Students facing housing crunch

By Becky Tinder

Upon returning to Eastern, students not having prior arrangements for fall housing are faced with a housing crunch on campus and off.

The majority of the students having problems locating housing on campus are male.

Housing Director Lou Hencken said Thursday that an unusually high enrollment of male students this fall has resulted in the conversion of a women's residence hall to a co-ed one.

McKinney Hall, which houses approximately 150 students, was converted from an all female hall to a co-ed hall in April, allowing room for about 75 males.

Hencken said about 200 more male students returned housing applications this year than last year, while applications from females decreased by about 100.

Assistant Housing Director Mary Smith said the housing office started out the summer with about 1,000 students on the waiting list for housing assignments.

The number of students on the waiting list is consistent with previous years, she said. "Our basic problem is an overflow of males."

Hencken said the lounges in the residence halls are being used for temporary housing as has been done in the past. "I'm confident that the people living in the lounges will be placed in regular rooms by the spring semester," he added.

In addition, some area apartment managers confirmed the shortage of student housing in Charleston for the fall semester.

Jan Jantzen, manager of Pine Tree and Lincolnwood apartments, said all her apartments were occupied, while at this time last year she was 94 percent full.

"Last year our male to female ratio was 3 to 1 and this year it's closer to half and half," Jantzen said. "I have had a lot of males in looking recently, though."

Marita Slavik, office assistant at Regency apartments, said that at one time, Regency had about 50 students on their waiting list.

"Many have already found housing and right now it's mainly males still looking," she added.

The Lincoln Land Motel has been offering a monthly rate to students for years, Manager Ruth Straith said. "It's been about normal for us this year, although there has been a lot more interest and all from males," Straith noted.

Many students have turned to the local realtors for aid in locating housing.

Jerry Bennett, partner in Eli Sidwell Associates, said, "There's been quite a rush in here in the last 60 days and in my opinion, there's been more males."

"It's extremely tight this year, in fact, tighter than we've seen it in four or five years," he added.

Winnett to fill vacant council seat

by Sharon Bray

After much compromising and rearranging, Charleston businessman John Winnett has been appointed to fill a vacant city commissioner's seat.

Winnett, whose appointment was approved 3-1 at an Aug. 9 special meeting of the Charleston City Council, fills the seat left by the July 12 resignation of former Finance Commissioner Jim Wickham.

Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer said Winnett, president of Winnett Plumbing and Heating, is now the public property commissioner, while former Public Property Commissioner John Beusch becomes the new finance commissioner.

Public Health and Safety Commissioner Olga Durham voted against the Winnett appointment.

Durham said, "We had to do a lot of compromising and rearranging of duties to accommodate Winnett's appointment."

She added that she did not think it was fair to rearrange the council positions to accommodate Winnett.

Beusch continues to be in charge of maintenance and community development, even though they were previously under the public property commissioner's duties, Durham said.

She added that she is now in charge of water quality and control of the upper reservoir, which was previously controlled by the public property commissioner.

Pfeiffer said Beusch, who originally was not in favor of appointing Winnett, agreed to the appointment after he was offered the finance commissioner's job.

"There was a question as to where we would place him (Winnett). No one had the idea of John Beusch becoming finance commissioner, even John Beusch," he said.

Streets and Public Improvements Commissioner Wayne Lanman said Pfeiffer approached him and asked him if he would be interested in the finance commissioner's job.

Lanman said he declined the offer, because there were too many street projects that he is involved with.

Lanman added that he suggested to Pfeiffer that Beusch might be a good candidate for finance commissioner because of the $750,000 economic rehabilitation grant recently received by the city.

"Beusch is familiar with the grant, and there's a lot of money involved with that. He would have had to work closely with the finance commissioner on that anyway," Lanman said.

Pfeiffer said the council met four or five times to discuss the candidates before a decision was made.

Pfeiffer said Winnett, who was selected out of nine candidates, (see WINNETT, page 11)

Presidential candidates' interviews set

by Sheila Billerbeck

A schedule of interviews has been established for the final eight Eastern presidential candidates who will be visiting campus during August and September.

Jeffrey Lynch, campus advisory search committee chairman, said the interview schedule is designed for hourly conferences, enabling candidates to meet with as many people possible.

"I'd like to think the schedule is structured to get as many campus constituents involved as possible," Lynch said. "I don't think we left anyone out."

Beginning Monday morning, the first candidate Walter Jones, vice-chancellor for academic affairs at University of Maryland Baltimore County, will meet with Vice President for Administration and Finance George Miller, department chairs and the Council of University Administrators.

After lunch, Jones will meet with Margaret Soderberg, associate vice president for academic affairs, faculty and the local news media.

Jones' day will conclude with a tour of the president's home and an Eastern alumni reception.

The following day will be utilized for meetings with the Council on Academic Affairs, Faculty Senate, Council of Deans, civil service workers, student government and the campus advisory search committee.

The additional seven candidates will follow the same time schedule both days "if all goes according to plans," Lynch said.

Other candidates include James Horner, president, Central Missouri State University; Robert Leestamper, former president of Southeast Missouri State; Thomas Porter, executive officer for academic affairs, Connecticut State University; and Eastern's Acting President Stanley Rives.

Additional candidates are Donald Schwartz, chancellor, University of Colorado, Colorado Springs; Hugh Thompson, chancellor, Indiana University at Kokomo; and Paul Weller, vice president of academic affairs, California State Poly, at Pomona.

Solidarity leader surrenders

GDANSK, Poland—Poland's Communist regime scored a double victory over Solidarity Tuesday. One of the five leaders of the union underground announced his surrender, and a slowdown at the Lenin Shipyards apparently failed.

The government put Wladyslaw Hardek, one of the five members of Solidarity's "temporary coordinating commission" and the outlawed independent union's Krakow region chief, on television to read a prepared statement.

He said he recognized the futility of further clandestine action and surrendered Monday night to accept the government amnesty announced July 22.

Hardek is the first member of Solidarity's underground command to come out of hiding.

At the giant, 17,000-worker shipyard, a spokesman for the managers, Stanislaw Czernielewski, said work was "going very well, we have no complaints," despite the call by local Solidarity underground for a slowdown.

Southern states fry in heat wave

A record heat wave that killed at least 15 people as it spread southward from the Midwest broiled Dixie again Tuesday, burning crops, closing schools and sending old people to cool shelters.

Relief organizations handed out hundreds of air conditioners and fans to the needy and elderly in such cities as Chattanooga, Tenn. and Louisville, Ky., where the mercury topped 100 degrees for three consecutive days.

Many schools in states such as Kentucky, Tennessee and North and South Carolina either closed or began half-day schedules because classrooms were not air conditioned.

New temperature marks were set or tied in a dozen states Monday, from Mississippi to the Carolinas. The current Dixie heat which began Saturday, has broken daily records in up to 40 cities.

By early afternoon Tuesday, temperatures were back into the 100s across parts of Carolina, Georgia and Tennessee, with Atlanta, Ga., on the road to another record with a high of 104 degrees.

Illinois Bell reaches agreement

CHICAGO(AP)—Illinois Bell Telephone Co. reached "handshake agreements" Tuesday with union locals representing 13,650 maintenance and installation workers, and company officials said the workers would be back on the job Tuesday night.

The company reached a tentative agreement with five locals of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, asking workers to return for shifts beginning 11 p.m. Tuesday.

Residential telephone installation, which became backlogged during the strike, is expected to return to normal by the end of the week, commercial installation by the following week, Bell officials said.

FY '85 budget needs may be filled by IBHE

by Denise Skowron and Crystal Schrof

With the approval of the Illinois Board of Higher Education, Eastern could receive a 14.6 percent increase in their fiscal year 1985 budget.

In July, the Board of Governors approved a $37 million fiscal year 1985 budget for Eastern. Eastern's fiscal year 1984 budget is $32.2 million.

Eastern's Acting President Stanley Rives said the budget will go before the IBHE in December. Following IBHE study, the budget will go to the Illinois General Assembly and back to the BOG for final approval.

The proposed budget recommends a 10 percent faculty and staff salary increase. 6 percent is allocated to compensate for inflation, while the remaining 4 percent "catch-up" would make Eastern's faculty and staff salaries comparable to other universities.

In addition, Eastern's fiscal year 1985 budget includes $4 million in capital budget recommendations. The capital budget funds would go toward maintenance of Eastern's buildings and facilities.

Although Eastern has not made requests for new academic programs for fiscal year 1985, a total New Expanded/Improved Program Request (NEIPR) of $960,500 has been made for instructional laboratory equipment and academic program support.

The instructional staffing category, which includes funding for new faculty and staff positions, totals $368,500. The largest portion of the NEIPRs lies in the instructional laboratory equipment category, with a request of $487,000 to fund equipment for the science, technology, speech and business departments.

Academic program support, the third NEIPR category, recommends a $105,000 allocation for library materials and the faculty development program.

Eastern is also requesting $124,200 for expanded repair and maintenance improvement projects. A permanent improvement project currently facing Eastern is a leaking ceiling in the Student Services Building. The estimated repair cost is $80,000.

Schedule changes set

Students may begin making class schedule changes Wednesday.

Eastern's Assistant Registration Director David Sardella said Tuesday that students may add classes in the Union Ballroom at the time designated according to the last digit of their social security number.

In addition, any student may add a class between 1 and 4 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sardella noted.

Students may also begin dropping classes by submitting drop cards in the drop box outside the registration office in the south basement of McAfee Gym.

Once a section of a class becomes closed that section will remain closed for the rest of the day, Sardella noted.

The following list is the schedule for adding classes between 8:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Wednesday.

Boards offer opportunity to students

Help wanted

Members for Eastern student/faculty boards and committees. Need enthusiastic and responsible individuals who work well with others. Must be student. No other experience necessary.

There should not be an excuse for Eastern's numerous student/faculty boards and councils to resort to publishing classified ads to recruit members.

However, last year most students didn't take advantage of the opportunity to serve. What most students probably don't realize is that these boards and councils will give them important experience and insight about the inner workings of our university.

More than $753,000 was allocated for the 1983 fiscal year through the various boards.

The pass-fail option, credit-no credit, the new academic probation policy and establishment of year-long residence hall leases are just a few of the academic and policy decisions made last year by student and faculty members.

The major boards and councils include: University Board, Apportionment Board, Council on Academic Affairs, Council on University Planning and Budget and Union Board.

The University Board allocates funds for university events in addition to programming those events for all students and faculty.

The Apportionment Board reviews and approves funds for any student fee-funded group and also allocates emergency funding.

Editorial

The CAA determines or changes academic policy. The CAA also reviews and approves new academic majors and course requirements. All information about courses and majors in the catalog has been reviewed and approved by the CAA.

The CUPB is an advisory council which makes budget recommendations about capital improvement. All CUPB recommendations are submitted to the vice president for administration and finance.

The Union Board approves funding for services offered in the Union such as check cashing, Union station and the bowling alley.

Student representation on these boards and councils is vital. If students have no input into the boards' decisions, then their interests will not be recognized or respected.

This year, student/faculty boards have 34 vacant student positions. Students may pick up applications for positions at the student activities office in the Union addition.

This is an excellent opportunity for students to learn more about their university and gain valuable experience that could be utilized later.

And let's hope that the positions will be given the respectability they deserve, rather than a superficial, "classified" treatment.

Your turn

Letter claims Rep Crane left issues unanswered about Central America

Dear Editor:

Your newspaper failed to fully report some important issues brought up at Dan Crane's recent "town meetings" in Coles County. I presented the following comments and questions to Crane at one of those meetings:

Col. Harry Summers Jr., who teaches at the Army War College, has said, "No government should commit troops to battle without first obtaining solid public support...We failed to do that in Vietnam. And we should keep that lesson in mind before committing any large number of troops to Central America...There are fundamental limitations on the use of our military power, especially when an ally is faced with insurrectionists...Once we send our troops to fight on foreign soil, we frequently aggravate the problem instead of solving it. Our intervention becomes counterproductive."

Crane has advocated U.S. military intervention in Central America. It appears that people like him may lead us into another war, without the approval of the American people and without a Congressional declaration of war. Neither house, not even the Republican-controlled Senate, would approve a declaration of war, and he knows it.

And now he plans to take a junket to Central America, knowing beforehand what his conclusions will be—they'll be exactly the same as they are now. How can he justify taking an expensive junket down there?

Doesn't he think there should be a formal war declaration before there is further escalation by the U.S.?

Incidentally, I felt that Crane gave no direct or specific answer to either question.

Sincerely,
Allan Keith Jr.

Hey freshmen, here's your guide to surviving campus life

If you look around, you'll notice a few things; short shorts, long lines and a lot of freshmen. A lot of small, naive little freshmen.

Back when I was part of the freshmen ranks there was never a tell-all guide to living in this thriving metropolis we call Charleston. We were on our own, to wing it, to venture into the unknown. But now, being this well-conditioned junior that has failed and learned, I feel I should offer some advice to those who have yet to make fools of themselves, namely the freshmen.

- Try to act my age, not yours. When confronted by someone who is noticeably older, use the old line of B.S., "Yeah I'll be 21 in a few months."
- When carded while attempting to enter a local drinking establishment, give the gentleman your ID and try to look like you've been there before. When he says, "Your not old enough kid," just take it as a learning experience and crawl back out to the street.
- When you finally get into one of the bars, just shut up and drink. As the old saying goes, freshmen are to be seen and not heard.
- Don't even think of trying to get into Krackers; you have to be at least a sophomore to pick up anyone in a disco. All those moves take a lot of practice.
- When the bars finally close, grab some package

Personal file:

Brian Ormiston

and head on out. A rule of thumb however, don't drink in that car that you just thumbed a ride from. Charleston cops thrive on ignorance.

- Bicycles on campus are a no-no. Upperclassmen like myself carry rulers just thick enough to fit into the spokes of fast-moving bikes.
- The pictures in all those college catalogs support the myth that all college students should have backpacks. They seem to be a status symbol and will make you automatically socially acceptable. Personally, I think they only make your back sweat. But buy one anyway, Charleston needs your money.
- That blue Eastern jacket goes along the same lines as the backpack. Buy it. You are now socially accepted. When you get this vital piece of clothing home, crumple it up and throw it into a corner so it will look like your brother or sister had it before you. This jacket not only keeps you warm at football games, it identifies you to all the high school kids back home. It makes sure they know you are in college.

• When confronted with a problem with a member of the opposite sex, never trust your roommate. They usually know as much or less than you.

If you haven't figured it out yet, there isn't a lot to listen to in the form of rock-and-roll radio in this town. Here's why:

This radio station, which tapes its music, is run by people who are doing their best to try to act like they're totally hip and cool to the whole college scene. It just doesn't work.

WELH

This is our campus radio station. Your money supporting it. They play great music—all kinds—at all hours. This is assuming that they will go on the air before Thanksgiving. Their basic problem is in finding their medium—communication. I think this comes from all that loud music.

WPRF

This is really the only logical choice. It comes to us via that Hoosier state. Based in that dive of a town Terre Haute, they manage to play some rompin' stompin' rock and roll.

Country-rock group to perform in Lantz

by Beth Kenny and Don Leonard

After numerous attempts of trying to obtain "big name" concerts, the University Board has managed to land a performance from the country-rock band Alabama in September.

Booker Suggs, University Board adviser, said Eastern has always had trouble bringing in big name bands but positive results from this concert could change that.

The last big name concerts at Eastern, in late 1981, were the rock bands The Kind and Cheap Trick.

Seating problems in Lantz Gymnasium or the probability of making more money elsewhere have prevented better-known groups from performing here.

Hall and Oates turned down a bid of $25,000 to perform on March 20, 1982 because the group only performs shows five consecutive nights and the proposed date would have been a sixth consecutive performance.

The 1981 Cheap Trick concert was considered a financial failure because it did not sell-out and the University Board did not break even after paying the group.

"If the (Alabama) concert does well, it will be a real shot-in-the-arm for the University Board's concert program. When the promoters know what size of crowd we are capable of, they will be a little more willing to help us," Suggs said.

Tickets will go on sale at noon Wednesday, August 24.

Tickets can be bought Monday through Friday at the University Union Box Office, Mr. D's, Mazuma Records and Tapes and Mr. Music in Mattoon. The cost is $12.50 each and all seats are reserved.

Alabama will perform at 8 p.m. Sept. 9 in Lantz gymnasium.

Student leaders set goals for fall, spring semesters

by Vicki Vass

Creating a bimonthly financial statement for Eastern's student fee-funded groups and restructuring the student government election bylaws, are just two of the ideas student government executive officers are planning to implement this year.

Financial Vice President Gail Redeker said Tuesday that her goals this year include sending bimonthly financial statements to student fee-funded groups.

Students need to be informed where student fee money is allocated, she said.

"I want to get more efficient and show the figures and percentages of the groups' budgets," she added.

Redeker said she has been working on the financial statement plan with Union Area Head Bill Clark and Ruth Moore of the Union Business Operations office.

"I have been working with Bill on the best way to get the reports out," Redeker said.

"I want to open the door so if the student groups have fiscal problems they are not afraid to come to me," Redeker said.

In addition, Redeker said she wants to put a freeze on any student fee-funded account which has spent 45 percent of its budget by December because the groups generally require more money in the spring.

Senate Speaker Glenn Good's goals include having Student Senate sponsor a voter registration drive.

He also said he wants to call a constitutional convention to write a new constitution.

"I want to look at other schools' constitutions and maybe adopt some of their points," Good said.

Student Body President John Cole said recently he too would like to revise the student government constitution and bylaws.

Good also said his plans include restructuring the student government election by-laws.

"After the problems of last spring, this is necessary," he noted.

Good said he was referring to "problems" in last April's student government election. He added the problems allegedly included senators bringing in students to vote and election judges illegally reviewing voter lists.

"I have been working on this over the summer and will bring it up at the (Student Senate) meeting Wednesday," Good said.

The Student Senate's first meeting this semester will be at 7:30 Aug. 31 in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

Cole said that his plans for the year also include implementing new plans which would improve security on Eastern's campus.

Executive Vice President Meg Hart said she plans on reviewing each student-faculty board's bylaws and member attendance policy.

Hart said she plans on attending all the board meetings this year.

Board of Governors Representative Phil Montgomery said he plans on researching long-term solutions to funding for public higher education.

"I would like to see the ISSC (Illinois State Scholarship Commission) separated into private and public organizations," Montgomery said.

"Now it is organized so that 2 3 of the money goes to private schools when 2 3 of the students go to public schools," he noted.

"This is an imbalance of funding. It should be allocated more fairly," Montgomery added.

Turnout small in election to fill congressional seat

CHICAGO (AP)—Voters in the predominantly Democratic 1st Congressional District turned out in low numbers Tuesday for a special election to fill the Capitol Hill seat vacated by Mayor Harold Washington.

Labor leaders Charles Hayes, endorsed by Washington before last month's primary, was the overwhelming favorite in the South Side contest. The 65-year-old international vice president of the United Food & Commercial Workers Union was making his first bid for public office.

Hayes faced Republican nominee Diane Preacely, a 33-year-old community newspaper columnist.

Also on the ballot was Ed Warren, an independent candidate affiliated with the Socialist Workers Party.

The Chicago Board of Elections Commissioners predicted only about 13 percent of the 305,746 voters in the predominantly black district would cast ballots Tuesday. That's slightly less than half of the voters who turned out for the heated July 26 primary.

Board spokesman Tom Leach attributed the very low turnout Tuesday to a belief among many voters that winning the Democratic primary is tantamount to election.

"Unfortunately many of the voters in that district think it's a foregone conclusion," he said.

Hayes, confident of victory as he voted Tuesday morning, said he will urge Congress to pass emergency legislation for public works jobs.

Hayes' primary win was considered by some political observers a victory for Washington, who campaigned actively for him.

Washington's role in that campaign also rankled some of his supporters, who accused the reform-minded mayor of engaging in "boss" politics by creating his own political machine.

Rodeo to visit Charleston

by Mark Jordan

Rodeo clowns and calf-roping cowboys will be in the Charleston area this weekend to participate in a professional rodeo.

Charleston Jaycees Management Vice President John Inyart said the Jaycees-sponsored rodeo should draw 15 to 20 competitors for events such as Bramah bull riding, bronco riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, girl's barrel racing and bareback riding.

Clown acts will offer additional variety for the young, he added.

The rodeo has been approved by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association, Inyart said. "This is a professional rodeo, not just a show—they're in there for points."

Money raised from the rodeo will fund Charleston Jaycees Community Action Projects, Inyart said. Past projects include a Junior Sports Jamboree and Punt, Pass and Kick contests.

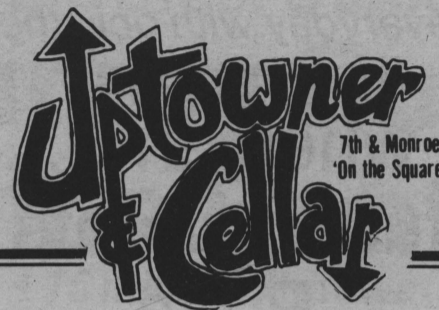

The rodeo will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday at the Coles County Fairgrounds located west of Charleston on Illinois Route 316. Tickets may be purchased in advance at area banks for $5 or at the gate for $6.

Eastern students are again adapting to college life, facing registration, new roommates and the summer heat.

Students aren't the only ones who have to adjust to college life. Area residents have to watch on as Charleston's population grows by one third.

Reagan addresses legion

SEATTLE AP—President Reagan on Tuesday likened the anti-nuclear movement, with "all its modern hype and theatrics," to Neville Chamberlain's appeasement of Adolf Hitler before World War II. "They would wage peace," he declared, "by weakening the free. That just doesn't make sense."

In a speech to the American Legion, Reagan said "the members of the real peace movement, the real peacemakers, are people like you. You understand that peace must be built on strength."

The president also said "there's a democratic revolution going on in this world. It may not grab the headlines, but it's there and it's growing. The tide of history is with the forces of freedom—and so are we."

As examples of that "democratic revolution," Reagan noted he recently met with President Abdou Diouf of Senegal, "a great man doing a great job." And he said "a similar democratic success story has just taken place in Nigeria," where presidential elections were completed last week.

Reagan, wearing a Legionnaire's cap, was applauded 16 times by the audience of 5,000. But outside the Seattle Center, a crowd chanted "no more Reagan!" And waved effigies and signs. One read: "you can't eat bombs." After a two-hour stay, Reagan headed back to California to resume an extended vacation.

Reagan denounced the "naked, external aggression" in Chad, where Libya's Col. Moammar Khadafy is backing rebel forces against the government.

"Drawing upon the nearly $10 billion worth of Soviet military equipment and munitions now in Libya, Col. Khadafy has been using Soviet-built fighters bombers, T-55 tanks and artillery in a blatant attempt to destroy a legitimate government," Reagan charged.

In Central America, Reagan said the United States was "supporting a security shield for those nations that are threatened" by Moscow and Havana.

And in the Middle East, the president said, the U.S. Marines in Lebanon, along with troops from other nations, "strengthen the resolve of the Lebanese government to assume the tough task of maintaining order."

Cops look for parachutist

CHICAGO AP—A parachutist who tried to make a moonlit landing on top of the 110-story Sears Tower and the pilot of a small plane that carried the jumper over the target were being sought by police Tuesday.

The Federal Aviation Administration wants a crack at them, too.

"The chutist broke almost every restriction in the FAA's code of regulations and the pilot did, too," said Marjorie Kritz, regional Federal Aviation Administration spokeswoman.

The skydiver, manuevering a white parachute in the moonlight, tried for the top of the world's tallest building at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, but wound up in an empty parking lot, apparently unhurt.

Waiting accomplices whisked the jumper away in a waiting car, police Sgt. William Morrin said.

Morrin said the jump "evidently was very well planned."

"They knew the area well enough to know places nearby to land in case he missed the tower," he said. "We had every car in the district looking for the chutist."

Morrin said workers on strobe lights at the crest of the tower saw the skydiver first approach the building from the east. Circling the tower, the chutist then turned and landed in the parking lot just west of the building.

Construction of Wal-Mart 'on schedule'—manager

by Sharon Bray

The construction of the Charleston Wal-Mart, next to the Eisner-Osco shopping center, is "on schedule," an official from the general contracting firm said Monday.

Mike Walker, project manager for Col Con Corp. in Sullivan, the general contractor for the project, said work on the department store is about 20 to 25 percent completed.

Construction on the project began Aug. 1. It is scheduled to be completed on or before the end of the year, Walker said.

The foundation for the 54,093-square-foot building has been laid, Walker said. He added that part of the wall also has been erected.

was chosen because of previous experience on the council.

Lanman said he also voted for Winnett because of his previous experience and because Winnett finished fifth in the balloting for commissioners in the last election.

However, Durham said, "I had people come up to me and call me and say 'anybody but him (Winnett).'"

Pfeiffer said there were "some unfair comments made about his mental capacity," but added, "he has run two businesses and served on the council before."

Durham said she felt there were other candidates that were more qualified for the position.

"The position that was open was finance commissioner. We had some very qualified people apply, including a CPA (certified public accountant)," she said.

Winnett said he served as public health and safety commissioner from 1973-76.

He said he thought he might have received the position because of his previous experience.

"I thought I had a good chance at it. I wasn't specifically applying for finance commissioner—I would have taken any job," Winnett said.

"I'm just glad it turned out this way," he added.

Because of his appointment, Winnett said his business will no longer do work for the city.

Beusch was not available for comment Tuesday.

Monday morning's rainfall did not delay the construction, Walker said.

"It actually helped us. We needed it because the ground was so hard, and that made it difficult to work with," he noted.

While Col Con Corp. is the general contractor for the project, sub-contractors have also been hired for special jobs, such as laying tile.

The money for the Wal-Mart project was raised through $1.81 million in industrial revenue bonds, which were approved by the Charleston City Council on May 17.

Fritz Steiger, director of public and government affairs for Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., said the store will have 36 departments, ranging from housewares and automotive to men's and women's clothing.

The store will employ about 75 people after it's opening, which is scheduled for January, he said.

Team tryout dates slated

Eastern baseball coach Tom McDevitt has slated a 4:30 p.m. tryout meeting Wednesday at Lantz Gym for those students interested in trying out for next spring's squad.

Last year more than 80 students were attracted to Monier Field for the first of four tryout sessions. The consecutive sessions are designed to narrow down the field of walk-on hopefuls, McDevitt said.

More than 60 percent of Eastern's baseball players have made the team as walk-on players, he said.

be carrying the ball equally."

Should Staple or Nixon be injured the Panthers have a pair of seasoned replacements in Tyrone Davis and Darryon White.

Davis, who has 617 career yards, will earn his fourth letter this year. While White rushed for 238 yards last year and notched 217 yards catching the ball.

"Tyrone's the most powerful back we have and the best on a wet field," Kuhlman said. "Because of his experience he's the No. 3 back right now and I think in short yardage situations he'll be in there quite a bit."

"Darryon is a great athlete but needs work on blocking to become a complete back," Kuhlman noted. "He has great hands and runs the screen well so he might be used more as a receiver."

Tennis tryouts set

Men's tennis tryouts are scheduled for 4:15 p.m. Monday at the Lantz courts, head coach Carl Sexton said. All students interested in joining the team as walk-ons are required to attend.

In the event of rain, Sexton has scheduled the tryout session at the Lantz fieldhouse. For additional information, Sexton may be contacted at 581-2310.

GUESS WHO HIRED MORE PEOPLE RIGHT OUT
OF COLLEGE LAST YEAR THAN ANYONE ELSE.

Hiring college grads is something the Army has always done. And lately, we've been doing a lot more of it.

In fact, last year alone nearly 7,000 college grads chose to begin their future as Army officers.

Why? Some wanted the opportunity to develop valuable leadership and management skills early in their career.

Others were impressed with the amount of responsibility we give our officers starting out. And still more liked the idea of serving their country around the world.

Interested? Then you can start preparing for the job right now, with Army ROTC.

ROTC is a college program that trains you to become an Army officer. By helping you develop your leadership and management ability.

Enrolling can benefit your immediate future, too. Through scholarships and other financial aid.

So the next time you're thinking about job possibilities, think about the one more recent college graduates chose last year than any other.

For more information, contact the Professor of Military Science on your campus.

Basketball, football season tickets on sale this week

Student season passes for Eastern football and basketball games are on sale throughout this week at the Lantz ticket window between 9 a.m. and noon and 1 p.m. and 4 p.m.

Student season tickets sold for both Eastern football and basketball home games have reached over 1000, Eastern's Athletic Promotions Director Kevin Anglin announced Tuesday.

The season ticket rate is $7 for students, which translates into about a $3 savings from regular student tickets. Currently, Eastern students pay 50 cents a ticket.

Eastern's ticket package goes into effect Sept. 17 when the Panthers host Grand Valley in their football home-opener. The Panthers conclude their home schedule at O'Brien Stadium with five additional games.

Anglin said the athletic department anticipates one of its finest student season ticket drives following this week's early sales.

Players glad coach back at the helm

by Kathy Leahy

Eastern baseball coach Tom McDevitt's original decision to take the head coaching job at Indiana University prompted several of his players to consider going with him.

"I was ready to go to Indiana with him," freshman recruit Michael Rooney said Tuesday. "McDevitt was one of the main reasons I came to Eastern in the first place."

"I know a lot of other guys felt the same way I did when they thought he was leaving," he added.

Freshman Rick Steriotti agreed, saying, "I didn't know anything about it until it was all over because I was on vacation. But I would have considered going to Indiana with him if he would have gone."

McDevitt had accepted the Indiana coaching position Friday. However, Sunday night in a telephone interview, McDevitt said he had had a change of heart and decided to remain at Eastern.

"It was hard for me to make the decision to leave Eastern and it was hard to make the decision to come back," McDevitt said Tuesday.

"It was a nice honor that they sought me out for the job," he added. "I think I could have done well there. Indiana is a first class place and whoever gets the job there will be coaching a winning team."

McDevitt said he informed Indiana of his decision to stay at Eastern on Sunday. Although they were disappointed, McDevitt said there did not appear to be any hard feelings.

"Ralph Floyd (Indiana Athletic Director) was very good about the whole thing," McDevitt said. "He was surprised and disappointed, but he is a genuine person and I did not sense any hard feelings. He took it very well."

McDevitt said he has not had a chance to meet with his players and is not sure of their reaction.

"I will meet with my players today so I won't know what their reaction is until I see them," he said.

However, if the rest of the Panther players react the way Rooney did, McDevitt should have no problems.

"Mac is a great guy and I respect him a lot," Rooney said. "I know Indiana was a great opportunity for him but I'm sure glad he's staying at Eastern."

Staple stabilizing factor in Panther offense

by Kirby Flowers

Eastern's football squad will rely on a seasoned backfield to stabilize the Panther offense, which lacks a starting quarterback.

It is fortunate the Panthers have a pair of veteran backs in AP Honorable Mention All-American Kevin Staple and a healthy Wes Nixon.

Staple currently has 2,288 career yards and needs just 348 yards to become second behind the legendary Poke Cobb on the all-time Panther rushing list.

The Panther standout has steadily improved as he led Eastern his freshman year with 576 yards, followed by a team-leading 700 yards his sophomore year and topped off by a 1,012 yard effort last season.

"Each year I get a little better," Staple said. "Last year Wes and I were a key factor in a passing offense. This year we have the experienced line and everything seems to be clicking."

"My goal is to reach 1,500 yards this season," Staple added.

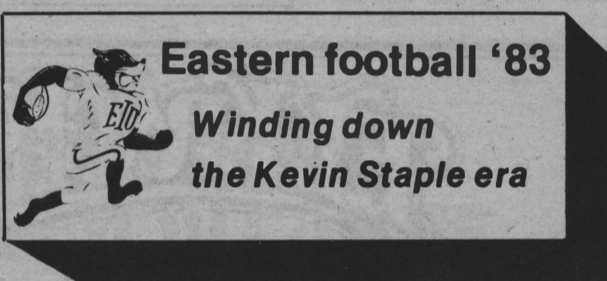

Eastern head coach Al Molde said, "Staple is a great player. He is our recognized offensive leader. We need for him to have a good year especially with our quarterback situation."

Because of the quarterback situation Molde said, "He (Staple) will have to carry a lot of the load this year. He will be the man we look to for the tough yard."

The added pressure does not bother Staple, in fact he welcomes it.

"I like the pressure," Staple said. "It makes me push myself harder and play better."

Staple's fine running skills have impressed first year backfield coach Rob Kuhlman. "Kevin can run both inside and outside and is a great open field runner," Kuhlman noted. "Plus he gets that tough yard which really impresses me."

Eastern football '83
Winding down
the Kevin Staple era

"He has that great sense of awareness of what we're trying to accomplish with our total offense," Kuhlman added.

In addition to his fine play on the field Staple possesses the ability to be the spark plug of the team.

"He is our emotional leader," Molde said. "He is the guy that gets everyone fired up."

Staple admitted, "I can't get down, especially this year since it's my last season, every game will be the last game."

Nixon, who transferred from Illinois Valley last season, will complement Staple and the Panther rushing attack. Nixon had 351 yards in the first seven games, including a 133-yard effort in Eastern's opener against Illinois State.

However, a severely injured knee during an Indiana State game sidelined Nixon for the remainder of the season. At the time of his injury he was averaging 114 all-purpose yards, one of the best in the nation.

Nixon is healthy again and eager to prove himself. "This season has really given me a chance to redeem myself after the injury last year," he said.

"I'm anxious to show everyone I was for real," Nixon added. "I've lifted hard on my legs especially my injured knee and I'm ready to play."

Nixon's recovery will be a big lift to the Panther backfield and his determination may be a major factor in Eastern's offense.

Kuhlman noted, "His knee held up this spring and he's improved his blocking so we see him as a real threat. His biggest asset is his ability to catch the ball coming out of the backfield, plus he's so quick he needs just a crack and he is gone."

"These are the best two backs I've ever been associated with," Kuhlman continued. "So both will

Elite group to be inducted into Panther Hall of Fame

by Scott Mountford

Eastern's athletic department has slated Hall of Fame inductions to be conducted prior to the football Panthers' home-opener Sept. 17.

This year's six inductions mark the second group of sports personalities recognized by Eastern, lifting the overall total to 16.

Headed for the Hall of Fame are former athletes Ruel Hall, Bill Glenn, Merv Baker, and Ray Fisher. In addition, former tennis coach Rex Darling and the late Florence McAfee, Eastern's first woman physical education department head, will be inducted.

"The committee once again did an excellent job in selecting these six people," Eastern Athletic Director

R.C. Johnson said.

"They are among the elite from all eras of Panther athletics who have contributed to the great success enjoyed by the University on its playing fields and arenas," he continued.

Hall, a 1929 graduate, attained an Eastern athletic record with 15 letters in four sports. He participated in basketball, football, baseball and track.

Glenn, a winner of 10 letters, competed in three sports, but gained the most recognition from his football career. Glenn, who graduated in 1941, joined the professional ranks as a Chicago Bears player.

This year's inductions feature three athletes with more than 10 letters each. Baker, a four-sport athlete, accumulated 13 team letters between 1936 and 1940.

Baker later became a successful prep coach, winning more than 500 basketball games. He also had hundreds of successes in other sports. He was named to the football and basketball hall of fames by the Illinois High School Association.

Fisher, a two-time all-conference defensive lineman for the Panthers between 1954 and 1957, also gained recognition as a wrestler and shot putter.

After graduation, Fisher played two years for the Pittsburgh Steelers and became one of the original members of the Dallas Cowboys in 1960.

Eastern inducts another coach to its elite group with Darling, who managed the Panther men's tennis from 1936 until his retirement in 1974.

Darling also coached during the 1936 Pan American Game trials and for the 1968 Olympic Rifle and Pistol Competition.

Rounding out Eastern's 1983 inductees is McAfee, who will be honored posthumously.

McAfee was Eastern's first administrator for women's physical education and is credited for laying the groundwork for the development of women's intercollegiate sports at Eastern.

During her years at Eastern, McAfee also developed a minor, a major and a graduate program in physical education for women before her death in March 1963.
