Pre-session aids upperclassmen in diploma race

by John Cook

Although pre-session has always raised questions on the basis of its worthiness, Lawrence Ringenberg, Vice-President of Academic Affairs, feels it adds to the value of the university.

"Some students want to get out of Eastern as quickly as they can. Pre-session is a way for those students to get the hours that are needed to graduate," Ringenberg said.

Of the 301 students who took advantage of the pre-session schedule, 255 of those students opted for the three arts and sciences classes offered for the three-week session, according to Records Office statistics. Graduate and undergraduate students took independent study classes in such areas as art, health education and psychology.

Ringenberg said the cost of pre-session is minimal for the university. Money was budgeted only for the three arts and sciences classes while the independent study classes were voluntarily taught by the instructors.

"Some students find they need only one course to graduate. Others (students) established in the area welcome pre-session because they don't have anything else to do," Ringenberg said.

Ringenberg added he has received complaints because too few classes were offered and added money problems kept the university from offering more classes.

Lee Steinmetz, a member of the English Department who taught a class in Western Literature, said he felt it was a valuable experience for those who were involved.

"It (pre-session) has its virtues and weaknesses like any other course."

Fiscal 1979 budget before Gov. Thompson

by John Cook

Eastern is only a signature away from having its proposed $22,540,300 budget for the 1979 fiscal year approved.

The budget was recently passed by the Illinois general assembly and is now awaiting Governor Jim Thompson's approval.

John Morrissey, budget officer for Eastern, said Monday there should be no problem with getting Thompson's approval because Thompson recommended the budget to the Illinois general assembly.

"He (Thompson) could wait until July like he did last year to sign it. It's really hard to tell what will happen," Morrissey added.

The proposed $22,540,300 budget, a 9.6 percent increase over fiscal 1978's budget, includes increases in all areas except Awards and Grants, which remains at $80,000, and a drop in the allocation for Operation of Auto Equipment.

"Teacher education scholarships are being phased out and work study funds are being increased, one to offset the other. There will be no other changes in funds for scholarship money," Morrissey said.

The 1979 budget is broken down into eight major areas: Personal Services, Contractual Services, Travel, Commodities, Operation of Auto Equipment, Equipment and Library Books, Telecommunications, and Awards and Grants.

The largest increase from the 1978 budget will be in the area of Equipment and Library Books which will be increased 29 percent, or $729,400 in 1979.

Personal Services, which comprises 80.3 percent of the total budget, will be increased by 8 percent from $16,650,000 in 1978 to $18,091,000 for this year.

Morrissey said Personal Services includes all salaries of faculty, civil service employees and administration.

Contractual Services funding for 1979 will rise from $2,486,200 in 1978 to $2,874,200 in 1979, a 14 percent increase.

Morrissey said, "Contractual Services includes all services where contract jobs are involved, Xerox Machines, maintenance on office equipment and other things like air conditioning repair. Utility bills for gas, oil and electricity are under this area also."

He added the 14 percent increase in this area was mainly due to inflation.

Travel increased in budget 12 percent from the 1978 budget of $100,600 to $113,600 for 1979.

Faculty, administration and civil service employees' trips are covered under this area, Morrissey said.

However, this area does not cover travel done by athletic teams, he added.

$440,600 for Commodities has been proposed for the 1979 budget, an increase from $361,300 in 1978.

Morrissey said Commodities pays for all forms, paper products and supplies used by Eastern.

Operation of Auto Equipment will drop from $88,600 in fiscal 1978 to $69,000 for 1979. Morrissey said this area pays for the upkeep and maintenance of all university vehicles.

Telecommunications will be increased to $141,700 for fiscal 1979. Morrissey said Telecommunications pays mainly for the university's phone bills.

Morrissey said he "felt good" about the increase of 9.6 percent in the 1979 budget, adding the university could meet the problems of rising inflation with the increase.

Grant elected speaker

by Mimi Lennon

John Grant, a senator from the at-large district, was elected summer student senate speaker at last Thursday's meeting.

Grant defeated at-large Senator Joe Dawson by a five to three vote.

The three senators who voted for Dawson were Dawson himself, at-large senator Missy Rodgers and off-campus senator Kevin Sandefur.

Those who voted for Grant were Greek senator Tim O'Rourke, Resident Hall Senators Becca Hines and Laura Funk and Renee Dancu, a senator from the organizational house district.

Petitions for students who wish to serve on the summer senate are currently available in the Student Government office. The petitions must be signed by 25 students before they can be returned.

The student will then be interviewed by a special senate committee at 6 p.m. tonight, Grant said.

Grant said the students who have petitioned for seats will be voted on at next Thursday's meeting.

However, they must receive a plurality vote of the senate in order to be seated.

Grant was elected to the senate in the fall of 1977 and has previously served on three senate committees: the Academic Affairs, Housing and Public Relations.

In other business, Student Body President Tom Holden appointed junior Karen Asmus as chief justice of the student supreme court and Pat Boylan, a junior and former student senator, to the court.

The meeting time for the summer senate was also changed from 8 p.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday.

Taylor Hall to close June 29

Taylor Hall will be closed for the July Fourth holiday.

The hall will officially close Friday at 6 p.m., but all residents must be out by 5 p.m.

The hall will reopen Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Checks to be disbursed June 29 Effingham room

by V.L. Tobias, Jr.

Summer financial aid will be available on June 29, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Union addition Effingham Room, Sue Sparks, financial aids director, said Tuesday.

The summer financial aid will be dispersed once this semester because all checks have to be written prior to June 30, the end of the present fiscal year.

Those students applying for fall aid must have their financial aid package completed and returned on October 1, or they will be unable to receive aid before Spring 1979, Sparks said.

Because of the change in the financial aid requirements, students no longer have to maintain a 2.0 grade point average to qualify for financial aid, Sparks said, but academic probation can still result in dismissal from the university.

Also, the changes in the requirements allow students to be eligible for financial aid if the student has completed 60 percent of the hours they enrolled for in the present semester, Sparks said.

The reason for the change was to meet the requirements of the Educational Amendment of 1976 which set "Satisfactory Progress standards," which each institution must meet, Spark added.

Sparks said, "Every institution makes up its own requirements" so the requirements vary with each institution.

"Students unable to maintain 60 percent of their hours will be placed on financial aid probation, Sparks said, adding if requirements are not met the succeeding semester the student will be denied aid.

"The Illinois State Scholarship Commission and aid administered by Eastern allow for 10 semesters of aid," Sparks said. With the present requirements each student should be able to graduate by averaging 12 hours per semester, she added.

At present approximately 24 to 25 percent of the Eastern population receives financial aid, Sparks said, "and 10 percent of the aid is packaged in the Financial Aid department."

Kiwanis plan '78 Kids day and a bigger fireworks

by Holly Rudigier
A "bigger and better" campus fireworks display will be the highlight of this year's July Fourth activities. The fireworks will begin Tuesday at sunset on the soccer field south of the Lantz building and by the Campus Pond, Fred Kubicek, of the Kiwanis Club and chairman of fireworks said. In case of rain Tuesday the fireworks will be displayed Wednesday at sunset, Kubicek added. The display is co-sponsored by the Charleston Kiwanis Club, the Charleston VFW and the Charleston Jaycees, Kubicek said. "The fireworks display will be of better quality this year," Kubicek said. "The grand finale will be twice as big as last year's and there will be new and different ground displays." Kiwanis Kid's Day activities will take place from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. at Morton Park on the Fourth, Jim Grant of the Kiwanis Club said.

The torrid, August sun beat down on the bewildered freshman as he passed the winding lines of tanned, sweating students who were waiting to get their textbooks. He paused to check his schedule, then decided to ask directions.

"Excuse me," he asked the gent sporting a shirt with greek letters, "but could you tell me where the advisement center is?"

"Yeah, it's in Old Main. I think it's on the second floor, but I'm not sure," came the reply.

"Thanks," the newcomer said, eyeing the monstrous castle with its prison-like fire stairs. Hmmm, he thought, the building wouldn't look so bad if it didn't have those ugly escapeways attached to it.

"THE ADVISEMENT CENTER HAS BEEN MOVED TO THE THIRD FLOOR OF THE STUDENT SERVICES BUILDING," the sign above the second floor door read.

Heading down the stairs again, he waved aside two more students.

"Hi! Could you tell me where the Student Services building and the advisement center are located?"

The two eyed him hesitantly, looked at one another, then turned to face him.

"Yeah, if I'm not mistaken," said one, "I think they moved it to the second floor of that big red building over there. No, wait a minute, I think it's the third floor. No, maybe it's in the basement. I'm sorry, but I'm not really sure," he said, shrugging his shoulders.

"Well, I think I can find it if I have the right building. Oh, how about the counseling and testing centers? Do you know where they're located?", the frosh asked.

"Sure. The testing center is over on Seventh street, but I think it'll be moved soon. I'm afraid I can't tell you where the counseling center is, though. I think it's somewhere in Old Main, but I'm not sure," the thin one responded, throwing his arms up in the air.

"Why are you looking for the advisement center anyway?" his friend interjected. "Hell, I'm still trying to find the TV rooms here. Besides, the only advisement help I seek is when I go to Ike's or Roc's," he joked, punching the freshman in the arm.

The freshman squinted his eyes, confused.

"Wait a minute, how about the reading services center or the student personnel offices? Do you know where they might be?", he asked, feeling a sense of frustration coming over him.

"I've never heard of them," said the other. "They keep on moving them so much, I don't think anyone knows where they're at," he sighed.

"Who are the they you're talking about?", the freshman inquired.

"Oh, the people here in Old Main. They're the ones who make the bigcisions around here. I think they originally wanted to move the advisement center to Buzzard, but I guess they figured the pool was crowded enough already. Then I heard they wanted to move it to Lantz, but the long lines of people waiting to use the racquetball courts kinda got in the way. If that wasn't enough, I think they wanted to move it to the basement of Pemberton Hall, but they decided against that because it was not exactly a suitable atmosphere. Nobody really knows what's going on around here," he ended, as he began walking toward the lines outside the textbook library with his friend.

Feeling the effects of the heat and his legs beginning to tire, the freshman frantically called to the duo again.

"One last question. How do you get to the Union?"

"Oh, it's that building over there," the thin one pointed, "the one with the new construction going on outside of it. But I'm not sure it'll be there long, because I think they have plans to move it too."

Letters to the Editor

Cheered-off

Editor,

Being a full-time Eastern student, an incident that happened this morning began to annoy me.

Walking from Lantz Gym to the Union, I was forced to detour around several squads of cheerleaders.

That detour wasn't too much of an inconvenience but it raised some ire and some questions in my mind.

Pardounez-moi if I'm wrong, but isn't this still a state university and not a summer camp?

Not only do the powers that be change Eastern's schedule to accommodate high school track events, but now they allow Eastern students to become second-class citizens detouring, listening to incessant cheers and waiting patiently in line as their food services are overloaded with campers.

Extra income for Eastern may serve to ease the budget and hospitality is a good thing. However, a decision should be made as to whether or not this is a university or a camp in the summer.

Perhaps with these current summer enrollments so low, it might be more profitable to close academia's doors for the summer and just hold all the seminars, camps and the rest of fol-dorls that interrupt the spring and fall schedules in the summer.

But then again, is the university here to turn a profit or educate its students?

M. R. Wietes

Good job

Editor,

I would like to publicly acknowledge the work of journalism studies faculty member Evelyn Goodrick.

This woman has given Eastern journalism students a wide, professional view of news, feature and article writing in particular.

Because journalism is moving in an in-depth, investigative direction, her professional expertise and "story sense" has been the single, most motivating factor in my efforts to improve and widen my news scope.

Women of her quality and background are essential because news and free press are fundamental to our country's democracy, moral character and individual freedoms.

As an editor of a weekly community newspaper, I have quickly found that news decisions are based more on time, space and money limitations than choice and reason.

It is necessary that all aspects of deliberate, time-consuming article writing are explored to meet the challenges of interpreting and reporting today's news.

Mrs. Goodrick has not only filled this function, but as an experienced published writer in her own-right, has helped to make article writing a "now" proposition with a copy of Writer's Market in hand.

The person(s) responsible for letting her slip away from Eastern have made a gross error in judgment and do not recognize experience in a resume, in the classroom or as a byline.

They are guilty of far more than poor judgment. They are guilty of being a part of Eastern's cancer: bureaucracy.

AFT disappointed with salary increase offer

by Mimi Lennon

The American Federation of Teachers "is disappointed" with the latest salary increase offer from the Board of Governors, John Rearden, AFT chief negotiator said Friday.

The teachers union and the board met last Thursday in Springfield to discuss salary increases and establish minima, or the least amount of money a faculty member could be paid.

The latest BOG offer is a $65 across the board raise for all faculty members plus a three and one-half percent increase in the faculty member's current salary.

The offer results in a 6.8 percent increase for the average faculty member, he explained.

Rearden said the AFT had originally requested a 10 percent increase in salary for all faculty members.

"Although the union has not responded to the offer, we are disappointed," he added.

He said the BOG also proposed a $75 increase in the minimum contractual salary of faculty members.

"Any basic increase added to minima wouldn't help anybody," Rearden said, adding that the $75 would only benefit those faculty members below minima.

Two Eastern students receive awards at spring commencement

by Dave Pugh

Two scholarships were recently awarded to two Eastern students in memory of Livingstone C. Lord, first president of Eastern, during commencement exercises.

The recipients are seniors Beverly Werdin and Cheryl Ann Gerino, Charles Titus, director of Alumni Services, said Tuesday.

Gerino, from Glendale Heights, is a mathematics major and a psychology minor. Werdin is from Elburn, and is majoring in junior high school education.

The awards are worth $1,200, Titus added.

Titus explained that the awards are given to juniors or seniors who have "no less than 60 semester hours or more than 95, and are in a program that leads to teacher certification."

One of the awards is given to a student planning to teach at the secondary level and the other to a student planning to teach in either elementary school or junior high, Titus said.

Titus explained the selection process, saying, "early in the spring, I send a note to all of the department chairmen, and tell them that we are accepting nominations (for the Lord Scholarships)."

Titus said the chairmen get in touch with the professors in the department and they nominate outstanding students.

Titus said the names are then returned to the department heads, who then send them to him.

Titus then contacts the students and sends them a questionnaire to fill out, including three faculty references.

"The questionnaire asks such questions as 'why do you want to be a teacher,'" Titus said.

Titus added a file is started on the students, and in early April, the files with the faculty references are given to the Livingston C. Lord Scholarship committee.

Camping--the ultimate weekend escape...

by Holly Rudigier

Feel like getting away from all your studies, academic pressures and social anxieties? Take a weekend off to explore nature and go camping! Camping is a low cost way to escape your pressures and a lot of fun too.

To prepare for your weekend in the woods, you will first need to get the appropriate gear.

Camping equipment can be rented from the University Board for a minimal charge. The UB has tents, lanterns, stoves, cook kits, sleeping bags, tool kits, back packs and coolers.

Rental forms for the equipment are available at the Student Activity Center between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Equipment may be checked out in the Universtiy Union Recreation Room on Fridays, although exact times for check-outs have not yet been scheduled for the summer. An I.D. will be required at the time of equipment rental. The equipment must be returned on the following Monday and a $2.50 late fee will be assessed each day for any late equipment returned.

Charleston Recreation Director Jerry Fitch offered several suggestions for planning a camping excursion.

A sturdy tent is a must as well as an insulated sleeping bag, Fitch noted.

A sleeping bag can be insulated by folding a blanket inside of it, Fitch said.

Matches, an ax or saw, a flashlight, cooking utensils and at least one gallon of water are recommended for all campers to bring along, he said.

Insect repellent is another camping neccesity, as many campers will testify. The best type of bug spray available is the type that can be sprayed directly on your body and clothes, Fitch said.

He added that the type of spray you use in the air is also good but only for a short time.

Before going to bed, build a fairly large fire. The fire's glow will keep animals, such as raccoons and opossums, and bugs away at night, Fitch said.

Campfires should be set up approximately 15 feet away from your tent so that sparks cannot ignite the tent. Also, the front of the tent should face the campfire so that campers can keep an eye on it, he added.

If an ice chest is brought, nearly any type of food is feasible on a weekend camping trip. Hamburgers and hot dogs are good because they are the easiest to keep, Fitch said.

Canned foods and boxed foods such as potato chips and pretzels are also easy food items to bring, Fitch added.

There are many state parks near Charleston that offer camping facilities and a variety of other recreational activities.

The closest state park is Fox Ridge, which is eight miles south of Charleston. The park has tent camping areas available in addition to a wide variety of other activities. Fishing and boating are also allowed on Ridge Lake. However, only boats provided by the park may be used. The boats are free of charge.

Hiking is also a favorite past time of Fox Ridge campers. Approximately 4 miles of trails wind through the park's wooded landscape.

A special area located one mile north and three miles west of Fox Ridge Park's main entrance is open to public hunting. More information is available to hunters at Fox Ridge.

Walnut Point State Park also offers campgrounds for tents and trailers. Walnut Point is located 20 miles east of Charleston between Routes 36 and 133.

Walnut's facilities include picnic areas and two hiking trails.

Fishermen will also be happy at Walnut Point. A wide variety of fish are waiting to bite in Walnut Point Lake. If your luck runs out there, try the Embarrass River, which is located only one half mile south of the dam.

A bit farther from Charleston is the Lincoln Trail State Park. Lincoln Trail is 2 miles south of Marshall and one mile west of Route 1 in Clark County.

Picnicing and hiking on scenic trails are offered at Lincoln Trail. Boating and fishing on beautiful Lincoln Trail Lake are also favorite activites visitors enjoy.

The Shelbyville Wildlife Management Area offers several areas for campers along Lake Shelbyville.

Eagle Creek State Park and Wolf Creek State Park offer hiking, boating, fishing and picnicing. Swimming and horseback riding are also permitted but only in areas specifically designated for these activities.

Now you're all set for a happy camping weekend. Enjoy yourself and say "Hi" to Smokey the Bear!

Greeks to hold summer meeting

The Summer Greek Council will hold its first meeting Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Martinsville room on the third floor of the Union addition.

Committee activity assignments and summer community projects will be discussed at the meeting, Don Cook, director of student activities said recently.

"Any Greeks who are interested are welcome to attend the meeting, Cook

Hadwiger, Jones leave administrative posts

by Dave Pugh

Two of Eastern's deans are scheduled to leave their posts Friday, June 30.

Kenneth Hadwiger, dean of the graduate school and research and Dean Thomas O. Jones, School of Business, both submitted their resignations, effective June 30.

Hadwiger announced his resignation February 20. President Marvin said in February the resignation was due in part to a disagreement between Hadwiger and Marvin concerning Marvin's reorganization plan.

Marvin said his plan called for two proposals Hadwiger "does not fully support."

Jones released a three-page statement in late March citing three factors which led to his resignation, submitted to Marvin in December, 1977.

Jones cited Eastern's low level of financial support for the school of business, high student-faculty ration and teaching loads, and the faculty evaluation process as reasons for his resignation.

Sue Stoner, head of the search committee to replace Hadwiger said Monday the committee is "actively reviewing applications."

Stoner said they had received over 50 applications from both outside and inside the campus community.

However, she added the majority of applications had been received from the outside.

She said, "We hope to have candidates on campus in middle to latter July," and added she hopefully would have someone employed by September 1.

She said the position had been advertised in the Chronical of Higher Education and with "270 placement agencies."

She said the position had been "well advertised."

Thomas Bond, provost and vice president for academic affairs, said Monday advertisements for the position of Dean of the school of business would be placed in the first week of July, adding the university "does not plan to replace him until January 1."

He said until that time, the three department chairmen would work with him.

Bond said work on the search committee would wait for President Marvin's return from being out of town this week.

Fox Ridge to get new office out of old house

by Holly Rudigier

The rangers at Fox Ridge State Park will soon have a new office and information center.

The new office will be located closer to the entrance of the park for easier access by campers and other park visitors, Arthur Jewell, assistant ranger, said recently.

Camper registration and other information about Fox Ridge will be available at the new office, he added.

Amateur Gun Club to sponsor two-man skeet shoot league

The Charleston Gun Club will sponsor a two-man skeet shoot league beginning 7 p.m. Friday at the clubhouse.

Waldo Grigoroff, club spokesperson, said the league will hold competition for approximately five weeks and is open to all interested persons.

Persons who wish to enter competition should bring their own shotguns, Grigoroff said.

"We'll be running approximately 50 targets a week. This is not a bunch of pros. This is the first time we've done something like this, and it's open to anyone," he said.

Anyone wishing further information can contact Grigoroff at 345-5221 or 581-5529.

CGS selects new vice chairman, acts on student waivers

by Dave Pugh

The Council on Graduate Studies elected a vice-chairperson and acted on some student waivers, Thomas Elliott, summer chairperson of CGS, said Friday.

Elliott said Earl Doughty of the department of elementary education was elected as vice chairman of the CGS for the summer at the June 20 CGS meeting.

He added the committee "considered some student waivers."

The graduate school has rules "just like the undergraduate school," and the waivers were requests for exemptions to the rules.

Eventually the new office will include an interpretive area with maps and pictures of the park, different specimens of wildflowers and tree diseases, Jewell added.

The office was originally scheduled to open May 15, Park Ranger Greg Kile said.

"But problems especially with weather have delayed the project," he explained. "We expect the new office to open July 1," he added.

The new office building is really an old house, Kile said.

"The house was moved about one mile from a 12 acre portion of land that was purchased by state funds for the state park about one and one half years ago," he said.

"To build a new office would have cost an estimated $54,000," Kile said, "but so far moving the old house and fixing it up has only cost about $5,000."

Parents weekend show to feature comic Little

Comic and impersonator Rich Little will be the guest entertainer of this year's Parents' Weekend, Anita Craig director of student activities said Tuesday.

"We just got back Little's signed contract Thursday," Craig said.

Parents' Weekend will be September 15 through 17 this year.

Many activities have been scheduled to keep parents and students busy.

A theatrical "one man show" will be presented Friday night, Sept. 15. Parker Drew will be featured in the show "Mark Twain Re-visited," Craig said.

Saturday's activities include an activity fair where university organizations set up tables and displays with information about their group, Craig explained.

An Eastern soccer game and a football game are scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Saturday evening Rich Little will perform at 7 p.m. and at 9:30 p.m.

The weekend activities will wrap up with an art show at Sargent Gallery.

Brochures with information about Parents' Weekend and a ticket order form are being mailed to students' homes, Craig said.

McDevitt proud of panther baseball team

by Vickie Woodbury

Although Eastern's baseball team concluded their season with a 27 and 19 record and a fifth place finish in the NCAA II baseball World Series, Coach Tom McDevitt said he was "very proud" of the club's performance.

"I was very proud of the overall play of the ball club, McDevitt said. He said he was also pleased with the performance of his pitching staff, despite the injury of Panther Rick Furmanski, the club's No. 1 starter.

In the Division II series held in Springfield, the Panther scored 36 runs in three ball games with Cam Kennedy scoring three homeruns in one game.

"We had excellent hitting and we really put our hits together when we needed them, but a combination of shabby fielding and wildness spelled defeat against San Diego in the first game of the series, McDevitt said.

McDevitt said he was "just elated" about players Jeff Gossett, Rick Doss, and Pat Rooney being selected in the major leagues' free agent draft. It was the first time in Panther history that three players were selected from the same team.

Gossett, a junior shortstop from Charleston, finished the season with a .353 batting average along with 10 homeruns and 51 RBI's. He was nabbed in the fifth round of the draft by the New York Mets.

Rooney, a junior from Arlington Heights, Ill., who handled third base, and Zoss, an outfielder, both finished with .375 and .257 batting averages respectively.

Rooney was taken in the 20th round by the Montreal Expos while Doss was taken in the 19th by the San Francisco Giants.

McDevitt said he could not speculate on next season's team because out of eight regular players, he has lost five, while the remaining three went to the pros and Dave Extrum and Tim West graduated.

However, of those remaining, he said, Paul Franson the starting left-fielder who finished with a .394 batting average, was picked to go to Mexico to represent the United States, and Dennis Conley, a junior, could play any position in the infield, adding that he has the finest hands of any Eastern infielder in 25 years.

IM deadline

Entry deadlines for men and women's intramural single-elimination tennis tournaments is July 5, while the deadline for women's racquetball singles is July 12.

Eastern faculty, staff may use recreational facilities

The Family Recreation Program, which began June 14, will remain free of charge this summer, Intramural Director Dave Dutler said recently.

The faculty/staff and their families currently have all facilities open for their use for free play.

The free play hours for Lantz Gym and the O'Brien fieldhouse are, Monday thru Friday, 6-9 p.m.; Saturday, 1-9 p.m.; Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

The Gymnastics room, Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7-9 p.m.; Sunday, 3-5 p.m.

Lantz's swimming pool will be open

Monday thru Friday, 5-8 p.m.; Saturday, 3-8 p.m.; Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

Weight room hours are Monday thru Friday, 5-8 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 1-5 p.m.

Racquetball courts are by reservation and will be open Monday thru Friday, 8 a.m. - 9 p.m.; Saturday, 1-9 p.m.; Sunday 1-5 p.m.

The free play hours for Buzzard swimming pool Monday thru Friday, 12:15-1:15 and 2:30 - 4:30 p.m.

All children under 16 years of age must be accompanied by an adult when using the facilities.

Panther coach Tom McDevitt, shown here during a game earlier this season, said recently he was quite pleased with his team's performance this past season. The Panther baseball team placed fifth in the NCAA Division II World Series held earlier this year in Springfield. (News photo by Craig Stockel)

ESTABLISHING CENTERS

Off-campus courses are assigned to centers where it is likely that need and enrollment will justify the service. Requests from Educational Service Region Superintendents, unit superintendents, and other agencies will be considered in planning off-campus programs.

Requests should be filed at least six months in advance of the time the course(s) are desired so that departments can arrange for staffing. The University reserves the right to cancel scheduled classes where there is evidence that the enrollment will be inadequate. All courses taught by EIU staff will be recognized as residence credit.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

In most instances, undergraduate classes offered off-campus will be limited to upper division level courses - open only to juniors, seniors, and graduates and subject to specific course prerequisites.

Admission to off-campus courses does not constitute admission to a degree program at EIU. Students desiring to pursue a degree program must file an official application for admission with either the Admissions Office, if an undergraduate, or the Graduate School.

Graduate students are subject to the same entrance requirements as those enrolling in comparable courses taught in residence.

COURSE NUMBERS

Generally, courses numbered 1000-1999, are Freshman courses; 2000-2999, Sophomore courses; 3000-3999, Junior courses; 4000-4999, Senior courses; and 5000-6999, Graduate courses.

However, courses numbered 4750-4999 may be taken for either undergraduate or graduate credit.

CLASSIFICATION OF STUDENTS

Freshman	0-29 semester hours
Sophomore	30-59 semester hours
Junior	60-89 semester hours
Senior	90 and above semester hours

REGISTRATION

The registration fee (subject to change) for off-campus courses is $24.00 per semester hour of credit plus a $5.00 book rental fee, payable at the time of registration. State Military Scholarships may be used by students enrolled for credit in off-campus courses. Fees for auditing are the same as those for students taking an equivalent amount of work for credit. EIU reserves the right to cancel any class prior to or during registration and to change or reassign instructors at any time.

Any student who has been dropped from EIU for academic reasons must petition for readmission prior to registration.

Registration will be conducted during the first class meeting at all centers, or as follows, except at CAFB where students must register at the time and place indicated.

ANY CLASS WITH LESS THAN TWELVE
ENROLLMENTS IS SUBJECT

CLASS WITHDRAWAL

Withdrawal from classes must be submitted in writing to the Continuing Education Office. Verbal communications via the instructor or telephone will not be honored.

GRADUATE CREDIT

Graduate students are those students who have completed a bachelor's degree from an accredited institution and have obtained admission to the EIU graduate school. An application for admission to graduate study must be filed with the Graduate School prior to or at the time of enrollment for the first graduate course from EIU.

Degree Candidate: Submit two official undergraduate transcripts sent directly from each college or university attended to the Graduate School. Typically the candidate must have a 2.50 undergraduate GPA and take the appropriate admission test (GRE, MAT, or GMAT). For further details consult the Graduate Catalog.

Non-Degree Student: Submit to the office of Continuing Education an official copy of your undergraduate transcript(s). This documentation is required only once if you remain a Non-Degree student. Failure to supply such documentation will result in the withholding of credit and grades. Credits earned as a non-degree student may not count toward a graduate degree. Students are advised to seek official admission to the graduate school.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTIONS

BOARD OF GOVERNORS BACHELOR OF ARTS (1)

The Board of Governors degree is highly individualized. Each student will work closely and carefully with a counselor in setting up his own specific program. The program guidelines provide for the maximum allowances possible for previous credit earned for education beyond the high school. In addition to the possibility of credit awarded on the basis of an evaluation of work experiences, credit can also be obtained for instruction in non-traditional forms such as independent study. Evaluation will be on a "A", "B", "C", "Pass" or "Credit" basis. No failing evaluation will be recorded. It should be emphasized that a variety of techniques applied in a manner consistent with high standards may be utilized in fulfilling the requirements. To earn a Board of Governors Bachelor of Arts Degree, the following requirements must be met: a) 120 total semester credits or equivalent, b) 40 semester credits or equivalent at the junior-senior level, c) 15 semester credits actually taken in any order at any combination of Board of Governors universities, and d) 12 semester credits each from social science, natural science and humanities gained in any combination or under any approved method. Write or call: Dr. Donald F. Tingley, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-2927.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE-CAREER OCCUPATIONS (2)

This program is intended to prepare its graduates to function as teachers in secondary level occupational programs, post-secondary technical education programs, and various proprietary vocational schools, manpower programs, military technical schools, etc. It is limited to occupational specialists in the areas of Industrial-Technical Occupations and Business and Office Occupations. It provides the opportunity for qualified individuals to enroll in a course of study leading to a Bachelor of Science Degree, major in career occupations, without requiring campus residency. It makes possible: a) the acceptance of credit measured by the CLEP general examination in accordance with University policy, b) the transfer of transcribed credit from accredited community or senior level colleges, proficiency examinations, the Community College of the Air Force, USAFL, or similar sources, c) the awarding of academic credit for service schools which carry a baccalaureate credit recommendation in the latest Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services, d) the awarding of academic credit for related work experience, and e) the immediate entrance into the Master of Science in Technology Education Program in the School of Technology with all prerequisites completed. Write or call: Dr. Charles Joley, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-3912.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION-COMMUNITY COUNSELING (3)

In recent years, there has been an increasing demand for individuals with a counseling background to work in community agencies, employment services, mental health agencies, correctional facilities, youth services, home for the aged, rehabilitation agencies, and various governmental units. The required activities and skills usually relate to counseling, placement, life style changes, mental health activities, vocational advising, delinquency prevention, family counseling and rehabilitation processes of various types. Because of the needs listed above, a program emphasizing counseling activities has been developed by the Department of Educational Psychology and Guidance of Eastern Illinois University. Thirty-two semester hours beyond the bachelor's degree represent a minimum program for the master's degree. Certification as a teacher is not necessary for entrance. In order to insure a wide range of backgrounds to fit a variety of employment possibilities, various elements of the program are defined by area. No more than nine semester hours of courses numbered under 5000 may be applied to the degree. Write or call: Dr. Donald Moler, Department of Educational Psychology and Guidance, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois, 61920, (217) 581-2400.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION-SCHOOL COUNSELING (4)

The Department of Educational Psychology and Guidance at Eastern Illinois University offers the Master of Science in Education Degree in Guidance with emphasis at the levels of elementary and secondary education. The basic objective of the program is to prepare specialists in guidance to work in school settings. It follows, therefore, that while counseling and guidance techniques are paramount in the program, school counselors are viewed primarily as educators. No disregard or lack of understanding of the counseling or student personnel function is implied, but states the clear expectation that the major graduating from the program at Eastern Illinois University will have the skills needed to permit him to work effectively in an educational context. The entire program is devoted to the development of attitudes and skills in the areas of a) understanding human behavior, b) the role of guidance services in the philosophy of the school, and c) the specific skills needed by the person fulfilling the role of counselor student personnel worker. The secondary school program is designed to prepare students to meet the requirements of the state with regard to certification standards, and to do those things required as the usual guidance functions in the public schools. It is hoped that the program will prepare persons with the ability to: a) work successfully with adolescents and young adults with minor personal or academic problems, using individual or group techniques, b) be capable of adequate vocational and educational counseling, including providing students with the appropriate information needed to meet pupil goals, c) have a good understanding of human behavior, and educational and adolescent psychology, d) have the maturity and understanding to serve as consultants to classroom teachers as regards the psychological needs of pupils, e) be proficient in the routine guidance services expected in school settings. The elementary level program is designed to develop a specialist who works with children in a school setting and helps parents and teachers. The elementary guidance person develops skills which enable him to work with children, to provide counseling and group guidance services, to provide in-service training in specialized areas, and to interpret the guidance program. The courses for the degree, Master of Science in Education, must total at least 32 semester hours. Write or call: Dr. Donald Moler, Department of Educational Psychology and Guidance, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-2400.

MASTER OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (5)

The Master of Business Administration program is designed to serve the student who has completed his bachelor's degree in nonbusiness fields, as well as the graduate with a concentration of undergraduate courses in business. The time needed to complete the program depends upon the student's course background and course load. All requirements for graduation as stated in the Graduate School Catalog must be met. The basic philosophy of the M.B.A. program reflects the general management point of view. The program is meant to insure a sound knowledge of the basic business functions--accounting, production, personnel, finance and marketing. The program is designed to develop ability in methods and processes of analysis, particularly in identifying problems, obtaining relevant facts, and rendering judgment and action based on careful, systematic, and scientific analysis of data. The student is expected to communicate ideas, proposals, findings, conclusions, and judgments by oral and written means--clearly, concisely, reliably, concretely, and coherently. The program provides the means for an understanding of the social conscience. The general background enables the student to continue his learning and development in a continuously changing world. Students with business undergraduate degrees normally have a satisfactory command of elements of understanding fundamental to entry into graduate study toward the degree. They may be prepared to launch immediately into phase II (graduate-level courses). Students who do not have degrees in business are expected to make up deficiencies by completing phase I (undergraduate-level courses). The phase I courses must be completed or substantially completed before the student enrolls in phase II (graduate-business-level) courses. The program is flexible enough to take into account the diversity of undergraduate backgrounds of the students. For this reason each student accepted for the M.B.A. program must initially meet with the Coordinator of Graduate Business Studies to prepare an approved program and schedule courses in a way that makes allowances for individual circumstances. Write or call: Dr. Robert N. Sullivan, Coordinator of Graduate Business Studies, School of Business, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-3028.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION-INSTRUCTIONAL MEDIA (6)

The Instructional Media Program consists of 32 semester hours of Graduate Credit Coursework. Eight of the 32 semester hours must be in the Group I, foundations area. A minimum of eighteen semester hours is required in the area of Instructional Media. Students in the Instructional Media program are taught methods of communication through the use of Instructional Media. The work consists of theory of communication, production, organization, and administration, and the practical use of instructional media. Upon completion of the degree, a student is capable of assuming the duties of an Instructional Media Specialist in an educational system. Some students may also assume similar duties with business and industry. Students who wish to pursue study in Instructional Media should make application with the Graduate School. After being accepted by the Graduate School and the department, the student is assigned to an advisor. Through consultation with the advisor, the student develops a program of coursework that meets the requirements of the University and the department. With few exceptions, the program may be completed through extension courses offered through the Office of Continuing Education. Write or call: Dr. Robert C. Wiseman, School Service Personnel, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-2919.

MASTER OF SCIENCE-TECHNOLOGY (7)

The M.S. in Technology is designed specifically for those students who do not wish to earn a degree in education. It is intended to accommodate those students who wish to continue study in the technologies. Therefore, students from various disciplines, including the B.O.G., can design a program to fit their individual needs. The central theme running through this program is the study of technology (technical and socio-cultural). Each student is expected to design a degree program including the identification of desired competencies and the means to obtain these. Special attention must be given to the basis for selecting competencies and the means for achieving each. Each program must be approved by the student's graduate committee. This degree program is well suited for those persons who will continue to work in a technological area but who will not teach. Persons who have a bachelor's degree and will work in industry, military, or related occupations will find this program structured for their individual needs. A total of 32 semester hours must be earned (30 semester hours if a thesis is written). A student's program may be taken entirely in a single field or a minor may be chosen. The program must be approved by the graduate committee. A final oral examination is given during the student's final semester of study. Required courses: TED 4973, READINGS IN TECHNOLOGY; TED 5153, TECHNICAL

DEVELOPMENTS IN TECHNOLOGY: AND TED 5163, CONTEMPORARY PROGRAMS IN TECHNOLOGY. Competencies may be accrued in many ways (e.g. Independent study, Foreign Travel, Seminars, Research). Write or call: Dr. Don Lauda, School of Technology, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-3719.

MASTER OF SCIENCE-TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION (8)

The M.S. in Technology Education replaces what was formerly known as the M.S. in Industrial Arts. This new degree is designed for teachers who are teaching in the technologies in the public schools or junior colleges. The basis of the degree is the study of technology as a discipline. The courses for the degree must total 32 semester hours (30, if the thesis option is selected). Two groups of courses are required: (1) Eight semester hours in basic education courses, these are prescribed in the graduate catalog, and (2) a minimum of 16 semester hours within the area of specialization. Within this group, the following courses are required: TED 4973, READINGS IN TECHNOLOGY; TED 5153, TECHNICAL DEVELOPMENTS IN TECHNOLOGY; and TED 5163, CONTEMPORARY PROBLEMS IN TECHNOLOGY. Write or call: Dr. Don Lauda, School of Technology, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-3719.

SPECIALIST IN EDUCATION-SCHOOL COUNSELING (9)

The purpose of this program is to prepare personnel specialists for guidance and counseling positions in elementary and secondary schools, higher education, and the communities in which we live. This six-year degree is directed toward specialization not only in a particular area of education service, but in personal skills. It also offers a refinement and broadening of an individual's background so that he may serve with understanding and ease in a variety of work and personal environments. Graduate study at the sixth-year level, leading to the Specialist in Education Degree, is intended to strengthen the candidate's understanding of the elements in the root sciences of behavior relevant to his professional competence in the technical skills of counseling, guidance, and student personnel work, and to prepare him to assume positions of leadership and responsibility in the coordination and supervision of counseling and guidance services in educational or community settings. A minimum of 32 semester hours beyond a Master's degree substantially equivalent to a Master's degree in counseling and guidance at Eastern Illinois University is required for the Specialist in Education Degree. Minimums, however, should not be interpreted as maximums. Programs of study are planned with the needs of the individual student in mind, rather than specific numbers of hours. Write or call: Dr. Donald Moler, Department of Educational Psychology and Guidance, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois, 61920 (217) 581-2400.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION-EDUCATIONAL ADMINISTRATION AND SUPERVISION (10)

It is the purpose of this program of graduate study at Eastern Illinois University to offer experiences designed to advance the professional and personal competence and scholarship of teachers and other educational workers in public schools. The courses for the degree must total at least 32 semester hours, chosen in consultation with the student's advisor. At least three fourths of the courses taken in the program must be numbered 5000 or above. Courses in the program are taken in two basic areas: basic education and a professional concentration. The typical program in Educational Administration would offer 8 semester hours in Group I and 24 semester hours in Group II. A final examination in written and/or oral form is required for graduation. At least 16 semester hours of credit toward the Master's degree must be earned in residence courses at Eastern Illinois University. Extension courses count as residence. The remaining credits may be earned in courses transferred from other accredited universities. Requirements for the Master's degree must be met within six years from first registration for graduate credit. Write or call: Dr. Robert Wiseman, Department of School Service Personnel, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-2919.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION-ELEMENTARY EDUCATION (11)

The mission of this graduate program leading to the Master of Science in Education degree, is to further the professional abilities and scholarly preparation of master teachers for leadership positions in the areas of elementary, junior high school, and special education at levels ranging from pre-school through junior high school. The course of study consists of 30 semester hours of course work with a thesis, or 32 hours under a no thesis option. At least eight semester hours of study in fundamental educational theory courses must be included. The remainder of the program is devoted to preparation in Elementary Education with opportunities for study in curricular areas such as reading, language arts, mathematics, science and social studies. Advanced methods courses in at least three areas of elementary curriculum are required. The student is able to specify an area of specialization in early childhood education, science education, reading instruction, junior high school education, or elementary school supervision. The program of studies is rounded out by selecting courses from a wide range of departmental offerings (including special education), or courses offered by other departments. The degree candidate's course of studies is planned to coincide closely with personal needs and specific professional interests. There is sufficient flexibility in program design to meet a wide diversity of individual requirements. Before the student can be officially admitted as a candidate for the Master's degree, the total program, embracing all requirements, must be submitted for approval. During the student's final term of enrollment a comprehensive oral examination is conducted. Write or call: Dr. Louis Grado, Department of Elementary, Special Education, and Junior High School Education, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-5728.

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION-ELEMENTARY EDUCATION/SPECIAL EDUCATION (12)

The primary objective of this program is to provide junior college graduates the opportunity to complete a B.S. in Education with a elementary education-special education major. Upon completion of the degree, candidates will be entitled to a Standard Elementary (K-9) Certificate and a Standard Special (K-12) Certificate in one of the Special Education Areas. The three special education areas in which students may certify are: EMH, LD, S/EM. Other objectives of the program are to achieve certification or additional certification and preparation as indicated for the following types of students: a) Post Baccalaureate student-elementary and/or special education certification, b) Secondary and Special Area Teachers-elementary and/or special education certification, c) Elementary Teachers-special education certification, d) Special Education Teachers-multiple certification and/or cross-categorical training. Regular classroom teacher preparation for work in schools employing mainstreaming can also be achieved through the selection of appropriate special education courses. Write or call: Dr. Louis Grado, Department of Elementary, Special Education, and Junior High School Education, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-5728.

The B.S. in Business degree with a management major is structured to give a rather broad academic base with specific preparation for either of two areas of specialization: (1) the production area or (2) the personnel area. In some instances students choose to complete both the production and personnel areas. In addition to the general education requirements, the management major includes 35 semester hours in business core requirements and 21-24 semester hours in the area of specialization. The management major provides the student with adaptability, with readiness for company training programs, and with background for assignment to a permanent position in the organization. The management major may also provide a background for graduate study in business or in other related areas. Write or call: Dr. John Roberts, Chairman, Department of Management-Marketing, School of Business, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, Illinois 61920, (217) 581-6119.
