Divestment: Debates rage as students address issue; Commission accused of being 'slanted'

By MARY HOLLAND
Staff writer

A Student Senate forum on the South African divestment controversy turned into an angry debate Thursday as several students accused forum organizers of being slanted toward divestment.

The forum, which was attended by about 35 students, was designed as a means of receiving student input concerning the Eastern Illinois Foundation's $180,000 investment in U.S. companies which do business in South Africa.

But it quickly turned into a debate between supporters of divestment and those students who accused the commission of having a pre-conceived bias toward divestment.

"What this forum really sounded like was a meeting for 'Divest EIU,'" Andrew Leyden, acting president of Eastern's College Republicans, said.

Leyden said the forum was not representative of the views of the student body. "I don't think if Gallup were taking a poll he would call any of the 30 people who attended this forum," he said. "I don't think you can get a representative view of how the campus feels when only 30 of 10,000 show up."

Randy Saucier, another College Republican, said the commission should have attracted a more balanced panel.

"It appeared there was no attempt to get an equal balance on the panel," he said.

Junior Scott Martin was one of several students who questioned the effectiveness of divestment as a solution to racist South African policies.

"If we divest, all we're doing is turning our backs," Martin said. "If we stay in there, at least we have a fighting chance to get something done."

Other students expressed concern that a communist takeover would be a likely by-product of America divestment.

But graduate student Otis Benefor, who is from West Africa, said freedom for South African blacks, not Communism, is the dominant issue.

"If they cry to the West and the West doesn't help them," the blacks will turn to those who will.

"If I want my freedom, I will take it," he said. "I don't care about any ideologies for now."

Although several students said divestment is not a long-range solution to South Africa's problems, former Black Student Union President Paul Robinson said divestment is the most effective means of pressuring the South African government.

"We have seen that long-term solutions are not working," he said. "Where is it (divestment) going to hurt them? In their pocket."

"I think we should just divest right now and put some backbone in it," he added.

The sometimes heated forum started off in a more relaxed manner, as English instructor Michael Loudon traced the history of racist South African policies.

Loudon called the Sullivan Principles, which present a set of moral codes for U.S. businesses in South Africa, a failure.

"It's my contention that the Sullivan Principles were conceived with the best of intentions," he said. "But they proved to be an utter failure and they are now a smokescreen for apartheid."

"My point, is this," Loudon said. "Sullivan (the framer of the principles), in effect, has renounced his own principles. There must be a reason for him doing this."

"Apartheid runs on people investing in it," he added.

Loudon said 33 percent of all motor vehicles in South Africa are from U.S. investments there, as well as 44 percent of the petroleum products and 70 members of the Student Senate South African commission, look on. About 30 attended the commission-sponsored forum.

percent of the computer technology.

Eastern senior Kingsley Wokokwu, who is from Nigeria, also spoke out against apartheid.

"When you are enslaved, even if you are given every comfort, you are still a slave," Wokokwu said, adding that divestment is the "only solution" to ending apartheid.

After the forum, senate organizers said the College Republicans at the the meeting were imposing ideological principles in an issue where they didn't belong.

"What he (Leyden) was trying to do is make the issue an ideological one, rather than a moral one," Senator Jaime Martinez said. "He's trying to create a courtroom atmosphere."

The commission will meet again sometime in the near future, and present a recommendation to the senate as to whether Eastern should divest.

If the senate favors divestment, a recommendation will then be sent to the Eastern Illinois University Foundation.

Senator Terry Mueller said he believes the commission knows how most Eastern students feel. "It's obvious, they want to divest," he said.

Some Subway Lounge responsibilities shifted to UB

By LORI EDWARDS
Associate news editor

After the Apportionment Board approved $8,710 Thursday to create the University Board Subway committee, responsibility for the lounge's promotions and programs shifted from the Union to the UB.

Union Area Head Bill Clark said programming and promotions were not planned into last year's UB budget because the idea of the Subway did not take shape until budget deadlines were already past.

The Union then had to take the expense of promoting, programming and sponsoring Subway entertainment and paying student disc jockeys for the month of September, he said.

The Subway will operate, Clark said, under a student/staff partnership. The partnership will consist of operations and programs to get students involved.

AB member Steve Hogan questioned why entertainment for the Subway was not included in the Union budget, instead of being funded through student activity fees in the AB budget.

Clark said the UB had to decide which aspects of the Subway should be a student-funded program and how it wished to design its committee.

It is fair for the UB to be responsible for one night of programming out of the three nights each week the Subway is open, he said.

Drinks and payroll for student employees, other than disc jockeys, are provided through the Union budget.

UB Subway Coordinator Lauri McCarthy said the Subway provides social interaction and entertainment for students.

However, McCarthy said the Subway usually has a low attendance on nights when programming is not offered. The programs and promotions are an attempt to combat the low attendance.

Another way to combat low attendance, McCarthy said, is to target evenings toward a particular residence hall or organization.

"We've found, in order to get a crowd there, it helps to have paid entertainment or special nights," Clark said.

"The more events planned by students, the better we like it. When planned by students, programs are more relevant to student life."

The Subway was conceived as a result of the administration's request that students have a place which did not sell alcohol to socialize.

The Subway, Clark said, is "well worth what little we spend."

Financial Vice President Ann Hasara said, "The Subway has another purpose—not profit—but promoting socializing without alcohol."

AB member Eddie Simpson said he believed the Subway was a good idea and AB needed to get behind it and give it support.

In other business, the AB approved $1,500 for a new video tape machine for the UB.

And $185 was approved for the Sports and Recreation Board because of an increase in National Intramural Recreational Sports Association dues. The association recently increased its dues from $65 per year to $250 per year.

Space shuttle liftoff big secret

CAPE CANAVERAL—Five astronauts were ready Thursday to fly the new space shuttle Atlantis on a secret maiden voyage to deploy two jam-proof, nuclear-hardened military communication satellites.

The exact launch time remained a public mystery to make it more difficult for Soviet satellites and spy ships offshore to monitor the flight. NASA said only that liftoff would occur between 10:20 a.m. and 1:20 p.m.

A van escorted by security cars flashing red lights, transported the astronauts to the launch pad shortly after 8 a.m., indicating liftoff would be close to 10:20 a.m. if there are no hitches. The crew normally boards a shuttle about two hours before launch.

Skies were clear as the astronauts boarded their spaceship.

The precise liftoff time will be disclosed nine minutes in advance. From then until Atlantis reaches orbit, normal mission control center announcement will keep the news media informed of shuttle performance.

Protest law unconstitutional

SPRINGFIELD—A state law regulating protest marches and other demonstrations was ruled unconstitutional Thursday by the Illinois Supreme Court in a case stemming from a 1984 protest at the Rock Island Arsenal.

The high court said laws regulating demonstrations are needed to protect the public safety. But the court found the existing statute too vague in its requirement that a "principal law enforcement officer" be notified before a march.

"Because the term ... is used throughout the substantive provisions of the statute, the entire statute is contaminated by unconstitutional vagueness," Justice Seymour Simon wrote for the court.

There were no written dissents.

The case stemmed from the arrest of 21 people on June 4, 1984, during a demonstration against nuclear weapons. They sat or lay in the street after a warning from police officers to clear the roadway.

A Rock Island County circuit judge dismissed the charges after finding parts of the state public demonstration act were unconstitutional.

Senate struggles with deficit

WASHINGTON(AP)—The Republican-led Senate, trying to ease the politically unpleasant chore of raising the national debt limit above $2 trillion, was stampeding Thursday toward adopting an emergency plan that promises to erase budget deficits by 1991.

President Reagan, campaigning for his tax overhaul proposals in Ohio, told reporters the administration has been studying a similar plan "so we're in agreement on that (the goals of the plan) and we are going to talk about that."

Asked if the president will support the plan, Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., said, "That's the indication I received" from Max L. Friedersdorf, the president's assistant for legislative affairs. Dole added that Reagan was expected to make a formal statement on the plan Friday.

He added that he expected the Senate to pass the debt limit increase along with the deficit-reduction plan, perhaps as early as Friday.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., acknowledged that concern over government red ink made it likely that a similar plan would pass in the House.

"We have here a five-year emergency program that sets out the goal of balancing the budget, it imposes that constraint on the president and the congress (and) it imposes a binding budget," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, a principal author of the proposal that has been embraced by the Republican leaders in the Senate and House.

"I think it's obvious that we have to increase the national debt, but it's far less obvious that a majority of United States senators are (not) willing to do that without, as some say, calling in of their credit cards," said Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee.

The increasing in the national debt limit—which the Senate began considering Thursday—is necessary to allow the government to continue borrowing to maintain its operations. But some legislators have said they will oppose the increase, and even filibuster, unless it is accompanied by actions to tame runaway budget deficits.

Gorbachev reveals arms package

PARIS (AP)—Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev today disclosed details of his new nuclear arms reduction plan and proposed that the Soviets hold direct talks with France and Britain on reducing their independent nuclear arsenals.

Up to now, France and Britain, backed by the United States, have refused to include their forces in the Geneva arms control talks between the two superpowers.

Gorbachev said he was proposing a three-point plan to stop the arms race, with the first point calling for a "total prohibition" of space weapons by the two superpowers and a 50 percent reduction in their strategic nuclear missiles.

Speaking in Russian to French parliamentarians, Gorbachev said the second point called for direct talks between the Soviet Union and France and Britain.

As his third point, he said the Soviets unilaterally would reducing within the next two months the number of medium-range SS-20 missiles in Europe to the June 1984 level of 243.

The Soviet Union began deploying additional triple-warhead SS-20s at that time in response to the initial deployment of Tomahawk, cruise and Pershing 2 missiles by NATO.

Gorbachev said the additional missiles, whose numbers he did not specify, already have been withdrawn "from stand-by alert and the stationary installations for housing these missiles will be dismantled within the next two months."

CAA opposes new Illinois college entrance changes

By MIKE BURKE
Staff writer

The Council on Academic Affairs Thursday unanimously voted against supporting new admission standards which are expected to be passed by the Illinois Board of Higher Education at their Nov. 5 meeting.

The CAA is in the process of writing a letter to the IBHE in opposition to the admission requirements. A draft of the letter was submitted by CAA member Bob Barger.

If the IBHE passes the new requirements at their next meeting, they will go into effect in 1990, affecting next year's freshmen high school class.

Although, by a show of hands, members of the council unanimously opposed the new IBHE requirements, some council members disagreed on the wording of the letter. However, no council member volunteered to draft a second letter.

If the IBHE passes the new requirements, high school students will need four years of English, three years each of math, social studies, and laboratory science, and two years of foreign language in order to be admitted into Illinois public colleges.

The council opposes the admission requirements for a variety of reasons. One aired at the meeting is that the admission standards may discriminate against those who attend smaller high schools which do not offer all the courses a student would need to fulfill the requirements.

Another reason is that it would force students to decide on whether or not they wanted to attend college when they are just beginning high school.

If a student decided any later than his freshman or sophomore year of high school, there would not be enough time for him to fulfill the requirements before graduation.

The council agreed that the letter should be sent before the IBHE next meeting, but, because that is not until November, additional time was available for council members to recommend any changes in the letter.

In other council action, a new senior seminar course was approved. "A Lincolnian View of American Democracy," EIU 4022, will be offered in the Spring of 1986.

Also, the CAA voted against a proposal which would have changed the credit earned by a student who enrolled in and passed Arts and Sciences 3001, "The Survival of Humanity."

The course is currently being offered for three hours of elective credit. The proposal CAA voted down would have made the course worth one credit hour towards the math/science requirement and two hours towards social studies.

A majority of the council was opposed to the change. Reasons given for the negative vote were the desire to have more students take a course was not sufficient reason to make that course worth general education credit.

Fall Festival begins Friday

By MOLLY DONAHUE
and LARRY SMITH
Staff writers

There is going to be something a little different to do this weekend with Charleston's Fall Festival on the downtown square beginning Friday.

Food and craft booths will surround the square along with the reappearance of two popular attractions from this summer's Sesquicentennial celebration, said Iris Campbell, acting director of the Charleston Area Chamber of Commerce.

A "motor-tram" tour of Charleston and film showings of life in Charleston during the 1920's and 30's will be featured attractions.

Richard Dobkins, of the Sesquicentennial committee, said the tour circulates through Charleston and shows historical homes where famous people lived and other historical sites. The tour leaves from the south side of the square and lasts about an hour. The tours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday and tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children, he said.

There will also be a reshowing of historical movies at 512 Sixth St., Dobkins said. All seats are 50 cents.

Blood drive '85 falls short of goal

By PAMELA LILL
Activities editor

The last day of Eastern's fall blood drive did not bring in the amount of blood needed to meet the goal of 1,585 pints. The final day total was 375 pints bringing the total to 1,311 pints.

"I really have no idea why the turnout was so low," General Chairman Mary Purcell said. "I don't think the goal was too high; it (the goal) was low compared to the number of pints we've received in previous years," she added.

Though the number of pints received was disappointing, the drive ran very smoothly, Purcell said.

"I would really like to thank all the people who did come in and give," Purcell said. "At least we got that much more blood than we started out with."

"I don't have any idea" why the turnout was so low, Walt Lowell, co-chair of the Coles County chapter of the Red Cross said. "Maybe it's because of viruses."

The students have worked as hard and as enthusiastically as they ever have, Lowell said, adding that everyone who has given is very important.

The drive received "over 1,000 pints" and that's a lot of blood, Publicity Chairman Dan Zicarelli said. "It's just not like EIU could do," he added.

If students have a relative or a friend in need of blood, they are more aware of the importance of donating, Zicarelli said. Some students don't come in and give until it has effected them personally, he added.

"If students change their minds about being afraid," Purcell said, "they can always give next spring."

Homosexuality forums can aid erasing stigma

Last Thursday, three members of Charleston's gay community presented a forum in Carman Hall in an attempt to dispel fears and anxieties about a lifestyle considered taboo.

It probably wasn't easy for the three to meet about 60 students head-on with their anxieties, fears and questions about homosexuality.

But forums, such as the one in Carman, are constructive because they can help expedite an end to the negative stereotypes associated with homosexuality.

Despite some murmuring in the crowd, the forum held the attention of those who did attend. Both the organizers and audience deserve kudos for their courage.

They were willing to open their minds and listen even if they may not have agreed with one of the main points of the forum: It's no easier for homosexuals to explain why they are gay lifestyle than it is for heterosexuals to understand why they are straight.

While the forum was a surprising success, still more needs to be done to bring about a better understanding of gays on Eastern's campus.

Members of both straight and gay communities should consider presenting similar forums at the Union and better publicizing them.

It's important that people begin to open their minds to different lifestyles. That's what learning is all about. By being closeminded about homosexuality, or any other issue, ignorance reigns supreme.

Letter policy

The Daily Eastern News welcomes letters to the editor from any reader addressing issues relating to the campus community.

Your turn

Library system faulty

Editor:

Over the past semester, Booth Library administrators have experimented with organizing, deorganizing and now reorganizing the periodical department. Last semester the periodical desk was closed down for some mysterious reason and one had to go through the circulation desk to check material in or out.

This semester the department is functioning on its own. The difference this time is that the unbound volumes are not directly accessible to us. It is my understanding this was done to curtail book abuse and provide better and faster service.

While commending the authorities for taking precautions for our benefit, I must, nevertheless, mention the problems I (and I am sure there are many others) have encountered with the new system.

First, the waiting period for a check-out is extremely long, almost inexcusable. In spite of the best efforts of the student assistants and staff at the desk, at times it takes more than 20-25 precious minutes before the request slip is taken, the periodical searched and the necessary information inputted into their system.

Second, by stopping direct access to the new issues, one is robbed of the simple pleasure of browsing through magazines and journals along the aisles.

Though, for all practical purposes, the latter may not be possible to implement, may I suggest the following: hire more student assistants. Budgetary restraints, right? Agreed. Let's then take a cue from the reserve desk. Check out periodicals on call cards with proper I.D. This will reduce check-out time considerably and would be more beneficial to students than the grandiose plans of installing remote-controlled rotating video cameras and monitors.

SDI merits debate

Editor:

Jim Allen should be congratulated on showing honesty in his column on the Strategic Defense Initiative on Sept. 30. He admits that only 47 of the 92 University of Illinois physicists protested SDI research. This reader was left curious about the other 45.

Possibly they agree with Robert Jastrow, Edward Teller and other experienced scientists who believe that SDI has a lower cost and higher technical merit than its critics say it has. It seems to depend on which scientist you ask about President Reagan's attempt to de-nuclearize the world's arsenals.

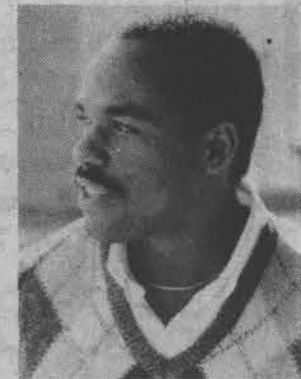

What is needed on campus is a debate on the issue "SDI and Other Responses to the Military Buildup of Soviet Imperial Russia." We should invite scientist Robert Jastrow to participate.

Make no doubt about it. The soldiers of the free world should have the support and adequate equipment to preserve the sovereignty and liberty of the free world. This should include the equipment necessary to prevent SIR from doing a Pearl Harbor on us. Some form of SDI fits such a description.

Scholarships for social science majors offered

By DINO TIBERI
Staff writer

Social science majors have the opportunity to receive up to $5,000 for their junior year through the Harry S. Truman Scholarship.

Larry Thorsen, political science department chairman and faculty scholarship representative, said 105 Truman scholarships will be awarded across the country.

Scholarships will be awarded to students planning a career in governmental service, he said.

The $5,000 may be used to cover education expenses for junior year and may be renewed for senior year and two years of graduate study, Thorsen said.

To be eligible for the award, Thorsen said a student must have junior standing (45-75 hours) by fall 1986, have an undergraduate major that could become a graduate major, have a 3.0 grade point average or better, submit a personal resume and turn in a 600-word essay discussing a public policy of their choice.

The essay and the resume must be presented to Thorsen by Oct. 25.

"Interested students should contact me (Coleman Hall room 214) before Oct. 25 to set general guidelines for their essay," he said.

After Thorsen receives students' papers and resumes he said he will be in charge of selecting "any students that are worthy enough to apply for the award."

If any students are selected, Thorsen said they will be asked to fill out the full application and revise their essay between Oct. 25 and Dec. 1 so it can be submitted with other applications to Washington, D.C.

Upon review in Washington, any applicants who make it through the previews will be asked to do a personal interview in February. Winners are selected after the interviews.

Although the award has been in existence for 10 years, Thorsen said no students from Eastern have ever been awarded the money.

"Last year 10 people were interested but no essays were turned in," he said.

The essays only take a little time and, Thorsen said, and he hopes for a better turnout this year.

roof of the Fine Arts Building. Some of the cartons failed to protect their cargo as quite a few eggs were crushed as they hit ground.

Rape official gives advice on dating

By NANCY DUGAN
Staff writer

Students who find themselves in an abusive dating situation should "be assertive, do not panic, trust your instincts and remember everyone has the right to say no," a rape official said.

"Dating and Abuse," a workshop sponsored Wednesday by the Counseling Center, discussed three types of abuse: emotional, physical and date rape.

Bonnie Buckley, representative of Coles Country Women Against Rape, emphasized date rape because the majority of abuse occurs in dating situations, she said.

Twenty-five percent of high school seniors and college freshmen are victimized by date abuse, Buckley said.

More than half of these victims stay in their relationships for various reasons such as fear of retaliation, trust of empty promises and fear of loneliness, she said.

Potential abusers, Buckley said, are "usually jealous, have explosive tempers, are very controlling of their dates and often develop a 'Dr. Jeckle and Mr. Hyde' personality."

To stop abuse, students should confront the person when he is calm, tell him they will leave if the abuse continues and seek counseling, Buckley said.

To help a friend in abuse, she said, students should let them know they are aware of the problem, they are their friend and are available.

Three films were shown describing various dating situations. The situations included a girl being picked up at a party, friend betrayal and a successful conclusion to a potential abusive date.

Officials restart Three Mile Island reactor

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP)—Technicians successfully restarted the undamaged reactor at Three Mile Island Thursday, creating a self-sustaining nuclear reaction for the first time since the plant suffered the nation's worst commercial nuclear accident 6 1/2 years ago.

"We reached... a chain reaction or the moment of restart," said Lisa Robinson, spokesman for the plant's operator, GPU Nuclear Corp.

"The process went very smoothly. There weren't any problems. We're very pleased."

A U.S. Supreme Court ruling Wednesday cleared the way for operators to restart Unit 1 at the plant, which has been dormant since nuclear fuel partially melted at the Unit 2 reactor, officials said.

Sixteen people were arrested when 45 anti-nuclear power activists responded to the Supreme Court action with a protest at the plant's main grate.

In an 80-minute process that began at 4:28 a.m. today, technicians lifted most of the reactor, said Doug Bedell, a GPU spokesman.

At 5:50 a.m., technicians began a slow process of drawing out cooling water laced with boron, a chemical that inhibits the nuclear reaction, and replacing it with pure water. With the control rods out and the boron reduced, neutrons move freely and hit more atoms, said TMI spokesman Gordon Tomb.

RHA members encouraged to go to conference

By AMY CARR
Staff writer

Residence Hall Association members were encouraged to attend a regional conference during Thursday's meeting.

National Communications Coordinator Penny Jones urged RHA members to attend the Great Lakes Association of College and University Residence Halls conference scheduled for Oct. 31-Nov. 2 at Western Illinois University.

Eastern's theme for this year's conference is "EIU—Striving and Rising Above the Rest." The trip, paid for by individual members attending the conference, will be $65.

Jones has scheduled a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Illinois Room of Stevenson Hall for interested students.

In addition, RHA members discussed the possible involvement of RHA as a group during Alcohol Awareness week Oct. 21-27. The special week will be observed by campuses all across the nation.

Various programs have already been planned by Lincoln, Stevenson and Andrews halls, but RHA has not yet established its own program.

RHA representative Penny Wallace stressed the importance of Alcohol Awareness among the residence halls.

She said she believes RHA could come up with a program to teach residents to drink more sensibly and avoid disturbing other hall residents.

In other business, several hall activities are planned for upcoming weeks.

Taylor Hall has planned a rape lecture scheduled at 6:15 p.m. Wednesday. Members of the Coles County Sheriff's Department, Charleston Police Department, and Women Against Rape are scheduled to speak at the meeting.

Ford Hall residents have planned a spoof of such programs as LiveAid and FarmAid. The program will consist of the musicians of Ford Hall and will be entitled FordAid. The event is scheduled for 8 to 11 p.m. on Oct. 14 in the Triad.

Spikers hope to snap losing string at Valpo

By DAN VERDUN
Assistant sports editor

Eastern's volleyball team will try to get back on the winning track Saturday when the Panthers travel to Valparaiso for a non-conference game.

The Panthers, 11-8 and losers of six consecutive matches, have not recorded a victory since they downed DePaul in their Sept. 21 home opener.

"We're not going to do anything new against Valparaiso," Eastern coach Betty Ralston said. "We want to finalize things for the Gateway (Conference play) over the next few weeks."

Eastern was defeated in three games Tuesday by 12th-ranked Illinois in Lantz Gym.

"We rectified most of our problems against Illinois," Ralston said. "I was pleased with our blocking and aggressiveness at the net."

"The mistakes we made Tuesday night were dumb errors. Those are the kind of things you can't afford to do against good teams."

Leading the Eastern offense is senior Judy Planos. The outside hitter from Evanston leads the Panthers with a .255 hitting percentage. Planos also leads the team with 33 service aces.

Junior outside hitter Maura LeFevour is second in hitting with a .241 average. The Oak Park native leads Eastern in block solos (15) and is second in block assists (30).

Outside hitter Diane Eiserman adds 188 kills and a .212 hitting percentage. The sophomore from Libertyville also leads the team with 140 digs.

Setter Jeanne Pacione is ranked fifth in the conference in assist average (8.06). The sophomore from Mt. Prospect has dished out 492 assists this season.

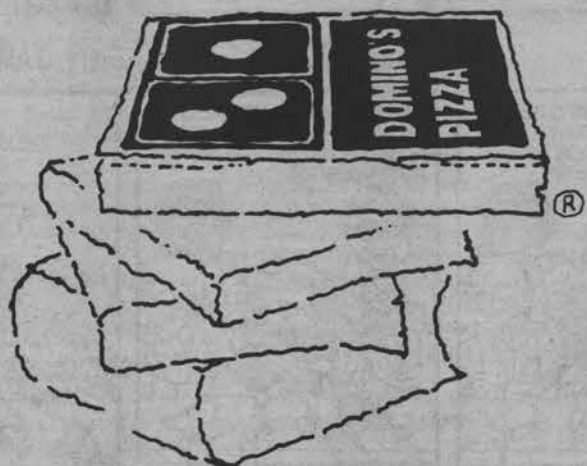

Senior Lori Berger contributes a team-leading 38 block assists to the Panther cause.

Lady netters roll to sweep of St. Louis

Eastern's women's tennis team rolled to a 9-0 sweep of St. Louis University Thursday in a fall exhibition match at Weller Courts.

No. 1 singles player Lori Lehman defeated Deanna Kielman 6-2, 6-3, while No. 2 singles player Diana Durkee downed Amy Buscher 6-3, 6-3.

Sally Stout, Eastern's No. 3 player, swept Lisa Voellinger 6-3 and 6-0.

Junior Lori Zupanci, the No. 4 player, toppled Trish Farley 4-6, 6-2 and 6-3.

No. 5 singles player Maureen McKeon and No. 6 player Lisa Stock also rolled to straight-set victories.

Eastern also took the doubles matches in straight sets with Lehman-Durkee, Stout-McKeon and Stock-Beth Stuckey comprising the Panther teams.

The Panthers return to action in this weekend's Dorothy McClure Memorial Tournament at Millikin University.

Eastern's next home match is Tuesday against Illinois State.

they are equal to the task.

"We feel we're in a situation where we have nothing to lose," the quarterback said Thursday. "We've got one thing in mind and that is to beat Kansas. To do our best and just show well won't be good enough."

Payton's counterpart will be Mike Norseth, "truly a Division I All-American," according to Molde. Norseth is currently the second highest-rated passer in the nation. Keeping the ball away from the Jayhawks' high-powered offense will be one of the keys for Eastern to be successful.

"Offensively, they're an outstanding team," defensive coordinator Larry Edlund said. "Our defense knows they'll have to play well for us to stay in it."

"We're going to be pretty mad after last week," cornerback Eddie Nailon added. "It's going to be a rock-hard, tough football game. The mistakes we made last week can't be made again."

Payton realizes the importance of a rested defense, and he's planning on keeping Eastern's 'D' on the sidelines as much as possible.

"We'll need to control the ball and keep the defense off the field," Payton said. "We'll use a lot of control-type passes, but I'm sure we'll throw it at least 40 times."

Eastern is averaging nearly 300 yards passing a game; Kansas, which is scoring 33 points a game, is averaging 350 yards a game passing.

"It'll be two great offenses playing in the same game," Payton said. "We're viewing them as another defense of 11 men. But we can't afford a slow start. Scoring early is the key. For us to play tentative would be the worst thing we could do."

So the Panthers' gameplan is simple—play hard football to the best of their abilities and let the chips fall where they may.

"Our own ability to play up to our potential will be the key to the game," Molde predicted.

All the action can be heard on WLBH, 97-FM, beginning with the pre-game show at 1:15. Ken Woodell will call the action starting at 1:30 with Doug Bock providing commentary.

Harriers eye tough weekend

By JOHN STROUD
Staff writer

Eastern's men's cross country team will split the road on Saturday sending a strong junior varsity to the Danville Invitational in hopes of bringing home the championship trophy.

The varsity will travel to the Indiana Invitational in Bloomington, Ind., in what assistant coach Tom Akers expects to be a "very, very high quality meet."

"This meet will be as tough if not tougher than the Illinois Invitational," Akers said. Eastern placed 10th out of 12 teams in that meet which included some Big 10 powerhouses.

"There will be several strong teams from the Midwest at the (Indiana) meet," Akers said.

Sophomore Dale Righter will compete this week after an ankle injury he received in the Illinois Invitational turned out not to be serious.

However, senior Dan Newman is still bothered by a back injury and will sit out another weekend.

Senior Scott Tracy will also return to the Panther lineup for the Indiana Invitational. He and Righter will be joined by seniors Jeff Armstrong and Mitch McClure, juniors Mike Madix and Ted Thompson, sophomore Van Gardner and freshman Jim Maton.

The harriers' main goal for the day will be to win the Danville Invitational.

"We will be sending a lot of freshmen to Danville who would normally be running varsity," Akers said. This includes Donzell Jones who was Eastern's No. 1 runner in three of the Panther's four meets.

"One reason for this is that we don't want to run our top freshmen in two 10,000-meter races in a row," Akers said. The Danville race will be 8,000 meters.

"It will also help the mental attitudes of the freshmen," he said. "Instead of finishing in the middle of the pack, they will be up there in the front."

"It will also prove to some of the junior colleges that we have a good freshman squad and hopefully persuade some of them to think about coming to Eastern," Akers said.

"Our top runners should be Brad Conte, Donzell Jones, Bruce Nie, Jeff Williams, John Wells, Allen Oakes, Bryan Reed and Brian Gordon."

The women's cross country team will also travel to the Indiana Invitational after a two-week break from competition.

Coach John Craft is confident that the competitive rest may pay off.

"I think we're ready to run, especially Janine Jarris, Lisa Jostes and Kerri Sperry," Craft said. "They have had excellent workouts these past two weeks."

The hilly course at Indiana may have an adverse effect on the times, but Craft is still expecting to see some good performances.

"I feel we're ready to accomplish something," he said. "They are really feeling good about themselves."

The team is still without freshman Marcy Novak and junior Penni Lammon who have been injured since the beginning of the season. The Panther's had another setback when junior LuAnn Meyer quit the team due to leg problems.

"Kerri has also been bothered by a nagging pain in her hip," Craft said.

"We're trying to keep away from those injuries but we've been working awfully hard lately."

"The overall intensity has been tougher," Craft said. "We're ready for that now; we're past the initial stages of the season."

The tough workouts will pay off in the long run in Craft's mind though.

"One of these times they're going to break out and run some outstanding times," Craft said.

"Janine is looking particularly good. She's going to break 18:00, it's just a matter of when the conditions are right," Craft said.

"We don't really set any goals," Craft said from a team standpoint. "We just go out and compete the best we can."

Cards top Mets; magic number reduced to two

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Vince Coleman had three hits, including a two-run single in the fourth inning, and the St. Louis Cardinals averted a three-game sweep by the New York Mets with a 4-3 victory Thursday night that restored their lead in the National League East to two games over the Mets.

With the victory, the Cardinals ended a three-game losing streak and reduced their magic number to two. Any combination of two Cardinals victories or Mets losses would clinch the division.

The Cardinals finish the season with three games at home against the Chicago Cubs, sending Bob Forsch against Dennis Eckersley Friday night. The Mets play three at home with Montreal, with Sid Fernandez going against the Expos' Bill Gullickson in the opener.

If the two teams finish the season in a tie, a one-game playoff in New York Monday will decide the division.

The Cardinals came into the three-game series leading New York by three games, but the Mets pulled to within a game with a 1-0, 11-inning win Tuesday night and a 5-2 decision Wednesday.

The two teams were tied at 1-1 in the fourth inning when Coleman drove in a pair of runs with his second hit of the night off Rick Aguilera, 10-7. Coleman went into the game with one hit in his previous 20 at-bats.

Darrell Porter walked. Ozzie Smith singled and pitcher Danny Cox sacrificed to set up the go-ahead hit.

Eastern slotback Calvin Pierce battles strong pass coverage from cornerback Tim Spencer (43) and free safety Bobby McNab (20) of Southern Illinois last Saturday. The Panthers travel to Lawrence, Kansas Saturday for a game with the Kansas Jayhawks of the Big Eight Conference.

Heading to Big Eight country

Loose Panthers ready to challenge Kansas

By JEFF LONG
Sports editor

Eastern's football team will pull on its uniforms around 11 a.m. Saturday at Kansas University's Memorial Stadium.

Across the field in the home locker room, the previously-ranked Division I Jayhawks will be doing exactly the same thing for the same reason—to play football.

That's the attitude around the Panther practice field this week as Eastern, 2-2, prepares to tackle its most talented opponent in the school's history Saturday. Kickoff is 1:30 p.m.

Disregarding the difference in talent, the Panthers are looking at Saturday's contest as simply a matchup of 11 guys on one side of the line of scrimmage vs. 11 on the other side. There's no intimidation or awe on Eastern's part.

"They (Kansas) will put on the uniforms just like we do," Eastern coach Al Molde said. "Our players are as big and as physical, now we've got to go out and play to the best of our capabilities."

"We've got athletes capable of playing at any level," Molde said. "This game will give them an opportunity to test their potential."

Kansas is 3-1 and was ranked nationally by both wire services before losing 24-20 last week against fourth-ranked Florida State.

The Panthers will be trying to bounce back from their worst performance of the season last week when they were blasted 42-13 by Southern Illinois.

They're not letting that confidence-shaker jangle their nerves as they prepare for the powerful Jayhawks. In fact, Molde believes his squad may be more loose for this contest than any of their previous four.

"We (coaches) have mentioned to the team that

Linebacker DeVita quits team

Eastern linebacker Rob DeVita will not make the trip to Kansas, and all indications are that he has quit the football team, defensive coordinator Larry Edlund said Thursday.

DeVita, who is tied for second on the team with 36 tackles, missed practices this week and will not make the trip because of disciplinary action.

Edlund and his staff met with DeVita Thursday. Said Edlund: "He'll decide over the weekend (whether or not to rejoin the team) but he has probably quit."

"He felt he wasn't getting enough playing time. Most of the time we're rotating people and splitting time. He felt he should have been playing more."

Edlund said linebacker Jon Moore, suffering from a severe sprained ankle, is available for Saturday's game, but won't likely see action.

"We'll keep him out unless we absolutely need him," Edlund said.

—Jeff Long

we're going into the game assuming an underdog role which is something we haven't had for awhile," Molde explained. "We're approaching this game more loosely, yet we're still keyed up."

The last time the Panthers entered a contest as the underdog, they crushed Indiana State 39-7.

Kansas features one of the top passing offenses in Division I and Eastern boasts one of the best aerial attacks in Division I-AA.

However, the Panthers will need to rebound from one of their worst offensive performances of the season last week. Quarterback Sean Payton thinks (See HEADING, page 13)

Lakeside Field will be a soccer lover's dream throughout the weekend.

Western Illinois and Southern Illinois Edwardsville will lead off the action for the bragging rights of Illinois, the Governor's Cup crown at 3 p.m. Friday.

Panther coach Cizo Mosnia said Eastern's state pride will be showing, when they battle the Cup defending champions, Northern Illinois following the opener at 3 p.m.

The winners of Friday's games will play for the championship on Saturday at 3 p.m., and the consolation game will begin at 1 p.m.

Eastern and SIU-E have been the dominant force in recent years, winning six straight championships between them. But, the Huskies broke that streak last season winning the title in front of the home crowd at Dekalb.

The tournament is an ideal way for Eastern to get back on the right track, after dropping two straight games, to Evansville, 2-1 on Tuesday, and to Illinois State, 4-1 on Sunday.

"I'm looking forward to it," Mosnia said. "The players played well in the second half of both games that we lost; we should put it together this time."

Hopefully, the Panthers can follow Northern Illinois' example by winning in front of the home crowd, said.

The title appears to be for any team who wants it enough and Mosnia likes his chances.

"I think we do have a good chance to take it," Mosnia said. "I think every team has a good chance, but I feel confident," Mosnia said.

Northern was ranked 16th in the nation last season, but are having some problems this year. The team carries five Norwegian imports who are said to be "tough players," Mosnia said.

But goalkeeper Mark Simpson said if the defense can keep together, the Panthers should contain the best strikers Nil Kloster and Johann Bergseth.

The defense are still working the kinks out though Sophomore John Glendenning, who was a midfielder last season, is presently learning his new position as a sweeperback, Simpson said.

"John needs to adjust back there," Simpson said. "John and I have to communicate also."

There is a slight possibility of freshman stand-out Curt Elchuk making an appearance in this weekend's match-ups, although his returning is still questionable, Mosnia said. Elchuk fractured his foot while playing in the Canada Youth Games prior to the season.

CAFFEINE

Wake up and smell the coffee—moderately

By MICHELLE MUELLER
Assistant Verge editor

When faced with a long night of cramming before a big exam, many students keep alert with a big pot of coffee or caffeine tablets such as No-Doz or Vivarin. But recently many questions have been raised about possible health hazards connected with that stimulating drug.

Max Covalt, owner and pharmacist of Covalt Drug Store, 604 Jackson, said his store sells "a lot" of caffeine tablets, such as No-Doz, to college students.

"I don't think that they hurt anyone," said Covalt.

But he cautioned, "it depends upon the person. You take a college student, they're young and it doesn't hurt them. But you take an older person that's 50 or 60, and this is not good for them. It raises their blood pressure."

Dr. Jerry Heath, director of Health Service, agreed. "I don't think it's too bad if you do it (take caffeine) in moderation," unless one has high blood pressure, kidney problems, or certain other health problem, he added.

"One or two cups (of coffee) a day won't hurt anybody," who is in good health, Heath said.

One problem that can come with too much caffeine is psychological addiction.

"You do get some withdrawal after you try to quit taking it after taking a lot of it," Heath said, but noted that this can happen with almost any medication. "Even aspirin can do it."

"You develop a tolerance. Some people can drink one cup of coffee and they get all nervous and jittery," he said.

Another common source of caffeine besides caffeine tablets and coffee are soft drinks.

"The majority of students don't realize" how much caffeine soft drinks contain, Heath said.

For those concerned about caffeine for health or other reasons, there are many de-cafeinated varieties of soft drinks available.

"Those are on the market specifically for people concerned about caffeine," said Tracy Stewart, a consultant for Coca-Cola in Atlanta, Ga.

Stewart said the popularity of caffeine-free drinks is slowing building up.

Many of Coke's caffeine-free soft drinks "are new so they really wouldn't have a strong market share. Caffeine-free Coca-Cola has maybe 9 percent of the market," Stewart said.

Stewart said not everyone is concerned with caffeine, and in fact, "some people like the caffeine."

"It contributes to the over-all flavor of the soft-drink," Stewart pointed out.

Unless one has a health condition that prevents it, it would seem that there is no reason why anyone should not enjoy coffee, soft drinks, or even those caffeine-loaded tablets occasionally when staying awake is important.

"I drink coffee. I do it moderately," Heath said.

Cocoon adds 'special effects' to

By LLOYD TRESSEL
Movie Critic

Going into the theater I was expecting to see a movie with a display case of special effects. However, I was pleasantly surprised to see a movie more about the ups and downs of old age.

Ron Howard, the director "Cocoon," doesn't overwhelm the viewer with incredible special effects, instead he used them sparingly and with significance to balance out the storyline.

The movie centers around three stories: a romance between a human and an alien, three old men from a nursing home and the aliens recovering some friends left behind from Atlantis.

But the movie mainly focuses on the three old men from the nursing home. Not ready to give up on the adventure of life, the old men venture every day to the vacant home adjacent to the nursing home to go swimming.

As it turns out the aliens rent this home and use the indoor swimming pool to store cocoons which they have recovered from the ocean floor.

These cocoons conceal the bodies of their friends who have been dormant for 10,000 years while waiting to go home.

The old men discover the cocoons but decide to go swimming anyway. After swimming in the pool with the cocoons, the old men feel jubilant and youthful again.

There is a cute scene in which they find a renewed interest in their sex lives because of the "fountain of youth."

The other story which is developed in this movie is the romance between an alien and the captain of a boat for hire.

The only criticism that I have for this movie is that Ron Howard should have tried to develop one of these stories and not all three because he leaves viewers asking questions.

The aliens, consisting of three men and one woman, rent this boat so they can dive and recover the cocoons.

The captain of the boat, who is a typical beach bum type with the I.Q. of a doormat, attempts to hit on the lady alien and is politely turned away.

In the next scene, in on the lady alien to take off her head and begin a relationship. The aliens express their love.

When the captain replies, "man."

The one thing I like about this movie, or just about any movie, is when we finally see spaceships, we like them. Or better yet, they are going. May the alien movie win.

Cocoon is a side the heads you don't stop gray or your chin to a nursing home.

Cafferty's new album brings 'working-class' flavor to music

By DAN VERDUN
Album critic

After listening to Tough All Over, one can easily understand why John Cafferty and the Beaver Brown Band were such a huge success playing East Coast bars just a few years ago.

This album brings out a blue-collar, working-class flavor that goes hand-in-hand with the bar scene.

On their last album, the Eddie and the Cruisers Soundtrack, Cafferty's vocals closely resembled those of Bruce Springsteen. However, with Tough All Over, Cafferty sounds more like Jackson Browne.

Cafferty and the Beaver Brown Band set the tone of this album right from the start with "Voice of America's Sons." A fast-paced, bouncy drum, piano and guitar introduction gets things off and running.

Cafferty's rough vocals soon join in, creating a coarsely-industrial sound that sits well with the nation's recent wave of patriotism and blue-collar America.

This theme carries "over and over and over" into the album's next cut "Tough All Over," which tells of a broken-hearted waitress and a laid-off factory worker who tries to drown away his shattered pride at the local bar.

Cafferty offers sympathy to both by singing: "Here's to the broken-hearted, it's tough just to get things started all over again" and "It's tough to swallow your pride each and every day."

After describing life in the "C-I-T-Y" the band turns to the theme of "getting away from it all" with the next several songs.

In "Where the Action Is" Cafferty sings, "Well, I'm tired of workin' pushin' nine-to-five, gettin' harder each day to feel alive."

With "Dixieland" the band speaks of the American migration to the Sun Belt states in search of a better life, especially from the group's native Northeast.

"Strangers in Paradise" tells the story of a small town boy named Billy who heads out to California in search of his dreams, and falls in love with a Southern girl who "made him feel just like James Dean." But, he winds up returning home to take a job and a wife.

NBC's 'eerie hour' has better second half

By JUDY WEIDMAN
Television Critic

Alfred Hitchcock presents amazing stories?
No, they are two different shows
"Amazing Stories" by Stephen Spielberg, and "Alfred Hitchcock Presents."

These two unusual shows create an 'eerie hour' at 7 p.m. on Sunday nights for NBC.

If "Amazing Stories", the opening show, is an indicator of Spielberg's best work then he should probably 'phone home' and get some help.

The scene: a newly built house in the middle of a wheat field in Kansas (remember the Wizard of Oz?).

Coincidentally, it is also located in the exact same spot where a terrible train crash occurred 50 years earlier.

Also, the little boy who supposedly caused the train crash is still alive. He is now about 76-years-old and returns to the scene to visit his son.

Was there a hidden reason for his return?
One afternoon the old man went with his grandson out into the fields and they came across part of the railroad tracks.

The man bent down and put his head to the rail and heard a train coming.

At about 3 a.m. the exact same train crashed through the house and stopped in the middle of the living room. The man handed the conductor his original ticket and boarded the train bound for nowhere.

'Believe it or not!'—I don't!

What Hitchcock presents, on the other hand, is eerie, entertaining and believable.

His first episode explores the tormented relationship of a husband and wife.

The husband is an All-American, well-groomed college professor. His wife is of sound body but questionable mind.

When he leaves for his first day of school she trots off to the local dance studio to take an exercise class. He is very protective and gentle with her and is pleased that she is going out and doing things.

After her dance class she decided to walk through town and go to the market place.
While browsing at one of the stands a man whom she did not know made a comment in passing.

She freaked out and started running home.
Before she made it up the stairs in her home, someone attacked her from behind.

In the next scene they showed her trembling in a hospital bed.

Then her husband rushed in and reassured her that they'd catch the person that did it.

After that he talked to the police officer who informed him there was a slim chance that they would ever catch the guy.

She was released from the hospital later that day with a slight concussion but placed in her husband's care.

On the way home she spotted a man she thought was her attacker. The husband asked her several times, "Are you sure?"

She said yes he pulled over got out of the car and followed the man into a parking garage.
When the guy was getting into his car, the husband grabbed his tie and strangled him to death.

He calmly walked back to the car in hopes that the nightmare had ended.

But when he got in and started to drive away his wife spotted another man and said, "That's Him! That's Him!"

For the husband the nightmare would never end.

Caffeine addict tells all

By DIANE SCHNEIDMAN
Staff writer

I'm a bit of an addict.
I don't know when it started. I guess it was probably my sophomore year when I got a job that required me to rise from my bed at 5:30 a.m., took a full class load and started working at The Daily Eastern News.

No, I am not addicted to booze or street drugs. Instead I have become one of the movers and shakers—a living legacy to the Pepsi generation. Yes, shocking as it may seem, I am a caffeine addict.

In the beginning, my problem was minor. A cup of coffee every so often in the morning, and a couple of cans of cola to see me through the days and nights.

I didn't see any need for concern about my developing habit; especially when it came to coffee. I didn't even really like the taste of the stuff. I used cream and sugar to mellow the bitterness.

Besides, if I drank the beverage in mass quantities (at the time it was a mere two cups), I would get the shakes and bounce around like a Mexican Jumping Bean.

But my resistance grew.
I quickly worked my way up to three cups of coffee in the morning and three cans of cola in the afternoon.

The addiction became more obvious to me when I decided to invest in one of those thermal mugs offered by one of the local businesses so I could tote my brew to school.

The problem has reached monstrous proportions. The only thing that will get me out of bed in the morning is the thought of a piping hot cup of coffee.

I've even learned to really enjoy the flavor of freshly perked black coffee. And the aroma can't be beat.

And if I don't get my fix I'm cranky, sleepy and, basically, unenjoyable company.

Now I'm concerned.
I keep reading about how caffeine increases the odds of acquiring ulcer, cancer, heart disease and other such pleasantries.

But none of these fears have diverted me. I need the stuff. It makes me more alert. It keeps me awake. Given my choice between laying out 50 cents for coffee or a hamburger, I'll take the coffee. I can't seem to quit.

The words of true addict, you say? Perhaps, but, hey, it's only caffeine.

So if you pass a girl who is trying to juggle a coffee mug, school books and cigarette first thing in the morning, don't stare. Don't laugh. Instead, take pity on the poor soul and buy her a cup of coffee.
