Marvin: 'ready to go' to work in seven days

by Denise Hesler

In seven days, Daniel E. Marvin Jr. will take over as Eastern's fifth president.

Marvin, who is now ending his job as director of the State Council for Higher Education for Virginia, will replace Gilbert Fite who resigned in April, 1976, to assume the Richard B. Russell Professorship of History at the University of Georgia.

Marvin, who said he is "anxious (to begin his new post) and ready to go," said Sunday that he plans to leave Richmond, Va. for Charleston on Saturday and that he will start to work on Feb. 14.

About two weeks later, on Feb. 25, Marvin said he will fly home and help his family pack and then will start to drive back to Charleston Feb. 26.

When he was on campus in early January, Marvin said that one of the first things he wants to do as president is to meet with various campus and community groups in a series of breakfasts and lunches.

Although he said Sunday that he is not sure exactly when these breakfasts and lunches can be arranged, he said he wants to meet with the groups "as soon as possible."

He added that he will not be able to meet with the groups because he has to go to Springfield on Feb. 16 and to Chicago on Feb. 17 for the Board of Governors meeting.

Another item Marvin said he wants to do soon after he becomes president will be to meet with the Vice Presidential Search Committee.

The committee, which met for the first time last week, will be searching for a replacement for retiring Vice President for Academic Affairs Peter Moody.

The search committee's job will be to recommend a specified number of candidates to Marvin, who will choose the new president.

Marvin said he would "like to have it

(the choice) made preferably by June 1 and by July 1 at the latest."

He added that he will "certainly be considering both on and off-campus candidates for the job.

Marvin said it is "critically important" that the search committee begin to advertise the position as soon as possible.

"If we miss February, March and April, we'll miss the best people who are planning on making a job change," he said.

Concerning the recent record high enrollment for spring, Marvin said he is "pleased that enrollments are staying up at Eastern" and that it "speaks well of the students, faculty and programs" at Eastern.

Eastern's record high enrollment for this semester is 8,769 students, an increase of almost 250 from last spring.

"In the days of declining enrollments at many institutions, it speaks well (of Eastern) to be able to maintain" a high enrollment, Marvin said.

Marvin, 39, has held his present position as director of higher education in Virginia for four years, before which he was associate director of that organization.

From 1962 to 1970, Marvin was at Radford College in Virginia. He was vice president for academic affairs there from 1968 to 1970 and served as the college's acting president in early 1969.

Also at Radford, Marvin was assistant professor of biology, department chairperson and dean of the division of natural sciences.

A native of Pennsylvania, he earned a B.S. in Biology at East Stroudsburg State College, an M.S. in Zoology at Ohio University and a Ph.D. in Physiology at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Marvin and his wife, Maxine, have three children: Brian, 15, who is a sophomore in high school; Laurie, 12, who is in seventh grade; and Amy, 6, who is in first grade.

Student Senate creates campus relations committee

by Tom Spevacek

A new campus relations committee to replace the Student Senate Human Relations Committee was formed by the Senate Thursday.

The committee, to be chaired by Jack Overstreet, of the Greek district, will be responsible for relations between campus organizations and the senate.

Overstreet said in his report to the senate that he will be contacting all recognized organizations on campus and will attempt to "recruit as many members as possible for the new committee.

In other action, Mike Marine, Board of Governors (BOG) representative, said in his report to the senate that plans are progressing for the funding of a bus to carry students to the BOG meeting at Chicago State on Feb. 17th.

The buses will carry students to protest a proposed tuition increase of $90 for undergraduates and $120 for graduate students.

Marine said $205 of the $361 needed have been collected toward the cost of the buses.

He asked that the senate request a donation for the buses from the American Federation of Teachers (AFT), the union which represents Eastern's faculty.

The AFT has come out against a tuition increase, saying that an increase will lead to an enrollment drop at state universities and hurt low income students.

Marine also said that all students interested in riding the bus can sign up in the student government office in the Union.

In other business, Dan Fowler, president of the student body, delivered his "state of the university" address in which he called for action by the senate to form a tenant union, improve teacher evaluations, and implement the student pharmacy as originally planned, to provide low-cost drugs.

A change in the selection process for resident assistants in the dorms and investment of student fees were also goals set by Fowler.

"Our mission is not to let the higher education bureaucrats forget that the students must help make the decisions," he said, and explained that a return to "old fashioned 60s radicalism" or a boycott might be necessary in the future.

Sunny, cold

Monday will be mostly sunny and not quite so cold with a high in the upper teens or lower 20s. It will be fair and not so cold Monday night with a low around 10 above.

UB, Devil, Miss Jones pack 'em in

An estimated crowd of "a little over 3,000" turned out Friday to view three screenings of the University Board (UB) movie "Devil in Miss Jones," Bill Clark, student activities and organizations director, said Sunday.

However, Clark added that "it made less money than 'The Exorcist'" which was shown by the UB last year.

He also said that profits will be counted on Monday.

UB Movie Coordinator Kevin Lingus said that although "It was not the biggest movie we ever had," for the amount of people who attended, it was a success.

He also said that many people left during the movie because of explicit sexual scenes.

However, he explained that he had posted signs informing students that there was questionable material in the movie.

Lingus said the reason the x-rated movie was shown was because students "wanted to know why it wasn't done" and the UB decided to try it and see student reaction.

In regard to showing pornographic movies in the future, Lingus said "It's up to the committee to decide."

Mattoon hospital appealing possible loss of accreditation

by Cindy Davidsmeyer

Mattoon Memorial Hospital is appealing its threatened loss of accreditation after investigation by the Joint Commission for Accreditation of Hospitals found nine structural deficiencies.

"The hospital is appealing to the commission, until it moves into the new facility," the Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center, in early spring, Randy Dow, hospital administrator said Wednesday.

"We had anticipated to be in the new facility by this time," Dow said. "It wasn't a surprise to anyone, that we didn't get it (the accreditation) extended."

The commission has 10 ratings. Nine of the ratings were on physical property (building), Dow said.

"The fire protection agency makes hospital fire regulations more stringent every year," Dow said. The structure of the walls "would allow a fire to burn through them too fast," he said.

Nominations open for alumni award

Nominations for the Distinguished Alumni Awards, which go to former students who have "brought credit" to the university "through their accomplishments and service," are now being taken.

Charles Titus, director of alumni activities, said Wednesday that nominations, which can be submitted by anyone, must be in by March 1. Nomination forms can be picked up in the University Relations Office in Old Main.

The awards will be presented May 14 at Spring Commencement," Titus said.

Eligible nominees are Eastern alumni and former students "who have distinguished themselves in academic, literary, business, professional, public service and or service to the university," Titus said.

Nominations should be submitted in writing and should be accompanied by documentation, including a listing and description of the nominees' achievements, accomplishments and service, Titus said.

Titus added that a joint faculty-alumni committee chosen by the president will select the recipients of the award.

The "only hospitals that could pass (the fire protection regulations) would have been built in the last ten years," Dow added.

The other deficiency was on procedure in review of medical records, Dow said. "This could have been changed," he added.

"Memorial hasn't lost its accreditation yet," but it can't meet the standards, "because of physical property," Omer C. Macy, director of employe and community relations for Area E-7 Hospital Association, said.

Losing accreditation affects "insurance payments, and nurses training." This "has to be done in an accredited hospital," Macy said.

"You still get the same fine medical care in Memorial as you would in an accredited hospital," he said.

Foreign student adviser criticizes 'sudden' hike in entrance score

Lori Miller
 Entrance requirements for foreign students were increased Thursday by the Council on Academic Affairs (CAA), in a move later criticized by the adviser for international students as being too sudden. The CAA raised the scores necessary for admission of the test of English as a foreign language (TOEFL) from its current score to 550.
 Director of International Students Eugene Anderson Sunday criticized the jump to 550 as being too sudden and too high. The proposal to increase the score came from Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, who said Thursday that Eastern's TOEFL entrance requirement of 490 has been much lower than other universities.

 Williams had originally suggested to the council that the score be raised to 525, but the score was then raised to 550 by a motion from the council.
 Anderson said she agreed with Williams that the current TOEFL score was low, but she added that she favored the original 525 score over the 550 score.
 "I agree that the 450 score was low compared to national standards, especially if students come unprepared," Anderson said.

 Anderson also criticized the council's action in increasing the undergraduate score without action toward changing the graduate entrance score.
 However, Williams said Sunday that the Council on Graduate Studies has been directed to consider a similar increase of the graduate entrance requirement.
 Williams said at the CAA meeting Thursday that had the entrance requirement been in effect this fall, only three foreign students would have been affected. Williams also said that several schools, such as Western Illinois University, Illinois State University and the University of Illinois all have entrance scores of 550.

 "Foreign students know where they can come, where they'll get in," Williams said. "Advisers go down the list and point out where the score is low enough to get in."
 "I think it's obvious what happens to your program," he added.
 Anderson said many foreign students have problems with the TOEFL test because the students are taught British forms of English, while the test is in American forms.

Enrollment picture speaks well of Eastern

The long-range predictions of Eastern's enrollment, reflective of student populations across the state, seem to be holding true: moderate, almost unnoticeable growth for this year and another one or two to follow.

The fact that Eastern has been able to meet those predictions speaks well for the university in several ways.

First of all, the concern of the last two semesters over the possibility Eastern would grow beyond its means in terms of housing, classroom facilities and faculty appears to be lessening to an extent that there is no real concern at all.

When enrollment jumped by more than 900 students in fall of 1975 and topped a total of 9,000 for the first time in 1976, many, including the Eastern News, feared the campus just could not handle that many students.

However, despite some hardships for students who were crowded into insufficient residence hall space, the university as a whole

eastern news Editorial stretched adequately to meet student needs, and few problems cropped up.

Within the total enrollment figure for spring semester was another statistic which members of the Eastern community can look upon with a degree of satisfaction.

The spring student population of 8,769 is 94.8 per cent of fall enrollment, meaning Eastern has by and large been able to retain students once they begin their education here.

This will be an important angle in enrollment when, in a few years, incoming classes will not match those seen in recent "boom" years and Eastern, along with the other institutions in the state, must fight to keep enrollment as stable as possible.

We can speculate that most students are pleased with the quality of education -- and such variables as living conditions, activities and other features of a campus which play a large role in a person's evaluation of university -- that is available at Eastern.

Also, we again can look at the recruitment efforts by Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams and others as an important and successful role in getting Eastern where it is now and, hopefully, keeping it there through the lean years expected in the future.

We have seen the accuracy of the predictions; administrators here have made concerning enrollment figures and Eastern's ability to handle 9,000-plus students.

Those successes have made the Eastern News, at times skeptical of our administrators, more confident in the future of Eastern.

Personal thing

Editor,
In reference to the column printed on your opinion page, "Jesus' Popularity Waxing Thin," I would like to make a few comments.

Jesus has never been worried about his popularity. His love is directed towards each individual. If there was only one person on earth who had not put Christ as number one in his life, Jesus would still be concerned about that one -- even if that one was a child!

He said Himself, "What do you think? If any man has a hundred sheep, and one of them has gone astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine and search for the one that is straying? And if it turns out that he finds it, truly I say to you, he rejoices over it more than over the ninety-nine which have not gone astray. Thus it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones perish." (Matthew 18:12-14)

If there were only one person in the whole universe and no one else ever existed, Jesus would still have gone through the agony of dying by crucifixion for him or her. And it would not have mattered what kind of a person He died for -- He would have gone ahead whether the person was the greatest sinner or an ordinary but not perfect person.

Jesus loves individuals, not numbers. And His love isn't wishy-washy either. He died to prove it.

No, I am not worried about the seeming waxing of the popularity of Jesus. Jesus has some things going for Him that Kennedy, Churchill and even Joan of Arc didn't have. He rose from the dead. He lives in my heart as well. And He saves all those who ask Him from despair in this life, giving eternal life after death.

Those of us who have put the Christ-

Messiah number one in our lives are far more influenced by Him than anyone could possibly be who put Joan of Arc as number one heroine of all time.

We have a personal relationship with Him. Who can say they have a personal relationship with Joan of Arc?

Bev Ellis

No! to God

Editor,
This is in response to your recent story covering the public gripe session held in the University Old Union Ballroom last Thursday.

You state that Larry Brandon, campus minister of the University of Kentucky and main bulwark of the Christians' less-than-staunch defense, "answered (our) questions in a short discourse." Allow me to set the matter straight.

Although I have the highest respect for Rev. Brandon's intelligence, and regard him as one of the most openminded believers I have ever met, the important questions raised by Mr. Winter and myself were never touched upon during that "short discourse."

1) In Isaiah 45:21, a book of the so-called Word of God, the god in question says, "There is no other god besides me..." Yet, in Exodus 20:3, he says, "Thou shalt have no other gods before me."

WHAT other gods?! And does "before me" mean, as Twain said, that if these gods exist, they may be EQUAL to the Hebrew god, so long as neither gets top billing?

2) The seven deadly sins include jealousy -- this is a well-established fact. If we take this in conjunction with Exodus 20:5 -- "I, the Lord thy God, am a jealous god..." -- do we have a supreme being violating one of his own divine designs?

Plus, does the term "a jealous god" imply that he is only one god of many? And, as William McCarthy said, "Jealous of whom? A supreme god could only be jealous of his equal, and if he had an equal he would not be supreme."

Brandon stated that he did not wish to tolerate Biblical inconsistencies, but "you have to trust in god..." Unfortunately, without that error-filled literary endeavor, he has nothing to trust. Without the Bible, Christians have no more evidence that their Jehovah created the earth than I do that the Rock of Gibraltar is NOT the creator. And, for that matter, is a writing by humans even valuable as evidence?

The answer to the final question is a resounding "No!" for if, as the Christians claim, the Bible was dictated or inspired by god, then the faults are his, reinforcing his lack of supremacy.

For these reasons and others, Mr. Winter and myself are Atheists, and the time has come to bring those who share our beliefs out of the closet that religious persecution, in its various insidious forms, has thrust them.

Terry Kroening

Hot to cold

Editor,
With the main topics of discussion lately being the weather, closing of the university, and "Roots," it is strange that none of your articles interviewing reactions of students have included these great affected by each of these -- the foreign students on campus.

Some new students left tropical countries where warm clothing is unnecessary and unavailable, planning to shop heavy blankets and coats upon arrival 'Spring' Semester (yes, they were formed of possible conditions here).

They were troubled and confused when their scheduled planes could not make different arrangements had to be made. Trains were full and running late, and they arrived at night 24 hours later to face constant freezing temperatures. The week later, foreigners could not return home.

My appreciation is extended to Hencken, Dan Fowler and area people called showing their concern and volunteering their help in accommodating them. Fortunately, however, fellow-countrymen were willing to "crowd them in" where they would feel more at home.

Among our 170 foreign students, there are around 60 Africans, four of these from Gambia, where Kunta Kinte was born. They, too, were 'touched,' and might have interesting comments.

Blood drive meeting set for volunteers

An organizational meeting for students wishing to help with this spring's blood drive will be held Tuesday, Faculty Sponsor Walter Lowell said Friday. The meeting will be held at 3 p.m. in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon room. Lowell said the meeting is open "to all students who want to do volunteer work" in the drive, which is scheduled for March 7 through 10.

"Last year, three girls from Pem Hall got jobs," she said. She added that the job should be particularly appealing to recreation majors and special education majors.

Several representatives from camps for handicapped children will also be participating.

Students of any major can attend, especially Art majors, Music majors and Physical Education majors, she said.

Review board undecided in policies of award programs

by Norm Lewis

A committee formed to examine two student grant programs discussed but reached no conclusions Thursday on the eligibility of part-time students in those programs.

In addition, the committee considered imposing a midterm deadline for the awarding of a Talented Student Award (TSA) or a Grant-In-Aid (GIA) but again were unable to reach a decision.

Currently, part-time students who are taking less than a full-time load are ineligible to receive either a TSA or a GIA, committee chairperson Ken Hesler said.

Hesler, who is also the director of the Grants-In-Aid office, explained that the previous omission of part-time students "was mainly for convenience of record keeping."

Michael Taylor, director of registration, said that if part-time students were allowed to receive TSAs, Eastern would receive less state aid since the tuition waivers would be worth less, and consequently the state would reimburse Eastern correspondingly.

However, Athletic Director Mike Mullally said that at times an athlete who is in his final semester of school attends part-time.

While National Collegiate Athletic Association rules stipulate that an athlete must carry at least 12 hours to compete, Mullally explained that the rule is waived if the student only needs less than 12 hours to graduate.

Since the athlete is still able to compete for Eastern he should be able to receive a talent award even though he is in his last semester, he added.

Another committee member, Student body President Dan Fowler noted that since part-time students pay a 75 cent grant-in-aid fee per semester hour, they should be able to participate in the grant programs.

Track team 3d again at intercollegiate meet

by R.B. Fallstrom

CHAMPAIGN — Eddie Hatch won the 300 and finished second in the 440 to lead Eastern's track team to a repeat third place effort in the Illinois Intercollegiate indoor track championships in the University of Illinois Armory Saturday.

University of Illinois, which had 11 winners in the meet, finished on top for the second consecutive time with 182 points. Southern Illinois-Carbondale (SIU), which finished second last year repeated as runner-up with 162 and Eastern was next with 66 points, the same total as in 1976.

Northern Illinois was fourth with 50, followed by Western Illinois and Illinois State. The meet was open to all state colleges and universities.

Hatch was Eastern's only winner, but the Panthers' depth placed athletes in almost every event.

Eastern was also an apparent winner in the mile by two-tenths of a second over powerhouse Illinois, but Hatch was disqualified on the anchor leg for cutting off U of I's Charlie White. The Panther quartet of Hatch, freshman Steve Jones, John Calozzo and Reggie Johnson had recorded a 3:15.2, which would be a school record by over four seconds.

"They just disqualified us. I don't know how though," a disbelieving Hatch said after the race.

"He pushed me."
"We beat them," coach Neil Moore said. "We just got a bum decision."

"He (White) anticipated Ed cutting in, and he reached up and pushed him," Moore added.

Despite the setback, it was still an enriching afternoon for Hatch. After losing by two-tenths of a second to Cliff Hill of Illinois in the 440 in 48.8, Hatch came back an hour later to rout the competition in the 300.

Because of the tight qualifying schedule on the first evening of events Friday, Hatch had to settle for running in the slow heat of the 300. The sophomore blazed to a 31.1 and an easy victory anyway.

In the 440, Hatch, running in the outside lane, started the race slowly and couldn't make up the deficit to fail in his bid to repeat as winner.

Next to the accomplishments of Hatch, Eastern's 3-4-5 finish in the 600 stood out, because all three bettered the school record. Reggie Johnson, formerly co-record holder with Hatch at 1:12.1, erased the mark with a 1:11.0 time, just behind Tim Smith of Illinois, who won in 1:10.5.

Calozzo was fourth in 1:11.4 minutes, and the freshman Jones established a first-year mark of 1:12 flat.

High jumper Martez Smith began the afternoon with a second place effort of 6-foot-8 inches, tying his personal best. Smith equaled winner Ed Kijewski of SIU's wing heights, but lost on more misses.

Eastern placed two athletes in both the long and triple jumps. Jose de Sola was fourth in the triple jump and fifth in the long jump, leaping 23-foot-6 3/4 and 49-foot-6 3/4, respectively.

Don Hale was third in the triple jump at 49-foot-9 inches, while Terry Carpenter nabbed fourth in the long jump at 23-foot-6 3/4 inches.

John McInerney established his personal best time in the mile, finishing sixth behind winner Craig Virgin of Illinois in 4:13.4 minutes. McInerney roared back from next-to-last on the last lap, passing five runners.

Virgin was timed in 4:05.8 in capturing his third straight mile title. The senior Olympian also nabbed first in the two-mile in 8:50.3, finishing hand-in-hand with teammate Jim Eicken, who was a tenth of-a-second behind.

Virgin also anchored Illinois' winning distance medley relay team with a 4:05.9 mile, leading the way to a 9:41.9 time. Eastern finished fifth in the event.

Freshman Bob Johnson nabbed sixth in the 60-high hurdles in 7.7 seconds. Gerald Bell was fourth in the 60 dash in 6.4 seconds, and Gerald Bell was fourth in the 60 dash in 6.4 seconds. Jerry, Holmow of Western Illinois (7.5) and Charlon Ebin of Illinois (6.2) were the winners in the two events, respectively.

Eastern grabbed fourth in the two-mile relay in 7:46.8 minutes behind Illinois' 7:39.7 winning time.

Other winners included Charlie White (Illinois) 2:10.0 in the 1,000, Mike Bisase (SIU) 1:53.6 in the 880, Tim Johnson (SIU) 16-foot-9 inches in the pole vault, and Mike Sawyer (SIU) 13:50.5 in the three-mile.

Eastern's Keith Gooden placed third in the 880 behind SIU's Bisase and Pat Co but was disqualified for running on the lane line three consecutive times.

None of Eastern's weight lifters placed in any event. Stan Podelski won the 35-pound weight throw in 59.4 feet, 3 3/4 inches, and Jerry Clayton of Northern Illinois took the shot put at 55-foot-

Wrestlers defeat Indiana for 7th dual victory

by Josh Martin

Eastern's wrestling squad came back from a 14-6 deficit to defeat a strong Indiana University team 27-16 Sunday afternoon at Lantz Gym.

The victory was performed in front of the largest crowd that has ever watched an Eastern wrestling match.

Eastern's grapplers were led by Gilbert Duran, Bob Holland and Dave Klemm, who all recorded pins in their matches.

Duran's pin in the 126 pound match came at the 1:48 mark of the second period. Holland's pin in the 167 pound match came with 27 seconds left in the second period.

Winners by decision for Eastern were Jack Nix (177) by a 5-3 score and Robin Ayres at 190 with a 11-2 rout over Ed Benzio.

Both Nix and Ayres had the Indiana wrestlers in position for a pin but couldn't quite finish their opponents off.

Ed Torrejon finished off the scoring for Eastern, tying Jeff Fitch 9-9 in the 158 pound match.

"We knew that we were in for a hotly contested match," coach Ron Clinton said. "It turned out to be hotly contested from the very start to the finish."

"I was very pleased with the way that we wrestled today," he added. "But what I really couldn't be more pleased with is the great fan turnout that we had."

"It is really great to hear that roar of the crowd during the match and it did play a part in our win."

Coach Doug Blubaugh of Indiana and Clinton grew up together and were teammates on the Oklahoma wrestling team in the early 1960s.

"This is one of my most rewarding wins," Clinton said, "but not just because it was Blubaugh's team."

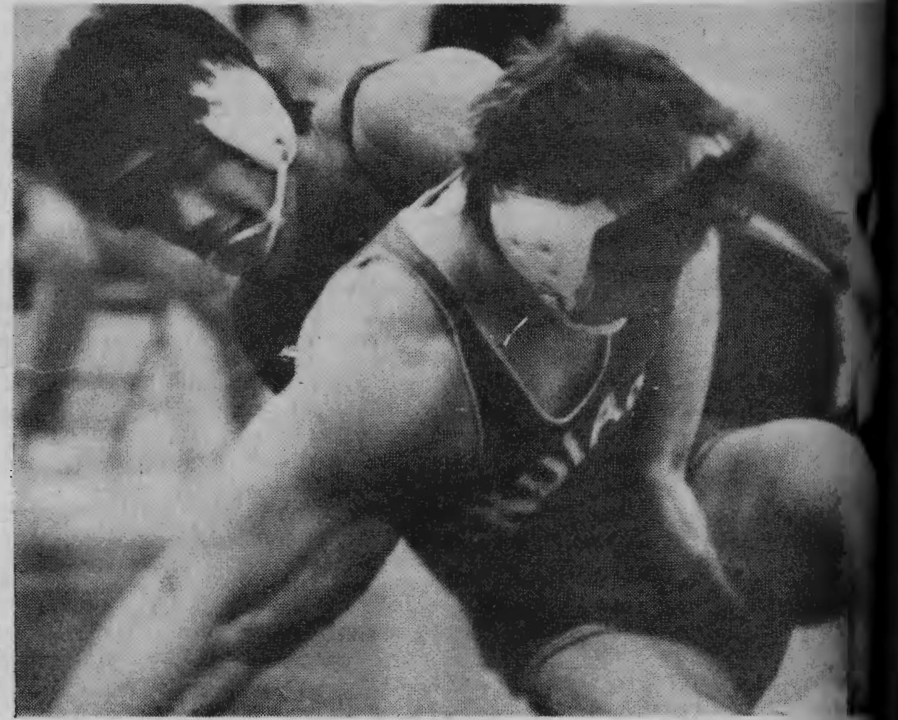

Clinton didn't expect this to be his last rewarding win of the year.

"I know that there are going to be a lot more important and rewarding wins for us the rest of this year and in future years for Eastern."

The win was the seventh for Eastern in a dual meets this year and the third over a Big 10 conference team.

"The caliber of Big 10 teams is very good at the top," Clinton said. "But after Indiana, Purdue and Illinois the level of wrestling is just a little better than average."

Eastern will host Western Illinois Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Lantz.

Cagers beat WIU, Indiana-Purdue to hike win skein to 4

by Ray Romolt

Coach Don Eddy's cagers' winning streak continued this weekend — on the boards, on the attack, and on defense.

Eastern exploited all of these areas against Indiana-Purdue at Indianapolis (IU-PU) enroute to a convincing 92-71 victory in Lantz Gym Saturday night. It was a fourth straight win for the Panther five.

Friday night, the Panthers engineered an 87-69 conquest of cross-state rival Western Illinois, thanks mainly to a fine first half.

Eddy's troops picked up the first win of the mini-home stand by outscoring Western 46-28 in the first half, playing tight defense, shooting better than 50 per cent, and holding a huge edge in defense.

The wins hiked the Panthers record to 11-8. Nine of the victories have come in Lantz.

"Charlie Thomas has made a lot of difference lately," Eddy praised of the guard's fine play in the two weekend contests. Thomas scored 17 points against Western, and hit 13 of 17 outside shots on the way to a 28-point performance in the IU-PU contest.

But plaudits in the wake of the IU-PU conquest were also passed on to forward Steve Rich, who scored 12 of his 13 markers in the first half.

Rich converted six of seven outside tries, and helped out with five rebounds as the Panthers jumped out to a 54-45 halftime margin. Brad Farnham clutched rebounds like rock fans holding Peter Frampton tickets, hauling down 15.

Farnham added 10 points to the 92-point arsenal. Rich Rhodes chipped in with 15 and Derrick Scott had 12.

What patience IU-PU lacked, the Panthers had. "We handled our fast breaks real well, and Saturday we converted most of them, Eddy said. "We had a lot of offense in that first half."

A 17-6 Eastern burst with IU-PU down 75-65 relinquished any hopes for the metropolitan team to catch up.

Rich Rhodes made seven of eight baskets, scored 20 points, and pulled down nine rebounds to lead the Panthers against Western.

Again the Panthers led by a slight 73-67 margin late in the game before a 14-2 spurt iced the win.

Eastern held a 48-26 advantage in the rebounding department as Western got a second shot off. The Panthers' 27-11 edge in rebounds in the first half.

Thomas and Patterson picked Western apart on defense in the first stanza, Thomas stealing the ball twice. Patterson dishing out four assists. They also forced Western into numerous turnovers.

In the wake of the weekend win, Eddy was reflective. "At times our play was reminiscent of last year," he recalled.

At the same junket last season the edition of the Panthers was 12-7, with three of a five-game winning streak.

Eddy is well aware of that. "We've got some chance to get a post-season bid but we will have to win almost all of the remaining games," he admitted.
