Founder's Day speaker focuses on foreign affairs

SUSAN CUTSFORTH
Writer

The United States wants to remain a fierce competitor in world business, our leaders must get more involved in foreign affairs.

That's the message William Voris, president of the American Graduate School of International Management in Glendale, Ariz., drove in Saturday's keynote speaker at Eastern's Founder's Day celebration.

"We're now in an age of interdependence," Voris said. "There's no way we can put a moat around the United States and say we're gonna live by ourselves."

During his address, Voris outlined world economic and political situations, world trends and the education and training involved in producing leaders.

Voris criticized United States government officials for dwelling on past U.S. supremacy. "We are going to have to face the fact that we are no longer the dominating country," Voris said.

Developing countries are giving the United States more competition in global business affairs, Voris said. "The America we know is in a competitive struggle. Seventy percent of the products we produce are in competition in foreign markets," Voris said.

U.S. government officials should plan for the future like foreign governments do when natural resources run out, Voris said, citing the Saudi Arabian government as an example. "I know the Saudis well...their whole plan is set around when they run out of oil."

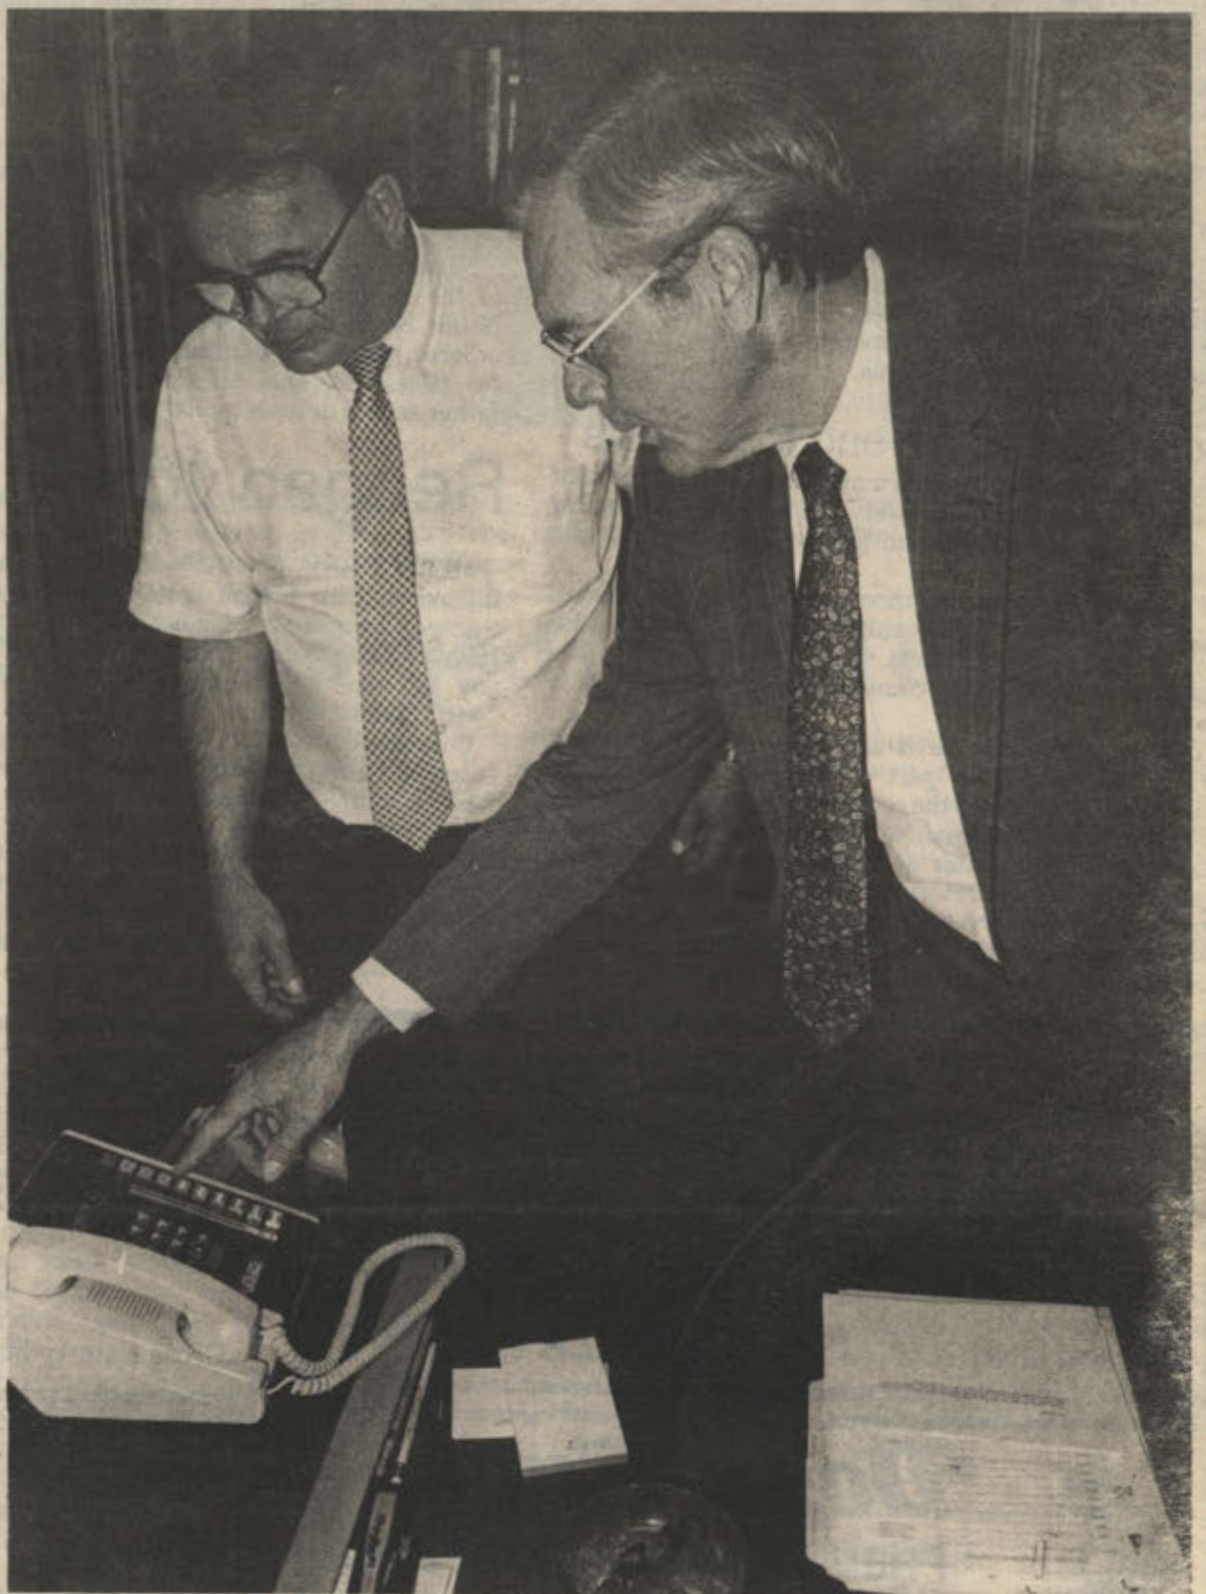

The role religion, particularly Islam, is playing in developing nations alarmed Voris. "Religion is taking a very forceful role with these developing countries. One of the biggest shock waves I'm seeing is the emergence of the Moslem religion."

Voris emphasized communication and grooming leaders through education and training as ways for the United States to regain its global economic and political strength.

"Every thinking person in this country should think in terms of his or her global relations," Voris said.

Voris believes potential United States leaders should receive a broad liberal arts education which includes speaking at least two languages.

"We have to learn to communicate. If we can learn English, we can learn any language," Voris said.

Eastern honors four employees

Founder's Day was more than a celebration of Eastern's 92nd anniversary Saturday as four employees were presented service awards.

Home economics instructor Ruth Dow received the academic faculty service award.

Dow was out of town, but her award was accepted by Barbara Richter, dean of the College of Applied Sciences.

Dolores "Dee" McNutt, office supervisor for the dean of library services and a Booth Library employee of 20 years, received the civil service award.

English Department chairman James Quivey received the administration service award and Barbara Richter received the Livingston C. Lord Distinguish Faculty Award.

Margaret Soderberg, associate vice-president of academic affairs, was presented a plaque in appreciation of her 25 years of service at Eastern.

Soderberg is leaving Eastern for a position as vice-president of academic affairs at North Adams State College in North Adams, Mass.

Views differ around the state on Thompson's tax proposal

By GRETCHEN IVES
City/entertainment editor

Gov. James R. Thompson's tax increase proposal is "critically important to higher education. It is a shame that this is not understood by the General Assembly," said Ron Messina, vice chancellor for public affairs and development for the Board of Governors.

"No significant rise (in taxes) will result in less student services, and Eastern's opportunity to fund the annex to Coleman Hall is very problematic. Reallocation of funds is not the answer," Messina said.

In a memorandum, Richard Wagnor, executive director of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, outlined the effects on education if there is no tax increase:

- There would be no funds for salary increases for faculty and staff.

- There would be no funds for new or expanded programs for improving minority student achievement and strengthening undergraduate education.

- There would be no funds to increase the Illinois

State Scholarship Commission's maximum award to process additional student aid applications.

This week Thompson is meeting with state representatives to find out how they feel about the proposal.

"Gov. Thompson's verbal proposals are unacceptable. It (the tax increase) is larger than we need," said Rep. Mike Weaver, R-Charleston.

"We need a trade off. People are willing to pay an increase in income taxes if their property taxes are reduced," Weaver said.

"It becomes harder to get the proposal passed the closer it is to elections," said Susan Mogerman, the governor's assistant press secretary.

While some feel the tax proposal is a dead issue, Rep. Harry "Babe" Woodyard, R-Chrisman, thinks it will come up again. The tax is needed to keep high security prisons in Illinois from being closed, he said.

Gov. Thompson has proposed to increase the license plate fee from $48 to $65 and increase the gas tax from 13 cents to 22.5 cents over the next five years. This proposal is estimated to cost the taxpayer $2.6 billion over the next two years alone.

Texas helicopter crash kills nine

FORT HOOD, Texas—A military helicopter crashed today during training exercises, killing nine people, authorities said.

"So far, it looks like all of the victims are reserve officers," said Fort Hood spokesman Maj. George Creach.

The UH-1 "Huey" helicopter belonged to the 49th Armored Division of the Texas National Guard, Creach said. But most of those aboard were part of the 489th Engineer Battalion based in Little Rock, Ark., which is part of the Oklahoma City-based 353rd Engineer Group, Creach said.

Creach said investigators could not immediately determine the cause of the 9 a.m. crash.

The aircraft was participating in a two-week exercise called Starburst '87, conducted every year by the Texas National Guard's 49th Armored Division, said base spokeswoman Jeannie Kitchens.

Doo-hwan seeks end to protests

SEOUL, South Korea—In a major turnaround, President Chun Doo-hwan agreed to meet with the opposition to try to end fierce anti-government protests, a top official said today.

This statement came as thousands of students clashed with riot police near college campuses in Seoul in the 13th day of large-scale protests. Scattered violence was reported elsewhere in the country, but most protests were peaceful.

Yonhoo, the Korean news agency, reported that about 20,000 students took part in demonstrations at 58 universities throughout the country.

Roh Tae-woo, chairman of the governing Democratic Justice Party, said after a meeting with Chun that the president agreed to meet with Kim Young-sam, head of the Reunification Democratic Party. Chun also promised to consider the release of political detainees, Roh said.

He didn't say when the meeting would take place.

Syria: Glass to be freed 'at all costs'; fighting in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Syria said Monday it will free captive American journalist Charles Glass "at all costs." Eight people died in factional gunfights in Beirut slums where many foreign hostages are believed held.

Police said 17 people were wounded during shootouts in the Shiite Moslem slums of Ghobeiri, Hay Madi and Haret Hreik between the Mokdad Shiite clan and supporters of Akel Hamieh, military commander of the mainstream Shiite Amal militia.

Neither faction has been linked to abductions of the 25 foreigners still held. Amal leader Nabih Berri, also Lebanon's justice minister, ordered his militia Saturday to join the search for Glass, 36, and Ali Osseiran, 40, whose father Adel is defense minister.

Street battles in the south Beirut slums began at midday, eased at midafternoon and picked up again before sundown, police reported. The sound of gunfire and rocket-propelled grenades could be heard in both Moslem and Christian sectors of the city.

Fourteen men abducted the latest victims last Wednesday, along with Osseiran's driver, south Beirut's seaside Duzai suburb. It is stronghold of the Iranian-backed Hezbollah, Lebanon's most militant Shiite faction.

State radio quoted Brig. Gen. Ghari Kenaan, Syria's military intelligence chief in Lebanon, as saying: "I am here to free them. The problem will be resolved at all costs and I believe that will be accomplished soon."

Reagan vows veto of any tax hike

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP)—President Reagan, intensifying his budget battle with Congress, warned lawmakers Monday it is politically risky to boost federal spending and vowed that any tax-hike bill reaching the Oval Office "won't make it out alive."

Boasting of 54 consecutive months of economic growth during his administration, Reagan said. "You don't tax and spend your way to recovery."

The president flew to this Atlantic Coast community near the Kennedy Space Center in the first of a series of almost weekly trips to marshal public support for his budget policies, which are sharply at odds with those of the Democratic-ruled Congress.

Hundreds of cheering people braced gloomy skies and muggy weather to greet Reagan at the airport. Standing on a box behind his armored limousine and using a portable broadcasting system, he told the crowd he wants Congress to accept a budget "without burdening the people with taxes."

Reagan stressed the same point later at a company picnic of the Dictaphone Corp. and in a speech at a luncheon of the local Chamber of Commerce. The crowds cheered his promise to stand fast in opposing tax increases.

BOG names president at Western

MARY JO REPETTO
 Comment/administration editor

Ralph H. Wagoner will become the 14th president of Western Illinois University on August 1.

The appointment was made June 18 by the Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities at a regular meeting in Springfield. The BOG is the governing body of Eastern.

Wagoner was among three final candidates recommended to the board by BOG Chancellor Thomas Layzell. There were 125 candidates for the position, which is currently being held by Leslie Malpass.

Malpass, who underwent bypass surgery on June 5, will retire as president of Western on July 31.

During (Wagoner's) tenure as vice president of public affairs and development at Western, he successfully completed a $23 million campaign for Western, which demonstrates his ability to advocate for the institution," Layzell said. "His understanding of the university's mission and ability to work with all segments of the campus and community will help Western continue to grow and prosper under his leadership."

As president of Western, Wagoner will receive an annual salary of $20,000. He will oversee an operating budget of more than $50 million in state appropriated funds which are used to serve the needs of 12,000 students and the university's service community.

Wagoner, a native of Pittsburgh, earned his bachelor's degree from West Virginia College in 1960. He earned his master's degree from Westminster College in 1963 and his doctorate from Kent State University in 1967. Before coming to Western as vice president in 1977, Wagoner was at Drake University in Des Moines, Iowa, serving as an assistant professor of education during 1967-68.

Student charged in fatal beating

By MATT HORTENSTINE
 Staff writer

Theodis Houston, 19, an Eastern student, was indicted along with five other Chicago youths by a Cook County grand jury on charges of murder, aggravated kidnapping, unlawful restraint and armed violence.

According to The Chicago Tribune, Houston and the others allegedly beat Frank Lane, 22, to death with a baseball bat during a basketball game at 10:30 p.m. on June 7 because he was "not playing by the rules."

According to Jim Ward of the Wentworth area violent crime unit, the incident broke out on the playground at 72nd Street and Dobson Avenue because the victim was "a little drunk" and broke the rules by playing too rough.

The Tribune reported that Lane began to argue with Maurice Jackson, one of the six charged. One of Lane's friends, whose name was not released, then began to argue with Kirk Cole, another of the six. The friend of Lane's reportedly struck Cole, who then ran to a car where he obtained a baseball bat and chased after Lane's friend.

The others, along with Cole, grabbed Lane and forced him into a car where they allegedly beat him with fists and a beer bottle. They dumped Lane out of the car at 62nd Street and Kimbark Avenue where Jackson and Robert Lidell allegedly beat him with a baseball bat. They then fled leaving Lane unconscious on the street.

Lane's friend, who followed the car after being chased away, found Lane and took him to South Shore Hospital. He was later transferred to Michael Reese Hospital where he died six days later.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Frank Marek, all six defendants face the possibility of the death penalty because of the combination of crimes in which they were indicted. Because of these circumstances, the defendants are being held without bond in the Cook County Jail.

According to police, none of the defendants have any previous felony convictions. Their arraignment is scheduled for July 9.

Houston, of 6352 S. Dorchester Ave., was a freshman at Eastern this spring.

Others charged in the incident were: Kirk Cole, 20, 8824 S. Burkley Ave., who attends the University of Arkansas; Larhorne Miles, 19, 8148 S. Blackstone Ave., who attends South Shore High School; Maurice Jackson, 24, 6134 S. Kimbark Ave., a funeral home employee; Marcus Anderson, 21, who lives with Jackson and is a sheet metal worker; and Robert Lidell, 21, 7130 S. Cyril Ave., who is unemployed.

Don't bargain athletes' lives for '88 Games

The recent political upheaval in South Korea, often involving violence on the part of protesters, police and government officials, is reason for serious reconsideration on holding the Olympic Games in Seoul next summer.

We cannot afford to send the world's Olympic athletes to an unstable country at the cost of catastrophic consequences. We must not provide the opportunity for incidents such as occurred at the Munich Games in 1972 which resulted in the slaying of 12 Israeli athletes.

Unless serious measures are taken, starting with President Chun Doo Hwan's meetings with his opposition this week, to quell the violence and restore stability to South Korea, then an alternative site for the Games must be established.

Too often, economic aspects are placed before those in the political realm and we end up paying with the loss of innocent lives. Olympic athletes should not be faced with this threat.

It would be nice to believe the Olympic Games could be completely separated from politics. The sad fact is they are not and will likely never be.

Instead, prestigious events such as the Olympics are often used as political tools for a group to affirm a position or make a point.

We cannot take the chance of a more drastic political faction taking measures which end in disaster.

In a country suffering from political instability, the possibilities for trouble are endless.

Although the South Korean government and opposition alike say the Olympics should not be an issue, the fact is, it has become a major issue. Both sides have used the Seoul Games as a bargaining chip in their rhetoric towards each other.

In another aspect, there is always a threat from North Korea, which has asked for a piece of the pie in hosting the '88 Olympic Games. If North Korea doesn't get what it wants, the possibility of a boycott on its part is a real one. This, in turn, increases the chances of sabotage and terrorism as a result.

Perhaps it will be safe. It is too early to tell what the situation will be in South Korea next year. But the point remains—we must not take needless chances in an attempt to ensure that the Games go on.

Your turn

Aztec was right in towing cars

Editor:

Much of the attention about the recent Aztec towing was emphasized towards the angry tenants. However, being a Pinetree tenant, I feel the towing was fairly done. Common sense should tell someone they'll need a parking sticker since there is a sign that says, "Resident Parking Only," and it goes on saying something about towing at the owner's expense. A tenant should figure out that something has to be different in order to distinguish his car from the non-tenant's car (a sticker!).

There was nothing mentioned in the recent article about non-tenants who got their car towed. I'm sure these people didn't want to voice themselves in the newspaper because they knew they were wrong parking in the lot.

It's aggravating when the car in front of me zips in a close spot and then gets out and heads for Carman Hall. I get the next available spot which just so happens to be in the last aisle!

Also, where has Police Chief Johnson been? He said he can't remember a time where so many cars have been towed at once. Well, it was only a year ago that Aztec Investments did the same thing. The towing occurred early in the morning as it did this year. I lived in the same complex as last year.

If Aztec is out to make a profit from this towing, that would bother me. Hopefully, their concern was for their tenants. At least now I can find a parking spot within a reasonable distance.

Joy Palmer

Aztec tenants be cautious

Editor:

As a result of the recent controversy, I went over to Aztec Investments to have the terms of my lease explained. The explanation had nothing to do with our time of occupancy as earlier explanations alleged. As I understand it, the exceedingly large rent for the first month included a certain amount taken off of each succeeding month's rent. So, what we were really paying for each month's rent was not $465 as we believed (and it is stated in the lease by the way) but about $490 per month. This is not clearly stated in the lease. I think it's about time that Aztec decided which story they are going to tell and stick by it.

As an Aztec tenant, I must also voice my complaint about management. We moved into our apartment last August and it was a mess. The walls were dirty and needed painting. Our refrigerator wasn't working properly and our freezer door would not shut. We also had holes in the walls and a door. It took weeks to get the first two problems fixed and we never got the holes patched.

In addition to this, we were promised, but never received, keys for our back doors. Our neighbor has also had problems involving an odor emanating from under the building and coming up through his heating unit. It stinks. We advise all prospective tenants to be wary when signing the lease.

Editor's note:

Just a reminder to the readers that page 4 of The Daily Eastern News is for you as much as it is for us to express opinions on current issues relating to the campus community or the world community as a whole.

Writing a letter to the editor is an effective way for the reader to offer input in the editorial decisions which are made.

I believe it is the student newspaper reader's responsibility to voice an informed opinion on issues that relate to today's students which are the seeds of the future.

Too often, students become complacent in the daily routine of college life. Your college experience goes beyond the classroom.

What you do outside the classroom is a reflection on your accomplishments in the academic arena.

The ultimate responsibility of the press is to keep the people informed so they have the means to voice their opinions.

Don't hesitate to utilize your right to comment on anything that appears in your student newspaper. The student's voice needs to be heard.

Auto mishap claims life of senior geology major

Eastern student Doug Visnack died Saturday at Burnham Hospital in Champaign from head injuries he received after falling out of a car south of Charleston on Thursday.

Visnack, a senior Geology major from Lansing, was a passenger in a car being driven by his girlfriend, Sandy White, when his door came open and he fell out of the vehicle.

The accident occurred when Visnack and White were headed toward Charleston on Illinois Route 130, according to Coles County police reports. The two were returning to Charleston to find someone to tow Visnack's car because he had previously went in a ditch after swerving to avoid hitting an animal, the report said.

Visnack was taken to Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center but was later transferred to Burnham Hospital where they were better able to treat head injuries.

Visnack was a member of Eastern's Rugby Club.

Services will be held at Schoeder Laver Funeral Home in Lansing at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Visitation will be from 2-5 p.m. and 7-10 p.m. Tuesday.

Duke professor presents lecture

Duke University professor Norman Christiansen will be the first speaker in Eastern's summer Distinguished Visiting Faculty Lecture Series at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Booth Library lecture room.

Christiansen, a botany instructor, will be giving a lecture titled, "Natural Disturbance, Changing Landscape and the Management of Wilderness." The talk will reflect Christiansen's research on problems related to historical patterns of land use, abuse and disuse.

Christiansen will also conduct a workshop from June 22-25 on "The American Wilderness: 10,000 Years of Change."

This summer's lecture series focuses on the theme, "We the People: The American Opportunity for Interaction and Change."

Illini Girls Staters create model government

Eric Wedekings

Illini Girls State was on the Eastern campus for the second consecutive year last week with more than 500 young women traveling from across the state to experience Illinois government.

Illini Girls State began June 14 and continued until June 20.

For the 47th time, various American Legion auxiliary units from throughout the state sponsored 80 high school junior girls to travel to the Eastern campus to participate in a model Illinois government.

"Illini Girls State is a week of functional citizenship training," said JoAnn Shafer, Illinois State public relations director.

The American Legion auxiliary units select the girls from the upper half of the girl's high school classes," Shafer said.

"These are mostly very bright young ladies who have college aspirations," Shafer added.

Upon arriving at Eastern, the more than 500 girls were placed into about 20 "cities" in which a local government was established. Many petitioned and ran for political office in city, county and state primaries and the winners ran in the final general election.

When the young women were running for office, they were also expected to declare a party affiliation (Federalists or Nationalists parties) and hold party conventions to establish platform ideas for the general elections.

Proper election procedures were also followed and election judges selected. The girls underwent voter registration in order to vote in actual government elections, Shafer said.

When they were not participating in and learning about the government process, the high school girls would be learning by listening to some high state government officials throughout the week.

Gov. James Thompson, Secretary of State Jim Edgar and Attorney General Neil Hartigan ventured to Eastern to address Illini Girls State last week.

In his speech to the young women June 17 in Eastern's Dvorak Hall, Thompson emphasized his commitment to improving education with a proposed tax increase.

"What's the money for?" Thompson queried, "It is important for the young people of Illinois to get a competitive education. If the education you receive is competitive with the education they're receiving in other countries, then where will the jobs go?"

Thompson made reference to Japan as the prime example of a country possessing high education standards.

"In Japan, the young people your age don't date,

ROBB MONTGOMERY / Staff photographer

Each evening of the camp, flag lowering ceremonies were also held.

don't watch TV and don't drive cars." Thompson said, referring to his latest visit to Asian island-nation. "What they do do is study. Look at where Japan is . . . look at where we are."

However, Thompson told the girls staters that even if the tax increase is approved, Illinois' education system would not change overnight, but it could achieve a higher standard than its current levels.

Thompson went on to say the proposed tax increase would, in addition to improving education in Illinois, further assist abused children, the elderly, and the mentally ill.

Shafer said Girls State teaches the young women other lessons, other than just the workings of state government.

The purpose of Illini Girls State, Shafer said "is set up for the girls to get acquainted with the American Legion, patriotism, love for the country, and to learn the election process."

Although Shafer said she did not want Illini Girls State to appear overly feministic, "We think it is important to emphasize women in government."

Some notable women who have participated in past Girls State were NBC's Today Show host Jane Pauley, and Illinois State Lottery Director Rebecca Paul, she said.

"It's part of an Americanism program," she said. "It's learning by doing." For one week, the women will actively participate in many forms of government, from the city level to the state of Illinois' model of state government.

"They get a small taste of government right up the line," she said.

Once in the morning and once in the evening, the women witnessed a flag raising and lowering as part of a daily ceremony, Shafer said.

"Believe it or not, many girls have never seen a flag raising or lowering ceremony," she added.

A flag burning was also held to demonstrate the proper procedure for disposing of unserviceable American flags.

Two women who were elected to the office of state senator will be travelling to Washington, D.C. to participate in the Girls Nation, an American Legion national event, and "two outstanding girls from the choral groups were interviewed and selected to travel to San Antonio, Texas" to compete in national competition there.

Illini Girls State moved from its 45-year-old home at MacMurray College in Jacksonville because "MacMurray was having financial difficulties and (because of) its physical (small) size," Shafer said. Also, "There was no air conditioning."

Because Eastern made a "lucrative" offer to host Illini Girls State last year, coupled with "the experienced difficulties" at MacMurray College, Shafer said the Illini Girls Commission decided to make the move to East Central Illinois.

"Eastern has really been fantastic taking care of our needs," she said.

Hoopsters learn about fundamentals

by Eric Wedeking

Even with temperatures soaring well over 100 degree mark in Lantz Gym, more than 250 boys enthusiastically ran, jumped, and shot basketballs the 12th annual Panther basketball camp.

In what almost turned into a steam bath, rather than a basketball camp, Eastern's athletic department hosted the "Panther Boys Basketball Camp" for boys ranging in age from 10 to 14.

The basketball camp took place June 14-19 at various gyms and outdoor courts on the Eastern campus. Even though temperatures for the basketball camp were less than ideal, assistant Eastern basketball coach Lloyd Batts said the balmy conditions were not a deterrent to the camp participants.

"It's got to be over 100 degrees in here (in Lantz Gym)," Batts said. "But we haven't had many problems with kids falling out. They have been playing hard all week."

"What we try to do is teach them fundamental drills so they can perform well in regular play," Batts said.

"They do different things everyday."

With the temperatures in Lantz Gym making even the thought of playing basketball an impossibility, more than 250 boys scrimmaged on a hot Tuesday afternoon with no thought of the heat, only the idea becoming better basketball players.

Tom Buckley, a 15-year-old from Warrensburg, said he came to the basketball camp along with his teammates from his junior high school so they could improve their team play.

"We came down for a team camp so we can play better as a team because we start as freshman next fall at Warrensburg High School," Buckley said. "It (the basketball camp) is nice. We do little drills that help."

The level of competition is better than what we're used to playing against too," Buckley added.

Nate Mainer, a 12-year-old from Edwardsville said he has gained a lot of experience in the time he was spending at the basketball camp.

"Basically the things they have been teaching us are things we already know, but they teach us to get better," Mainer said.

"I've been doing alot. We been doing offense, shovel passes, and defense," he added.

Brad Thompson, a 14-year-old from Flora, said his junior high school coach encouraged all the players on his team to travel to Eastern for the summer basketball camp.

When they are not honing their basketball skills, many of the campers take a break from the heat and go swimming at one of the nearby pools on campus.

Many of the campers said they walking around the Eastern campus or meeting new friends in the residence halls.

When he is not playing basketball, Thompson said he goes swimming and stays in the residence hall. "It's been pretty hot, but the dorms have been kept cool," Thompson said.

"The dorms are nice and the food is great," Buckley said of his stay at Eastern. "You get to meet a lot of new people too. That's what's really nice."

College-bound students should apply early

by Eric Wedeking

Although freshman and transfer admission to Eastern has been closed since early this year, high school and transfer students can still apply for the upcoming Spring semester.

"Fall admissions are closed," Assistant Director of Admissions Pam Hadwiger said. "Everyone (submitting applications) is shut off for the Fall term, but Spring is wide open."

"We keep stressing, apply early," she said. She advised potential Eastern students who want to be admitted for the Fall semester to submit an application for admission in the early Fall of a student's senior year in high school.

There is no fee for applying and applications are processed immediately after they are received from the student.

However, admission into Eastern does not mean that on-campus housing is guaranteed, she said.

Students are advised to apply for housing before applying for admission, Hadwiger added, because on-campus housing reaches capacity well before students are denied admittance to Eastern.

Hadwiger attributes Eastern's ongoing popularity to its small size and friendly nature of the students.

"It's (Eastern) an easy campus to get around on," she said, and "we're getting good PR from present students and alumni."

"It's amazing," she said. "The administration has been saying the student population pool is down, but the students keep coming."

To be eligible for entry into Eastern, academic requirements must be met.

To be admitted to the university, candidates must:

- Fall semester—
- rank in the upper half of their high school class based on six or more semesters
- or achieve an ACT composite score of 19 (SAT of 820)

Spring semester or Summer terms—

- rank in the upper two-thirds of their high school based on six or more semesters
- or achieve an ACT composite score of 17 (SAT 760)

Hadwiger added that beginning freshman who could not meet regular admission requirements have the chance of entering Eastern through the Prescriptive Curriculum Admissions Program.

The PCAP is not remedial or conditional—it includes only regularly offered university courses—and the number of students accepted into the program is limited by available resources.

For more information on applying at Eastern or the requirements and availability of PCAP, contact the Office of Admissions by calling toll free: 1-800-252-5711 or write to:

Incoming students begin registration for fall classes

by Eric Wedeking

Although Eastern's summer pre-enrollment program is geared toward registering new students, parents who accompany their children also benefit from the program.

The "EIU Debut 1987 New Student Orientation" program runs throughout the summer on the Eastern campus and provides incoming students orientation, academic advisement, and registration services.

Samuel Taber, director of registration, said parents who participate in the orientation/registration program gain valuable information right along with their children.

"It's easier to get information to the parents than the kids," Taber said.

"It's a responsible way to get kids registered, advised and oriented in an atmosphere that's not hurried.

Parents have been very complimentary about this" program, he added. The orientation/registration program "gives parents an overview of Eastern. It's a productive kind of thing."

Describing the student program, Taber said, "For all intents and purposes, it's an academic survival course."

Last year about 1,700 students were registered through the summer program and Taber said he believes about the same number of new students would register for the upcoming fall semester this summer.

Eastern has been using the summer orientation/registration program for about 20 years, Taber said.

New student registration in the summer also helps to relieve the registration crush felt in the fall, he said.

Before registering, Taber said incoming students are advised about what to expect when entering college life and how they will be expected to perform academically.

Students who participate in a pre-orientation session the day before they are scheduled to register may take a mathematics placement test if they have not already done so and also get a chance to ask questions of students currently enrolled at Eastern.

On registration day, students will meet with an academic adviser to decide on a course of study, take a series of tests to aid in determining their course placement, have a photograph taken for their new student ID, and finally register for fall classes.

Some of the parents visiting Eastern for the first time along with their children will get a glimpse of what the residence halls will be like with tours.

Parents will also be as busy as their children during the summer program, Taber said. They will be briefed by various university staff members on academic regulation, general education requirements, special academic services and student personal services.

any students at Eastern enjoy soaking up the sun when they are not in classes. On another hot day afternoon at Archery Hill, these Eastern women were no exception as they talked about school and conversed with passing Panther basketball campers while they were sunbathing.

Hall regulations

Campers should be aware of the following policies and regulations of the residence halls.

- 1) Alcohol is not allowed in conference housing.
- 2) Windows are to be kept closed because of the air-conditioning.
- 3) Do not throw things or yell out windows.
- 4) Members of the opposite sex are off-limits in a resident's room or on their floor. Entertain guests in the main lounge.
- 5) Keep doors locked at all times. (The university is not responsible for stolen articles).
- 6) No playing on or misusing elevators, otherwise, they will be turned off.
- 7) Courteous conduct is expected from all campers.
- 8) Curfew hours (11 p.m.) are enforced for all "Youth Camps."

Guests will be requested to leave a residence hall if they:

- Violate one or any of the above policies
 - Disturb others
 - Damage university property
 - Become a risk to themselves and to others
- Parents/guardians will be notified in these instances.

visiting parents get resident hall guidelines

Check-In All guests may check in and obtain a key and linen at the main desk located in the residence hall which they are assigned. Rooms will be ready after 1 p.m. on the scheduled day of arrival.

Check-Out Noon Due to the great demand for residence hall accommodations during the summer months, the housing office requests that guests plan to check out of their rooms by noon. The rooms in the residence halls are used on a rotating basis throughout the summer, so check-out time allows cleaning staff time to clean the rooms before the next party arrive. If a person has a scheduling conflict, they should consult with the hall counselor at the main desk of the residence hall.

Meal Tickets If a person has pre-ordered meal tickets through the mail or by telephone, they should be in an envelope containing that person's room key. If meal tickets have not been purchased, but a person has decided they would like to do so, meal tickets are available at the main desk of the residence hall.

If breakfast meal tickets are desired, it will be necessary to purchase them on arrival night, because the residence hall main desk will not open until 8:30 a.m. Breakfast is scheduled for 8 a.m., before the first pre-enrollment meeting begins at 8 a.m.

Also, lunch tickets need to be purchased before noon of the pre-enrollment day. The residence hall main desk is closed between noon and 1 p.m.

Meal Ticket Refunds If meal tickets have already been ordered and they are not used, leave them at the main desk of the residence hall, and the money will be refunded at a later date. It is not possible to refund cash. A person requesting a refund should have their correct name and address attached to the meal tickets they want refunded.

Room Refunds If for some reason, a person does not use the room reservations previously requested, inform the hall counselor. Again, it is not possible to refund cash.

Linens/Keys When checking out of the residence hall (at noon), people should bring their linen and key to the check-out area and be sure a staff member receives their linen and key so additional charges will not be assessed.

Questions? Anyone who has additional questions should consult one of Eastern's staff members.

What to do with linen

Each room will be furnished with one linen per bed unless notified differently by the Linen Coordinator.

Each room will be furnished with one bed linen per bed.

Each person, upon checking into a residence hall will be required to complete a "Check-Out Return" card.

Each person will be required to complete the "Side of Linen Card" when returning linens to desk at completion of camp.

Each person will be assessed for the cost of:

- $4.50 each
- case 1.25 each
- towels 2.00 each
- linens 1.75 each
- beds 12.00 each
- 5.00 each

Linens are available from the desk (at an amount per hall) for persons who do not have one.

There are a few alarm clocks available for use during orientation.

Taxpayer bill targets IRS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veteran employees of the Internal Revenue Service told the Senate Monday that their bosses routinely ignore orders from Washington and base promotions on the number of property seizures from delinquent taxpayers.

"Seizure Fever—Catch It" reads a sign on the door of an office in the Los Angeles District, said John Pepping, a revenue officer assigned to that district. Some offices offer extra time off to those who have the most seizures, he said.

Five IRS revenue officers with 100 years' total service, whose chief job is collecting delinquent taxes, testified before the Senate Finance subcommittee that oversees the IRS. The panel is considering a "taxpayers' bill of rights" whose provisions include one making it illegal for the agency to use property seizures and revenue collections as a basis for promoting employees.

The bill has 28 sponsors in the Senate and more than 70 in the House. Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., chairman of the subcommittee, said the fear of the IRS is so great—even in Congress—that some senators have declined to sign the legislation,

Dancer Fred Astaire dead at 88

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fred Astaire, who defined Hollywood elegance for 30 years dancing in tip hat and tails with Ginger Rogers and other stars, died of pneumonia Monday in his wife's arms. He was 88.

Astaire died at Century City Hospital at 4:25 a.m., his wife, Robyn, tearfully told a jammed news conference.

"I just got in bed with him and put my arms around him and he died in my arms, and that's the way he wanted it," said Mrs. Astaire, the former racehorse jockey Robyn Smith, whom he married in 1980. "He died holding onto me."

He had been admitted June 12 with a cold that worsened to pneumonia.

President Reagan hailed Astaire as "an American legend."

"Fred was, in every sense of the word, a superstar." Reagan said in Melbourne, Fla. "...the ultimate dancer the dancer who made it all look so easy."

The mandate of the National Park Service is the preservation of "Vignettes of Primitive America." We now know the primeval landscape was constantly changing owing to short- and long-term shifts in climate, and periodic natural disturbances such as fire. How can we know what primitive America was like and what roles should natural disturbance play in management strategies?

Moreland comes through in 9th; Cubs top Pirates

CHICAGO (AP)—Keith Moreland hit a two-run homer with none out in the bottom of the ninth Monday to lift the Chicago Cubs to a 3-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Leon Durham began the ninth with a single off Rick Reuschel, 5-4, and Moreland followed with his 12th homer of the year, a shot into the left-field bleachers.

Moreland now has nine home runs and 28 RBIs in his last 10 games.

Reuschel, who allowed 10 hits, walked one and struck out four for his league-leading fifth complete game, had been given a 2-1 in the eighth inning when Andy Van Slyke hit a two-out, two-run homer off Jamie Moyer, 8-4.

Moyer pitched an eight-hitter, striking out three and walking four, for his first complete game since last August 16 and the first by a Cubs' pitcher since Steve Trout beat Montreal 7-1 on April 26. It was only the fourth complete game by a Chicago pitcher this season.

The Pirates trailed 1-0 with two out in the eighth when Mike Diaz drew a walk and Van Slyke followed with his ninth homer of the season, a shot into the centerfield bleachers.

She thought she had a legitimate point to make. But as she sat and pondered the issue of nuclear disarmament, she wondered: How do I get my fellow students to sit up and take notice? How do I get my idea across so that others are aware? After all, most of her peers would rather party at the bars than get involved in anything, no matter how important. And she knew it. Then, slowly, like the dawning of a new day after one of those endless nights of passion, she had the answer. It was so simple, it almost embarrassed her when she thought of it. But she plunged right ahead, fearing no one and ready to take on the world. She wrote a letter to the editor of The Daily Eastern News. And she got results.

Rains halt action at Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Rain washed out the opening day of Wimbledon Monday for only the fourth time in the tournament's 101-year history, and the head of the All England Club said the world's most prestigious grass court tennis event may be shifted to later dates in hopes of better weather.

The rainout meant that West Germany's Boris Becker will have to wait one more day to begin the defense of his men's singles title against Karel Novacek of Czechoslovakia as Monday's play was rescheduled for Tuesday.

The defending women's champion, Martina Navratilova, now won't see action till Wednesday when she will play Germany's Claudia Porwick.

In another development, Hana Mandlikova of Czechoslovakia, the women's fourth seed, and reigning Australian Open champion, dropped out with an injured foot.

R.E.H. "Buzzer" Handingham, the Wimbledon chairman, said that one of the rainiest June's in recent history has convinced him that a delay of one week in the tournament's start should at least be considered.

"When it is as bad as it has practically been throughout June, it is very hard on the players, who only have two weeks between the French Open in Paris on clay courts, and the championships on grass at Wimbledon," Handingham said.

Chris Borrhinge, executive director of Wimbledon, said the players had not officially requested a later date.

After play was called, the day long rain stopped, and blue skies floated over the All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club.

Barford wins triathlon meet

By LEE DIEKEMPER
Sports editor

Most couples who plan to marry usually have something in common. At least when Charleston natives Paul Barford and Carol Chapman tie the knot, they'll have at least one thing in common. Winning triathlons together.

Barford and Chapman won the men's and women's divisions, respectively, of the third annual Eastern Illinois Triathlon held this past Saturday morning at Lake Charleston. The couple now have won their respective divisions for the third straight year.

The triathlon consisted of a half mile swim, followed by a twenty three mile bike race, and then the contestant must complete a five mile run.

Barford finished the event in 1 hour, 35 minutes, 46 seconds. The time beat the old record, held by Barford, of 1:38:20. Chapman's time, 1:51:10 was eleventh overall in the race. Chapman outdistanced her nearest woman foe by just over nine minutes. Barford beat his nearest contender, Erik Nordtvedt, also of Charleston, by two minutes and six seconds.

Barford however wasn't the leader throughout the race, he was nineteen seconds behind John Hearne of Dalton when Barford stepped out of the lake.

But Barford made up for his lost time on the bike race, and never looked back.

Like her fiance, Chapman too was behind when she left the waters of Lake Charleston. She was 35 seconds behind Martha Haugh of Paris, Ill. But like Barford, Chapman made up for lost time in the water by flying past her opposition on wheels.

Former University of Kansas, and Olney Central basketball player, Roger Morningstar, finished with a time of 1:58:43, 22nd overall.

Rob Carter, IHSA Class A Champ in the 800 meter run finished in 2:13:10, 83rd overall.

Barford and Chapman received $50 for their victories.

Eastern ready for football Cardinals' invasion

(Editor's note: This is the first in a two-part series dealing with issues regarding Eastern's athletic department administration and its current issues).

By LEE DIEKEMPER
Sports editor

In a matter of weeks, the campus and athletic facilities of Eastern will become the focal point for National Football League fans and media as the St. Louis Cardinals will take over Stevenson Tower for their 1987 training camp.

According to Eastern Athletic Director R.C. Johnson, Eastern is ready for the invasion, July 17.

Johnson noted that the fields that the Cardinals use for their practice facilities are probably in the best shape they have ever been in," said Johnson. "John Collins and Vic Robeson (Physical Plant Director) have done a magnificent job in getting the fields in top shape" Johnson said.

The condition of O'Brien field became a point of conversation among the Eastern football team, and in particular, former Eastern head football coach Al Molde.

Molde felt that the extra use of O'Brien field by the Cardinals led to the deterioration of the playing surface, especially late in the season. Johnson hinted that the issue was overplayed.

"I felt that the field was in satisfactory condition. But then again, I'm not the coach," said Johnson. "Coaches want everything to be perfect," Johnson chuckled.

Johnson also stated that if deterioration of the O'Brien playing surface could be directly linked to the Cardinals, having the Cardinals use another portion of the athletic facilities at Eastern would not solve the problem.

"The Cardinals use the soccer field almost as much as they use O'Brien. If the Cardinals were to use the soccer field exclusively, what would the soccer coach say?" Johnson said.

Johnson said that the Cardinals seem to be very pleased with the facilities that Eastern offers them.

"The main thing that the Cardinals like about Eastern is that everything is close by. All the facilities that they use for practices are within a short walking distance of Stevenson,"

Johnson said. Johnson also noted that aside from their front office duties, the Cardinals' operations are transferred from St. Louis to the friendly confines of Stevenson Tower.

"The training camp for the Cardinals here is just far enough away from St. Louis that they aren't swamped by fans all the time, and close enough to St. Louis to get back and forth to their home offices without taking the entire day. That is another important factor in their use of our facilities," Johnson said.

But the Cardinals will not spend their entire training camp here at Eastern. The Cardinals will finish their camp at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"That's not because they are displeased at us (Eastern) for any reason," said Johnson. "The Cardinals will leave on August 21. That just happens to be when the fall semester begins. If the fall semester begins later, the Cardinals would stay here later," Johnson said.

Johnson also noted that this will be the eighth year in a row that the Cardinals will hold their training camp at Eastern.

"Every time a television station or newspaper does a story about the Cardinals this summer, that dateline—Charleston, Ill.—appears. That's national publicity for us," said Johnson. "We're very proud that the football Cardinals think that highly of our facilities to use them for the eighth straight year."

The Cardinals sign an annual contract with Eastern for use of the facilities, but Johnson said, "We'd like to sign them for ten years." Johnson also noted that Eastern President Stanley Rives has the final say on the contract with Eastern, but Johnson said that Rives is very pleased to have the Cardinals' training camp here.

The Cardinals pay Eastern what Johnson called "not a large sum" of money to Eastern for use of the facilities. Johnson wouldn't quote the dollar amount that Eastern receives because he stated that the NFL has a policy of not making public the cost of using university facilities so they can avoid a "bidding war" by other universities so that they can host an NFL training camp.

San Antonio picks Robinson in NBA draft Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—David Robinson and Tyrone Bogues, two very talented basketball players who were considered risks by many National Basketball Association officials, were nonetheless picked in the first round of Monday's NBA draft.

The 7-1 Robinson as expected, was the number one pick in yesterday's draft by the San Antonio Spurs despite his liabilities of a two year naval commitment and uncertainty about how long the Spurs will have to wait for his services, and when they can sign him.

The Washington Bullets, with the 12th pick, also ignored an obvious liability when they drafted Bogues, a 5-3 guard from Wake Forest, will become the smallest player in the NBA. He will join a team that already has the tallest player in the league, 7-7 center Manute Bol.

"Having Manute there to back me up will take a lot of pressure off me," Bogues said. "It's an honor going in the first round. I think I turned a few heads in the (postseason) camps I played in. I guess somebody believed in me."
