on a musical version of the Shakesperien play.

"This particular play was chosen due to its happy feel," Director E.T. Guidotti said. "Not only does the play appeal to the summer mindset of the people, it is one of a broad spectrum of musicals we are doing this summer."

"A reason this particular play was chosen was because of the cast," Guidotti explained. "Musicals require actors that can also sing. I am fortunate enough to have a cast this summer that can handle this type of a production."

There are numerous comedic situations. One of these is Fred's mix up with organized crime. A leading man tries to scrape a gambling debt from himself by signing Fred's name to an I.O.U. Of course the gangsters come to collect and Fred pleads his innocence. The underworld button-men don Shakespearean costumes and join the cast in an attempt to shadow Fred and Lilly.

"And here is the comedy," Guidotti said. "The gangsters botch lines and wear dishevelled costumes as they try to keep an eye on Fred and Lilly."

Only the replacement of one Don for the other saves Fred.

The theatre department has applied to professional guilds for future membership. If and when they are recieved, the department will be considered a LORT company. This creates a situation by which students can earn points towards membership in one of the various guilds. The theatre can be professional, yet still be educational.

"Kiss Me, Kate is actually one of those plays that is a dying breed," Guidotti said. "As time goes on, musicals become more serious and they involve more controversial subjects. Kate is an innocent play from an innocent era."

Musicals tend to swallow funds as they require more flash and spectacle. Lights, additional production, and an orchestra are often-needed. "Royalties go along with the production of musicals," Guidotti said.

Eastern football nabs four Jucos

By JOSEPH INGOLIA
Staff writer

Two California junior college players will be among the new recruits to Eastern's football team this fall.

Joe Pale, a 6-3, 255-pound defensive lineman, and Terry Butler, a 5-10, 180-pound defensive back, are joining the Panthers this fall, Panther Coach Bob Spoo said.

"We directed our efforts towards these two because of the usual reasons," Spoo said. "They are not just good athletes, but also good students and good people. We try to examine the whole persona of our recruits."

The two students from California's College of San Mateo, were recognized mostly for the way they play. "Pale is powerful and big. Yet, he is very quick," Spoo said. "Butler is also big and quick."

The small list of California recruits has increased by two. Bob Rostentiel, a 6-foot-4, 215-pound wide receiver, and Charles Roche, a 6-foot-4, 280-pound offensive lineman will also join the Panthers this fall. Both of these players worked together at the College of Siskiyous in California.

"Once again, both of these players are powerful and fast," Spoo said. "Rostentiel in particular was an outstanding basketball player."

Coach Spoo is still on the lookout for a punter. "We have one in mind," Spoo said. "But he has not committed to us yet."

The California recruits remain the most recent recruits to Eastern's football team.

New York captures the Cup 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) - Fifty-four years of waiting, 54 years of wanting, are over. The New York Rangers are Stanley Cup champions at last! The Rangers capped an extraordinary championship series by beating the Vancouver Canucks 3-2 Tuesday night in Game 7.

As the tense final seconds ticked off the clock at Madison Square Garden, where the home team had never before hoisted the most famous trophy in team sports, 18,200 raucous fans released more than five decades of pent-up passion.

Fireworks exploded, smoke filled the arena, everyone wearing white jerseys hugged, and fans exchanged high-fives and screamed as rock music blared from the Garden audio system.

The announcement that Rangers defenseman Brian Leetch won the Conn Smythe Trophy as playoff MVP was barely audible over the triple-digit-decibel celebration of the end of hockey's cruellest curse.

Finally, 4,232 games after last winning Lord Stanley's cup in 1940, the Rangers tasted sweet success again.

The fourth championship for New York, which also won in 1928 and 1933, ended the league's longest title drought. That dubious distinction now belongs to the Detroit Red Wings, who haven't won since 1955.

Three stars who had not shined recently - Leetch, Adam Graves and Mark Messier - came through when it mattered most for the Rangers, who also got a 28-save performance from Mike Richter.

Ryne Sandberg hangs up his glove

CHICAGO (AP) - Ryne Sandberg, the Chicago Cubs' 10-time All-Star and widely considered the best second baseman of his era, retired Monday because he was unhappy with his performance.

"I am not the type of person who can be satisfied with anything less than my very best effort and my very top performance," Sandberg said. "I am not the type of person who can leave my game at the ballpark and feel comfortable that my future is set regardless of my performance."

"And I am certainly not the type of person who can ask the Cubs organization and Chicago Cubs fans to pay my salary when I am not happy with my mental approach and my performance."

Sandberg signed a four-year, $28 million contract last year.

Choking with emotion at the Wrigley Field news conference, Sandberg said he had decided before spring training that this would be his last season. But his performance this season and lack of desire to play the game convinced him it was time to go.

LAPD puts the squeeze on Juice

LOS ANGELES (AP) - O.J. Simpson met with his attorney Tuesday amid reports that a bloodied glove was found at his home by police investigating the deaths of his ex-wife and another man.

Simpson has denied involvement in the deaths of Nicole Brown Simpson, 35, and Ronald Lyle Goldman, 25. He was not arrested, but today's Los Angeles Times quoted unidentified police sources as saying the football Hall of Famer was under investigation.

Family and friends streamed to Simpson's Brentwood mansion, a day after he was briefly handcuffed and questioned for three hours about the deaths. "It's difficult enough with the shock that your wife's been murdered, but to hear that you may be accused of it, well, it's awful," attorney Howard Weitzman said after meeting with Simpson.

Weitzman said he knew nothing about the reports of the discovery of bloody gloves. He described Simpson as distraught.

The lawyer said earlier that Simpson "had nothing to do with this tragedy." A passer-by found Mrs. Simpson's body near a gate to the West Los Angeles condominium early Monday. Police found Goldman's body in shrubbery nearby. Police wouldn't say when the two died.
