IFC may amend constitution to allow house presidents to hold council office

A motion to delete a part of the Interfraternity Council (IFC) constitution has been made because of problems in Tuesday's elections, Bob Cabello, adviser to IFC, said Thursday.

The motion, to be voted on at 6:30 p.m. Monday, would allow presidents of fraternities to hold office in the IFC.

The problems arose after Craig Quarter of Sigma Phi was elected unopposed as vice president of IFC and Charles Carter of the black fraternity Kappa Alpha Psi and Bill Brown of Sigma Chi tied for the office of secretary.

Both Quarter and Carter are presidents of their respective fraternities and the IFC constitution forbids presidents from holding an IFC position.

Dave Poshard of Pi Kappa Alpha was elected president in the elections Tuesday in the Student Activity Conference room.

Under the constitution, Quarter and Carter would have been declared ineligible for the offices, except for the motion made by Mike Baum of Beta Sigma Phi.

Baum said Sunday that he was "sure" the motion would pass and that elections for the vice president and secretary posts would be reheld on Monday.

Carter said he felt there was no racial influence involved in the election and that the President, Poshard, dealt with the situation well.

But, Carter said it was his "strong belief" that had he been white, the election may have been resolved.

Carter's fraternity, Kappa Alpha Psi is the second Black fraternity to belong to the IFC.

The first, Alpha Phi Alpha, was "booted out for non-participation" Poshard said.

On the racial issue Poshard stated there was no racial prejudice involved in the election and that the council has done everything possible to be fair.

Quarter said there was "definitely not" any racial influence during the election.

Eastern student dies in auto wreck

By Diane Duval

An Eastern student and two Lakeland Junior College students were killed Saturday night when the car in which they were riding collided with a semi tractor-trailer on route. 16.

Dead are Eastern student Philomena Richardson, 18, of 3020 Western Ave. in Mattoon, Cathy Diepholz, 18, of 1117 Bell Ave. in Mattoon and Diane Witwicki, 18, of 418 N. Spruce St. in Windsor, both Lakeland students.

Eugene Parr, Illinois state trooper, said Sunday that the girls' car, driven by Richardson, was headed north on Lerna Road when it ran a stop sign at the route 16 intersection and hit a semi tractor-trailer eastbound on route 16.

The semi was driven by Steven F. Daily, 30, of 713 S. 25th St. in Mattoon, Dick Lynch, Coles County coroner, said Sunday.

Lynch said the car, a Javelin, "hit the trailer at a right angle and the rear dual wheels of the trailer passed through the car."

Damage to the semi was minimal and Lynch said it was "able to be driven from the accident."

The Javelin was totalled, he added.

Parr said the accident occurred at about 11 p.m. Saturday and is still being investigated by the state police. He said no tickets were issued.

Two of the girls, Richardson and Diepholz, were pronounced dead at the scene of the accident, Lynch said.

He added that Witwicki was taken to the Mattoon Hospital, admitted at 11:19 p.m. and pronounced dead at 11:50 p.m. Cause of death for all three was listed as injuries received, he said.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Monday at the Church of Immaculate Conception in Mattoon for Richardson.

Services will be held at the Shilling's Funeral Home at 1301 Charleston in Mattoon for Witwicki at 10 a.m. Tuesday and for Diepholz at 3 p.m. Tuesday, also at Shilling.

Quake kills over 1,800 in Turkey

LICE, Turkey (AP) - Women in dusty black shawls chanted mourning songs beside the rag-covered bodies of their children Sunday as remote villages of eastern Turkey dug out of an earthquake that officials said killed more than 1,800 persons.

Necmettin Esenler, a Lice municipal clerk, extended his bloody hands and muttered through tears: "I dug out my two-year-old daughter Vedia from under a rock with these hands."

Eight members of his family died in the quake that hit the eastern mountain region Saturday and reduced this town of 8,000 to rubble.

The stench of death filled the air, and officials poured disinfectant around the cemetery, which was not large enough for the 840 persons believed to have died in Lice alone.

Officials said at least 1,000 more died in surrounding villages and the toll could go higher.

Some of the bodies, those of people hit by rocks falling from a nearby mountain, were flattened and unrecognizable. Premier Suleyman Demirel flew into the area and pledged, "No one will be left starving or homeless."

About 2,000 troops were aiding the relief operation.

Michael Bakalis to be at Eastern Wednesday for 'sounding' visit

By Debbie Pearson

Michael J. Bakalis, former Illinois superintendent of public instruction, will be at Eastern Wednesday on a sounding tour.

Bakalis, currently a visiting professor at Northwestern University, will be visiting the campus to see how receptive the people are to him should he decide to run for public office in 1976, a spokesperson for his office said Sunday.

Although Bakalis a Democrat, is scheduled to arrive at about 10:30 p.m., a meeting place has yet to be announced.

Bakalis was the youngest superintendent of Public Instruction in the state's history and the last one chosen by popular vote.

Recently, Bakalis has established and been working with the Illinois Committee for Educational Excellence, an organized force for citizens to work for rights of the young.

The organization is working to redefine a relationship with the young.

In one of his earliest efforts as superintendent, he moved to open the educational decision-making process to students, teachers, parents, administrators and other interested persons by establishing 12 regional citizens advisory councils.

During his administration he also assigned top priority to reforming teacher certification requirements, updating recognition and supervision practices and improving high school and elementary school curricula.

Student Senate may consider filling vacancies

By Joe Natale

A motion to provide a means for filling vacancies on the Student Senate was introduced at the senate meeting Thursday night.

Mike Baum, a senator from the Greek District, introduced the motion which would amend the Student Government Constitution.

The motion must sit on the floor for a week and Baum said that it will probably be voted on by the senate at its next meeting.

The proposed amendment would allow the student senate speaker to notify the runner-up in the latest student senate elections in the district where the elected senator resigned and inform the runner-up that he may petition into he senate with the signatures of half the senate members.

After the petition is presented, he runner-up must be approved by a majority of the senate.

If the runner-up does not take any action to petition into the senate, the next person from that district with the highest number of votes will be notified that he can petition into he senate.

Baum said Sunday that about five people drop out of the senate each year, and there should be some way to fill senate vacancies.

Two senators have already resigned from the senate this year, which reduced senate membership to 28.

Doug Lawhead, senator from the At-Large District, informed Senate Speaker Bill Scaggs that he is not attending Eastern and Dave Poshard, a senator from the Greek District, resigned from he senate Thursday because he was elected president of the Intrafraternity Council.

Baum said that one reason senators drop out of the senate is because they did not know what they were getting into when they joined.

He said some senators become "disillusioned" by the senate, and if there are people interested in the senate, they should be permitted to join in case of a vacancy.

Also at the meeting, a recommendation from the summer senate to change the summer bylaws was sent to the Governance Committee for further study.

The proposed by-laws would permit the senate, at its last meeting of the spring semester, to vote on persons who submitted petitions to serve on the summer senate.

The current by-laws instruct the summer senate to admit petitioners to the senate at its first summer term meeting.

'Squeaky' will ask to be own lawyer at trial—friend

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Manson family member Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme probably will follow the pattern set by family leader Charles Manson by serving as her own lawyer on a charge of trying to murder President Ford, her best friend said.

"Squeaky will probably try to defend herself," Sandra Good said in a weekend interview. The only circumstance under which Fromme will keep her court-appointed public defender, Good said, is "if he'll do what she tells him to do, then she'll keep him."

The pattern of demanding self-representation was set by Manson during his trial. Since then, members of his roving communal "family" have made similar requests when arrested on varying charges. They have almost always been refused.

Manson, convicted with three women followers in the 1969 Sharon Tate-Leno LaBianca murders, has filed a new appeal on grounds that he was denied his right to represent himself.

A recent U. S. Supreme Court decision strengthened the constitutional guarantee of a defendant's right to represent himself.

Fromme meanwhile remains alone in a maximum security cell at Sacramento County Jail. A sheriff's spokesman said she had been issued a blue denim uniform like other prisoners, was being fed in her cell and would not be allowed to leave the cell for any reason. However, he said she was posing no special problems.

Housing Office open house rules unfair to some

Thank goodness the residents of Thomas Hall were able to muster enough votes to pass 24-hour, seven day a week open house Thursday.

With all the options they were presented by the Housing Office, it's a wonder that such a large number of people voted (394 out of about 460 students.)

The four options those who voted faced were: 24-hour, seven day a week open house; keeping the existing open house policy; weekend open house only; and no open house at all.

It looked like the Housing Office was trying to throw a wrench into the works hoping the number of options would confuse enough people so the liberal option would not get the necessary two-thirds of the votes it needed to pass.

If enough residents had accidentally mismarked their ballots or gotten so turned off by trying to figure out which choice was the one they wanted and given up, the whole thing would have failed.

The students would have had the same old open house hours which, while not being all that restrictive, still does not give them the freedom they deserve.

It is rather ludicrous to tell a college student that they cannot have persons of the opposite sex in their rooms before a certain hour of the day.

The students' rooms in the dorms are not just their bedrooms. They are their recreation area, living room, den and, even though it is against the rules, their kitchen.

To tell students they cannot have someone in their kitchens because of the fear of illicit goings on taking place is not very fair.

However, the Housing Office tried, it appears, to keep this truly open open house policy from going into effect.

One thing they said was that it would be very hard to enforce the "escort rule."

This rule states a guy must be accompanied by a female when going in the hallway or stairway in a girls dorm, or vice versa.

The reason for this is to keep the incidents of theft down and protect the privacy of the dorm residents and, in the case of men in women's dorms, protect them against rape.

The dorm residents assistants (RA's) say that making sure everyone abides by the rules will be more difficult. It is hard to see the logic in that statement.

The dorms are locked up at midnight and only residents of that dorm have a key to get in. This means no outsiders will be coming into the dorm after midnight unless a friend of theirs is at the door to open it for them and escort them back to their room.

Even with 24-hour, seven day a week open house, the RA's will still be able to tell the guys from the girls and figure out who, in their respective dorms, should be escorted and who should not.

The new ruling may mean the RA's will have to keep their eyes open a little bit more but that's about all.

Also, the Housing Office's decision to let only three dorms have the new open house policy is discriminatory. With the on-campus housing crunch the way it is, students who want to live in a dorm that has the liberal policy may not have the chance to do so.

Every dorm resident should have the chance to vote on whether they want 24-hour, seven day a week open house. It is only right that what is offered to some should be offered to all.

Eating dinner at amateur farmer's house true test of friendship

WASHINGTON—One of the results of high food prices is that people are starting to raise their own vegetables in their back yards. This is a good thing if you're trying to save money; it's a bad thing if you're invited over to the amateur farmer's house for dinner.

People who raise their own produce take great pride in what they have grown, and as a dinner guest you have to go to great lengths to show your appreciation for what they have raised.

The other night we were invited to the Styrons.

Mr. Styron had torn up his back yard to plant vegetables, he said, to beat the inflation.

After a few drinks we sat down at the table.

"Where's the eggplant?" Styron asked his wife.

"We haven't served the soup yet," Mrs. Styron said.

"Is there something special about the eggplant?" I asked.

"Nothing," said Styron, "except that I grew it myself."

"That's amazing," I said, not mentioning I hated eggplant.

"It's really nothing. All you need is the right soil and aluminum foil to keep off the cutworms and a lot of manure. Are you finished with your soup yet?" he asked impatiently.

"Almost," I said, lifting the bowl to my lips.

Mrs. Styron brought in a large baked sea bass. Styron rushed into the kitchen and came out with the eggplant.

"Don't eat too much fish," he warned me. "You won't have room for the eggplant."

I took a small serving of fish and a large serving of eggplant.

"This bass is delicious," I said.

Art Buchwald

"What about the eggplant?" Styron demanded.

"It's excellent," I said. "Almost as good as you can get in a store."

"It's better than you can get in the store!" he shouted.

"That's what I meant," I said. "You really can't find good eggplant in a store any more. I guess that's because everybody is growing his own."

"Have some more," Styron said, holding out the serving bowl.

I took some more eggplant, though my eye was really on the bass dish.

"Now," said Styron, "I have a surprise for you." He rushed off into the kitchen.

"Whatever happens," said Mrs. Styron, "please don't laugh."

Styron came in with a large plate on which were four tiny gnarled pieces of corn.

"I picked them this afternoon," he said proudly. "I was afraid I wouldn't have any this year because of the blight, but damned if they didn't sprout up in spite of it. The corn is called Silver Queen."

"They're beautiful, Styron," I said. "It's a shame we have to eat them. You could have sold your whole crop to Russia."

"I wouldn't let the Russians have my corn," Styron said. "They wouldn't appreciate it. Don't worry about the kernels being uneven. That's the way they're supposed to look."

"If I eat the corn, can I have some more bass?" I asked.

"If you want to. But don't forget there's a Swiss Chard salad to come."

"Swiss chard?"

"Yup, they said I couldn't grow chard because my soil had too much acid in it, but I fooled them. The leaves are brown, but outside of that you would never know it wasn't real chard. I mixed it with my own home-grown tomatoes. So which do you want— fish or chard?"

"Chard, of course," I said.

Styron was in seventh heaven.

"There is nothing in the world like growing your own vegetables and fruit."

"You also grow fruit?"

Styron disappeared into the kitchen and came out with a plate.

"Well, what do you think?"

"You're growing green tennis balls," I said.

"No, stupid. It's watermelon. Rose wanted to serve hot apple pie and ice cream, but I said you could have that any time. How often do you get watermelon right out of the garden?"

"Miniature watermelon," my wife said. "Bill, you've started an agricultural revolution."

Styron smiled modestly.

"The earth has been good to me."

Thomas open house vote beginning, end of trends at Eastern

This is the beginning and the end.

Thomas Hall, in showing its approval of 24-hour open house seven days a week, is beginning a new trend at Eastern.

No longer will students have to resort to devious underhanded methods of getting in and out (which is probably harder) of the residence halls after hours.

And no longer will males be seen dashing across campus with their girlfriends in order to return them to their proper dorm at 5 a.m. on weekdays.

Although the new open house policy still has to be approved by the Housing Office before Thomas can take advantage of it, and has to be voted on by the other two "select" dorms, it won't be long before all dorms at Eastern will see the beginning of better open house hours and the end to the challenge of sneaking out of a dorm.

The trick has been to leave the dorm in which you're illegally "visiting" late enough so that you don't run into any insomniac-ridden students, but early enough in the morning so that when you return to your own dorm you don't run into the maids and janitors coming in to work.

Diane Duvall

But first you have to get off the illegal floor and, if you happen to be on the sixth, seventh or so on, a walk down the back stairs can result in heart failure. (Taking the elevator is definitely easier on the muscles, but extremely more dangerous as you can't hide as easily from the "night owls.")

If you're trying to sneak a friend out and your room is situated near the back door or the elevator, there's almost no hassles involved.

But if you happen to live next door to the RA or have to go clear down the hall to get off the floor, look out.

RA's are generally pretty understanding, but a female giggle on an all-male floor at 4 a.m. on a week night kind of stands out. (And vice versa.)

As a result of previous experience, though, some students have acquired a nice knack for tiptoeing to the nearest exit and zipping quietly down backstairs at a speed that even Superman would be amazed at.

All of these talents that students have spent the last few years developing may become extinct.

The fine art of sneaking in and out dorms past hours may become lost as Eastern progresses toward more liberal policies.

Who knows, maybe in a few years, Eastern will allow males and females to live in the same dorm room, as in the "Harad Experiment".

This is hardly meant to condemn Eastern for finally loosening its reins on the dorm-habiting students.

But, just the same, life at Eastern will never be the same.

PAD non-credit courses offer guitar lessons, stereo repair

By Bob Pearcy

Such subjects as stereo repair, guitar and photography will be offered this year as part of the Personal Advanced Development (PAD) program, if sufficient interest is shown.

The free, non-credit courses will be offered to students, faculty and community residents by the Housing Office, as they have been since the fall of 1972, Mary Smith, administrative assistant of the Housing Office said last week.

Interested applicants should apply to the Housing Office in the Student Services Building by Sept. 15, she said.

In the past the PAD courses have lasted from six to eight weeks with some lasting only four weeks at the discretion of the instructor, Smith said.

"We have had a few faculty members instruct PAD courses in the past and, of course, we hope that they would continue to instruct the classes she said.

"From the Charleston community we have had representatives of insurance, stereo repair, auto mechanics and related fields instruct classes," she added.

The program, which is tentatively scheduled to begin the week of Sept. 29, usually has between 300 and 400 students enrolled each year, Smith said.

That's right—Lambda Chi Alpha plans never to have another pledge. That doesn't mean that we plan to close our doors when all our current members have graduated. We have been very successful at adapting to change throughout our history and we don't plan to stop now. Our purpose is (and always has been) to guide young men toward improvement as individuals through involvement with others.

The day has past when we let college administrators, similar organizations, and society tell us that we must subject our new members to a period called pledgship. An individual's time is too important to be wasted with a period of second-class citizenship when he is involved in an organization with as much potential for human growth as Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

AXA has long since rid itself of the old-fashioned pledge training and hazing syndrome of the '50's. The days of janitorial apprenticeships, pledge-class cliques, dual standards of conduct, pseudo-social status, and unearned pride are hopefully gone forever. We will admit our mistakes, but in doing so, others must admit that our growth and stability have been unexcelled in the educational world.

No other collegiate organization has ever amassed the millions of members that the college fraternity system enjoys. The fact is that our system is older than most colleges and universities themselves. Along with negative connotations, we've obviously been making some genuine contributions in order to grow at the rate we've grown.

In addition to doing away with the term pledge and his status in general, we've developed a new program for promoting the growth of the individual. In this program we've tried to stress the traditional values of our fraternity: friendship, small-group living-learning atmosphere, a sense of belonging, individual growth, and worthwhile human experiences. We offer a comprehensive orientation to our fraternity and its programs, leadership development, a beautiful and inspiring ritualistic experience, and a continuing human development program as a fraternity member.

Prior to the ritual, an individual is known as an Associate Member. This is the period of time when his fraternity education is most intensified. Instead of being isolated into a separate class, however, he is brought fully into the realm of active membership—attending chapter meetings, voting, committee membership, and generally helping to run the organization.

This program is designed to overcome one of the major flaws of the entire pledge concept. An Associate Member is an individual with God-given talents and aspirations. He is a product of his former environment. We want to help that man continue to grow within his own framework. He will not be exactly like his associates. They will come from different backgrounds, and be at different levels of maturity and education. Therefore, they cannot be herded together as a pledge class.

The pledge program assumes that every man's needs are the same. Our new program gives every man credit for what he is while helping him grow as an individual. Doing away with pledges is only one of the changes that has taken place at Lambda Chi Alpha.

No matter what you've thought about fraternities in the past, we suggest that you talk to one of our members about the value of our fraternity today. Maybe you've got some changes of your own you'd like to make. If so, I promise you we'll listen.

Jimmy Connors upset by Manuel Orantes in U.S. Tennis Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Manuel Orantes of Spain turned his tennis miracle into a storybook fantasy with a 6-4, 6-3, 6-3 victory over heavily favored Jimmy Connors Sunday to win the U.S. Open Tennis Championship.

It was unbelievable.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, with an assist from the Atlanta Braves, clinched the National League West Division title Sunday, beating the San Francisco Giants 8-4 as George Foster drove in four runs and Don Gullett won his ninth consecutive game.

who saw him come off the floor twice for a semifinal, 3 hour, 40-minute triumph over Guillermo Vilas of Argentina Saturday night.

In that match, he twice was left for dead, facing five match points, but he fought back for a marathon victory that ended under the lights at 10:45 p.m. EDT.

Everyone predicted that having to return to center court Sunday, with little sleep and emotionally and physically drained, he would be a sitting duck for the aggressive lefthanded defending champion from Belleville, Ill, who is acclaimed the greatest player of this year.

When Orantes clinched the title, with its $25,000 first prize, on a rapier-like backhand passing shot, the crowd erupted into wild applause.

Eastern suffers from penalties

"We had too many penalties, we gave up a cheap touchdown and we didn't move the ball with consistency," he said.

"The kicking game was extremely poor. We didn't field one punt that I remember," Konstantinos added.

He said the Northern Iowa defense was no tougher than he expected but that the Panthers "just didn't execute."

"On the last drive we finally started executing and became a ball club," Konstantinos said.

Northern Iowa tops Eastern 14-8

By Mark Wisser

CEDAR FALLS, Iowa — Eastern's football team was victimized by two errant snaps from center that set up touchdowns for Northern Iowa as the Panthers lost their opening game Saturday night, 14-8.

The first miscue happened in the first quarter when Eastern set up for a field goal attempt from the Northern Iowa 17-yard line.

The snap from center Kevin Lasley sailed over the heads of kicker Jeff Sanders and holder Kevin Hussey, finally stopping at the Eastern 48 where Northern Iowa recovered.

The Iowa school took full advantage of the mistake, scoring on the next play with a 48-yard pass from quarterback Bill Salmon to wide receiver David Schooley.

Schooley was wide open in the end zone on the play due to a mix-up in coverage by Eastern's secondary.

A second bad snap, this time to punter Dave Hoover, gave Northern Iowa even better field position which they capitalized on immediately.

In the first play of the second quarter, Eastern attempted a punt from their own 35-yard line but Lasley's snap flew over Hoover's head.

The Eastern punter ran back to retrieve the ball but was brought down on the four yard line where as he was smothered by the fast-rushing Northern Iowa defense.

The home team scored on the next play as Salmon pitched to Carl Davis who went around the outside and into the end zone untouched.

Eastern didn't get their eight points until the waning minutes of the contest when quarterback Rick Tsupros connected with running back Tommy Meeks on a four yard touchdown pass.

The score came with 37 seconds left in the game and was followed by another pass to Meeks for the two point conversion.

Northern Iowa also had two bad snaps from center but both times it actually worked to their advantage.

Five minutes into the third quarter the ball was snapped over punter Jim Fransen's head at the Northern Iowa 21-yard line and rolled into the end zone.

Before Eastern's defense could get there, Fransen picked up the ball and kicked it.

The punt sailed 60-yards in the air and a long roll took it to Eastern's 13 yardline.

On Northern Iowa's next possession, the same thing happened, although this time the ball was snapped from the Eastern 41 and Fransen, after chasing the ball down, kicked it to the Panther 14.

For the game, Fransen averaged over 50-yards per punt and Eastern only returned one, that being for seven yards.

Eastern didn't take advantage of a scoring opportunity early in the game when the defense forced a Northern Iowa fumble at the home team's 16-yard line.

Ron Miner recovered the ball for the Panthers but nothing came of it because of the aborted field goal attempt four plays later.

Except for the two scoring plays by Northern Iowa, Eastern's defense kept the home team's offense virtually silent.

The winners got inside the 30-yard line only once, reaching the Eastern seven before a fourth down pass attempt was no good when the official ruled the Northern Iowa receiver out of bounds.

The Panther offense showed some good signs but was inconsistent.

Eastern was successful with runs up the middle but tried very few pitches outside and, except for the 55-yard touchdown drive at the end of the game, couldn't mount the long drives necessary to overcome the poor field position they usually started with.

Except for the score, Eastern dominated practically all aspects of the game.

The Panthers got off 73 plays to the opponents' 46 and had possession of the ball 38-minutes compared to Northern Iowa's 22-minutes.

Panther fullback Mark Stettner led both teams in rushing with 72-yards in 17 attempts.

Stettner played most of the game after Roland Coleman had started at fullback.

The Panthers rushed for 43-yards less than Northern Iowa but that figure is misleading because it includes the big losses on the attempted field goal and punt when the snaps were bad.

Eastern also led in first downs with 14 to the opponent's nine.

Passing was about even as Tsupros connected on 9 of 20 for 78-yards while Salmon hit on 4 of 14 for 84-yards.

The Salmon statistic is especially significant because the Northern Iowa quarterback, who picked up 44-yards on the ground in addition to his passing yards, was held to 128 yards total offense, 87.7 yards below his average last year.

A bright spot in Eastern's defense was the play of defensive back Kim Wells, a freshman from Momence.

Wells intercepted two passes and returned them for a total of 71 yards.

The loss was especially disappointing to John Konstantinos, making his debut as Eastern's head coach.

An obviously frustrated and tired Konstantinos said after the game the bad center snaps weren't the only things that beat the Panthers.

Harriers outrun alumni, 19-44

By Glen Lyle

With a 19-44 victory over the alumni Sunday, Eastern's cross country team appears to be off to a good start.

"We're on the way," were coach Tom Woodall's words after the meet.

Mike Larson won the race with a time of 19:17 with a strong challenge from alumni Dike Stirret who finished second in 19:21.

Larson caught Stirret by one and one half miles more and opened up a gap in the third mile.

"I didn't run a very smart race," Stirret commented, "I went out way too fast."

On the lighter side, he said, "I hope I gave Larson a good workout."

John Christy finished third in 20:03, his first race since February due to injuries which plagued him last year.

Ken Burke placed fourth with Bert Meyers coming in fifth and Mark McCabe sixth.

"McCabe did a nice job in his first college race," Woodall commented.

McCabe is a sophomore and in his first cross country season at Eastern.

Freshmen Gary Richman was eighth with Bill Fancher ninth, Paul Weilmeunster tenth, and alumni Rick Livesey eleventh.

Livesey won the most valuable runner award last year for the Panthers.

Woodall said, "I'm pleased with the times pretty much we had good efforts for the most part."

"I was very pleased with Mike Larson's initial effort and John Christy, coming off his injury, is a promising sight."

Booters top alumni 1-0 in exhibition game

By Dave Shanks

Mike Alhassen's goal with just under two minutes remaining in the game, proved to be the deciding factor in the Eastern's soccer team's 1-0 victory over the alumni Saturday.

Eastern alumni defensemen leap high to deflect a shot by the Panther varsity squad. The varsity Panthers nipped the alumni 1-0 on Mike Alhassen's goal in the final two minutes of play.

The goal culminated a pressure-packed time span late in the game in which the Panthers pelted the worn-down alumni with much greater emphasis than earlier.

Eastern, obviously in better shape than the alumni, used their strong defense to keep the game working in their favor.

The alumni put the Panthers to a good test as they applied the maximum amount of pressure possible for them but the Panther defense proved superior and limited Eastern goalie John Baretta to fewer than five saves in the exhibition game.

Baretta remained as goalie the entire game for the Panthers.

Eastern coach Fritz Teller remarked that the Panthers "had good offense" despite the fact that only one shot got behind alumni goalie Bob Frank.

The Panthers kept play in their offensive end during both halves which led up to their shots, many of which went just over the top of the net.

Signs of fatigue were obvious in the alumni as the Panthers began getting more and more shots on goal and more breakaway opportunities as the game neared the end.

These strong offensive attacks were topped off by Alhassen's goal.

The alumni put up more of a battle and were "tougher than I thought they'd be" Teller remarked.

Teller said he did note a few mistakes the Panthers made in the game.

Those mistakes were, Teller pointed out, that the Panthers were "not counterattacking quickly enough and not spreading the ball out.

"We are adept at working the ball, but we are not taking the shots when we have them from 18-yards out.

"We need to work on the killer instinct," Teller said regarding shooting when the opportunity arises.

Teller did have praise for his team as he said, "We were covering much better than last week."

The Panthers defeated the West Indies Jets 7-1 Saturday.

Another plus Teller noted from last week was the "fitness level was much better."

In this week's practice, Teller said the team will "work on identified mistakes to be corrected" as they prepare for the regular season opener with Aurora College at home Saturday.

Former Eastern All-American Girardo Pagnani said of the Panthers that they "are a great team and should go all the way. If they don't, it will be their own fault."

Last year, the Panthers finished fourth in Division II of the NCAA.

Pagnani said the Panthers have good balance but he also commented that the Panthers hold the ball too long and do not take shots when he opportunities arise.

Nick Markulin, a former Panther and now a high school soccer coach, cited the same faults as did Teller and Pagnani but he did say that the Panthers were much farther along than they were at the time of last year's alumni game, which the Panthers also won by a 1-0 score.
