Fraud suit filed against magazine publishers

by Lori Miller

Student complaints against fraudulent magazine sales have led to a consumer fraud suit which was filed recently against four out-of-state companies and 30 individuals.

William Warmoth, special assistant to Attorney General William Scott, in a televised conference, announced the suit Monday. It was filed after approximately three months of investigation following complaints from several Eastern students.

The suit, which was filed in Coles County Circuit Court, charges the companies and their representatives with substantive fraud under the Illinois Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Practices Act.

It asks the companies to make restitution to the fraud victims, to pay a $50,000 fine for each violation committed, and that they be enjoined (prevented) from further business until they submit information to Scott concerning their activities.

The companies involved in the suit are three Alabama based corporations: the American Publications Company International; the Professionals; the Home Ambassadors, a company for the Universal Church of Jesus Christ; and Variety International Publications, Inc., with a Terre Haute, Ind. address.

Warmoth said the companies and individuals mainly operated in apartment complexes near Eastern and the University of Illinois in Urbana.

He said 16 complaints were filed in the Charleston consumer affairs office, and that it "would be safe to say that all or most were (Eastern) students."

The suit charges that although the companies purported to be working on their own, they were actually conducting the fraud in a coordinated operation.

The suit charges that "...this appearance of autonomy... is a sham; and that in reality the principals and beneficial owners of the business entitles use a network of nominees, interlocking directorates and other secret arrangements to conduct the trade..."

Warmoth said the companies and individuals all "operated in the same fashion," in which salesmen made unsolicited calls to residences and offered to sell magazines, books and encyclopedias.

"The salesman collects one-half the money in cash or check, gives the consumer a card to mail the balance to the home office," Warmoth said. Those home offices apparently changed locations at different times in Alabama, Florida, Terre Haute and Washington, D.C.

Warmoth said the salesman used several different gambits to make their sales, including saying the purchase would aid a disabled military veteran, or that they were "participating in a contest to earn points" to enhance placement or promotion in their jobs.

Other techniques the companies are charged with are adding a hidden processing and handling charge to the bill after the consumer has agreed to buy subscriptions, and "making other false statements" pertinent to the circumstances, Warmoth said.

If there were more than two consumers at a residence, then the Weekend Lair hours may be cut

by Pat Sheehy

The Union Board Monday night appointed a subcommittee to consider closing the Panther Lair on weekends because it is operating at a deficit.

"The Panther Lair has been losing money on weekends for quite some time now," Union Food Service Director John Hall said. "It's costing the students."

If it is closed on weekends the Lair could still be open to accommodate special events, Hall added.

Another proposal to help the Union reduce its operating deficit, renting the space the Lair now occupies to an outside fast-food firm, was considered at the meeting.

Bill Clark, area head of the Union, said Hardees has been added to the list of possible franchises which could be included in the Union.

McDonald's and Burger King are also being considered.

"We want to produce the best quality at the fastest speed possible," Clark said.

Other proposals concerning the Lair center on the feasibility and cost of renovating the facilities.

The Union Board also discussed hiring a management consulting firm to help the Union eliminate its operating deficit.

Another subcommittee was formed to investigate the proposal.

friends in the same complex or building. These representations have been made when no sale was made or no sales pitch was made," he added.

Warmoth added that the magazine salesmen also violated the "three-day cooling off period" which is provided for under the Federal Trade Commission and the Consumer Fraud and Deceptive Practices Act.

In violating the provision, those charged did not give consumers notice of their right to cancel the subscriptions, or in some cases, gave consumers incorrect information, Warmoth said.

In other cases the home office refused to make a full refund and said the consumers were not entitled to any or part of the money they had paid for the subscriptions, Warmoth said.

"They responded to some complaints by sending sincere sounding letters," Warmoth said. Those letters asked for more time or information from the consumer about the refunds, which would never come.

"The consumers became frustrated and after several rounds of correspondence, the people would give up," he said.

Warmoth said the most recent sales transaction took place last fall and that the most recent correspondence took place in January.

Warmoth said that although the Tractor caravan invades capital

WASHINGTON AP -Thousands of farmers plowed a field of political dissent Monday as they jammed commuter arteries and blocked bridges in a motorized protest of prices they receive for their crops.

"The Farmers Are Here!" declared banners flapping from tractors and trucks that entered the city at a snail's pace in the chill of dawn, ahead of normal rush-hour traffic.

Five arrests were reported. In one case, police used tear gas to subdue a driver who tried to block an intersection and allegedly resisted arrest.

At least four separate cavalcades, totaling an estimated 1,500 to 2,000 vehicles, edged into the city from staging areas in Virginia and Maryland.

The George Washington Memorial Parkway, a principal north-south route for tens of thousands of commuters from both states, was closed by police to all but the farm traffic.

Khomeini regime rising in Iran

Tehran, Iran — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini took a fateful step in his fight for power Monday, naming a veteran anti-shah politician to head a "revolutionary" regime rivaling Iran's shaky government.

The Moslem holy man called on the people of Iran to obey the new "transitional government" of 70-year-old Mehdi Bazargan, which is to pave the way for an Islamic republic.

He urged them to show their support through peaceful marches nationwide.

Khomeini declared the U.S.-endorsed government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar "must go" and that "all those who were identifies with this regime must go," including Bakhtiar himself, who was appointed by Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi before the monarch left Iran Jan. 16.

Western diplomats said Khomeini's move heightened the danger of a confrontation between his revolutionary movement and the armed forces, whose commanders have vowed to support the monarchy and the constitutional government.

Reacting to Khomeini's challenge, the army sent troops into the offices of government ministries, apparently to maintain discipline among workers and head off a possible takeover by the rival group.

For the third day in a row no political violence was reported in Iran.

Illinois dams declared unsafe

CHICAGO AP -Eleven Illinois dams have been found unsafe by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers among some 300 in the state that its staff is inspecting because of potential hazard.

Most of the 300 dams are earthen but some may have parts with concrete, a state spokesman says.

The director of the Illinois Transportation Department's Division of Water Resources, Frank Kudrna, said Monday that the 11 are among at least 58 Illinois dams that have been inspected so far, and have required some immediate action.

The "high hazard potential" designation means a dam failure could result in loss of life or property downstream, Kudrna said.

The inspections are part of a nationwide study in the wake of earthen dams that have failed elsewhere in the country.

Kudrna said the dams that are unsafe are: No. 1 and 2 at Lake-in-the-Hills in McHenry County; Lake Marian in Carpentersville; Pinkneyville Reservoir Dam in Perry County; M.D. Borah in Olney in Richland County; Vernor Lake Dam also in Olney.

Also, Lake Carroll Ruswood Dam near Mount Carroll in Carroll County; Wonder Lake, in McHenry County; Lake Tara Dam near West Dundee in Kane County; Waltonville Lake Dam in Jefferson County, and West Lake near French Village in St. Clair County.

U.S. visit over, Teng departs

SEATTLE (AP)—China's Vice Premier Teng Hsiao-ping ended his get-acquainted visit with America on Monday, expressing hope that U.S. and China will "live in friendship from generation to generation."

Nursing a cold and slight fever and too weary for one last meeting, the Chinese leader said he is returning home "laden with the warm sentiments of the American people."

"We came in the hope of strengthening peace, and we have not been disappointed in our hope," he said in a farewell talk that was held in a tiny, bare airport office because of rain.

In Tokyo, the Chinese news agency, Hsinhua, released the text of a message it said Teng sent to President Carter in which the vice premier called his visit a "complete success" which "enhanced the mutual understanding of our two sides..."

According to Hsinhua, Teng also predicted that U.S.-Chinese relations "will witness a major progress... of great significance for our two countries and the world as a whole."

It was a low-key departure for a world leader whose visit caused more stir than any other since Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's circus-like tour in 1959.

Teng did not leave without a reference to a theme expressed often during the stay which took him to Atlanta, Houston and Seattle after four days of official talks in Washington.

"The Chinese people will do their bit toward opposing global and regional hegemonism," he said. As used by the Chinese, hegemony becomes a code word for Russian expansionism.

Teng's quiet departure was in sharp contrast to the pageantry and formality that accompanied his arrival ceremony at the White House exactly one week earlier.

There was another contrast as well: The protesters who were everywhere during his Washington, D.C., visit were nowhere to be seen as he left.

Killer released after 10 years

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Tennessee's parole board decided a decade ago that killer John Currier Jr. had paid his debt to society and should be free. Currier says no one told him, and he worked 10 years as a sort of indentured servant for the now-deceased horse farmer to whom he was paroled.

Now, Currier says in a negligence lawsuit filed last week, the farmer's estate owes him $100,000 in compensatory damages and $500,000 more in punitive damages for false imprisonment.

But the state says Currier, 46, an illiterate sentenced at age 16 to life imprisonment, has no basis for complaint.

Speech department head to take sabbatical

by Dyna Cole

Jack Rang, chairman of the speech department, said Monday he will resign as department head and take a leave from Eastern.

Rang will take a leave of absence beginning fall semester to teach at the University of Dayton, Ohio.

Rang, who currently teaches speech classes part-time in addition to his duties as department head, said the plans were finalized over the weekend for him to teach full-time at the University of Dayton for the 1979-80 school year.

"The Dayton communications program combines three fields, journalism, radio and television broadcasting. I want to get an idea of how this combined system works and try out some new teaching ideas I have," Rang said.

Rang said he will return to Eastern after his year at Dayton, but he will not resume his duties as department chairman.

"There will probably be a special election in March to elect a new chairman, and I'll be teaching full-time (when I come back.) Teaching is what I really want to do," Rang said.

He added that the new programs he had in mind could not be implemented at Eastern unless he had access to a full-time teaching position.

Some of the programs Rang wants to begin at Eastern include studio production of public service programming, and eventually developing programs with the cooperation of the music and art departments.

"I'm very much an interdisciplinary person and students need to learn how journalism, television and the arts all fit together," he said.

Rang added he hopes to get an idea of what employers in major markets expect from the people they hire.

For the record

Two stories in Monday's Eastern News contained incorrect information.

The University Board will hold its Open Stage at 7 p.m. Feb. 15. There will be no tryouts as reported.

Also, in a financial aid story, the News incorrectly reported that any students who were ineligible for financial aid could appeal to a Financial Aid Committee.

The committee only hears appeals from students who were receiving financial aid but were dropped because they failed to meet the requirements established by Eastern's Financial Aids office.

The News regrets the errors.

BHE to discuss budget

Gov. James Thompson's budget recommendations for higher education in fiscal year 1980 will be discussed by the Board of Higher Education Tuesday, a Board of Governors official said recently.

Donald Walters, BOG director, said the BHE will discuss Thompson's proposal to cut $25 million in state appropriations from the requested budget.

In a press conference Thursday, Thompson proposed spending a total of $1.017 billion for education in Illinois in spite of a $1.04 billion BHE request.

The BHE will also discuss distribution of salary increases for faculty and staff members at state colleges and universities. Thompson stated that his spending package should cover a seven percent wage increase for these employees.

Other items on the BHE's agenda include approval of a priority list for capital improvements recommended by the board and discussion of plans for non-instructional capital improvements.

The meeting will be held at the Continental Plaza Hotel in Chicago.

Funding commitment needed

Gov. James Thompson's decision last week to trim $25 million from the Illinois Board of Higher Education's request indicates that the state does not have a commitment to adequately fund higher education.

The BHE whittled down requests for the state's colleges and universities to just over $1 billion, a $80 million increase over current appropriations.

Thompson, however, decided that the state can afford no more than a $55 million increase to higher education, a decision which has numerous ramifications for students, faculty and the taxpayers of the state.

Students face an almost certain tuition increase while faculty members are clamoring for more than the 7 percent allocated to them by the BHE.

And as the state's commitment to the funding and quality of higher education continues to slide, all Illinois citizens suffer.

Thompson's decision to cut $25 million out of a proposed budget already considered too austere by faculty and university leaders, including Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin, can only harm higher education's standing in Illinois.

Faculty members are the ones who stand to lose the most if Thompson's cut endangers the 7 percent increase proposed by the BHE.

Although Thompson said the $55 million increase he supported would not jeopardize that raise, Marvin and other higher education leaders have said drastic cuts will have to be made in other areas if the 7 percent increase is granted.

It is for this reason we urge the BHE, which will meet Tuesday to determine what budget items can be trimmed to meet Thompson's guidelines, to do as BHE Executive Director James Furman has suggested: submit the original proposal to the Legislature and lobby for the full $80 million increase.

We support a salary increase of at least

7 percent and believe it should be more than that to help raise the level of pay for faculty in Illinois.

A 7 percent increase looks meager compared to the 9 percent inflation rate, and does nothing to help Eastern faculty members, among the lowest paid the the state, catch-up to their better-paid colleagues in the state and nation.

Certainly the Legislature, well-experienced in the matter of pay hikes, ought to lend a sympathetic ear to the plight of faculty members.

Thompson, in announcing his intentions to give higher education $25 million less than it asked for, also avoided making a stance on the BHE's proposed tuition increase.

The board has included in its budget for the next fiscal year a tuition increase of $48 per year for undergraduate and $64 for graduate students that will generate $6 million statewide.

Thompson said he would support the tuition increase—which he opposed last year—if the BHE could show that the $6 million “would make a substantial difference in improving higher education.”

Since Thompson cut the BHE's budget by $25 million, it is obvious that the $6 million is needed to prevent even more drastic cuts from being made. In effect, then, Thompson has supported the tuition hike.

We too support the tuition increase with one stipulation. While we favor the hike because of the need to offset inflation, we think Thompson and other state officials need to make a public commitment to higher education.

Higher education faces yet another setback and will most likely continue to lose even more ground unless the state realizes that a strong system of colleges and universities is essential to the growth of Illinois.

The BHE has until Feb. 15 to return its budget to Thompson with his recommended increase. We urge the board to fight for every dollar it can get and to prove to Thompson and the Legislature that the quality of higher education depends on the state.

Letters to the editor

Old, not absurd

Editor,
I wish to respond to Tom Funk's letter of Jan. 25, 1979, in the Eastern News in which he attacked the university's housing policy.

He describes the policy as “antiquated and absurd.” Absurd it might be; but it is not antiquated.

As one who attended Eastern during the late '50s, I would like to report on what the antiquated policy was.

It was that a student could apply to live very much where he wanted. Ironically, many wanted to live in dormitories but could not because they were rented to capacity.

Perhaps in those days some other antiquated attitudes held sway and influence at the places of policy decision making. Maybe one was “Do not build more dormitories than are needed to the next 20 to 30 years.”

It would make for interesting research to determine how the present policy came into being. Some local businessmen are a bit puzzled by it, too.

Leonidas H. Miller

What's illegal?

Editor,
This letter is in response to an argument that has plagued our society for a number of years. It concerns the question of whether marijuana should be legalized or at least decriminalized.

There are good arguments, both for and against which I'm sure almost everyone has heard over and over again, but there's another question that has bothered me for some time now.

Why can anyone, of any age, go into a respectable business and purchase bongs, water pipes, rolling machines, rolling papers, stash boxes, roach clips, and even a step-by-step manual on how to grow marijuana if the item these products are intended for is illegal?

Some of you reading this won't be able to understand the irony that is taking place here. Either you've just simply closed your eyes and looked the other way or you're going blind.

If you are a member or the latter I suggest seeing an eye doctor. You may have glaucoma. If you do, try smoking some marijuana, its been medically proven that it can help.

Joseph M. DeMartino

Senior apathy

Editor,
It is my hope that the following letter will relieve student apathy and help to influence the decision being made concerning the present date set for commencement for Eastern seniors.

The present date set for commencement falls directly in the middle of finals week. I appeal that this date be changed.

A list of reasons would prove to be exhaustive. A small amount of empathy on the part of the proper administrative officials would benefit the changing of the present date.

I suggest that those individuals who feel that the present graduation date is unfair and unrealistic, contact the Faculty Senate at 581-2300 to express their opinion.

I also recommend that these opinions be voiced within the next two days while the decision is still pending. Student apathy on this matter will not change the date set for commencement. Student action may.

Experimental animals are vital—instructors

by Carolyn Waller

Removing heads of rats and drilling holes in turtles is not a picture of humane treatment, but scientific research requires them, science and psychology instructors said recently.

Commenting on a suggested course, "Ethics in experimentation," some instructors said such a course was not necessary because the principles are already being incorporated into lab courses.

Stephen L. Whitley of the zoology department said students have to get into real-life situations by working with animals.

Using animals in experiments is "no more cruel than chopping down a tree in botany" he added.

Sanctity of life is stressed in courses with animal experimentation, Whitley said.

"Students need experience to see and understand the experiment," Dan C Foote, biochemistry instructor said.

Overetherization is done before removal of the rats' heads, Foote said.

Psychology experiments, which primarily use rats, study behaviorisms and organs.

"We train and sacrifice the animals to study changes in the brain," said Dr. Gary L. Holt, psychology instructor.

Sodium barbital, which is a more humane method than ether, is used as an anesthetic before the "sacrifice," Holt said.

"All sacrifice is done in a humane way," he added.

Whitley said animal physiology instructors use one turtle for their class to demonstrate various stimuli on the animal.

The experiment includes destroying the turtle's sensitivity by a method called pithing and then drilling a hole in the bottom shell to expose the heart, Whitley said.

"No stress or suffering-type thing is involved," he added.

Whitley said this type of experimentation is "not something we take lightly."

CGS scheduling conflict to postpone expansion

by Marsha Hausser

Because of scheduling conflicts between the Council on Teacher Education and the Council on Graduate Studies, the CGS will postpone action on expanding their council for the second time, CGS Chairman Jon Laible said Monday.

Laible said Vice President for Academic Affairs Thomas Bond will attend the COTE meeting Tuesday so Laible agreed not to take official action on the expansion proposal, which calls for increasing the number of voting members on the council from eight to 12.

The CGS and COTE usually meet on alternate Tuesdays, allowing Bond to attend both council meetings. For the past two weeks, however, both councils have met on the same day.

Laible said the next CGS meeting, slated for Feb. 20, will clear up the confusion.

The CGS will begin discussing changing the structure and procedures of the council and revise some course proposals at its Tuesday meeting.

The council has not amended the structure and procedures of the council since November, 1977 and Laible said it should be reviewed again.

Debate team wins honors

by Heather Ayres

Eastern's debate teams again came home this weekend with high honors in two national tournaments.

At a tournament held at Baylor University in Texas, the senior team of Al Bucknell and Jim Curtis placed fourth with a record of 6-4, David Svaldi, head debate coach said Monday.

The team defeated Kansas State University with all three judges giving Eastern their ballots in the octa-final round.

In the quarter final round, Bucknell and Curtis lost to Kansas University on a 2-1 decision.

Also at the Baylor tournament, the team of junior Wendy Markee and senior Doug Wilkins took fifth place. They were defeated by the University of Southern California in the octa-final round, Svaldi said.

At Bowling Green University in Ohio, the team of sophomores Molly Hall and Janet Fritsche placed seventh out of 16 teams with a record of 5-3, Svaldi said.

The team will be traveling to Chicago this weekend to compete in a tournament at Northwestern University, Svaldi said.

EFS to show x-rated movie

"Birds in Peru" an X-rated French film will be shown by the Eastern Film Society at 5, 7, and 9 p.m. Tuesday in the Booth Library Lecture Room.

The film was directed by novelist Romain Gary and stars his wife Jean Seberg as a nymphomaniac married to a wealthy man, Frank Stokes of the English Department said.

She makes a pact with her husband that he may kill her if she is unfaithful to him again and then is tested on a lonely beach in Peru, he added. Admission is $1.

COTE to consider teacher ed admission

by Marsha Hausser

The Council on Teacher Education Tuesday will consider a number of proposals which would change some of the requirements for admission to teacher education.

The COTE will meet at 2 p.m. in the Union addition Tuscola room.

Jack Murray, a COTE member, said the council is proposing that prospective teacher education students apply for admission to the department after 40 semester hours of credit but not be admitted until 60 semester hours of credit are earned.

Murray said, "This will help identify people who are interested in teacher education early."

Also proposed is raising the required cumulative grade point average for admission to the school to 2.25 from the current 2.15, Murry said.

"A professional school should be a little better than the average bear," Murry said.

A proposal which would require teacher education students to get a C or better in English 1001, 1002 and Speech-Communication 1310 is also being considered. Students might also have to take a proficiency test on spelling, grammar and punctuation, Murry said.

"Amendments will probably be offered to these proposals," Murry said.

Murry said the proposals will probably be voted on "at least in part" at the meeting Tuesday.

The proposals have to be finalized for inclusion in the fall 1979 calendar, which will be printed soon, Murry said.

Petition aimed at size of legislature

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Leaders of a petition drive aimed at cutting the size of the Illinois General Assembly say public outrage over the legislative pay raise should make it easy to get enough signatures to put the issue on the 1980 ballot.

Jim Grube, chairman of Citizens for an Accountable Legislature, said Monday the group needs 252,000 valid signatures by May 1980, and he expects to have twice that many.

A coalition of citizens' groups in Illinois will be circulating the petition to put a constitutional amendment on the 1980 ballot aimed at trimming the size of the Illinois House by 59 members.

Grube said the proposal would divide each of the state's 59 legislative districts into two sub-districts and call for the election of one representative from each of the smaller districts.

Presently, three representatives are elected from each of the 59 districts.

The proposed amendment, therefore, would cut the size of the House from 177 to 118 members, for a savings of more than $7 million, he said.

The precise language on the petition was agreed upon at a meeting in Chicago last week.

Among groups which will participate in the drive are the Coalition for Political Honesty, the Committee for Legislative Reform and the Union League Club of Chicago.

Grube said at least $25,000 will be needed for the petition drive and that he hopes to collect that money from contributions.

Student lifts weight title

Eastern sophomore Guy Carlton captured the best lifter title Saturday in the open division of the Charleston-Oakland Weightlifting Club Meet.

Carlton who lifts for the York Barbell Club of York, Pa., won the 220-pound class competition.

He bettered his own American senior 220-pound snatch record with a lift of 364.9 pounds.

He nearly set a clean and jerk record also, just missing his fourth attempt at 458.6 pounds. He lifted 440.9 pounds at the meet.

The AAU Junior Olympic-Senior Open had 83 lifters from nine different states competing.

Charleston-Oakland won the team titles in both divisions.

Eastern swim coach honored by alma mater

by Matt Davidson

Eastern's head swimming coach Ray Padovan became the first swimmer to be inducted into Southern Illinois University's Athletic Hall of Fame Saturday.

His induction into the Hall of Fame, in only its second year of existence, capped a brilliant career he enjoyed while at SIU.

On receiving the honor, Padovan said "I thought it was real nice that people remembered me. However, I don't think I would have felt slighted if I hadn't received the award."

On his achievements he said, "While I was doing it, I didn't think too much about it. I just swam and took it all in stride."

Coached by Ralph Casey, the Salukies were a member of the Illinois Athletic Conference during Padovan's first two years of school. Eastern was also in the IAC at that time.

A 1963 graduate, Padovan was a member of the Saluki swimming team all four years and twice was awarded All-American honors.

His freshman year he was a key part of Southern's NAIA national champions, swimming on both winning relay squads. Looking back on his first-year Padovan said, "We pretty much dominated." However, he added that "we weren't really that thrilled with it, because we weren't competing against that tough of competition."

He was a national record holder in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyles during his career. His record times were 21.6 in the 50 and 47.9 in the 100-yard free.

Despite his record times, Padovan did not achieve all he had hoped to. "I was real close, but I never did do what I wanted to do in a big meet. The record was kind of a semi-climax."

In 1961, his sophomore year, he placed third in both the 50 and 100-yard freestyle events. "My sophomore year was the best year I had," he said.

A native of North Miami, Fla., he earned both his undergraduate and master's degree from Southern. He was head swimming coach at Eastern New Mexico for one season before coming to Eastern in 1965. In his only year at the helm at Eastern New Mexico, he led them to a second place finish in the NAIA tourney.

Currently in his 13th season at Eastern, Padovan has had only two losing seasons. Under his tenure, Eastern has finished in the top ten in NCAA and NAIA national championship events eight out of the last 10 years.

Women tracksters finish fourth on road

by Julie Penne

Carmen Ritz and Robin Smith brought home first place finishes and paced the women's track team to a fourth place finish in the Illinois State Invitational Saturday.

Winning the meet was Indiana State with 64 points, followed by Illinois State's 58, and Kentucky's 52 points.

Eastern, with a fourth place finish, totalled 31 points.

Ritz came away with her first place finish in the 600 meter run with a time of 1:38.6 minutes. Freshman Tina Bartram took fifth place in the same

Golfers set meeting

A meeting for all prospective varsity golfers will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the Lantz Reception Room.

event with a 1:41.9 clocking.

Ritz also finished fourth in the 400 meter dash with a time of 1:01.0. Nipping at her heels was freshman teammate Kristian Webb, who took fifth with a 1:01.7.

Smith sprinted to a 4:48.5 clocking to lead the field in the 1500 meter run. Later in the day, Smith came in second in the 3,000 meter run with her 10:13.46.

Coach Joan Schmidt was happy with the Panthers' performances, particularly in the 400 and 600 meter dashes and the hurdling events.

"I felt like the freshmen Tina Bartram, Susan Grider and Kristian Webb did well considering they were competing with pre-meet jitters," said Schmidt. "In fact I felt like the whole team did well for their first meet, while the rest of the teams had two or three meets previous to this one."

In the 1,000 meter run, Sonia Olsson and Linda Lomax placed fourth and fifth respectively. Olsson had a time of 3:10.9, and Lomax was clocked at 3:27.7 minutes.

"This was a good meet for the team, we got a better idea of what we need to work on," Schmidt said. "Our runners need to get more mileage in and our field competitors need to work on better form."

The women tracksters host Southeast Missouri, Ball State and Indiana State Saturday at Lantz Fieldhouse in the first home indoor meet of the season. Field events begin at 11 a.m. and track events start at noon.

Cagers suffer seventh loss, 77-66

DAYTON, Ohio--The Eastern Panthers took a step backwards as far as the Great Lakes Regional is concerned as they dropped a 77-66 decision to the Wright State Raiders.

Eastern, now 12-7, had beaten Wright State 79-72 in December at Lantz Gym, but it was not as easy this time.

Wright State jumped to an early lead when they forced three Eastern turnovers in the first minute of play.

But with the aid of a technical foul whistled against Wright State coach Ralph Underhill, the Panthers came back to tie the score at 20 with 10:27 remaining.

The Panthers had a seven point lead, but then by the 6:52 mark of the half, both Craig DeWitt and Dennis Mumford had three fouls and were on the bench.

"Mumford and DeWitt getting into foul trouble really hurt," Eddy said. "We had the lead and then from there it deteriorated."

Wright State regained the lead when Bob Cook hit a rebound bucket at the buzzer to give the Raiders a 38-37 halftime lead.

The biggest play of the game came with 15:06 left to play and Eastern trailing 44-41.

Wright State had the ball out of bounds, while Eddy was making substitutions. Wright State put the ball in bounds, just before the buzzer sounded, however, and Eddy Crow got a Wright State basket while the Panthers stood watching.

Eddy jumped up to protest and was hit with a technical foul. Crow got one free throw, and then Cook hit a jumper to make it 49-41 with 15:06 left to play.

The Panthers could get no closer than six the rest of the way.

Thigpen says dismissal by Eddy was 'too harsh'

Reserve-front liner Tom Thigpen called basketball coach Don Eddy's decision to dismiss him last week "too harsh" and a "cop-out" Monday.

The sophomore said he was dismissed for "what you would call a bad attitude."

"I wanted to play more, and it showed," Thigpen said. "He (Eddy) said I was just thinking about myself. Well I was thinking about myself, but I was also thinking about the team, because I think if I was playing more I could help the team."

Thigpen said Eddy told him he was dismissed Thursday, the day after the team returned home from a 83-74 loss at Quincy.

"He just told me it would be best for the team if I was dismissed," Thigpen said. "He didn't talk to any other of the other players about it, because when I told them they were just as shocked as I was when he told me."

"I feel it was too harsh of a decision, since all I wanted was to play more," Thigpen added. "I'm sure we could have come up with a better solution."

Thigpen said there were no other incidents that led to his dismissal.

"Everybody keeps asking me 'What'd you do? What'd you do? Did you get caught drinking?'" Thigpen said. "I didn't do anything though."

Chosen in 3rd round

Baretta drafted by Indianapolis Daredevils

by Brian Nielsen

Eastern soccer goalie John Baretta was chosen by the Indianapolis Daredevils in the third round of last week's American Soccer League draft.

Baretta, who had a school record 11 shutouts last fall, is the second member of Eastern's third place NCAA Division II squad to be drafted by a professional soccer team.

Earlier this month, defender George Gorleku was picked by the Seattle Sounders in the North American Soccer League.

Baretta was told Monday by Eastern coach Schellas Hyndman that he had been drafted. Baretta had been gone to tryout for the Canadian Olympic team.

The Panthers' honorable mention All-American said he was not drafted in the NASL draft, because he was inadvertently listed as a junior, which would make him ineligible for the draft.

"I don't know why they had me as a junior. It was just a mistake," Baretta said. "But the Indianapolis coach was at Chicago Circle when I was a freshman, so he knew I was a senior."

"When he drafted me, everybody else said 'you can't do that, he's just a junior,'" Baretta continued. "But he had the proof, and so he got me. He said he wanted me real bad, but he waited until the third round, because he knew everyone else thought I was just a junior."

Baretta said the Detroit team from the NASL is also interested in him, but did not draft him since he was listed as a junior. Detroit is in hopes of signing him as a free agent, Baretta added.

The Canadian native said the NASL, which has many European players, is somewhat stronger than the ASL, which signs more North American booters.

"The ASL is to the NASL like the WHA is to the NHL in hockey," he said.

"But the ASL is a good league, and I will probably be the number one goalie for Indianapolis," Baretta said. "Then if I prove myself there, I could go on and play in the NASL."

In addition to his choice between signing with Indianapolis or signing as a free agent with a NASL team, Baretta could also stay an amateur and play for Canada in the 1980 Olympics.

"I was chosen the number one goalie for Canada," Baretta said. "Right now everything is up in the air. But it's good that I do have so many avenues open to me."

"I have an agent, and he'll do all the negotiating for me," he added. "I just use my hands and feet, he's the one that uses his mouth for me. He's a good man, and he tries to help you--not like some agents."

Baretta said that if he goes pro, part of his contract would have to include paying for school. He plans to student teach next fall and "help with the team here some if I can."
