More than 9,300 expected

Enrollment ends

by Linda Fraembs

More than 9,300 students are expected to enroll at Eastern this spring, Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said Sunday.

The enrollment figure will not become official until a roster of students is completed after classes have been in session for 10 days, he added.

Williams' predicted spring-enrollment figure of "right around 9,300 or 9,400" is considerably less than the record fall enrollment of 10,016 students.

"In any year, about 94.4 percent of the fall students will continue in spring," Williams explained.

This spring's enrollment does not approach the number of students at Eastern during the fall, but the figure estimated by Williams is close to last spring's enrollment of 9,413.

Williams said that 8,600 or 8,700 of the students enrolled this spring pre-registered for classes last semester.

Those students who did not pre-register were forced to obtain classes through central registration.

"Registration went smoothly, except for the problem of not enough seats in classes," Williams said.

"It's like going fishing," he continued. "You can have the best bait and tackle, but if there aren't any fish left, what can you do?"

Temperatures drop; life made miserable

by Associated Press

After another night of record shattering temperatures in Illinois, the mercury inched above zero Sunday, but snow and gusty winds made life miserable for those who set foot outdoors in much of the state.

Through Sunday, the frigid weather had been blamed for 31 deaths in Illinois.

A fresh layer of snow blanketed the state north of a line from Moline to Bloomington, prompting authorities to issue travelers advisories for roads throughout Illinois.

Some interstate highways were slippery with ice and snow, and a 75-mile stretch of I-57 between Effingham and U.S. 30 remained closed because of drifting snow. Many secondary roads were reported closed or down to one lane of traffic because of snow and ice.

A record temperature of 25 degrees below zero was set in Rockford at 1 a.m. Sunday. Chicago was also chilled to 25 below late Saturday night, 12 degrees colder than the old record for the date and one degree shy of the all-time record set last weekend.

Forecasters held out hope for a thaw early in the week, predicting that temperatures Tuesday would reach the low 30s in the north and the low 40s in the south.

But shoppers in the Chicago area, apparently preparing for a long siege of cold weather, were reported clearing the shelves at local supermarkets.

"People were buying a lot of things in general, as if they were buying a two-week supply and just stocking up," said Larry Nauman, vice-president of public relations for Dominick's Finer Foods.

Driving dilemma?

Club offers hints to start and drive in winter weather

by Dru Sefton

(This is the first in a series of five articles dealing with how to cope with the cold weather.)

It's 10 below zero outside, you have an 8 a.m. exam in four minutes, and the only sound coming from your car is a sick cough—what do you do?

Or what precautions can you take when a trip to Mattoon is a must despite warnings from the state police to stay off the roads?

Jonathon Lehrer of the Chicago Motor Club, a division of the American Automobile Association, said these and similar problems make winter the worst season for motorists.

"The only way to really avoid the problems is move to Fort Lauderdale, Fla.," Lehrer said.

But there are several precautions drivers can take to make the winter months a little easier.

Lehrer said how a car is stored during the night hours has an effect on how it will start and run the

"The main thing to remember when you park your car at night is to minimize the effect of wind," Lehrer said.

Lehrer said although it is ideal to store a car in a garage, wind can be minimized by parking the car with the grill next to a wall to prevent a breeze from entering the engine.

"A blanket or piece of heavy cardboard over the radiator or grill also helps," Lehrer said.

Lehrer said another suggestion is hooking up a 100-watt lightbulb under the car's hood or putting an electric dipstick in the oil may also help keep the engine warm to initiate easier starts.

Lehrer said unhooking the car's battery and bringing it inside to keep warm is inadvisable.

"People may not know how to properly remove the battery without damaging the engine," Lehrer said.

Lehrer said checking the owner's manual is the best way to determine how to start each make of car on a cold morning.

News Round-up

Temperatures delay efforts

WASHINGTON—Faced with sub-zero temperatures and biting winds, recovery teams temporarily abandoned efforts Sunday to raise the tail section of an Air Florida jetliner from under the frozen Potomac River, delaying the investigation of last week's air disaster.

Temperatures were minus five degrees when the salvage operation resumed at dawn on the ice-covered river, and had risen to only seven above at midafternoon. "It's impossible to work out there," said Rudolph Kapustin, the chief investigator for the National Transportation Safety Board.

Accused students harassed

CHICAGO—Three college students charged with conducting an anti-Semitic harassment campaign against a Jewish businessman have been receiving threatening telephone calls at their affluent suburban homes, police say.

One of the students, Daniel C. Kissinger, 19, of Wilmette, said his life had been threatened.

"In no way did I have anything to do with this," said Kissinger, a University of Iowa freshman. "I did not do one of these acts and that will be proved in court."

"But now," he told the Chicago Tribune, "my life has been threatened. I've received hundreds of phone calls, literally, people saying, 'We're going to get you, we're going to rape your mother,' all kinds of disgusting things. I've been getting calls from all over the country."

The three suspects, all freshmen at Iowa, were arrested Monday at their homes while on vacation between semesters, police said.

Victor Weiss, 63, who lost relatives when the Nazis invaded Lithuania in World War II, was the target of a bizarre series of Nazi-oriented mailgrams and pranks over a two-month period last fall.

Court bans magazine ad

MINNEAPOLIS—Screw magazine has been barred from further use of a mock advertisement featuring the Pillsbury Co.'s Doughboy and Doughgirl, a company attorney says.

U.S. District Judge William O'Kelley in Atlanta also refused to make publishers of the New York-based magazine pay for any damage to the reputations of the figures. O'Kelley said the law protects the use of trade characters for satirical and editorial purposes.

Walesa may be freed soon

LONDON—Solidarity leader Lech Walesa will be freed "in the very near future" and martial law will be lifted in two or three weeks, Poland's ambassador to Britain said Sunday.

Ambassador Stefan Staniszewski told reporters at London's Heathrow Airport he had "good news about Lech Walesa." Staniszewski was at the airport to meet his wife, who was returning from Warsaw.

"The decision has been made," he said. "He is going to be released in the very near future. I cannot tell you the exact day, but it will be soon."

Authorities in Warsaw wouldn't comment on Staniszewski's prediction. His estimate of when martial law would end seemed to contradict Polish government spokesman Jerzy Urban, who on Saturday said military rule would remain in force until the conditions that led to its imposition had been eliminated.

Walesa, leader of the now-suspended independent trade union, has not been seen publicly since martial law was declared Dec. 13. Reports reaching the West say he has been under house arrest at a government villa in Warsaw.

Staniszewski, who came to London five days after military rule began, said conditions in Poland are "improving, and although martial law is continuing, it will only be for another two or three weeks."

In Washington, State Department officials reserved comment on Staniszewski's remarks.

"This is a very casual statement," said Wayne Neill, spokesman for the State Department's Polish working group. "We are waiting for confirmation from other sources."

Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., returning from a four-day fact-finding trip to Poland aboard the same LOT Polish Airlines flight as the ambassador's wife, said he doubted Walesa would be freed unconditionally.

"I believe Walesa will be released in some form, but not completely," Pressler said.

The senator told reporters that Roman Catholic Archbishop Jozef Glemp told him Walesa was in good health, but somewhat depressed. Glemp told him Walesa wants an apology from the government before beginning negotiations, Pressler added.

Pressler said he didn't think U.S. aid should be resumed to Poland until martial law is lifted and Walesa and other Solidarity leaders released.

Court asked to lift camera ban

The Illinois Supreme Court will be asked this week to change its longstanding policy that broadcast coverage of trials is undignified, and to open nearly all state courts to cameras and microphones.

Thirty-two states currently allow the practice either permanently or on an experimental basis, according to the Illinois State Bar Association.

The rules of the state's high court, which govern all levels of Illinois' judiciary, ban still cameras, television cameras or microphones from courtrooms.

The rules say photographing or broadcasting court proceedings detracts from their "essential dignity" and "distracts participants and witnesses in giving testimony, and creates misconceptions with respect thereto in the mind of the public."

Not so, says the Illinois Freedom of Information Council, one of three groups asking the state Supreme Court to lift the ban on microphones and still and TV cameras.

Justices will hear arguments on the issue Tuesday afternoon.

"We feel it's time Illinois got into this area and allowed broadcast journalists to provide coverage of the judicial system as a further educational tool for the general public," said Bill Miller, journalism professor at Sangamon State University and president of the freedom of information group.

A second request was filed by CBS for its WBBM radio and TV stations in Chicago. It also seeks nearly unrestricted admission to trials.

The third request, filed by the Chicago Council of Lawyers, proposes a limited one-year experiment, during which cameras would be allowed in civil trials only if all parties agreed; and in criminal trials if the defendant consents.

The state bar association also has drawn up a list of recommendations, although it has not formally asked the state's high court to lift the ban.

U of I students accept split-level tuition

by Mary Holland

Although the split-level tuition increase proposed for next year will be new to Eastern students, students at the University of Illinois have faced it for one year.

When a split-level increase was proposed for Eastern, student government members voiced their disapproval. But Sarah Mayer, U of I student body president, said student government members there came out in favor of a plan that would charge different rates of tuition for upper and lower division students when it was proposed last year.

"It was felt that the money was needed and it did cost more to educate juniors and seniors," Mayer said.

Mayer added that U of I's student government voted in favor of a differential tuition rate for this year after much discussion by the student body.

Mayer said the decision to support a differential tuition rate was not unanimous but added that the student government "tried to generate discussion and estimate the feeling of the students in that discussion."

This year the tuition rate per year at the U of I is $748 for lower-division students, $798 for upper-division students and $848 for graduate students, she added.

Walter Tousey, assistant vice chancellor to academic affairs at the U of I said he was aware of no student protest when the differential tuition rate was instituted.

"I think there was a basic recognition that these tuition rates were by no way outrageous," he said.

Tousey added that he did not think that juniors and seniors felt discriminated against because they had to pay more than underclassmen.

"Everyone gets to be a junior and senior sometime," he said.

Although Mayer said the student government at the U of I supported raising this year's tuition, it was opposed to the method used to raise next year's tuition.

"We didn't find out about these figures (tuition rates for next year) until a week before the Board of Trustees meeting.

"There was no time for research, and little time for discussion. We felt it was an extremely bad way of going about it," she said.

Mayer said next year the tuition rate at the U of I will be $822 for lower division students, $978 for upper division students and $1,082 for graduate students per year.

Eastern Board of Governors student representative Dan Hunnicutt has also said that he did not have sufficient time to study the tuition rate proposals for Eastern next year. He said he received the proposal only two days before the BOG meeting.

At the Nov. 30 Student Senate meeting, Hunnicutt said it was unfair that he had such little time to prepare for the meeting, and was not sent information which explained the proposal.

both to vote and thus do not now have much of a voice in protesting the increase," he said.

Hunnicutt said greater participation in the upcoming voter registration drive for Coles County is needed to fight future tuition increases.

"Students can have a greater pull in tuition issues in coming years by registering to vote and using their voting power," he said.

Tymczuk also urged students to register during the voter drive later this month in order to have an effect on issues such as the tuition increase.

"There are enough students at Eastern to have an effect if they only take the time to register and to vote," she said.

Add-drop termed futile in Business

by Maureen Foertsch

Eastern students enrolled in various departments of the School of Business said Friday they have found the add-drop process difficult and often futile.

Many students questioned said they were unable to get necessary classes.

Representatives from other departments said they have had no problems with the add-drop system this semester.

However, they said some students are unable to get classes because there is a shortage of sections.

Last semester, students reportedly engaged in buying and selling seats in closed business classes.

Officials said last week they had noticed no signs of similar transactions this semester.

Jim McKewn, a senior marketing major, said although he believes the add-drop process is well-run, he experiences frustration every semester when he does not obtain the classes he needs to graduate.

He also said he was glad the School of Business is using a priority list of students waiting to take the courses. The priority system, he added, could prevent him from being forced to take classes in intersession.

Cathy Rowland, a junior computer management major, said her current classes are electives not needed for her major.

"Hopefully as a junior I'll get some kind of priority level when they decide who'll get the classes," Rowland added. "If I don't (get priority) everything will be screwed up down the line."

Sophomore marketing major Leslie May said she found the courses needed for her major, such as basic business and business law, were filled.

May added she believes a priority system is fair, giving upperclassmen priority over underclassmen for the business classes needed for graduation.

Julie Poole, a junior computer management major, said she is on a waiting list for a data processing class, and was having no luck getting the classes she needs for her major.

"I realize teachers relate better to smaller classes, but since they don't have enough teachers maybe they should be making the business classes larger," Poole added.

She added that she is worried about graduating on time at Eastern because of the overcrowded business department.

Roseanne Sanders of the business department said 11 of about 22 business education and business administration courses were closed Friday. She added that all closed courses had waiting lists.

Last week, Ted Ivarie, dean of the School of Business, said department chairmen would establish a list of priority students—for instance, seniors who preregistered would take precedence over a senior who did not.

Hunnicutt says tuition fight may be impossible

by Mike Nolan

Fighting the proposed split-tuition increase at the state level will be nearly impossible, a student government official said Sunday.

However, another student government member said students should not give up the battle against a split hike in tuition.

Board of Governors Representative Dan Hunnicutt said a "snowball effect" has been created now that the proposal has been approved by the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

"It is really too late for students to have much of an impact on the issue now that it has come this far," he said.

Illinois Student Association representative Debbie Tymczuk said students should convince their parents to write their congressmen protesting the hike.

"It's not too late to protest the increase if enough students are concerned," she said.

The BOG recommended a tuition increase of 12 percent for freshmen and sophomores and 19 percent for juniors and seniors.

If Gov. James Thompson and the Illinois legislature approve the increases, they will go into effect next fall.

Hunnicutt said students' lack of voting in the last election had a long-term effect on the tuition issue.

File for a government position

Attempt to make a difference in student government this semester by filing a petition for the current vacancies in student government positions.

Three seats on the senate are open for the spring semester. In addition, two positions on the Supreme Court, one on the Council on Academic Affairs and one on the Intercollegiate Athletic Board are also open. One member and one co-member position to the WELH Board and the Apportionment Board are also open.

This may be the ideal chance to participate in student government. The appointments to the positions open will be made by the student senate or the individual board, depending on which vacancy a student applies for. There is no election process to go through this time.

Filing a petition for any of these positions presents a excellent opportunity for students who complain about not having their voice heard in Eastern's student government.

These groups do not demand a great deal of extra work from the student members but require attendance at their regular meetings.

However, the member must have a knowledge of issues affecting the student population and have an opinion about them.

Issues such as a possible split-level tuition increase and the possibility of repealing Charleston's liquor ordinance need constant student input. Student government should not appear as an elite organization to the student body. It should appear as a marketplace to generate student support for such issues.

Rather than complain that student government does nothing, get involved with some facet of the organization and make something happen.

File a petition for your place on the senate by 5 p.m. Tuesday. It's an opportunity for the senate to gain fresh ideas and make a difference in student government.

Your Turn

Keep city ordinance

Editor:

The possibility of the city council repealing the city ordinance permitting underage people to enter area bars is something we Eastern students that regularly occupy these bars should be taking with a certain degree of seriousness.

True, there have been threats before to repeal the ordinance. But they were never as outwardly vocal or organized as the current protesters.

This challenge should be met with full force. Not simply the fraternities and the Student Senate, but all students who feel that what social life they do have and have had is being threatened by a group of people who should simply take greater disciplinary action toward their own children. Independent students should go down to the city council meeting Tuesday and voice your opinion. Your opponents will certainly be there, and without your voice present the council may only hear one side of the story.

The bars of Charleston are the only casual places to meet people in this area. They are necessary for us. And without us the bars have very little business.

Matthew Krasnowski

Motto raised tuition

Editor:

The following could be a conversation held between the bureaucrats at Eastern.

"Well gentlemen, another successful semester here at Eastern."

"But Sir, how can you say it was successful? We raised tuition and we still don't have enough money for grants and loans."

"Yes, but we did get lights for the football field, and they are sexy. Besides, we needed a raise in tuition for that project and others similar to it I have in mind. Another good reason for the tuition raise is those juniors and seniors will be leaving us soon. So besides selling their addresses and phone numbers to insurance companies, we need to raise their tuition higher."

"But sir, that's not fair. Juniors and seniors were paying less when they started because everything cost less."

"That's not the point. Remember, gentlemen, we're bureaucrats. Our job is not affected by how well we do it. Remember our motto—all together—cover your — at all times."

Rick Kirkham

Eastern's women's basketball team plays ISU-Evansville at 5:15 p.m. Monday in Lantz Gym. With an impressive 7-4 record so far this season, these panthers deserve our support.

Admission is free.

We hope to see many students, faculty and staff there.

Tuition proposal violates constitution

(Senior Jeffrey E. Kehl and sophomore John Novotny are protesting the constitutionality of the split-level tuition increase. They sent this letter to Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner in form of a legal brief.)

The effect of the Board of Governors split-level tuition proposal needs examining. Because the upperclassmen are required to pay a 19 percent increase in tuition costs, they are burdened more than underclassmen, who must pay only a 12 percent increase.

This is a violation of the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. It hinges upon being a discriminatory act since it would be clearly beneficial to be an underclassman than an upperclassman.

Yet the BOG feels that upperclassmen should pay more in tuition. The number of academic hours needed within a particular department to receive a degree averages between 37 and 40.

For instance, to receive a degree in political science from Eastern, 34-37 hours of the departmental courses are needed. This leaves open 83-86 hours outside of the major which must be taken to total the 120 hours required by the BOG to graduate with a bachelor of arts degree in political science. Another 39 hours are required of the student to complete the requirements for humanities, mathematics and social sciences. Nearly all of the courses available to the student in order to fulfill these requirements are 1000 and 2000 level classes; few are 3000 level. No 4000 level courses are recommended or listed to fulfill these requirements.

Traditionally, the difficulty of a course is noted by the first number of the course level. However, there are many classes of different course level, which both under and upper classmen take to fulfill requirements. This means upperclassmen and underclassmen are commingled in these classes. Nothing in the teaching of these courses separates the underclassmen from the upperclassmen. All students receive the same amount of instruction.

Viewpoint:

Jeff Kehl

However, it is our contention that the split-level tuition costs creates an unfair imposition on upperclassmen and therefore violates the Equal Protection Clause. The U.S. Supreme Court in U.S. vs. Lovett states that acts which are designed to apply to a particular group of individuals are defined as bills of attainder because they single out and punish a specific group of individuals. Only a broad interpretation of the BOG tuition proposal by the courts will show the proposal to be a bill of attainder, and thus, unconstitutional. Therefore, the violation of the Equal Protection Clause must be considered.

The court has, over the years, established a general rule concerning imposition of burdens upon people and classes of people. The court has said that the imposition of burdens must not be greater than those that are imposed on others in the same calling or condition. Such burdens cannot pass constitutional validity. It is obvious that since there is no separation of underclassmen and upperclassmen nor any difference in the instruction of the general courses, the students—freshmen through seniors—are of the same calling or condition.

The BOG proposal cannot stand as being constitutionally valid. It separates a single class of people, students, into two classes and places a burden upon one of the new classes, clearly violating the Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment.

Tips offered for theft prevention

by Dru Sefton

City officials and area landlords agree that the best way for students to prevent thefts while away on vacation is to take valuables along.

Charleston Police Chief Maurice Johnson said the best way for students to keep their valuables safe is to pack them and take them home.

"The safest thing students can do is take their valuables home," Johnson said. "If this isn't possible, a friend staying in Charleston during the vacation can either stay in the house or keep an eye on the house."

Johnson said products designed to deter break-ins, such as timers for lights or radios, may also be helpful.

Ken Moses, detective for the Charleston Police Department, agreed that taking valuables home is the safest thing for students to do.

Byron Rerdin, manager of the Village Apartments, 2219 Ninth St., said he provides a safe storage area for any items students may want to store over break.

However, Rerdin said, "I send letters to my tenants suggesting they take their valuables home if possible."

William Snyder, another Charleston landlord, agreed.

"It's hard to keep a very close watch on all student property when students are away on break," he said. "I would suggest taking valuables home or putting them in storage if the students are going to be gone for any amount of time."

Landlord Robert Bunten said

students could "take a little more care" to make sure their homes are secure when leaving for a vacation.

"Students should make sure all doors and windows are locked securely before they leave," Bunten said.

Johnson said one major problem with burglaries in Charleston is a lack of manpower to add patrols to areas where many students live.

Assistant Police Chief Herb Steidinger said residential burglary is an especially hard crime to combat.

"If a prowler is near a house and sees a squad car, it forces him to leave momentarily, but there is a chance the prowler will simply come back later," Steidinger said.

Truck accident initiates query

by Sharon Bray

Responsibility and payment for damage that occurred Thursday when a truck driven by an Eastern student crashed into the University Union Walkway is still under investigation by insurance companies, an Eastern administrator said Friday.

George Miller, vice president for administration and finance, said damage to the walkway and the truck is still under review by insurance companies for Eastern and the rental company.

The name of the driver has not been released.

The Ryder rental truck, rented by the theater arts department Thursday to transport theatrical props for the play "Seduced" to a festival in Champaign, failed to clear the 10-foot-high walkway.

Half of the truck's roof was sheared off in the accident, while some cement on the walkway's exterior was chipped.

Union Area Head Bill Clark Friday estimated damage to the walkway at $2,000 to $3,000.

Clark said all damage to the Union was external.

He said he believes Ryder's insurance will pay for the damage because the contract insured any damage done to or by the truck regardless of who was driving it.

Dean of Fine Arts Vaughn Jaenike said Friday the truck is still in Champaign so insurance investigations will be delayed until the truck is returned to Charleston.

A representative for Carl Hall Transfer of Charleston, which rented the truck to the theater arts department, said Friday the company could not release any information.

Greeks announce spring rush activities

by Dawn Morville

Eastern's social fraternities have planned formal open houses while sororities have planned informal parties this semester for students who are interested in joining the Greek community.

Ann Cavanagh, assistant director of student activities, said sororities do not establish formal rush schedules in the spring semester but schedule parties, which vary according to the sorority.

Several sororities have scheduled parties for prospective members to attend. They are as follows:

Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1616 Ninth St., has a party scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Kappa Delta, 2211 S. Ninth St., has scheduled parties at 3:30 p.m. Jan. 23, 7 p.m. Jan. 25 and 8:30 p.m. Jan. 26.

Sigma Kappa, 1007 Tenth St., has scheduled a party at 7 p.m. Wednesday by invitation only.

Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1102 Sixth St., has a party scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Thursday and 6 p.m. Jan. 25.

Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Tau, Alpha Phi and Delta Zeta are not sponsoring rush activities this semester.

Interfraternity Council President Jack Woods said fraternities will schedule formal open houses Monday through Thursday.

He said each fraternity has an hour scheduled this week when prospective members can tour the fraternity house and talk with members.

Woods said each fraternity will hold parties in the near future for interested men to meet and talk with the active members.

The fraternity open houses were scheduled earlier this semester than last semester so interested men could visit the fraternities before classes get too hectic, Woods said.

He said the fraternity rush schedule is as follows:

Monday: 7 p.m., Beta Sigma Psi, 418 Harrison; 8 p.m., Delta Tau Delta, 1107 Third St.; and 9 p.m., Pi Kappa Alpha, 962 Tenth St.

Audition dates set for Vonnegut play

by Dawn Morville

Auditions for Eastern's Interpreter's Theatre presentation of the play "Cat's Cradle" have been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in the Playroom of the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

J. Sain of the theatre arts department said the play was written by Kurt Vonnegut Jr., and was adapted for the stage by D.A. Silverman, professor of theatre arts at Eastern and director of the show.

Silverman said although the play has serious undertones, it is a comedy about a reporter who is investigating people's reactions to the United States' bombing of Hiroshima, Japan, during World War II.

The reporter discovers that no one feels responsible for the millions of deaths caused by the atomic bombing, he said.

Silverman said eventually, the world is destroyed by a scientist who creates a molecule of ice-nine, which causes the entire world to freeze.

"The characters are extremely believable, yet extremely bizarre," he said.

Sain said no experience is necessary to try out for the play. Copies of the script are on reserve at Booth Library and may be borrowed for a short period of time.

The play will be performed Feb. 19 through Feb. 22 in the Playroom, Sain said.

Survey reveals students' housing problems

by Crystal Schrof

A housing survey conducted this fall by Eastern's Housing Office and the Residence Hall Association shows that students would prefer fewer housing services in order to maintain current housing rates.

Students said the Physical Plant is not responsive to requests made for repairs, according to the survey results.

Director of Housing Lou Hencken said Friday although students complained of problems with living in the residence halls, the survey shows students enjoy living in the halls.

Hencken said the survey was randomly sent to 20 percent of the residential population on campus.

The two-part survey consisted of standard computer questions with a choice of set responses and open-ended questions to draw out further reactions to the computer survey questions, Hencken said.

Students were asked to answer whether they strongly agreed, agreed, disagreed, strongly disagreed or were neutral about each question.

"We didn't ask questions that we can't try to improve on," Hencken said. "We want students to be able to see the results of this survey."

Hencken said it may take time to improve upon some areas but that results will be visible.

Although results of the standard computer survey were tallied during semester break, results of the open-ended questions will be tallied this week and presented to hall counselors on Tuesday, he said.

"The survey found that students do not want any more housing services if it is going to increase the room and board rates," Hencken said, "Students said 'let's not add anything extra, we pay enough already.'"

He added, however, that a standard housing increase will be put into effect next year because of inflation.

Hencken said complaints about the Physical Plant's unresponsiveness to requests for repairs is due to lack of communication between the Physical Plant and residents.

"Students often think that their repair requests are forgotten," Hencken said.

He said a system of recording hall repair requests and the completion of the repair could be instituted.

The survey also shows that residents are dissatisfied with the lack of special dinners and events like Christmas and Thanksgiving dinners held in the food services, Hencken said.

To satisfy residents, "there will be more special dinners next semester to break up the monotony of the routine of food service," Hencken said.

Most residents indicated they were satisfied with study facilities, Building Service workers and the Residence Hall calendar, he said.

UB sets schedule of spring activities

by Dawn Morville

The University Board has planned a number of activities for Eastern students this semester including movies, concerts and plays, UB Chairman Al Siepker said.

Siepker said students can obtain more information on the UB's scheduled events for each week by calling the UB Hotline at 581-5959.

Movies

January movies include the showing of "An American Werewolf in London" Jan. 22 and "Nighthawks" Jan. 29. Both movies will be shown at 6:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the Union Old Ballroom.

Movies for February include "Dragonslayer" Feb. 5, "2001: Space Odyssey" Feb. 10 and "Escape from New York" Feb. 19. All three will be shown at 6:30 p.m. and 9 p.m. in the Union Grand Ballroom.

Arts

Some events sponsored this semester by the performing arts committee are as follows:

Eclipse, a nine-piece band who perform a wide variety of music, will perform Feb. 6.

The band will be one feature of Black History Month in February, he added.

Siepker said the exact time and location for the band's performance has not yet been confirmed.

The play "Chapter Two," a biography of Neil Simon, will be performed at 8 p.m. March 11 in McAfee Gym by a Broadway group, Siepker said.

Mainstage

Singer Jerry Grossman is scheduled to perform at noon and 1 p.m. Monday in the Union Walkway.

Spring break

The UB, in conjunction with Travel Associates, is sponsoring a trip during spring break to Daytona Beach, Fla., Siepker said.

The total cost of the trip is $170. Siepker said $10 of that sum is a refundable security deposit for the hotel room.

Students must pay a $50 non-refundable deposit when they sign up for the trip in order to reserve bus space, Siepker said.

The $110 balance must be paid by Feb. 27. Students who sign up after that date must pay the full amount when they register, he said.

Siepker said the trip includes accommodations for seven nights at the King's Inn Hotel. The rooms are six-person suites with kitchenettes.

Siepker said the UB will take four 47-passenger buses on the trip and will leave the Union from the walkway at 4 p.m. March 26. Students will check in at the Union Old Ballroom prior to departure.

The buses will leave Daytona Beach at 4 p.m. April 3, he said.

Students may sign up for the trip with UB Secretary Liz Hudson in the Student Activities Office on the second floor of the Union addition, Siepker said.

Five UB coordinator positions available

by Dawn Morville

Five University Board coordinator positions are open for interested students, a UB official said recently.

UB Chairman Al Siepker said the positions for concert, Mainstage, special events, human potential and lecture coordinators are now open to any full-time student, except first-semester freshmen.

Students can apply for the positions until noon Friday and will be contacted over the weekend to set up an interview, he said.

Interested students may apply at the Student Activities Center on the second floor of the University Union addition, Siepker said. Students should leave their name, telephone number and the position they desire with the secretary, he said.

Siepker said all students who apply for the positions will be interviewed from Jan. 25 to Jan. 29 by an interviewing committee, which will make recommendations to the UB.

After the board votes, selected candidates will be presented to the Student Senate Legislative Leadership Committee and to the Student Senate for approval, he said.

Because of recent problems with the concert committee, Siepker said this position is open for only one semester, but if the student appointed as coordinator works well with the committee, he will be asked to retain his job.

Siepker said the duties of the concert coordinator are to organize subcommittees which include hospitality, ushers, security and stage crew.

The coordinator's job is to organize and book major concerts on campus, he said.

Siepker said students interested in the area of management should apply for this position.

The Mainstage coordinator is in charge of minor concerts which are performed in McAfee Gym, such as The Kind, who performed last semester, he said.

The coordinator is also responsible for finding acts to perform at Open Stage at the Rathskeller, Siepker said.

Also open is the position of special events coordinator, which Siepker called one of the most "flexible" jobs.

Siepker said the coordinator is responsible for organizing spring break trips, camping rental equipment, coffeehouse singers, all-campus games, such as tug-of-war, and special events, such as the Mr. EIU contest.

The human potential coordinator is in charge of minority programming and insuring that other committees provide minority entertainment, he said.

Siepker said the coordinator also works with the Black Student Union and other groups outside the UB to help provide entertainment.

The position of lecture coordinator is also open.

Siepker said this coordinator is in charge of organizing any events in the area of public speaking, such as the G. Gordon Liddy lecture, he said.

City recreation to sponsor guitar, exercise classes

by Dru Sefton

Classes in guitar and exercise are being offered by the Charleston Recreation Department, a spokesman for the department said Thursday.

A guitar class "designed for fun" begins Wednesday and continues until March 10, the spokesman said. Classes are on Wednesdays from 7 to 8 p.m., and the fee is $22. The class is open to persons 12 years old and above, and those interested must provide their own guitars.

The department is also offering two exercise classes.

A new program, Dance 'n Exercise, will begin Monday and meet from 6 to 6:50 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays until Feb. 18.

The class features overall conditioning and slimming exercises set to popular music. The fee is $18 for 10 lessons.

Another exercise class, Trim 'n Tone, is designed for those who would like to get into shape but need to gradually work into condition with a less strenuous program, the spokesman said.

The class meets from 7 to 7:50 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays until Feb. 18. The fee is $18 for 10 lessons.

Persons seeking more information or wishing to pre-register in these classes can call the department, 345-6897.

ROTC award recipients announced

by Dawn Morville

Eastern's Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) program recently announced the winners of the Illinois State ROTC Scholarship program.

Capt. J.T. Napier, enrollment officer, said the scholarship recipients are sophomore Diane Paynic, freshman Theresa Volini, sophomore Damon Walsh, freshman Thomas Robeson, freshman Allan Cupp, freshman Susan Ellison, freshman David Stenzel, freshman Kenneth Koop, freshman Ethan Rogers and freshman Ramona Taggart.

Napier said Eastern may award 10 scholarships each year to students enrolled as cadets in the ROTC program. There were thirteen candidates for the scholarships.

The scholarship pays for the student's tuition and some fees for the time he is enrolled in the ROTC program, he said.

Scholarships are awarded based on the cadet's ROTC test scores, a board interview and the previous semester's grades, Napier said.

He said the ROTC program will also be awarding three additional state scholarships this semester.

Napier said ROTC federal scholarships are also awarded each year based on national-level competition and pay for tuition, fees, books and supplies, in addition to $100 payment per month to the cadet.

Four Eastern students enrolled in the ROTC program have received the federal scholarships in the past, he added.

turn off all accessories, press the accelerator to the floor once and release, turn ignition and crank the engine for 15 to 20 seconds. If the car does not start, turn off ignition and wait 30 to 40 seconds and try again.

If there is a smell of gasoline while trying to start the car, chances are the carburetor is flooded with gasoline, Lehrer said.

When this happens, Lehrer advised that the accelerator be pushed to the floor for a full minute, turn the ignition, and go through the process again.

Once the car is started, common sense is the best guide to use when driving in winter weather, Lehrer said.

"Start smoothly, stop gently, and make all moves far in advance of when you usually would," Lehrer said.

Lehrer said testing the brakes by gently tapping them when first starting out is especially helpful to get a "feel" for the road surface.

Motorists should also park with as much room as possible around the car.

"Make sure you're able to get out of the parking space from a stopped position," Lehrer said. "There may not be traction if the surface is icy."

With the weather dipping below zero, motorists should also pack extra items for out-of-town trips.

"Dress as though the car didn't have a heater," Lehrer said. "If you become stranded, you'll need to stay warm. And pack a couple candy bars for food, and blankets for warmth."

If stranded, Lehrer said stay with the car and try to flag down passing motorists. Periodically run the heater for a few minutes to keep warm, but avoid using the heater for long periods of time to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning, he added.

Greeks announce spring rush activities

by Dawn Morville

Eastern's social fraternities have planned formal open houses while sororities have planned informal parties this semester for students who are interested in joining the Greek community.

Ann Cavanagh, assistant director of student activities, said sororities do not establish formal rush schedules in the spring semester but schedule parties, which vary according to the sorority.

Several sororities have scheduled parties for prospective members to attend. They are as follows:

Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1616 Ninth St., has a party scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Kappa Delta, 2211 S. Ninth St., has scheduled parties at 3:30 p.m. Jan. 23, 7 p.m. Jan. 25 and 8:30 p.m. Jan. 26.

Sigma Kappa, 1007 Tenth St., has scheduled a party at 7 p.m. Wednesday by invitation only.

Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1102 Sixth St., has a party scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Thursday and 6 p.m. Jan. 25.

Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Sigma Tau, Alpha Phi and Delta Zeta are not sponsoring rush activities this semester.

Interfraternity Council President Jack Woods said fraternities will schedule formal open houses Monday through Thursday.

He said each fraternity has an hour scheduled this week when prospective members can tour the fraternity house and talk with members.

The fraternity open houses were scheduled earlier this semester than last semester so interested men could visit the fraternities before classes get too hectic, Woods said.

He said the fraternity rush schedule is as follows:

Monday: 7 p.m., Beta Sigma Psi, 418 Harrison; 8 p.m., Delta Tau Delta, 1107 Third St.; and 9 p.m., Pi Kappa Alpha, 962 Tenth St.

Tuesday: 7 p.m., Lambda Chi Alpha, 1532 Fourth St.; 8 p.m., Sigma Chi, 1617 Ninth St.; and 9 p.m., Tau Kappa Epsilon, 1429 Seventh St.

Wednesday: 7 p.m., Kappa Alpha Psi, University Union; 8 p.m., Sigma Tau Gamma, 865 Seventh St.; and 9 p.m., Phi Sigma Epsilon, 1509 Second St.

Thursday: 7 p.m., Sigma Pi, 956 Sixth St.; 8 p.m. Delta Chi, 848 Sixth St.; and 9 p.m., Delta Sigma Phi, 1705 Ninth St.

WEIC-AM changes format to country programming

by Jane Meyer

WEIC-AM (1270) radio will change its musical format from current pop music to modern country music as of 5 a.m. Monday, the station manager said.

Bob Swanson said the station's AM frequency will offer country music, CBS network programming, local news and sports and agricultural/business programming.

He added that the FM station will remain contemporary adult listening.

Swanson said the AM station will broadcast live, while the FM station will continue its taped format.

There were several reasons for making the format change, Swanson said.

"The hottest thing going right now is adult country music," he said. "We also did a survey of people in the surrounding areas asking them what they thought people would want to listen to. I'd say in an excess of 80 percent of the people said they favored country."

He said the station has purchased 150 new country albums and is expecting to buy more. To accommodate the changeover, Swanson said the control room in the station was also reconstructed.

A collection of prints from Southern Illinois University- Edwardsville's permanent collection of artworks is being displayed in the Paul Sargent Art Gallery in the University Union.

Rod Buffington of the art department said the collection will be displayed until the end of the semester.

"It's quite a feather in our hat to have this caliber of art at this university," Buffington said.

He said the collection includes the work of world-renowned artists Francisco De Goya and Georges Rouault.

"The prints are the best contemporary collection Eastern has ever displayed," Buffington said.

In addition, a collection of ceramics by two Springfield artists will be displayed.

The gallery is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Weather keeps harriers from competition

by Mike Prizy

Poor weather conditions over the weekend turned the Panther men's track squad's scheduled Community College Invitational meet into a time trial.

None of the seven junior college teams scheduled to compete in Lantz Fieldhouse Saturday could travel to Charleston because of the weather.

Eastern head track coach Neil Moore said it was difficult for the Panthers to prepare themselves for the unexpected time trials.

"It's hard to get psyched up when no one shows up to run against you," Moore said. "You have to generate your own enthusiasm. You make your own competition."

Moore said he was pleased with many of the distance runners' performances, but added he was not satisfied with many of the sprinters or field-event competitors.

Moore added the climate hindered the sprinters and field-event specialists.

The sub-zero temperatures, however, did not prevent sophomores Claude Magee and John Gassmann from turning in hot performances.

Magee, a two-time All-American last season, won the long jump and 60-yard dash while Gassmann set a personal record in winning the two mile run.

Magee's jump of 23-feet, 10 1/4-inches bettered his best indoor jump of last season by two inches and fell only one foot shy of the NCAA national qualifying mark.

"I always have thought that the long jump is potentially his best event," Moore said. "We are in hopes of seeing him as an NCAA qualifier there."

Within one hour, Magee came back to take top honors in the 60-yard dash with a 6.14 manual time.

"Six flat is the NCAA qualifying time, so I would say 6.14 is an outstanding time," Moore said.

In the two mile run, Gassmann took the lead early in the race from cross country standouts Tim Warneke and Perry Edinger and two-time 10,000-meter national qualifier Chick Elliott to finish first with a 8:59.89 clocking.

Gassmann bettered his best time of last season by 14 seconds and bettered an earlier-season time trial best Warneke also recorded a personal best with a 9:00.73 time.

In other events, senior Paul James, usually a discus thrower and "one of the top discus specialist in the country" according to Moore, threw 41-feet, 3 1/4-inches in the shot put event.

Rick Francis took the the 35-pound weight throw with a toss of 46-feet, 6 1/4-inches.

The 880-yard run hosted the return of Bob Feller.

Feller's time of 1:57.62 edged out teammate John Gill's time of 1:57.77.

Swimmers make big splash

by Nancy Saegesser

CHAMPAIGN—Eastern's swim teams copped prestigious wins Sunday, placing first in the women's competition and second in the men's division at the three-day University of Illinois Invitational.

Dawn Beard took top honors in four of her five individual events as Eastern head coach Ray Padovan's women bested the predominantly NCAA Division I four-team field with 1,098 points.

The University of Illinois finished in second place with 1,043, Illinois State was third with 792 and Chicago Circle fourth with 385.

Eastern's men scored 692 points on route to their second place finish. Illinois easily won the title with 925 points while Bradley was third with 527, ISU fourth with 436 and Circle fifth with 322.

Bradley did not field a women's team.

Padovan said the title performance of his women's squad was "sort of" a surprise but added that "part of it was there was a small number of entries and we have a relatively large team so our people scored more down the line than they possibly would have in a larger meet.

"But we did swim well and we did win," the Panther mentor added.

Beard continued to dominate the Panther scoring, picking up four individual wins, placing second in her fifth event and sharing a 200-yard freestyle relay win with Dawn Buzcowski, Kathy Moe and Tammy Baker.

Beard's 54.2 runner-up finish in the 100-yard freestyle and her 26.7 clocking in the 50-yard butterfly established new school records.

Beard also took firsts in the 50-yard freestyle (24.5), 50-yard breaststroke (33.0) and 100-yard individual medley (1:02.4).

Buzcowski also copped a blue ribbon for the Panthers with a 1:00.3 timing in the 100-yard butterfly.

Padovan said he was "very, very pleased" with the performance of the Panther men in their first competitive action since Dec. 12.

Injuries take their toll as grapplers fall 25-15

by Steve Binder

Eastern's injury-riddled wrestling squad dropped only its third dual meet in six years as a top-ranked Missouri unit edged the Panthers 25-15 Friday at Lantz Gym.

However, Eastern head coach Ron Clinton said if his squad, hindered with injuries since the season started, would have been healthy the Panthers would have defeated the Mizzou Tigers.

"I think if we were healthy, the score would be reversed so I'm really not disappointed with our performance," Clinton said. "I know we have the ability and talent. It's just the injuries have prevented us from progressing. In fact, I think we would have taken seven of the 10 matches against them (Missouri)."

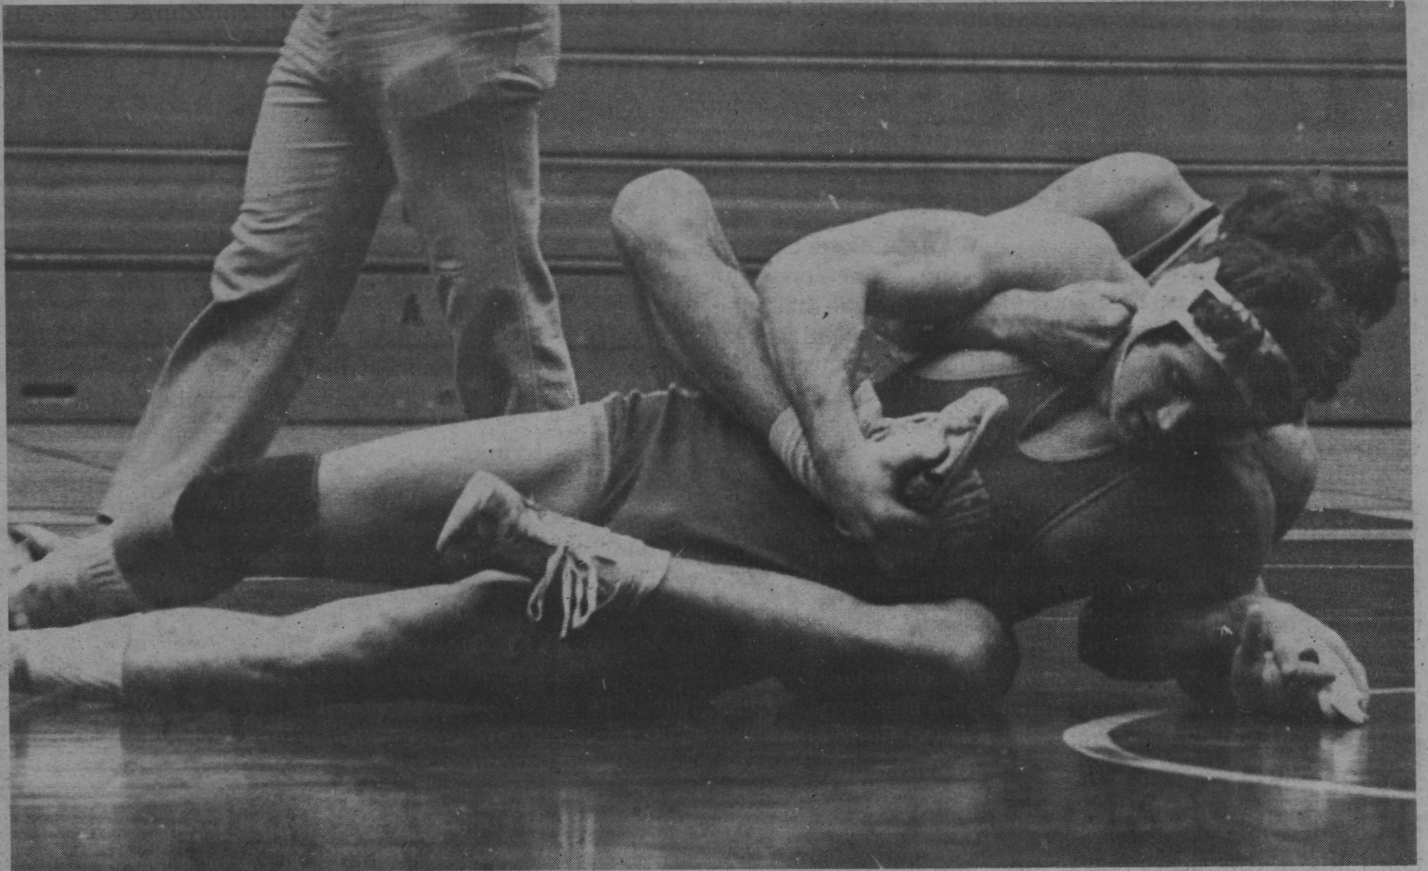

Instead, the Panthers notched just four victories, including one forfeit Friday.

Eastern's three-time All-American Geno Savegnago at 190, wrestling with two bandaged fractured fingers, suffered a 7-6 riding-time defeat to Brad Moseley when the Panthers trailed in the meet 16-15. The loss was Savegnago's second defeat in 14 matches.

All-American Dennis McCormick at 177 was also upset 5-2 by Dave Young after the Panthers took a 15-13 meet lead.

"Geno and Dennis haven't wrestled since Dec. 11 because of injuries and it showed today. They got tired and their timing and conditioning just wasn't ready for them to put on a strong show," Clinton said.

The Panther mentor said he hoped to gain some momentum early in the meet against No. 7 ranked Missouri, but 118-pound Randy Blackman's close 2-1 defeat to Bruce Malinowski gave the Mizzou Tigers the early lead.

"I was a little disappointed in Randy. I expected to take the first three matches and he could have gotten us off to a good start," Clinton said.

However, Eastern's Derek Porter, at 126, registered a 2-0 decision over Keith Whelan to tie the meet before Missouri took a 9-3 lead after Bob Porter pinned the Panthers' Bernie Ruettiger at 134 with 14 seconds remaining in the second round.

Transfer Rich Brown at 142 then decisioned Bill Porter 2-1 to bring Eastern to within three, but Missouri's Wes Roper, 19-2 on the season, notched a major decision 13-3 over freshman Don Rowden at 150. Missouri held a 13-6 lead.

But a Mizzou Tiger forfeit at 158 and Mike Polz' 8-3 decision over Doug Anderson gave Eastern its only lead at 15-13.

Just miss

Last second hopes fall short

By John Humenik

In what head coach Rick Samuels termed "the worst performance of the season," Eastern's cagers failed to mount an offensive attack and dropped a disappointing 53-52 contest to Delaware State Saturday at Lantz Gym.

Although the Panthers had two opportunities to win the game with 15 seconds remaining, Samuels cited his squad's inability to execute offensively in the first half as the key to the Panthers' defeat.

"The game wasn't lost in the last minute, it was lost in the first five minutes," Samuels said. "And I think we played as bad in the first half as we did in the second half."

Samuels, who said he believed the home contest would give his squad a much-needed confidence boost, was dejected by the lack of confidence his players showed in front of the 4000 Eastern patrons who braved bitter-cold temperatures.

"That's the worst we've played all year," Samuels said. "Our problem is we don't come ready to play and we're not alert enough to accomplish a thing."

"There was more than a hope of gaining confidence tonight, especially playing at home," Samuels added. "I must sound like a broken record to these guys telling them to establish the offense, but that was the problem exactly."

After the Hornets' William Hill (18 points) hit a 20-foot shot with 53 seconds left to give Delaware a 53-52 lead, the Panthers failed on three attempts to drive the lane and brought the ball back out to halfcourt on each occasion.

After Kevin Jones' shot with 15 seconds left bounced off the rim and out-of-bounds off Delaware, Eastern's Vincent Smelter attempted a 10-foot shot with three seconds left which also caromed off the rim as time expired.

"I'm yelling on the sidelines not to gamble with the ball, and that's what eventually happens when you can't establish your offense," Samuels said.

"There wasn't a doubt in my mind that they didn't know what to do, and we just weren't getting it done mentally," he added. "Mental attitude is our problem now, plus we need confidence."

For Eastern, 6-8, a victory would have lifted the Panthers to the .500 mark for the second time this season after marking a 3-3 record before Christmas break.

Trailing 27-21 at halftime, Eastern rallied to open the final half by outscoring the Hornets 10-4, as Warren Patten's bucket on a feed from Eddie Jones knotted the score at 31. Until that time, Eastern had trailed since 13:24 of the first half.

But Delaware fought back to open up leads of six points on three occasions and led 41-35 with 12:27 left, as the Panthers failed to establish their offense.

But behind some fine individual efforts by Leigh Hankins (18 points) and Ricky Robinson (14 points), Eastern managed to close the gap.

"We had them exactly where we wanted them late in the game," Samuels said. "We wanted to get the ball and work for a good shot, but we just couldn't establish the offense."

Patten slipped a pass to Hankins underneath with 7:09 remaining to pull within one point at 45-44, and Hankins added a charity toss when Delaware's Walter Fields drew a technical foul for hitting the back board to even the score.

Two seconds later Robinson added a pair of free throws to give Eastern its first lead since early in the first half.

Hankins added two of his 18 points and Kevin Jones chipped in a free throw to push Eastern ahead by three points, 50-47, with 4:13 remaining.

Fields hit a 10-foot jumper at 3:10 and the Hornets regained the lead 51-50 when Kurt Lorenzen missed a shot and Hill followed with a bucket from 15 feet.

With 1:17 left, Hankins drew a foul and added two tosses from the charity stripe to give the Panthers their final lead 52-51.

The Panthers' trouble started early, as Delaware used its zone defense to limit Eastern's offensive attack and added baskets with fine outside shooting. The Hornets led at one point in the first half by eight points.

"They did what I thought they would do, and we knew they were going to zone us," Samuels said. "We wanted to penetrate the gaps and get a good start, but we never did."

Despite layoff women cagers are confident about ISU-E

by Susan McCann

Eastern's women cagers are mentally and physically ready to return to action when the Panthers host Indiana State University-Evansville 5:15 p.m. Monday at Lantz Gym after poor weather conditions canceled weekend contests.

Friday's canceled game against Butler University will be played at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Lantz Gym, but Saturday's game at Illinois Central College will not be rescheduled.

The Panthers enter Monday's contest with a 7-4 record while the Eagles possess a 4-8 mark.

Panther head coach Bobbie Hilke said she is unsure what to expect from the Eagles, but "first, we want to see if they're as short as they say they are."

In a recent press release, ISU-E coach Wendy Hedberg listed her tallest player at 5 foot 9, but an Evansville roster lists players at 5 foot 10 and 5 foot 11, Hilke said.

If Evansville fields a small team, foot speed could be a major factor in the game, Hilke added.

"If they aren't very tall, they might be very quick," Hilke said. "We'll start out in a zone (defense) and see how their quickness is. We can adapt with a man-to-man defense if it's necessary."

The Panthers edged Evansville last year in what the Panther mentor described as "an extremely tough, very physical game."

Eastern led 26-25 at intermission and pulled out a 58-56 victory when Penny Berg used the game's last three seconds to get by a Cougar player in the lane and lay up the ball for the winning margin.

Following Sunday morning's practice, Hilke said her squad is both mentally and physically prepared.

"They're so ready to play, it's been hard for them to sit around," Hilke said. "Their execution looks good and the passing was good. I think we took them (ISU-E) too lightly last year, but this time I think we're ready."

Hilke said although it is difficult for any team to prepare for a specific opponent and change its strategy during the game, her team has been able to adapt.

"They've been mentally able to switch their thinking. It's nice to have an intelligent team that can adapt," Hilke said.
