Enrollment increase predicted

by Tom Thiede

Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said Thursday "Eastern will probably be the only state school that stays even or goes up in enrollment this year."

Williams discussed the enrollment projections at a Student Senate meeting.

So far, Eastern has received 200 more applications than it received last year, Williams said.

Williams said he is confident that Eastern will receive 700 to 900 applications over last year's total by the start of school in the fall.

Williams said he based his predictions on information he received from the Illinois Admissions Counselors and Registrars Organization. The IACRO enables college administrators to exchange information involving applications and enrollment, he added.

The main reasons students choose Eastern are because "we work hard at it and we are the least expensive four-year school in the state," he added.

Eastern has approximately 8,792 students enrolled this spring, and 9,585 students attended Eastern last fall.

Chapel disturbance investigation underway

Leaders leave after Chapel makes change

by Craig Stockel

Many of the original leaders and supporters of the Heritage Chapel Church of Christ in Charleston left the church soon after its ministers changed their emphasis.

In the spring of 1977, ministers Roger Lamb and Kip McKean went to Gainesville, Fla., for an evangelistic seminar. When Lamb returned, some members say they noticed a great change in his attitude.

One ex-member said Lamb was "a completely different man. It was like he had a new revelation."

But Lamb's change after his Florida trip, taken at McKean's suggestion, did not please several Heritage Chapel deacons, an elder and Memorial Church of Christ in Houston, which had supplied the Charleston church with substantial financial support.

(Editor's note: These stories are part of a series examining Heritage Chapel Church of Christ.)

by Craig Stockel and Diane Cooper

An assistant state's attorney said Sunday he is investigating the disturbance of a Heritage Chapel Church of Christ service by the mother of one of the members.

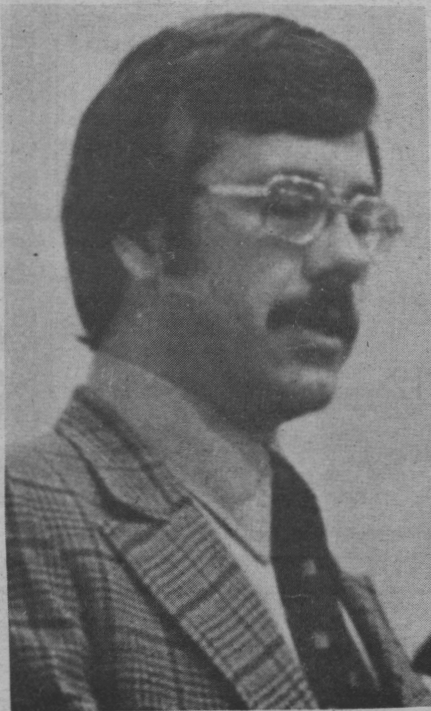

Assistant State's Attorney Mike Marsh said he is considering the possibility of filing disturbing the peace charges against Patricia McGovern of Chicago, mother of sophomore Joan McGovern, in connection with a disturbance Wednesday during a Heritage Chapel service.

Heritage Chapel Pastor Roger Lamb said Sunday McGovern's mother entered the church during the Wednesday evening service and "caused a commotion in the foyer."

Lamb said Patricia McGovern interrupted the service and told the congregation, "may their souls burn in Hell." She also used "very abusive language" to one of the ushers as she left, Lamb added.

Freshman Kim Fisch, a friend of Joan McGovern, said Joan's mother and father had driven to Charleston to visit their daughter.

Fisch said they were worried about their daughter because she had left the Catholic Church and became a member of Heritage Chapel.

Another friend of McGovern confirmed Fisch's comments and said the McGovern family had celebrated their anniversary on Tuesday and wanted to visit Joan.

The source, who asked not to be named, said the McGovern family had not seen their daughter for several weeks and "just wanted to visit her."

Patricia McGovern refused to comment on the incident from her home Sunday. Her daughter also said Sunday she had "no comment."

Lamb said, "The elders have reported the incident to the state's attorney. I'm pretty sure the elders will file a complaint but none have been filed yet as far as I know."

Marsh said he received the reports of the incident Friday and would have to study the reports before he would know if any charges would be filed.

The other assistant state's attorney, James Dedmon, said Campus Security Police Captain Jack Chambers had filed a report dealing with another incident involving Patricia McGovern in Andrews Hall Wednesday night.

Chambers said he had filed the results of the case with the state's attorney's office and would not comment further on the incident.

Carter's work rates low in poll

NEW YORK — With no cure for inflation in sight, Americans now give President Carter's work in the White House a rating as low as the lowest levels of his administration, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

The public opinion benefits of Carter's pivotal role in obtaining an Israeli-Egyptian peace treaty have weakened, leaving deep concerns about the nation's economic and energy problems as dominant forces in American's view of the president.

In the AP-NBC News poll taken April 30 and May 1, 26 percent of the public gave Carter's work overall "good" or "excellent" marks. That was down three points from the rating found in the March poll.

Fifty-two percent rated his work "only fair." Twenty percent gave his work a poor rating.

These figures are equal to the lowest found in the AP-NBC News polls since Carter took office. In August 1978, the public's judgement was all but identical to the current marks.

California feels gas shortage

Gasoline supplies were tight across America on Sunday, with some stations closed and others ringed by lines of anxious motorists, but many stations had let the belt out a few notches with new May fuel shipments.

In California, however, the situation worsened, with reports of violence flaring at the pumps and some drivers waiting hours — sometimes overnight — just to top off their tanks.

California hopes to ease the crunch at the service stations through an odd-even gasoline distribution system pinned to vehicle license plate numbers. Some counties, including Los Angeles, are expected to adopt the state-approved plan Monday.

Only an estimated 15 percent of Los Angeles area gasoline stations opened

Sunday, and lines of cars formed before dawn.

At some closed stations, where entrances were not blocked by ropes or oil drums, cars were parked and locked, the owners trying to be in good position when the stations opened early Monday.

Other motorists didn't want to wait and tried to bribe station operators to open early or re-open just for them.

"If I wasn't so honest, I could make $200 a day in bribes," said the operator of one Los Angeles station.

Others tried bullying their way into stations and at times that sparked violence.

In Hollywood on Saturday, a man cut in front of about 50 motorists at a gas station. When an angry group moved toward him, he pulled a derringer and held off the crowd with the gun while he filled his tank, police said.

He was still pumping when he was arrested, officers said.

Israelis bomb Palestinian camp

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Israeli warplanes bombed and rocketed a Palestinian camp 100 miles north of the Israeli-Lebanese frontier Sunday, and guerrilla spokesmen said four civilians were killed and 25 others were wounded.

The spokesmen said four jets struck a refugee camp at Nahr El-Bared, near the Mediterranean port of Tripoli, and Lebanese state radio said they also bombed the neighboring Lebanese village of Al-Mohmara.

But an Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the targets were bases used for training guerrillas for raids inside Israel. All aircraft returned safely, an Israeli communique said.

The camp is considered a stronghold of Dr. George Habash's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which leads the hardline "Rejection Front" within Yasser Arafat's PLO. The Front is opposed to a negotiated peace with Israel.

Heritage Chapel

Lamb had been a youth minister at Memorial Church for three years when the church decided to send him to Heritage Chapel in 1973 at the request of the budding Charleston church.

Len Hickey, an elder at Memorial Church, said his church paid 75 percent of Lamb's salary—until the mother church began to hear about the changes Lamb and McKean were making as a result of their trip to Gainesville.

After six hours of discussion about the methods the two Heritage Chapel ministers had instituted in Charleston, the elders of the Memorial Church voted to discontinue their financial support of Lamb.

Lamb, however, said the elders of Memorial Church "came up for one weekend. They really didn't know what was going on and had drawn their conclusion before they talked to us."

"If they would have pointed out something that was unscriptural that we were doing, we would have changed," Lamb added.

The Houston church leaders were not the only ones to drop their support of Heritage Chapel in the past two years. One elder, several deacons and many prominent members of the church also left the congregation.

John Young, a Charleston

businessman who provided the land on Woodlawn Drive for the church at a reduced price, was one of the members to leave the church after its ministers went to Gainesville.

Young said he had originally contacted Memorial Church in 1973 when the congregation began to grow and needed the services of a minister.

Another former member, Floyd Merritt of Eastern's speech-communications department, sent a letter to the elders and ministers of Heritage Chapel shortly after Lamb and McKean's trip.

The letter began: "We have some very serious problems here at Heritage Chapel. Let no one delude himself or be deceived into minimizing them. These problems cannot be smoothed over with solicitous language nor will they go away by pretending that they do not exist."

Merritt's letter further states that "The methods of our preachers have bordered on coercion...Our preachers have gone beyond the preacher's right and obligation to encourage, persuade, or even to exhort."

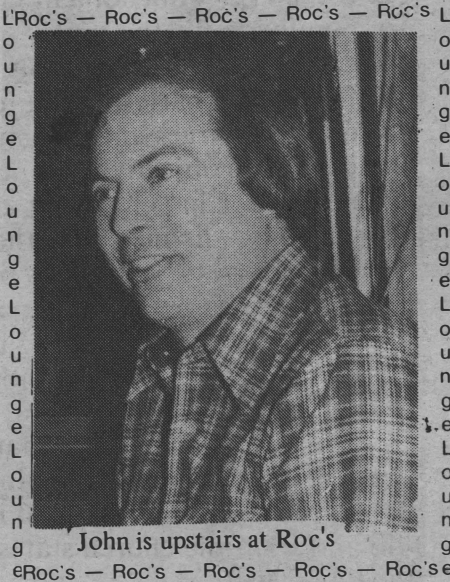

He concluded, "Let no one misunderstand me. I love both of these men (Lamb and McKean)...but these things have happened, these abuses have occurred, hearts are aching, and these things must be corrected."

Both Merritt and Young were deacons in the church before they left.

When Lamb and McKean went to Gainesville, they talked to Chuck Lucas, minister of the Crossroads Church of Christ and McKean's "prayer partner."

A campus minister at the University of Florida at Gainesville said he had received many of the same complaints from students who had been associated with Lucas' church as have been voiced by Eastern students.

Vehicle distributed in Union, Coleman

The Vehicle, the student literary magazine, will be distributed free of charge this week.

Vehicle adviser Evelyn Haught said Thursday that the magazine should be printed Saturday and will be available for distribution Monday.

The magazine will be available in the Union, Coleman Hall and in the art department, she said. The Vehicle is an anthology of student prose, poetry and art work.

John Fisher was Vehicle editor this semester.

Students who have submitted work to the Vehicle will be honored at the English department's tea at 2 p.m. Tuesday in Coleman Hall's International Lounge.

Cash prizes will be awarded for the best three entries in both poetry and prose categories, Haught said.

Winners for each category were chosen by members of Sigma Tau Delta, an English honorary.

The English department will also award its Winnie Davis Neely scholarship at the tea.

Folksinger Post to appear tonight

Folksinger Jim Post will bring his intimate brand of music to Eastern at 8 p.m. Monday in the Union Addition Grand Ballroom.

Coffeehouse coordinator Eric Steidenger said Thursday that Post, who has performed at Eastern several times in the past, is a very personal performer and gets involved with his audience.

"He's real popular here," Steidenger said. "Everyone who has seen him likes him."

Admission is $1.50, he said. The performance was scheduled earlier in the semester, but Post became ill and it was cancelled.

Post has received a grammy nomination for one of his recent albums, he added.

Chapel deserves objective study

A long time ago in Salem, witch hunting and religious persecution were earnest sports. But under our present system of law, the First Amendment gives any group or individual the right of religious freedom. Because of this right, some actions of a Charleston church which have generated charges and allegations, must be studied in an objective manner.

Heritage Chapel, being evangelical in nature, is distinct in the Charleston community. The group has been described by former members as being a cult group.

But the chapel must be examined carefully before these rumors get blown out of proportion.

Former members have charged Heritage Chapel with harassment. In viewing the issue, the separation of what its individuals do and what the church states has not been distinguished.

From what we can conclude, the chapel does not sanction what some of its members have been charged with doing:

Heritage Chapel:

A look at a controversial church

the overzealous recruiting of prospective members that leads to harassment.

It may be that the church should restrain its members from trying to get numbers instead of interested people to the chapel. People who want to join the group should come in on their own initiative, of their own interest.

And here is where another problem lies. A person should fully examine any commitment, whether to a church or other organization, before joining. Students approached by chapel members should not be afraid to say "no" and should be forceful if necessary in their decisions if the church doctrine is not for them.

Many former members tired of the church, each for his own reasons, and found it difficult to leave. They had the right to leave just as much as members who find fulfillment in the chapel have the right to stay and not be harassed by people outside the church.

Just as the crowds form around evangelists Jed Smock and Max Lynch in the library quad, taunting, shouting and condemning their actions, the same unwarranted treatment of the chapel may result if people act on the basis of emotion instead of reason and facts.

Religion, a highly emotional issue, is a personal doctrine and should remain that way. All people have the guaranteed right to worship, and that right should be respected.

Calm, mutual respect between chapel members and non-members is needed before a witch hunt starts in Charleston.

Letters to the editor

Sun power

Editor,

Inflation and energy are major concerns of every American. It is my belief that inflation can be brought under control only through the widespread use of renewable energy.

During the last 30 years, America's energy demands have skyrocketed. This seemingly insatiable demand for energy is quickly depleting our reserves of fossil fuels. We are in a situation of decreasing supply accompanied with increasing demand--the result is soaring prices.

It is my belief that our only solution to inflation is using sunshine, waste, and energy conservation. In the energy conservation field, we have available everything from insulation to energy saving showerheads.

Recycling of waste also conserves energy. The technology is here through bio-mass conversion to convert raw sewage into methane gas for heat or generating electricity. Energy conservation, recycling and bio-mass conversion could all help in reducing our demand for energy, but the ultimate answer is renewable energy.

We will never run out of renewable energy. The sun is the source of all renewable energy; from solar, wind, and tidal energy to wood heat. We can tap the sun for space heat, domestic hot water, and low temperature industrial heat process; such as for conversion of grain into alcohol to replace oil.

Today's fireplaces and woodstoves are much more efficient than those our predecessors used. Less than three acres of managed forest land will provide an endless supply of firewood to heat the average, well insulated home.

The switch to solar and alternative renewable energy is inevitable. I urge all of you to contact your elected officials and encourage them to move forward into the solar age before it is too late.

Please support the president's programs on energy. It means jobs, economic stability, and a better environment for us all.

More fun

Editor,

In reference to a couple of letters to the editor on Thursday, I would like to clear up a couple of statements. First of all, I do not believe either author of said letters ever met Mick Chizmar or knew him well, let alone having been affiliated with anything in student government at the time.

Secondly, the 'GREAT and TERRIBLE' never denied he was corrupt...just ask him. As far as the statement "...no ballot-box stuffing...no TSA scandals..." are you sure of that? If you are I hope you will be my first real estate customer when I graduate.

The Eastern News editorial simply stated that the old days were much more fun. And indeed they were. Mick Chizmar and his cronies enjoyed student government because they realized long ago that it was mostly a bunch of bull-----.

However, out of all the levity more was accomplished. For instance, I would rather see my student fees go toward a national championship than another bogus program frivoled away by senators.

How can you judge whether the quality is better now--you never knew any of the old hacks.

Dwight Kensil

Chapel view

Editor,

I have known a person in Heritage Chapel for over two semesters. This person says they find joy and happiness in there. They initially devoted two hours a day for three days a week in their chapel. Now they spend more than two hours a day and up to five days a week. This obviously reduced study time: hence, bad grades. They study bibles until midnight: hence, poor physical and emotional health. This seems as if they all live in a secluded cave.

Mr. Roger Lamb (minister of Heritage Chapel) I am sure you have children, too. Would you want your children to grow up with a limited education, poor health from too little sleep and limited interpersonal relationships and with wasted money and hope?

Lastly, I don't think people are jealous of your chapel or how fast it is growing. Why is it important how many people you convert, rather than the message you preach?!

Name withheld by request

Editor's note

Deadline set

Since Wednesday will be the last day of publication of the Eastern News, those wishing to submit a letter to the editor should do so by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The News will try to publish all letters submitted by that deadline. Letters which stay within the 250 word limit will have priority.

Any letters which are not published by Wednesday or which are turned in after the deadline will appear on June 20 in the first edition of the summer News.

Letters policy

All letters to the editor must carry the name, address and telephone number of their authors for identification purposes. Letters which do not carry this information will not be published. Names will be withheld upon written request. Letters should be typed and should not exceed 250 words. Letters will be edited only for libelous material or space considerations.

Legal help available to off-campus students

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series examining problems in off-campus housing.)
by Jim Holland

Students who have problems with landlords can turn to the Student Senate Housing Committee as a source of information and legal aid.

Dennis Caraway, a member of the committee, said the committee receives many complaints but usually has 20 to 25 legitimate complaints per semester.

Caraway said the committee first hears the students' complaints and advises them as to the legitimacy of their complaints.

If the student has a legitimate complaint the housing committee will go to the landlord and try to arrange some kind of solution or compromise, Caraway said.

If the housing committee is unable to reach any kind of compromise and the student has a legal standing for his complaints, the housing committee will counsel the student to seek legal advice.

Caraway said that although most cases are settled through mediation between students and the landlord, some cases do go to court.

But, a more typical example of a case handled by the housing committee is one which was settled through compromise.

Students who rented out an apartment in Old Town found out at the beginning of the school year that their apartment was not completely constructed as promised by the contract they signed, Busch said.

There was no electricity when they first moved in and much of the furniture was missing because of a delay in the construction of the apartment complex, Busch said.

Busch said although the lease stated the apartment would be completely constructed and furnished by the beginning of the school year, the owner of the apartment complex said he had a legal defense because the delays were caused by an act of God.

Eventually, Busch said, the housing committee reached a compromise with the owner, and the students were reimbursed for utility bills which had been increased by construction workers use of the utilities while working on the apartment.

Hardee's offer on agenda

A proposal made by the Hardee's Corporation will be discussed Monday by the University Union Board, Union Area Head Bill Clark said Friday.

The Union Board will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Union addition Martinsville Room.

"I will let each one of them (Union Board members) read through the proposal, then we will discuss it and I will suggest that we make no hasty decisions about locating a Hardee's in the Union, but instead wait until the consultants arrive," Clark said.

The Union Board will also hear an update on the hiring of the consultants who are to come to Eastern to investigate ways to financially improve the Union.

"I hope to be able to announce the dates of when the consultants will arrive," Clark said.

A report will also be presented about the results of a survey which was conducted to determine student interest in locating a banking facility in the Union.

First county dueling charges filed

The first dueling charges ever filed in Coles County were placed Thursday against James L. Corn, 59, of Fairgrange and Richard L. Walker, 35, of Charleston.

Corn and Walker were involved in a shooting incident that took place in the Charleston National Bank parking lot on April 20. Corn was wounded in the hand in the apparent shootout, while Walker was shot in the abdomen and is presently in Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center in fair condition.

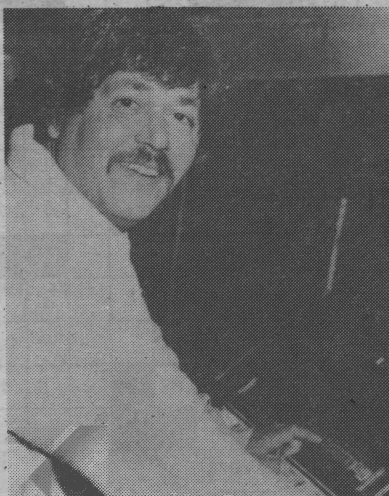

State's Attorney Paul Komada said the two had been in Stan and Mike's 504 Club (formerly Chink's Bar) before the shooting incident when an argument which had "sexual overtones" incurred between them in the bar.

Other charges brought against the two include one count each of possessing a pistol on premises licensed by the city to sell alcoholic beverages, possessing pistols on their persons, possessing loaded pistols in the city while not on their property or place of business and dueling.

Komada said arraignment is set for May 17.

Panthers drop twin-bill; bid hopes diminished

by Carl Gerdovich

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — A second consecutive post-season Regional baseball bid for the Panthers appears dim following Saturday's doubleheader loss and head coach Tom McDevitt knows it.

Poor pitching and hapless defensive play propelled Eastern to a twin-bill loss 17-16 and 8-4 at the University of Missouri-St. Louis Saturday, nearly foiling any remaining chance for a tournament bid.

"There's little hope for us," McDevitt said Sunday. "Sometimes it's hard to tell, but the chances certainly are not in our favor. That's for sure."

The double setback puts the Panthers at 18-15 in the won-loss columns, a far-cry from being anywhere close to the region's top teams.

Bellarmino is now 31-12, Northern Kentucky is 27-11, Akron stands at 20-12 and Indiana State University-Evansville is 17-6.

"We really needed two more wins

Saturday to look respectable. Now, our chances are awful slim," McDevitt said.

In Saturday's opener, the Panthers blew a 16-8 lead entering the sixth inning as UMSL rallied in recording the one-run decision, 17-16.

A combination of bases-on-balls and errors by Eastern gave the win to UMSL, now 23-15 on the season.

Panther starting pitcher Elliott Skorupa, and relief hurlers Paul Kastner, Lenny Lundberg and Tom Ozga combined in yielding nine walks while the defense committed three errors.

"As bad as the pitching seemed to be, it wasn't as bad as our defense," McDevitt said. "Our defensive effort was shoddy."

Designated hitter Cam Kennedy collected three hits including a grand slam home run in the fifth inning.

Ken Saxe, Dennis Conley and Tom Detmer each had two hits in leading the Panthers' 13 hit total.

UMSL's Skip Mann had three hits in four plate appearances including two doubles. Jeff Stellern added three doubles while collecting four hits.

Curt Paschia earned the pitching win for UMSL in relief of starter Mike Klaus.

Jim Jones scattered just three hits in the nitecap posting an 8-4 win. Van Essler mopped up for UMSL in relief.

Lefthander Ken Westray suffered the pitching loss for the Panthers with relief help from Terry Browne. The two allowed seven UMSL hits.

Kennedy powered a home run, Mike Dooley a double and Conley collected a single for the only Eastern hits.

Mann added three more hits including a triple for UMSL.

Eastern is scheduled to host Evansville University Monday in a 1 p.m. doubleheader at Monier Field before Bellarmine comes to town Wednesday for a pair.

Tracksters finish in untraditional fourth place

by Brian Nielsen

Eastern had two individual championships and four runnerups but not enough depth to keep its No. 3 position at the Illinois Intercollegiate track championships this weekend at O'Brien Stadium.

The Panthers, who had finished third in eight of the past 10 state meets, fell to fourth with 80 points—38 behind upstart Illinois State.

As usual, Southern Illinois-Carbondale and Illinois dominated the meet. SIU-C, which had six first places, rolled up 173 points to defend its title and win its ninth crown in 11 years.

Illinois had 153.5 points.

Twelve teams scored in the competition.

Eastern coach Neil Moore admitted he was disappointed with his fourth place finish, but he added that "there were some things that made me happy."

"We had a few people not come through for us, and it was somewhat of a disappointment, but we had some great performances, too," Moore said.

Heading that list were Casey Reinking, who won his second straight 5,000-meter run title, and Augustine Oruwari, who won convincingly in the 110-meter high hurdles.

Adding second places for the Panthers were 400-meter dashman Ed Hatch, 3,000-meter steeplechase runner Mike Hatfield, 1,500-meter man Reo Rorem and high hurdler Bob Johnson.

Hatch, Johnson, the third place mile relay squad, and seventh and eighth place 10,000-meter runners Chuck Elliott and Mike Moore were able to join the Eastern contingent that has qualified for the NCAA Division II finals to be held May 23-26.

Reinking's victory in his last appearance of his career at O'Brien Stadium was one of the performances that pleased Moore the most.

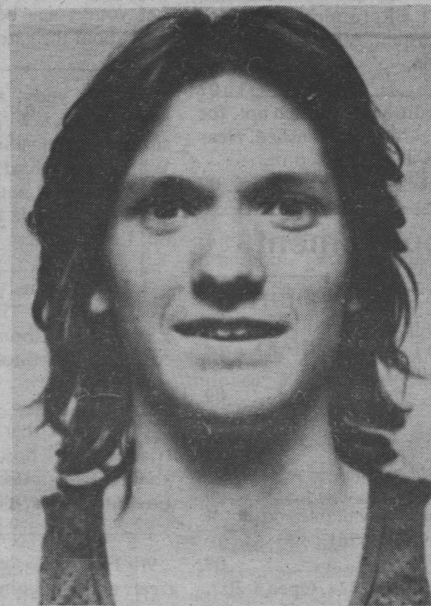

"It was just a beautiful race by Casey, who has really done a lot for us since he's been here," the coach said. "Hopefully, that career will be topped off by a national championship."

Moore credited Reinking with a "good tactical race" in which the senior from Alton pulled away in the final two laps to win in 14:18.30.

"I don't know where I got it, but I had something left for the finish," Reinking said.

Quick starting Oruwari did not need a finishing kick for his victory in the 110-meter high hurdles.

The sophomore Nigeria native's

Senior Casey Reinking won his second consecutive 5,000-meter run title at the Illinois Intercollegiate meet Saturday at O'Brien Field.

time of 14.01 is better than the intercollegiate meet record of 14.12, but will not count as a new mark because of a three mile per hour wind.

"The wind factor was just slightly too strong to count as a record, but it was still a good run," Moore said.

Johnson was second behind Oruwari with his 14.34, which is good enough to qualify for the Division II national finals.

Rorem lost in a photo finish to Illinois' Jon Schmidt in the 1,500 meters. Schmidt had a 3:52.44 and Rorem a 3:52.45.

In the steeplechase, Illinois' Jim Flannery ran away from Hatfield on the final straightaway to win in 9:03.1.

Another bright spot for Eastern was when its mile relay team ran a national qualifying 3:12.98 for third place.

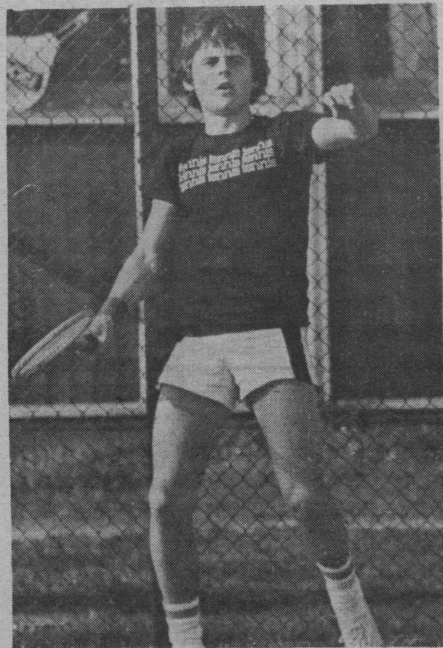

Jeff Bauer ran a 49.2 quarter mile, Regie Johnson had a 48.0, Joe Snyder followed with a 48.3 and then Hatch blazed a 46.9.

"Hatch ran a super leg, and what I'm happy about is he gives us a chance in the nationals," Moore said.

Also meeting national qualifying standards were 10,000-meter runners Chuck Elliott, who ran a 30:37.96 for seventh place, and Mike Moore, who clocked a 30:43.40 for eighth.

Illinois high jumper Gail Olsen cleared 7-2 for a state meet record, but he failed to better the 7-3 O'Brien standard he set last year in the Illinois state high school meet.

CEDAR FALLS, Ia. — The Eastern men's tennis team captured fourth place this weekend in the first Mid-Continent Conference tennis tournament as four Panthers placed in the top four of their respective divisions.

Junior Brad Patterson and freshman Joe Benyo each finished second to lead the Panthers to the finish, accumulating six points for their runner-up finishes. Patterson then teamed with junior Tom Wenzel to take second place at the number three doubles spot.

Eastern gathered 28 points to finish well behind champion Youngstown State's 64 points and second place finisher Northern Iowa's 40. Western Illinois was third with 39 points, and Northern Michigan took fifth with 18 points.

The sixth conference team, Akron, did not take part in the meet. Akron is dropping out of the MCC after next football season.

Head coach Dutch Gossett was satisfied with his team's performance in the meet, noting that the competition was stronger than he had anticipated.

"The conference was much tougher than we thought," he said. "Youngstown and Northern Iowa were real strong, with Youngstown winning seven of the nine divisions."

Benyo played 84 games in three matches on his way to the second place finish at the number six position. Benyo won his semi-final match in three sets before bowing to Rob Mattos of UNI 6-4, 2-6, 7-6 in the finals.

Patterson received a bye in his first round at the number four singles slot before defeating Frank Petersen of Northern Michigan in a three-set semi-final match. Patterson then bowed to Robb Adsit of Youngstown in the finals, 6-2, 6-3.

Senior Mike Stumpe picked up four points for Eastern with a third place finish at number three. After losing in the opening round to the eventual champion, Stumpe advanced through the playbacks to topple UNI's Stu Cochrane in the consolation final 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

At the number one position, Eastern's Rick Hayden was defeated in the semis, then dropped the consolation finale to Western Illinois' Rich O'Sullivan, 6-2, 6-2.

In the doubles, Patterson and Wenzel were seeded number one in the event, and after a first round bye, the pair defeated Western Illinois' third team, before losing to Scott Hunter and Brian Miller of Youngstown in the finals.

Hayden and Stumpe lost in the semis at number one, then dropped a tough three-setter to Tom Biske and Dave Cornack of Northern Michigan in the playback round, 3-6, 6-0, 6-1.

Sophomore Bob Nasenbeny lost his first two matches at number two singles, as did Wenzel at number five.

Nasenbeny teamed with sophomore Brian McDonald to play number two doubles, and the pair lost a first round match to the eventual champions from Western Illinois, and then dropped the first match in the playbacks.
