WARDS AND

T. C. HIGH IN TWIN VICTORY

CARBONDALE HUSTLES TO UPSET LAZTIZMEN

T. C. HIGH READY FOR TOURNAMENT

E. I. fans were treated to a twin victory, as per predictions, Wednesday evening when both of the teams chalked up wins in hard-fought battles. Coach Spooner's T. C. High speedsters walloped the Westfield H. S. bunch in the curtain-raiser, and the varsity handed the team from Shorefield College the short end of a 19-13 score. This was the final home appearance of the season for T. C. High, and the fans were reluctant to see the Spooner permanent chasers leave the floor at the close of hostilities. The Laztizmenn will make their farewell bow next Wednesday evening when they will endeavor to take the game in a series of three from the Sparks' Business College aggregation.

T. C. HIGH 24, WESTFIELD 16

The Westfield players gave the locals a real tussle, presenting a more formidable front than they did in the Westfield meeting three weeks ago. The Clark county lads are a beefy outfit, giving more of the appearance of a college team than of a high school organization. But Coach Spooner's scrappy "chickadees" won four successive wins to their credit, were not to be denied the addition of another victory to their long list of triumphs this season. Playing their last game of the year in the south side gym, the best high school team that has ever represented E. I. gave its supporters a pleasing and clean-cut victory to entice over until the tournament when additional wins await Captain Stone & Co. if they continue to show the pep that has characterized their work of late.

There was plenty of activity right from the jump in Wednesday evening's game, but no scoring until 4 1/2 minutes after the opening whistle when Stevens dropped in a free throw from an Osborn look. The visitors' lead was short-lived, however, as Gannaway came to life shortly afterward with a beauty ringer. This was a favorable omen for the sterling T. C. High running guard has a habit of scoring up the first basket in the games that the future teachers win. Redman came through with a Westfield basket before the first quarter ended with the locals trailing, 3 to 2.

Right off the reel in the second quarter the T. C. High battlers came back with a rush that threatened to turn the game into a farce. Hall broke loose with a couple of ringers and Gannaway added another in dizzy succession, and the visitors' tongues were hanging out. Then Ralston registered the only points credited to Westfield in this half when he dropped in a basket. At this juncture the T. C. High leading, 8 to 0, Woodburn was substituted for Osborn who had not been coming even close to hitting the basket. Hall and Woodburn chipped in with a field goal apiece, and the visitors' score team's lead to 12 to 5 by the half-time intermission.

In the third quarter the visitors racked up seven counters while Captain Ralston's crew scored on a single basket and a pair of free throws. The outstanding feature of this period was a long distance heave by William Prentice Stone, commanding chief of the T. C. High cohorts, who demonstrated conclusively to his scores of ardent admirers that his basket in the Windsor game was no fluke.

Soon after the final quarter began, the visitors snared a couple of rapid fire baskets, creeping up within six points of the Spooner team. The fans wondered if this final period would be a duplicate of the Windsor game when the visiting team (T. C. High in this case) came from behind in a gallant finish that brought victory. Certainly what could be more disappointing than for Westfield to take a spurt and win this last game of the season right when the local heroes seemed to have it sewed up? But Ruel Hall stood firm, the invaders' tongues were still realizing of victory, for the crack local star sank in a hair-raiser from the middle of the floor, and soon afterwards followed with his seventh and final basket of the game. This was the last of the season in the south side gym. The locals ceased up a bit in this quarter when several subs were given a chance to share in the triumph. In this period Westfield outscored the home team, but Hall's two baskets in the middle of the session put the game on ice for the Spooner hustlers. Stone and Hall were the only T. C. High players to score in the entire game. Both stood in their respective strong points—Stone on the defense and Hall on the attack. Stevens played his usual steady game, and proved ever dependable, but alert and dependable in team play and on the defensive. Redman was high point man for Westfield, and the entire team put up a creditable exhibition. J. Parker experienced tough luck with his long shots and missed the easiest chance of the game when he "blew" a made-to-order set-up. So long, T. C. High, and may you shine in the tournament next week. You will doubtless be the greater part of the season! Summary:

LANTZMEN 19, SHURTLEFF 13

After losing eight games in a row, several of them by only one or two points, the Lantzmen broke into the winning column again by taking Shurtleff's measure in a dull and uninteresting exhibition. The work of the two teams seemed slow and heavy-footed in contrast with the snap and ginger shown in the high school game. The shooting by the two college quintets was terrible. The good points of shots, but their percentage of hits was woefully weak. Shurtleff garnered only 6 baskets out of 64 trials, and the Lantzmen scored only slightly better with 9 baskets from 73 shots.

The game started very slowly and the score at the end of 15 minutes of play was more like a baseball score than a basketball tally. At this stage of the game the visitors led 2 to 2, and the crowd had seen more wild shooting than it ordinarily witnesses in an entire contest. Towles put E. I. out in front with a basket, and Blodgett followed with a half ball game with a ringer for Shurtleff. Then with only five minutes remaining in the first half Towles cut loose with a long shot and followed with an E. I. basket. Blodgett followed, giving the Teachers a 6-2 lead. Shurtleff took time out and then came back strong with a pair of trans-continental heaves by Johnson, and a basket by the unknown guards that evened up matters again. Shortly before the half ended Greathouse, who had been shooting a plenty but hitting nothing, got the crowd like a corking aerial hoist that gave the locals a two point lead at half time.

In the second period the Lantzmen pulled away slowly but surely from their opponents. The E. I. mentor shifted his lineup in this session, sending in Fawley and Gilbert to replace Osborn and Brown who were having more than their share of trouble. The new combination worked better than the one that started. Fawley contributed a timely basket when the invaders were still close enough to be extremely dangerous, and after the game was put on ice Gilbert cut loose with a long shot for good measure. Gilly takes into the game the old pep and fighting spirit that the crowd likes to see manifested, so that his entrance into the picture is always welcomed by the fans.

An account of this game would be far from complete without devoting a few lines to the crowd. The E. I. mentor entered the Hall of Fame to register along with those other two heroes who have reaped wholesale destruction in the enemy's camp by heaving their stones. The crowd was not expected to even hit the inside of the gym. So page William Prentice Stone, Thomas Mack Gilbert, and John Harold Snyder for E. I. heroes. Maybe some day our coaches will wake up and recognize the unprecedented strength that could be embodied in an E. I. all-star team that would be able to make monkeys of the opposition that dared to come along. Stove Ruel Hall, Forrest Greathouse, Clayton Towles et al, in the background and let Stone, Gilbert, and Snyder take up the guard and center positions. With those scoring demerits on the attacking end of the machine, it would not make much difference who scamped around at the guarding job. Roy Stover and Harry Ekins could handle the latter assignment with Bill

Mac, and Team on hand to rack up the baskets.

Coming back to look at Wednesday evening's exhibition. It was a meeting between two teams that have experienced disappointing seasons, and the quintet that has approached nearer to a creditable record was victorious just as it was when the teams met earlier in the season. Alton The Baptists were swamped by Sparks, 48 to 28, at Shelbyville Tuesday evening, and have come out second best in their games so often this winter that they will doubtless welcome the end of the schedule. The Lantzmen are in much the same mental depression. They have a good catch to trim Sparks Wednesday evening, and if they succeed they will wind up the season in a blaze of glory that will erase the sting of several unhappy defeats. But win or lose Saturday night, there is no doubt that the Teachers will be a good find to a sport that has contrasted sadly with the successes of the football campaign.

For the losers Captain Reid played a hard game at back guard, and Johnson got in the limelight with his two impossible shots from the middle of the floor. Rice, the lengthy right forward, was helpless, and his running mate Riehl was held to a lone basket. A surface glance at the summary would indicate that the E. I. guards had played stellar ball. The fact is that they were not playing very capably, but it must be remembered that the visitors shot 64 times for the basket. Greathouse put up his usual catch and fight for the Lantzmen. His eye for the basket was practically nil, but he gave his very best every inch of the way and deserves credit for it. Snyder gave a good account of himself, and was, although less effective than usual, in scoring a better free game than he has done on some past occasions. Summary:

STUDENT COUNCIL IN SHORT SESSION

The Student Council met in a short session Tuesday noon, at which time three matters were brought before the body for consideration. The committee that had been appointed some weeks ago to investigate prices for E. I. business stickers for the students to paste on their traveling bags and suit cases reported that the stickers could not be obtained through local firms. The committee was then instructed to obtain prices from major order firms and report the results to the council. It is hoped that the stickers may be obtained sometime during the spring term, and the students are expected to take pardonable pride in advertising their school by this means.

It was reported Tuesday morning that at least two petitions had been put in circulation, asking that the school meet in regular session on Washington's Birthday, taking its holiday instead at the term-end, thus enabling the non-resident students to catch a train at home. Rumor had it that the petitions signed by large numbers of students would be presented to the Student Council for its approval, and if sanctioned by the council they were to be handed to Mr. Lord. But the petitions died a natural death and never reached the council, thus ending the movement before it got to the faculty.

The question of the advisability of reducing the number of Wednesday morning class meetings from one in every two weeks to one in every four weeks was also discussed at the meeting. The question was referred to the Student Council for its consideration, and the council has the matter shelved until it can be presented to the faculty at a regular meeting of the weekly meetings Wednesday morning of this week. The council wishes to get the classes' reaction to the suggestion before framing a judgment to forward to the faculty. There seems to be sound arguments on both sides of this question.

Friday evening's game at Carbondale was the same old story, a repetition of many past reverses of an unfortunate season. Trailing at the end of the first half, 10 to 11, the Lantzmen opened up the throttle wide in the second stanza, scoring six points while shutting out the Egyptians and going into the lead, 17 to 16. Then with only four minutes left to play, Valentine and Chance rang up baskets and the latter sandwiched in a free throw that gave the home team the honors of the day by a 21-17 score.

Just as the Lantzmen have been outclassed in many another game on their own floor this season, only to go away from home and give their opponents the benefit of their lives, so did the E. I. players surprise the N. U. Friday evening. After being scalped by the Egyptians, 20 to 21, in Charleston three weeks earlier, the Lantzmen were not content with a close at Carbondale, but as they have proved in several other basketball games and throughout the football season that they are more dangerous on the road than at home, so did they demonstrate Friday evening their greater power away from home. This was either team's greatest performance of the season, so did the men of McAndrew, who were able to cop by so narrow a margin as four points.

Towles and Greathouse scored all of the Lantzmen's points, although there was a question in the minds of the scorers whether or not Osborn made one of the baskets credited to Greathouse. The ball was tipped in the air, and the play was allowed to proceed and the E. I. captain was given the benefit of the doubt. Snyder and Brown played bang-up ball at the guard positions, and held the visitors' wholesale attack under the hoop, and it was very hard to determine what player was responsible for the goal. Instead of stopping the game to verify the scorer's record, the play was allowed to proceed and the E. I. captain was given the benefit of the doubt. Instead of stopping the game to verify the scorer's record, the play was allowed to proceed and the E. I. captain was given the benefit of the doubt.

Valentine, the lanky Carbondale center, started the game as well as he has done in the Charleston meeting. Most of his shots were "sleepers" from the middle of the floor. The S. N. U. team is perhaps the best balanced aggregation that the Lantzmen have stacked up against this season. Brooks and Chance are forwards of better than average ability, while Captain Allen and Carter are a pair of unusually dependable guards. The team is not brilliant, but possesses a finish and a machine-like precision that is hard to beat. The referee that was expected to handle the game was not up to the task, and he acted as officials, and from all accounts they got along as well as a neutral referee could have done. Too bad, yet the Teachers' win up the season with a convincing victory over Sparks Wednesday evening.

- Westfield won the Clark County tournament by defeating Casey Wednesday. Casey had eliminated Marshall by a one point victory. The improvement in the Marshall team was marked during the past two weeks. Casey's record was good for it to win the tournament at Paris. So, have a care, T. C. High. Don't rate Marshall as fish, ye Spooner warriors! Note this sentence from the center of the Marshall H. S. paper:—"Our chances to win the tournament are good."

The much discussed high school district tournament will open with bang Thursday evening when the eyes of all basketball fandom in these parts will turn to Paris, the scene of the big annual event. Sixteen high schools have entered teams, and these are divided into two divisions. The major or Class A group includes the larger schools—Casey, Arcola, Charleston, High Paris, T. C. High, Marshall, Martinsville, and Oakland. The following teams are entered in the minor or Class B group—Hindsboro, Ashmore, Westfield, Newman, Chrisman, Kansas, Metcalf, and Hume.

Great interest centered about the drawings that determined the schedule. The T. C. High speedsters were fortunate in drawing two teams for their opening games that ought to fall before Stone & Co. according to the dope. Coach Spooner's hustling outfit makes its first appearance at 10 o'clock Friday morning when it stacks up against the Marshall team. The latter has experienced a disappointing season full of reversals and will be well before they are irresistible T. C. High attacks and stonewall defense.

Assuming that Marshall will be handily disposed of, T. C. High will back up the team in the seventh game at 8 o'clock Friday night. As Oakland is the favorite in its game with Martinsville, the future Teachers expect to meet Oakland in their second appearance. Oakland trimmed T. C. High early in the season when the latter was in the midst of its painful slump, but the Spooner team is itching for the chance to redeem itself and even up matters with its northern neighbors.

If the locals win their second game they will hook up in the semi-finals with either Chrisman, Kansas, Metcalf, or Hume Saturday afternoon. The advance dope has Kansas and Hume figured out as the pick of these four teams, but the team must fight for third place in the first game of the final session. A victory in the semi-finals would entitle the Spooner warriors to the honor of playing for the championship in the grand finale Saturday night.

Each contesting team is eliminated from the running as soon as it loses a game, until the teams when the losers in the semi-final battle for third place. The other local team—C. H. S.—is billed to meet a worthy foe, Paris, in what promises to be a close contest. The team that lost the series Thursday night, the Asbury crew can take Paris' measure in its first game, it will have smooth sailing straight through to the finals, and the prospect of a championship is not dangerous. Only a miracle could prevent the winner of the Charleston-Paris game from surviving the rest of the route to the final contest.

The schedule follows:

- Thursday Night
- (1) 7:00—Arcola vs. Casey.
- (2) 8:00—Ashmore vs. Hindsboro.
- (3) 9:00—Charleston vs. Paris.
- Friday Afternoon
- (4) 9:00—Newman vs. Westfield.
- (5) 10:00—Marshall vs. T. C. High.
- (6) 11:00—Chrisman vs. Kansas.
- Saturday Afternoon
- (7) 2:00—Martinsville vs. Oakland.
- (8) 3:00—Hume vs. Metcalf.
- (9) 4:00—Winners of games 1 and 3.

Friday Night

- (10) 7:00—Winners of games 4 and 5.
- (11) 8:00—Winners of games 6 and 7.
- (12) 9:00—Winners of games 8 and 9.
- (13) 2:00—Winners of games 9 and 10.
- (14) 3:00—Winners of games 11 and 12.

Saturday Night (Finals)

- (15) 7:30—Losers of games 13 and 14 (for third place).
 - (16) 8:30—Winners of games 13 and 14 (for the championship).
- The prices announced for the tournament are: season tickets with reserved seats, $2.50; single admission except last session 50 cents, last session 75 cents.
- Charleston High is making plans to take over a large delegation of spectators to the team in its titanic job of trimming Paris Thursday night. It is probable that T. C. High will be supported by a large number of local spectators throughout the tournament. The ideal termination, from the Charleston viewpoint, would be the final game played between C. H. S. and T. C. High. E. I. is backing the team to the limit, and the local team win, and here's hoping that T. C. High proves its right to that honor!

TEACHERS COLLEGE NEWS PLATFORM FOR THIS WEEK
T. C. High, bring home that district championship!
Raise the athletic fee to $1.50 NOW.

EDITORIALS

EVENTUALLY—WHY NOT NOW?
The announcement was made at chapel Wednesday morning that the compulsory athletic fee would be raised next term from $1.00 to $1.50. A neutralizing announcement was read from the platform Saturday morning in Mr. Lant's absence, stating that the increased fee would not become effective before next fall and possibly not then.

To those who have worked hard to restore athletics at E. I. to its pre-war level, this announcement Saturday morning was most disconcerting. Yes, it was more than disconcerting—it was staggering. A reasonable general does not hesitate to order a new move in March that he had not expected to make until September if he recognizes that an emergency warrant has been made in March. In like fashion, those at E. I. who have the interest of athletics at heart are distressed at the thought of further procrastination in regard to increasing the athletic fee.

THE NEWS will back the E. I. teams every inch of the way. It has taken some of the players quite a while to realize this fact. But it seems safe to say that by this time every athlete at E. I. realizes that THE NEWS is perhaps his staunchest supporter in this school. THE NEWS will fight as long as its present staff is at the helm for more recognition for athletics at E. I. Probably not one person out of ten knows the financial status of our athletic association. It is hard to imagine how any red-blooded E. I. student or teacher could oppose this proposed increase fee if he is familiar with the facts in the case. And it is the aim of this article to call attention to some of these facts that are not generally known.

When the one dollar per term fee was introduced here, football was the only sport on the E. I. calendar. Strenuous efforts were made to restore athletics to a respectable basis, and it has taken several years to build up even mediocre teams again. Surely the work of reconstruction is slow. And it has been painfully slow at E. I. Since the one dollar fee was established, basketball and baseball have been added and an attempt has been made to make a showing in track. And still the athletic fee has remained at one dollar per head. Our teams have been comparatively weak until this year, when the football heroes ended the season without a E. I. feat. The varsity basketball quintet gave promise of traveling at a 50-50 pace, but has floundered partly because of hard luck and partly because of a divided house. But the team is now weakening and is an improvement over last year's combination. It ought to give a satisfactory account of itself next year. And the T. C. High quintet has been the pride of the old school this winter.

People generally wondered why the football schedule was finished and the team disbanded last fall nearly three weeks before the season closed elsewhere. The school had a winner, and the fans were clamoring for at least one more chance to see it in action. But the treasury was bone dry, and it had been possible to finish the scheduled schedule only by borrowing $226 from the field meet sinking fund. As pointed out once before in these columns the heavy basketball schedule each winter has enabled our students to see the games at six cents per game. Another school paper gave publicity to this startling fact recently, and wondered how we did it. The answer is that we can't do it and no other school can do it, either.

Seaman's Red Cross Drug Store is an old faithful advertiser in THE NEWS. The slogan of this store is, "It's good we have it." Seaman's solicits the E. I. patronage, and appreciates favors from the big State school.

The athletic association indebtedness will be heavy at the close of this term. A big printing bill will be presented for payment, and the T. C. High team must be sent to the tournament. If the athletic fee remains at one dollar next term, the receipts will be reduced to almost nothing by the time the indebtedness is paid and the new baseball equipment paid for. Then where is the money to finance the season and to send a track team to the State meet? The gate receipts will not pay for the officials and advertising, not to mention the heavy expenses of bringing good teams to Charleston.

Coach Lantz is confronted with the prospect of having the best baseball team that has represented E. I. since the war. Its success seems assured, and the team gives promise of winning scarcely less distinction for the school than that gained by the gridiron heroes last fall. But the E. I. mentor will be obliged to stop short of scheduling of games if the fee is not raised. Here is the situation: if loyal E. I. supporters are content to see their team play games with Ashmore, Oakland, and Mattoon, let the fee remain one dollar. Perhaps the fee remains one dollar, but Sparks or even Millikin at that rate. But certainly we can not hope to get teams here from any greater distance than Decatur. On the other hand, if loyal E. I. supporters want to see Carbondale, Illinois College, Shurtleff, and Bradley teams brought to Charleston, raise the fee to $1.50 and their wish will be gratified.

Mr. Lantz estimates that the expenses of next year's football season will reach $900, which is nearly $400 more than student fees at one dollar will meet. The need of more funds is immediate. Hence the S. O. S. call if athletics are to go forward instead of backward. Which way are we headed? Is it any wonder that those who have professed confidence in the future of athletics at E. I. are concerned over the issue? Athletic dues here are so cheap that they are insignificant in comparison with those at our sister schools. Shall we be a stumbling block to our athletics, our coach, and our sport lovers, now that the long awaited material for winning teams is in school? Shall we throw overboard the prospects for a good baseball team, and spend the spring months plucking dandelions and chasing butterflies? That's what will happen if the athletic dues remain at one dollar.

The Student Council advocates raising the fee to $1.50 next term. Mr. Lord approved the suggestion. Now, where is the hitch? THE NEWS applauds the proposed increase and deplores the very mention of remaining at a standstill. Eventually—why not now?

TESTS
Tests are the forecast for the next several days. Whole troops of them are speeding down upon poor desolate students, who waking or sleeping are haunted by thoughts of the impending ordeal. In fancy one can hear the harsh malevolent laughter of some particularly heartless test as its victims writhe in an-gush of mind trying to unravel out the intricacies of its fiendish complexities.

One need not be surprised to pass students having a vacant look in their eyes, and catch the dull, expressionless mutter of the provisions of the "Bill of Rights," or the description of the "Solomonic." Even the walks to and from school are fraught with much mental labor; strange geometrical figures can be traced in the crossing of electric wires, and even shadows have angles. Some cannot take a drink of water without being reminded that they are drinking R. O. D. Others will not be able to relish their food for trying to analyze it into fats, proteins, and carbohydrates, and determining the amount of tissues it will build up. Then there is the awful responsibility of computing the calories not to mention such perplexing things as vitamins.

But there are two sides of the story. Students have a way to write the notes of teachers have to write the notes, and that sometimes is a very discouraging task.

R. F. G.'S ENTERTAIN
Dorothea Jones and Sarilda Temple were guests of honor at a George Washington dinner party given by the R. F. G.'s Thursday evening. The color scheme of red and white was carried out in the table decorations and the two large birthday cakes. Red balloons were given as favors. Those present besides the honored guests were Marjorie and Emily Fox, Esther Lea, Ruth Champion, Sylvia Ashworth, Virginia Shield, Gertrude and Louise Sharkey, Velma Reins, Virginia Rose Alexander, Sara Setts, Lou Moore, Francis Craig, Neva Gish, Catherine Lytle, Louise Means, Margaret Popham, and Louise King.

NINTH GRADE BOYS HOSTS TO THE GIRLS
On Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock the boys of the ninth grade entertained the girls with a George Washington party. The room was appropriately decorated in red and white. After a delightful evening spent in playing games and dancing, refreshments of atrick ice cream and coconut wafers were served. Miss Ragan was chaperon.

DINNER-BRIDGE
Wednesday evening Miss Weller and Miss Johnson entertained a number of their friends with a delicious four course dinner at the Lawes Hotel followed by a bridge party at their apartments on Fourth Street. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Popham, Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Arthur Craig, Mrs. Spooner, Miss Ellen Ford, Miss Molyneux, Miss Rooke, and the hostesses.

BRIDGE PARTY
Monday afternoon and evening Miss Rooke, Miss Fuller, and Miss Woodfill entertained 100 of their friends at bridge, 52 people being present at the afternoon party and 48 in the evening. The color scheme of green and white was carried out in the dainty refreshments of fruit salad, creamed chicken, hot rolls, mint ice cake and coffee. Souvenirs of candy corsages were given to each guest.

B. OF F.'S ENTERTAINED
Tuesday night Helen Strockbine entertained the B. of F.'s with a spread of delicious dainties. The girls enjoying the repast were Hazel Montgomery, Margaret Thompson, Irene Garrison, Thelma Franklin, Ruth Ingrar, Crystal Abraham, Dorothy Kelly, Maurine Cisne, Freda Hunt (a new member), and Helen Stro kbine.

About 30 people attended the dance in the gymnasium Saturday night, which was chaperoned by Miss McKinney and Miss Molyneux. Music was furnished by Freda Tipsword, William Armstrong and Glenn Moore.

T. C. HIGH GRABS ANOTHER VICTORY

Playing minus the services of their starting captain, the T. C. High pentan-chasers rode roughshod through the Neoga team on the latter's floor Saturday night for their sixth consecutive win. The score at the end of the first half was 9 to 0 in favor of Coach Spooner's thinciders, but in the second session a young forward that answered to the name of Higler was shoved into the fray and he did a thing other than reach up three baskets which added to a ring by Schneiderjohn gave the home team eight points—the same number that the victors scored in that period.

The referee for the game was delayed enroute, and Wade Steel of the Teachers College was assigned to the job, which he handled like a veteran official. The score at the end is handicapped this year, as it practices and plays its games in a garage with three posts down the center of the floor. The center circle is all cast-iron with the free throw circles, thus making an unbalanced court. The Neoga high school building was destroyed by fire some time ago, so that the team has had to go along with temporary quarters since that time.

It is expected that Captain Stoebe will return to the T. C. High lineup by the time for the ball ring for the tournament. The Neoga game ended the schedule for Coach Spooner's hunters until the tournament. The team's record is 11 victories and 3 defeats for a .788 percentage. If that is not of championship caliber, it surely is close akin to it. Summary of the Neoga game:

Referee: Steel (Teachers College.)

The Neoga team showed the best of sportsmanship, just as it has always done in games with T. C. High during the past two years. The losers are gentlemen both on and off the floor, and are entitled to the respect and admiration of the fans whether they win or lose.

WARBLER MAKING PLEASES HEADWAY

A committee from the '23 Warbler staff met Thursday morning for the purpose of preparing letters to alumni and former students that are considered probable purchasers of the annual. The staff is progressing nicely in the work of collecting and organizing the various features of the publication. Today was the time limit set by the Warbler management for individual photograph sittings by the members of the three graduating classes. If it proves necessary, the time will be extended another week, but such an extension would be very distasteful to the staff. The Jones Studio is doing the photography work for the annual, and has reserved Mondays during recent weeks for E. I. sittings.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE PROBABLE

There has been considerable talk during the past week of having a period of spring football practice after the close of the basketball season. It is improbable that the weather will justify the beginning of baseball practice sooner than the middle of March and perhaps not that early. The intervening time could profitably be spent by the pigskin chasers in lining up the material for another championship eleven under Captain-elect Creamer next fall. The larger colleges and many of the secondary schools have spring football workouts, so why not introduce it at E. I.?

Wynemah Rardin '22 visited school Wednesday. Miss Rardin expects to return to E. I. for the spring term.

Mrs. Brown, mother of Eric Brown, came over from Kansas Wednesday evening to see her son and his teammates defeat Shurtliff.

Ir! Gobert of Oakland was an E. I. visitor Wednesday.

Mr. Widger made a trip to Effingham Friday.

W. H. Green of Stoy, a member of the E. I. baseball team during the past two summers, visited his brothers, Lawrence and Valmore, Saturday.

Miss Mildred Champion of Urbana stopped at Pemberton Hall Friday evening for a short visit with her sister, Ruth. Miss Champion continued her journey to California Saturday morning.

John Paul Ashby, who is teaching school south of town, was an E. I. visitor Saturday. Mr. Ashby is a baseball player of considerable ability, and is contemplating entering school at the beginning of the mid-spring term.

Hazel Garrison was the guest of her sister, Irene, Friday night.
