BHE asks for enrollment cuts

by Melinda DeVries and Marsha Hausser

Eastern will have to cut its future enrollment by 400 students to make up for underfunding according to a directive issued recently by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

At its Jan. 8 meeting, the BHE said Eastern, along with Illinois State, Northern and Northeastern Illinois universities are underfunded and thus their enrollments are too large for the amount of state funding they receive.

In order to make up for the revenue lost from the decrease in the number of students, the BHE is proposing a 10.7 percent overall increase in Eastern's budget for fiscal year 1981, the second highest budget increase among all state universities, the "best budget we have had in more than a decade," Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said Friday.

In addition, the BHE reported that four state institutions—Chicago Circle, Sangamon State, Southern Illinois-Edwardsville and Western Illinois universities—have been overfunded in past years. The BHE's plan hopes to draw the funding inequities between the under-funded and over-funded universities closer.

To accomplish this, the universities which have been determined to be overfunded will receive cutbacks in the bases of their budgets before receiving any increases.

With the cutbacks in the original budget for the next fiscal year, the BHE hopes to bring the over-funded institutions' appropriations in line with those of other institutions.

Richard Wagner, deputy executive director of the BHE, said Friday the board recommendation will not only provide Eastern with additional funding, but will improve both the quality of instruction and students at Eastern.

Marvin said the board's "planned enrollment decline" will provide Eastern with additional financial support which will enable it to "catch up to where we were in the 60's and improve the quality of our institution."

The BHE's directive comes prior to a predicted nationwide enrollment decline at colleges and universities. Reports indicate that enrollments will decrease by approximately one-third within the next 10-15 years.

Marvin said the action by the BHE will serve as a transition period between now and the time when

BHE decision may cause campus housing problem

by Lola Burnham

Three Eastern administrators think the Board of Higher Education's recent request to cut enrollment by 400 students will affect housing, but none is sure exactly what the effect will be.

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin called the balance between university and off-campus housing "delicate" and said he anticipated possible financial problems with "less than full capacity dorms or city housing."

Housing Director Lou Hencken said housing certainly will be affected especially second semester housing. But he added that it is too early to tell what that effect will be.

"Whenever we start out full, by the time we start second semester, we're about 10 or 11 people below 100 percent," Hencken said. "If we start out right at 100 percent (with the decrease in students) by second semester we'll probably be at 95 percent," he said.

Hencken did not think the enrollment decrease would directly increase room and board rates, but he noted that Eastern's room and board rates are the lowest in Illinois because the university has the highest occupancy rates in the state.

"We have fixed costs we must pay every year," he said. Those costs are divided among residents. If there are fewer residents, Hencken said the costs would have to be spread around to more people, possibly by an increase in student fees.

"We were at 9,400 two or three years ago and we had a waiting list (to get into residence halls) then," Hencken said, adding that the decrease probably would not be felt right away.

"We're just going to have to work harder to keep the residence halls filled," he said.

Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, said the enrollment decrease's effect on housing depends on what area the 400 students are cut.

"If the entire 400 students are off-campus students, it will not affect our on-campus housing at all. But there is a possibility that all 400 could be cut from those students who would normally live on campus," Williams said.

Since the students who will be cut are new students, many freshmen could be cut and they are mainly the group required to live on campus, he added.

Carter requests move of 1980 Olympic Games

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter said Sunday that he has asked the U.S. Olympic Committee to push for the international Games to be moved from Moscow unless Soviet troops withdraw from Afghanistan.

Although the president has no legal authority to force any action on the Games in Moscow, he said he sent a letter Sunday asking the U.S. Olympic Committee to present his views to the International Olympic Committee, the only group that can move the Games.

"I've sent a message today to the United States Olympic Committee spelling out my position...that the Olympic Games be moved from Moscow to an alternate site, or multiple sites, or postponed, or canceled," the president said.

"If the Soviets do not withdraw their troops immediately from Afghanistan within a month," he said, "I would not support the sending of an American team to the Olympics."

Carter urged that there be permanent winter and summer sites for the Olympics and that the Summer Games be held in their ancient homeland of Greece.

Asked if the United States would be in an isolated spot if other nations do not follow its lead, Carter replied:

"Regardless of what other nations do, American Olympic team to Moscow while the Soviet invasion troops are in Afghanistan."

Carter said 104 nations voted in the United Nations against the Soviet invasion and added: "I would hope as many of them as possible would support the position I just outlined to you."

Carter's statements—made on the NBC News program "Meet the Press"—came just two days after U.S. Olympic officials met at the White House with Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Carter aides to voice their objections to any boycott request.

Robert F. Kane, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said after the program that he was pleased with Carter's statement because the president asked that the administration's position be presented to the international committee.

The USOC executive board meets for three days beginning Friday in Colorado Springs, Colo. The entire committee will meet in Lake Placid, N.Y., just before Carter is scheduled to open the 1980 Winter Games on Feb. 13.

Tito's leg amputated

Doctors amputated the left leg of President Tito Sunday after a circulation blockage "jeopardized life," the official Tanjug news agency announced.

The 87-year-old Yugoslav leader and elder statesman of the non-aligned movement "bore the operation well," said a three-sentence medical announcement, delayed about six hours beyond the usual advisory time. "The immediate post-operative course is normal," Tito's doctors were quoted as saying.

Bundy apathetic about jury

A belligerent Theodore R. Bundy says the jury has already made up its mind as opening arguments begin Monday on charges that he kidnapped and murdered a 12-year-old Lake City, Fla. girl.

Bundy's last jury convicted him on two murder charges and concurred in his death sentences.

Moslem rebels plan holy war

Moslem revolutionaries rejected conciliation with the Marxist Afghan government Sunday and announced plans to unite rebel factions into a single guerilla front to fight a holy war against Soviet troops in Afghanistan, according to an Iranian state radio report.

Militants deny knowledge of plan for hostage release

by The Associated Press

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said Sunday he had worked out a formula during his recent trip to Iran that he hoped would lead to the release of American hostages in Tehran. But militants holding the Americans at the U.S. Embassy said they knew nothing of such a formula.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Embassy in Tehran issued a statement emphasizing its "friendly approach" toward Iran and denying its troops in Afghanistan, along the border with Iran, are positioned to strike at major Iranian oil installations.

Tehran radio reported Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini accepted a proposal to amend the new Islamic constitution to permit Sunni Moslems have the same rights as members of Iran's majority Shiite sect. "Personally, I have no objection," Khomeini was quoted as saying.

Waldheim, in New Delhi, India to attend a U.N. conference, told reporters after his arrival: "The important aspect of my visit to Tehran was that we worked out a package, a mechanism, which will hopefully make it possible to release the hostages."

The secretary-general did not elaborate on what he meant by "mechanism." Nor was it clear whether his use of the word "we" referred to his U.N. associates or to Iranian authorities.

Waldheim, who made a New Year's Eve trip to Iran in attempts to gain freedom for the Americans, added: "we have worked out a mechanism... and I hope this mechanism will make it possible to satisfy the government of Iran and lead to the release of the hostages."

"I am still personally involved in the efforts to find a peaceful solution to this very serious problem," Waldheim said, adding that he was in "constant touch" by telephone with Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbaze-deh.

enrollments will begin declining naturally.

"In the 80s, when high school graduates decline by one-third, the decline must be shared by all Illinois institutions," Marvin said. "If one university will not accept a decline in enrollment, it could be a disaster to other universities."

To meet the board's objective of decreasing enrollment by 400 students within the next two to three years, Eastern will begin "slowing down" recruitment of students, Marvin said.

Beginning immediately, visitations to high schools by members of Eastern's recruitment staff will be reduced, mailings will be limited to a selective group of outstanding students and follow-up personal contacts will be reduced.

Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs and head of Eastern's Recruitment Advisory Board, said it will be impossible for Eastern to reduce its enrollment by next year because applications are up 20 percent from last year.

"This really cuts against me... If students are fully qualified, they should be able to attend college"—Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin.

"There's no way you can stop a train in Charleston that's going 60 miles an hour if you apply the brakes in Charleston," Williams said. "You have to apply the brakes a few towns before."

Beginning in the fall, cutoff dates for accepting applications will be enforced, Williams said.

Seminar held to aid weight loss

Students interested in losing those extra pounds put on during break may attend weekly seminars to help lose weight.

Bud Sanders of the Counseling Center has an ongoing group for people seriously interested in losing weight. The group meets at 3 p.m. every Wednesday in the Union addition Sullivan Room.

Sanders' program, which has been conducted for the past three years, is a combination of behavior modification and group support.

"We have the same program for everyone, whether they are 20 or 2 pounds overweight," he said.

For more information, contact Sanders at the Counseling Center (581-3413).

In addition, because last year's enrollment increase of approximately 200 students occurred because many students applied during central registration, central registration will be abolished beginning in the fall, Williams said.

The BHE's directive comes at a time when the efforts of Eastern's recruitment program have reaped enrollment increases of approximately 200 students in each of the past two years.

With Williams coordinating the efforts of the recruiting process, he is especially affected by the enrollment decline plan.

"I, along with others, have worked very, very hard to sustain enrollments and now we are being told that we must instead cut our enrollments," Williams said.

"It (the board's directive) was not one of the more thrilling revolutions in education," Williams said.

While all of the negative aspects of the BHE's call for a planned enrollment decline will not be felt for awhile, university officials have reservations over the plan.

One of the major drawbacks of the plan which Marvin is concerned about is the possibility of denying potential students access to the university.

"This really cuts against me," Marvin said. "If students are fully qualified they should be able to attend college."

Williams too is concerned about turning potential students away from Eastern.

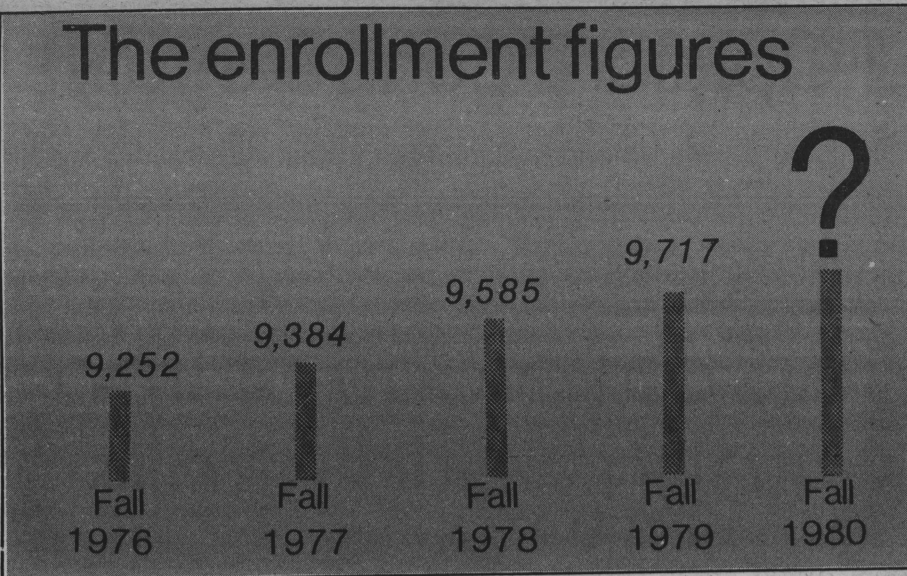

"Because of the implementation of a cutoff date, our decision on who attends Eastern is selective and therefore all those who want an education from Eastern will not necessarily receive one," Williams said.

BHE Deputy Executive Director Wagner said the enrollment cuts should not have a negative affect on the quality of students that come to Eastern and could possibly improve the quality.

"Because the requested cut in enrollment is small, it will not affect the quality of Eastern's students," Wagner said.

Marvin said the cut in enrollment will improve the quality of students because if there are fewer students, there will be more money and therefore class size can be reduced and the quality of instruction can be improved.

However, Williams said while the initial enrollment decrease should not adversely affect the quality of students at Eastern, possible continued decreases whether forced or natural, could result in a lower quality of students.

"We will have to work extra hard to get quality students," Williams said. "We will have to compete with other good schools like the U of I to get the good students."

Williams is also concerned about the money which will not be available for programs such as athletics, music and art which are supported in part by students' fees.

"If there are less students, there will be less money to run programs, therefore there will have to be an increase in the money that pays for these programs or we will have to accept a lower quality in our programs," Williams said.

Besides the affect the planned enrollment decline will have at Eastern during the regular term, the decline will also have "some negative implications on Eastern's summer school program," Charles Switzer, summer school director, said.

"The base for our summer school enrollment is the continuing student," Switzer said. "If the entire enrollment decreases, it will make summer school enrollment decrease."

"We attempt to set up a strong summer program to attract students who are serious in receiving a good education," Switzer said.

Press coverage of Iran is vital in world affairs

American journalists now have been exiled from two Middle Eastern countries, Iran and Afghanistan.

American correspondents have been in Tehran and Kabul reporting on events that affect the essence of world peace.

Now that these journalists have been forced to leave their reporting stations, Americans who are eager to hear the daily events of the American hostages and the Soviet invasion have to rely on second hand information.

There has been speculation and concern in the press on these expulsions. American reporters in Iran were banished for supposedly distorting the hostage situation through biased reporting.

A state department official said the Revolutionary Council was trying to calm the unrest at the American Embassy and the anti-Khomeini.

It seems to be a roundabout way of restoring peace to the situation. Khomeini did use the media effectively to gather together enough power to overthrow the shah and to rule the country. He used the media to communicate indirectly with American officials for the past several weeks.

But slowly, American press management did not play all the propaganda the militant students wanted. Instead, reports began to show a more realistic picture of the situation: a small minority of protesters, Khomeini's powerbase was beginning to decay, and the failure of ploys of friendship towards the American people.

Journalists who cover events such as the ones unfolding in the Middle East have to be left as neutral observers. The press has a role of representing their readers, not politicians.

When heads of state begin to interfere in the press role, they create in the world community an information void that is filled by propaganda and half-truths.

When this occurs, the world loses scope on the problems, the threats, and the communication links the press gives nations and people. If Afghanistan is just following the lead of Iran in expelling journalists and other countries begin to follow suit, the communication between different nations will break down, and international relations will suffer.

Kudos coach Eddy for another milestone

For the past 11 years, one of the brightest spots on Eastern's campus has been the consistently outstanding performances of the Panther basketball teams. And one of the major causes of that success has been the coaching of Don Eddy.

Thursday night Eddy reached another milestone in his already successful career. With the Panther's 77-53 win over Northern Iowa, Eddy became the winningest coach in Eastern history, surpassing Charles Lantz's previous mark. The win was Eddy's 197th of his career, and matched against 115 losses (a winning percentage of .631) shows how successful Eddy has been.

Eddy has been an institution at Eastern and in Charleston for a dozen years now. Besides being the basketball coach, Eddy is active in the fellowship of Christian Athletes on campus, and other such activities in the area and his teams have the character that Eddy instills in them.

Eastern basketball players have rarely been involved with trouble in the area, and that is another reflection of the pride Eddy instills in his players, not simply as athletes, but as people.

We congratulate Eddy for his past record, and hope for continued success in the future. Perhaps this season the Panthers can accomplish the one thing that has eluded Eddy in his coaching career: a national championship.

'Man of the Year' honors needs to be put in context

Over Christmas break I picked up the Jan. 7 issue of Time magazine and was shocked to see who had made the cover. The Ayatollah Khomeini had been named Time's Man of the Year for 1979.

Time's basic criterion for choosing the Man of the Year has remained the same since it selected its first Man of the Year in 1927. The honor goes to the person or group who "has done the most to change the news for better or worse" throughout the year.

I have no complaint with Time's selection. What I have a hard time understanding however, is how a publicity seeker like Khomeini, can make the cover of one of America's number one news magazines, while he holds 50 Americans captive in Iran.

Khomeini thrives on publicity. For the last 2½ months he has brought reporters and cameramen from all over the world, into what was once a peaceful Islamic nation.

Khomeini has gone so far as to demand that Americans oust Jimmy Carter from office and elect someone HE finds suitable! Since when does a leader from a small foreign country dictate to the American people who they should put at the helm of the nation's highest political office?

But no one can stop Khomeini from making these kind of statements for fear his revolutionary courts will try the hostages as spies. The world waits eagerly to see what he will say or do next.

Khomeini may continue relentlessly taunting the release of our American hostages by using the publicity he receives in American publications like Time.

It is true that Time has named "bad guys" in its previous selections. Adolf Hitler was named in 1938 and Joseph Stalin in 1939. I cannot say what effect this publicity had on the Hitler and Stalin regimes in those times, but I cannot help think that Khomeini loves being the center of world attention and his Man of the Year distinction serves only to enhance his ego-joy-ride.

Linda

Khomeini has done the most in 1979 to change the news "for worse." Since he started his publicity campaigning in October, Americans have united in an upswing of patriotism that has not been seen by this country in a long time.

But Time should realize that being named Man of the Year by a notable American magazine, is a victory in the eyes of Khomeini and his followers. He has sought world recognition and has succeeded in getting it.

Khomeini's actions should be condemned in every way by Americans. In a time when the release of the hostages is so uncertain, he must know that we in no way approve of his playing with fire.

Maybe Time should re-evaluate how they choose its Man of the Year. A major consideration should be the conditions of the world at the time of its choice.

America is in a crucial bind in the Iranian crisis. Anything we do to prolong the hostages return can only work to our detriment.

Letters to the editor

Clear record

Editor:

In an otherwise impeccable story about my entering the race for Congress in your paper of Jan. 18, there appeared a misunderstanding that I would like to publicly clear up.

The story said that Senator Bruce did not announce that he was not going to run for Congress until two days before the candidate filing deadline. That is not true.

He made such an announcement several weeks before that deadline in December. I, however, did not discover that other possible candidates had not filed until two days before that deadline, thus precluding my obtaining the necessary petitions, and thus also forcing me to run as a write-in candidate in the March primary.

Right to life

Editor:

On January 22 we come once again to the anniversary of the most horrendous decision of the Supreme Court since Dred Scott, for on that date the Court set an entire class of human beings outside the law. By so doing it has for the past six years left all children developing within the womb helpless against the attacks of ignorance, fear, venality, and viciousness which seek their lives.

Mothers, doctors, lawyers, who by the very nature of their vocations are meant to support life, now find themselves supporting death--death for convenience, death for money, death for the sake of death. And if the Neo-Manichaeans who agitated for and now support the Court's decision on abortion have their way, infanticide, which is now being practiced across America illegally, will also, like abortion, have legal sanction. And from the same garden of nominalist delights there will come in turn the legalization of suicide and of eugenical murder.

Remember, if we as a society give up the principal of the sanctity of human life, then we are all prey to one another and to ourselves. If one class of human beings can be denied the protection of the law, so can other classes. If mere convenience can be used as a legal excuse to kill one class of humans, it can be used to kill another class as well or all classes for that matter.

What we need to recognize is that the danger in which the unborn now stand is the danger in which we all stand. Let us band together, then, as a society against the purveyors of death by joining and working actively for the Right-to-Life Movement, the greatest grass-roots movement since the abolition of slavery. Be assured that the invitation to join this movement is an invitation to choose Niveveh over Sodom, life over death. Join us, we need one another.

City water supply trouble stems from silt deposit

by Ted Gregory

The long-standing water supply problem in the Charleston area is not getting any better and area experts believe that something needs to be done before the matter gets out of hand.

The water supply problem stems from a process known as siltation in which silt from surrounding farmland is deposited by running or standing water into Lake Charleston, Charleston's water supply.

Charleston City Planner Larry Stoever said Sunday that siltation has severely affected the city's water supply.

"The lake has lost about 70 percent of its holding capacity," Stoever said. "In some places it's down to about three feet deep."

"It is 90 percent due to siltation," he said.

Dalias Price of the geology-geography department at Eastern said the water supply problem has also been caused by the general increase in population and per capita water consumption.

"The per capita increase in water consumption has grown a great deal as well as the number of people," Price said Sunday.

"We have a lake that was built in 1948 with the idea of serving a small, rural community and college," he said.

Price said that is definitely not the situation any more.

"We are up to around 19,000 in the town's population alone then added to that you have the university population plus the professors and their families," he said.

Price said these factors have placed a tremendous burden on the water supply and the situation "could get scary."

"It could become quite serious if we had a severe drought," Price said. "That would be the test, but we haven't had a drought for about 15 years," he said.

Bill Heise, chairman of the Charleston Board of Zoning Appeals and Planning, said Sunday the water supply problem is "the primary issue of this city."

"The problem has been coming on for a number of years," Heise said. "The lake is just inadequate."

Heise believed the best solution to the problem would be a system of side channels connected to Lake Charleston which would help increase the water supplied to Charleston.

"There are a number of options available, but this seems to be the most viable," Heise said.

Stoever also believes the side channel option is the best solution to the problem.

"In terms of a cost-benefit principle, the side channel is the best possible solution," Stoever said.

Stoever, in four years of researching the problem, has found other solutions, but mainly because of cost, options such as dredging the silt from the lake and recycling the water have been ruled out.

Price however believes that recycling the water would be the best solution.

Recycling the water would involve the re-purification of water that has already been used.

"That's the real answer, but no one will face up to that," Price said. "It will have to be the answer in the future for most cities," he said.

"But I think it will be a long time before people in this conservative area will accept this," Price said.

Doctors' testimony limited at Pinto trial

WINAMIC, IND. (AP) Doctors who examined the bodies of three teenagers killed in a fiery Pinto car crash are expected to testify this week when the reckless murder trial of Ford Motor Co. resumes.

But a judge's ruling restricting testimony to events related to the crash itself may severely limit what the jury will hear.

Prosecutor Michael A. Cosentino said medical and auto safety experts will testify before the Pulaski Circuit Court jury.

The automaker is charged in the deaths of three young women who burned to death when their 1973 Pinto sedan exploded in flames after it was struck from behind by a van on a northern Indiana highway.

The prosecution contends Ford knew that defects in the Pinto's fuel system design made the cars vulnerable to rear-impact explosions but did nothing to correct the problem.

The prosecution plans to lay a legal foundation to show that it was the Pinto's defective fuel system, and not the force of the impact, that triggered the explosion.

Ford attorneys have said they will prove that any sub-compact car, and many larger cars, would have exploded under the force of the crash.

Doctors are expected this week to testify that the impact of the fatal crash was not great enough to cause traumatic injury to the passengers.

President defends policy before Iowa Demo caucus

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — President Carter defended his foreign policy as "peace through strength," urged a boycott of the Moscow Olympics, said he needs a second term to deal with energy and the economy — and insisted he was not campaigning on the eve of the first presidential contest of 1980.

Carter, his Democratic challengers and the field of candidates for the Republican presidential nomination will be tested Monday night in Iowa's precinct caucuses, neighborhood meetings that represent the first step toward the selection of nominees for the White House.

The president, who has not campaigned personally in Iowa, appeared Sunday on NBC's nationally televised "Meet the Press," and did what candidates do. But he said it was not a partisan performance.

His rivals for the White House, campaigning in Iowa and on television, accused him of disastrously mismanaging the economy, and said administration foreign policy was so weak and ineffective as to tempt the Soviet Union into aggressive military adventures.

While the candidates argued policy and issues — and tried to set each other up for a fall on Monday night — the crucial competition was waged by telephone and door-to-door canvassers.

Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy are waging the real Democratic contest, in organizational strength as in popular support. California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. lags in both departments, and has advised his supporters to side with uncommitted Democrats Monday night.

Meanwhile, Kennedy narrowly defeated Carter Sunday in a straw vote of California Democratic Party leaders.

Kennedy was supported by 42 percent of the delegates at the California Democratic Party convention. Carter came in at 39 percent and Brown was a distant third in his home state with 14 percent.

Kennedy played the expectations game, too, trying to inflate Carter's. "I would think the president is clearly a heavy favorite in Iowa," he said on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Merchants and council agree on meter removal

by Jane Meyer

Downtown Charleston merchants and the Charleston City Council appear to agree that the parking meters removed from the square in July should remain that way.

The city suspended meter payments in July of 1979 in an effort to bring more business to the downtown shopping area.

City planner Larry Stoever said Thursday the parking meter issue has not been placed on the City Council's Jan. 22 meeting date agenda, but he expects the issue to be discussed at either the Feb. 5 or Feb. 19 meeting.

City merchants have already made the first step in determining whether the removal of the parking meters has helped bring increased revenue to their businesses to offset the money that would have been generated by the meters.

Rudolph Anfinson, president of the downtown shopping center group said Thursday, a committee consisting of three local businessmen has been assigned to collect the necessary data from the merchants.

Brad Henson, owner of Western Auto and chairman of the committee, said at the present time the committee has not been charged with collecting financial data.

"I guess that you could say the committee is sort of a watchdog. We are trying to make some things come together," Henson said.

Clancy Pfeiffer, Charleston commissioner of accounts and finance, said figuring the financial end of the situation would take a sit down meeting between the merchants and the council.

After the removal of the meters, Pfeiffer estimated that $20,000 would be lost in city revenue funds but said city merchants may have a different figure.

Stoever estimated a lost of $140,000 in revenue although he said no figures could be confirmed until the actual data has been collected.

Stoever said Thursday he had not been approached to begin calculation of the financial data.

Since meter removal in July of 1979, both Pfeiffer and Henson said they have noticed increased activity on the square.

"There have been a lot more cars on the square," Pfeiffer said. "I think the merchants realize they need to be more progressive."

Henson said in comparison to last year when meters were on the square, there has been a substantially higher amount of sales. Henson added downtown shopping customers also seem to be more relaxed when they shop.

"Now that the customers can find the spaces right in front of the store, they are more relaxed. They are not in such a hurry to shop when they enter the store because they don't have to worry about the money running out of the parking meters," Henson said. "I believe that the removal (of the parking meters) has been a good shot in the arm to us (the downtown merchants)."

Henson said that while the parking meters were in operation, he used to hear customers talking badly about the meters.

"Now no one talks about them, and I feel that this is a good sign," Henson said.

Bob Inyart, owner of Inyart's Shoe store on the square, said his store has also enjoyed a good year.

"I don't know whether I can attribute it to the parking meter situation, but it (the removal) certainly hasn't hurt," Inyart said.

Inyart and Henson were both concerned with the amount of parking spaces that are taken by employees and employers of the local stores and courthouse personnel.

"We want to try to keep the businessmen from parking on the square," Henson said. "At the mall you can park and see the whole thing, but downtown we need the prime spaces open."

"My wife and I do 75 to 80 percent of our shopping in downtown Charleston," Henson said. "If we can't find it there, then we usually can't find it."

Kennedy defeats Carter in California Demo straw vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy narrowly defeated President Carter Sunday in a straw vote of California Democratic Party leaders.

The Massachusetts senator won the support of 42 percent of the delegates at the California Democratic Party convention. Carter came in at 39 percent and California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. was a distant third in his home state with 14 percent.

The actual vote total was Kennedy 622, Carter 583 and Brown 207, with another 59 votes scattered among minor candidates and uncommitted.

Kennedy said in a statement he was "delighted" with the results. "It clearly demonstrates that members of the Democratic party in the nation's largest state are unwilling to accept four more years of current policies and are looking for new leadership in the 1980s," he said.

But Kennedy's victory was not as great as most observers had predicted, and spokesmen for all three candidates claimed victories of one sort or another.

"The people who come to conventions are activists. They're the kind of people who ought to be in Kennedy's back pocket. And yet we fell short by only 39 votes," said state Assemblyman Michael Roos, Carter's California campaign chairman.

Brown's chief spokesman, chief of staff Gray Davis, who earlier had said the straw vote was meaningless and a waste of time, also said he was pleased with the result.

"The governor did better than either of his rivals anticipated. We made only a very modest effort. Dick O'Neill state party chairman said at the start of the convention we'd be lucky to get 10 percent. We improved on that quite a bit and we're pleased," Davis said.

Auditions for play to begin on Monday

Auditions for "U.S.A." and "Merry Widow" will begin this week. J. Sain of the theater arts department said.

"U.S.A.," Eastern's first theater arts production this semester, will run from Feb. 22 to Feb. 25, followed by the "Merry Widow" on March 14, 15, 16 and March 21, 22 and 23.

Sain said the "U.S.A." auditions will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in the playroom of the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

Delbert Simon of the music department said auditions for "Merry Widow" will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday in Room 13 of the Fine Arts Building.

Women cagers streak past Ball State 97-73

by Laurie Ellis

Midway through the second half of Eastern's women's basketball game Saturday night, Panther coach Bobbie Hilke called a time-out to reassess the situation.

Eastern held a normally comfortable 11 point lead over visiting Ball State, but Hilke was a little concerned. She made a few changes in the Panther offense and sent the team back in the game.

Those changes—having the team take higher percentage shots from the mid-key area—proved successful as the Panthers strengthened their hold and clinched the 97-73 win over Ball State.

"When I called the timeout," Hilke said, "I was concerned because we hadn't been very productive. Ball State had put in a string of baskets against us, so I decided to spread out our offense."

Hilke found Ball State particularly vulnerable at the post position and directed the team to take the "smarter shots" from the mid-key area rather than from the baseline.

Perhaps as a result of this maneuver, Eastern connected on 54 percent of its shots from the field, its best showing this season.

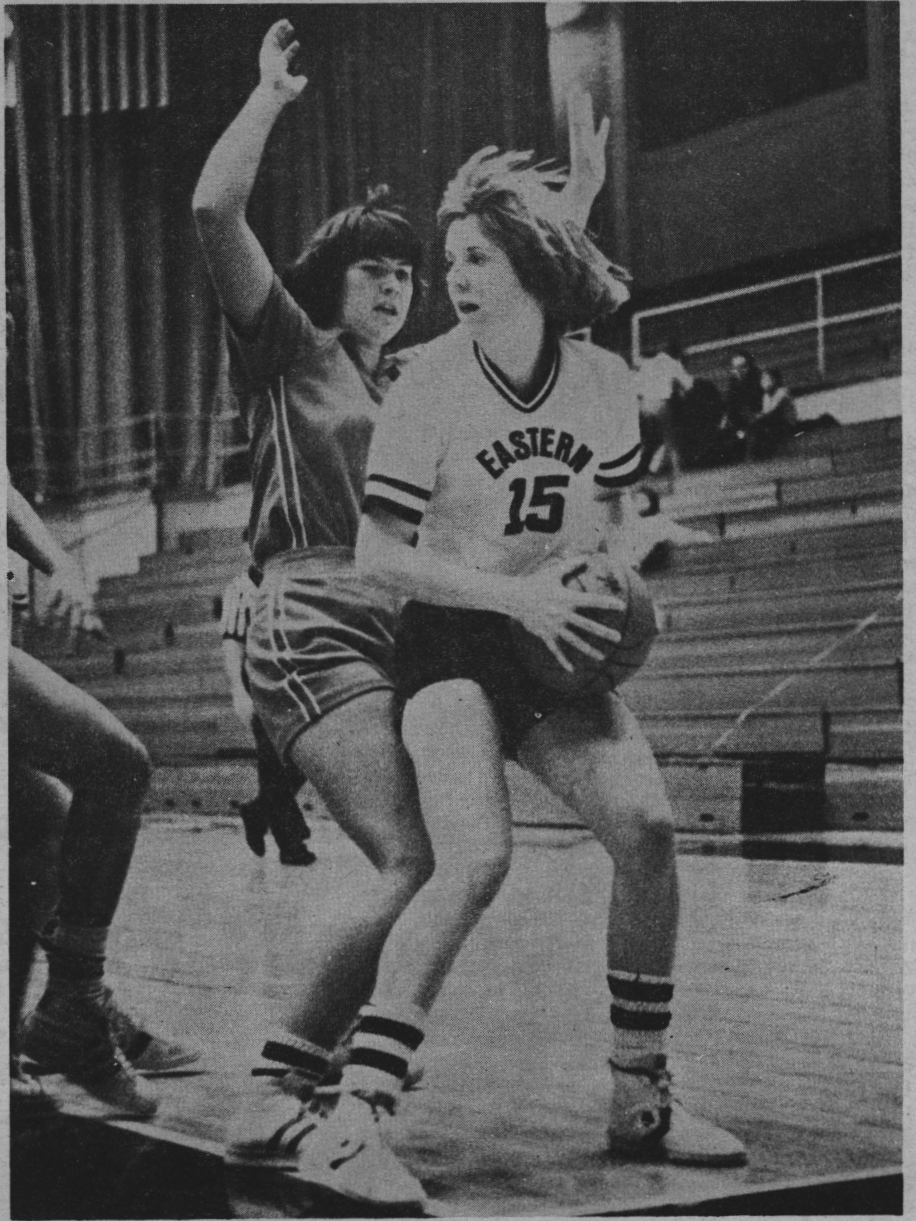

Nancy Kassebaum and Linda Ellsworth led the team in scoring with 23 points apiece, while Ellsworth also pulled down 12 rebounds, another team high. Jo Huber provided strong back-up support, tallying 22 points and nine rebounds.

Although Eastern showed a strong offensive unit, Hilke was most pleased with the team's defensive efforts.

"I'm really happy with our man-to-man defense," said Hilke. "We were really swarming."

"This year is our first for using the man-to-man formation and now we're finally getting a handle on where we should be on the floor defensively."

Earlier Saturday night, Eastern's JV women's basketball team fell to Ball State 87-74, despite the 17-point showing made by both Kathy Lanter and Penny Berg.

DePaul remains undefeated

CHICAGO (AP)— Mark Aguirre scored 31 points and Terry Cummings chipped with 17 points but the top-ranked and undefeated DePaul Blue Demons needed three free throws by Clyde Bradshaw in the final seconds to hold off 14th-ranked Louisiana State 78-73 in a nationally televised game Sunday.

The victory was the 15th this season for DePaul, which remained the only major unbeaten college team in the nation. LSU meanwhile, dropped to 11-4 despite a gutsy performance.

Within a minute of the game's start, Durand Macklin, LSU's leading scorer with a 21.7 average, suffered an ankle injury and was forced to leave the game.

Early in the second half, the Tigers lost Rick Mattick, their 7-foot center, on fouls. Still, the Tigers never completely collapsed despite the hollering and screaming of a standing room only crowd in excess of 5,000 at Alumni Hall.

Badminton team nabs first place at Carbondale

by Jill Anderson

In what coach Karen Early described as a "total team effort," Eastern's badminton team captured first place at the Saluki Invitational at Carbondale, Ill. Saturday.

The Panthers edged out Western Illinois in the eight school invitational followed by Illinois State, Northern Illinois, Ball State, Southern Illinois, Indiana State and Blackburn College.

"The team really pulled together and put forth a total team effort," Early said.

Eastern sent eight singles players to the semifinals in four divisions. Becky Stuckwisch reached the semifinals of Flight A where she lost to the number one seed from Western. Lisa Young upset the number two seed before losing in the semifinals. Marcia Metzger, also competing in Flight A, lost in the second round to a top player from Western.

Sue Gonnella, who was unseeded, won the Flight B title defeating number two seeded Illinois State in the finals.

"Sue played the best badminton I've ever seen her play," Early said.

Janet Haberkorn reached the semifinals where she lost to Illinois State. Cathy Oltman also reached the semifinals where she lost to Gonnella.

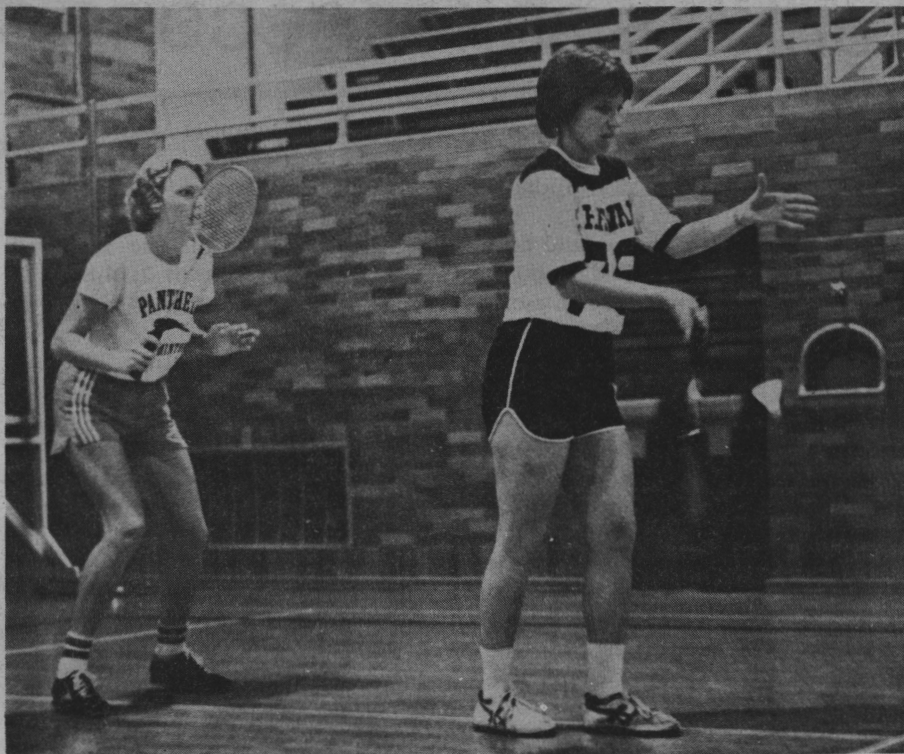

Jo Obrycki, in Flight C competition, lost in the quarterfinals and Jody Lyon reached the semifinals. Denise Hadley came in second place, losing to Illinois State in the finals.

In Flight D, Nancy Szarzynski took the title by beating Western in the finals. Szarzynski is the only undefeated player in singles. Patty Groth reached the quarterfinals and Carol Jeppsen lost in the second round.

In doubles action, Stuckwisch and Young won the Flight A division upsetting top seeded Western in the finals. Metzger and Gonnella lost to top seeded Western in the quarterfinals.

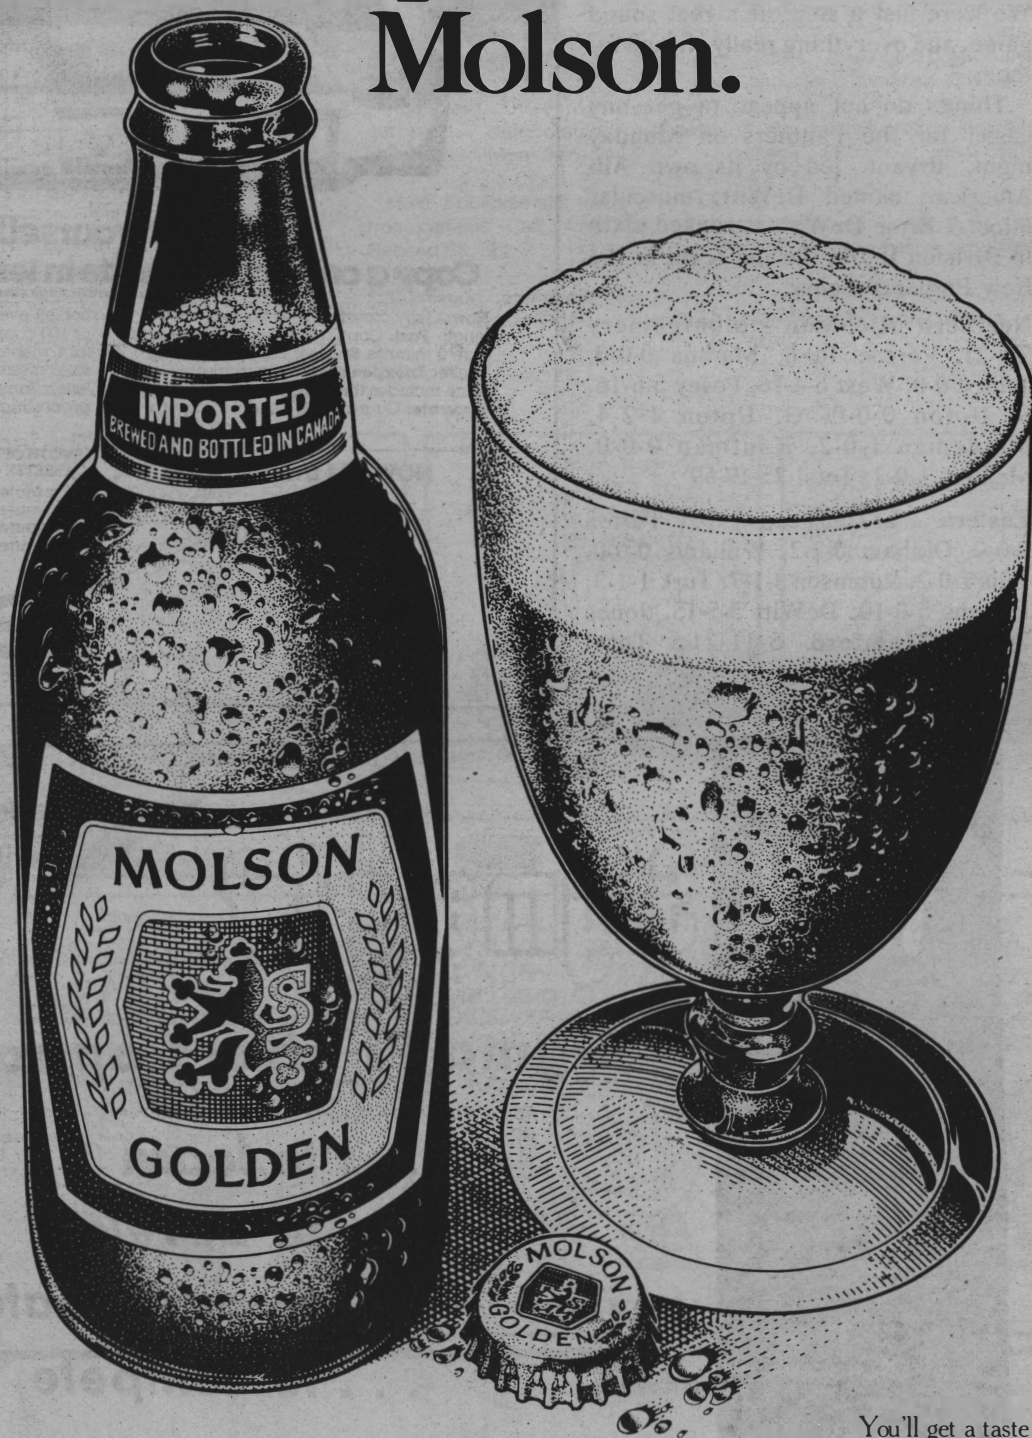

Haberkorn and Oltman won the Flight A consolation title, beating Southern in the finals.

The Panthers travel to the Western Invitational Saturday to compete in the 10 school tournament.

Tankers suffer second straight home meet loss

by Chris Magnuson

Eastern's men's swimming team dropped their second straight home meet Saturday, losing 60-53 to Indiana State University at Lantz Pool.

"I thought as a team we would be a little better today than Thursday and as it turned out we swam a little worse," coach Ray Padovan said.

"I felt we could've scored more in the individual medley and the 500-yard freestyle," Padovan said. "Indiana State swam faster than we expected."

"We lost points when Kurt Merrill hurt his back before the meet started and couldn't dive," Padovan said. "I think he could have got second in the one-meter dive."

"Al Cymbal dove real solid for us," Padovan said. Cymbal won both the one and three-meter dives for the Panthers.

"Tim Bird and Dave Gibson swam well in the butterfly in a losing cause," Padovan said. "Tom Hussey swam his best time of the year in the 200-yard backstroke."

"It's a good sign that Mike Roessler and Steve Boone are swimming this well tired," Padovan said. "They should be even better when they are rested." Roessler won the 200-yard breaststroke in a time of 2:14.8 while Boone finished second with a time of 2:15.3.

Tom Hussey won the 200-yard backstroke in a time of 1:59.0 and Mike Parratto took fourth with a time of 2:08.6.

Gibson lost to Bewry of Indiana State in the 200-yard butterfly. Gibson swam in a time of 2:01.5 and Panther Tim Bird took third with 2:02.2.

The relay team of Hussey, Bird, Roessler and Gary Shaw won the 400-yard medley relay in a time of 3:42.4.

Jim Hall finished second to Miller of the Sycamores in the 1000-yard freestyle with a time of 10:17.4.

Kirdendall of Indiana State beat Eastern's Ted Soltys by one-tenth of a second in the 50-yard freestyle. Soltys had a time of 22.6 and Shaw finished fourth in 23.3.

Soltys also finished second in the 100-yard freestyle to Weiser of Indiana State in a time of 49.3. Mike Foley took fourth place in 49.9.

Gibson and Foley finished third and fourth respectively, in the 200-yard freestyle. Both finished with a time of 1:50.3.

Parratto and Joel Edwards took third and fourth in the 200-yard individual medley with times of 2:03.9 and 2:04.4.

Hall took third place in the 500-yard freestyle with a time of 4:58.6.

The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Foley, Edwards, Soltys and Gibson took second place with a time of 3:29.8.

The Panthers will host Millikin at 7 p.m. Friday in Lantz Pool and travel to Western Kentucky the next day. "Millikin should be an easy meet but we will have more than our hands full with Western Kentucky," Padovan said.

The Panthers, meanwhile, had to start talking about bouncing back for its 7:30 p.m. Monday night game at Lantz against Bryant College, which is ranked sixth in the NCAA Division II.

"This could help us," senior Craig DeWitt, who had 12 points in the second half and 15 in the game, said. "Maybe we were just a bit too confident after playing so well Thursday night. Personally, I thought we would just play that way again."

"This might bring us back down to earth," DeWitt added. "We've been paying a lot of attention to the ratings, at least I know I have. I said, wow, fourth in the nation. Who can beat us? That's a bad mistake, especially for me, a senior to make."

Eddy did not see the loss as being beneficial, however. "I don't see any bright spot in a loss," he said.

"I don't think we'd done anything so that we needed a loss, to show us we weren't infallible," Eddy said. "I don't think we're in that category."

"It was just one of those nights," he added. "We didn't play that badly. We were just a step off a real sound game, and everything really clicked for them."

Things do not appear to get any easier for the Panthers on Monday night. Bryant, led by its own All-American named DeWitt, muscular 6-foot-7 Ernie DeWitt, is ranked sixth in Division II and the top team in the New England region.

capacity Rose Bowl crowd of 103,985 roared in excitement.

But the bubble burst for the youngster, who inherited the starting job in a sea of midseason injuries, on the next play. He pressed his luck, trying for one more pass, and it was one too many.

Middle linebacker Jack Lambert intercepted for the Steelers and Bradshaw went back to work.

Again he launched a long pass for Stallworth, who gathered in the 45-yard pitch, carrying Pittsburgh to the Los Angeles 23. It was Stallworth's third catch of the day and pushed his yardage total to 121.

A pass interference call against Thomas in the end zone followed, and with the ball on the 1-yard line, Franco Harris barreled in for his second touchdown of the game — wrapping up the Steeler victory.

Northern Michigan nips Eastern in final seconds

Eastern's Dave LeTourneau sails in for a layup during the Panthers' 69-68 loss to Northern Michigan Saturday night. Following LeTourneau are Northern Michigan guard Jeff Jahn (25) and Eastern forward Ricky Robinson (32). (News photo by Rich Bauer)

Eric Posey knocked Eastern's basketball team off its cloud nine and put Northern Michigan there with his basket with three seconds remaining that handed the Panthers a 69-68 setback Saturday at Lantz Gym.

The Wildcats recovered from their season's low point of just two nights earlier, a lopsided loss at Western Illinois, to stop Eastern's Lantz Gym winning streak at 19 games.

"This helps us considerably after getting blown out at Western," Northern Michigan coach Glenn Brown said. "We were embarrassed Thursday night. We were just lethargic over there and had something to prove here."

Eastern, on the other hand, played probably its best game of the season Thursday when it ripped Northern Iowa 77-53, but got a rude awakening from Northern Michigan Saturday night. The loss dropped the Panthers, ranked fourth in the latest NCAA Division II poll, to 1-1 in the Mid-Continent Conference and 11-3 overall.

Northern Michigan, Northern Iowa and Western are also 1-1 in the MCC, while Youngstown State does not play its first league game until Thursday. Northern Iowa upended Western 84-71 Saturday night.

Northern Michigan shot nearly as well as Eastern did in its Thursday night win to stay close to and then finally overtake the Panthers.

The Panthers built up a 53-46 lead with 10½ minutes left in the game, but the Wildcats, sparked by ever-driving guard Ernie Montgomery, did not quit.

By the 4:27 mark Northern Michigan was within one at 59-58 and then both teams took turns scoring from the free throw line.

With just under four minutes to play, Eastern had the ball and a 65-63 lead and coach Don Eddy had his Panthers hold the ball to try to pull Northern out of its 1-3-1 zone.

The Wildcats finally switched to a man-to-man nearly two minutes later, and then Posey stole the ball from Panther center Dennis Mumford.

Mumford, who led Eastern's scoring with 21 points, committed his fifth foul trying to stop Posey's layup after the steal.

Posey's two free throws tied the game with 1:26 to go.

Twenty seconds later Eastern regained the lead when Craig DeWitt hit one of two free throws, but then Montgomery, who scored 12 of his team-high 21 points in the final 10½ minutes, drove the lane and put Northern on top 67-66.

Eastern got its final lead when Ricky Robinson rebounded Warren Patten's miss and scored from underneath, but Northern Michigan still had 16 seconds left.

After two timeouts by Eastern and then one by Northern, Montgomery drove the floor, passed off to Chuck Vercoe on the right side, and Vercoe got the ball into the 6-foot-7 junior college transfer Posey who banked in the short shot with only :03 on the clock.

"That was the way it was supposed to work," Brown said. "Vercoe was supposed to take the short jumper and get it to Posey on the inside."

Lance Jone's desperation shot from mid-court fell short, and Northern Michigan made its night complete by bidding good-bye to Eastern's fans.

Steelers upend Rams for fourth Super Bowl win

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Terry Bradshaw shattered a pair of Super Bowl passing records, throwing touchdown bombs to Lynn Swann and John Stallworth, as the Pittsburgh Steelers overcame upset-minded Los Angeles with a come-from-behind 31-19 victory in the National Football League championship game Sunday.

Pressured into three interceptions by the fired-up Rams, Bradshaw nevertheless stayed cool and found the seams in the Los Angeles secondary. He hit Swann with a 47-yard strike and teamed with Stallworth on a 73-yarder that produced the winning margin in the fourth quarter as the Steelers won an unprecedented fourth Super Bowl crown.

Derided as 11-point underdogs, Los Angeles played inspired football and led 19-17 as the fourth quarter began. What's more, by then Bradshaw was operating without Swann, who was knocked out on a crushing hit by cornerback Pat Thomas in the third period.

But the veteran Pittsburgh quarterback would not be denied. On the Steelers' first possession of the final quarter, he faced a third-and-8 at his own 27-yard line.

The Steelers sent Stallworth on a fly pattern down the middle of the field and Bradshaw led his man perfectly. The fleet wide receiver simply out-sprinted cornerback Thomas and caught the ball easily, dashing into the end zone with the touchdown that put Pittsburgh in front 24-19.

Now Vince Ferragamo, the gallant young quarterback of the Rams, who was starting only his eight professional game, tried to bring his team back. Passes of 24 yards to Preston Denner and 15 to Billy Waddy had the Rams on the move at the Pittsburgh 32 as the Athletic department has $100,000 deficit

by Andy Savoie

Former Eastern Athletic Director Mike Mullally said last week that Eastern's athletic department budget has a deficit balance of "probably not" more than $100,000, but he does not "see it as the least bit unusual."

In a Charleston-Times Courier story last week, Mullally said the deficit budget began before he came to Eastern in 1974 and that it became larger while he was AD because of spending he did to upgrade the program.

However, Mullally said that the athletic department is now to the point where "we should bring in an excess of $33,000 over the budget" for this fiscal year (July 1 through June 31).

"In three years, if we keep going along these lines, the deficit will be wiped out. I feel we've got a handle on the situation and it's controllable," Mullally said.

Mullally has accepted the athletic director's position at the University of California-Fullerton.

Vice-President for Administration and Finance George Miller said Sunday the deficit "appears to be in the vicinity" of Mullally's $100,000 deficit estimate and that "the matter is still under review."

Miller said the deficit accumulated either because of overspending or because spending was done on the basis of estimated future income which fell short of expectations.

Miller also said he thinks "its important not to say that it is a very serious matter," Miller said.

Miller said that this year was the first time that a detailed plan for fund projection was implemented, and that "I'm optimistic that in a period of two or three years that we'll be in good shape."

As for Mullally's claim that the athletic budget will be $33,000 the black this fiscal year, Miller said "we are trying to verify the accuracy of that projection."

Miller also said he did not think the spring's ticket price increases and proposed student fee increase in athletics are due to the deficit.

"I would say it has to do more with the increased costs of transportation. I believe that is where the greatest justification for the increases come from," Miller said.

During last spring's debate on proposed increases in athletic ticket prices, former Student Financial Association President Tom Dersch said the athletic department was "financially irresponsible" for spending money on the basis of projected income.

Former IAB Member Bob Buckner said Sunday that he considered Mullally's financial tactics to be "a liberal policy. But I wouldn't call it financially irresponsible."
