Most sorority houses experience break-ins

by Len Krasnowski
and Ed Mazzocco

The majority of sorority chapter houses at Eastern have been involved in a series of break-ins which have occurred during a three-week period.

Ann Cavanagh, assistant director of student activities, said Tuesday each sorority house has been illegally entered and items taken.

Food, articles of clothing and house items were the major items stolen from each house, Cavanagh said.

"We don't know who is doing this, but we assume the incidents are related," she said.

About three weeks ago, the Kappa Delta sorority house, 2211 S. Ninth St., was the first to report to Cavanagh an incident of someone breaking in and taking some items.

"The girls at that house felt it was a prank and had not reported the incident until they kept on occurring at other houses," she said.

After talking with other sorority and fraternity chapter presidents, Cavanagh said she believes the incidents are not fraternity-related.

"It is not a pledge class doing something for a joke or a bunch of fraternity guys doing something like painting the rock in front of the sorority house," she said.

Alpha Phi, 1816 Ninth St., Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1616 Ninth St., and Sigma Kappa, 1007 10th St., each had clothing, food and sorority decorations taken from their house, but the items were returned Tuesday morning.

"We assume these were pranks because the items were returned," Cavanagh said.

The incidents involving all of the sorority houses seem to be related because similar items were taken from each house, she said.

"We don't know who is doing the break-ins or even if the same people are involved in each incident," she said.

Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson said he thinks the incidents are not related because of the different times the incidents happened.

Sigma Kappa and Alpha Phi reported incidents Monday which occurred on Friday and Saturday. However, sorority members retracted the police reports because the missing items were returned.

The sororities reported trophies and clothing missing, Johnson said.

Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority members also reported to police recently that someone had attempted to break in into their house, but nothing was taken.

Cavanagh said the women living in sorority houses have been instructed not to be in the house alone, should lock doors and windows preferably for 24 hours or by 10 p.m. and should have house mothers present in the house as often as possible.

"Chapter houses are private dwellings and the people living there should not be concerned about someone trying to illegally enter," she said.

Officials: signal triggered early morning fire alarms

by Carl Pugliese

Fire alarms sounding early Tuesday morning that woke residents in Stevenson Tower and Andrews Hall were probably triggered by electronic signals from a master clock on campus, a housing official said.

Housing Director Lou Hencken said the fire alarms probably were triggered by electronic signals which originated from a master clock that controls the synchronization of all the wall clocks on campus.

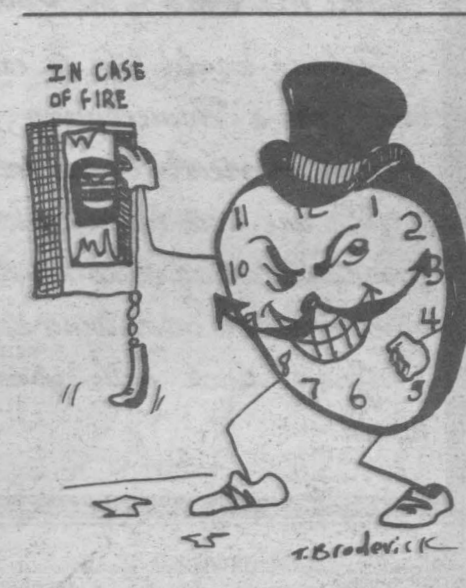

Hencken said officials were uncertain why the alarms were activated until someone noted that all the fire alarms sounded at exactly one minute before the hour.

With this in mind, university officials decided that the master clock would be turned off for a period of time to assure officials that the clock is the reason behind the problem.

Hencken said the problem "is in hand now" and the alarms will be repaired immediately.

Stevenson Tower Counselor Kaylin Payne said residents expressed concern about the alarms and whether they would be charged for the false alarms.

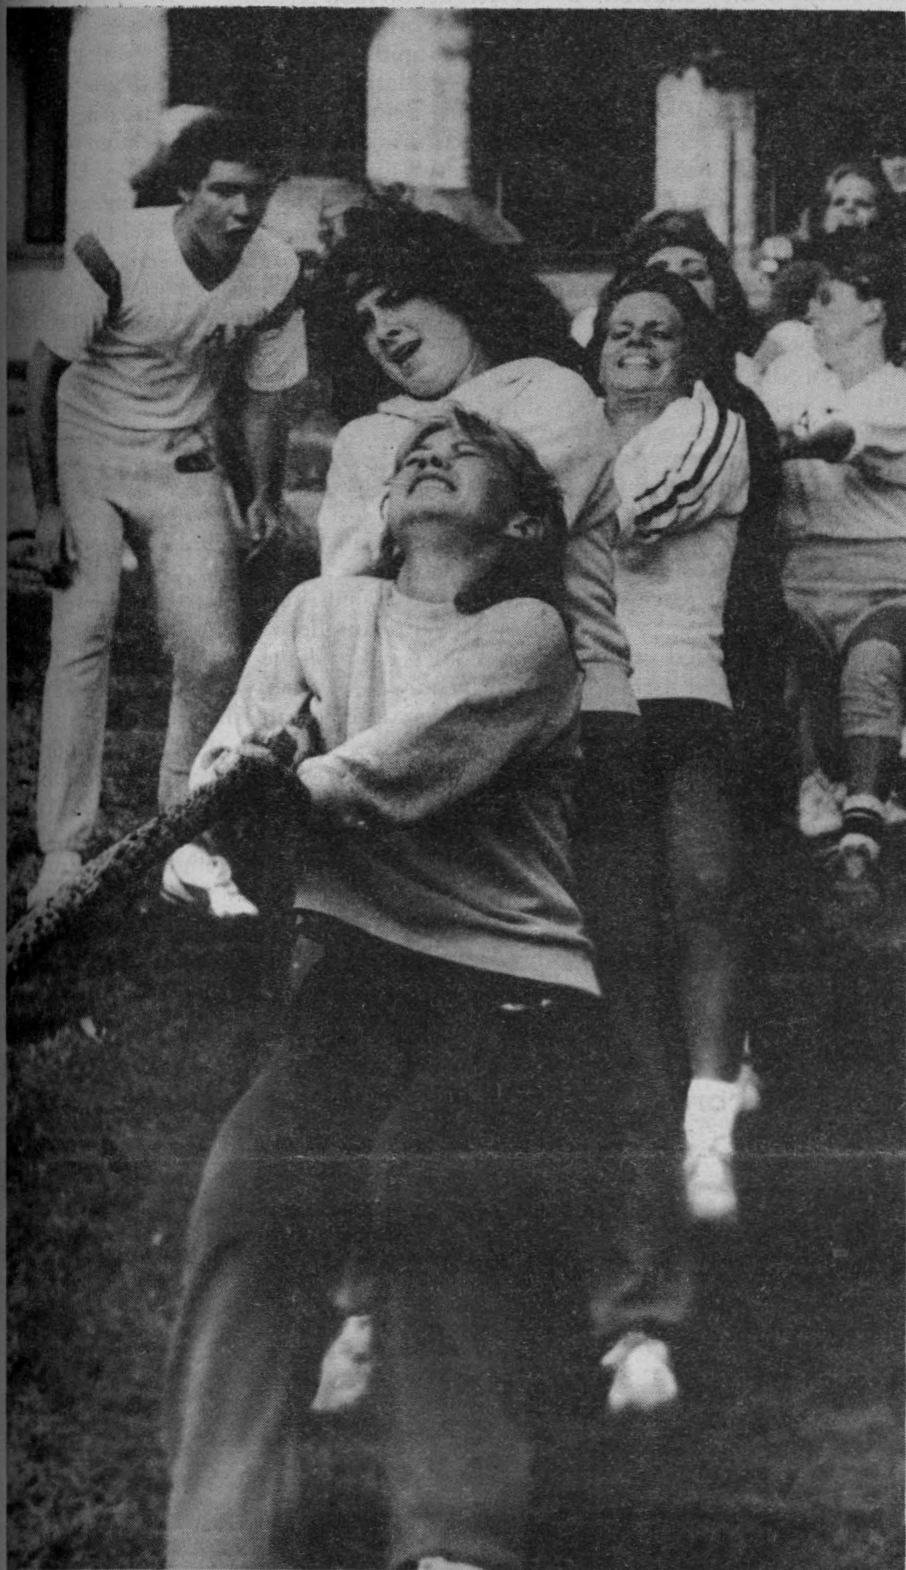

Hencken said fire alarms cost residents nothing, but the university pays a flat fee for fire protection at the beginning of each school year.

A repairman from Simplex, the company that manufactures and fixes the clocks on campus, will "get the situation corrected" Wednesday, Hencken said.

Hencken said signs have been posted in Carman, Andrews, Lawson and Stevenson halls stating that the fire alarms may sound between 1 and 3 p.m. Wednesday due to the repairmen working on the system.

Candidates to answer questions at Chamber of Commerce forum

by Mike Dominick

Area voters will have the opportunity to ask questions of state and Coles County general election candidates at a political forum scheduled Wednesday.

The Charleston League of Women Voters and the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce are sponsoring the candidate political forum and dinner at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Charleston Holiday Inn Reasor Room 3, Sue Morice, League of Women Voters president, said.

Eastern's chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, an honorary professional educational organization, also will assist with the forum.

Five Democratic and five Republican candidates, running for state and county offices in the general election Nov. 2, will begin the forum with opening statements, she said.

Candidates then will answer questions from the audience. The audience will be instructed to write questions down which will be handed to a screening committee composed of members from the League of Women voters and the Chamber of Commerce.

"If time permits, the candidates will have a chance for rebuttals," Morice said.

Candidates who will be speaking at the forum and the office they are running for include: Jackie Bacon-R and Bruce Scism-D (county clerk); Jackie Record-D and Wayne Lanman-R (county treasurer); Chuck Lister-D and Charles Coffey-R (sheriff); Harry "Babe" Woodyard-R and David Lee Weir-D (state representative); and Max Coffey-R and Jerry Nikitas-D (state senator 53rd legislative district).

Morice said 24 Coles County Board candidates have been invited to attend the forum. Although they will not be speaking, they will be available for questions throughout the evening.

More tainted Tylenol discovered

OROVILLE, Calif.—Strychnine was found in two bottles of Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules here and a man who took the medication suffered convulsions, federal officials said today.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration said McNeil Consumer Products Co., which makes Tylenol, is telling retailers nationwide to withdraw non-prescription Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules and regular-strength Tylenol capsules from sale.

The man took the poisoned capsules Thursday, one day after cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules began claiming their first victims. Seven died after taking capsules in the Chicago area.

Judge rules on 'starch blockers'

CHICAGO—A federal judge ruled Tuesday that the diet pills known as starch blockers are a drug and not a food, and he ordered seven firms to stop distributing the product and to destroy existing supplies.

Manufacturers contend that starch blockers, tablets or capsules extracted from the great northern kidney bean, cause starches to pass through the body without being absorbed, thus helping to control weight.

Drops may not be cause of burns

RIALTO, Calif.—A woman has been treated for severe eye burns after using eye drops that her doctor said contained high levels of acid. But law-enforcement authorities tested the drops and said they were "perfectly normal."

Another official, Juanita Jaronski of the San Bernardino County criminal lab, said it was too early to say if there was something wrong with the drops.

U.S., Soviet arms talks continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under orders "to move as rapidly as the situation permits," U.S. arms control negotiator Edward L. Rowny is entering a second round of talks with the Soviet Union convinced that Americans would abandon the nuclear freeze movement if they understood the administration's treaty proposal.

Freezing weapons at current levels, as Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev suggested last May, or only trimming stockpiles of intercontinental ballistic missiles and long-range bombers would heighten the risk of nuclear war, Rowny said in an interview before flying to Geneva for the new round of talks beginning Wednesday.

Rowny's reasoning: It takes the sort of deep reductions proposed by the United States to correct the 5-2 Soviet lead in missile power, or throw-weight. That edge, Rowny and other U.S. strategists theorize, heightens the risk of the first strike.

According to this logic, the Soviets might be tempted to take advantage of their commanding lead in heavy ground missiles by launching an attack on U.S. silos. Conversely, the United States could be more inclined to open fire before the Soviets act on their strength.

Under orders from President Reagan "to move as rapidly as the situation permits" in the latest negotiations, Rowny will explain with "a lot more detail" the proposed treaty that he outlined during the first, six-week round of talks. The treaty's long-range goal is reducing U.S. and Soviet throw-weight to an equal ceiling.

In the treaty's first phase, the number of strategic warheads would be reduced by one-third. Since the Soviets have put about 70 percent of their warheads on land-based missiles, Reagan's proposal would narrow that critical edge and, Rowny is convinced, reduce nuclear instability.

Army arrests hundreds in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—The Lebanese army arrested hundreds of people in Moslem west Beirut Tuesday in its biggest show of force since the 1975-76 civil war.

Hidden arms also were confiscated in the former stronghold of the Palestine Liberation Organization and its leftist militia allies. The operation was part of a government crackdown on PLO remnants and leftist militia in the Moslem sector in an attempt to reassert control over the war-torn country.

The state television said some of those arrested might be deported, and a Saudi Arabian magazine quoted President Amin Gemayel as saying Palestinians who entered Lebanon illegally must leave.

Military officials refused to say how many people were rounded up, but reporters saw trucks filled with people, some blindfolded, being driven away. Security sources said 450 people had been seized during the army sweeps.

Soldiers closed streets in the central shopping district of west Beirut and checked documents of pedestrians and people in automobiles. They blocked street corners with armored personnel carriers as soldiers with bullhorns warned residents to cooperate.

Faculty Senate discusses policies

by Keith Clark

The Faculty Senate Tuesday discussed two academic probation policies which will be voted on by the Council on Academic Affairs Thursday, but did not recommend either of the policies.

"We were split fairly evenly on the policies," Faculty Senate Chairman Jeffrey Lynch said.

While some senators said they favored a policy proposed by CAA member Susan Grah, others preferred a new proposal suggested by CAA member Pat Wright.

According to Grah's proposal, students with 15 hours or less would be placed on probation if their grade point average dropped below 1.70, and those with 16 to 30 hours would be placed on probation if their GPA dropped below 1.85. Those students with 30 or more hours would need a GPA of 2.0 to remain in good academic standing.

Grah has also proposed that students only be allowed to remain on academic probation for one semester before being dismissed.

The fact that students can remain on probation for several semesters under the current policy was a concern raised by the senate.

However, some senators said they favored Wright's proposal because it would allow students to remain on academic probation until the student achieves good standing or is dismissed for low scholarship.

Wright's proposal states that students would be placed on probation if at the end of a grading period their GPA dropped below 2.00.

Students with a GPA of 1.60 to 1.99 who had been on probation for two consecutive grading periods would have to achieve a 2.10 average for the next grading period.

Students with a 1.00 to 1.59 GPA would have to raise their next semester's grades to 2.20, while those students with a GPA from 0.01 to 0.99 would have to boost their next GPA to 2.30.

Those students who were on probation for two consecutive semesters and did not show the specified amount of improvement would be dismissed from the university. Students would also be dismissed if they had a cumulative GPA below 2.0 and a semester GPA of 0.00.

Lynch said he favors the policy because he feels it gives new students who may have a poor educational background more of a chance to adapt to college life.

E.G. Gabbard, senate secretary, said he also favors giving students more time to get off probation.

Academic probation plan to be discussed by Senate members

by Michael Kuo

The Student Senate Wednesday will discuss proposed changes in the policies governing academic probation, dismissal and reinstatement, Student Body President Terry Teele said.

"The proposal concerns academic dismissal, but it is not CAA member Susan Grah's proposal which we discussed earlier," Teele said. The new proposal was made by Council on Academic Affairs member G. Pat Wright.

Wright's proposal states that students will be allowed to stay on academic probation for more than two consecutive grading periods only if the student makes progress towards raising his cumulative grade point average to 2.00.

To demonstrate progress, the student must register for and remain registered in at least 12 but no more than 16 hours per semester.

After two consecutive grading semesters on probation, the student must obtain a specified GPA for that semester based on his cumulative GPA.

Wright's proposal for academic dismissal states that students will be dismissed if at the end of two consecutive grading periods on academic probation, he fails to make satisfactory progress towards raising his cumulative GPA as specified in his academic probation proposal.

Wright also is proposing changing the reinstatement policy so students do not have to petition to the Committee on Admission for reinstatement following academic dismissal.

Currently, students seeking readmission to Eastern must petition to the committee.

In other business, the senate also will consider the proposed bylaws for the Off-Campus Student Housing Association, Teele said.

Teele said the senate also will approve the appointment of a new member to the Council on Teacher Education, candidate Dee Dee McKegney.

The Student Senate will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

Former student pleads not guilty to charge

by Denise Skowron

Former Eastern student Mike Pedro, 26, pled not guilty Monday to an aggravated battery charge filed against him by a campus police officer.

Campus Police Capt. Jack Chambers said Pedro, a bouncer at Ted's Warehouse, allegedly "got physical" with campus police officer Rodney Redfern at 2:30 a.m. Friday.

Redfern requested to see a form of identification when he observed Pedro following a girl along the 1500 block of Fourth Street, he added.

The girl, an Eastern freshman, said Pedro had been following her in his car going south on Fourth Street. When she reached the Lantz Building parking lot, Pedro left his car motor running and then approached her.

She said an officer on foot asked her if Pedro was harassing her. The officer then requested to see a form of identification from Pedro.

"The guy (Pedro) went wild saying, 'I didn't touch her! I didn't do anything!'" the girl said.

Chambers said Pedro then allegedly struck Redfern in the arm. Redfern was not seriously injured.

Pedro made his first court appearance Monday and bond was set at $2,500. He posted $250 cash bond and was released Monday evening. Becky O'Dell, manager for the Coles County state's attorney's office, said.

A preliminary hearing for Pedro is set for Oct. 18.

'Brave' students make pond life safe

Herschel the underwater pig, Fred the fish and Lenny the frog probably appreciated the efforts of Douglas and Lincoln Hall residents when they cleaned up the campus pond—especially considering Herschel's activities as of late.

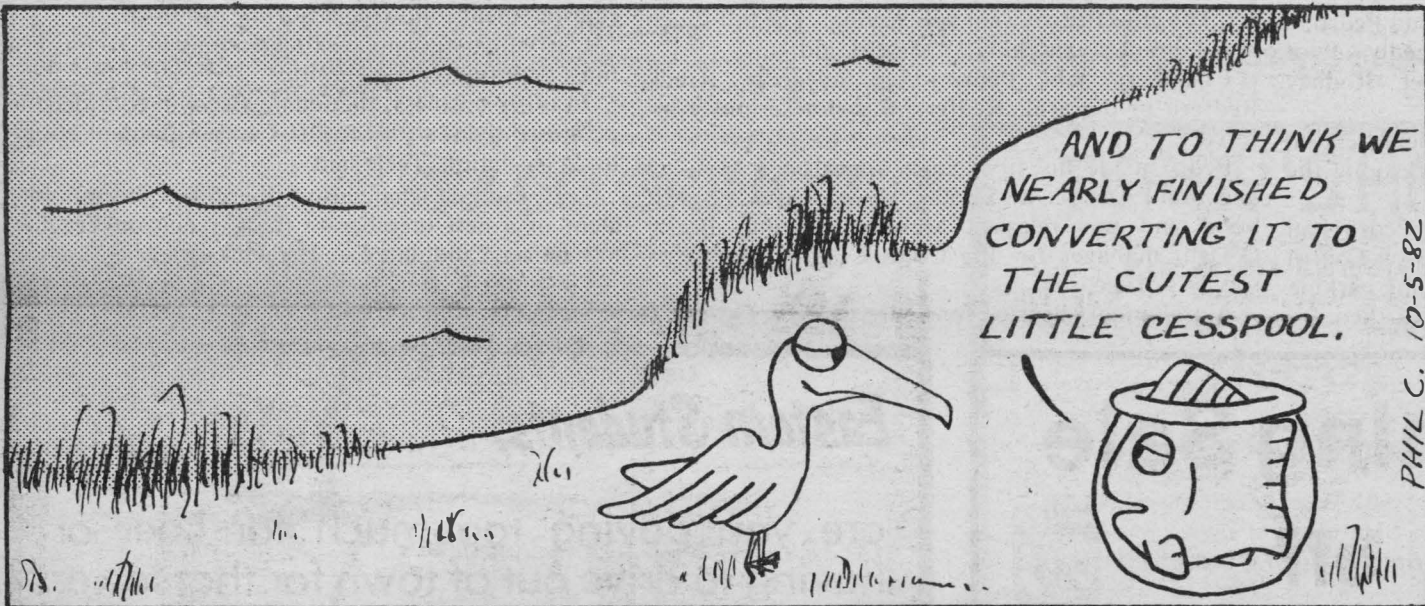

So we join residents of "The Pond" in saying thanks to those students who cared enough about Eastern and their environment to do us all a favor and clean up the pond.

A handful of Eastern students braved cold, drizzly weather for two days recently to plunge through the murky depths of the pond removing debris and plant growth. The task was monumental, but they stuck with it.

While those students deserve to be commended for their participation in the two-day project, the efforts should not end there.

Eastern's campus pond had come to resemble a lagoon recently, due to the buildup of algae and other muck. The pond's surface had become so dense with algae that it looked like it might be safe to walk on.

Photographer looks at campus' Real Men

OK, I've kept silent long enough.

Being a photographer has a lot of advantages which lets you see people from a different angle—so to speak.

I see the jocks closer, the bands louder and all the weird angles on campus from behind a viewfinder. So with all of this picture taking business I very rarely ever have any time to read anything but 1) photo magazines and 2) dirty ones—but only for the articles. And I'll never admit to reading the latter.

When I recently came across the book Real Men Don't Eat Quiche a guidebook to all that is truly masculine, I had to buy it and read it, because there are no pictures.

It has such classic chapters as:

"The Real Man at Work"—the comparison of jobs held by real men versus the jobs held by quiche eaters.

Or there's "The Real Man's Resume" and "The Real Man's Nutritional Guide."

But, what is the average sixth-semester-probation student going to get out of job comparisons, resume writing and nutrition guides? I mean all you need to know about nutrition in the dorms is "don't eat the food."

This is why I felt the need to express my feelings about the real man on campus.

For instance, real men don't say, "Take my picture; take my picture." If you have to say "Take my picture; take my picture," you're probably not doing anything worthwhile and thus aren't good material for a picture.

Personal file:

Brian Ormiston

- Real men don't shake and squirm when faced with a three-hour wait in the add lines.

- Real men are secure enough about themselves so that they don't have to take Human Sexuality 3500.

- Real men listen to WELH.

- Real men don't use zip codes.

- Real men are smart enough to realize that designer jeans and Riunite on ice will not help them pick up a woman whose IQ is higher than the average number of pages The Daily Eastern News puts out in a week.

- Real men don't go and sit through the Ballet Metropolitan in McAfee Gym.

- Real men go and see most—not all, but most—of the bands on campus.

- Real men participate in sports—they don't play games.

- Real men play rough sports—ones where you have to sweat a lot.

- Real men play raquetball and baseball—after all, real men like apple pie (but they don't necessarily drive

Editorial

Fertilizer which ran off into the pond stimulated the excess plant and algae growth.

Although students face steep fines for picking flowers from one of the meticulously maintained flower beds around campus, until recently, little concern was demonstrated for the pond.

But because a stench was expected to blow toward the Lincoln, Stevenson and Douglas Tower and the Triad, students took the responsibility of cleaning upon themselves.

The pond should not have been allowed to deteriorate in the first place, and now that a cleanup project has been started, maintenance of the pond should not be neglected again.

The pond is clean now, but it will need regular cleaning at least twice each year or poor Herschel, Fred and Lenny may be forced to look for lodging elsewhere—maybe Los Angeles or New York City.

Your turn

Needs helpers on trail

Editor:

There have been several articles and comments concerning the woodchip trail in The Daily Eastern News recently. We are now in the process of working on the trail. Perhaps there are students who would like to donate a couple of hours to the cause.

They may contact me (581-3510) or show up at 7:30 a.m. on the trail. We plan to work each weekday morning (if weather permits) until the trail is finished.

We currently have completed about one-fourth of a mile and have one and three-fourths miles to go. The work consists of light raking so that the trail can be rolled.

With enough volunteers, the trail should be completed by mid- to late October. Thank you.

Thomas Woodall

Thanks for efforts

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to openly thank Bill Reddick, Eastern's campus mail supervisor, for his time and effort that he recently extended to me concerning the extension of the current campus mail system to off-campus and commuting students.

Mr. Reddick took valuable time away from his job in order to explain the workings of the campus mail system. Due to a recent change in their metering system, the employees are faced with an even more time-consuming work load. A "charge-back" system has been implemented which entails metering each envelope and package according to its departmental or office source.

In the past, metering was done by volume, thus quickening the entire flow of campus mail. With this increased work load, afternoon delivery and pick-up have been drastically reduced. Mr. Reddick and his fellow employees are working hard to make this new "charge-back" system more efficient.

The positioning of a campus mail depository would entail extending the old route. At this particular time, it is infeasible for the campus mail employees to do this, due to their already-demanding work load.

Mr. Reddick wisely suggested that off-campus and commuting students utilize the student activities campus mail box conveniently located in the Union, to see what the demand is for campus mail service.

Thank you, Mr. Reddick, for your great idea! Mr. Reddick and his fellow employees should be commended for their hard work. It was certainly a pleasure to talk with a person who so thoroughly enjoys his work. Thank you for your cooperation and consideration.

City Council places on file fee amending proposals

by Erin Powers

Three proposals for amending the fee charged to purchasers of industrial revenue bonds were placed on file by the Charleston City Council Tuesday.

Industrial revenue bonds carry a lower rate of interest for the holder and do not fluctuate with other market values. The bonds are tax-exempt for the purchaser.

Attorney Tony Sunderman drew up three proposals for lowering the fee charged those who buy IRBs on the lowest level they can be purchased.

The first proposal would lower the fee to $500 for merchants in the Charleston downtown area only. The second proposal would charge a $500 fee to both resident and incoming non-resident businesses, while proposal three calls for a fee of $500 for resident businesses exclusively.

"Presently, the minimum fee charged for the purchase of IRBs is $3,500 before the sale and an additional $3,000 afterward," John Beusch, city commissioner, said.

"Essentially, we are offering to knock $7,000 off the price of purchasing IRBs," Beusch said.

Also at the council meeting, a resolution relating to matching funds for improvements in the downtown area was placed on file for public inspection.

If the resolution is passed, the council will match funds pooled by the downtown businesses, up to a total of $50,000, for improvements made in lighting, sidewalks and common areas of the square.

"We offered the same type of plan about three years ago and the downtown merchants couldn't agree. I would like to see them use the same unity they showed when standing up against the IRB sale for Wal-Mart, and apply it to improving downtown," Beusch said.

Another resolution placed on file involves the expansion of Charleston's computer system.

The total cost of the proposed improvements is $20,725 plus installation fees.

Also placed on file was a resolution to put a stop sign at the intersection of Wolf Drive and South Fourth Streets.

The council passed a motion to move the meeting scheduled for Nov. 2 to Nov. 9.

Prankster uses reporter's name

by Denise Skowron

An individual, falsely identifying himself as a reporter from The Daily Eastern News, has made at least one telephone call saying he was gathering information for a story.

Lola Bunham, editor in chief of the News, said the individual is not on the staff, but is using assistant government editor Keith Clark's name on false pretenses.

Nancy Yamin, an administration staff reporter for the News, said she received a call, late Monday evening, from someone identifying himself as "Keith Clark from The Daily Eastern News."

Yamin said the individual asked her if she had read about the Gay Support group forming on campus. When she replied that she had, the caller said he was doing a story on people's reactions to the group's formation.

The caller then proceeded to ask "good" questions, she said. "He was very convincing, a very good interviewer," Yamin said the interview was believable because acceptable questions were asked.

After seven or eight minutes, however, the individual made an obscene comment and hung up, she said.

The Illinois law concerning obscene, harassing or threatening telephone calls provides a penalty of up to six months in jail and/or a $500 fine. The law applies to calls made on campus as well as those made elsewhere.

Harassment by telephone is defined as "the use of telephone communication for making any lewd or indecent comment or request with intent to offend." Additional details can be found in the Charleston telephone directory.

Anyone receiving such a call is advised to hang up as soon as it is determined a prank, and not release any information. Repeated harassment should be reported to campus police.

Eastern debaters reach octafinals in tournament

by Elise Dinkel

An Eastern debate squad reached the octafinals in a tournament last weekend at Middle Tennessee State University, team coach Mike Shelton said.

Juniors Monty Donohew and Kelly Seibert had achieved a 6-2 preliminary record, but lost to a team from Emory University in Atlanta, Ga., during the elimination round, Shelton said.

The tournament included 88 teams from across the country and the octafinals consisted of the top 16 teams.

Shelton said Donohew and Seibert beat teams from Baylor University in Texas, the University of Texas and the University of Louisville in Kentucky.

"Considering this was one of the 10 or 12 largest, most important debate tournaments of the season, I think we did pretty well," Shelton said.

"We were extremely successful and pleased with the results, given some of the best debaters in the country were there," he added.

Donohew and Seibert will travel to the next tournament Oct. 15 at Emporia State University in Kansas, he added.

Shelton also said the first Cross Examination Debate Association (CEDA) style tournament has been scheduled in conjunction with a National Debate Tournament (NDT) on Oct. 22 at Wayne State University in Detroit, Mich.

Relationship seminars to begin

by Becky Lawson

Couples interested in exploring and improving their relationships may take advantage of two programs sponsored by Eastern's Counseling Center.

"Dating and Violence," the fifth in a series of Life Skills Seminars, will be presented by two faculty members Wednesday.

Counselor David Lee Weir and psychology instructor Louise Jackson said the seminar will help students learn how to recognize, change or avoid violence with their dates.

Weir estimated there are about 400 couples on campus with a violent side to their relationship.

"Staying Together—Couples Workshop" will be offered to married, engaged and seriously dating couples for three consecutive Wednesdays beginning this week. Couples are required to register in advance for the workshop because it has a limited enrollment.

"Dating and Violence" is scheduled for noon Wednesday in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon and Greenup rooms.

"Staying Together—Couples Workshop," will hold its first meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Schaeffer Room. Couples may register by contacting the Counseling Center

Woodall seeks volunteers for Woodchip trail

by Kirby Flowers

Eastern students and faculty who enjoy running on Eastern's woodchip trail have the opportunity to help repair the trail, Tom Woodall, trail founder, said Tuesday.

"Any student who wishes to volunteer his or her help to the project is welcome to come out," Woodall said. "Students that participate may work as long as they please."

Woodall said Physical Plant workers have completed three-quarters of a mile on the trail, but a mile and a quarter still remain to be completed.

"What we are hoping is to get the course restored before the heavy rain and snow begins," Woodall said. "Unless we receive some help we may not finish before the unpredictable Midwestern weather hits."

However, Woodall said he believes the woodchip trail can be completed in time if he gets a good turnout of volunteers. "I think if the students give us a helping hand we could possibly finish the entire course next week."

The work will consist of light raking and smoothing of the chips so the course can be rolled, Woodall added.

"All the volunteers need to bring is themselves," Woodall said. "We will furnish the rakes and any other materials needed."

Woodall said those interested in helping repair the trail should meet with him at 7:15 a.m. next Tuesday and Thursday beside the campus pond.

"Many people have given me advice on how the course should be resurfaced and I appreciate it," Woodall said. "But what we really need is people to come out and physically help get the trail back in shape."

Spikers looking to extend match winstreak

by Susan McCann

Eastern's spikers will be riding the momentum of an 11-match winning streak Wednesday when the Panthers travel to Chicago for a triangular meet.

"With the way we've been playing and the momentum going our way," the Panthers should come out on top, coach Carol Gruber said.

The spikers will face Loyola University at 7:30 p.m., followed by an 8:30 p.m. match against Marquette. Both contests will be decided by best-of-three games.

Gruber described Marquette as "usually good competition, but fairly bearable."

"We should be able to take Marquette and hopefully Loyola," she added.

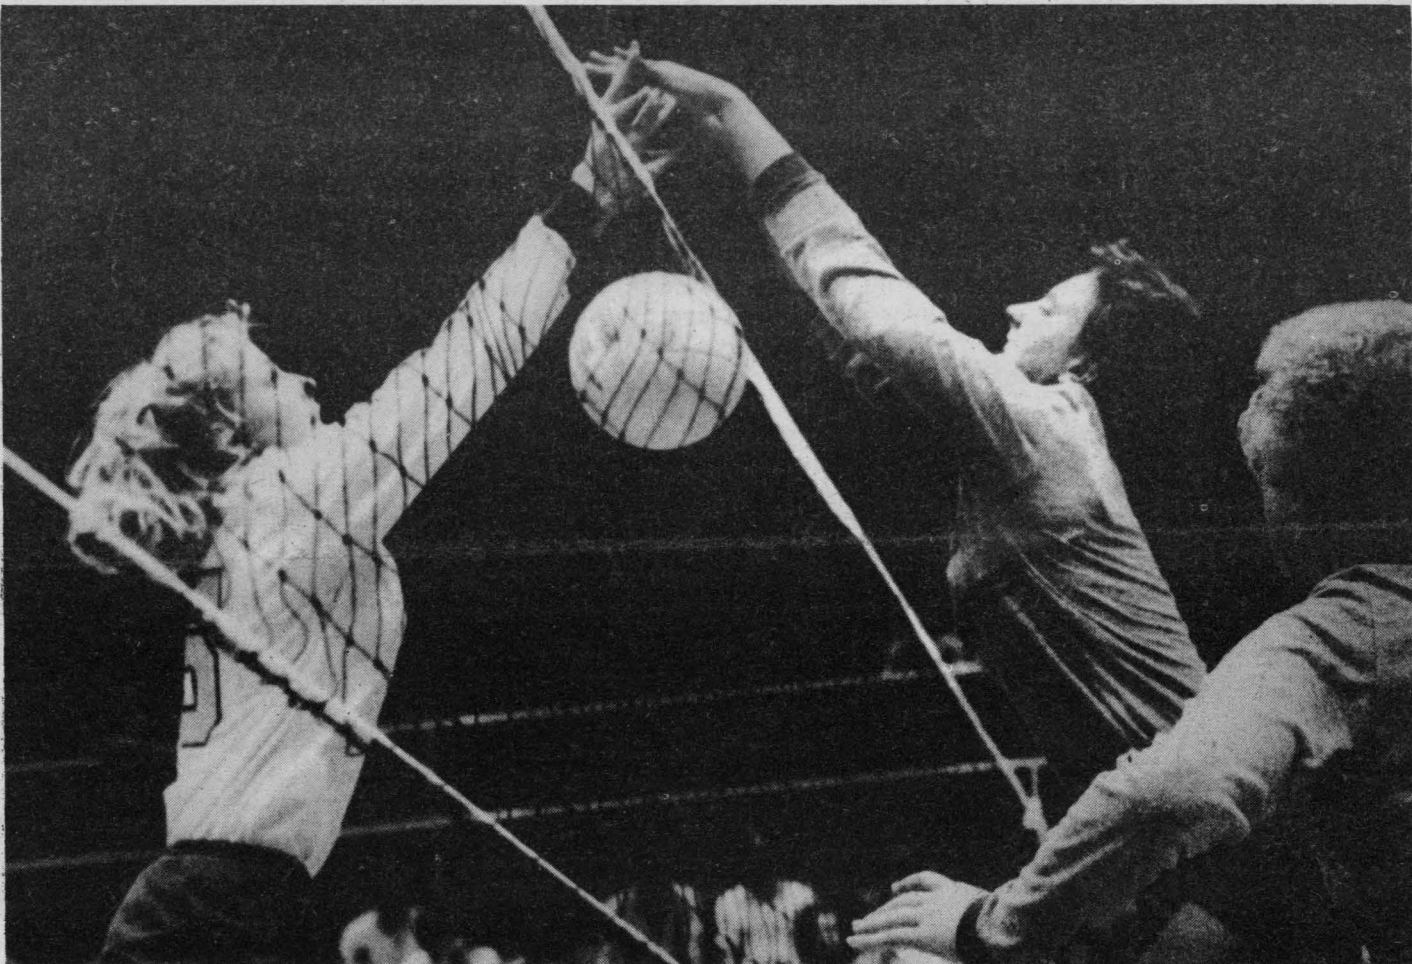

Loyola, competing for the first time in Division I, downed the Panthers in three of five meetings last year. But the Ramblers' three wins came during the regular season and the Panthers defeated Loyola twice at the state tournament.

"We knew we were going to have to beat them at the state tournament last year if we were going to go on to the regionals," Gruber said.

Although no such incentive exists for Wednesday's match, Gruber said her squad should be able to best the Ramblers this season.

"We might have an edge on them this year," she said. "From what I understand, their big middle-hitter left school," leaving Loyola coach Carolyn Vellos with only one senior on the squad.

"They'll give us a run for our money," Gruber said, adding that she

"We're going to throw it in, but it depends on the situation," Gruber said of the move she described as a "mid-season secret play."

The play is designed to draw the middle blocker to the right side of the net. If it works properly, a quick pass to the strong-side hitter would leave a one-on-one situation between spiker and blocker.

"If the pass is there, it will work for us," Gruber said. "It should work every time, but it depends on getting a good first pass."

Baylor drives in five runs as Angels trounce Brewers

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP)—Don Baylor tied a playoff record by driving in five runs, and the California Angels outslugged the Milwaukee Brewers 8-3 Tuesday night in the opening game of the American League championship series.

The series was billed as a battle of two teams with bats of redwood proportion, and the Angels won the first game by swinging the bigger sticks and getting a seven-hitter from lefty Tommy John.

The second game of the best-of-five series will be played on Wednesday with Pete Vuckovich, 18-6, scheduled to start for Milwaukee and Bruce Kison, 10-5, getting the call for California.

Brewers left hander Mike Caldwell sputtered after three inning, finally leaving in the fourth, while John just got better.

Milwaukee held a 3-1 lead after 2½ innings as John yielded a second-inning, two-run homer to Gorman Thomas, and gave up another run in the third inning.

However, the Angels got their offense in gear in the bottom of the third inning, scoring four runs, two coming on Baylor's two-triple.

California, champion of the West, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a sacrifice fly by Baylor before a crowd of 64,406, the largest ever to see an American League playoff game.

Brian Downing led off with a single and Doug DeCinces then hit a grounder back to Caldwell. The pitcher's throw to second, however, pulled Jim Gantner off the bag for an error as both runners were safe.

Downing wound up on third and DeCinces on second on a wild pitch, and one out later, Baylor drove in his first run with a fly to deep center field.

In the Milwaukee second, Ted Simmons led off with a single and Thomas, who shared the major league lead with 39 homers with California's Reggie Jackson, lofted a 1-0 delivery from John into the left field seats, just barely fair.

In the third inning, Milwaukee scored again on a fielder's choice grounder by Cecil Cooper. Paul Molitor started it with a one-out single and Robin Yount then hit a grounder deep to the hole at short stop. Tim Lincecum fielded the ball and then he threw to first, Molitor scrambled to third base, barely beating the throw from Angels' first baseman Rod Carew.

Cooper then hit a bouncer to second, beating the relay to first as Molitor scored.

That put the Brewers ahead 3-1, and it looked like the team which had the best record in baseball and hit a major league-leading 216 home runs during the season, was on its way to winning Game I. It looked that way only briefly, though.

Caldwell walked Downing to start the third inning, and a soft single to right by DeCinces sent Downing to second base.

Braves ready for start

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Atlanta Braves, winding down their celebration of a West Division title, say they're ready to play the St. Louis Cardinals for a National League pennant.

"It's going to be something," said first baseman Bob Watson, looking toward the 2:15 p.m., CTD, opener Wednesday to the league championship series. "They play the same type of ball we play aggressive."

A 50 percent chance of showers in the game day forecast represented the only blot on the horizon as the two clubs worked out Tuesday at Busch Stadium. Not since June 1979 has a game on the stadium's artificial surface been rained out.

Wednesday's high is expected to be a balmy 80. The second game of the best-of-five series will be Thursday at 7:25 p.m., CDT.

While right-handers Joaquin Andujar, 15-10, and Phil Niekro, 17-4, were preparing to pitch the opener for St. Louis and Atlanta, respectively, a second-game pairing was uncertain.

Braves manager Joe Torre had a choice to make between Rick Camp, 13-10, or Rick Mahler, 9-10. The second-game pitcher for the Cardinals will be right-hander Bob Forsch, 15-9.

Herzog plans to use rookies John Stuper, 9-7, and Dave La Point, 9-3, in games three and four against the Braves in Atlanta.

Also less than certain was the status of Atlanta slugger Bob Horner, whose three home runs and 11 RBIs helped the Braves compile a 7-5 edge over St. Louis during the regular season.

The Braves hold a 4-2 edge over the Cards in St. Louis.

Horner, sidelined since Sept. 18 by a hyperextended elbow he suffered in a rundown against Cincinnati, swung freely in the batting cage Monday. "He looked good," said Atlanta pitching coach Bob Gibson.

"It hurts, it's a little tender, but you've got to bear with it," Horner said of the injury. "I didn't play all year just to miss the playoffs."

If Horner is back in the Braves lineup at third base, it will mean a double bonus for the club that locked up its West Division title on the season's last day.

Not only will it add his 32 homers at Atlanta power, but it will add to the pitches teammate Dale Murphy can expect to receive. Without Horner in the lineup, Murphy — who has 36 home runs and 109 RBIs — has hit less than .220.

"I'm looking forward to going against Card's Manager Whitey Herzog, again," said Atlanta's Torre, the NL's Most Valuable Player in 1971 while St. Louis' third baseman. "There wasn't a better series in the league this year."

An advantage by the Braves in power, reflected by their league-leading 144 home runs to a mere 66 by the Cards, could be offset by St. Louis' superior speed.

Golfers notch biggest win

by Scott Mountford

MATTOON—Eastern's golf team captured one of its biggest victories ever as the Panthers defeated the University of Illinois Monday.

"The players were not in awe of the U of I squad even though they were beaten by them earlier in the season," Eastern coach Kevin Anglin said. "I'm really proud of the way they were able to come back."

Panther standout Mark Ferris led Eastern scorers with a 73, which was one shot over par for the Mattoon course.

"I'm really pleased the way Mike has played all season," Anglin added. "He really came through for us."

Kevin Strothmann shot a 74 and Dave Ransom shot a 77 to lead the Panthers. Jim Jessen and Ron Huffman each notched a 79, and Doug Wilmert added an 84 to round out Eastern's scorers.

Anglin said the win over the Illini will serve as a catalyst for the team to take into the winter months of training.

"This win was not only great for the team," Anglin said, "it may have been just as big a victory for the whole golf program."

In addition, when the Panthers return in the spring for the second half of the season, they will welcome Brent Herrin, a transfer student from the University of Mississippi. Herrin, who will be eligible, is expected to be a major contributor, Anglin said.

"Hopefully, with the help of Herrin and the continued fine play of the rest of the squad, we will have an outstanding second half of the season," Anglin said.

Cardinals file grid suit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Six striking St. Louis Cardinals football players have been ordered to appear in court Wednesday morning for hearings on a temporary restraining order which would prohibit them from taking part in an all-star game set for Sunday in Washington.

The team filed suit in St. Louis County Circuit Court Monday seeking the order to keep Ottis Anderson, Pat Tilley, Neil Lomax, Roger Wehrli, Terry Stieve and Curtis Greer from participating in the event.

A similar suit has been filed in St. Louis Circuit Court against Kenny Greene.

In Wednesday's hearing the Cardinals will attempt to prove that the club would suffer "irreparable damage" if the players were allowed to play in the games. The players will be given a chance to show cause why they should be allowed to participate.

The Dallas Cowboys and Buffalo Bills have already obtained such restraining orders and other teams are seeking them.

That suit seeks the invalidation of a clause in the players' contracts with the teams saying they cannot, without prior written consent, engage in any activity which carries a significant risk of personal injury.

Terry Stieve, the Cardinals player representative, said he would not participate in the game unless the contract was changed. "And I wouldn't advise anyone else to, either," he said.

"STUDENTS PROGRAMMING FOR STUDENTS"

Lets Mickey Mouse Around

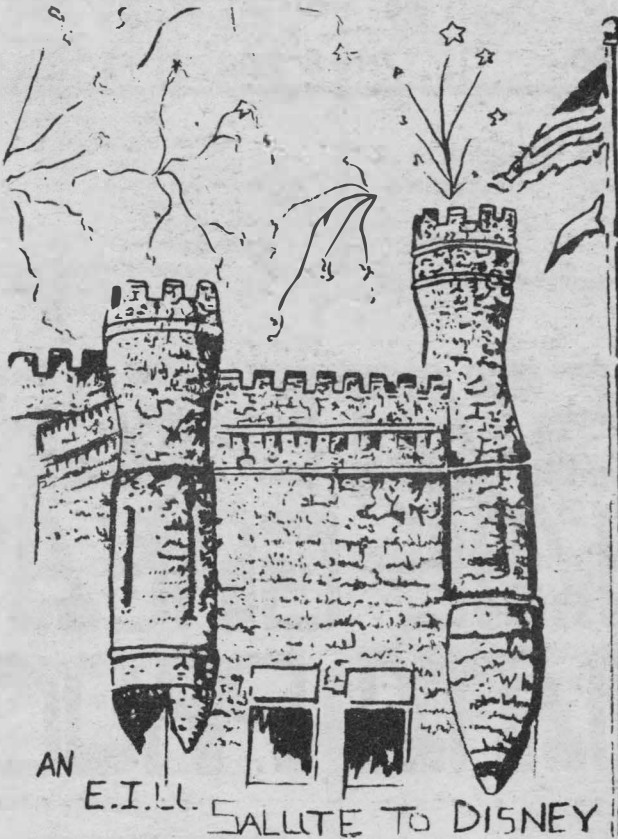

by Suzie Newkirk

Homecoming activities have already begun but Eastern's "Salute to Disney" has yet to reach it's peak. Tonight at 7:00 p.m. the Walt Disney movie, The Aristocats will be shown in the University Ballroom. Admission for students is $1.25.

Tomorrow, Thursday, Oct. 7, the annual Homecoming Pep Rally and Bon Fire will be held at the Lawson/Taylor tennis courts at 8:00 p.m. Organizations will compete for spirit points by leading Eastern cheers with the cheerleaders. The audience will be treated to a dazzling performance by the Pink Panthers and Eastern's band. Football coach Darrell Mudra will also speak and introduce the 1982 Panther gridders. The evening will be topped off with an effigy of the Akron Zips being thrown into the giant bonfire.

On Friday, Oct. 8, Continental Divide, starring John Belushi and Blair Brown, will be shown in the Grand Ballroom at 6:30 and 9:00 p.m. at the "Inflation Fighter" price of $1.00. No one should miss this profound comedy.

Saturday, Oct. 9, at 10:00 a.m. the grand Homecoming Parade will kick off at Morton Park and make its way east on Lincoln Ave., turn north up 6th Street and head towards 7th Street. The parade will feature Eastern's 1982 Homecoming Queen and Freshman Attendant, plus the Marching Blue, Flag Corps, Pink Panthers, many area high school bands, and Miss Charleston/Delta Chi, Charlene Bennington.

The football game between the Panthers and the Akron Zips will begin at 1:30 p.m. at O'Brien Field. All awards will be given out at half-time along with the usual impressive performance by the Marching Blue of EIU. Don't Mickey Mouse around and miss all the excitement this week!

THE ARISTOCATS

An Animate Feline Fantasy

by Missy Cook

In coordination with this year's Homecoming theme, An EIU Salute to Disney, University Board's Movie Committee will present the Walt Disney Production The Aristocats on Wednesday, Oct. 6. The full length feature will be shown in the University Ballroom at 7:00 p.m.

This animated feline fantasy is marked by milestone performances, jazzy tunes, and stylish elegance. A family of cats inherit a fortune, are dumped in the country by the greedy butler, and elicit the aid of an alley cat named Thomas O'Malley. The film is set in the French countryside and the back streets of Paris. This is an entertaining film you won't want to miss as part of this year's Homecoming events.

Tickets for this animated feature can be purchased in advance or at the door for only $1.25.

UB Presents... An Offbeat Romantic Comedy

by Darlene Geis

The memory of John Belushi can once again be captured on Friday, Oct. 8, in the Grand Ballroom at 6:30 and 9:00 p.m. as the University Board Movie Committee presents Continental Divide.

Unlike any previous film, Continental Divide reveals a chance for you to experience Belushi in a rare dramatic role, very much in contrast to Animal House and Blues Brothers, two movies in which Belushi kept the crowds in stitches.

In this captivating offbeat romantic comedy, Belushi stars as a streetwise, hard hitting newspaper columnist whose stories on political corruption in Chicago have made it too hot for him to stay in the windy city. Belushi's new interview assignment sends him headfirst into a romance which creates spontaneous combustion, despite Belushi's and co-star Blair Brown's differences.

Don't miss this chance to view this "Superior movie . . . which offers pleasure to any movie goer out for a good time," — Richard Corliss, Time Magazine. Tickets are available in the University Union's box office or at the door for the inflation fighter price of $1.00. No coupons or student I.D. necessary.

Advanced Ticket Sales

Advanced tickets for all University Board events may be purchased Monday through Friday from 11:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Union Box Office.
