SUCCESSFUL FINISH GRACES E. L.'S SEASON

WARRLERS, HIGH POINT MAN, HAS PLAYED HIS LAST E. I. GAME

The rivalry started off the basketball season with a losing streak that was fair to equal if not surpass the one of last year. But the often made prediction of "once they get started the majority of the games will be won" was true, when, in the latter part of the schedule 7 out of 10 remaining contests were marked up on the winning side of the ledger. The E. I. coach had, on paper, the material for a team of two strong fives, but the strength never reached the level of strength at any time. Several combinations were tried out and these exhibited the degree of teamwork and shooting ability that wins games into the now famous Towles, Hill, Foreman, Cochran and Brown aggregation found them in the victory over Millikin. From then on with the exception of a few lapses E. I. had a dependable team with a steadily improving group of subs who were the regulars to their best effect.

The Lantzen got their first test against Rose Poly on the home floor and trailed behind 23-17. The scoring power was so far below the supposed standard that the prospects for a championship team received a severe set-back. Succeeding 21-13, Normal U., 30-22, Alunni, 31-13, Normal, 33-18, Normal, 29-29, and Millikin, 29-19, seemed about everyone except the members of the team that E. I. was for another unbroken string of defeats. Close observers had, however, detected a steady improvement in their work and shooting, and when Millikin U. reported on the local where those who predicted a spot for the depositors, in other words a Gray triumph. With a smashing comeback that had been so long absent from the home basketball camp, our ancient and honorable rivals from Decatur were forced to be content with the short end of a 23-20 score. In order to demonstrate more fully their rejuvenation, Carbondale was overwhelmed 34-22 Normal U. 38-16, the latter, took revenge for a defeat early in the season. The crowning feature of the revival was the notable victory of the entire season over Indiana Normal, 21-20. Unquestionably it was the high spot of a checkered record and provided sport writers with something to wonder about for a long while. Then a disastrous two day trip into Indiana resulted in Danville again coming out on top, 23-19 and the following suit, 26-20. The rivalry vanquished juniors with Hall and the lineup by a score of 23-19. The following week and rode the Egyptians for a second time. The Indiana part of the schedule was wound up with a walloping 40-18 at the hands of Indiana Normal 29-10. Once the last hall rally was lacking and the Sycamores obtained most revenge. Intent on finishing with a brilliant account of themselves, the point getters outscored 32-19, and Shurtliff, 48-29.

The latter scoring spree was one of the more recent engagements seen on the home court in recent years. The athletic council awarded the following letters: Towles, Hill, Foreman, Phipps, Muchmore, McColl, Cochran, Brown, Osborn. Towles and Phipps are only ones lost to next year's squad.

Towles, center, who copped high point honors, was one of the two most reliable basket makers, the best scorer, and because of his height and knowledge of his position, good at breaking up passes and dribbling. His stands out by reason of an ability to rack up counters under the most of guarding, and his points come many times to brace the rest of the team when defeat seemed probable. His dribbling showed up on a number of occasions, and he was a great advantage. On these two fell the brunt of the attack while the other forward, Foreman, was a combination guard and forward. The center C. H. S. floor guard held down the job to start with but was soon moved forward where he proved

WARBLER NOTES

All of the Warbler but five insert pages that had to be held over are now gone to the printer. With the printing started the editors feel a sense of relief and are now anxious to see the finished product. There are only fifteen days left in which the staff has arranged to receive Warbler payments. Those outside of the student body who have pledged should mail their $2.25 to Robert Shoemaker immediately. The following schedule will be observed next week.

Tuesday morning—9:30-10:30.
Wednesday afternoon—2:20-4:00.
Thursday—11:00-12:00; 1:00-1:30.
Friday afternoon—2:20-4:00.
Saturday morning—10:00-12:00.

CLASS PLAYS TO BE PRESENTED SOON

A very interesting group of one-act plays will be presented by members of the sophomore class on Monday, March 31. Later in the year a longer play will be presented.

One of the plays is Lord Dunsany's, "A Night at an Inn," dealing with the theft of a ruby from an idol in an India temple. When the story opens the sailors who have stolen the jewel are congratulating themselves on their escape from the priests. Just then the priests enter. Those who will appear in this are:

The Toff, a delapidated gentleman, Thomas Gilbert, Merchant sailors—Bill, Harold Emory, Albert, Paul Hall; Sniggers, Ned Gullett.

First Priest of Klesh, Harold Kerr. Second Priest of Klesh, Eric Brown. Third Priest of Klesh, Clayton Towles. Klesh.

Another type of entertainment is to be had in "Op-O-Me-Thumb," a story of a modern Cinderella in a laundry. One of the men customers has left a shirt at the laundry and has not returned to claim it. The heroine has taken care of it all this while and has, in the meantime, been imagining all sorts of things about the owner. The owner "turns up" and the play is on. The amateurs for this are:

Madame Jeanne Marie Napoleon de Galfreit Didier, Mary Louise Duncan. Clem (Mrs.) Galloway, Florence Aye.

Rose Jordan, Gertrude Nickle. Celeste, Gladys McMillan. Amanda Afflick, Irene Bennett. Horace Greenmitch, Kieth Emery.

The last of the group is a puppet play, "Lima Beans," which deals with complications that arise out of her buying string beans when her husband likes limas. The author calls it a scherzo play, but those in the cast prefer to call it a vegetable comedy. Katherine Briggs will appear as He while Virginia Rose Alexander is She.

The plans are not entirely complete, but it is probable that an admission of fifty cents will be charged. The entertainment is to begin at 8:15.

The senior class of T. C. High School is now hard at work rehearsing the play which they are to give in the near future. The play is "Dulcy"—a three-act comedy by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly and was first produced in Chicago in 1921. Since that time the play has been successfully filmed. It is interesting to know that the Northern Illinois Teachers College at DeKalb is soon to produce this same play. The cast follows:

Dulcinea - Florence O'Hair
Gordon Smith, her husband - Fred Adams
William Parker, her brother - Theodore Cavins
C. Roger Forges - August Caylor
Mrs. Forges - Reita Tomberlin
Angela - Alice Russell
Schuyler Van Dyck - Robert Thrall
Tom Sterrett, advertising engineer - Charles Veach
Vincent Leach, scenarist - Margaret Popham
Blair Patterson - Carlos Goff
Henry - Conard Hogue

William Creamer '23, who is now teaching at Lebanon, is in Charleston the last few days of the week.

WHAT SAY?

Question: What do you think of the Juniors and seniors in the high school decorating as well as those of the college?

Tilford Dudley (a senior in high with oratorical ability)—Well, I sure don't think we ought to decorate. (Pause) Because there's too much of that stuff going on around here now (another pause)—but we've got to do something to work off this excess pep though.

Hazel Moulton (another high school senior)—Oh, I don't know; I'm not crazy about it. (Pause) Don't know why either.—Oh, I read the wrong book for history.

Vernon Replogle (a jolly good country lad)—Well, I think we ought to do something, but I don't know whether it's decorating or not.

Dorothy Root (a high school girl with lots of pep)—Well, several have asked me about it, but I don't know, really. Does seem sorta carrying it to the limit to have two college ones and ours too, doesn't it to you? Looks like we could get up something original, eh? But of course they're lots of fun 'n all. You know, eatin' cheese and—

Hazel Whitesel (a quiet but interesting high school senior)—Well, let me see. (Suddenly) Oh, I think it's lots of fun (pause) But I suppose we hadn't ought to. I do think it's lots of fun though.

Kieth Emery (president of the sophomore class)—What difference does it make to us? Why should we care? You must think our class is quite unimportant to ask us anything like that.

Florence Aye (a sophomore who is a shark at keeping notebooks)—Oh, that'd be fine.

Sylvia Ashworth ("Aunt Babe")—That's bunk. That would run it in the ground. Oh, they might as well

Dorothy Hackett (a graduate of T. C. High who took part in the decorating last year)—We had lots of fun. Oh—I don't suppose we ought to. We were awful green and got into some trouble we didn't know about. The programs next day I like, but they bother Mr. Daniels' English classes.

MISS PIERCE HERE

Miss Florence Pierce, the Y. W. C. A. regional secretary of the middle western states, spent a few days on the campus last week. She arrived Thursday afternoon. While here she was the guest of the association at Pemberton Hall.

Thursday evening at 10 o'clock the Hall girls had a social gathering in the parlors in her honor. Here the girls had the opportunity of meeting her. Punch and wafers were served.

Friday afternoon she met the old and the new cabinet and discussed the various ways of improving our organization. Then after the dinner held that evening, a meeting of the whole Y. W. C. A. was held. The meeting was led by Lorna Doone Spencer. Annie Cummings read the scripture. A solo by Jo Frances Tiffin added to the enjoyment of the meeting.

The rest of the time was given over to Miss Pierce whose topic was "The Abundance of Life." In her talk she raised the question, and answered it in part, as to what is meant by the "Abundance of Life." The keynote of this was the challenge of service to the young people of today. Especially was this challenge given to the college students who owe a large debt of service to the working boys and girls of America.

Saturday morning Miss Pierce was a special visitor. Then she held individual conferences with the various members of the new cabinet, concerning their next year's work, before her departure for Chicago that afternoon.

ENROLLMENT REACHES 506

Two more students enrolled Saturday which makes a total of 506 for the spring term. Of this total 167 are boys and 339 are girls.

Among the new students are Inez Carmichael, Dale Gilbert, Bernice Jossard, Hazel Kersterson, Frances Krantz, Harry Morgan, Mildred Richmond, Louise Ring, William Ritter, Lorene Wampler and Ross Hanscock.

WHO WILL BE NEXT YEAR'S NEWS EDITOR?

The members of the Student Council were reminded Saturday that it will shortly become their duty to elect someone from the student body who shall serve as editor of The News next year. The election will presumably take place about the first of May, or sooner, so the person chosen may have an opportunity of observing this year's work at work, if he chooses, and of learning some of the policies which have been associated with the work this year.

Those who are interested in becoming candidates for the position may let the Council know by placing a note to that effect in The News box which is by the east stairway. Also any who are interested but who would like to know more of the work before considering further may place their names in the box. The members of the present staff will gladly give any information they can to these.

The business manager is to be chosen at the same time. Let it be known if you wish to be considered.

GIRLS' TOURNAMENT TO BEGIN THIS WEEK

The annual girls' basketball tournament will be held this week under somewhat different management from that of former years. In the first place the newly organized athletic association has awarded points toward membership for those who play. Consequently the champions will not receive sweaters, but theirs is the honor of victory along with the points won. Then, too, there are to be no spectators at the opening game.

The freshman class has been unusually fortunate in having enough for four separate teams out for practice. They will play the first games among themselves on Wednesday afternoon, beginning at 3:10. As this is during a regular gymnasium class period, there will be no spectators other than the scorekeepers and officials. Team I—composed of P. Baker, L. Waters, F. Shoemaker, D. Hackett, Leslie Manhart and M. Freeman—will play Team IV—P. Nessi, M. Belles, E. Marks, M. Bradford, D. Whitecar, M. Richardson, L. Kibler and S. Shaw. Then Teams II and III will play (L. Parks, T. Ryan, L. Dodillet, H. Lord, I. Welsh and L. Bigler versus R. Whitson, S. Powell, E. Kirsten, M. Wallace, G. Robinson, R. Stevenson and M. Richardson). The third game of the same afternoon is scheduled between the eleventh and twelfth years. The eleventh who will play are M. Miller, C. Kibler, D. Cox, T. Bissell, D. Ross and V. Bains. The opponents' line-up is H. Sollars, R. Checkley, K. Smith, R. Tomberlin and M. Checkley.

On Friday night it is hoped that a number of students will be interested in attending the freshman-sophomore game as well as the freshman-high school one. A small admission will be charged at the door. The winners between Teams I and IV will have the honor of meeting the sophomores who are represented by G. Buckler, K. McMunn, H. Gaertner, F. Beni, J. L. MacLeod, T. Franklin, R. Ingram and L. Davis. The second game is to be between the winner of freshman Teams II and III and the winners of the previous high school game.

On Saturday afternoon the final game will be played between the Friday night winners. V. All-star team is to be selected per usual.

Probably next Wednesday night, March 26, a Pemberton Hall versus town girls will be played. The teams have been arranged for this already. No great reward will come to the winners as the game is just for the fun of playing. An admission will be charged those who witness this.

The girls have been holding regular practice sessions under the direction of Miss Wood. They should be able to afford quite good entertainment for those interested in girls' athletics.

STUDENT COUNCIL HAS STICKERS FOR SALE

Some students have been asking for E. I. stickers for suitcases. The Student Council has several hundred of these now and they may be purchased of Margaret Coon.

NEW CONSTITUTION ALMOST READY

It is quite probable that the question of the new constitution for the Student Council will be brought before the various classes at their meetings Wednesday, although as yet the document has not been read to the Council itself. When this is put to a vote it is hoped that everyone will vote as he thinks best regardless of what may be the prevailing sentiment at the time.

The first step towards framing this new project grew out of the discovery that the old constitution for the Council as it now stands does not provide for the succession of officers when a vacancy occurs. A committee was appointed to see what could be done to make up for that deficiency. Upon further investigation of the old constitution, that appointed group saw fit to consider an entirely new document which should definitely name the officers to be elected, the terms and so on. However, the most important issue concerned is that of the exclusion of the high school representation with provisions made for joint meetings between separate college and high school councils.

Perhaps it is well to have a few of the conditions in mind before the thing is put to a vote. In the first place the preamble is the same as that of the old. The first change is that there are to be seven members instead of eleven—two from the freshman class, two from the sophomore, one from the junior, one from the senior and the editor of The News who shall be a "member ex officio, but he shall not have a vote nor can he hold office." These people must be passing in all subjects.

The term of office and method of selecting members is different. Each member will serve one year. Each class president is to appoint a nominating committee which, with the assistance of the faculty advisers, will choose four nominees during the ninth week of the regular school year. The names of these nominees shall be posted beneath the clock for one week and the election will be held the eleventh week. By that time the students should be well acquainted to be able to judge abilities of their classmates. As all members are chosen at the same time and their terms expire at the same time, there will be no continuous body as we now have it.

The last article provides for the joint meetings of the college and high school separate councils when a general problem is before them. These meetings may be called by the president of either council or after a petition is signed by four members of either council expressing a desire for the meeting. The college president should preside at these joint meetings.

These are a few of the differences that will be found in the proposed articles.

A good deal of discussion has been going on in the classrooms as well as in the halls on just this problem and new opinions are being stated with reasons daily. Two of these were contributed to The News and are to be found under Student Comment.

What will the verdict be? Are we ready for a separation between the high school and college in this way, and is it necessary? What is best? The News does not attempt to answer, but only wishes to get the situation before you in the best way it can so you'll be better prepared to give an honest sincere vote when the time comes. That we need more definite provisions than the old constitution provides is a decidedly known fact. Too, it can be prophesied with some assurance that should the classes ratify the proposed one there will be a great change in campus life at E. I., but which way the pendulum would then swing we can only imagine.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION PARTY

The members of the girls' athletic association will have a party tomorrow night (Tuesday) at the home of Mrs. Shortess on Sixth street. Those who expect to attend should notify her as soon as possible so that she may be urged to be present. The party will begin at 7:30.

OUR CLASS MEETINGS

It has appeared lately that some do not appreciate the time given us for class meetings every other Wednesday morning. Time is taken from the regular morning chapel exercises and given to the classes so that they may have a chance to transact any business that needs to be. This opportunity is one we do not deserve to have if we can not use it sensibly. If this time is wasted in foolish activities, we had better be having chapel. We are like small children who being given valuables do not know how to handle them and so break them to pieces. Of course something the children need should not be taken away from them, but they must learn how to take care of it. So it is with our class meetings. We really need such a chance to discuss class and school activities and must learn how to use this opportunity.

Besides, in wasting our time, our amateur ability crops out in the judgment shown in some of the class elections. Either we do not realize the importance of electing an able person for the place, or are so foolish and shallow minded that we try to make a joke of elections that should be serious. Such action really lowers the class in the people's esteem very much.

We ought to take a more serious attitude toward class elections and try to take advantage of the time in the meetings we are so fortunate in having.

STUDENT COMMENT

HAVE ONE COUNCIL

Before very long there will be presented for the approval of the classes a new constitution for the Student Council. I am not acquainted with all of its provisions, nor am I concerned. It does provide for a system of elections which will straighten out the present trouble at every election to see whose term has expired and whose has not. It does have some other good provisions in it. But we must be careful to do nothing hastily that we shall regret at our leisure. So let us consider carefully what we are doing.

Under the new constitution the high school will not be represented on the Student Council at all. Of course, they now have their student board of control, and it is argued that this body performs all the functions of the Student Council as far as the high school is concerned and that the older body should do the same for the college and have only college representatives. There is also a provision for the two bodies meeting together, but this will not work out as well as it is hoped.

There are problems that face the students of the whole school. The framers of the new constitution evidently recognized this when they arranged for joint meetings of the two student bodies. But there is danger in this. Problems arising from the meeting of the two bodies together will take their attention from the chief question in hand, and the only one they need or should consider. Then there will be no centering of authority in the hands of one capable leader, and no responsibility for seeing that the joint decisions are carried out. On whom does responsibility lie under the proposed new constitution?

At the tournament we saw a certain antagonism between our high school and some college students who come from Charleston High. In other quarters I have witnessed a certain antagonism between the students of college and high school. This seems to me to be directly opposed to the school spirit and proper atmosphere so necessary if we want E. I. to grow. The Student Council, as a body representing both parts of the school, is doing something to prevent the widening of this chasm, and even to bring about a firmer cohesion between them. Of course it is inevitable and desirable that our high school should develop an independent spirit, but it is just as desirable that we all remember that we are parts of old E. I., and that our entire support is due her, and necessary to her welfare.

We do not desire the college and high school not to have their separate institutions and customs, but it is more important that they should have some common institutions and be firmly bound together. The high school should remember that it is largely due to the college that it is here. And yet the college owes more to the high school, out of which it has grown. The college is still dependent on the high school for a large number of students each year. They are mutually inter-dependent, and the Student Council helps to bind them together.

Is it necessary for the college to have a separate body? Their connection with college athletics has been turned over in large part to the athletic council. Most of the other problems they must meet are problems of the whole school. So it seems to me the whole school should be represented in the body whose duty it is to solve these problems. Even though both bodies could meet together, carry on the work, and achieve the same results, ostensibly, it seems to me that the morale of the school would be better and greater support of the student body would be obtained if there were one body which they felt was common to them all. I think it is not necessary, not even advisable, for the new constitution to be adopted as long as it provides for a complete, or even partial curtailment of the high school representation. Nor does this opinion cast any reflection on the work of the committee, who have done as they thought best and have done a great deal in straightening-out the misunderstood points in the old constitution.—Harold Emery.

SHOULD THE HIGH SCHOOL AND COLLEGE OF E. I. BE SEPARATED?

It is a very important question around this school now as to whether our high school should be separated from our college. There have been many arguments in favor of and against the separation. Both sides have many good points but those opposing the separation seem to have the better. As a unit they will work for the benefit of each other. This is well shown by the enthusiasm and spirit of the high school students at college games and by college students at high school games. Then again, without the help of our high school, we could not have been purchased for the varsity football squad. Probably one half the money received at the carnival came from high school students. Not only that, but the different classes of the high school presented plays and stunts, the proceeds of which were given to the Student Council, who in turn bought the sweaters for the varsity team.

from other high schools should recognize this high school as a part of the school, both working together for the benefit of each other. There has never been any trouble between them since the high school was organized and there is no need of there ever being any so long as they remain a unit. If they were separated, T. C. High would mean no more to the college than Charleston high school or any other high school.

Social Events

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY
The F. O. S. club entertained with a dinner party at the home of Dorothy Hackett, 805 Harrison, Monday evening. The house was beautifully decorated with green balloons, flowers and green-shaded lights. The centerpiece was of sweet peas, snapdragons and similar. The dinner was in keeping with the holiday, the color scheme of green and white being carried out. The remainder of the evening was spent at bridge. The members and their guests were Dorothy Hackett, Mary Etta Eversole, Leonard Berkley, Helen Redman, Marian Berkeley, Helen Hammer, Hubert Whitacre, Leonard Frather, Paul Kepner, Harry Fringer, Frank Pinnell and Donald Blair.

FOR MISS PIERCE
The old and the new members of the Young Women's Christian Association cabinets arranged two special tables at Pemberton Hall in honor of Miss Florence Pierce on Friday night. Dainty place cards designed by Iris Johnson added to the attractiveness of the tables. Members of these cabinets are Lorna Doone Spencer, Florence Bennett, June Price, Mary Bentley, Thelma Franklin, Iris Johnson, Florence Coles, Louise Milnes, Jo Frances Tiffin, Lucille Macleod, Lida Sparks, Leila Armstrong, Lucille Bigler, Mary Louise Duncan, Lorraine Jodillet and Helen Douglas. The faculty advisers, Mrs. Allen and Miss Molyneaux, were also present.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET ENTERTAINED
Mrs. Allen and Miss Molyneaux entertained the retiring cabinet of the Young Women's Christian Association with a 6 o'clock dinner at the Allen home last Monday evening, before the social hour which followed was over they learned some of the mysteries of mah jong. Those in the group were Jo Frances Tiffin, Leila Mac Armstrong, Lida Sparks, Mary Louise Duncan, Florence Bennett, Mary Beattie, Helen Douglas, Thelma Franklin, Miss Molyneaux and Mr. and Mrs. Allen.

SENIOR COLLEGE TO HAVE ST. PATRICK'S PARTY
Members of the senior college have planned to have a St. Patrick's dinner party at the Candy Shop tonight. Mr. A. F. Goldsmith will act as toastmaster and everyone has been warned to be ready to respond if called on. After the dinner the group will attend the show at the Lincoln.

BASKETBALL NOTES

The Little 19 basketball title ended in a tie, Eureka and Augustana each claiming it with records of 13 won and 2 lost and 12 won and 2 lost, respectively.

Metcalf, winner of the local high school tournament, was defeated in its first game at the Decatur sectional tourney by Waverly, 28-17.

The four teams left in the race for the Illinois high school championship have been paired for Friday's contest at the University of Illinois; Canton vs. Elgin and West Frankfort vs. Athens. The winners play Saturday evening for the state title and the losers for third place.

The few predictions made have given Athens, Decatur sectional winner, a good chance to cop the highest honors.

Illinois, Chicago and Wisconsin tied for the Big Ten championship with 8 wins and 4 losses apiece. Martinsville defeated Frankfort 29-26, to take off the Indiana high school championship.

"THE CALL OF THE WILD"

"The Call of the Wild," presented as a number of the regular entertainment course Saturday night, proved quite entertaining. Those who know the story of this Jack London novel know that the interest centers around a dog. The dog used in the picture, a large St. Bernard, had been purchased with a great deal of discrimination and was trained for two years especially for this part. The story brought out the friendship that can exist between man and these dumb animals.

invaluable in team work—his pivoting and passing being one of the prominent features of the Blue and Gray offenses. Phipps was able to roam into shape and only in the last few games did he exhibit that uncanny eye for the hoop that gained him such a reputation in high school circles last year. Muchmore was held back with injuries and only at rare intervals displayed his old basketball form. McCall gives promise of developing into a good floor man—his basket netting already being conceded as one of the surest ever seen on an E. I. quintet. It is significant that only two guards, Brown and Cochran, won letters. That is pretty good evidence of their ability, not the scarcity of material, as there were no less than five other applicants for the positions. Both were big and rangy, good at covering the floor and searing close in shots. Osborn, captain, found the position he really belonged in, at guard, just before the season closed. "Hank" ought to have a profitable 1924-'25 season. While the forwards were more at home on a large floor the reverse was true of the guards.

Of the non-letter men there is much promising material for next year. Bissom, who left in mid year to take exams for West Point, was fully as capable as either of the regulars and his loss is to be regretted. Dunn, a former letter winner, came in late and so failed to get in the required contests. White, Warner and Gilbert lacked the experience, but the last named is going to hustle the opposition next year. Brainard, an off and on type, did not live up to the promise he showed last season. There were several recruits among the scrubs who missed few practices and deserve some mention for playing good ball: Walton, Bennett, Groves and Whittaker.

The past season has not been successful from a standpoint of games won, but the achievements against Millikin and Indiana Normal are sufficient to give an inkling of what is to come next year.

Following is the season's summary of the different players who have been in one or more games. The column headings are games, baskets, free throws, total points, personals.
