City population may be up from 1970 census

by Jane Meyer

Charleston's population since the 1970 census is expected to have risen by more than 2,500 individuals, according to city planner Larry Stoever.

Stoever said Charleston's population, including Eastern students, in 1970 was 16,421. He projects that the figure after the 1980 census is tabulated will show about 19,212 residents in the area.

Stoever based the figure on city growth in industry and business as well as growth in school enrollment over the past 10 years. The population projection is also based on population increases in outlying cities and towns, he said.

Stoever said a special population count in 1975 showed Charleston had 18,162 residents.

Several industries have come to the Charleston area since the last census, Stoever said. The newest of the industries is Addressograph-Multigraph, also known as Bruning Division of AM International Inc.

In addition, a variety of businesses have moved into the downtown area and along Lincoln Avenue, Rudolph Anfinson, president of the downtown shopping association, said.

Residents of Charleston as well as residents throughout the country received their 1980 census forms in the mail on March 28. Residents were instructed to fill out the form furnished and return it by April 1.

According to information by the U.S. Census Bureau, most people received the shorter version consisting of 19 questions regarding income, occupation, origin, and race. One of five randomly chosen households on the mailing lists were sent the long version with 46 additional questions to answer. The longer version includes many of the same questions plus other questions pertaining to the number of household luxuries and property taxes paid.

Non respondents will be contacted by census enumerators who will go door-to-door in the first follow up of the census procedure, Bruce Wood of the Illinois Census Bureau said.

Wood said this first follow up of the census will begin around April 14. Follow up two, the phase in which enumerators will be checking on persons with forms filled out incorrectly or those returning forms with missing information, should take part the latter part of May, Wood said.

Wood said cities throughout Illinois will be assigned crew leaders. Enumerators will work under the crew leaders. Fifteen have been assigned to the Charleston-Mattoon area.

Wood said Coles County will be split in two parts—the north and the south—with two crew leaders being assigned to the Charleston-Mattoon areas.

Individuals not answering the census could theoretically receive a $100 fine, one spokesman at the Illinois Census bureau said. The spokesman said, however, enforcement of fines has never been taken seriously.

Final tabulation of the census should be completed sometime this summer.

Information from the census will be used as a basis for reapportioning seats in the House of Representatives. Findings will also decide how billions of dollars of federal revenue will be spent annually.

One of the biggest determiners of federal monies allocation will be the population increase or decrease in the area, census bureau information said.

Stoever said Charleston's federal revenue sharing allotment should increase according to the population increase although special programs needing funding may cut into that allotment.

Edison charged with conspiracy; pleads innocent

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Commonwealth Edison Co. and two of its employees pleaded innocent Wednesday to charges of fraud and conspiracy for allegedly evading security requirements at the utility's nuclear power plant at Cordova.

After hearing the plea, federal judge J. Waldo Ackerman scheduled a jury trial for June 2 in Rock Island.

"We don't believe that any crime was committed," said John F. Hogan, a spokesman for Edison, the state's largest utility and one of the nation's largest producers of nuclear-generated power.

In a nine-count indictment issued last month, Edison and the two employees were charged with conspiring from January 1976 to April 1977 to evade Nuclear Regulatory Commission security requirements.

The indictment alleged that security guards were ordered not to record discovery of unlocked and unguarded doors to the plant's "protected and vital" areas, or the presence of unescorted visitors to those areas.

It cited three instances of unescorted visitors and another six of unlocked and unguarded doors, all between January 1976 and March 1977.

Edison and the officials concealed information that should have been reported under NRC security regulations, and instead presented records that did not accurately reflect security operations at the plant, the indictment charged.

Named as defendants with Edison were Nicholas Kalivianakis, 48, of East Moline, plant superintendent, and Walter Meehand, 59, of Morrison, plant security director.

Edison was named in all nine counts and Kalivianakis and Meehan in seven counts each.

Edison operates the plant at Cordova, the Quad-Cities Nuclear Station, but owns only 75 percent. Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Co. owns the remaining 25 percent.

U.S. move may trigger hostage killings

by The Associated Press

The young radicals holding 50 Americans in Tehran threatened Wednesday to burn the U.S. Embassy and kill their hostages if the United States tries "even the smallest" military move against Iran.

The Carter administration is hinting at a possible naval blockade of Iran if the hostages are not freed. But in Washington and other world capitals Wednesday, American diplomats sought the help of U.S. allies in a broader program to punish Iran economically, a program they say could make tougher moves unnecessary.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance summoned ambassadors from 20 nations to the State Department to present the U.S. case, and foreign ministers of West European nations were gathering in Portugal for consultations on the crisis.

West European and other nations were considering taking action with the United States, but any decision might be weeks away.

Iran, meanwhile, was also intensifying its showdown with neighboring Iraq. Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh told a Tehran new conference Iran has "decided to overthrow" the Iraqi government of President Saddam Hussein, whom he accused of being "America's agent."

Border tension between the two countries has heightened since the revolutionary victory in Iran 14 months ago, and it flared into reported frontier skirmishes this week.

The embassy hostages were midway through their 23rd week of captivity in Tehran.

In announcing a U.S. economic embargo and a break in diplomatic relations Monday, Carter warned that "other actions" against Iran might become necessary. He reportedly is considering a blockade or the mining of Iranian ports to cut off economic lifelines.

The embassy militants issued a statement Wednesday, read on Tehran Radio, declaring "In the name of God the avenger we plainly warn the criminal government of the United States that if it undertakes even the smallest military intervention in Iran we will kill all the spy hostages together and we emphatically warn the respected U.S. nation that the criminals of the U.S. administration will be directly responsible for such an event."

In a statement, reported by the news agency Pars, the militants said they would "burn into ashes the spy hostages and the building they are living in if we see any suspicious military attack by the U.S. against the territory of Iran."

Plane hijacked to Cuba

A hijacker armed with an automatic pistol seized an American Airlines jet with only its seven crew members aboard in California on Wednesday, forcing the plane to take off for Cuba, authorities said. The plane made a brief refueling stop in Texas before taking off for Havana.

The incident was the second skyjacking to Cuba this year. There have been more than 150 hijackings of U.S. planes since 1961.

Terrorist identified

Another of the 11 persons believed to be members or associates of the Puerto Rican terrorist group FALN has been identified, leaving authorities in the dark as to the identity of only one suspect, Evanston police said Wednesday.

Lt. Thomas Joyce said the 10th person to be identified is Adolfo Matos, of New York. Joyce said New York authorities provided the identification and that he had no further information about Matos.

Soviet Union launches cosmonauts

The Soviet Union launched two cosmonauts into orbit Wednesday and there was speculation they will extend greetings from a space station to athletes and spectators at the Olympic games in Moscow this summer.

The official Tass news agency said a record-holding adventurer and a rookie cosmonaut were launched to make repairs on Salyut 6, the station that has been in orbit two and a half years.

Pope announces visit to France

Pope John Paul II announced Wednesday that he will visit France, the first pope to do so since the humbling experience of Pius VII, who went there in 1804 to crown Napoleon I on orders of the French emperor.

Boycott decision nears

Under heavy pressure from the Carter administration, the U.S. Olympic Committee's House of Delegates will meet this weekend and decide whether to support the president's call for a boycott of the Summer Games in Moscow.

President Carter sought the boycott in January to protest the Soviets' invasion of Afghanistan. He has not softened his stand since.

Program offers changes from normal routine

by Herb Meeker

Secondary education majors wanting a change from regular classroom attendance, reading assignments and tests should look into Eastern's Alternate Secondary Education Program.

The alternate program differs from the standard educational system because students work at their own pace, learn through experiences in the public schools and are graded on pass/fail/incomplete basis, Donald Rogers, ASEP instructor, said.

The ASEP classwork is structured by modules, or printed handouts which define the objectives the student must achieve before proving proficiency by talking with his or her instructor. The modules cover areas in teacher education such as classroom management, media proficiency and writing behavioral objectives.

The ASEP student learns while observing and participating in the public school classroom. ASEP has the student interact with high school teachers and administrators as well as students, Rogers said.

ASEP requires attendance only at weekly meetings where the group instructor defines the specific duties of certain modules. The instructor also tries to iron out any problems the students have fulfilling their assignments. No tests are given in ASEP because of the pass/fail/incomplete designation.

ASEP consist of three levels of courses along with a departmental methods course, which is based on traditional classroom structure and teaches education majors specific methods for teaching a particular major.

Level 3000 and 3100 courses have the students observing and participating in public school and level 4000 classes complete student teaching. These levels total 23 semester hours.

ASEP began with the Experimental Secondary Education Program in 1974. The ESEP was limited to only a few majors because many majors at that time lacked perspective departmental methods courses. After each semester, the ESEP modules were evaluated by the students in the program.

In 1976, The Illinois Board of Higher Education approved Eastern's proposed ASEP, thus giving it equal status with the standard secondary education program in accreditation, Rogers said.

Level 4000 ASEP students contacted praised the program because of the extra experience attained in the public schools before entering student teaching and the freedom of independent work.

Senior Debra Huston, business education major, said she liked ASEP because of the experience she gained. "I had worked with the high school students, teachers and administrators long enough that it made student teaching more comfortable."

Senior Douglas Smith, history major, said he liked the concept of independent study, since "it helps motivate you, which will later help you motivate your students while teaching."

Although the Alternate Secondary Education Program has been operating since the fall of 1977, many secondary education majors fail to take advantage of the competency-based courses.

Rogers said, "we do have a problem with enrollment because students don't know about it."

Rogers said ASEP enrollment has fluctuated between 35 to 45 students per semester since its inception three years ago.

Carter-Sadat talks end; Palestinian future unsure

WASHINGTON (AP)-President Carter wound up talks with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat on Wednesday with words of support for the Palestinians but no apparent decision on their future in Israeli-held territory.

That, Carter said, will depend on his consultations here next week with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Carter stressed, however, that there must be "a recognition of the realization of Palestinian rights, a recognition that the Palestinians must have a voice in the determination of their own future."

The two leaders parted on the White House South Lawn with an exchange of tributes after three rounds of talks in two days.

Sadat also said difficulties in Iran and Afghanistan, and what he called "a threat" to the Persian Gulf, "should enhance the efforts for reaching an agreement upon the full autonomy for the Palestinians. . ."

Sadat, before driving off to see congressional leaders, said he was proud to be the friend of "the gallant American people." As Carter smiled his approval, the Egyptian leader added, "I shall never let you down."

Anderson followers believe in third party try

A different kind of "Dear John" letter.

Dear John Anderson,

As the primaries roll on it doesn't look like you'll be able to "peel Reagan's fingers" from the nomination as you had hoped to do. The time has come for you to stop thinking about running as a third party candidate and to start the actual running.

To get your name on the presidential ballot in all 50 states will require obtaining 685,000 valid signatures. The different state requirements range from 25 signatures in Tennessee to 101,000 signatures in California. And you can forget about Ohio and Maryland because you've already missed their deadlines for getting your name on the presidential ballot.

In other words, you can't wait until the last minute John. If you wait until after the Republican convention in mid-July you'll only be eligible to be on the ballot in 33 states and the District of Columbia.

You need time John, your election committee has been known to be inefficient at times. For example, a lot of people have been going to the polls with the intention of voting for Anderson delegates only to find out that there are no Anderson delegates on the ballot. There were no Anderson delegates in Coles County for me to vote for and my mother who voted for you upstate also had no Anderson delegates to vote for on her ballot in the Sixth District.

Now you may be thinking about the fact that no third party candidate has ever been elected president. But no third party candidate has ever had as easy competition as Reagan and Carter before.

As far as experience in Washington goes you have five times as much as Reagan and Carter combined. Your 10 terms in Congress gives you 20 years of Washington experience compared to Carter's four and Reagan's zero.

Neither candidate could give you much trouble as far as foreign policy is concerned. Everyone knows of Carter's foul-ups in Iran and Afghanistan, but have you heard what Reagan has been saying?

He has said that he would send U.S. troops to Pakistan and to go as far as to allow them to build an atom bomb. One thing's for sure, dictators like Pakistan's Zia won't have to worry about getting overthrown if Reagan is elected.

In a press release Reagan lists as part of his foreign policy experience a meeting he had with the King of Siam in 1971.

Andy

Chicago Tribune columnist Michael Kilian suggests that perhaps Reagan meant "he had met backstage with Yul Brynner of 'The King and I.'" Apparently none of Reagan's advisors told him that Siam changed its name to Thailand in 1934.

Also Reagan claims his age is not a factor. He says he's not as old as some world leaders such as Great Britain's Margaret Thatcher. Which is right, Mrs. Thatcher is 16 years younger than Reagan.

So far your main foreign policy themes of supporting the grain embargo, supporting the boycott of the Moscow Olympics, and using the neutron bomb to strengthen NATO has received few complaints.

And so far you have received excellent backing from the media, unlike Kennedy who has received bad press and Howard Baker who received no press. Then there was Jerry Brown who got neither good press nor bad press—only weird press. Think of it this way, a third party candidacy has to be good for at least another week in Doonesbury.

But seriously, your stands favoring handgun registration, extension of the deadline for ERA passage, and federally funded abortions for the poor along with opposition to the draft appeal to liberals.

Your stands favoring balancing the budget, nuclear power and deregulation of gas and oil prices along with opposition to the federal bail-out of Chrysler are appealing to conservatives.

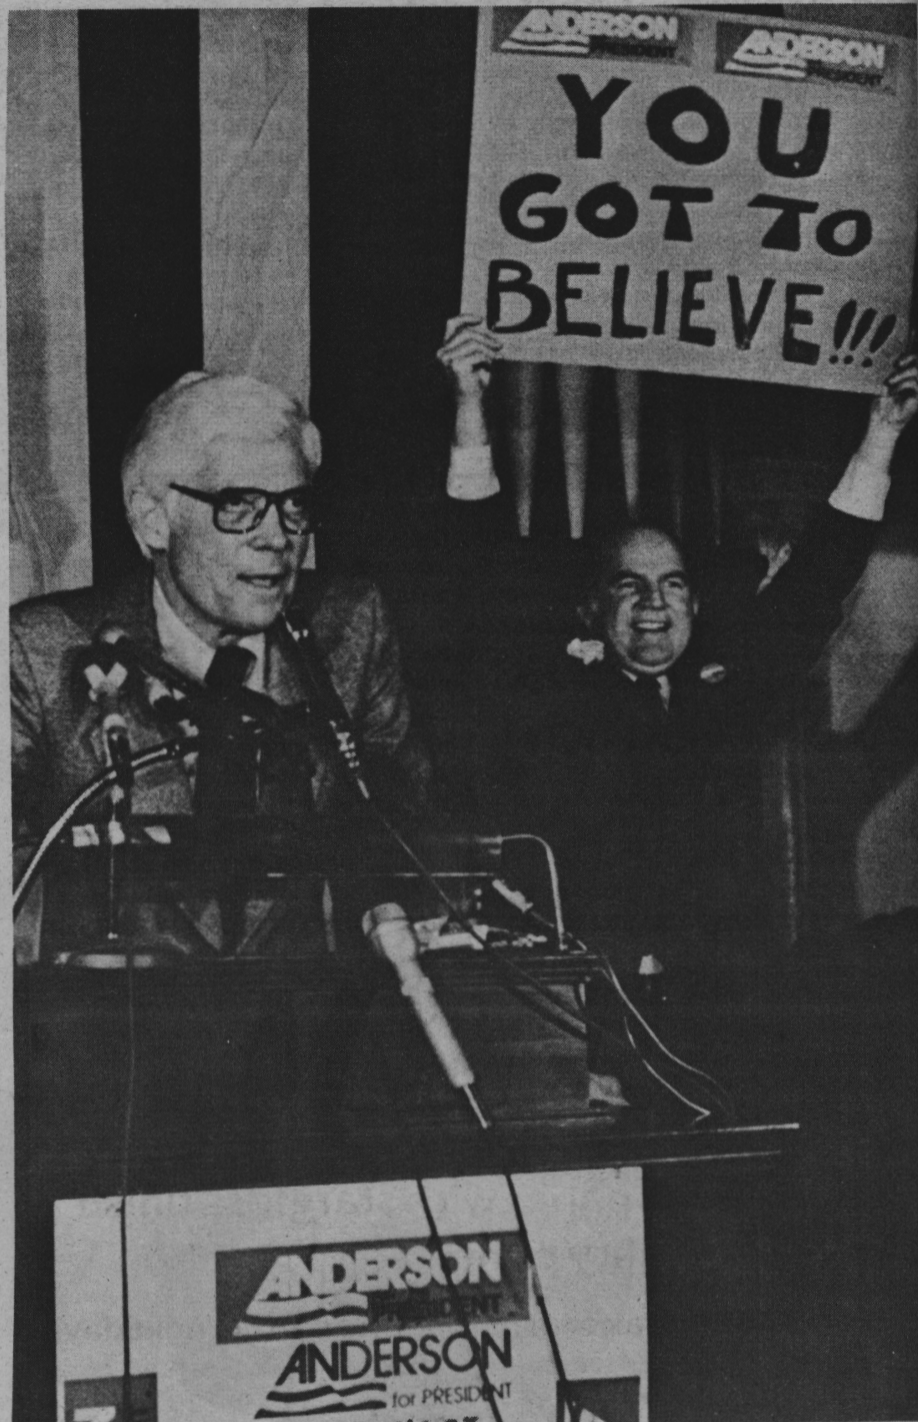

You may not believe this John, but the conservative Republicans really don't hate you as much as it may seem. After all, six times they elected you to the third highest post in the Republican party, Chairman of the Republican Conference.

To top it all off your support on the Alaska lands bill and your opposition to the easing of environmental controls to allow burning of coal marks you as the only candidate who has the vision to see past his nose and into the future.

So think about all this John as you read over the Reagan and Bush results in the Pennsylvania primary this week, another primary your organization failed to enter you in. The odds against you may not be as great as they seem.

Two qualify for debate tournament

by Mike Nolan

The Eastern debate team recently qualified a two-member squad to compete in the national tournament April 18-21 at the University of Arizona at Tucson.

This is the eighth straight year that Eastern has sent a team to nationals, debate coach David Svaldi said. Only 64 teams from all the universities in the country are invited and represent an elite group.

Svaldi said Eastern competed with teams in their own district which includes Illinois, Missouri, Iowa and Michigan. The team did not place well in district tournaments but was reconsidered by the selection committee and allowed to participate because of their exceptional record.

Svaldi said the team has had a 65 percent win record for the season, which was slightly below last year's record, but has done very well overall.

The team going to Tucson this year consists of senior Bill Steele and junior Karen Stein.

The same team of Steele and Stein gave a shortened debate before the Board of Governors meeting on March 27.

The team's debate at this meeting was part of a program which all schools governed by the BOG participate in.

Letters encouraged

Student Senate candidates in Wednesday's student government elections are invited to submit to the Eastern News a letter containing no more than 125 words explaining their goal(s) if elected. If the letter exceeds 125 words, the letter will be cut after the sentence containing the 125th word. The letters will be published together on Monday.

Poet John Nims to give reading

Noted American poet, John Frederick Nims, will deliver the 1980 Allen Neff Memorial Poetry Reading at 7:30 p.m. Thursday Eastern's Library Lecture Hall.

Nims will also present a lecture on "The Making of "Western Wind"," at 11 a.m. Friday in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon Room.

Both sessions are free and open to

'Total Eclipse' slated for Thursday theater

Eastern's 5 o'clock theater will present "Total Eclipse" at 5 p.m. Thursday in the Doudna Fine Arts Center, sophomore director Donna Parrone, said.

The play, written by Christopher Hampton, is the story of two 19th century poets, one of which can deal with love on a physical basis only.

Peter Vorster, a graduate student from South Africa, will portray Paul Verlaine, one of the poets. The other is played by sophomore Sal Viviano and Verlaine's wife, Matilde, is played by junior Kathy Lampen, Parrone said.

Admission is free to the public.

Nims is the author of several distinguished books of poetry including "Knowledge of the Evening, a National Book Award Nominee," James Quivey of the English department said.

Nims has also published a number of books of translations and the widely used poetry textbook "Western Wind". He has taught poetry courses at Notre Dame, the University of Florida, Harvard, the University of Toronto, the University of Florence, Italy and the University of Madrid, Spain. He has served on the staff of the Bread Loaf, Vermont Writers Conference for more than ten years.

Nims' visit is a part of Eastern's English department's Visiting Writer Lecture Program, and it is funded jointly by Eastern's English department, the office of Faculty Development, and a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, Quivey said.

Faculty Senate approves testing limit proposal

by Leesa Freeland

The Faculty Senate voted Tuesday to recommend that faculty members not give tests or quizzes two school days before final exam week unless students in the classes approve.

Rick Colclasure, chairman of the Senate Academic Affairs Committee, presented the revised instructional days proposal to the senate. He said the proposal would guarantee students would have no tests or quizzes offering at least two extra days to get ready for finals.

The original proposal requested teachers not give tests or quizzes during the entire week before final exams to give students more time to study.

The senate said it was in favor of the proposal but there was no real action it could take because it did not have any recourse against faculty members who do not follow the proposal.

Senate member June Johnson said she thought the proposal was a reasonable request by the students and that academic freedom can sometimes be carried too far.

A second proposal submitted to the senate by Colclasure was the grade repeat policy change, which would allow only the second grade received in a repeated course to be counted in the cumulative G.P.A. rather than the average of both grades. The senate said it could not consider the proposal because it was not the appropriate body to approach.

Also, a memo from President Daniel E. Marvin was read by Leonard Wood, chairman of the senate. The memo rejected the senate's request that the Summer School Director Charles Switzer be given a seat on the Council of University Planning and Budget.

In the memo Wood read, Marvin stated he did not want to set a precedent of faculty members to requesting seats on administrative boards. He also said the CUBP reports to the Vice President for Administration and Finance, George Miller the same official Switzer already reports to as head of summer school.

The senate also set up run-off elections on the Council on Academic Affairs, Council on Graduate Studies and University Personnel Committee. The run-offs will be held from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. April 15 in the University Union.

Students to attend major national conferences

by Tina O'Keefe

The political science department is sending two Eastern students to major national student conferences this spring, Larry Thorsen, head of the department, said.

Susan Pritz, a graduate assistant at Eastern, will attend the Eleventh Annual National Student Symposium in Washington D.C., April 11-13.

The symposium is being sponsored by the Presidency Center for the Study of the Presidency. It will deal with the role of the president as both a domestic and foreign policy maker, Pritz said.

Pritz, along with 400 other students, will be briefed by officials of the Carter Administration. Republican president job candidate John Anderson, Democrat Thomas Eagleton from Missouri and Secretary of Commerce Phil Kultznick will also speak, Pritz added.

Pritz will also attend round tables for small group discussions with the officials of the Carter Administration on economic and foreign policies.

Leo Vancleve, a senior history major, will attend the Twentieth Annual United States Naval Academy Foreign Affairs Conference in Annapolis, Maryland, April 21 to 24.

Vancleve will join students from over 130 other institutions to discuss United States-Soviet Union relations,

Each student is required to prepare a paper to submit at the conference. These papers are discussed in the round table, along with briefings with speakers from Newsweek magazine, Vancleve said.

Vancleve was chosen by Thorsen from applications received last November, he said.

The students are divided into six round tables, according to preference, to discuss topics such as "The Present and Future Character of the Soviet Union as an International Actor" and "The Future of United States-Soviet Interactions In Europe," Vancleve added. He will participate in the latter.

The Raunchy Roommates

Gentlemen, I suppose you're wondering why I called you here this evening. The topic is my room mate, Mark Hoffman.

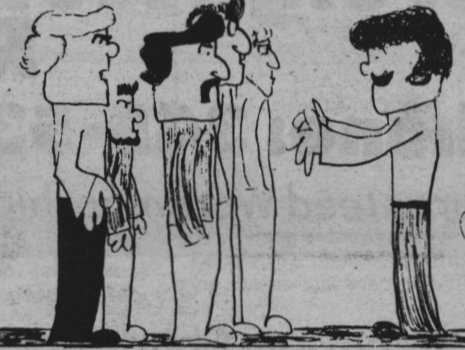

As you know, Mark's success with females leaves a little to be desired. What I want to do is to try to give his love life a helping hand.

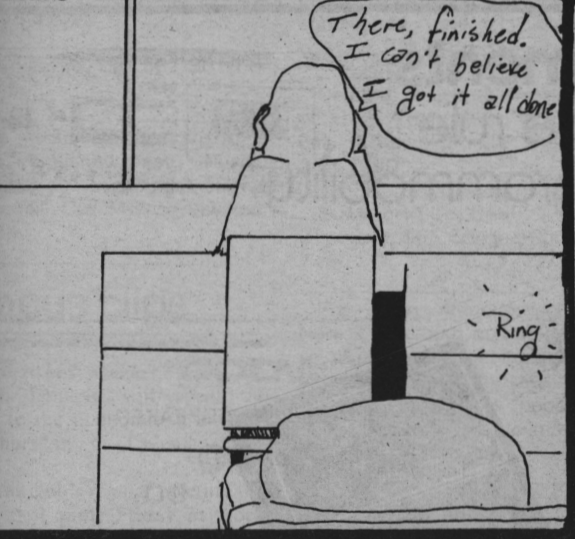

Whats in it for you

Just the satisfaction of helping my fellow man, and maybe getting him off my back!

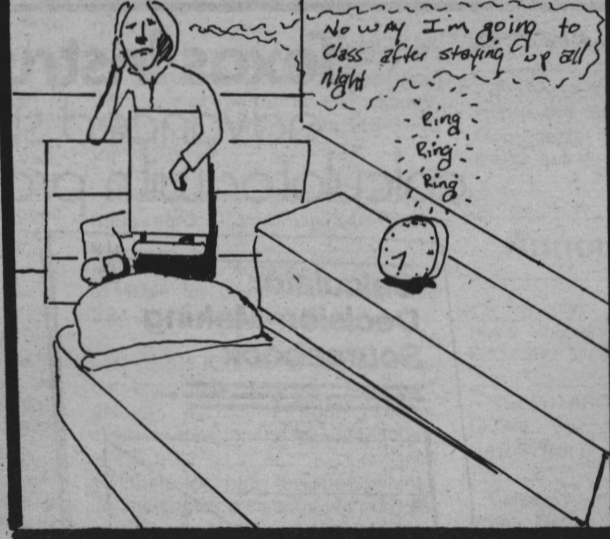

Willie

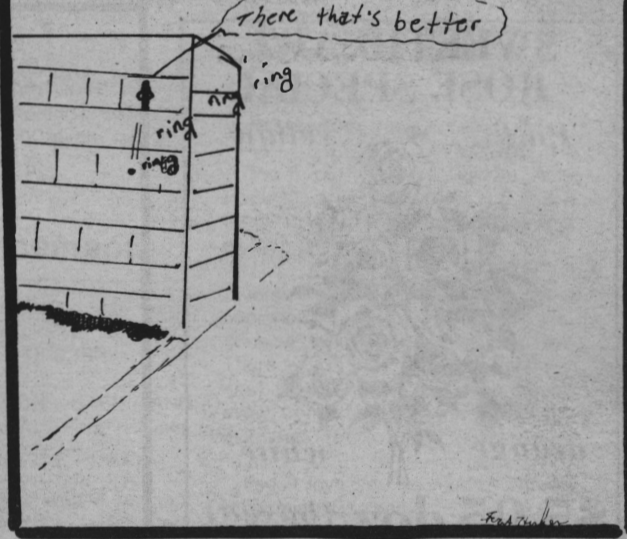

There, finished. I can't believe I got it all done

No way I'm going to class after staying up all night

There that's better

Foster leads Reds to 9-0 win

CINCINNATI (AP) — George Foster drove in four runs with a two-run double and a home run and Frank Pastore pitched a three-hit shutout as the Cincinnati Reds defeated Atlanta 9-0 in the major league baseball season opener Wednesday.

Junior Kennedy, Joe Morgan's successor at second base for the Reds, drove in three runs with a triple and double in two official times at bat.

Pastore was a last minute starter, stepping in for Tom Seaver, who came down with the flu. Pastore gave up only a pair of singles to Atlanta first baseman Chris Chambliss and a single to third baseman Bob Horner in earning the victory.

For Seaver, it was the first opening day in 13 years he has not started. He opened 10 seasons for the New York Mets and the last two with Cincinnati.

Five-year-old Jason Edwards, the Cincinnati March of Dimes poster child, threw out the ceremonial first pitch with a baseball brought to Riverfront Stadium by Ken Babbage, who walked the ball 430 miles from St. Louis to promote a March of Dimes fund raising campaign.

Kingman, Cubs get set to meet Mets

by The Associated Press

Home run champion Dave Kingman and Cy Young Award winner Bruce Sutter lead the Chicago Cubs into Shea Stadium for their 1980 opener against the New York Mets Thursday.

The Cubs, under new manager Preston Gomez, will send Rick Reuschel to the mound against Craig Swan of the Mets.

Kingman led the majors with 48 home runs last season, eight of them against the Mets and one of those on opening day in Chicago against Swan. New York won that game, 10-6.

Sutter won six games and tied the National League record with 37 saves last season. During the winter, he took the Cubs to salary arbitration and won a $700,000 contract for 1980.

Swan also signed a fat, new contract during the off-season, agreeing to a five-year deal for more than $3 million. He finished last season with a 14-13 record as ace of the Met staff.

Reuschel was 18-12 for the Cubs last season including 7-0 in August when he was the National League's Player of the Month.

Ex-pro Shaw finds transition to coaching easy

by Andy Savoie

For most ex-professional athletes, a stereotype exists which says their transition to "civilian life" is difficult.

And one may think this would especially hold true for former Buffalo Bills quarterback Dennis Shaw. For Shaw, now the quarterback and receiver coach of Eastern's gridgers, enjoyed an outstanding eight-year pro football career.

He was the AFC's "Rookie of the Year" in 1970, and threw 35 touchdown passes and completed over 50 percent of his tosses for 6,000 yards in over three years with the Bills.

But despite his obvious success in professional football, Shaw has had little trouble adjusting to life as a non-player.

"I haven't even thrown a ball. I haven't had the urge yet," Shaw said.

Such an attitude is really not that surprising because, unlike many athletes, Shaw's goal while a college quarterback at San Diego State did not revolve around becoming a pro.

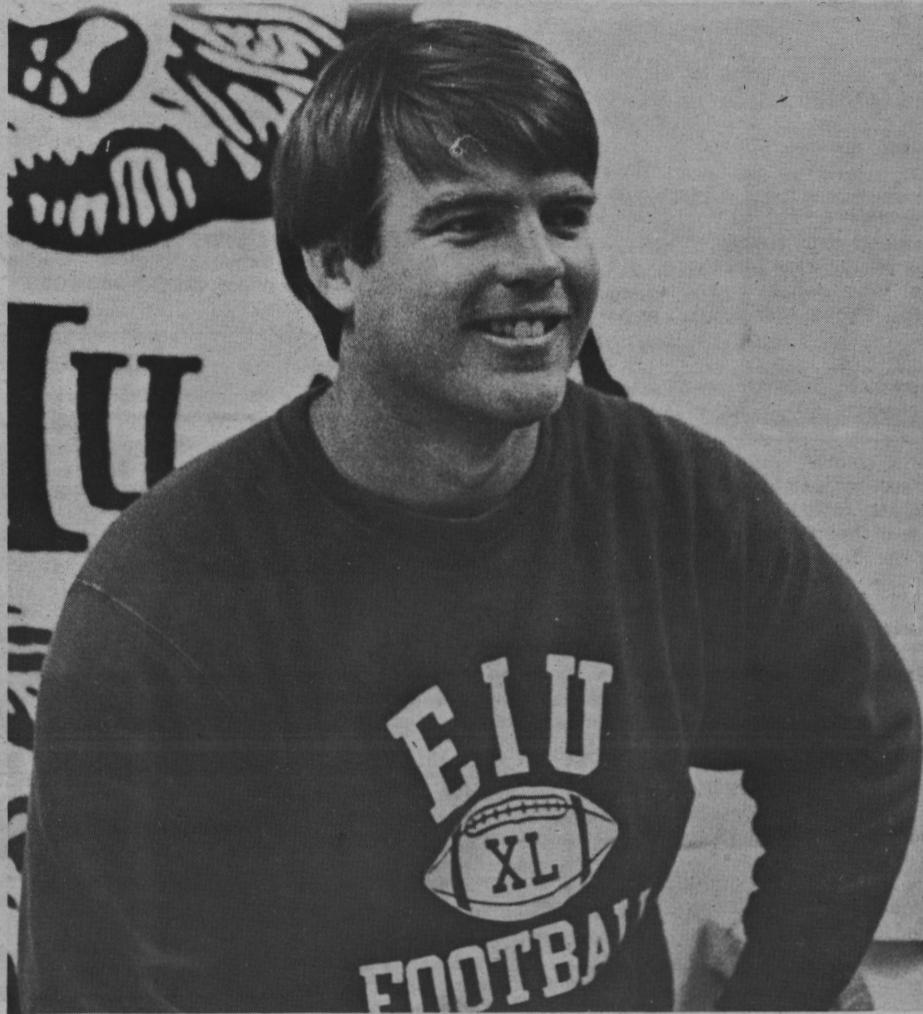

"I wasn't really interested in pro ball during college. I just wanted to be the best college athlete I could," Shaw said.

Instead, the ex-quarterback was contemplating a career as a high school teacher.

"I've always wanted to teach. My mother's a teacher and I have a brother who coached high school for five years and is now at Stanford."

Consequently, although Shaw was drafted by the Bills in the second round, he held out until the end of their training camp before deciding to turn pro.

His desire to teach has never waned, however, as evidenced by the coaching philosophy he plans to employ at Eastern.

Dennis Shaw

Wants to institute passing attack

"I believe in being a teacher first. We're not here to produce pro football players. I want to emphasize the total athlete," Shaw said.

And it is partially because of Eastern head coach Darrell Mudra's similar attitude that Shaw came to Charleston.

"That's one of the things that made me lean towards Darrell's program. I've had other offers, but I thought Mr. Mudra was very sincere. And he has a reputation for sending assistant coaches up in the ranks," Shaw said.

The more personalized aspect was yet another reason Shaw was attracted to college coaching.

"Pro football is so impersonal. We treat every person as an individual entity. It's very refreshing."

Although Shaw has had only two days of spring practice to assess Eastern's quarterbacks, he said junior Chuck Wright is the leading candidate to replace 1979 starter Steve Turk.

Wright played sparingly for Eastern last year, but started midway through his freshman season, completing nearly 50 percent of his passes for 225 yards.

"Naturally, Chuck will be the quarterback starting out. He has leadership qualities, is very aggressive and has a strong arm," Shaw said.

The other quarterback candidates are Jeff Goldthorpe and Northwestern transfer Jeff Christianson.

Shaw termed Christianson "very intelligent" but "a bit frail," while Goldthorpe "can learn and we can build around him for the future."

But regardless of who plays quarterback in 1980, Shaw hopes the Panthers will be able to run a pass-oriented attack.

"I've done the passing part of it and I've been involved in the pros where we pass a lot so I hope we can carry that over. I'd rather have a style I'm more familiar with," Shaw said.

And in helping to teach such an attack, Shaw said he believes his pro experience will help rather than hinder him in communicating with his players.

"I played the sport and I was successful. I realize that it takes work to be successful. A player can see a person who was successful and hopefully he can learn by my example," Shaw said.

Since it is so early in the spring football season, Shaw said it has not yet been determined what his role will be during the games in the fall.

"We haven't discussed that yet. As a quarterback, I always enjoyed calling the plays. But Darrell's been around a lot of years. He's the man."

Women netters open season

by Betsey Guzor

Eastern's spring women's tennis team will open its season this weekend at Illinois State University and then come back to Eastern to play Southern Illinois University-Carbondale.

Friday and Saturday the Panthers will compete in a quadrangular meet with Stevens College, Augustana and ISU at Bloomington High School, if weather permits.

Eastern will then play a home match against SIU-Carbondale at 10 a.m.

Sunday at Weller Courts.

Coach Karen Earley is confident of a win against ISU, which defeated the Panthers 7-2 in the fall season.

"For one thing, our team has gotten closer in ability and ISU lost two of its top six players in the spring season," Earley said.

"Augustana is a Division III school, and we haven't played them or Stevens College yet," Earley added.

A final decision on Eastern's lineup has not been made yet, Earley said, because of recent upsets in the challenge matches at practice.

"For instance, last night (Tuesday) Patti (Groth), our No. 3 player defeated Jill (Anderson), so the lineup is shifting back and forth," Earley said.

"The up-and-down movement of the players' positions is a good indication of the team as a whole. It shows me that the team is pretty close in ability," Earley said.

The doubles lineup is complete, with sophomore Anderson and junior Deb Belton playing the No. 1 position, junior Patti Groth and Josie Riberto playing second, and Julie Krueger, Kristen Peterson and Janet Haberkorn switching around for third.

The women are in top shape for the weekend matches, Earley said, but some of the players have been suffering from the flu and sinus trouble.

The Panthers' home match Sunday will be an advantage to the team, Earley said. "Home courts will be a definite help in the match," she said.

SIU-Carbondale, which walloped the fall team 6-3, will still be a challenge to the spring team, but Earley said "I would like to think we could beat them Sunday."

Eastern men to lift in state meet

The EIU Lifting Club will participate in the Illinois Collegiate Powerlifting Championships from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. April 13 at the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle campus.

Nine Eastern men will compete in the approximately 20-team tournament, in which Eastern has placed second in each of the past three years.

"We're looking to take first this time," club member Bob Buckley said.

Three forms of lifting—the squat, the bench and the deadlift, will be performed in the championships. All lifters will have three attempts at each type of lift, with the best effort from each of the three being combined for one composite point total.

Baseballers rained out

Eastern's baseball game against Indiana State-Evansville scheduled for Wednesday at Monier Field was rained out, and the continued rainy weather may wash out Thursday's twin-bill against Chicago Circle.

Eastern coach Tom McDevitt said the final decision on the Thursday action, slated to begin at 1 p.m., will not be made until Thursday morning.

McDevitt also was not certain whether the games versus ISU-E would be rescheduled or not.

"We just left it at a keep-in-touch situation right now," he said. "If we can find a date that both of us could play later on we'll play them, but if not, we won't."

In between game activities for the Wednesday and Thursday dates have been canceled.

An egg throwing contest between members of several sororities was slated for between games on Wednesday, but that event will not be rescheduled, McDevitt said.

A home run hitting contest between members of fraternities to be played on Thursday has been canceled because the weather prevented preliminary try-outs earlier this week.
