Eastern Illinois University The Keep

January 1933

1-31-1933

Daily Eastern News: January 31, 1933

Eastern Illinois University

Follow this and additional works at: https://thekeep.eiu.edu/den 1933 jan

Recommended Citation

Eastern Illinois University, "Daily Eastern News: January 31, 1933" (1933). January. 4. https://thekeep.eiu.edu/den_1933_jan/4

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the 1933 at The Keep. It has been accepted for inclusion in January by an authorized administrator of The Keep. For more information, please contact tabruns@eiu.edu.

CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS THESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1833

SEC. 1-NO. 17

Doctor Hegy's Appearance Is Fourth Entertainment Number

Will Explain and Demonstrate SQUENCE CLUB MEETS ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT Theramin.

HEGY WIRS PRAISE

On Friday evening, Pebruary 3, at 8:00 p. m. in the college auditorium all who are filled with satiable curiousity concerning the theramin will have an opportunity to satiste it, for Mr.
Eugene Heav of New York will at that time and place not only explain the Practical Arts demonstrate the instrument.

demonstrate the instrument.

What is a theramin? According to knowledge of the reporter, it is a musical instrument without strings, reed, or mouthplece. The oscillations of radio tubes are controlled so as to produce tones not unlike those of a cellol. Mr. Widger, chairman of the Entertainment Course Committee, said that he had seen, heard, and even played upon the theramin, and yet it all remained a mystery to him. a mystery to him.

Nor is the theramin the only trick in Mr. Hegy's bag. He has also a newly invented cello which doesn't look much like a callo nor possess strings; yet it is capable of producing such musical tones that Mr. Stokowsky, conductor of

to do is present your recreation ticket, sit back in your seat and relax, open your mouth, and wonder at the modern

This is the fourth number of the Entertainment Course. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Benchley Article Will Be Reviewed Before Sigma Delta

"The Newspaper Game," an article concerning the journalistic experiences of Robert Benchley, critic, will be reviewed by Alexander Summers 36 at the meeting of Sigma Delta next Mon-day evening. The meeting is to be held at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews on third street.

of journalism. For many years he worked on various New York papers and other metropolitan dailins. At present he is a noted domanatic critic and "one of America's foremost writers of humorous articles." He is now in magnathe work. Because of his newspaper career he has a definite feeling towards tabloids and newspaper writers in general, which is well brought out in this article.

out in this article.

In decided combract, following this talk, the group will turn to a stunt programma. Skits, imitations, and many humorwas shetches will be in order. Whether pertaining to newspaper work or not. This part of the programme? Is in charge of Alexander Summers '36 and Harold Cottingham '35. Each member of the fratemity who intends to be present should have some kind of stunt for the programme. Extraord to the present should have some kind of stunt for the programme. Skramber and valentines.

An unusual detail of the party is the fauth of the programme. The programme of the programme is the programme. The programme is the programme who has falled to pay his fall seen dues will be admenting.

History Students

The Science club will met Wedn night, February I, at 7:00 p. m. in room 16. Mr. Stover of the botany de-partment will offer an illustrated lec-ture on "Mushrooms and Traditionis." The club officers state that this talk should be of special interest to those who plan to go hunting for mushrooms in the spring.

Students Learn Metal Working

Tools and Other Machines Are Being Made By Talented Students.

Each day between 10:20 and 12:10 ne can hear the purr of electric motors coming from the metal department which is in the east wing of the Practical Arts building. If one should enter this department he would find tion.

There will be novelty—yes. But the making vill also be wurthy of consideration Mr. Widger says, "All you need to do is present your recreation tiebes at least in some

a small shaving from a piece of cast iron leaving a bright silvery ahiney surface. Another student is turning long wirey shavings from a cylindrical song wrey answars from a commission surface. Still another student is sawing through a rather large piece of cast iron with as much ease as a mall child cuts out a paper doll. Over in one corner of the room a student is working with a bright ixizing flame. He is doing Oxy-Acetylene welding. If one should put on colored glasses, for protection of the eyes, and observe closely he would find that the student is pointing the flame on a broken cast-ing. Soon the casting in the broken area is in a moulten stage, the parts fuse, and the mending is completed.

The students are well along on the work for the winter quarter. In a few more weeks several students will each be the proud owner of a bandsaw or some other piece of machinery.

The faculty and student body are n only welcome but urged to visit the metal department of the Practical Arts building.

Sophs Will Give Sweetheart Ball

dearts and valenthes.

An unusual detail of the party is the fact that no suphassare who has falled to pay his fall term dues will be served at the close of the certing.

Listory Students

Engage in Tourney

George Henry and Jack McClelland
History 34 played a Jacks tournam Thursday of this week. There is some possibility that dues can be paid at the door the tight of the Ball. Guest ticks will be sold for 25 cents.

The High School Girls Glee club was unable to appear on the News bour year-day meroing, and so a substitute programme was offered by Margaret Loop 25, plantst, and Ramell, Delpha, and Robert Myers. Brown and Delpha played the clarinet. According to Robert, ang a number of dues in popular style, and Cleating the Robert Myers, hand of the description acted as referee. Feeling the strength of the Sall Guest ticks will be sold for 25 cents all list and being heart week at 10:00 a. m. from the second of the following: Margaret Levin, Emily Gordon, High Harwood, and Roy Wilson.

STUDENT CALLED.

STUDENT CALLED

The High School Girls Glee club was unable to appear on the News bour year-day mercing, and so a substitute of pay the fact that no suphassage was called to pay his fall term dues will be a falled at the door the sight of the Ball. Guest ticks will be sold for 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

According to Robert Myers, hand of the Gall of 25 cents.

**

First Round of Bridge Tourney Is Under Way

Women's League Auction Bridge Tournament Draws Fifteen

The Women's League Auction Bridge tournament started Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at Pemberton Hall with four tables. Pive games were played.
Margaret Irwin and Susie Phipps taking high score for the day, and Virginia Lacey holding the gailoping next two Saturdays. Prizes will be given for high score, low score, and a galloping prize will go to the person holding the most recent eighty hours.

Only two rules have been made.
Players may double but not redouble in bidding; and winners progress to a higher table adding 100 for each pro-gression, except at the first table, where winners stay.

Those entered in the tournament are as follows: Beulah Hazlick and Madge Moore, Margaret Irwin and Susie Phipps, Rita Nay and Mrs. Ruby Swartz, Frances Holterman and Elea-nor Beasley, Grace Gould and Marie Duncan, Virginia Lacey and Helen Phillips, Beatrice Pauli and Esther McCandlish, Mildred Timberlake and Helen Buchanan.

Fidelis Sanctions Pledges of Five at Last Meeting

Fidelis, local social group, sanctioned the pledging of five young men of the college at a meeting held last Wednescollege at a meeting need nat weener-day. The pledges have already com-pleted a weak of their pledge dusing, and will continue to do the bidding of the members until the end of the term. At that time they will be formally initiated.

The pledges include Lloyd Carruthers 35, Neoges Lloyd Sparks 35, Mattoon; Don Neal 36, Charleston; Jack Austin 36, Charleston, and Alexander Summers 36 Charleston If all the cardidates are initiated, the Pidells will almost have the constitutional limit of College Male Chorus May Be Abandoned

The meetings of the College Male after the presentation of the opera for which Mr. Koch is now conducting re-Attendance at chorus hearmals has been poor of late, and should the attendance at rehearmle fall to include the entire enrollment of the to include the entire enrollment of the chorus at the next meeting, Mr. Koch-plans to drop the chorus in favor of a double qui . Tentative plans have been may for the formation of a double quartes of mixed voices in the near future.

News Hour Goes On Despite Substitution

Rehearsal for "Merry Widow" Progresses as Date Approaches

KAPPA DELTA PI HEARS DR. JUDD'S BADIO TALK

The members of Kappa Delta Pi met last night in the music room at met last night in the music room at 6:30 to listen to the talk given by Mr. Judd, famous psychologist, over the radio. Before the radio talk, a short business meeting was held. Pollowing the talk a discussion was held, after which several papers were read by members.

The tournament will continue on the Mr. Cook Gives Facts In History of Mathematics

Describes Mathematics as the Language of God; Patrick Offers Puzzle.

"Greek is only the language of the Greeks, Latin is only the language of the Romans, but Mathematics is the language of God to me," said Mr. Walter Cook in his talk on "The History of Mathematics," before the Math club last Wednesday evening.

Mr. Cook described number sense and one to one correspondence as steps which preceded learning to count. By which preceded learning to count. By means of one to one currespondence, when we enter a room, we can tell with-out counting whether the number of chairs is equal to, greater than, or less than the number of people. Primitive people kept records of numbers of sheep, etc., by keeping a pebble or cutting a notch on a stek to corres-pond to each sheep.

A few hundry years are no manual

A few hundred years ago no manual of arithmetic was complete unless it gave full bratructions in the method of using the fingers to multiply, divide, add, and substract numbers. Mr. Cook dimmonkrated the means used in multi-systems that have been developed, the most interesting of which was the Chaldean-cunelform numerals. It was based chiefly on visual percents. He also said that the only use for Roman numerals now seems to be to confuse people on the dates of buildings. The Romen numeral system is not regular and therefore useless for computation. Another feature of the programme was a mathematical crossword puzzle presented by Victor Patrick. The club members worked out the solution to-

Mr. Guinagh Speaks Before French Club

Osing interesting details from his own experience. Mr. Guinagh of the Foreign Language department, spoke on "Why It Takes Courage to Speak, a Foreign Language," before the French club at the meeting last Wed-Prench club at the meeting last Wednesday evening. Mr. Guinagh, a Latin and foveign language teacher, has had much cantact with foreign languages and for this reason was very well versed on his unusual subject.

After this programme a business meeting was held. It was decided to hold an election of officers at the next.

bold an election of officers at the next masting and perhaps abolish some of the club offices. The club met at the home of Mr. Outnagh, 83! Tyler street. Besides the club cosmhers Mr. Outnagh and Miss Michael were present. The next mesting of the French club will be held at Miss Melshaels' resi-dence on Birth street. Mills. March Faodi, a native of France, will be the spaaker of the eventury. Fellowing the talk an informal discussion is to be held.

Major Members of Cast Have Been Selected for the Two Productions.

TO BE GIVEN IN MARCH

According to Mr. Prederick Koch the chearmis for "A Doughboy in Prance and scenes from "The Merry Widow" and scenes from "The Merry winow-are programmes, which are to be presented March 16 and 17, will be the fifth number of the Enterfalment Course. The major members of the casts have been selected. There are two peo-ple in "A Doughboy in France," a sketch which is both humorous and inseth which is both humorous and musical. Raiph Wickisar will take the part of the American soldier, Frederick John Smith, and Mary Elizabeth Menor will play the part of the Inn keeper, Marie. The action takes place in the Inn The soldier speaks only English, and the girl only French. Their efforts to understand each other cause many humorous remarks to be made. The boy gets homesick and sings the songs his mother taught him to the the songs his mother taught him to the

Among the cast for the scenes from "The Merry Widow" will be two pro-fessionals who will be secured for the two performances. Elsa Diemer, Mr. two performances. Also Dietics, Koch's daughter, will take the part of Conta The Merry Widow. Charles Sonia, The Merry Widow. Charles Messinger, tenor from the Savage Opera Company, Cleveland, will sing

the part of Prince Danilo.
Other members of the cast include:
Visconte Camille de Jollidan, Robert Myers; Marquis de Casrada, Dale Armstrong; M. de St. Brioche, Walter Bert-schinger; General Navikovitch, John

(Continued on page 8)

Debaters Decide Boys Should Take Home Ec Courses

"Boys should be taught home conomics in high school" was the de cision of the judges upon this much discussed question, the subject of a debate Thursday evening, January 26 at an open meeting of the Home Economics club. Mr. Ashley, head of the Practical Arts department, and two students, Raymond Hall 33 and Lura Pollard 35 were the judges.

Lura Fullard 3 were the junges.

Rachel Lowry '36, Mildred Petty '36 and Phyllis Adkins 35 upheld the winning affirmative side. Much of their data was gathered from a report
Mrs. Anna T'Jaden who has been con-Mrs. Anna Triaden who has been con-nected with such an experiment in Peoria High school the past two years. The negative team was compound of Romaile Punck 36, Sylvia Shipman 34 and Ruth Miller 36.

and Ruth Miller '36.

An interesting account of the life and work of Mrs. Ellen H. Richards, founder of home-economics, was given by Uyima Howe '34, and Darothy Wright '36. Ruth Elledge '36, chairman of the meeting, introduced the speakers and led the discussion following the debate. Refreshments of tea, candwiches and cookies were served and dansing to radio music, was enjoyed. February 9 is the date of the next meeting which will be a Valentine party.

Mr. Spooner Takes Photos for Art Club

Mr. Squemer spent the 10:20 peris Thursday, January 18, taking pictur of some of the machines and count ment in general of the metal depar ment of the Practical Arts builds These plumes are part of the mater to be used in notification for a

... T. C. HIGH SCHOOL ...

Dancing and Plays Provide Amusement at T. C. School Party

T. C. put on its best clothes and went to the party Saturday evening. And did they have a good time! The first section of the party was in the auditorium. The play, "Joint Owners in Spain," coached by Libby Weir, delighted the audience. The cast Weir, delighted the audience. The cast was made up of Kate Walker, Louise Tym, Evelyn Ringo and Ruth Royce. The next feature was "Dramatic High Lights of T. C." This took the audience through important events of T. C.'s life. The first was a reminder that T. C. beat C. H. S. 49-0 in football in 1928. Bob Johns '33 captain, Raymond Cole and Carl Cooper, were ball in 1928. Bob Johns '33 captain, Baymond Cole and Carl Cooper were the actors. Next Bill Hite and James. Weiland took the guests back to the time when the first News was publish-ed. The third was a study period, one of the greatest periods in T. C.'s his-tory. After this came a tug-of-war on Class Day, dramatized by Raiph Mc-Intosh, Warren Huckleberry, Don Smith, Charles Mayer and Carl Cooper, Last came the Graduation of '36, with the Preshmen as the graduatine class the Freshmen as the graduating class. Marguerite Iknayan was excellent as a bespectacled, awkward teacher.

During the programme. Marguerite Iknayan pleased the audience with two plano solos and with her playing of the wedding music for the coronation.

The coronation of T. C.'s representa tive girl and representative boy was the climax of the evening. It was in the form of a wedding ceremony, with onto the stage to the strains of Lo-nengrin's Wedding March. Ruth Ice-nogle, the representative girl, was dressed in blue crepe with blue transdressed in blue crape with blue transparent velvet trimming. Maxine Harrod and Mary Elizabeth Weir, her attendants, were dressed in shades of rust. Walton Morris, the representative boy, was attended by Frank Voris and Edward Ferguson. T. C. was proud to have chosen such fine representatives; each one was a good choice for scholarship, leadership, activities and popularity. Miss Mintle, the faculty adviser of the seniors, crowned the representative girl and boy as they knell at the attar. Kenneth Kinzel and Patty Langford were very attractive as the crown bearers. The entire corona-Patty Langford were very attractive as the crown bearers. The entire corona-tion was beautifully carried out. Following the programme in the au-ditorium there was dancing to music provided by Charlie Blair's orchestra in the gym, which was prettily decorated in red and white. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Guinagh, Miss Michael, Miss Mintle, Miss Beatty and Mr.

nd T. C. is hoping that its next party

Appoint Four Senior Class Play Managers

This senior class play "The Perfect Alibi" is a big mystery. However, part of the mystery has been cleared up, for the different managers have been ap-pointed, and the seniors are beginning to talk in terms of dollars and cents instead of entrances and exits.

stead of entrances and exits.
The appointments so far made are as llows: Business manager, Libby Weir; operties manager, Frances Titus;
ead usher, Donna Smith; and manger of the entertainment, Josephine homas. Two selections by the college rio and some kind of a song and ance by Josephine Thomas, Helen url, Margaret McCarthy, Libby Weir, faxine Harrod and Shirley Harrod rill be the entertainment between acts.

Il be the entertainment between acco-The practical side of the presentation the play is becoming less and less a mystery. You'll have to have a cerfect alibi" if you're not in the col-ge auditorium at 8:00 on Friday night,

Just Nosin' Around

Old Hen Harrod and Baby Mac are venteen now. Bigger and older than entertained the French club, L'Alliance Francaise, at her home, 1012 Sixth street. It was the most gala meeting of the school year. Both the fact that of the school year. Both the fact that beginning with the middle of the year, first year French students are eligible for the club, and the fact that Miss Marie Paoli was to be the club's and speak about France, broug large attendance.

French Club Guests at Miss Michael's

Before coming to America four years ago, Miss Paoli had lived in Paris and in Southern France. She came to m Southern France. She came to Charleston recently from Chicago and plans to enter T. C. High school this spring to make up her high school credits so that she can enter an American college. American college.

Miss Paoli described in French the Miss Paoli described in French the school system in France, especially the clementary schools, which all children must attend from the age of six to thirteen, and their superior national university, College de France. Besides answering questions about the school system, Miss Paoli also told about French feasts and holidays, kinds of entertainment, their "movies," and the various dialects in France. The students were very interested in her talk and greatly enjoyed hearing French spoken so fluently and so beautifully. In the informal social bour samples

In the informal social hour samples of French correspondence were shown. Bobbin Lantz and Donna Smith each had letters from Henri Chaffateaux and Jean Abeniacar, who live in a sub-urb of Paris. Ruby Stallings showed some letters and pictures sent her by Emilie Classe, of Alsace Lorraine; sev-eral letters and pictures from Edouard Royer, of Normandie, were brought by Libby Weir; and Ruth Icenogle show-ed the club a French newspaper sent by a friend in Algeria.

Miss Michael, assisted by Miss Ruth Miss Michael, assisted by Miss Ritin-Dunn, served her guests delicious re-freshments of hot chocolate, sand-wiches, marguerites, and peanut brittle The students all enjoyed themselves immensely as the guests of Miss Mich-ael and the joint hostesses of Miss Paolit.

Debaters Parley on Unemployment Topic

T. C.'s debaters held an interes meeting Tuesday evening in room 30 at which time they put forth many plans for the future

The subject "Resolved, That Illinois Should Have Unemployment Insur-ince" was debated. Following this a ance was treated. Following date for a party to be given for the members and their guests at the home of Mr. Waffle was discussed and tentatively set for February 11.

Names were suggested for the club, but none chosen. The question of T. C. entering the debatting league was brought up. Westfield, Casey, and Paris all have debatting teams. Why shouldn't T. C. be represented in the field?

Contrary to public opinion T. C.'s debaters don't wear horn-rimmed spectacles and are not dull, studious people, but are alive, up and coming ones. The subjects debated on do not always pertain to affairs outside of the school, and the next question for debate is "Resolved, That Grades Should Be Recorded in Numbers Rather Than Letters." There ought to be some more people in high school interested in debating.

G. A. A. Girls Take First Hike of Term

The G. A. A. girls had another good time when they met in front of the main building at 4:30 on January 23 for the first hike of the six weeks. Armed with sufficient food they start-Armed with sufficient food they start-ed down Lincoln street in good spirit. The girls hiked one mile west and one mile south to a "swell place to eat." With the assistance of Eileen Deer (sister) they built a fire and toasted wieners, bacon, and sausages. They entertained themselves telling funny stories. (Kate Walker and Mag Mc-

T. C. News Staff

Editor—Libby Weir. Assistant Editor—Ruth Royce Sports Writers—Bill Heinlein

Carthy, Mary Alice Harwood.
Reporters—Bill Barnfield, Frances Durgee, Margaret Servey, Pauline
Smith, Betty Lou Bails.

Editorially:

er. Miss Orcutt, in the iliness of her mother. Miss Orcutt often has expressed her sympathy when members of high school have been ill or have had iliness in the family. In turn we wish to say we hope for the speedy recovery of Mrs. Orcuts.

T. C. Calendar

TUESDAY Orchestra Practice WEDNESDAY

Footlights THURSDAY Band Practice Glee Club Reading Class 4:20 p. m. Tournament at Casey

FRIDAY Orchestra Practice Tournament at Casey .

SATURDAY Tournament at Casey 2:00 p. m.

Do My Ears Burn?

Did you know that:

Ward Weiland was

Jayne Lynch made straight At Preddie Moler whispered in 1:30 per-od on Wednesday? Jack Kincaid visited French class

Thursday?
Louise Tym went with Charles A

Bill Setliffe stole Bill Hite's girl last Saturday night and history is going to repeat itself?

Katsie Kincaid likes college basketball games better than high good looking?

Lib Weir had a long waiting list for the high school party?

Charles Spooner spoke perfect

Our basketball team is winni ext game?

G. A. A. girls are not such bad basketball players either?

If you do, consider yourself bright.

—Thisby.

Now I Axe You

"What suggestion have you for the

Margaret Servey—Have autographs already printed, it's too hard for me to think of something original to say. "Kate" Merritt—Have it green again so I can use it as an ornament in my green room.

Louise Tym — I want more funny green room.

Louise Tym — I want more funny jokes and more pictures of the students.

Bill Hite—More individual pictures, mine for instance! Ahem!

Louise Inman — Wider margins to write autocraphs is

"Ginay" Williams — Now in our "Capitoline" from Springfield we had a calendar of the school year.

showing the sign, This Store Adverti

PHONE 1020

LITTLE CAMPUS MEALS AND LUNCHES

Fountain Service We Deliver

Paris High Trounces Blue and Gold Cagers on Paris Court Tuesday 31-19

I heard someone say that T. C. was scheduled to win the E. L. league tourney, but although I have hunted over the entire institution I have been unable to locate any verifications for this report. Even the one who said this probably was jesting, in his own quaint, sarcastic way.

The dope bucket said that Paris would swamp T. C. by at least twenty p oints. Final score: 31-19. I barely won that bet!

Now who was it that mentioned the wonderful cheer leading and pep, ex-hibited at T. C.'s home games? Some-one should put their fingers on this jokester's windpipe and exert a little

I heard several distingu writers and coaches remark about Car-roll's ability and competence as a center. Although he is shorter in statue than any center he has jumped against this year, his hand and excel-lent timing have commanded the course of the ball in the majority of

7:00 A. M. All-Stars Defeat Substitutes 24-13

At 7:00 o'clock Monday evening January 23, the members of the Girls Athletic Association enjoyed a very ex-citing game of basketball. True to their name the All Star team downed the Substitutes by a score of 24-13.

Miss Chase played center for the Subs, and kept all six of her opponents guessing. The Subs held the lead in the first part of the game, but after the half the All Stars gained a several point advantage and increased it to 11 points near the end of the game.

points near the end of the game.

The line-ups were for the All Stars:
guards, Libby Weir and Helen Hall; center, Kate Walker; side center, Mag McCarthy; forwards, Betty Lou Sol-lars, Delpha Myers, and Katsie Kincaid; for the Subs: center, Miss Chase; side center, Betty Lou Balls; guards,
Margaret Garner and Bobby Sunderman; forwards, Delpha hyers, Louise Innan, Virginia Williams, Virginia
Kimball, and Bobby Sunderman.

Monday night, January 30, the first.

Locals Are No Match for Fast Paris Five; Carroll Gets Eight Points.

Teachers College High school with ed before the steady fire of Paris High baskets at Paris Tuesday night to take a 31 to 19 trouncing. Paris command-ed a lead throughout and was never in

T. C. High showed its best for T. C. high showed is desiron of the evening in one quarter—the first-holding Paris to a 5 to 4 lead. But Paris assumed a big lead in the next period, leading at half time 19 to 7. T. C. High made only two points in the C. High made only two points in the third canto while the Tigers were rack-ing up eight. The Tigers are rated one of the outstanding quintets in the Eastern Illinois League and proved they deserved this consideration.

Humphries and Dailey led the Paris attack, scoring all but five of their team's points. Stillions and Carroll looked best for T. C.

The lineups and summaries:

ramp (er)	ur :	L.T	PF
Humphries, f	5	1	1
Cochran, f	.0.	0	. 0
Dailey, f	.7	1	- 1
Darris, f		0	- 3
Stark, c	.0	0	. 0
Best, c	.0	1	1
M. Cochran, g	.2	0	4
Adams, g	0.	0
Cassidy, g	.0	0	. 0
Roberts, g		0	0
Totals	4	3	9
r. C. High (19) F		FT	PF
Cole, f	.0	1	1
Endsley, f	1	. 0	. 0
Drum, f	.1	1	2
Stillions, c		1	1
Carroll, g	3	2	3
Spooner, g	.0	0	1

Totals Referee-Bayh.

Urges T. C. Girls to Join the G. A. A.

join us. Enlist with the G. A. A and participate in the good times it offers. Play backetball with us on Monday nights at 7:00; hike in the lovely outdoors with us; enjoy bacon fries and wiener roasts! We love it.

There are prospects of a great fu-ture—a rifle club, a volley ball club, and tennis club. Let's all work to-gether and make it a success. It is for your benefit. Be good sports:

Kimball, and Bobby Sunderman.

Monday night, January 30, the first sgirls' basketball game ever to be played between T. C. and C. H. S. was scheduled for 7:00 in our T. C. sym. be Maxine Harrod, Betty Lou Scillars, This game, it should be explained, was Kate Walker, Mag McCarthy, Helen purely unofficial—just a friendly game

STUART'S DRUG STORE

Bring Us Your Prescription-We Give You What It Calls Fo

Leave Your Films for Developing and Printing Our Work is First Class.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

DR. W. B. TYM DENTIST

National Trust Bank Bldg.

Phones: Office, 476: Residence, 763

THE NEWS IS MADE POSSIBLE BY OUR ADVERTISERS.

PATRONIZE THEM.

DR. C. H. HARWOOD

Linder Bldg. Office Hours: 7 to 12 A. M. and

1 to 6-7 to 9 P. M. Telephone 714

DR. W. E. SUNDERMAN DENTIST

Hours: 8 to 12—1 to 5 People's Drug Store Bldg. Charleston, Ill.

Phones: Office, 126; Residence, 715 J. A. OLIVER, M. D.

Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat

Trust Bank Bldg. Charleston, Ill.

DR. CLINTON D. SWICKARD DR. WILLIAM M. SWICKARD

Office Hours: 9:00 to 12:00 A. M. and 2:00 to 6:00 and 7:00 to 9:00 P. M. Office Phone 30. Res. 770 and 132 604% Sixth St.

"Strange Interlude" Reveals What Two Campus Elites Think of E. I.

With all due applicates to Eugene O'Nell, Norma Shearer, et al., I sub-mit a "Strange Interfade" which might have taken place between two of the Simple Suranne—(here comes that trightful "Frantic Fred") Just my luck. frightin France Freet Just my lick.

I might have known that if I ever made an "A" in Hygiene something awful would happen. Well. I suppose I simply must speak to him but I'll be very hangisty, you can bet. Why, hello, dear! It seems like ages since I've seen you. What in the world has become of you?

F F.- "Oh, haven't you heard? I've reformal darket studying. I haven't cut a class in two weeks." (Since I have to speak to her I might as well lay it

"All the same I'm disappointed. 8. 8.-You might at least come and see me once in a while-especially since the fifty-fifty proposition is working." (I guess that oughts hold him, I'm too clever for him.)

F. F .- That doesn't make much difference with me. I suppose I'm too 'shiverless' but I can't help but feel there should be a little knighthood even in this age. Besides, the old plan gives me smething to worry about —where to get that extra fifty cents.

wrist about those dirty shirts at the Hovas—and that cigarette hill?

8.8.—"Why. Fred, I think that's wonderful of you'll It makes you seem different from the rest." (The say, I suppose he thinks I don't know he gigoload a date to the show last night! I ought to expose him!)

F. F.—"By the way, The News has been running some swell articles and comment on the 59-50 clab. All the other features in the paper are good, too." (I hope she doesn't make an issue of its. I haven't read a copy for months.)

S. S.*"I was just goins to more than the manual."

"S. S.*"I was just goins to more than the manual."

"S. S.*"I was just goins to more than the manual."

"S. S.*"I was just goins to more than the manual."

"S. S.*"I was just goins to more than the manual."

"Coating. Black and blue are the two smartest coating.

Black are the function of the suits blue and grey.

Black are the function of the suits blue and grey.

Black are the function of the suits blue and grey.

Black are the function of the suits blue and grey.

Black and blue are the two smartest coating.

Black and blue are the two smartest coating.

Black are the function of the suits of the suits and coating.

Black are the function of the suits a

8. 8. "I was just going to mention that myself. I think my favorite column is—oh, what's it called—Oxford Orations? No that isn't it—'Podunk Prattles,' that's right." (Never read it in my life) "There are some good jokes in that column, 'In This Little

News Writer Denies Sports Are Waning

(By Reland Wickiser '35)
Is it possible that athletics are in it is a time, as they were recently decribed to be? It seems highly incredble that an athlete would go on in competition, giving all within his powit to obtain victory for the team when

When Your Shoes Need Rebuilding

RALPH ASHBY

FOR FIRST CLASS WORK

Bits From Paris

In writing about spring clothes at this early date we feel a little like the man concerning whom someone complained.

"She cooks our breakfast while we alsey and makes our breakings. While we alsey and makes our beds before we're up." Such beforehandness is really quite foreign to our nature, but we had soms good early tips on spring clothes—so here goes!

clothes—so here goes!

Everyune will be wearing suits again and the smarket will be the tailored ones. The most popular suit will be tailored, but the will be softly so, and, therefore, becaming to more people. 1933 suits will have no nonsense about them—and innt that retreahing after two seasons of fancier and fancier thines! things!

Of course, spring coats will be chic Of course, spring coats will be chic providing they are the right style. A smart coat has a furless neckline, the buttoned, beltiess waistline and the full-shove-the-elbow sleeves — three things to look for when you are considering a spring coat. Ciever coats have lapsels that can be folded in and buttoned up, so the coats looks nice with a fur early if you're fortunate with a fur early if you're fortunate. with a fur scarf, if you're fortunate enough to have one, or a silk scarf tied the new and smart way—in a loose imot. And the coats are made of a brand new fabric, rabbits's hair wool that his idol has feet of clay. Are athletes then so persevering, so re-signed to their helpless fate as to con-tinue on in what was once their suin my life) "There are some good jokes in that column, in This Little world of Ours,' too."

F. F.—"Yeh, that's good. But I prefer the one written by the bridge expert. You know, The Last Trump, (Or was it "Chump"? I hope the column is about tridge.)

S. S.—"Mary Cyclone" writes some good quips. I think she has a very quibured style and then there's some real thoughe back of what she say."

(Do I hate to hear her blow!)

F. F.—"But I think the festure articles are the best. Take that one on Temperature the production of the same of the same and the same are the best. Take that one on Temperature the same for the same are the best. Take that one on Temperature the same for the same for the same had the same that the same are the same for weeks and then it's a timely topic."

(Dan't dare say anything more about it. I only heard somebody talking shout it.)

S. S.—"Technocracy? Ob yes. (my the same same and the same as a profound demand the same that is a shietes are a profound the same to same the s

(Dasn't dare say anything more about it. I only heard somebody talking shout $1.)

A. S.—Technocracy? Oh yes, inn't thus a new college, or something? I hear they have the best looking sthlets of wish I could find an excuss to leave. But I hate being ahrupt). F. F.—Speaking of athlets, have you noticed what a swell baskethall game. An opputing player starts down the floor you noticed what a swell baskethall team E. I. has this sasain. Why, they made eighteen baskets against Shurtlett the other night. They didn't look so good to mea.

S. E.—Eighteen baskets That just proves that athletics are good for something the fact that the coach secures a job for the row man from Ruigers in order that the shall the same time he is bemoaning the fact that the coach secures a job for the row man from Ruigers in order that the beginning the fact that the coach secures a job for the row man from Ruigers in order that the beginning the fact that the coach secures a job for the row man from Ruigers in order that the beginning the fact that the coach secures a job for the row man from Ruigers in order that the beginning the fact that the coach secures a job for the row man from Ruigers in order that the beginning the fact that the coach secures a job for the row man from Ruigers in order that the man might stay in school and findemially engage in athletics. So it is good for the fact that the properties were on the reach they coached the properties when the reached the properties when the reached the properties and the coached the properties are supplied to the properties and the coached the properties and the coached the properties and the coached the coached the properties and the coached the coache

"So I Say"

(By Mrs. BEBred Kedley)
Judith Paris, by Hugh Walpols is second in a series of four books, Rouge
Herria, Judith Paris, The Purtress, and Vanessa. Like Galeworthy's Bags, this too, is a story of English gentry. Walpole puts so much life and color into his characters that at times they are quite unrestrained as to their likes

Judith Paris was born to adventure and with such a beginning life could never be tame for her. The story is her struggle to escape the class bound traditions of the Herries. The opening chapter is as dramatic as the clos ing one is foreboding. Judith realises she can not go to her beloved from Watendiath, she must stay and protect Uldale from Walter Herries of Westways.

There is a feud caused by a fan broken over a generation ago, and waiter Herries is determined to carry it to a ruccessful end. That end being the destruction of the neighboring branch of Herries at Ulvale. He is the dark villain of the story and is responsible for the death of Judith's dearly loved Francis Herries and Reuben Sunwood, his cousin. Walter spread scandalous gossip that made Jennifer, Francis's wife, an outcast in the little village. The destruction of the family becomes an obsession with him. He repeatedly begs Judith to leave before she too is destroyed but Judith has gypsy blood in her veins that loves a fight and resents domina-

All Judith's life was a fight; there was old Uncle Tom Gauntry that res-cued her from certain death in chapter one. There was Georges Paris whom she married and loved for all his wicked ways. Then Watendlath, which Georges brought for her and his smuggling operations. But Adam was her heart; brown, ugly Adam, free and strong as a peasant is a direct contrast to all the other Herries of his generation. Judith's sturdy Adam and Walter's crippled Uhland are material enough for the next book.

With all the confusion and descriptions of Judith's life she always manages to convey the impressions of a conquering hero. Judith has possi-bilities that I hope are fullfilled in the next book. The Further Walpole divides his strong characters from the Weak ones like sheep and goats. Judith, Walter and Will are among the strong while Francis, Rueben, and Jennifer are nitifully weak are pittuly wear.

There is little discussion of motives from the author's point of view; things just happen one after another, at times reaching the point of melodrama as is the killing of Geoma. the breaking of the fan and the villager's attack on Ulvale.

The Best Plays of 1931-32, by Burns Mantle, including the ten best plays of the year: Mourning Becomes Electra,

C. P. Coon, 408 Stxth St., has installed an automatic crystal cutting chine that cuts unbreakable crystal tit your individual watch—guarant satisfactory.

> VISIT Charleston's Finest FOOD STORE sh Fruit and Vegetables School Supplies Luncheon Meats

Fletcher Grocery & Market

Since 1905 We Have Bendered an Intelligent and CONSCIENTIOUS SERVICE

"To See Better See"

Drs. W. J. & F. W. Chittick

Scientific Optometrists

We Grind Your Lenses While You Wait

Paris, Illinois

114 South Main Street

TALK OF THE CAMPUS &

Rolin Poley spent the week-end in Oakland.

Nell Gano passed the week-end with her parents in Mattoon.

Lucille Thomas visited friends in Paris over the week-end Margaret King visited her parents Newman this week-end.

Eleanor Benzley visited her parents in Arcola over the week-end.

Bernis Condo of Morcasin, was the guest of Ruth Young Sunday.

Welter Trees spent the week-end with friends and relatives in Olney.

with Iriends and relatives in Olney.

Twila Stevens of Stewardson was the guest of Vilecta Tibbs this week-end.

guest of Vilecta Tibbs this week-end.
Marryanna Todd visited her parents in Palestine over the week-end.
Mary and Lillian Kirk spent last week-end at their home in Robinson.
Mary and Lillian Kirk spent last week-end at their home near Robin-

Miss Eleanor Beagley visited at her home in Arcola, Illinois over the week-

Mary Etta and Martha Lee Gillis visited their father, who is ill, at Terre Haute.

Prances Irwin, Aileen Crane, Barbara McDanels and Dorothy Kiser spent the week-end in Watseka.

Lois Young was the guest of Leish and Orie Cook, at their home in Villa Grove over the week-end.

Crove over the week-end.

Francis Pai and Irwin Singler, of Nokomia, former E. L studenta, were visitors in Charleston last week-end.

Florence Custer, Gretta Lee Elliot, Hiles Houghtan, and Beatrice Paulli, visited friends in Eureka over the week-end. week-end.

Miss Martha Lee and Mary Etta Gillis visited in Terre Haute, Sunday and Monoay, January twenty-accond and twenty-toird.

and twenty-toird.

Eleanor Devore and Beulah Newman visited their parents in Effingham over the week-end. Julia Davis was Miss Newman's guest.

Miss Lois Young was the week-end guest of Miss Leiah and Ocie Cook at their home in Villa Grove over Jan-uary twenty-first and twenty-second.

INFORMAL BRIDGE PARTY-

Miss Reinhardt entertained the Woman's League Council at an infor-mal bridge party Monday evening, Janmas oringe party atomosy evening, Jan-uary 23. Card tricks and novelty games were also played. Eather Mc-Candlish was high score winner, and Mildred Handley won low score. Re-freshments were served after the

Those present were: Esther McCandlish, Ruth Kearns, Prances Irvin, Maxine Malcolm, Helen Svobada, Lu-cille Thomas, Ursis Frater, and Mildred Handley.

> MUSIC SHOP 408 Sixth St

Music, Instruments, Supplies

RAY MORRIS

GOOD HEALTH AND SAFETY

WITHIN PASTEURIZED MEADOW GOLD

PRODUCTS

Prempt Service-Phone 7

Miss Fern Richter spent the week-Rolla Foley spent the week-end with relatives in Oakland. Madge Moore visited her sister, Lois

Moore, in Wateria, Sunday.

Pern Richter visited friends and relatives in Oakwood this week-end.

Mary Elizabeth Menor visited her parents at Mt. Carmel last week-end Joe Anxinger of Chicago, was the guest of Francis Doty over the week cad

Marjory Young of Altamont, visited her sister, Ruth Young, over the week end

Mary Elizabeth Menor spent the week-end with her parents in Mt. Carmel.

Vilecta Tibbs and Gall Weber pa ed the week-end with friends and re-latives in Stewardson. Georgia Gibson and George Higgins of Nokomis, were the guests of Margaret Kessinger, Saturday.

Taffy, divinity, and fudge for the Loki! Tuesday evening, January 24th, the unit known as the Loki met at the R. Allison residence, 1515 Seventh street, at 7 o'clock. In the abort busi-ness meeting it was decided that a definite educational paper should feature each future meeting. Part of the evening was devoted to bridge.

UNIT POUR-

Lela Cook '33, was hostess to fifteen members of Unit 4 at a candy party on Tuesday evening, January 24.

A short business meeting was held and Ocie Cook elected social chairman. and Ocie Coor exected social charmas-Bertha Dalton and Lois Harrison were appointed to plan a tentative pro-gramme for the year. The next meet-ing will be a Valentine Party. Bridge and dancing were enjoyed during the evening.

Probably the most watched base ball player next season will be Rajah Hornsby, who will try to make a come-back with the St. Louis Cards. The great second baseman is well liked in the Mound City, and may have a good the season if he can get rid of a little excess poundage that he has been gathering t he last few years.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOP'S

"1933 Permanent Wave reaches high point in perfection! "We do not give just another permanent wave; we insist that all opatrons have attractive confluence.

patrons have attractive conflures.

"Pirst, we study the current styles in dress and create a conflure which harmonizes with them. Theirs your features into consideration, we shape and cut your hair beamingty. Then we sive a permanent wave.

"When the wave is completed, we do not feel that our work is done until we have shown you how to train and take care of your hair.

"That's wave answerent wave.

"That's why a permanent wave given in our salon is recognized by the discriminating as a truly per-fect wave. Our prices have been adjusted to meet the present-day purse."

606 6th St. Telephone 255

DENNIS TAXI Insures You of Prompt

Day or Nite

When You Think About Quality In HOME MADE CANDIES, ICE CREAM, OF LUNCH REMEMBER US We Handle the Best Money Can Buy

CORNER CONFECTIONERY

A photograph that portrays personality is a decided advantage when applying for a position.

The Herbst Studio strives for individuality in each of their subjects.

We Will Appreciate Your Paironage

HERBST STUDIO

Appointments Day or Night

Phone 680

Teachers College Rews

Published each Tuesday of the school year by the students of the Eastern Thinois State Teachers College, at Charleston

Entered as accord class matter November 8, 1915, at the Post Office at Charleston Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879

Printed by The Courier Publishing Company

Paul Eliot Blair, Phone 224 __ Dawn Neil '33_____ THE STAFF

Roy Wilson 35 Associate Editor | Evalyn Schooley 34. Society Editor | Pranklyn L. Andrews Adviser Adviser

REPORTERS

Beatrice Pauli 38, Esther McCantible 34, Ruby Clark 36, Frances McCormick 36, Helen James 38, Hope Brown 38, Eay Cothren 38, Dorothy Ranton 38, Mary Chan; 36, Patence Euster 38, Dale Armstrong 34, Harold Cottingham 38, Lols Cottingham 38

PEATURE WRITERS
Burdell Murray 74. Kathryn Mallory 33, Erciya Barger 33, Mrs. Mildred Kedley 36, Nadeine Stroud 35, John Wyeth 34, Roland Wickiser 34, Russell Kellem 33, Esther McCandish 34

SPORTS STAFF
Alexander Summers '36, editor; John Wyeth '34, George Wyeth '36, Burton
Clark '36, Russell Keslam '33, Roland Wickiser '35.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATIONAL INFORMATION

1 35 Director John Black 34 Typist Florence Kuster 38 Typist Wilson 35 Gerald Royer Typist

DEPARTMENT OF BROADCASTS

... Director Harold Cottingham '35 ... Robert Myers '35 ..

Member Illinois College Press Ass'n

TUESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1933

Sportamanahip

During the present controversy on sports and their various qualities, good or bad, it would not be amiss to say a few words about sportsmanship on the athletic field or floor. One of the best examples of sportsmanship is to treat the referee of the game in progress with a due amount of courtesy and consideration. Occasionally we find an athlete that is poor enough sport to try to take advantage of the official in some trying moment. Usually it doesn't pay, for the official has the last word. Officiating in itself is a thankless job, made more trying by ragging by both players and spectators. This action is probably excused by saying that people like to see their own team on top. True as this may be, the winners of the high honors in a charminghin competition are not always sited as heirs the own team on top. True as this may be, the winners of the high honors in a championship competition are not always cited as being the best sports. Contrary to belief, a team that is especially courteous best sports. Contrary to belief, a team that is especially courteous to its opponents is immediately noticed, thereby establishing a reputation that is not surpassed by any amount of wins in the scoring column. It must be indeed gratifying to know that one is playing on, or has played on, a team that has displayed the best brand of sportsmanship of all those with whom they have come in contact. It does a coach good to hear that a visiting team feels confident of a fair deal on visiting them.

of your team, tends to develop a griping attitude toward the game.

We need to be reminded once in awhile that games are played for exercise and run and are not matters of life and death for the teams, schools, or spectators. Blaming the referee, either for his own shortcomings or for those

Pro and Con

With intramural basketball in full swing for the men of the college, it is proper that we note some of its accompanying assets and liabilities. One contestant states, "You meet more fellows participating in the intramurals than you do in any other way. You not only meet them, but they also seem to remember you around school afterward. I get acquainted with at least two new fellows every game I play, since we play a different team each time."

This point of social contact is to be welcomed. The exercise received is also desirable, as is the training for those who officiate. Looking toward the "con" side of the situation, we note one factor which deserves a rigid cold shoulder. This is the continual attender of intramural tilts who is shirking his studies and tobogganing toward failure in his school work in a most head-long manner. Large, eager, and cheering crowds are welcome and desirable at the games. But the fellow who makes it a point to attend every game, meanwhile ignoring any and all lessons, is not a welcome member of the crowd. If this blow hits you, don't dodge. Take it on the chin and it will awaken you to the proper degree to which you should be an intramural fan. This point of social contact is to be welcomed. The exercise re-

Taboos

The sight of two young men of the college puffing away at cigarettes in a car parked in the circle the other evening necessitates the setting forth of certain acts which are taboo at E. I. These re the setting forth of certain acts which are taboo at E. I. These restrictions are not set forth in the manner of some misguided teacher who conceives it his just and righteous duty to tower over those under his authority. Quite the contrary, they are measures which are for the benefit of each individual student. Since the calibre of the whole institution is the sum of the calibres of the students, these measures should be enforced in a whole-hearted, co-operative fashion. The first taboo is smaking anywhere on the campus or in the buildings. The second is cutting chapel. Those who contribute to the sparseness of students at Friday morning chapels should take special note of this. The third taboo is placed on the primitive custom of leitering. If you must loiter, do not do it in the cerridors. The above taboos are listed for your benefit. Observe them.

What Our Readers Have to Say

Letters do not necessarily reflect the upinion of the News. Please limit all communications to 156 words. All over that limit may be out at the discretion of the oditor. All centributions must be signed, though annes will not be printed unless requested.

I was just remarking the other day to an acquaintance that the intramural schedules were placed on the board each time at such a late date that it was difficult to plan the evenings aread so that I could attend them. I can fully imagine the difficulty of the players in arranging their sched-ules so that they can play when their teams are supposed to. My suggestion is that the manager find out two or three days ahead as to the time of play and the teams to be matched, and then that he place this schedule on the board at that time. It would save us all a little confusion and disappointment. a little Thanks.

Dear Editor:

This is a touchy subject, but I believe that something should be said about it. There are certain boys, and I mean merely boys, who persist in trying to make fools of a few girls in the assemb-ly room each day. How it can be stopped is beyond me, but someone should do it. We all can't stand by and see a few imberile boys act as they do. We all can't stand by and

Dear Editor:

Several of us read in the Curious Cub Several of us read in the Curious Cub last week that one girl thought she was worth more than a fifty-fifty date. We looked at her picture in the Warbler, and after all we feel that she exagger, and after all title when she thought she was worth more. Our idea is that few women are worth that extra fifty per cent; those who do get it will be reprize dates. There may be a prem on women in the future. There may be a premium

Most people believe term-papers have been nil value as far as the mass of stu-dents are concerned, since many are copied and many are written in dis-honest or slovenly fashion. Would it be too much to ask some teacher who has assigned a term-paper to write in and aid those questioning minds at-tempting in vain to see some real gold value shining through the brass?

-A Delegate Self Appointed

The editors will attempt to find such a teacher, and if he or she will write the article you ask, we will be only too glad to publish it.

One Year Ago

Week of January 26-February 2

An interesting meeting of the Forum was held in the reception room with Margaret King 32 leading the discussion. The meeting as devoted informally to topics

The Mens' Union Bridge Tournament ended with Scott Punkhouser 34 and Jake Volc 34 winning. Vir-ginia Lacy 34 was leading in the gams Lacy 34 was leading in the bridge turnament being spunsaved by the Women's League. The College Thio programme given in the parlors of Pemberton Hall Sunday afternoon was a most delightful one and was well attend-

The Panthers lost two games on their southern week-end trip. They were defeated by McKendres 34-27, and lost to Churulett 33-21.

The date of the annual ciphering contest, spursaved by the Mathematics clith, was set for February 1.

runry 14.
The College Prench chib met Priday night and amended the consti-tution so as to offer membership to students who fulfilled outlain re-

The News amounted that it was Campus Landers Contest, the pur-pose of which was to find the four-students who were doing the most

At the regular meeting of the Math club a special entertainment programme was given in the form of a broadcast. Bit. Ealier was the radio announcer, and several papers were read. Mr. E. H. Taylor gave a telli, and a play "The Ideal Class-room," was given.

Yale Head Tells Obligations Which Universities Owe to Our Civilization

In an address given before the open-ing session of the conference called by New York university, Dr. James Row-land Angell, president of Yale univer-sity, made the statement concerning the universities. "They represent the the universities. "Iney represent the embodiment in each nation of its highest ideals of scholarship. They afford a recruiting ground for its men of learning, and in the occident they have learning, and in the occident they have for centuries been looked up to as the cap-stones of the educational system. They have seen dynastics rise and fall, governments come and so, divilisation, tastf undergo profound modification, and still they endure. The last century has witnessed the birth of many new universities, sometimes in response to public demand, sometimes as the expression of private beneficence seek-ing a worthy outlet."

Continuing Dr. Angell said, "Inevitably the pattern of these great founda-tions varies a bit from generation to generation, from country to country and even from institution to institution. But certain broad character-istics are generally prevalent among them. They carry on advanced studies in science and the liberal arts for the benefit of those fitted to profit by such discipline; they prepare those chosen ones who are to carry on the traditions of learning as scholars and science men; they lay the scholarly foundamen; they lay the scholarly tions for the professions of medicine, law, and theology—more recently and less generally those of engineering and they other professions—and they seek to push forward the frontlers of knowledge by constant exploration and research.

Universities a Part of Society "The university is an integral part of the society it serves and could not, if it would, be oblivious to the necessities of that social order. This is only more obviously and compellingly true of universities which are beholden to of universities which are benoden to the public purse for their financial support than those which rely largely for their maintenance upon the usufruct of an established economic order. The university must constantly face, and honestly deal with, the changing obligations which arise from stance, and it must be

In an address given before the openug session of the conference called by ments of an era which are especially ew York university, Dr. James Rowund Angell, president of Yale univerthorough and scientific underwanding of the social and experime fundament als of civilization. Society has a right to look to the university for intellectual leadership in all that affects a basic knowledge of man and the universe in which he dwells.

"Within the university walls the occashonal scholarly recluse can sain work in comparative quiet and retirement, and some forms of scholarship unquestionably flourish best under conditions of such monastic isolation. But large areas of the most significant university work in our day neither in-vite, nor permit, such complete seclu-sion, and, while the world may indeed be too much with us, many of the most crucial problems of our genera. most crucial problems of our genera-tion can only be approached through contact with the forum or market place, and it is indicrous to urge that because of this fact the university should in no wise concern itself with them. On the other hand the univer-sities cannot become more weather-vanes, whipped about by every passing breeze of circumstance, and it is of the essence of their social obligation to discern and reject the superficial and the ephemeral and to fasten their attention upon the more enduring and the momentous."

"Purthermore, they have at all times the paramount obligations to render to society that indispensible and continu-ing service which they imperil the mo-ment they ahandon the detached and disinterested pursuit of the highest intellectual interests. Success in such pursuits is conditioned primarily and predominantly upon the presence in the professorial chairs of scholars of unequivocal intellectual diffraction and power, and hardly less upon the pres-ence of students able and fit to improve the teaching put at their dis-

In the past a number of professional and vocationalising movements have knocked at the doors of the univer-

(Continued on page 6)

University Standards

In This Little World of Ours

---- By the Editor-

SINCE MR. Lord read the extracte sat with it in front of her. Time passfrom the "Joyous Somethings of Edu-cation," we find ourselves looking every-where for similar instances. In church Sunday we sat and attempted to put sentences. We can't help it, we are a ways finding fault. We read cop shorter ways finding fault. We read copy written by members of the staff which is flowery, to say the least, but which could be written in about half the space. Thinking over our own speeches, we find we need not have talked half we find we need not have talked half so much. If people deleted their speech to the essentials, many women would be very uninteresting dates.

WE SEE that we are to be enter-tained by ether music this week. Mar-velous are the daings of science, and we just can't realize that we are grad-ually failing behind in the march of time. So we shall call on Dr. Hegy in the auditorium Priday night and listen to his new machine. In the circular sent to us we read that these instru-ments are "Spoch making"—accord-ing to Oasip Gabrilowitch. "Spoch" is not the word for it, Mr. Gabrilo-witsch.

THOSE OF us who have favorite actresses and actors, and for whom we would give our last dime, can fully un-derstand this story. A wuman on the callege faculty is a great admirer of Lynn Funtaine and Aifred Lunt. Passchilege faculty is a great samiler of that imspired cettle against the strong through Cleveland during the Christman holidays, she planned to actend the first night of Lynn and Alfred's new play, but her train was leaving too early to see the entire of the classes of the college over "term papers." We have received show. She must see part of it, though, a number of letters and articles written so she times a tast ride from the about the subject. We plan to hook into thesater to the station, finds out the time the train will seve, buys a tidated to the subject. We plan to hook into the state and find out what it is all tides out, the last row of the believe, She plans to hook into the matter and find out what it is all cost out, when standards so forget their in the last row of the believe, She plans to hook into the state. Not being able to see how wish to put ideas in stonient's bends, the new papers and probable of the college states being the state. Not being able to see he is not seen to make the presence assigned too much that the dark, she had placed a clock in her hand hag and there she

ed. The show was excellent, and stay-ing as long as she dare, she dashed for the station. Such is the love of art. We understand the play was wonderful Would you recommend it, Miss McAfe

WE HAVE listened to a bit of lecture about the use of the word "reaction" One of the examples was finding "the reaction to a proposal of marriage." According to our experience in married life, which consists mainly of the part of silent listener in our parent's home and the hired hand in another home, and the hired hand in another home, one seldom gets the reaction to a pro-posal. The fact of the matter is that you must be married quite a spell be-fore you dare to sak for that reaction. "Yes, honey. What was your reaction when I kissed you the night of June 13?"

we shall, leave it for the sport columnists to praise the boys for any good work they might have done in the truordis seen out of place for us to say a few words, too. We believe we have a good basketball team this year. Indications are that it is a threat to any strong team. DeKalb found out it was too good for them. But, we lost to Normal, a team that is taking its lickings are that it is a threat to any strong team. Then there would not be re of that inspired battle against the strong team, and then the pittral exhibitions the against the weak ones.

♦ THE LAST TRUMP ♥

E. L. Bere and E. L. There

If we don't look out (and maybe if we do), someone is apt to do us dirk. Hence, we are organizing the 100% E. I. Club, in order to preserve, protect, and defend curwives against the sullying influences of foreign competition. Our motio is: "Buy E. I. Here, E. I. There, E. I. All Around the Square!" Our campaign is one of enlightenment, as well as vengeance. United we stand; divided we may get the best seats. Yours for the early extermination of those who should know better, but still need to be told. You know the line!

1. "I'm just making up 2 few credits here so that I can continue my studies at Vassar."
2. Now my Hill—he used to live in Hollywood—see, he makes a lot of money and has the grandest sport

"As when we have a fountain and marble statues, all that swell Greek stuff, you know."

4. "Mawther wanted me to get that mink coat, but I told her to give the hearth was the status of the status of the status of the status was the status when the status was th minis coss, out I told her to give the money to charity. You know this is such a hard winter for some folks, and the poor, dear, starving bables just must be fed."

5. "Me? Haven't been to Chapel for a month! Cut class all last week. Never missed me. He never takes the roll!"

6. "But I'm not going to teach school! The folks are sending me to E. I so I'll be close to home."

Aren't you sorry now that you didn't write for the News literary contest? This is our "Literary Settlement" number, you know.

Practice teaching

3. Term papers.
4. Cutting class.
Here are the subjects; write your own

Why not hold yourself up some morn ing on the way to school and steal the paper you didn't write?

We have looked the Literary Sup-plement over from kiver to kiver; we're heartbroken, that's all. Hu Hung Nokimona has been done dirt.

The school year is half gone; so are

Last Trump Organization Directory (Compiled for those who expect to spend the rest of their lives at E. I.)

1. The Forum (John Black, Pro-prietor; Mercal Jenkins, Manager.) Do you stutter? So do we! Why not join our blowing organization?

not join our niversity organization.
Lights, gas aiready in.
Recommended by: Eddle Wynn, Eddle Cantor, and Eddle Thomas.
2. Sigma Detis—(Roy Wilson, Exalted Whiftenpooffe; Russell Kellam, House Physician.)
Who mysicand Jake Lingle? Who

Who murdered Jake Lingle? wants to murdered Jake Lingle? Who wants to murder Podunk, Mary Brezz. Ole Poker Face, Minnie Blair, or Mary Rizabath Neil? One at a time, please, 3. The Fayers — (George William Henry, Chairman of the Board; see catalog for list of vice-presidents.)

Tonight, and Tonight, and Tonight

Special Performance of
"UNCLE TOM'S PENT-HOUSE" Coached by Coaches Nos. 49 and 87.)
Positively No One Over Twenty-One Admitted!

Children Half Price.

A Mathematics Chab—(Officers pre-r to remain anonymous.) Have You Read The Math Club

Neither Have Wel

Neither Have we!
In the next issue:
"Parallelopheds, We Have Come!!"
"The Daily Digets."
"Care and Feeding of Tetrahed-rops."

5. Writers' Cab.—(Owned and oper-sted by Mrs. Mildred Kedley.) Home-coniting, reasonable rates, Shakespoure, Mikon, and Browning in season. Comfortable bads, pillows for members only.

6. Science Club—(Space Reserved.
JOIN NOW! DROP OUT LATER!
7. Kanna Dalla W. (1977)

Kappa Delta Pi-(Owned and op-ated by the Faculty.)

FOU CAN'T JOIN US! WE ROPE
'EM IN!

We called up a friend of ours last aday and found out that he'd gone church. One of these days we'll call

"PODUNK" prattles:

Same name, different author! That's what it's to be. To protect the fair calling of the past writer of this col-umn we emphatically state that this column is now under new management. subject to change at the least notice.

Tis a sad story. Yet a story which must be told—all about the devotion which one woman of the college has shown for a member of the opposite sex. The story is short and sweet. To sex. The story is short and sweet. To the point it goes. This boy and girl who had been keeping company for some time were to have a date at 7:00 p. m. But ah, the trouble of it all, he failed to arrive at the appointed hour. Eight passed, then nine, ten all in a row, until right on the stroke of eleven the phone rang. It was he, calling from the Inn. The little girl had grown tired of waiting and had gone to bed. Yet she arose from her warm bed, dressed and went to the Inn to meet him. Would any other girl have done the

A happy thought just struck us. This team of Barrick and Crane might just as well be made up right. Why, not call them Derrick and Crane, the lift twins.

Do you know which co-ed at Pem Hall has lost her diary and can't find it. that it is reported that she has a bit of affection for one of the professors of the college, and really wants that diary back that Wyeth and Awty have an attraction for each other that after Birch had given other. that after Birch had gi the basketball players milk shakes, of the players asked that the News all about it so that the other confectioners might take a hint . . . that Madge Moore simply hates to see her name in this paper . . . that one mem-Madge Moore simply hates to see her name in this paper ... that one member of a "pal" team is slipping out with the other's steady gal after he returns frum a date that if it is ever discovered there might be an end to one of these Damon and Pythias affairs. . . . that two Phi Bigs are on the black list of Sigma Delta after taking iwo fair members of the refreshment compilities from the meeting. ment committee from the meeting?

Last week we received the suggestion Last week we received the suggestion that Pricco might be over his cold by now, at least that he should after so much excellent care. Two of Pricco's admirers were so interested that they wrote in to Podunk, offering their aid in the matter. Thanks, we see that Ernie is well and about now.

spectfully yours -Podunk

him up and find out that he's gone to

If we really want to raise money to help the Pifty-Fifty Club why not sell those faculty caricatures we have been hearing so much about at ten cents

Why not take a cue from the slot-machine makers and change our grad-ing system to give every poor fellow a chance?

Triple A Superfine Excellent

Double A Superfine Good.

Single A Sub-superfine Fair.

Triple A Poor but passing.

If your parents are too lonely without you, remember that there is still time to make three Fs and a D.

There's a contest on now for Worst Cohumn of the Week." Lafay

MARY BREEZE She Just Blew In'

THE WORST COLUMN OF

Hinstrated Adverbs
Cautiously: "If you had some monwe'd give this fifty-fifty plan a trial."

Scornfully: "If I had some money, I

Thoughtfully: "I guess we were all put here for a purpose Come on and let's go down to the Inn."

wouldn't need a date."

Confidentially: "I always say, 'I like the heart. Not only was o you because you haven't any line, story, but there were 12 You're the only one I know that doesn't only five prizes. Our simit yto kid me." That either makes them understood as this column, happy or darn uncomfortable."

Cynically: "They're all alike

Happily: We have a German band down at the Phi Sig house. Royer does the melody, Blair takes the 'umm-m' and I come in on the 'pau pau.' The song goes 'da de da de, umm pau pau. I guess I'm glad I left Decatur.

Musingly: "I almost wore a fraternity pin once. But he saw me take it."

Emphatically: "No!"

Sadly: I don't know why it is I never get no fan mail no more

> E. L. TRADITIONS (They don't mean a thing.) White Shoes. Class Meetings.

3. Reading reports.

4. Social gatherings during free

COMMENTS OF THE FAMOUS

Spence: Really now, kids, do you think that life is just a bowl of cherries? But they sure do, don't they? Reliam: I tell you he goes to Tulane University and he's no friend of mine. He doesn't even know my grandfather.

Queer people, these Japanese.

Marfin: Goah, I'm thred. I just got done my ironin' and ain't et.

Blair: Who is editing this paper, anyway? Annamae: So there I was with just nickel in my little hot hand.

say the depression is getting better? Listen, last year we sang "Tve Cot Five Dollars," then early this year, it was "Here it is Monday and I've Still Got a Dollar," and what is it now, I ask you? I'vs "Brother, Can You Spare a Dime?"

"He looks as if he would some day be famous. Perhaps he'll have a sand-wich or a sundae named after hlm." "Aw, gwan, I'd druther bite him in

"Dame Rumor has it" that Roy Wilson is just one of us now."I don't know why it was," he is quoted as saying, "that I slipped down to a "D." But for heavens sake don't tell anyone. It's enough to bear this disgrace alone without having it made public."

The Curious Cub

During the depression what can be done in the way of more free enter tainment for the students of E. I.?

Thelms Fox '36-"I don't know, but think something should be done.

Pota Barrick '34—"Let's have so ee dancea."

free dances."
Margaret Irwin '35—"How about a carnival like we used to have?"
Bassell Hefsan '35—"Entertainment?
Why should anyone lack entertainment,
what with all these fifty-fifties, birthday parties, Mary Breezes, etc?"
Gladys Strahl '35—"There inn't much for me to any after Keftam's report."
Betts Lumbrich '35—"I can't think of Betts Lambrick "A" I can't think of anything original."

That there is still by Fr and a D.

Be on now for "The word when now?"

Rear now for "The think of anything original."
Why not have them now?"

Why not have a Hard Times party?"

What Lambrick "B" Tean't think of anything of the provided them now?"

What I would be provided the provided them now?"

What I would be provided the provided them now?"

What I would be provided them now?"

Why not have the now?"

Why not have the now?"

Why not have the now?"

Why not have a Hard times party?"

What I would be provided the now?"

Why not have a Hard times party?"

What I would be provided the now have a Hard times party?"

Why not have a Hard times party?"

My Kol-Yum Comes to Light

We have often thought how funny it would be if the students of the in-structor who made the al!-class test flunked it.

We would go to Sigma Delta, but that's where you get assignments fold papers.

The reason the News is not given out

The article labelled "Entries in Lit-The article about the first in the carry Contest are judged" smote us to 'I like the heart. Not only was ours a short line, story, but there were 12 entries and doesn't only five prizes. Our simile: As missions only five prizes.

Modern Fairy Story

Once upon a time there was a boy, who, because he did not have his note-books complete, flunked two courses. New Year's rolled around, and he re-New Year's folled around, and he re-solved to keep his outside reading as-signments done as they were assigned, to daily transcribe and record all lec-ture notes, to clip good, pertinent car-toons, to do more work than was re-quired, and to have the notebook ready-a week in advance of the time it was due. And he did.

WANTED: An excuse for seeing instructor about low test grade. Recite when called on. Am writing term paper, but have no questions on it. See or call me at room 10.

We don't want to be catty, but we think a speaker we heard recently must have known "Chapman and Counts" intimately.

(Ask any Edu. Student About That.)
Absolutely the last announcement.

An opportunity will be given those who have not as yet contributed to the fund to secure foot-stools for the library at one—Don't shoot! We're not going a bit farther!

How flattering it must be to teach ers to find their own words coming back to them as original words on the part of students.

Since a certain friend-of-our-acusintance read some of Lincoln's love distribution read source of the control of the cont currespondence.

The Make-Up Class

The make-up class how I love it! It meets every morning at 9 o'clock. Each member is equipped with a pow-der puff, lip-stick, and pocket comb. The strong men rearrange their finlittle one-inch powder puffs, how frantically they pat their noses. The seems to be an unexplored region-darker region for many.

Lip-sticks, from strawberry to the darkest reds, draw marvelous pictures with straight hard lines, curvy lines, wavy lines, or just smears.

Such is the make-up class. There are no digressions or degrees. It goes on forever with mirrors on every hand.

(Editor's Note: Every now and then Mr. Nokimona departs from the doggeral of his weekly verse and attempts a more literary style. This week's posm is a more aesthetic creation of this sort. The reason the News is now at several different places is that ye is a more aesthetic creation at several different places at Mr. Nokimona, the reader will remember, is a Japanese student at Tulane University, New Orleans.)

BIG FINE BARBER SHOP

Indoor of barber shop the other day I are stroll quietly, and there Are long line of white chairs-Big fine barber chairs!

Ulk, ulk! squirt, squirt! What are this noise? Ah, there!-and far down row Are fat man, with pink fluid Which trickle down behind both ears.
Ah, fine tonic! Such soft, carresding ameil!

Swursh, swursh, swursh! What are this noise? Ah, there!—and in chair next to mine Are big Italian barber, who sharpen TREOT

On strap, and look so very wicked— Maybe next he come at me— But no. Now customer are lie back; It seem he sleep. But not for long— For steamy towel are get too hot For barber's fingers, and slap! On tender countenance it drop. Such language!

And now big barber who are cut My own ebony tresses are begin to talk. And tell history of past life. It seem That he are been barber ever since He was a little shaver.

And now-push, pull, up, down My chair are move in jerky manner, And I are disembark, for all My extra hair are departed; I look at one of many shiny mirrors
On long wall, and now I depart hence,
Leave money, too. Klink, bong; No

Ah, big fine barber shoul

Hu Hung Nokimona

Items of Unusual Interest

Japanese natives have adopted cigarette coupons as a new form of currency according to advices to the Commerce department. Faced with an increasing lack of money, the natives started using the cigarette coupons is der punt, up-security. The strong men rearrange their finThe strong men rearrange their finger wares with a careful eye to the ger wares with a careful eye to the black hair. The darlings must guard their school boy beauty.

Then the ladies—being two faced is
The coupling as currency has now derepresented the coupling as currency has now devery department of the coupling as currency has now devery depa sued by domestic producers as legal tender among themselves. The use of the coupons as currency has now de-veloped to a point where they are good

Newell's Filling Station Tenth and Lincoln CIGARS, CIGARETTES. CANDY

STANDARD OIL PRODUCTS

Coles County's Largest Department Store Welcomes You!

You'll be surprised at the large stocks and the quality we have. Every item of high grade and guaranteed to be satisfactory. Everything for the girl.

HOSTERY UNDERWEAR DRESS GOODS HATS

COATS DRESSES SPORTS WEAR MITSIC

OUR BEAUTY SHOP will be pleased to render service at all times. Expert operator.

ALEXANDER'S

LOAF O' GOLD BREAD MILK MAID BREAD SLICED 5c

EAL BAKER

DANISH PASTRY CAKES COOKIES

Math Club Transcer Champs to Take Intramural Lead with Five Victories

		-	DELO CONTROL DE SERVICIONES
The Durant defended the Li
by a source of 14 to 11. Unmail: (15) PC CV-72 cmm. f) =	-	Intramural Standings
3		3
.0	. 0	3	Tom OWLPS
Polity, E0	1	0	Team G W L Pot.
Whiteen, a	1	- 1	Champs 4 1 800
Charles E	- 1	1	Padelia
Print 6	1		Phi Oigs5 3 2 407
Eath g0	0	1	Apphonoru4' 2 2 .100
Totals6	3	-8	Indows 4 2 2 .500
Little Club (11) PC Bendrix, I 2	FI	PP	Viking 4 2 2 300
Bendrik, I	.0	0	Little Chib 4 2 2 500
Altred		ī
Rachey, f	1	1
Adams a	0	0	Phillips 66
@ - 130		0	Chambery 305 0 5 .000
Pupple, I managed to the control of	2	3
Totale4		_	Club is the only underented team in
Totals4	3	- 5	the intramural league.
			Math Club (24) PG PT PP
The Black Cats defeated Pt	بجنالك	06	Wright, f 7 1
by a acure of 19 to 8.			600 (CO), I
Black Cats (19) PG	FI	PP	Armen e 1 0 2
Kellam, f2	0	- 2	Orten, g1 1 1
Black Cots (19) PO	0	0
Redall (0	3	Totals
Brandwitz, c2	0	0	Champs (14) PG FT PP
Bertschinger, g1	1	0	Glick, f
Pertur, 81	0	2	Totals 8 8 7 Champs (14) FO FT PP Chick, f 3 0 3 Strader, f 1 0 1 Wattern f 1 1 0
		_
Totals			Bedeun c
Philips 66 (8) PG Burns, f2	FI	PF	Pulker, g 0 0 1 Walker, g 0 0 0
Burns, f	0	1	Renshaw, g0 1 2
Robinson (0	2	Floots, g 0 0 0
The state of the s	0	1	-
William, C	1	0	Totals
Controller I	1	1
			The Phi Sies defeated the Badgers
Totals 3	2	6	in a close hard lought game by the accre of 18 to 12.
The Vikings defeated the Pi	مثلمك	by	Phi Sigs (13) PG FT PF
a sours of 7 to 6. This was the	Pide	a'nti	Phi Sign (13) PG FT PP Blair, f 0 0 0 Hance, f 1 1 1
first defeat:			Hovious, c0 0
Vikings (7)	FT	PP	Spence, g1 1 0
Vikings (7) FO R. Gray, f 0 Vandounier, f 0 Kirk, c	0	0
Vandeventer, f		- 3	Tobill, 82 1 3
D Gray e 1	.1	- 1	Library Control of the Control of th
Waltrip g0	0		Totals 5 3 3 Badgers (12) PO PT PP Blaw, f 2 1 0
Pertrude, f	0	0	Badgers (12) PG FT PF
Totals2	200	_	Shaw, f
A Obesia			2 0 0
Philip (6) PG	FT	-	This - 0 0 1
1	0		Tuyker, g
Marker, f 0 Voic, c 0 Frism, g 1	0		Ping, g 0 0 1
Yolo a	0		C. Bay g
Prison f		1	Totale
		_	PANCOUS COACH TO MEET
Totals3	0	3	PAMOUS COACH TO MEET NOTED PUPIL AT TEMPLE
A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR			The state of the s
The Limit Club definied the	Ob	-	Point-sphia, Pa. — (IP) — When
1017 20 104 17 1 60% of 13	10 1		Olean S. (Pop) Warner comes to this
LITTLE CLUB (E) PG	FT	77	city as couch of the Tumple University football team, he will be greated by a
Ball, [3	- 1	man whom he helped to make famous
A	3		In athletin The man is Charles Al.
0	3	-	bert (Chia) Bander, James old pitch- er of the Fulladelphia Athletics, a former status of the Curtain Indian
Blichey, g		3	er of the Politicalities Athletics, a
I monument	-1	8	named states of the Carbab Ballan
Albed, F		1	Other than Warner was counting there.
Totals	7	13	Dender esserts that Warner taught him to use the fadeaway ball, a form
CEDITIET 30 (0) PO	PT
Heckert, f1 Masdiger, f1	4	1
Loading o	1	4
0		3	showing the sign, This Story Advertise
Pub 6		23.	in the Touchers Onlings Hous.
		1
Totals2	5	10	HOLED T
		W.	CLIP
Party of defeated the Uni	-	h	This Common will be completed as if
A manual of 20 to 36.	1	30	LINCO
PHILLIP 68 (20) PG	-	PI
1	4		The state of the s
00		- 1
Burns, c			Bosse a Chub and Has Care To
Abernathy, g			2
7.0	-	1	The second second
Totals8	4	63	SERVICEABLE
	0 7	P 100
Robinson, f4
		-

The Math Club defeated the Champs by a score of 24 to 14. The Math

Famous Athletes Do Rise and Fall Act

(By Home Cole 26) to Extend the city of the sectors ete sometimes ends with a pirmy into the dupths of oblivion, poverty,

Some of the grantest have fallen from t be high plumade of fame and furture to a level much lower than that ...5 5 0 1,000 of their less fortunds to contain

Jim Thorpe, the great Indian athlets, and probably the gradest all-around of all time, has held pushing varying mamit Club _____4 2 2 .500 com

4 2 2 500 from that of a move actor to the most common manual labor, ditab diagnog.
4 2 2 500 Rajab Hornsby, one of the greatest second hazemen, and National League batsman, has now lost his farm 2021 to 1 2 500 W. Louis via the abertife axe. The Rajab consider Viewe the ponise alone. long cough to attend to his ball playing, and has lost a host of admirers and friends through his refund and rectue

John L. Sullivan, one of the first heavywhich champions of the prise fight industry, had to turn temperance lub is the only undefeated team in PG PT PP reformer in his deniming years to keep the wolf from the door. John lost most of the small fortune he built up buying drinks for the house, and taking two 2 himself.

tance to pay gambling debta.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, popular-ly known to the base ball world as Old Alia, is now developing a set of chin whiskers and pitching for one of the many House of David baseball teams. Old Alex didn't have the drungth to turn his glass up aide down, on the mahogany bar.

Prank Gotch, the best wrestler ever donned a pair of tights, died from one of the more cummon dismans because he didn't have the will power to stand popularity and stay home 9 nights.

The Phi Sign defeated the Badgers in sunny Spain, an actor, and professors of 18 to 13. prise fighter, was killed in a knife fight. Kid McCoy was recently released from a popular western penitentiary to which be was sentenced for man alsughter. This is but a small list of the huminaries that have gone the way of the weak. Some are punch drunk from taking too many on the chin, and some have drifted along until they were useles to themselves and mankind.

Naturally every man has not met the mane fate. Ty Cubb retired with over a million in the old sock; Jack Demoney sadgers (12) PG FT PP == 1 has plenty, and Babe Ruth will be able to fool the almahouse for so

1 UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA WILL ARANDON HARING

4 Edmonton, Alberta—(IP) — Permal MOUS COACE TO MILET respection are to take the places of basing initiations of men and vomes that pear decients at the University of Albaria.

This was decided by votes of the This was outcome by votes of the men and on-only, taken separately. The studiests assured that they believed the enventy handle new "grow up," and smidute its social affairs in a significant measure.

"CLIP THIS AD" COLDEN BULE SHOE W. C. PREPATRICE

This coupon will be accepted as ten cents (10c) on any half sole job if presented before February 9, 1933.
From Call Per and Bullway Survivo Perst Door West of Survivo Perst Door West of Survivo Physics Call Perst Door West of Survivo Physics 14.

"CLIP THIS AD"

This Comes will be assumed as five cents (5c) on any ment or plate lunch if presented before February 8, 1933, at:

LINCOLN INN

When Only Pleas Quality Fred and Post in Debate are desert Dance Every Wednesday Night. Bridge Any Time Except Meal Hours Form a Club and Use Our Table Pacilities. You're Welcome.

PURE SILK HOSE conomy East Side of Squa

Yale Head Tells Obligations Which Universities Owe to Our Civilization

variant forms of university extension appear, originally dealing with the are safeguarded against any im conventional materials of the university programms, for the most part in-formally, and so raising no question of a compression of university stand-ards. But later on, the project gots itself entangled in the business of giv-ling duran-and stimulated purbags by the summs of adult scheetional cuter prim not under university auspices, there gradually crosps into the university extension offerings a large body of material wholly alien to conventional university graction, much of it appro-priate to the trade school type of interest. Both of these latter tendendes create a real invasion of traditional university procedure, and by both accepted university, ideals are unques-tionably menaced."

The university has provided the extension of a large number of courses which are outside the regular liberal arts and science courses offered. They provide the basic training for many professions, trades, and discussive arts. It is up to the university to provide these in the best manner and it is to the social order of the day that this is true.

It is true that the universities should

(Continued from page 4)

attim for administer and have been reserved into the fold. Then still later them into clear contact with the new trained forms of service and service to society. ing needs of that assisty, our chief ment of their objectives of the highest they make their unique and invaluable contribution, and especially must the garising of their methods and ideals. The temper of our times will not per-mit the inclution of the university yet it must be kept from becoming ches ened.

Material taken from School and Society, Nov. 28, 1982.

C. P. Com, 400 Birth St., does moderate priced watch remaring and more only genuine parts ande by the factory who made your watch

> COLLEGE INN See Our Rental Library

> TRADE HERE AND SAVE

THE HOUSE OF COMPORT

LAST TIMES TODAY-

AHRARER "STRANGE INTERLUDE"

Also News-Boswell Sisters-Screen Song

WEDNERDAY ONLY-

PAL DAY—2 ADULTS FOR 35c

THURSDAY-FRIDAY-

SATURDAY ONLY-

Raft's Greatest Since "Scarface"!

(DER-COVER GEORGE RAFT. WOMAN WAS JUST

ANOTHER SKIRT TO HIM CARTOON—ACT

SUNDAY-MONDAY-

LOWE MCLAGLEN Lupe Velez

ALSO COMEDY-RADIO ROW-NEWS

PANTHERS TIP DeKALB FROM LITTLE NINETEEN LEAD

Hanover Falls in Rough Battle 48 to 42: DeKalb Falls Before Locals 41-38

Prequent Fouls Mar Fast Play; Orippled Panthers Take Lead and Seven Go Out on Personals in Game

Some sort of a record. was established Priday night on the local court when the Panthers of E. I. subdued Hanover college of Hanover City, Ind., 48 to 42. A total of fifty personal fouls and two technicals were called on the two teams, E. I. garaering a total of twenty-four and Hanover twenty-six. Rand, Walker and Austin were forced from the game with the maximum four while four men, Gwin. Menoud, Razavich and Schuler quitted Hanover's lineup. The Panthers won the game from the free throw life, converting for eighteen points while Hanover scored twelve via the same rout. Both teams scored equally route. Both teams scored equally from the field.

Despite the deluge of fouls a flashy scoring duel was staged, E. I. having all the better of it in the first hair while Hanover took the horors in the second canto. Ballard, Van Behren and Honefinger led the way to a big E. I. haif lead, 25 to 14, the Panthers grabbing an early lead which they in reased steadily. However, Hanover came back in the second half with a raily which sent it into a short lead which they into minutes of game time. The Panthers buoyed their taily to a 34 point standing before Hanover opened up from the field with a bewiddering a winning lead. Despite the deluge of fouls a flashy tack Rainey, Razavich, Gillilars' and Gwin scored twenty-one points be-tween them in this spurt before E. I. wild muster a counter attack. With could muster a counter attack. With the score reading 38 to 34 in favor of the visitors. Von Behren, Ballard and Honefinger again formed the scoring trio which put E. I. into a comfortable lead. Honefinger was the leader in this last charge, scoring four times from the foul line and once from the field.

All in all, it was one of the most bectic battles the locals have played here this season and that makes no exception of those thrillers staged here in the past three weeks. Ballard was again high scorer for the Panthers with fifteen points, making six field goals and half that many free tosses. Honelinger established himself on the team with eleven counters while Von Behren was next in line with seven. Razavich, Hanover center, was the visitors' main threat with fifteen points while Gilliland was not far behind with eleven. In addition to their point gathering, both played good floor games. Each team substituted fre-quently, Coach Lants using eleven The lineups and summaries:

Panthers (48)	PO	FT	PF
Rand f	0	2	4
Ballard f	6	3	3
Alexander, f		0	3
Honefinger, f		5	2
Walker, c	0	2	4
Glibert, c	0	0	1
Brown, c		0	0
Tedrick, g	0	0	1
Von Behren, g		3	0
Barnett, g	1	2	2
Anstin, g	2	1	4
Totals	15	18	24
Hansver (42)	PG	FT	10000
Ransver (42) Rainsy, f	PG	FT 0	3
Ransver ((2)) Rainsy, f Menosi, f	PG	FT 0 0	10000
Ransver (42) Rainsy, f Menosi, f Gilliland, f	unani di	FT 0 0 5	3 4 2
Menced, f	3	5	3 4 2
Gilliand, f	3	5	3 4 2 4 2
Mencal, f Gilbland, f Gwin, c McRully, g	3	5	3 4 2
Mencel, f Gillland, f Owin, c	3 1 0	5 1 0 5	3 4 2 4 2
Menosi, f Gilliand, f Owin, c McRulsy, g Ramvich, g Schuler, g	3 0 5	5 1 0 5	3 4 2 4 2
Mercel, f Gillland, f Gwin, c McRulby, g Ramvich, g	3 0 0 0	5 1 0 5 1	3 6 2 4 2 4
Menon, f Owin, c McRuisy, g Ramvich, g Schuler, g Mean, g	3 0 0 0 0	5 1 0 5 1 0	3 4 2 4 4 2

little oil in time prevents trouble coully repairs. Have your watch and oiled regularly. C. P.

Hold It as Ballard Scores 12 Points.

E. I.'s Panthers knocked DeKalb off its unbeaten perch Saturday night at DeKalb with a 41 to 38 upset of the present leader in the Little Nineteen conference race. DeKalb had previous ly beaten the locals but was outclassed fouls and two technicals were called in this meeting. This victory gives E. on the two teams, E. I. garaering a british of the workly-four and Hanove and Gefacia in the conterence and DeKalb a record of five triumphs against the one set-back

> Coach Lantz played a revised line-up throughout the game which functioned with amazing efficiency. Ballard was sent to guard, a position he has never played on the Panther team. While at this post he did not score a point but after Honefinger fouled out late in the half, Ballard was moved up to forward where he scored six buskets in turreen minutes. Coach Lantz made only one substitution during t he game, so well

> The Panthers undoubtedly played their best defensive game of the sea-son, Rand and Von Behren sharing from the game with four personals. The battle was a decided contrast to the Hanover game in which fifty personals were called. Play was hard, fast and > exciting throughout, neither team trail-ing by more than three points.

>
> E. I.'s victory tightens the conference race and puts the Panthers just a little nearer the top where the class of the league is bunched.

Line-ups and summaries:

Panthers (41)	PG	FT	PF
Honefinger, f3		5	4
Barnett, f		0	1
Rand, f2		0	0
Walker, c3		3	2
Ballard, g6		0	3
Von Behren, g2		1	3
Totals		9	13
DeRalb (38)	G	FT	PF
Westlake, f4		2	1
Pace, 1		2	0
Gwansen, f		1	1
Johnson, c2		2	3
Skoglund, g4		2	4
Nori, g1		1	0
Dudley, g1		0	0
Totals14		10	9
Referee Young (Illinois).

Nearly forty men have reported for Nearly forty men have reported for varsity track since the holidays, and more are expected as soon as the weather warms a bit. This should be a good sasaon for the Panthers on the cinder pathway, and if the weather permits, Coach Angus experts too put the boys through their paces in the near future.

> SPECIALS AT HILL'S DRUG STORE

le Gillette Bladen, 50e Lavender	75e Be having Cream— 49c	Mouth
th fer Tarih Prete OF	both for le Magnesia Tooth Paste 25c	Napkins
VOUR REX	ALL STO

Although Hanover did not prese the best team that has been seen on the E. I. floor this year, they put up the most thrilling game by far. The Punthers were off to a comfortable lead during the first half, then during the second period the Hanover quintet put on a scoring spree that resulted in a tie score, and it seemed for a time as though the Panthers were sue for a trimming.

When defeat seemed highly probable the Panther defense tightened, and the offense started functioning to score the needed points for a victory. who is usually runner-up to Ballard in the scoring column was held to who is usually runner-up to Ballard in the scoring column was held to only two foul goals. Ballard, as is generally the case, was high point man with seventeen points and Honefinger was second high with eleven.

Razavich was high for the Hanover quintet with fifteen points and Gilli-land was second with nine. The diminutive forward on the Hanover team seemed to be the hardest man for the much larger E. I. men to

For a time it seemed as though none of the players that started the game would finish it. A record was estab-lished in at least one department, that lished in at least one department, that being in the matter of personal fouls. A total of forty-nine personal fouls was inflicted on the combined teams. Of this total the Panthers drew twenty-four and Hanover twenty-five. Three technical fouls were called. Of these Hanover drew two, and E. I. one. A grand total of fifty-three fouls in one game is quite an average.

Von Behren received the hardest bump of the game when he was up-set on the floor while going after the tip-off. Von continued play after time-out rest, but after a few minutes had to withdraw from the game Toward the last Von came back into the game for his share of the glury in the matter of scoring the victory.

True to form it was a little known team that put up one of the most in-teresting games of the season even though it was a rough and tumble afthough it was a rough and tumble air-fair. The final score of 48-42 does not signify the actual amount of thrills that were packed into the last few minutes of the game. Regardless of the outcome, the Hanover boys put up a great fight.

The wrestling and boxing matches have not got under way yet, but there is prunise of their being presented in the near future. Managers of the tournament have said that the regis-trations for competition were much

THE VOGUE SHOP

Dress Designing-Linguis Beady-to-Wear-Hoslery Vanity Pair Undergovernte and Hosiery

Infants' Apparel

59c staid Santary 15c

Lantzmen to Play Return Game with Springfield Junior College Thursday

More Interviews with Basketball Players by Writer

Neal is eighteen years old. This is his third year in the E. I. gym but the first in Gray and Blue. The other two were with the Blue and Gold of Tr. C. He played in the district tourna-ment both years in high school and the E. I. league. He was acting cap-tain several times. Don is majoring in history and will also coach.

Raines is a teammate of Neal's, hav-ing played two years at T. C. He is nine'een. He was acting captain dur-ing his high school career. Raines intends to follow the teams coached by his teammates and embalm the bodies as he plans to be, a mortician.

Galbreath is a young man of twenty-one. He was captain of the Clinton ty-one. He was captain of the Clinton team in his fourth year. He played in the district tournament four years, placing second once and third twice. He was placed on the county all-star team once. Galbreath intends to be a general engineer.

Wyeth a four-year T. C. player, is twenty-one. He was captain in his senfor year. He played in the E. I. league and the district. He placed on the second all-star team in the dis-trict. Wyeth will teach social science and coach

Boxing Tournament to Start Wednesday

The boxing and wrestling tourna-ment sponsored by the Men's Union will be held Wednesday and Thursday, February 1 and 2, providing the gym may be secured for these dates

At present no matches have been

At present no matches have been made. Anyone deating to enter this tournament should sign up at Coach Lantz's office in the sym Tuesday. January 31st. Those who have previously signed must sign again so that the matches may be completed. Note: Exact hour not known.

less than had been expected considering the enthusiasm with which the suggestion of such an affair was received.

intramurais were again well under way during the past week. To date the Math club remains the only undefeated club. Individual scoring honors have not been compiled yet. We expect to present them next week. This Game Will Mark the Beginning of Long Stay From Home Court.

The Panthers have only one game carded for this week, that to be played against Springfield Junior College at Springfield. Thursday night. It will be remembered that E. I. handed this team a 41 to 23 defeat in the second game of the season.

Springfield at that time was lacking in scoring power, Waller at center be-ing the only man who caused the slightest trouble. He accounted for nearly half his team's points on that occasion and E. I. plans to stop scoring thrusts this time.

This game will put E. I. well in the midst of a long stay from home, three games following the Springfield tusale. It will also act as a breather between conference tilts.

The probable Springfield College line-up is as follows: Vasey and Scott, forwards; Waller, center; Shuster and Woodall, guards.

Panther "B" Team Loses to Pana Zippers

The Panther "B" team played the Pana Zippers on even terms during the rana cippers on evch terms during the first half of a game at Pana Thursday night, but faltered in the second per-iod to lose out by a 45 to 28 score. Two former E. I. stars. Fearn and Viseur, led the Pana conquest, Fearn scoring led the Pana conquest, Fearn scoring ten points during the fray.

Several of E. I.'s recruits showed promise, Neal, Allen and Barrick doing particularly well. After scoring cighteen points in the first half, however, they slumped and Pana took a commanding last. commanding lead.

Finding a date for the Teachers College tournament seems to be a large order for the coaches of the school. Coach Lantz doesn't want it held on March 4th and 5th because it will con-flict with the term examinations. Ec-Andrews, Oarbondale, coach, doesn't want it held on the next week because of the district tournament and indoor track meet.

60c CLEANING & PRESSING Must Be the Best

CHARLESTON Cleaners & Dyers
RAY WESTENBARGER
610 Sixth St. Phone

KELSEY'S CAFE

Open Day and Night

East Side Square

Private Dining Room for Parties and Banquets

SUNDAY MEALS 35c & 50c

HARRY KELSEY '32 Proprietor

FRIENDLY FIVE

RIDING BOOTS

$500

Widths: B, C, D.—Sizes 5 to 12

Come in and let us show you this boot! You'll marvel at its beauty and quality at such a low price.

JAMES & MURRAY

YOUR CLOTHIEFS

Vickham's Cafe North Side Square

Health Department Aids Students By Giving Information About Colds

minate that no one has ever seen it.

Like the electron, extentiata know it must be there because of its efficies.

Modern polar explorem my that the intimes go thru the bankent Arctic without colds, only to start entire without colds, only to start that the depression has done one of the fluring drops anchors in good.

Look at college life. It certainly stammer of the Spring Grops ancoor in good.

Look at college life. It certainly greats You can set in wet clother by money-flinging, rah-rah days, but the an open window in January and. If colleges and the collegates same to be those are no cold buss musers. You which must be taken before vaccine-for-colds can approach absolute suc-

Ultra-violet rays are of commiderable help to some. Dr. Smiley of Cornell thinks they tone up the capillaries so that the patient becomes bardened to

Graves. Some ductors believe that colds re-sult from an acid committee of the beity. To overcome this they presents were a almalm; bicarbunate of sods, for in-stance. There are curtain rules for eating which are unanimously accept-

To ward off colds, you should get plenty of Vitamin A, which is found in od-liver oil, prunes, spinsch, carrots, cost-new cut, prume, spanes, carrows and other depressing food staffs and plensy of Vikamin B, which covers in whate cerusia, fruits, nuts, and vegetables. Very little candy, and at least six full glasses of water daily are ad-

One of the best preventive measures is the impliction of persons suffering from colds. The greatest single thing which can be done to stop colds." declared to the substitution of the suffering as medium as immining presenting as the substitution of the substitution One of the best preventive m

Manarable indeed is the reply by Dr

Alphano Duches to a query as to what he did for his own colds.
Decisively he answered: "I stay hears, in hed."

The difficulty of avoiding infection is frankly acknowledged, as a large number of people will not be hupt in by "Just A Cold." The immunit by announce of the following the immunit by announce of the following the immunitation of the following the reading of the following the reading of this new prestantly ours to be independent of the following the reading of Mannal Jenkin 74. Members of the Forum are asked to read up on "Technocracy" for this handle and to other hands which he handle and to other hands which he will be one of the forum are asked to read up on "Technocracy" for this handle and to other hands which he will be found on a question or the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the subject will be found on a question to the found on a question to the found on the subject will be found to the found of the found to the found the found to th

Pienty of service never can be mpensated by money," was the fin-conclusion drawn in Miss Rein-rdt's 8:10 education twenty-three ass Thursday morning in discussing sether men will work effectively withsther men will work effectively with-money. Although various artists, steians, and poets were cited as mples who worked for pure love of k, the class was almost equally di-di in taking sides as to whether or moniey may be omitted in motiv-g work. Adias Reinhardt stated i everyone who has service glibly on lips doesn't have any tides of its

In Our Midst

there are no cold bugs present, you contribute the colleges and the colleg a banana split before.

But the quarrest thing is that students are really shadying. They through that they can't play around for six or eight years, and they aren't admanded to admit that they stay at home two or three nights a west and study. It's funny how people who studied used to be entrucked. Not t hat the colleges are going culturistic. Just and Bill. He'll tell you that's all a lot of hoosy. People go to college to get an educa-tion not to learn to speak before a Browning club or a Ladies Aid. They're getting away from specialising and are taking vocational courses so that they are actually prepared to work. Most college stadents are intelligent, and they know that the idea of making half a million because you have an A B. is the bunk. But even this fact has its advantages, for students really ball a million because you have an A B is the bunk. But even this fact has Its advantages, for students real think what they can and most want to do, and then prepare for it therough
I, without depending on that one type of work, however. of work, however.

of work, however.

Don't think, though, that collages are places of hard work and common sense. There are still lovestek couples monoling around the campuss, and offenders who are requested to visit acme other temple of learning. It's just that the sprilight of the depression is turned on the average people beatend of the alectures and frunkers. This is 1863, not 1880.

Technocracy Topic for Forum Meeting

That nevty proposed examine sys-tem. "Technogram," will be studied by the Poyen members at their meet-ing next Priday evening in the re-Comment from Furthern
If you wish to avoid a cold, give your towning, complising riverends a wide barth.
The attributy of avoiding indexion of trankly acknowledged, as a large num
"technocracy and its Advantages."

When most of us gather up courage enough to say what we think, we have forgotten what we thought.

Calendar TUEDAY

-	- 9:AU D. I
Pem Hall Council	_ 6:30 p. 1
Woman's Glee Club	_ 6:45 p.1
Phi digma haden	7:30 p. 1
V-DN-DAY
Class Meeting	9:00 B. E
Women's Lagar Council.	9:30 a. z
Ownert Band	4:10 D. E
Male Chara	S:00 D. s
Daughby in France	7:00 p. s
Science Club	7:00 p. n
THURADAY
College Band	4:10 p. z
MATTY WICOW SAMETEN	7:00 p. m
FRIDAY
Onlings Orchastes	4:10 p. E
Male Churus	5:00 p. w
Consert Band	7:00 D. III

BATURDAY 2:00 p m MONDAY

Doughboy in France _____ 7:00 p. m.

Widow Progressing

(Condinand from page 1)

Pugh; M. Histh, Dale Whitney; Baron Pugit; M. Mash, Dale Whitney; Baron Popoff, Marmwina Ambamador, Roland Wickiese; Natalie, wife of Popoff, Bar-bara McDanels; Servant of the Em-bany, Rolls Poley Jr., and Ladies and Gentlemen of the Embasy.

To Give Two Shows
In order that the public will have an opportunity to see this programme two in France"; and Wednesday and Pri-day at 8:60 for "The Marry Widow."

W. A. A. Plans for Vaudeville Night

The regular meeting of the W. A. A. was held on Friday evening, January 27 in the high school auditorium.

Eathryn Towles, president, president et the meeting.

Reports qure given by the sport
chairman, Elleen Burg, Virginia McDougall, Dorothy Milliam, and v. time Wilson. Plans for a vandeville to be held in the spring; were discussed.

Dhaca, M. Y.—(IP)—Frank E. Gan-nett, head of the Gannett chain of corwapaurs, last week told Cornali University journalism situates to take advertage of the current lean years to do graduate work and equity a stare of wards information before going of this new tente following the reading of these papers. This will be a general discussion of this new tente following the reading of these papers. This will be including the papers. This will be included to the papers. This will be included to the papers. This will be included to the papers of the papers and to tread up on "Technocracy" for the monthing. Available material on this subject will be found on a question that the profession will be found on a question that are reading to the profession will be found on a great of the papers.

COUNTY AND DESCRIPTION

60c Conth &

SCHEIDKER

Holmes Barber

Shop Children's Haircuts

Southwest Corner Square Clgars-Candy-Shir

A. G. FROMMEL

Everything in hardware, dishes, tools, electrical goods and sporting goods. We also repair leather goods, trunks and traveling bags.

"SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY"

SOUTH SIDE SQUARE

PHONE 492

Professor Agrees to Common Expressions

Memohia Tenn-(IP) - Gram Mampolii. Tenn.—(119) — Gyennini. bea no more wight to dictate language unique than psychology has to dictate habite mammars. Fivel. Eachert. C. Felloy of the University of Wincomits and in an address here before the Maticani Council of Tunchers.

This being the cast, he said, gram-nar has no right to say it is wrong to mar has no right to my it is wrong little such expressions as "H's me."

he said "is not the science of what is right or wrong in incorner, but simply the ecimov

"Aristorrette nicety has no pines in the class room. It is our job to teach children to communicate with one an-other in a clear, dound, unselfoun-micus manner and to have the arti-ficial niceties of class dialect out of class room standards."

Other leading educators at the convention joined Prof. Pooley in endorsing such expressions as "it is me," "who are you lorking for?" "had rather," and domine of other similar expressions as mall series. as well established by colloquial usage

At one assists of the convention, Burton H. Powlers bundmarks of Town Wigh School, Wilmington, Del., said that high schools are education and that high encourse are contained ally in "a mea."

Calleges of this country are crying "for boys and girls who can read and write." he mid. "Bigh Schools have falled to bridge the educational gap between the lower grades and collage instruction."

Track Star Goes Into Vaudeville

New York-(IP)-Eddie Tolan, Uni-New York—(IP)—Eddie Tolan, Uni-versity of hichigan colored sprinting, sensation and winner of both the 100 and 200-meter dashes at the last Olympic Games, is now working in vanishville, trying to earn enough money before his victories are for-gotten to support his mother and carry on his own etheration.

Eddie wants to be a declare. Fire for-

Eddle wants to be a doctor. His desire is complicated by the fact that he is the sale support not only of his mother but also of several brothers and sisters. His

His vaudsville appearances en with a show headed by been with a abow headed by mu-leabingen famous Negro dancer. To-lan's routine if brief, he explains how he won his races and describes some of them. He does not support his start chame. He does not support his start career to last much beyond spring. He has been living quietly in Harlem.

Patronite the Charleston merch in the Tunchers College News.

Classified Ada

The Nesse will print tree of charge each week any ode for week. This is restricted to estings distincted only, and each od is limited to ten work, name, and eathern. All administration in the Nesse how by There-

WANTED-I would like any kind of an odd job John Ferbrache, B. R.

WANTED Would like odd jobs on Buturday afternoon and Mondays. Chr. ford Cole, phone 982.

TYPINO—Have you typing to be done? See or call Walter Reid, 1431 9th St. Phone 944. Reasonable rates. WANTED Housest swing, or care of children. Pres at 2:26. Pern Matson, Phone 250.

WANTED—Any kind of an odd joh appreciated, Character Coleman, 1608 South Minth street.

Guinagh Is Speaker at Rotary Meeting

E. J. Outnown was the spanter at the Charleston Rotary club meeting last Tuesday. In his talk he deak with graft in ancient Rome and the various phases of economic life in that

Mr. Guinagh's talk was unusually in Reference to the utmost.

DIMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH Ninth and Lin

2:30 a, m. dumby school, Snyder is happy to see so many your people in his class, and trytes others to join. If you are not attending else-where, come to the little brick church on the curner.

10:30 a. m.-Morning hour of wor 10:10 a. m.—Marrana nour or wor-ship. Pader's aermon: "The Ideal Christian Life." Twst: Col. 3, 12-17. You attend only to become ideal stu-dents. Cosmo to church to become ideal Christiana.

LET

Eaton the Jeweler SAVE YOU MONEY On Watch Repairs POTUMATES FREE

West Side of Square at the Palace Barber Shop

New TIES

Boulevard Heel

Black Calf or Black Pig

'NEW LOW PRICES'

INYART'S Brown bilt Shoe Store THE EAGLE STORE

PURE SILK CHIFFON

Perfect Quality

Literary Contest Supplement

EASTERN ILLINOIS

Teachers College Mews

VOL. XVIII

CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS, TUESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1933

SEC. 2-NO. 17

And So I Wrote An Editorial

Winner of Second Award in Short Story Division.

By Alexander Summars '36

you're under twenty-five this story will bore you; if you're over twenty-five you won't believe it, and if you're at an age where no one thinks you're under thirty, then read between the lines. That's where I hid my subtle digs about the younger generation.

It was one of those tragically sumber winter months when everyone was melting mow with the strains of the new national anthem,
"Just a Little Feam for the Old Soaks." You see, the national election had just taken place and—well, you know what happens after one of those things. But a minor tragedy like an election had not affected me, for I was a sports election had not arrected me, for I was a sports writer and it is unconsument to legislate abhetion. However, sumsthing of far greater emotyotenes had orept upon me, for I had fallen in love. The object of smotten was a set little trunstate trick whom everyone called "Frances the Fibher because the had a habit of talling boys she loved them when she really had no such and leved them when she really had no such smotta-menta. But, as I was myting. I fell in love; the kind of love that made the winter days seem suspiciously spring-like, if you enimated. I can recall having felt a similar momentum revo-over me at least twice before in my life. Once it possessed me when a carelum sweep of the hand sent mather's cally vase crashing to Tuto, and again when I called grandfather a steey because he refused to smoke digarettes, after which he distributuati me.

This sickening sensation arose from knowledge that The Fibber was somewhat infatuated edge that The Fibber was somewhat infatuated with one of the college's star athletes by the name of Harry String. However, people called him "Ham" for short and for fun, since this nomenciature provided excellent opportunities for many amusing puns. Now you might be led to believe that my competition with Ham String was of long standing and that my love the result of the relationship, but for F. F. was the result of long relation you're wrong. As a matter of fact, I had never been with her—yet. That final word gives the whole thing away; so I might as well confess that I visited her one night. The story continues in detail:

We were a trifle shy at first and talked We were a trifle shy at first and talked desultorily with no apparent purpose. I asked her if she cared for a smoke and she replied 'yes,' but when I produced a pack of Twenty Grands she recoiled and dissented for reasons unknown to me. Finding no other topic at hand, I began talking about myself and my prowess as a sports correspondent, admitting modestly that the way I dealt out the dope was fit for a Forum filibuster. She seemed not at all enthused.

"I can't admire anyone who dabbles with the deeds of real men."

I didn't fancy the way she said "real men," but I was a gentleman and merely told her to hush up or I'd leave. She replied unconcern-edly that she didn't care; so I donned my coat and hat, kissed her good-night, and stayed two

Her evident hostility toward sports writers set me to thinking, and following said long process. I decided to reform and become an editorial writer. I congratulated myself for the decision, since it would give me a chance to ridicule Ham String and the general un-happiness of all athletes. Therefore, I pre-pared an elaborate treatise which indicted the

"In a word, participants in amateur sport seidom love the game for long, but once abducted into the net cannot escape. Paradoxically, if they resist abduction, they feel the lash of adverse criticism even more severely and suffer infinitely more for their defiance.

I proudly exhibited the bit and refrained with effort from calling it a masterpiece. Instead, I indifferently referred to it as special, breath-taking, and sensational. Unfortunately, the tranquility was anapped unceremoniously

Winners in Teachers College News Literary Contest

FIRST PRIZE IN SHORT STORY DIVISION-05.00

Miss Josephine Hampton

SECOND PRIZE IN SHORT STORY DIVISION-43.00

HONORABLE MENTION IN SHORT STORY DIVISION

> Miss Kathryo Mallery Ebert E. Field Miss Naidene Groud Mrs. M. Kedley

FIRST PRIZE IN POETRY

Miss Lois Beatrice Widger

SECOND PRIZE IN BOOK

Miss Mildred Grush

HONORABLE MINITION IN POETRY

Rolla Poley, Jr. C. L. Histrina Mrs. M. Kedley Miss Lois Cottingham

The Gift Most Perfect

Winner First Award in Short Story Division By Miss Josephine Hampton '35

"O NE. two, three, four, five." Mike's grimy little fingers closed tightly around the limp dollar bills, and he pressed his small freekied nose once more against the window in Schmidt's clothing store against the window in Scinning's Clouding stole-with satisfaction in his soft baby eyes. The object of his worship was an awkward little model clad in a navy blue chinchilla overcost. It had six brass buttons down the front and on the left breast a silver star which was an exact imitation of Uncle Mike's, who was a poexact imitation of Uncle Mike's, who was a policeman, and for whom Mike had been named. On the model's head was pulled a leather cap with "real goggle-eyes." For weeks little Mike had longed and watted. He had really never dreamed that he would some day possess it. Four dollars and ninety-eight cents was too much to pay for a coat when he had one that was warm, his mother had told him. How Mike hated that coat he was wearing. It had been Katy's, and it had a stringy brown fur collar that tickled his nose and chin and made been carys, and it had a satingly slower to collar that tickled his nose and chin and made him an object of derision from the other boys. Only last week Pat O'Ryan had called him "Sissy." The remark had so rankled in Mike's soul that, when Miss Ann had come to take the children in his tenement to Sunday school last week, he had remained at home rather than wear the old sissy coat.

Now all was changed. Uncle Mike had "a od feeling for him" and had given him five good feeling for him and had given him five dollars, all his own, for his birthday. Mike wondered how the window would look without the cost. He was only seven and he felt very small but very happy as he stood there a mo-ment before he entered the store. There was no difficulty in buying it, for Mike had no

"Tm after likin" the coat in the window," he said in his most grown-up voice to the clerk; but wishing deep in his heart that he had let Katy come with him as his mother had suggested. The clerk, much amused, tried the suggested. The ciers, much amuses, tried to coat on him and pronounced it a perfect fit. A few moments later Mike sped home with coat and goggle-eyed cap done up in a nest

The next day was Easter Sunday, and Miss Ann came at four Saturday to take the 36 children in Mike's tenement to Vesper service in the big church. Mike summed Miss Ann up in a few words. "She has eyes all smiley and hands to otol your face," were his words. Mike, waring his new coat and cap, ast proudly beside her in the pew and looked at the little half clad figure of the Christ Child which stood on a pedestal in front of a rose window. Something about the way the little facure held its arms reminded Mike of the model in Schmidt's cigthing store, Suddenly Mike gasped. The little boy next to him was whispering.

"I'm going to burn three candles, costin fifteen cants each, before the Christ tomorrow Mike felt cold and alone as if the world had fallen away from around him. The candles! He had furgotten. Every year at Baster the children burned wax candles before the Christ Child. Good candles, like the others would have, cost at least ten cents, and poor Mike had only two cents left. Mike remembered something Miss Ann had said at Christmas. "It is more blumd to give than to receive." He had bought a coat and now to the Christ he could not give a single candle. He pulled candles don't burn on Easter?"

"Does a little Christ Child know if one boy's candles don't burn on Easter?"

"Yes, dear. Chwist known evwything," Mike's small face darkened. He had hoped that among so many candles Christ would not miss his. He thought the little figure looked rather cold and foriors standing there on one root all alone.

all alone.

"Does a big church go dark and cold at night?" he asked Miss Ann.

"Yes, dear. Now you must listen to the service." Mike was silenced; but he still watched the little figure. Once he thought the baby

(Continued on Page Two)

Small Things

Winner of First Award in Poetry and Book-Review Division.

By Lois Beatrice Widger

Small things can mean so much to me: The shadow of a pepper-tree, The silver hoop of a moon new-made, A patch of sunlight in the shade, A city street made soft by anow

A harbor light across the bar, A winging bird against the sky, A winging bird against the axy,
A cammon garden butterfly,
The lilac tree beside my door,
Curlews creeping on the shore,
A yellow crocus just awake—
So lovely these, my heart must break.

An Old Spanish Custom

Winner of Second Award in Book Review and Postry Division.

DEATH IN THE AFTERNOON. Remmingway, Scribner, 1922, 23 50

Reviewed by Miss Mildred Grush '34

O begin with the statement that "Dunth in the Afternoon" is a book about bull-fighting, rather than a new murder mystery, is to divert some from further considera-Builfighting to most Americade h become inextricably associated with obese opera singers agonising over the "Tureador Song," and, such being the case, prejudious against it may be justified, but, fortunately, Ernest Homingway has included no opera singers in his book and the nearest approach to agony is the reader's regret that, like proverbial good things, the tale ended too soon.

"Death in the Afternoon" is Hemingway's attempt to explain the intricache of a decident sport to a reading populate who have never, and probably will never, see a builfight, or in the possibility that the reader has attended a fight, to interpret what occurred. Hemingway himself is deeply interested in the sport, having witnessed the killing of fifteen hundred bulk and the fatal wounding or death of not a few men, he has read far back into the history of the game; he knows of its great herom and is qualified to compare with them the modern exponents of the metime; he knows the breeds exponents of the parame; he knows the upwers of bulls and how the strains have been weak-ened to meet the demands of the maladers; he explains under what circumstances the animals are raised tested chipped, selected, and sold. He understands the contents and oriquette of the ring, the life and philosophy of the buildighter. But more interesting is his great knowledge of the tachnique, and, closely great knowledge of the undeshups, and, clossly related, his appreciation of the emotional and artistic significance of the encounter in the areas. Although the reader will breathe more easily after Hamingray's explanation of the role of the horse, whose fate is the phase most objectionable to Nordics; although he will smile over Commission of subtly entiric comments on literature and cheekle questly at the conversation, sparkling and near-sensational, with the nice old indy who wished to learn about life, in the end the reader will find ment enjoyable the explanations of the technique and the artistry of the fight.

FRE it is, too, that one occurs of the literary skill and aptness of the author. Hemingway admits that his first attempts to put a builtight into words were ERE it is, too, that one becomes aware self-assigned literary exercises when he was learning to write. He saw in the bullfight color, action, emotion, a faithful representation of which would tax the most ingenious, embryonic which would tax the most ingenious, embryonic author. From that beginning evolved "Death in the Afternoon." It is hard to imagine a book on bridge or golf or basebail having any weight in the field of letters; in fact, it is difficult to imagine one fully understandable. And yet, such is Hemingway's skill that he has described the complexities of buillighting in clear, lucid prose, comprehensible to all. Further-more, the author is so enthusiastic about it that more, the author is so enthusiastic about it that tion and tragedy of the fight, and finally, in rousing him almost to the point of snatching the red tablecloth and setting forth to seek quite excellent contribution to the deluge of war stories of several years past, established him as the possessor of a particularly pertinent him as the possessor of a particularly pertinent vocabulary; he calls a spede a spade and he hesitates not a split second to do so. If this strikes you as vulgarity, as it does some Hemingway critics, your enjoyment of "Death in the Afternoon" will be appreciably lessened; but if you are a reader who strives to rid himself of, prejudices, one who enjoys subtle wit and nicety of expression, this vivid account of builfighting will appeal to you immensely.

My Personality

By Miss Naidene Stroud '35

A N advertisement in a magazine decided nie. "Why abouldn't I have a dominating personality?" I saked myself. "Why not." as the advertisement stated, "have others obeying my orders?"

Three weeks later a New York Personality-Building Company was two dollars ahead, and I was the pussessor of "Twenty Lessons in the Making of an Aggressive Personality."

The pamphlet was cleverly written, but the only real information it conveyed was that one should make his demands (known as "requests" in the Personality pamphlet) in a decisive, confi-

Since my roummate was the nearest person to me, I decided that she should first feel the fruits of my new personality. Then, too, I felt I had allowed her to impose on me upon in-numerable occasions—she had left the bed for me to make on at least six differe. 'mornings and had falled more than once to have my slippers polished when I badly needed them—so it was only logical that she should assist me (un known to her, of course) in this valuable enter-

Six weeks after my answering of the advertisement I had my runmate a slave, and was looking for new worlds to conquer.

It is not to be supposed that this came about without a struggle. My first request, "You will please mend my hose," given in a "confident, ag-gressive tone," with flashing eyes (and tremb-ling knees—nothing had been said as to the firmness of the knees) shocked my friend into firmness of the knees) shocked my friend into a state of servile docility. There were times, however, when she said. "Why, I won't do it!," "How large was your staff of servants last year?", or 'I like That!" These very minor insurrections I overlooked for the sake of the trait, magnanimity of character, which my, by now, well-worn "Twenty Lessons in the Making of an Aggressive Personality" lold me about. But withal Hie ran smoothly and I was fast bewithal life ran smoothly and I was fast be-coming, in a very close circle of friends, a per-son who could command and receive obedience. I was elated as my amount of leisure time became greater and greater.

THEN came a day when I failed to find my new "bible" in its accustomed place. However, I thought little of that, attributing it to my own carelessee. But, as it was repeatedly mislaid, I became suspicious; I said nothing but waited for an opportunity to find the culprit, whom I presumed to be my room-mate, with the "goods".

One day, after an especially quiet entrance into our room, I found my roommate lying on the bed, chin in hands, reading "Twenty Les-aons in the Making of an Aggressive Personal-

Before I had had time to do more than stare, she looked up amusedly and coolly said, "Inter-esting, isn't it?"

As she threw the book at the wastebasket, she remarked in a tone running over with confidence, "You'll have my dress pressed for me be-

She yawned—while I, with my agreement amality turned dazedly to do her bidding.

What We Live By

WHAT WE LIVE BY. By Ernest Dimnet, Simon and Schuster, 1932, $2.50.

Reviewed by Miss Lois Cottingham '36

V a charming conversational manner Abbe Ernest Dimnet has given us a "plain Ernest Dimnet has given us a "plain guide to our self-perfecting" in his latest a entitled "What We Live By."

Before he has read the first chapter nectors no non read the first chapter the reader is captivated by the style. He almost forgets that he is reading because of the feeling that he is talking to a very wise and dear friend who is giving him advice on living a happier life. It has all the grace of good naveration and all the authority of a talk by what he is passing on to his friends. There is no feeling on the part of the reader, as there so often is, that the author is merely writing words; that he does not live as he remainments that you live. There is never any doubt that Abbe Dimnet has gained his wisdom through experience.

The book has what is rare in discourses of this type. It is interesting and intelligible. There is no dealing in metaphysical terms that serve only to confuse the ordinary person who is secting edvice. It is just exactly what Dinnet planned it to be. He says, "You recognize, I hope, the ductrine underlying every page of this book. It purports to be a plan guide to our self-perfecting but it is in reality a manual of happy living."

There are three justs to the book. The first

There are three parts to the book. The first is called "Verum—the True." It takes up man's mature, an inquiry into the universe, and metaphysics. The second part, "Pul-chrom—the Benetiful," concerns art in de-Beauty in Life," part three, discuss-beauty and religion. Abbe Dismet

MR GUY BURRIS, one of the judges of the Literary Contest, was added to the English department last fall. This picture was drawn by Miss Major at the special request of the News.

Just Between Us

Contributed

ISSEN, kid, did I have a week-end! Gosh! I sure did! I told Joe that I didn't want to go out and meet his family but he into go out and meet his family but he insisted and since we were engaged and all, what could I do? You know, Joe is kinda different from the other fellows so I was wondering what his family would be like. Of course, when you marry a man you don't marry his family, but what I always say is, you never know when you'll have to live with them, kid. Joe works in the office, you know, and all the other fellows I been going around with work in the might of drive trucks or something. Like George. plant or drive trucks or something. Like George.
I always liked George. Gee, kid, has he got a classy new truck! But let me tell you.

a classy new truck! But let me tell you.

Joe had had kind of a row with his family and this was the first time he had been home since and then he only went to introduce his fiance, meaning me. He said if they didn't like me they knew what they could do and he intended to show them they couldn't run his life. I didn't see what he got so worked up about because goodness knows, they liked me well groups. well enough

I was expecting something swell from what Joe said, and kid you ought to have seen that bouse! It sure didn't look so swell to me, the way it was furnished. Nothing classy. No pictures on the walls, none of those little touches that practically make a house. Gee. kid, we've got more decorations in one room than they have in their whole house. I mean

"So you're the girl Joseph has selected," his ed us to get along real well so I was willing to go out of my way to be nice to her. Of course, I made up my mind right away that we weren't going to live in a place like that when we got married. I'm for an apartment and fancy things, But his mother didn't loosen up much and I knew it would take a long time to bring her around. It's a funny thing and I don't know why it is, but people always like me when how why it is, but people always like me when they get to know me.

I wish you could have seen the room they gave me. It was nice enough and clean, of course, but so plain! The furniture was plain wainut and the walls didn't have no pictures except a few little drawings, you know—not paintings like them calendars the factory put out this year, these just look like they was drawn and probably don't cost near as much because you can see they wouldn't be near the trouble to make, kid. But lissen, you could tell they wanted to impress me because by put their best abwiss and pillow cases on the bed. Imagine white silk bed clothes! Lissen, you (Continued on Page Four)

(Continued on Page Four)

thinks that an understanding of these subjects will help mark the way to the happy

Frobably "What We Live By" would make its greatest appeal to the reader who is will-ing to give his full attention to the book and perhaps to revend many parts of it to get the full manning. For this person it will be en-joyable as well as instructive.

A New Book of Poems

DREAMERS ON HORSEBACK. Baker, K. Southwest Press. 1931. $2.00.

Reviewed by Member of News Staff

Parker and her "Death and Taxes."
Others highly commend Edna St. Vincent Mil-Others highly commend Edna St. Vincent Mil-lay and her sonnets in "Patal Interview" and thrill to her Sunday night performances over WMAQ. But today, I speak of Karle Wilson Baker and the new collection of his verse, "Dreamers on Horseback." Do you know his poetry? To me, there is semething strong and beautiful in his verse. It is hard to describe poetry in such a way that it will appeal to others. Often the critic only makes a volume of verse sound as if it were "for morons only"; foolish, fugacious flights of fancy. But Karle Wilson Baker is as sturdy as his name sounds. You have a feeling that perhaps his head isn't quite hidden in the clouds and you are sure that he has two feet firmly on the ground.

He says of his own fellow poets:
"I love to see them sitting solemnly

Holding their souls like watches to their ears,
And shouting, every time they tick, 'A poem'!" When you find that a poet has a sense of mor, it gives you courage to go on with his oks. And if he is a good poet, you expect to find, when you go on residing his verse, that he will show a serious attitude toward things, too. Baker does this. To ilustrate, I quote "Blue Smoke":

The flame of my life burns low Under the cluttered days,
Like a fire of leaves.
But always a little blue, sweet-smelling smoke

Goes up to God." Another one that I thought very nice was

"Some days my thoughts are just cocoons all cold, and dull, and blind,

They hang from dripping branches in the grey woods of my mind;

And other days they drift and shine—such free and flying things!

I find the gold-dust in my hair, left by their brushing wings."

And So I Wrote an Editorial (Continued from Page One)

when the coach called me in for a "conference" and said things designed to defiate me. The athletes of the college were incensed and promised bodily harm, adding that the only reason it had not already been perpetrated was because of my insignificant stature. They said it with doubled fists and cursed under their breaths, only to stroll away resignedly when their necks became stiff from gazing down upon me. To heap hurt on humiliation, I was given notibe that my service as a sports reporter was no longer needed by the local paper.

ROM the above you might assume that all effects were exclusively disastrous, but again I must correct you Striking miners of Taylorville telegraphed me an offer to write anyonal in the interests of their cause, but I refused because I consider it more aesthetic to feel the gentle thud of a few harsh words on one's head than the thunder of chunks of coal. The Socialists proffered me the presidency of their clan but I declined because I dency of their clan but I declined because I was in love and wanted to prove it.

So I trekked down to the Fibbers, condient she could no longer love that bloke of an athlete after reading my article. We spent a dalightful evening in conversation during which much to my delight, I discovered she was very intellectual but did not, as most girls, disclaim to the provided of the low to the discovered when the provided of the low the second of the low the low the low the second of the low the lo was very intellectual but did not, as most girls, display her knowledge. She limited her remarks to such clever bits as "Oh yeah" "I don't care," "Is that so?" and "I don't know." I think there is nothing I admire as much as sweet simplicity, and you can readily see that she pussemed this quality. Before I left she asked if an athlete's existence was really as painful as I had pictured it, to which I replied with grandiloquent flourishes that it certainly was true. She answered simply, "Isn't that tragic." tragic."

I sensed I was making a hit with P. P. and I sensed I was making a hit with P. P. and you can bet it made me very happy. But you can imagine my magnified joy when the local occupance called me next day to say that all had been forgiven and that I was to cover a story about a wedding which had just taken place involving two college students. The editor referred me to an address with which I was familiar and toward which I made my way with unruled compacture. I acked for an interretered me to an address with which I was familiar and toward which I made my way with pussied emjectures. I saked for an interview with the new bride and who should step forth but "Prances the Fibber! I was over come, and warned her not to jest with me. She assured me she was really married—and guess to whom? Why, that fist-footed athlete! "You see," she said, "siter reading your editorial, I felt so sorry for Ham that I married him." I hastilly prepared an elaborate dirpe bettering the rejected lover, but before I could present it P. F. had vanished. And love, so to speak, had flown out of my life on the wings of an editorial.
What? You say the story has an instand plot—no mis—no continuity! Why should it? I belong to the new school of authors who write for memery and not for beauty of mannershaves when love is concerned.

Blackberrying By Mrs. M. Kedley

Whas I made for blackberrying? I was not. And to tell thou what I did—well, to start at the beginning—I was anninted with coal-oil. The stench rose to high heaven blotting out a glorious sunrise. Next I were my father's shoes, size elevens, so I'd have plenty of room—I needed it for the seven blisters I collected on one foot. The other went over corn-fields, through woods,

We went over corn-fields through woods, down hill, along a valley, uphill—And fence-need I say if Abe split all the rails for the fences I fell over, that he was a man indeed! Then the last stream to cross and a whole hillside of black beauties. Merrily I leaped across—leaped is right—because I missed the opposite bank and landed with one foot in quickand. Oh, death where is thy sting? There went my father's shoel

There went my father's shoel
Alded by four of the husklest I was holsted ashore. Oh, what a relief, safe at last on the breast of dear old mamma nature, bo good ashe looked and felt. The party left me soon after the rescue. There seemed to be a coolness. Oh well, such was life, leave vile man to his base pursuits, I'd commune with nature.
I sat down and roled over to view nature
a la Millay. I heard a protesting squeak.
Dear and gentle reader, I thought I was getting oid!

Some days later when I reached

Some days later when I reached the stage when I was allowed to sit up in bed, they told me the snake was quite harmless and had died instantaneously.

The Gift Most Perfect (Continued from Page One)

shoulders shivered. All the way home he kept seeing it all alone and cold in the big dark church. At home he immediately changed his coat and went out to play. Just before dark he disappeared and did not return until the rest of the family was eating supper. He took off the sissy coat and sat down. Katy, who was the only one who paid any attention to him thought his eyes looked very red as it he him, thought his eyes looked very red as if he

"Mike, have you been fightin' Pat again?" she asked. Mike choked, but made no answer.

she asked. Mike choked, but made no snawer.
He slipped away to bed as soon as possible.
The next morning the janitor of the big church came early to get the building warm for mass. As he switched on the lights, a curious sight met his eyes. There on its pedestal was the Christ Child; but such a change. It was wrapped in a blue chinchilla coat with six brass buttons and a policeman's star. On the head in place of a halo was a leather cap with "real goggle-eyes." In one hand was a note much scrawled but legible.

"I'll be jinged," said the janitor as he read

"A gift tew the chris chile, cos I aint got env candles.

I'm Answering You, Vachel Lindsay!

By Rolla Foley, Jr., '36 Hey You!

Vachei Lingsay.

You say a negro will never get all that savage blood out of him—
Don't you?

Well-Lindsay-he won't

It's a fact!

You say at church he must stand up, like a fool, and express himself with a

GLORY! GLORY! HALLELUJAH! He's gotta! And he's also gotta dance around with loud shouts to express his emotions

It's true I'll admit it! But Listen You White Man!
Did you ever stop to think that you also will never get rid of all your savage blood?

You're laughing aren't you?

Now let me tell you. You, you white man.

You're "two faced" and we negroes ain't.

We gotta yelpi—to that there-rhythm:

Boom-a-Boom—the devil will (
'you soon!

HALLELUJAE!!

But you can keep your feelings under cover, (awhile)

You, you white man.
You go to a marvelous opers—you are fascinated.
You can listen to Jascha Helfets draw the bow over his violin, and Rachmanin-cif's fingers wander over the ivory. Tears stream down your cheeka. You are very sophisticated: BUT!

After that opera you're off to a night club where you can dance, and scream, and throw confett, and blow tin hors, to the rhythma beat out by a

NOW—what's the difference?
You tell me!
I'm a fool—I knew ti—but you've heard my side of the tale.
I'm tired.

A Story of the Dance

INVITATION TO THE WALTZ. By Rosamond

Reviewed by Member of News Staff

Meviswed by member of News Staff

I have read to the point where I feel there is very little that is new. You can depend on one type of book to be long, tiresipld. I could list types indefinitely. I have read the classics (some of them) and I have read the moderns (also some of them). I have read highbrow books and I have read paper backs. I have read the calendar and the almanac, the advertisements in the magazines and the directions on the bottle.
When I read "Envisation To The Walts" by magazine and the directions on the bottle. When I read "Envistation To The Waltz" by Excamond Lehmann. I realized that I was reading something that was, to quote a trite phrase, "refreshingly different." I was fascinated with it. I read it during study periods. I read it during lunch hour. I even—oh shameful to confessi—read it during class period.

The book is not a gripping "thriller." The plot situation does not hold you breathless. There is no mystery, no glamor, no fore-shadowing, no excitement. The humor is subtle; certainly one does not send it for that The characters are not outstanding: they are simply normal, everyday people do-ing nothing much out of the ordinary; inci-dental characters introduced in a minor manner show more plot material than the major characters. Then what holds the attention? It must be the simple, flowing, story-telling style of the author.

But perhaps it is the characters that hold you and make the book what it is. They do such human things. For instance, the heroine, Olivia Curtiss, on her seventeenth birthday, has put on an old brown dress, but—"Over it has pit on an old brown chess, but— Over it she fastened a broad scarlet patent leather belt. The belt was an object that had virtue in it. She had had it for two years. It was cracked, pealing a little. Within its compass she felt a certainty of individuality like a seal set upon her and she loved it, liked to think of it lying colled, secret and brilliant, it hat to lett hand drawer. She had another in the top left-hand drawer. She had another belt, a thin nigger brown one of suede; and that was a good belt too, though less depend-

That is her sort of humor, and yet, is that humor? I remember how, only yesterday, I halled with joy my bright red patent leather belt that I lost and mourned for so long. It is worn out and why I prefer it to others I don't know any more than Olivin knew why she liked hers. I do know I wear it when possible and when not possible; even now, it is around my smock.

The whole story concerns the action of only two days and is mostly very clever character portrayal. She does not drag a man in and say. "Here is Whosis. He is like this and that. You'll not like him." Much more clever. The young curate that is going to spend the week-end and take the two sisters to a dance, week-end and take the two sisters to a dance, arrives drenched to the skin because he missed the car sent to the train and very much of a martyr, insists he is perfectly all right. He only likes things "in moderation." Imagine going to one's first bell with that! He confides to younger brother, who immediately tells Olivia and Kate, that he only likes girls "in moderation." "I'll moderate him!" was Rate's answer.

Little Olivia; at her first dance, is neither a big success nor a wallflower. She does not know that the young poet with "O'Cedar mop hair" is not strictly sober and sends him home to get well. She feels sorry for the old man who claims her for four dances and then in-vites her to tes at his cottage, alone. She is vites her to tea at his cottage, sione. She is amazed to see the Curate get lively; after all, if one has dedicated one's life to the church, one should not go to balls at all or one is one should not go to balls at all or one is very likely to be all upset. She meets and dances with a billed young man who is neither a noble martyr nor a whiny invalle, but simply a normal man living a normal life under a terrible handlesp. He is one of the minor characters about which an excellent story might have been written. Olivia goes home at four o'clock in the morning as heart free as: when she went, which might be disappointing but isn't; especially it isn't if you're fed up with stories of young people who meet and marry within two or three days at least, with week as the time limit.

a week as the time limit.

Characters are brought in by the handfuls and yet there is no intricate detail to complicate the plot. It all runs amouthly along, and I feft that I had been to dance myself and met a lot of new people. It had just that effect

Rusticana

By C. L. Higgins '36

Aster picking has its lure Especially when I'm with her. Up winding lanes we trudging go. Two hearts in how-dull Earth's below. Just to lend credence to our walk. We plush pour asters, staft by stalk. And now returning down the lanes. Our hearts are full and quite astir. Por her arms are full of asters; My arms are full of her.

MR. CHARLES COLEMAN, history teacher extraordinary, is a member of that famous clan of politicians now in power in the United

MR. GLEN SEYMOUR, also a history teachr of note, is a companion of Mr. Coleman. leed more be said? Drawn by Miss Ruth

Corn Bread and Stew

A Story Dished Up in a Style Everyone Likes . . . Just as Corn Bread and Stew

By Miss Kathryn Louise Mallory '33

'VE worked hard for a good many years." said Mary Macgruder, stirring a pot of stew vigorously as it bubbled on the range, "to keep body and soul together in my family and if you ask me, it ain't no harder to get three meals a day for your body than it is to keep your soul going. But I've done it. There ain't nobody got children no better than mine nor a husband more willing to work. It ain't his fault times is hard and men is laid off."

Mrs. Leslie Howard occupied the only avail-le chair and swung a well clad foot in a preoccupied manner.

occupied manner.

"With all my money," she said, "you have something that I haven't. That is why I wanted to talk to you about myself. You have no idea of the worries that wealthy people have. Oh. I'd give anything to change places withyou for awhile! That stew smells deligious. If I were to ask my cook to make that, I would never recognize the results. That is fit for royalty.

Mary Macgruder looked around the room, wondering how it appeared in the eyes of her visitor. To her it had become home and she took it for granted. It had originally been intended for a kitchen but its services had been extended until now it was a dining-room, liv-ing-room, and bed-room. Chairs, a table, a clothes line full of drying clothes, and an ironing board were all huddled around the great range. In one corner stood a Morris chair, sagging slightly, but very restful looking. Opposite, beneath a smoky window, was a couch over which was thrown a worn red tapestry cover, bulged at the top by a pillow. This was not the only room in the house but you felt that the other rooms were superfluous and you that the other rooms were superfluous and you knew instinctively that in this room all the real business of living was carried on.

"If it's advice you be wanting," said Mary Macgruder, alowly, "I ain't hed one to come to. I ain't had much in my life. I ain't had the advantages that you've had. But there is one thing I've learned; money ain't the only thing that counts in this world."

"I just knew you would know that. That's why I came to you for advice. It took me a long time to find that out for myself. I thought it was money that I wanted. I am so gled I took un this Social Service work. You can't look up this Social Service work. You can't took up this Social Service work. You can't took up this Social Service work. You can't imagine how much good it has done me to find so many women so happy when they have so much less of the material things than I have. Every since I've been coming here I've beta wanting to talk to you because you seem so vital, so much a part of life."

The has never worded me none whether I wanting to talk to you because you seem so vital, so much a part of life."

"It has never worried me none whether I was getting a lot out of life. I never had no time to stop and think of things like that. I've had three children and a husband to look after and very little money to do it with. Some day my children will grow up and then I'll be looking around for something to think about."

Mrs. Howard smiled. "Swaywhere I go in this building I hear your praises sing. The whole house adores you. You are a mother to the lot of them. The time will never come when you don't have an interest in life. Please, couldn't you help me? I can't go to my own mother for she wouldn't understand."

"You told me once that you had been to college," said Mrs. Maggruder, turning her attention to a yellow mixing bowl and its contents. Do you keep up that sort of work? Read books and such like?"

"Oh you cape up that sort of work? Read books and such like?"

"Oh you keep up that sort of work? Read books and such like?"

"Oh you keep up that may he how boring it is to have to spund a lot of time reading."

"No, I couldn't imagine that," the answered, casting a furtive glance at a half-hidden shelf of books by the side of the Morris chair. "I never had no chance to finish my education though I often wished I had. Do you ever study art, drama, or things like them?"

"I studied that when I was in school so I am fairly well informed. No, study knt what I need, I'm sure. I feel my education is pretty complete. If you had ever gone to college you'd know that you learn quite a bit about most things, at least enough so that it isn't necessary to stiff any work when you (light exheric).

sary to study any more when you finish school."
"H-m-m-m. I see," was the answer as she carefully broke an egg into the bowl. "Then I should think that the only thing for you to do would be to take an interest in your family. Let would be to take an interest in your tamily. Let the nurse go and look after your children your-self. Give them their baths, feed them, read to them, play with them, take them out for an airing. Of course. I ain't presuming to tell you what to do or how to raise your children but children can certainly take up your time and they give you an interest you'll never find no-where size. where else

"My children are adorable," said the beautiful lady, smiling wistfully, "but they hardly know I'm their mother, I see them so seldom. I have a feeling you are right and I have a feeling I'm going to try your idea. I'll start in tonight."

some to try your idea. I'll start in tonight."
"Fine!" applauded Mrs. Macgruder, heartily.
"Gure and its talk like that I like to hear. It's your husband that will be proud of his wife and the children that will be glad to have their mother with them."

A FTER her visitor had gone, leaving behind her bundle of warm clothes for the three Macgruder children, Mary stood fingering the garments with a weary smile on her lips Then, after putting the corn bread she had mix-ed, into the oven, she sat down in the Morris chair and picked up her book.

A half an hour later, when her husband came in, she gave him an absent-minded smile as she glanced up from her book but his "Well, Mary!" spoken in such a tone that she knew something big was to come, caused her to give him her full attention and a bright, "Well, John?" "It's all settled," he answered, as if he could hardly wait to tell her the news. "The job starts Monday and we can go apartment hunting to-morrow. No more tenements, no more worry, no morrow. No more tenements, no more wurry, no more charity."

"John!" was all she could say, the book fall-ing unheeded to the floor. "John, how wonder-

John's eyes had fallen on the pile of cloth-in the chair and he heaved a big sigh of

"Mary," he said, "won't you send all that stuff back to that woman? We won't need it now and you've no idea how I've hated having to accept things from people."

'In that pile there are good warm things for Betty and Jacky and Sue. Now that we know we could buy them, there is no disgrace in hav-ing them given to us. Besides, it wasn't charity this time, it was a bargain. I exchanged advice for all of this."

"How?"
"Mrs. Lealle Howard has been reading too many stories about the poor little rich girl. I sent her home to look after her children—you know, do her duty by her family and all that sort of thing. She asked me what she should do so amuse herself so I told her."

"Did she parunine you, as usual?"
"Did she parunine you, as usual?"
"Oh yas, but I can forget I have a university digner and that I have read a book If it pleases her and brings such results. After all, it never paid me to remember my education. I never

(Continued on Page Pour)

The Nether World

By Elbert Edison Field '35

JOB such as I had gave me freedom when A I wished it, and I wished it often. I frequently visited the insane hospital across the river, and watched or talked with some of the milder patients. Here, if anywhere, I awakened to some of the deep tragedy in life. Those poor helpless animals in human form de-pressed me beyond measure, and I spent hours pondering why such misfortunes had to be. I pondering why sight mistortumes had to be: I heard many plaintive voices pleading for re-lease to return home; elderly patients would con-demn their relatives for committing them to such a place, just because they were old and helpless. When I looked into their eyes, I believed that some of them spoke the truth. turned away to nide my distress.

But some of those patients were as funny as they could be. I often visited the institution in company with Father —, the rector of St. Paul's. The ministers of the different churches held public services there a certain number of weeks each year, in addition to their many private visits. One jolly, fat, red-faced fellow of about sixty, who wore a brown sweater, a red about sixty, who wore a brown sweater, a red sash around his big middle, black trousers, and shoes run over at the heel, was always waiting to talk with Father — He had wanted to be an Episcopal min.ster from boyhood. Time and again he asked the same question: "When can I start to theological school?"

Many of the patients were unbalanced only on some minor thing; these were perfectly harmless and very interesting to talk with, because they were so unsophisticated. Patients of this kind were given responsibilities around the hospital. Once some friends of mine were shown through one of the buildings. Their guide was also a patient, although they didn't guide was also a patient, airnough ency owns know that he was. He showed them the different parts of the building and described particular cases with a tongue as facile as a psychiatrist's. The guide called the visitors' attention to a sane-looking patient and said, "Here is a very peculiar case. This man is as same as I very peculiar case. This man is as sane as am except for one thing: he thinks he is God.

"Perhaps he is." jokingly remarked one of the

"But he can't be, because I am," replied the serious-faced fellow

Another day some pre-medical students from the University of Chicago were going through the hospital. One of them, "Herbie," was a hapby fellow with red cheeks and laughing blue eyes. He was greatly enjoying the visit, and happened to be a few feet ahead of the rest of the party when he suddenly froze in his tracks. A patient was coming steadily towar, him, holding the blue-eyed lad with the steady, glassy gaze of a snake charming a bird. The fellow came to a halt about a foot away and continued to stare. It was necessary to jerk "Herble" away to break the hypnotic spell. The boy was as white as a sheet, and his knees were shaking. When he recovered his composure, we asked him how he felt. Herbie said he thought the patient was thinking, "My God, here I am locked up, and such as you go free."

The river provides the peaceful unnoticed it from the world for many of those poor devils. The body is forked out of the river and returned to the common burial field to the dust from whence it came.

A Trilogy

By Mrs. M. Kedley '36

The Quilter

She sat with sainted patience And pushed her needle in and out Plucking up bits of cloth and cotton Til she fashioned a multitude of tiny squares.

Their sameness bored my eye While pleasing her —
For was not her life as blameless And as boring as a perfect square?

> II. The Quilter Bests

lently she mouths The names of quilts-Rose of Sharon, Priendship's Key, Grandma's Garden, Lone Pine-tree, Old Log Cahin—all Greek to me— Yet mean so much to her But I can only see bits of calico Cut up and laboriously Stitched together again. One of us is blind

III.
The Quilter Beads A Quilt

'Your granma's wedding dress, it was And Uncle Ruben's first short pants And Uncle Ruben's first short pants (You've seen his little shoes.) Yonder's Aunt Mattle's bapt'sting gown Your granpa's mourning vest, Miles Callie's second best black crepe And her Bob's wine-spetted the—See—there's your christening robe, And here's your whistening robe, This is the dress you wore back home—What will you wear when you go again?"

With The Editor

A total of thirty-six manuscripts were handed in by students of the high school and college in this literary contest spunsared by the Ness. The editors found that many of the manuscripts were peorly constructed, and showed the lack of careful preparaction. Per-haps more time should have been given by those who were planning to enter the contest, so that the work could have been more finished. In this first contest which the paper has sponsored since in 1928 the response was good, and in future contests there should be ore and better works entered.

more and better works entered.

According to the judges the poetry and bookreviews were better than the short stories.

Quoting Mr. Guy Burris: "In the manuscripts Mr. Waffle and I read for the contest, we found, to our surprise, that the level of the verse and book-reviews submitted was higher than the level of the short stories. This side verse and book-reviews submitted was higher than the level of the short stories. This did not seem, after reflection, to be so strange as it had swemed upon first consideration. Fic-tion writing is a complete and difficult task, which requires a more sustained excellence than these other forms.

"In my opinion, a contest of this sort should stimulate a more general interest than this seems to have done. In a student body of 1,000, there should, I think, be more people of literary aspiration."

Mr. P. L. Andrewa, faculty adviser of the News, made the following statement:

"With this issue of the News we are presenting to the school the first Literary Supplement to be put out by our school paper. The editors were well pleased with the quality of the manuscripts received. They have enjoyed the make-up work in connection with articles. They were disappointed, however, that such a few students felt urged to submit their work for the contest. As is the case with many ven-tures, talent is often discovered where the edi-tors least expect to find it. We hope that this Literary Supplement will remind those who like to write, but did not, that student interest in creative writing is dead at E. I."

The literary contest sponsored by the News this year was judged by two members of the English Department, Mr. Guy Burris, and Mr. Eugene Waffle.

Mr. Waffle has been teaching here for mber of years and has seen several fresh-an classes in rhetoric pass through the am" stage into that stage which is more pleasant.

Mr. Burris is spending his first year as a member of the college faculty, coming here from Millikin. He has entered into the spirit of this school and accepted the offer of the News to judge the manuscripts. Although the News to judge the manuscripts. Although the number of entries were unknown at the time the two judges were asked to serve, they readily gave their time, whether there be a hundred to judge or only five.

The cooperation of these two members of the faculty has been splendid and the News takes this opportunity to thank them.

Corn Bread and Stew (Continued from Page Three)

got a cent for all I knew but now the less I know the more I get. Oh John, dear, do you know the first thing I am going to do?"

"What?"
"Tm going to go and get a facial, a shampoo and a wave set. I'm tired of looking like 'that old Irish mother of mine. 'Honestly, do I look old enough to mother everyone in this building?"
"You look barely old enough to be a mother of a very small child," he answered her, gallant-on a very small round, no showever her, palashi-ly. "You look much less than the thirty years I know you to be."

"Then it is true that love is blind for Mrs. Leatie Howard is thirty-two and she came to me instead of going to her mother for advice."
"That is practically an insuit," her husband

"Not at all It is a compliment to my dramatic ability. I didn't take dramatics for nothing. And now, if you'll call the children we'll have a meal that is fit for a king, in other words, a royal repast."
"What is it?"

"Corn bread and stew."

Literary Contest Supplement of the Teachers College News

Published by the students of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, at Charleston.

PAUL ELLIOT BLAIR '33

Contributing Editor KATHRYN MALLORY '33

Paculty Adviser MR. F. L. ANDREWS

NEWS OF THE AUTHORS

KATHRYN LOUISE MALLORY, writer of "Corn Bread and Stew," has been a consistent contributor to the News for the past three years. From the point of zervice Miss Mallory is the oldest member of the staff. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mallory, Western Ave., Mattoon, Ill. She was graduated from Mattoon High school in 1829, and enrolled in this college that fall. Except for two quarters which ahe spent working in Mattoon she has been attending this college since then. She has had a number of short stories in the News and has conducted a colstories in the News and has conducted a column in the paper for three years

JOSEPHINE HAMPTON, winner of first prise in the short story contest with "A Gift Most Perfect," is a resident of Charleston. She lives with her mother, Mrs. Sarah H. Hamp-ton, at 202 Polk street, and is a sophomore in college. She was graduated from Teachers College High school in 1931. While in high school Miss Hampton wrote for the high school section of the paper. Other than that she has never written for publication. When informed of her winning the prize she said to the reporter, "You could knock me over with

LOIS COTTINGHAM, the reviewer "What We Live By," is a freshman in the col-lege. She was graduated from Danville High school in 1932. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Cottingham of Danville. Miss Cot-tingham is a member of the News staff and

ELBERT EDISON FIELD, the present stu-ELBERT EDISON FIELD, the present stu-dent treasure, forsook the fields of finance to write a story, and won an honorable mention in so doing with "The Nether World." Field was graduated from Charleston City High school in 1928. He spent one year at the Unischool in 1928. He spent one year at the Uni-versity of Illinois, and has been at this coi-lege for two years. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Fleid of this city. Three years after his graduation from high school were spent in Chicago and Wauke, an work-ing for a chain store. He returned to finish his degree in industrial arts.

LOIS BEATRICE WIDGER, winner of the LOIS BEATRICE WILDLES, as a junior first award in the poetry division, is a junior in Teachers College High school She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Der Widger. Mr. Wildram is a member of the English departdaughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Del' Widger. Mr. Widger is a member of the English department of the college, and Miss Widger Inherits some of the literary ability of the family. Miss Widger has been in California for the past year and returned last fall to enter high school again. She has had a number of bits of verse published in the News under "The Poet's Corner." ALEXANDER SUMMERS, a freshman in the college, is a graduate of Charleston City High school. The story, "SO I WISOTE AN EDITORRAL," winner of second award, is the result of a feature article which Summers result of a feature article which Summers published in the Ness some time ago. He is the sports editor of the Ness, and knows "of what he speaks." Summers resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Summers, in Charleston.

ROLLY FOLEY, Jr. just entered school this quarter. He comes from Villa Grove, where he was graduated from the local high school in 1802. He is the son of Mr. and Mr. Rolls Poley of that city. Poley was editor of the annual last year at that high school.

C. L. HIGGINS, freshman from Des Plaines, Illinois, is a graduate of Corsu High school in New York. He has had previous newspaper experience.

NAIDENE STROUD, on answering the phone call of the editor, said, "What's wrong now?" She is a columnist on the News. Miss Stroud is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Stroud of Dieterich. She was graduated from Rflingham High school in 1931, and has since spent two years at this college. "What's wrong he News. Miss

MRS. M. B. EXDLEY, was born in Char-leston and has been a student in the Training school and Teschers College High school. She is now in her first year in the college. In her report to the editor she states that she is married and has been since 1922, that she has the following preferences; food, cold; na-ture, sunsets; time, evening; hobby, dime-store China; sports, writing; and amusements, reading. Bad temper, so she says, is her outstand-ing characteristic. She is a writer on the News

MIRS MAJOR, whose caricatures adorn the pages of this supplement, is a teacher of the pages of this supplement, is a teacher or music in the college and training schools. These pattures were drawn in her spare time for the faculty Christmas party. We scouted around and these pictures are a few of the ones we could obtain. Taking the picture of the subject or the actual model, Miss Major with rapid skriches of the pencil, brings out the strong factors in the person's face, and lo, there he is, a professor.

MILDRED GRUSH, winner of second sward in the book-review division, is a graduate of Mount Morris Community High school. She is the daughter of Mrs. Maude Grush of Mount Morris. Miss Grush attended Northern Illinois State Teachers college for over two years, and then transferred to this college. She is a junior in the college.

Just Between Us Girls

(Continued from Page Two)

know when Dorothy was married, she had a set of orchid silk sheets all embroidered in yellow and green and gee, were they prettyl what I always say is, you might as well get your money's worth, even if you have to pay little more.

Joe told me they would wear evening clothes for dinner so I had my dress with me. Did you ever see it? It's black satin, itid, and is cut to the waist-line in the back and only has straps across the shoulders. There's a band of to the waist-line in the back and only has straps across the shoulders. There's a band of brilliants around the neckline and the skirt reaches the floor. It's a copy of a Faris model and it sure looks it. You'd never guess that I got it in Black's bassement and only paid 85.50 for it! Then I wear that pearl necklace that Ceurge gave me for Christman the year we was going steady. Gee, George is a swell fells and he certainly did spend the money on me. I periced them necklaces and he must have paid two dollars for it! They look like they were good, though, so I guess it pays to spend more. They're real long and I always loop them over. Helen may pearls like them are out of date but a fashion book says that good levelry is never out of date and I always say that I'd believe a book a whole lot quicker than I would Blein. Then I have a new pair of shess. I sade am proud of them, kid. They are black satin hows. Satin lasts real well and you can always finish wearing them out at work.

S o I looked pretty nice when I came down stairs and I know Joe thought so too.

"Shall I kies you?" he asked, there wasn't

"Oh, Joe," I says, "You'll mess up my lip-stick. I spent a long time getting it on straight."

"It must have taken a long time to get that much on!" he says, but I'm used to being kidded after going with George as long as I did. George is always kidding.

Then his sister came in. Her name is Mar-garet and she is like the mother, awfully shy and stiff. Her dress was real plain and she didn't have no jewelry on at all. Just a flower. I have a red neckines that would have livened that up a lot. It just takes those little touches to make a dress.

"I feel that we are going to be good friends, Peggy," I said, holding her hand and calling her by a nickname because that always makes shy people feel more easy.

"Do you?" she says and then she turns to Joe and says, "Eleanor is coming to dinner to-Joe and says, "sieanor is coming to dinner to-night. She is bringing her fiance with her. Quite a charming meeting, don't you think?" I says, "Who is Reanor?" wondering why Joe's face got so red. "Didn't Joe ever tell you about Rieanor, the gir! he was engaged to?" she asked, smiling at girl he was engaged to?" she asked, smiling at me.

"Oh. Joe," I says, seeing at once why he was embarrasmed, "Do you think I'm jealous? Goodness, I've been engaged before, too, and I don't expect you to be jealous of George, not that he isn't jealous of you!"

Well, this girl came and I couldn't see that she was so much. I didn't pay much attention to her. Her fells was much more interesting. So was Jor's brother. They sat down at the other end of the table and we had to talk kinds loud to each other but the rest of them didn't talk much, anyway, so it didn't master. Joe kinds alumped down and looked gloomy and I knew he was still warrying about how I'd feel about Eleanor, so I patted his arm once or twice to let him know I wann't peeved.

But kild, lissen, after dimmer we were sitting around talking and his folks let it silp that they expected us to live there. Joe's father said he wanted him to come back in business with him and I would soon get acquashted and like it, too. Oosh, me live in that house! Pretty soon Joe took me around to show me some pictures and I awa all of that house! I wanted to, I told Joe I couldn't live in that place.

"Why not?" he says. "I think this is a swell pince to live and I didn't realize until I came back today how much I missed it and everybody in it."

I saw right there that it would mean trouble and 70c is as skubhorn as a mule. We went body in it."

I saw right there that it would mean trouble and Joe is as stubborn as a mule. We went back to the parker and I'm not kidding you, I never was to a damber parky. You'd have thought they would roll up the rugs and dance

maybe, they had a radio, but they didn't. Someone played and sang some songs I never heard before and never wint to again and smashody else played the victim a while and if there is anything I don't like so well, it's a victim Pretty soon it came to me that I couldn't live with that kind of people at all. They were nice people, you undersand kid, I wouldn't say a ward about Joy's family.

About Pix time the maid caves in and said

About this time the maid came in and said there was a gentleman at the door to see me and he wouldn't come in. I knew right away who it was A woman's intuition, I gue enough, it was George.

"Get ready," he says. "You're leaving now

"I am not," I says.
"Come on." he says. "I've got a license and we're going to be married tonight. Make it

"I won't!" I says. "I won't at least until I "I won't!" I says. "I won't at least until I think of something to tell Joe and his folks."
"Leave them a note," he says, so I did.
"Lissen, George." I says, on the way home in his classy new truck, "you didn't mean what in his classy over trues, you don't mean what you said about getting married tonight?"

"Absolutely," he says.
"I couldn't possibly marry you for six months at least," I says in my firmest voice. Because what I say is that you might as well let them know at the start that you can manner things.

So that's how it is I'm engaged to George now and we're going to be married at the end of the month. Goe, hid, we're going to have the swellest apartment and believe me it well be a whole lot classier than Joe's place. I always my that if a wuman has natural taste she can make her home a swell place. You can pick up swell things cheap if you know where to

'I do hope Joe isn't too unhappy about it "I do hope Joe isn't too unhappy about it, but I guess that note must have been an awful blow. And his folks, too. You could tell they liked me and was giad that Joe was settling down with a nice girl. I kinds wish Joe would marry that Eleanor. She didn't seem very craxy about her friend and I think she still liked los. Class tid J. J. Com. 1. liked Joe. Gee, kid, I don't see how she could he!p it. Why, I might have married him my-self if it hadn't been that George came along!"

Ballad of the Ravin' By Kathryn Mallory '33

I met the most wonderful felia The other night or so! His marvelous amile! His wonderful eyes! He's got me on the go!

His hair was a wonderful raven black; Because he was bald, was he blighted? His eyes! A perfectly marvelous blue! And he was a trifle near-sighted.

His clothes were of the lovely cut Of fifty years ago,
And though they didn't fit so well,
Perhaps the boy will grow.

He even asked me for a dance! It's true he walked on my feet. Though I've danced with better dancers, I have danced with none so sweet.

I couldn't think of a thing to say, It was a feeling that I can't explain. But he was not at a loss for words, "Well, girlie, you think it will rain?"

I agreed with him that it was a nice night,

We couldn't get beyond that.
I spoke of technocracy, poetry, news,
But everything seemed to fall flat.

Pinally I spoke of the farmer's need And there I had the boy. I found he was a farmer and Parm problems were his joy.

He said that wheat was falling yet, There was no hope for corn, That mortgages were all they raised. And they worked from night 'till morn.

I thought perhaps that he was poor Until he smiled at me; My dear, he has some real gold teeth. Such style! You ought to see!

And he has the voice of an angel, Low and husky and sweet, As he bent from his height to whisper "Say, kid, want somepin' to eat?"

Perhaps you wonder just why I Have fallen for summone like this? A man who is fresh from the country, A man most girls wouldn't kiss?

Well, here is my theme in a outshall; I want a man who is dumb, A man who will cause me no wary, Whom I can depend on to come.

A man who will not tempt my girl friends

To woo him away from my cide,
So what do I care if he's dilly?
What do I care he's cross-systems