ICTC will add new phone features

By JEFF McCOMBS
City editor

If everything goes as planned, Eastern students are going to find it much easier and quicker to reach out and touch someone.

Four new features may soon be added to the residence hall room telephones, said Eastern Telecommunications Manager Joy Robeson.

Call-waiting, call-park, speed-call short list and ring again may soon be available to students living in the residence halls, Robeson said. A target date of Feb. 1 has been set for the new features to become available.

"We first must get administration approval," Robeson said. "We have already initiated the process."

A notice will be sent out to all students notifying them when the features will be available, how much they will cost and how to use them once all decisions have been made.

One of the delays in getting the new features added is a dilemma on how to bill the students.

"There are a lot of methods that have not been determined yet," Robeson said. "We need to decide how to handle the billing if two students are in the room and only one wants the additional features."

Robeson thought the cost of the features would be set up on an individual basis or the total package of features would be offered.

"The student who requested the features will be billed for it," Robeson said. "Then he can make arrangements internally. It would be very nice if we could figure out a way to split the cost up."

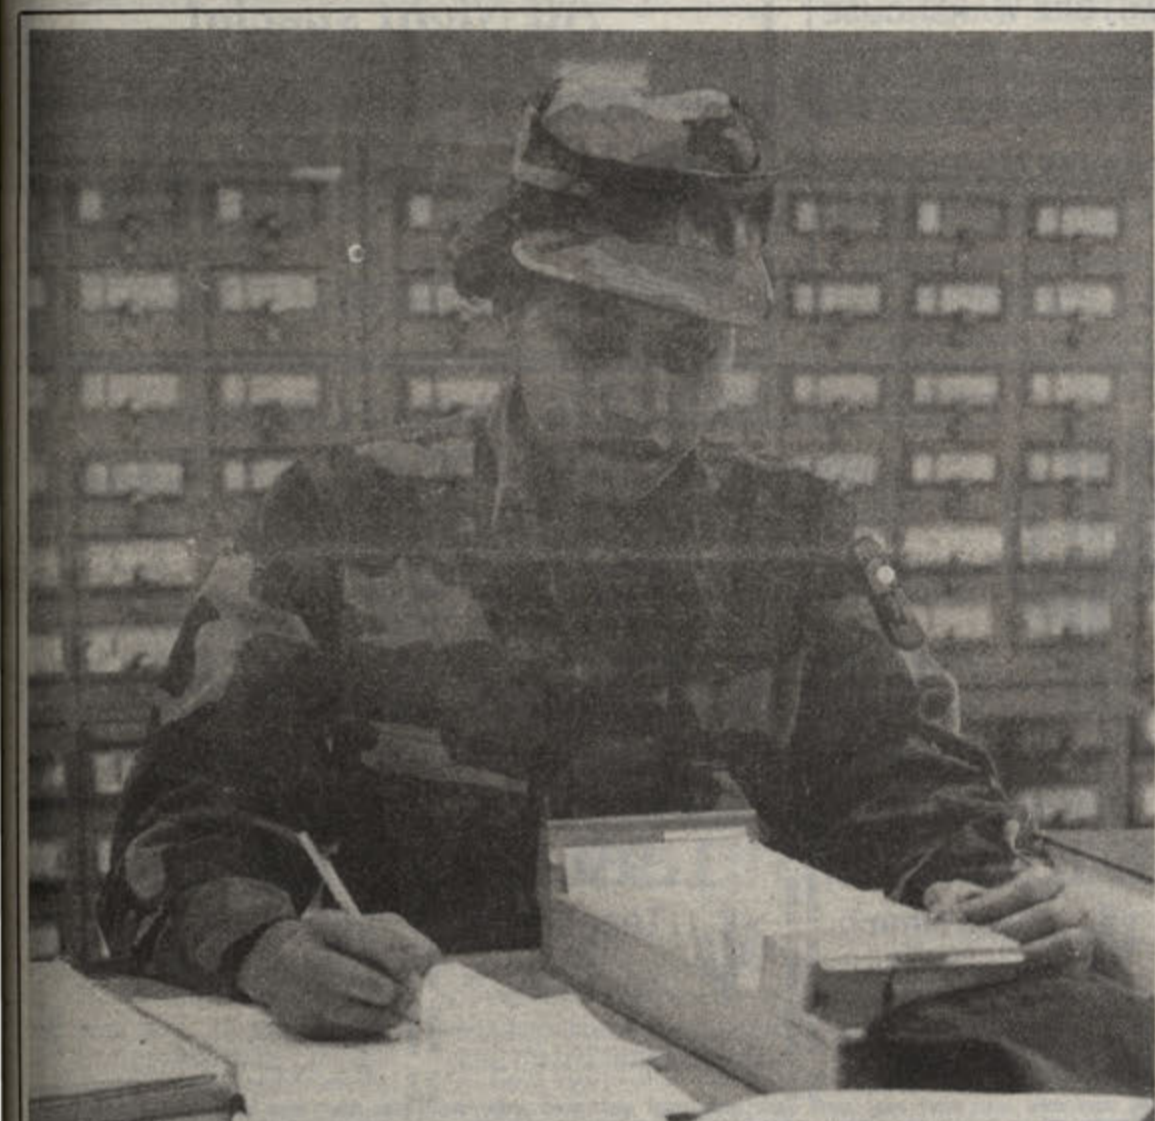

Another delay in getting the added features was the new personal identification numbers which the students now have.

"When you get a new phone system, you always have certain priorities," Robeson said. "Getting the PIN numbers straight was our first priority, which set the additional features on the back burner."

Call waiting is a feature which will allow a phone call to come in even if the phone line is busy. Call park enables a person to answer the phone in one room, put the caller on hold by dialing a special code, go to another room, dial the code again receive the call, Robeson said.

Speed calling allows a person to dial one or two numbers to call another (See ICTC, page 5)

Counselor offers suicide indicators

By MATT MAYNARD
Staff writer

In the wake of Wednesday morning's suicide, University Counseling Director Bud Sanders shed some light on the possible motives and warning signs of suicide.

Early Wednesday morning James E. Tucker, 24, of LaGrange, hanged himself after dropping his brother off at the university Tuesday. His body was found in a stairwell at Thomas Hall by a resident.

"I can't say why he (Tucker) chose the university," Sanders said. "Generally, a person will choose a familiar place, but there is much deviation from case to case."

"For many, it's simply the season that gets them depressed," Sanders said.

"Often times the holiday season does not live up to expectations. This alone or compounded with other problems can cause serious depression," Sanders said.

"There have been studies that show a correlation between long winters and high suicide rates. This is most apparent in the northern states," Sanders said.

"Depression for some is a direct symptom of SAD

(Seasonally Affective Depression)," Sanders added. "This is a case of a chemical imbalance in the brain caused by winter's lack of light. This is treatable by placing the depressed person under a special light that can correct the imbalance."

Another possible cause is more simple, though.

"Or it can be simple case of inactivity," he continued. "In the uppermost northern states where winter sports are popular there seems to be less of an instance of winter depression," Sanders said.

He added that although the depression rate rises, the suicide rate does not necessarily do so.

"There is a misconception the suicide rate goes up in the winter," said Sanders. "That is not so. The instance of depression may rise, but not suicide."

"Actual suicides peak in March and April," Sanders said. "After a person has been depressed all winter and they see others enjoying themselves in the spring warmth, they feel even more detached from others."

"Except for a very few cases, (See COUNSELOR, page 7)

Faculty divided over 'fair share' bargaining issue

By JEFF SMITH
Staff writer

Various reasons were given by two professors when asked why they were in opposition to the fair share issue, which is under discussion by the faculty union.

Fair share, also called agency shop, is a collective bargaining agreement with the Board of Governors, Eastern's governing body, requiring non-union faculty members to pay union dues. The dues paid by non-union members is usually a percentage of what a union member pays.

Professor of Marketing Wayne Chandler said he believes in the right of individuals to make their own decisions.

Chandler added he has nothing against unions, but said: "I do not feel the union has helped in salary negotiations. I believe in individual negotiation."

Chandler said if fair share is passed by the faculty union: "I will exercise my option of donating my dues to charity. It (the option) is a right specified under the National Labor Relations Act."

Mel Schnake, associate professor of management and a non-union member, said he doesn't support fair share because he is opposed to unionism in a professional environment. "I believe unions protect marginal employees and decrease the effectiveness (of employees)," Schnake said.

Schnake said unions treating every employee equally in pay hikes takes away the motivation to perform at one's best. "There's no way for administrators to award (raises) for performance," he said. "Across the board, everyone gets the same raise."

Schnake said he doesn't like non-union members being excluded from bargaining and having no vote in whether fair share is to be enacted or not, if a vote comes about. He said only a little over 50 percent of Eastern's faculty belong to the union.

Another reason Schnake cited for opposing fair share and unionism is the faculty union's influence in salary negotiations. He said the union hasn't received additional pay for the faculty.

"The amount of money in the state budget for salary increases (by the state legislature) is set already (before bargaining)," Schnake said.

Israeli police hold 10 Palestinians charged with inciting resistance

Illinois State President quits post

NORMAL—Illinois State University President Lloyd Watkins said Thursday he will leave his job at the end of August, in part because he is disenchanted with Illinois' financial commitment to higher education.

"Effective and articulate leadership in support of higher education. . . is essential," Watkins said in a statement. "Such leadership for higher education is not evident at this time. I hope it will emerge soon."

Gov. James R. Thompson said he was disappointed with Watkins' decision and said it was a poor reason to resign. But he agreed public colleges and universities need more money.

"Neither ISU nor the other colleges and universities in our higher education system will get the kind of resources they need if they all leave the field of battle," Thompson said.

Asked by reporters if Illinois' higher education institutions are being shortchanged, Thompson replied, "Absolutely, I said that last year and I'll say it again this year."

"We can't be content with present funding of education in Illinois because if we accept present funding of education in Illinois we are going to start to slip backwards," he said.

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli authorities detained 10 Palestinians in the occupied territories Thursday, apparently on suspicion of inciting resistance to Israeli rule. Seven were released later, two of them on bail.

A 30-year-old Palestinian was fatally shot at an army firing range 10 miles southeast of Bethlehem and an investigation was under way, army spokesmen said. According to U.N. figures, at least 35 Palestinians have been killed since unrest began Dec. 8 in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Palestinian Liberation Organization chief Yasser Arafat said in Baghdad he would recognize Israel's right to exist, by accepting the appropriate U.N. resolutions, if it and the United States accept PPLO participation in an international conference on Middle East peace. Arafat, in an interview with the Associated Press, also said the "uprising" in the occupied territories demonstrates the Palestinian will for an end to the occupation.

The Lebanese army delivered four Arabs expelled from the occupied territories to a Marxist faction of Palestinian guerrillas in south Lebanon.

In New York, the U.N. Security Council demanded that Israel let the four men return. The resolution passed 14-0, with the United States abstaining.

Six journalists in Arab east Jerusalem were among those rounded up Thursday, including Hanna Siniora, editor of the newspaper in Al Fair, who has called for mass civil disobedience against the Israeli occupation. The other four were doctors and lawyers.

Siniora said his detention prevented a planned meeting with U.N. envoy Murrill Goulding, who is touring the West Bank and Gaza for a report to the Security Council on the living conditions of Palestinian refugees.

Israel captured the territories where 1.5 million Palestinians live, from Jordan and Egypt during the 1967 Middle East war.

Goulding visited the Dheish refugee camp Thursday and told Mayor Elias Frei of nearby Bethlehem he was "appalled" by the conditions, the Christian Arab mayor told the Associated Press.

Students wait in the Union walkway Thursday afternoon to get into the Old Ballroom of the University Union for add/drops. Although the doors weren't scheduled to open until 1 p.m., the line started forming at 9 a.m.

Long lines add wait to add/drops

Final day to add classes to spring schedule

By BRUCE UNDERWOOD
Staff writer

By the time add/drops opened at 1 p.m. Thursday the line of anxious students stretched from outside the Union Ballroom across the Union walkway to the Grand Ballroom entrance.

Thursday's line rivaled the gathering Wednesday during the first day of add/drops.

The line for add/drops went from outside the Union Ballroom to the Union Grand Ballroom then into the Union Ballroom at 1 p.m. Thursday.

However, Registration Director Michael Taylor was pleased with the proceedings.

Taylor said that Thursday was "busy, but no real problems that I have seen."

He also estimated that the first-day crowd of Wednesday was up from a year ago.

"It looked like we had a thousand more transactions than last year," Taylor said.

As the sessions continued Thursdays, many students had varied reactions to the long line.

Chris Garbe, a sophomore in elementary education, said, in relation to past add/drops, "This is the worst ever."

Add/drops started Wednesday and the process will end Friday. The hours Friday will be from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Friday is also the last day for late registration. Late registrants must pay a $10 fee and report to the South Basement of McAfee Gym.

Guard hired to control big crowds

By JANE CLARK
Staff writer

The popularity of Hardees as a late night stopover for students has forced the restaurant to hire a security guard to help with the sometimes overwhelming crowd.

Hardees Manager Andy Money said the security guard, who started during homecoming weekend last fall, works from 11 p.m. to 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday nights or until the crowd dies down.

Money said the high sales and volume of people coming through the restaurant during these times warranted the hiring of the guard to help control the crowd, reduce vandalism and other problems which sometimes occur.

"Some of the biggest problems we have had are vandalism, such as people taking down partitions in between the booths, knocking down ceiling tiles and throwing things in the dining room," Money said.

When asked if the presence of the guard has helped reduce the number of incidents, Money said so far it has resulted in charges being filed against some individuals and the reduction of flagrant vandalism.

"The guard is there to help keep things under control and to free-up people who are working so they can do their job better," Money said. "It keeps them (employees) aware of what is going on."

Money would not release the name of the guard.

Money said he came up with the idea because he thought it would help control some of the problems occurring. Money thought the presence of a security guard would make it more pleasant for the customers.

Although the guard will work through the spring, there are no plans at this time to have him continue through the summer, Money said.

CGS will discuss grad programs, new courses

By JEFF MADSEN
Staff writer

The Council on Graduate Studies will review all 25 graduate programs at Eastern and consider two health studies course proposals when it meets 2 p.m. Tuesday, in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

CGS Chair Richard Funk said the council will review the 25 programs to determine if they need to be expanded, maintained or closely reviewed.

If the council determines a program needs to be expanded or reviewed, the council will make a recommendation to the Board of Governors, Eastern's governing body.

"There will be probably no more than four or five programs that will get any kind of recommendation at all," Funk said.

"If a program is reviewed, we analyze the enrollment trends and evaluate the cost of the program relative to the cost of similar programs across Illinois," he said.

The CGS will also consider two course proposals from the health studies department. The courses deal with chemical dependency and DUI offenses.

Kathy Doyle, the originator of the courses, said the chemical dependency course, (HST 4810) is titled "Community Resources and Chemical Dependency," and focuses on how students can heighten awareness of available resources within a community to relate to chemical dependency.

"It's really an appropriate course for anyone who is seeking a job that in some way relates to chemical dependency," said Doyle, an assistant professor of health education.

The second course proposal, "DUI; the Legal Issues," (HST 4820), deals with remedial education for individual DUI offenders.

"The course will cover alcohol issues and will train the students to make professional assessments for DUI offenders going through remedial training," Doyle said, adding, "It will also cover the legal issues of DUI's, especially with all the new laws and regulations that have been established."

Both courses are scheduled to begin in the Spring term of 1989.

Speed limits reduced to 55

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Drivers will be required to slow down to 55 mph on six portions of Illinois interstate highway because of a federal order restricting use 65 mph speed limits, officials said Thursday.

Beginning Tuesday, the speed limit will be lowered on interstates near East St. Louis, Springfield, Bloomington, Peoria, Kankakee and the Quad Cities, state Transportation Secretary Greg Baise said.

Baise and State Police Director Jeremy Margolis also released statistics indicating the traffic death rate on Illinois interstate highways didn't change significantly after the speed limit was raised last year.

The lower speed limit in the six urban areas was ordered after the Federal Highway Administration issued a definition of rural interstates eligible for the 65 mph limit. That made the Illinois highways ineligible, Baise said.

"The federal rules are the rules," he said, adding that Illinois will have to spend $15,000 to change the signs.

A 55 mph limit has been in effect on interstates in the Chicago metropolitan area and on stretches of Interstate 55 near Springfield, Interstate 55-70 near East St. Louis and Interstate 80 near the Quad cities, DOT officials said.

Baise released statistics showing that in the past eight months of 1987, when the 65 mph limit was in effect, the traffic death rate on rural interstates was slightly lower than in the same period in 1986, when the 55 mph limit was still in effect.

State unveils King statue

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The life-sized statue of Martin Luther King Jr. unveiled Thursday makes him the first non-Illinoisan to be honored with a permanent memorial on Statehouse grounds, Gov. James R. Thompson said.

"I suspect no other ever will," Thompson said at a ceremony in the Capitol rotunda on the eve of King's Jan. 15th birthday. A state holiday Monday also honors the slain civil-rights leader.

"Martin Luther King crossed the line from being simply a black person who took up a cause advocating for black persons, and advocated for all of us those qualities that we as people must possess," the governor said.

The 5-foot-9-inch, 300 pound bronze statue depicts King in short sleeves with an open collar and loosened tie, carrying a jacket over his left shoulder.

The work was inspired by King's landmark, "I have a dream" speech and by a quote from a poem by Robert Frost about having "promises to keep and miles to go before I sleep," said the sculptor, Beraldine McCullough, Rosary College art professor.

Illinois became the first state to recognize King's birthday with a holiday in 1973, Thompson reminded a crowd of 300 people, including about 50 school children.

Stiffer penalties on drunk drivers clear the roads

Illinois drunk driving laws are tough on offenders and seem to keep getting tougher each year.

This year, the state enacted a new law which will help keep repeat dangerous motorists off of the roads. The penalties, which went into effect Jan. 1, are called "enhancement" penalties.

They increase the severity of the penalty for drivers who repeatedly threaten lives on Illinois roads.

Until this year, Illinois had no increased penalties for drivers who are continuously dangerous. This new law stiffens the consequences for anyone who twice is convicted of driving drunk, leaving the scene of an accident, wreckless homicide, or hit and run. The new penalties would also apply to anyone caught once committing any two of those offenses.

Drunk driving is one step shy of being considered a felony in Illinois. First-time offenders face a year in jail and a $1,000 fine. In addition they must undergo an evaluation and treatment at their own expense. More customarily, first offenders are fined between $400 and $500 and placed on mandatory two years driving supervision.

First-time offenders are a nuisance at least and a life-threatening hazard at worst. Repeat drunk drivers, however, pose a more severe risk.

Those strictly selfish intoxicated motorists will know that if they repeat their drunk-driving escapades, law requires they lose driving privileges for three years in addition to risking the same penalties for first-time offenders.

The deterrent effect of the stiffer law alone should make drivers think about paying the consequences of a second offense.

And to the benefit of other travelers, the repeat drunk driver will be forbidden from driving for at least three years. Third-time drunk drivers lose their driving privileges for six years.

Drunk drivers pose a threat both to themselves and others along Illinois' roadways. The more state lawmakers and judges try to clear drunks from the highways, the safer they will be.

Letter policy

The Daily Eastern News welcomes letters to the editor from any reader addressing issues relating to the campus community.

Educators should consult Plato, Milton

It has become increasingly apparent that no one up there at Old Main has any notion of what constitutes a good, thorough liberal education. I have some idea on how to improve the core curriculum at this learning institution that did not fit the asinine survey that some "task force" committee assembled. Instead of polling the narrow, unenlightened intellects of 19- and 20-year-olds whose only idea of education involves getting a degree to get a job, why not poll great minds like those of Plato and John Milton. Their writings will inform you that history, language, literature aesthetics, the hard sciences, mathematics and philosophy should form the core of every university degree.

How is it that you have attained your most laudable positions at this institution without having a grasp of this seemingly a priori knowledge?

Stop catering to the wishes of those whose minds are better suited to the curriculum of a trade school rather than a university. Pattern yourselves on the institutions that created the greatest minds of the past, not on the latest trend toward mediocrity, fostered by "laid back" attitudes.

Your concerns should be centered around those students who wish to stretch their intellectual capacities to the limit, not around those who wish to hone theirs down to fit some job description. It is your responsibility to shape minds that can think and develop ideas, not ones that are only capable of collecting data and plugging it into a formula.

We come here for an education under the assumption that you have at your disposal, knowledge that we do not. Don't ask the students what they want; tell them what they need. Take a stand!

Viewpoint:

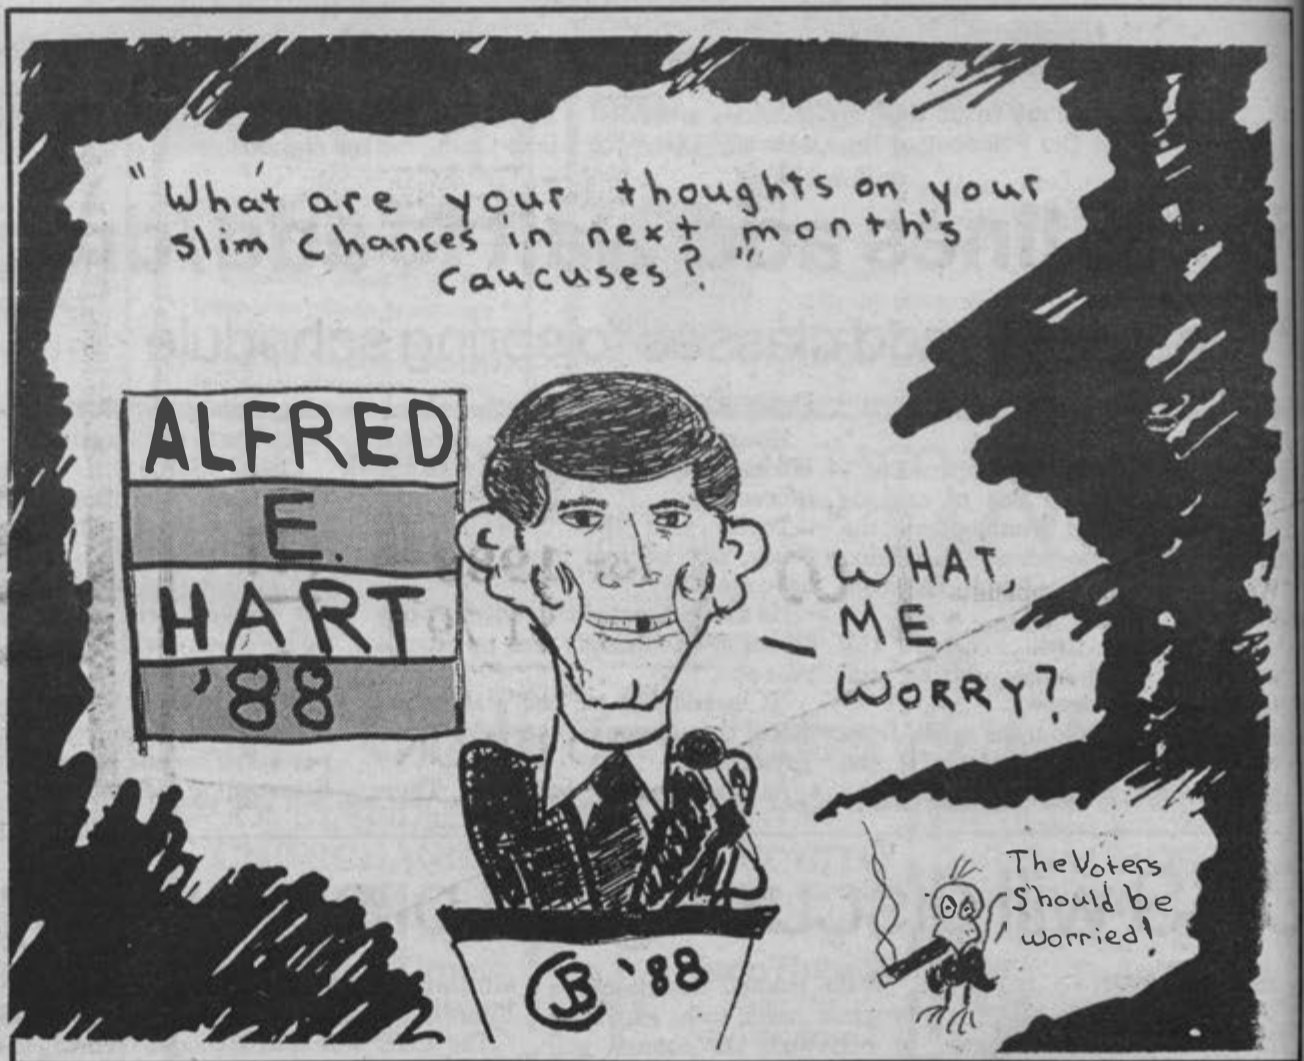

Daniel LeClaire

I realize that you are all caught up in the execution of the business of the university. But I assume the "excellence" you are striving for is academic, not political or financial. In that case form an idea of what education is about and create a core that will best facilitate that end. You don't even have to poll anyone to figure out what that core will include—four years of the subjects I've outlined in this letter will suffice.

That may sound like a difficult regimen, but quality comes at a price, and time in a classroom is hardly a high price to pay.

These changes are sure to be unpopular. Nevertheless, "excellence" demands them, and so does everyone who values education. However, if making Eastern into a fine learning institution is not your first priority or your true objective, then drop the phony slogan, dissolve the mindless committees that waste everyone's time and money and seat someone in that castle who has his or her priorities in order and an idea of what a college education is all about

Clinical Services to receive elevator for handicapped

By RANA WOODSON
Staff writer

An elevator is currently under construction in the Clinical Services Building.

Communication Disorders Chair Jill Nilsen said the elevator was needed specifically for patients unable to walk.

"The elevator is being constructed for the non-ambulatory who are unable climb the stairs to get their hearing and speech checked," Nilsen said.

The $93,000 Build Illinois Fund, a state appropriation fund, is enabling the completion of the elevator. Completion of the elevator is scheduled for mid-March.

After asking for the elevator for many years, Eastern was finally able to receive one. Construction on the elevator began during Christmas vacation.

"The (Clinical Services) building was built in the early '60s," Nilsen said. "They had planned to build an elevator, but the funds ran out and it was never completed.

"I expect the elevator to be used quite heavily," Nilsen said.

person.

Finally, if a person calls someone and the line is busy, the caller may hang up and once the number called becomes available, the caller's phone rings.

Previously, one phone bill was sent to a residence hall room. The roommates then had to determine which calls they made and figure their bill accordingly.

Now each student is billed individually.

"We have had no complaints about the new system," Robeson said. "Sometimes the PIN's don't work right, but they are easy to fix."

Students may think they can beat the system by randomly dialing possible PIN numbers, hoping to connect into someone's number. Robeson, however, says it is easy to track down anyone trying to do this.

A computer prints out the number every time a PIN is dialed making it possible to determine if someone is hacking, Robeson said.

"It alerts them (students) that mother is watching," Robeson said. "It is possible to do, but it is very easy to stop."

One factor some students do not like is when they find out their PIN number has been disconnected.

If students do not pay their phone bill, their PIN number is disconnected. Reconnection costs an additional $25, Robeson said.

"We have had some disconnected, but it has not been a major problem," Robeson said. "They (students) get real upset about the reconnection charge. If they know they cannot pay on time, they should make arrangements with ICTC (Illinois Consolidated Telephone Company). If arrangements are made with them, their number will not be disconnected."

Verge guides students to local bars

By JOHN PLETZ
Verge editor

With the beginning of a new semester at hand, many students may find themselves with a lot of free time during their first weekend back to school.

And for those students who want to spend their free time at the local bars, The Verge has compiled a handy guide to Charleston's watering holes.

If you are looking for something close to campus, Marty's, Jerry's, The Panther Lounge, Ike's Little Campus and E.L. Kracker's are all within one block from Old Main.

•Marty's—Located across from Stevenson Tower at 1444 Fourth St., Marty's has a "friendly, mixed variety of a crowd," said manager Loren Peacock.

"It's people looking to spend time playing games and socializing, and we get a food crowd with our daily lunch specials," Peacock said.

"We get a lot of people. If you just want to stop by and have a beer, you don't have to mess with the hassle of driving."

Marty's grill is also open for lunch and dinner Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

•Jerry's—On the corner of Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue, Jerry's is also close for those living on campus.

"It's definitely the place to be right now," said Joe Podnar, manager of Jerry's. "There are plenty of people to meet because it's close to campus. We don't believe in making people wait; we give them service."

Jerry's Pizza, upstairs from the bar, also offers pizza and Italian food from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 11 to 1 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

•The Panther Lounge—Located behind the University Village, Panther's offers a large facility for pool players.

"A lot of people come here to play pool," said bartender Joe Johnson. "We have plenty of pool tables, so there's not a lot of wait."

"Some nights it's quiet where you can take a date and some nights it's really crowded where you can meet new people," he added.

Ike's—A small, cozy bar in the University Village across from Old Main on Lincoln Ave., Ike's "is a place to meet friends," said bartender Robert Olson.

"It's a friendly atmosphere. (Ike's) is a bar to sit down in," Olson added.

Ike's also has a grill for lunch open from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday.

E.L. Kracker's—For those who like to dance, E.L. Kracker's, 1405 Fourth St., has an 800-square-foot dance floor.

"The dance floor brings in the women," said co-owner Jim Severson. "It brings in people who want to dance."

"The dance floor gives you a chance to do something instead of just standing around drinking. It's a good place to meet people."

For those students with vehicles or those who don't mind a little longer walk from campus, there are several bars near the square uptown and in various places along the way.

My Place—Between campus and the square, My Place Lounge, 727 Seventh St., is a place for students and townspeople alike, said co-owner Jack Muscott.

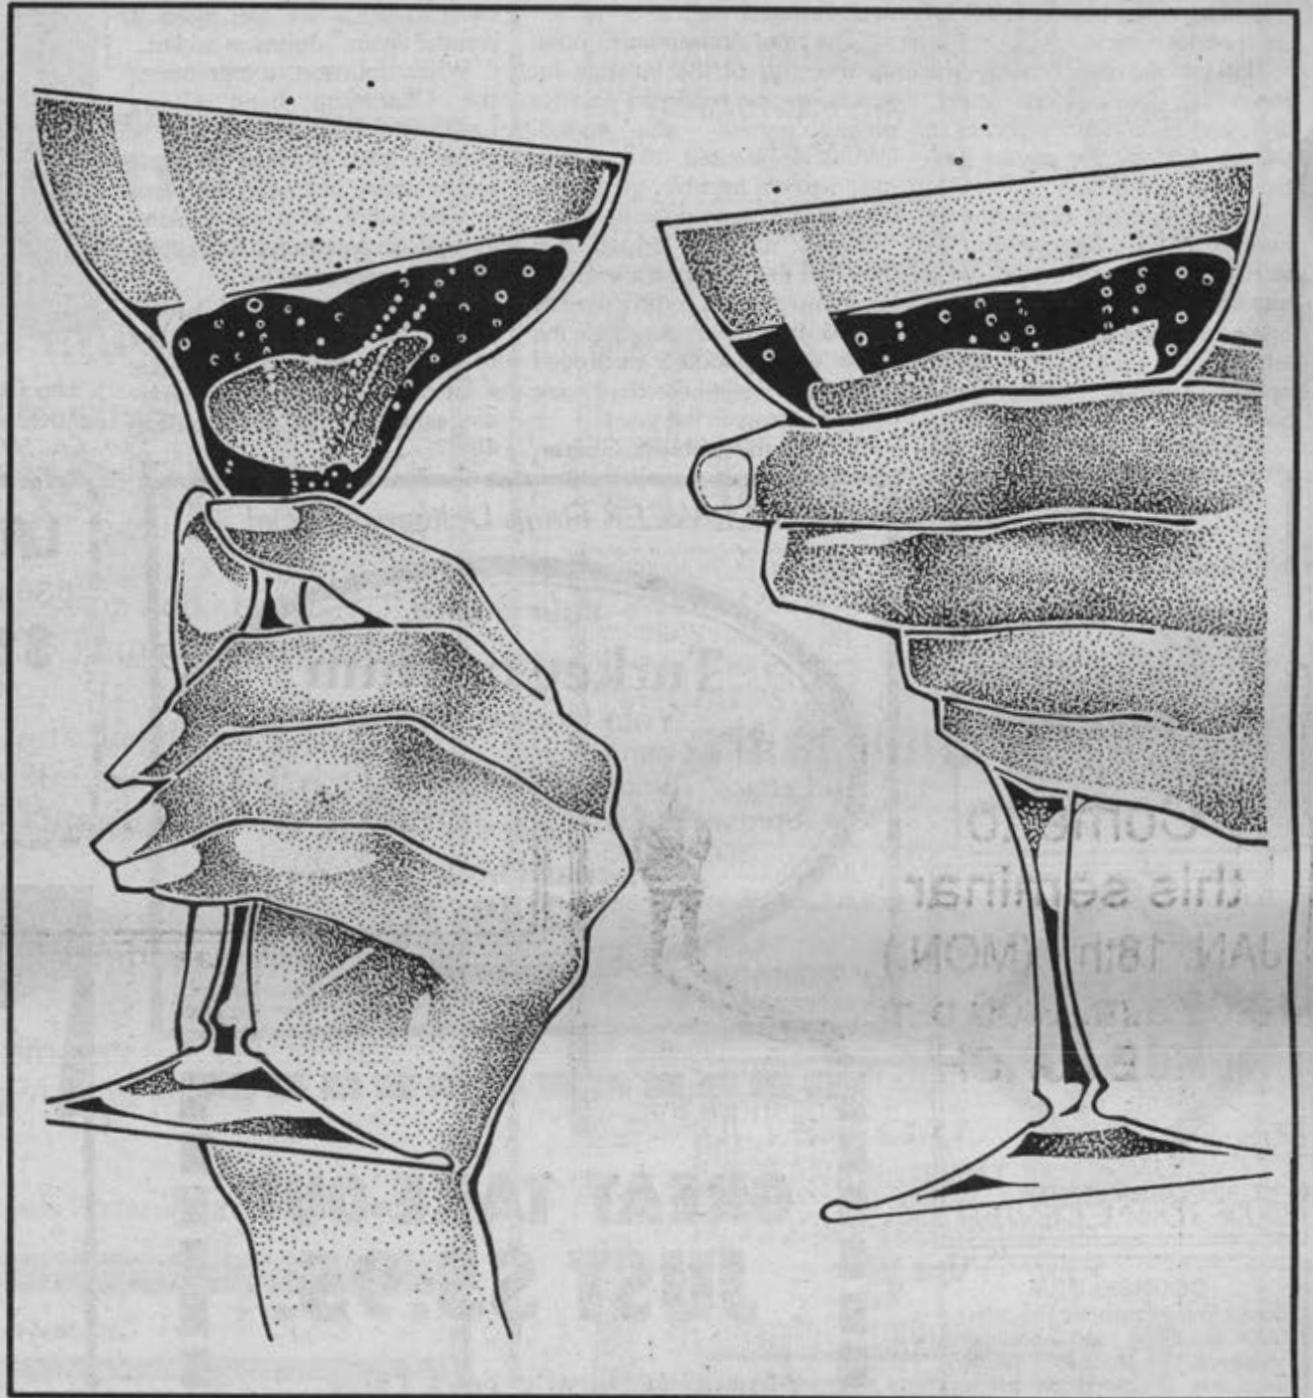

"We have a prime location close to the college," Muscott said. "We have a clean, friendly atmosphere and we have some daily specials. We also have live entertainment on Tuesdays and Thursdays."

The Uptowner & the Cellar—On the square at 623 Monroe St., The Uptowner "is more of a laid-back atmosphere," said manager Bud Bauer.

"We have over 30 imported beers, a nice wine list and all the cordials. And we have good lunches," he added. "I think we have an older, more mature crowd where you can be yourself."

The Uptowner also serves lunch daily from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

In the downstairs counterpart to the Uptowner, The Cellar, offers a smaller, "coffee-house" atmosphere and is open Thursday through Saturday. The Cellar also hosts "Open Stage" every other Thursday night, featuring ing live, vaudeville-style entertainment.

Page One Tavern—Just around the block at 410 Sixth St., Page One offers plenty of room to party with three separate barrooms and a disc jockey several nights a week, said manager Guy Towles.

"It's kind of old and cozy," Towles added. "The biggest thing about it is it has three different rooms, and we have three bars. It's easy to get a drink."

Thirsty's—Also on Sixth Street is Thirsty's bar, where "the college students and townspeople come to meet," said manager Larry Kabrick.

"We have live entertainment on Wednesday and Saturday night from Top-40 to blues," Kabrick said. "We like to cater to real people who don't look at you for what you are, not who you are."

Mother's—On the West side of the square is Mother's at 506 Monroe St., where "there's always a lot of people," said manager Bill Caubre.

"I think that if people really want to meet people, there's always a lot of people here. We always have a disc jockey. I think the music is a positive thing."

"Physically, (the building) is older. There's a feeling of warmth—the combination of the wood and bricks and the lighting," Caubre added.

Mike and Stan's Stable—Next door to Mother's, 504 Monroe, is Mike and Stan's, formerly known as Chink's, where "people come to drink," said manager Dave Loch.

"Most of the time this is a place to come where no one will bother you, and you don't have to fight the crowds," Loch added.

"It's the most unique place I've ever worked at as far as the combination of college kids and townspeople."

Friend's & Co.—Southwest of the square at 509 Van Buren St., Friend's & Co. offers "a quiet atmosphere" in its front room as well as a new annex in the back for live entertainment.

"In the front room we have a quiet atmosphere where you can enjoy yourself and enjoy the people that you're with," said owner Dave Gherardini. "It's kind of an old-fashioned, local bar."

On the other hand, Gherardini said the rear section is "for when you want to shuck the week and have a good time listening to music and dancing."

Friend's also features grilled food from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. every night.

Ted's Warehouse—Just four blocks north of the square at 102 N. Sixth St., Ted's Warehouse features live entertainment every weekend and a disc jockey on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

"People come here primarily for entertainment, whether it's live or not," said owner Ted Bertuca. "The size is also a factor, we've got a pretty big place."

"We have a lot to offer as far as drink specials, entertainment, pool tables and pinball machines," he added. "It's a friendly place where people can come down and have a good time."

Boomer's with a Twist—Another bar featuring live entertainment is Boomer's, 506 W. Lincoln Ave.

"I think we have one of the nicer bars in Charleston as far as decor," said manager Gary Bassett. "And we try to provide entertainment every weekend."

"We do more with the older students than the younger students," he added. "It's a good place to bring a date and talk—that's probably the biggest part of our clientele."

Friend's & Co. christens addition with bands

By JOHN PLETZ
Verge editor

Friend's & Co. bar, 509 Van Buren St., will christen its newest addition with live entertainment this weekend, said owner Dave Gherardini.

"Revolver," a Chicago-based band playing alternative, post-punk music, will play from 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Friday, said David Johnson, who is in charge of booking entertainment for the new room.

"The 4 Million," from Iowa City, Iowa, will perform psychedelic contemporary music from 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday. The cover charge is $2 for each performance.

"I'm looking at it primarily as a room for live entertainment, and, any night that it's vacant, it will be available for private parties," Gherardini said.

"We're going to open one or two nights on the weekend to start out with, and maybe we'll have some type of promotion one other night of the week," he added. "I'm looking at it being open Thursday, Friday and Saturday."

Gherardini, who bought the building which houses Friend's in 1985, said the completion of the yet unnamed addition also marks the completion of a personal project. He said he will take suggestions for a name from customers for the next couple of weeks before choosing one.

"When we saw the building, the reason it appealed to us is that we could open it in phases," said Dave's wife, Mary Gherardini.

"The first phase was to open the front in an antique, by-gone feeling. The second phase would be to open up the back where you could dance and open it up to big groups.

"The third phase was to open up this part of the building for bands on the weekend and for private parties," she added. "What we wanted, in the long run, was to be able to choose what kind of evening you want."

Mary's husband added that they had tried to book live entertainment for a room directly behind the main bar, but the music was so loud it destroyed the quiet atmosphere they were trying to create in the front.

To solve the problem, Gherar-dini decided to put the musical entertainment in the northwest corner of the building with a separate room between the main bar and the live music.

"(Before) you couldn't have a rock band and have people that wanted to spend a quiet evening (at the same time)," he said.

The new room is also a personal project for Johnson, a Charleston resident and former Eastern student, who has been searching for an alternative to top 40 and heavy metal musical entertainment.

"The band scene in this town needs some life—a kick in the chest to see if we can make it breathe again," Johnson added.

When Johnson, a member of the Charleston band Gypsy Law, could no longer find a place to play or listen to alternative music last year, he went to Gherardini, who was looking to establish a place for alternative entertainment at his bar.

"You see a lot of D.J.'s playing the top 40 stuff, and I'd like to see some jazz and blues—just a lot of different stuff," Gherardini said. "I'm not down on top 40."

RHA cancels meeting

Executive members of the Residence Hall Association decided at a special meeting on Tuesday to postpone the regular weekly meeting until Jan. 21.

Lynnette Woods, RHA national communications program chair, said the executives discussed upcoming meetings and events at the Tuesday meeting.

RHA will hold a meeting for anyone interested in working with the upcoming Cultural Awareness Week program scheduled for March 6-10, at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the Union Walkway, Woods said. The event is designed to show students the different culture represented on campus.

Persons interested in attending the Illinois Residence Hall Association Conference February 19-21 at Western Illinois University will meet at 7 p.m. on January 21 in the Alumni Lounge.

It is impossible to pinpoint the cause of a suicide. Each case is situational," Sanders said.

On Feb. 23 Sanders will be conducting a clinic called "Depression is Blue."

In it he will be discussing symptoms, signs, and treatment of depression.

"The signs that someone is contemplating suicide are more apparent than some think," Sanders said.

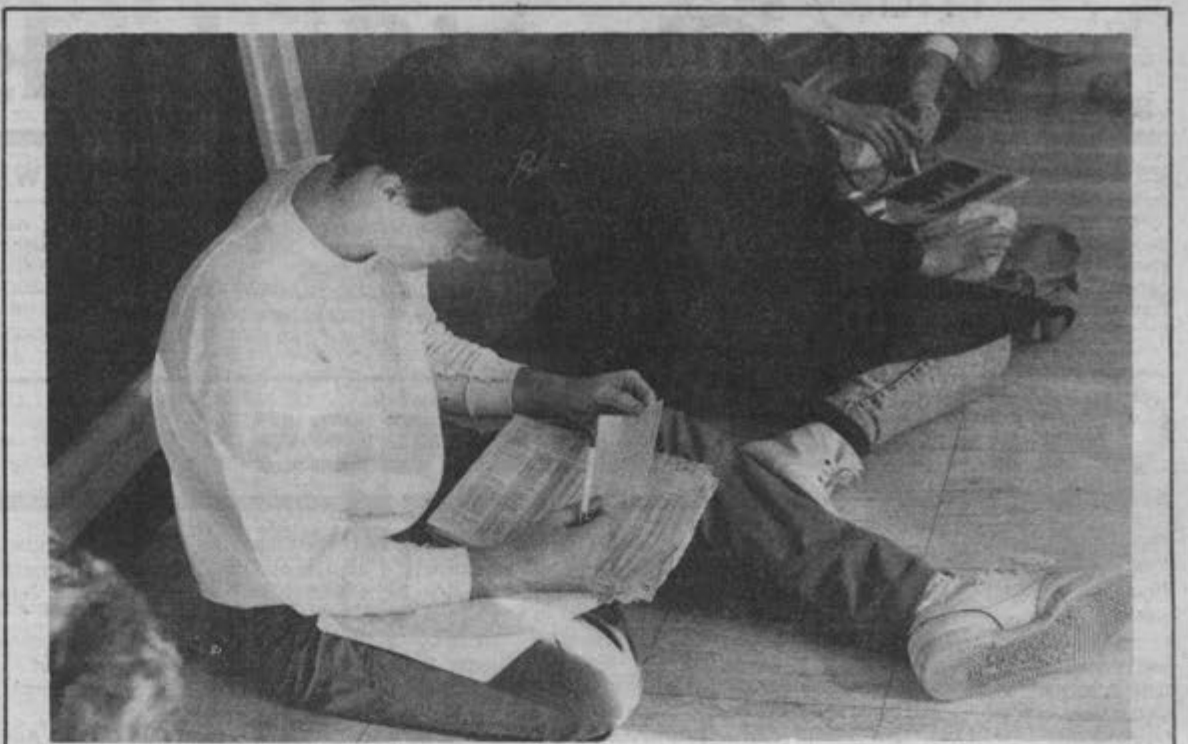

There may be change in eating and sleeping habits, withdrawal, and statements of helplessness and hopelessness. The red flag is the giving away of valued possessions," Sanders said.

"Most importantly don't treat depression with a depressant—namely alcohol. It's like pouring water on a drowning person," Sanders said.

In the Tucker suicide case, the results of a blood test will not be known until late next week, according to Coles County Coroner Dick Lynch. An autopsy was not performed.

The specific cause of death is expected to be decided later this month by a coroner's jury in Charleston, according to the Coles County Coroner's office.

Admission To Teacher Education

Admission to the University does not itself admit a student to a teacher education program. The student must formally apply for admission to a teacher education program. The student must formally apply for admission to Teacher Education at a meeting scheduled each semester by the College of Education. At this meeting, application forms are distributed and the rules and regulations pertaining to admission to and retention in Teacher Education are explained.

Students who are now entering a teacher preparation program should attend one of the following meetings to apply for Admission to Teacher Education:

Monday, January 25, 1988, from 3-4 p.m.; or Tuesday, January 26, 1988, from 3-4 p.m.

These meetings will be held in the Buzzard Building Auditorium.

You must be admitted to Teacher Education prior to the semester in which you plan to Student Teach.

If you can not attend either of these meetings, please come to Room 210, Buzzard Building, before Tuesday, January 26, 1988. The next opportunity to apply will be Summer Semester, 1988.

Swim teams return to action with home meets

By BRENT FEENEY
Staff writer

Both the Eastern men's and women's swimming teams will see their first action since Christmas break as they compete in home meets this weekend at Lantz Pool.

The tankers meet the University of Evansville Friday at 3 p.m. and Vincennes (Ind.) University Saturday at 1 p.m. in dual competitions.

Both teams are coming off a very successful showing at the Indianapolis Invitational: the men won the meet and the women finished fourth of eight teams.

It was a meet Coach Ray Padovan had anxiously awaited since the start of the season.

"We pointed to this meet at the start of the season," Padovan said. "We did very well, and I was very happy with the performances."

Each squad has already competed at Vincennes this season, with the men winning and the women falling to Vincennes.

During the holiday break, the swimmers trained in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Padovan is hopeful of success both this weekend and the second half of the season.

"It's the start of our second season," Padovan said. "It'll be the competitive part of the schedule, and I really hope that everyone will be able to swim well."

For the men, senior Tim Schnittker (butterfly and individual medley), sophomore John Ryan (breaststroke, individual medley and middle- and long-distance freestyle) and senior Mark Brandt (butterfly and individual medley) have been the top performers, according to Padovan.

The women's team features freshman

Stacey Peterson (breaststroke), Carolyn Guditis (freestyle), freshman Michelle Stopper (freestyle) and sophomore Curvey (backstroke and freestyle). Padovan is also getting some swimmers who will be eligible second semester. "It should make team a bit more solid," Padovan said of his new additions.

Following this weekend's petition, the women tanked at Illinois State at home Jan. 21, 7 p.m. The men will then host Bradley Jan. 22, at 4 p.m.

Men's track season opens

By BILL LOOBY
Staff writer

Nationally-ranked senior Jim Maton will lead Eastern's men's track team into Saturday's season-opening meet at 1 p.m. in Lantz Fieldhouse against Northeast Missouri and Parkland College.

Maton was ranked seventh in the nation in the 800-meter run in the January issue of Track & Field News. The two-time All-American from Shelbyville placed second in the 800-meter run at the 1987 NCAA Division I Indoor Championships and was also last year's AMCU Conference Indoor MVP.

Maton has also qualified for the Olympic trials to be held in Indianapolis in July.

"Jim is the most outstanding athlete I have ever coached," said Eastern Coach Neil Moore.

Maton will go to special meets, but will be pulled out of the lineup in others "so not to push him too hard," Moore said.

However, in more critical meet such as the conference championships, Maton will be compete in several different races.

Yet Moore said the tremendous success of Eastern's track program was because of a team effort, not one individual.

Moore also credited junior sprinter Ian Isaacs and senior decathlete Darren Barber for their outstanding contributions to the team's success.

Lady harriers to open season

By PHIL CHAPARRO
Staff writer

The Eastern women's track team opens its indoor season at 1 p.m. Saturday against Indiana State at Lantz Fieldhouse.

Coach John Craft, entering his ninth season at Eastern, will be assisted by graduate assistant Andrea Spaulding. This year's squad features 23 members with only six returning lettermen from last year's team.

Even with a young team, Craft said he and Spaulding believe this group can make some good things happen. However, the coaching staff is still unsure about many positions.

Craft said the dual meet against Indiana State will be an excellent opportunity for a lot of the women help the coaches fill the spots in question.

The head coach added that, with a good performance, the women can solidify positions in their respective events.

Peoria fan's hockey puck causes car dealer dispute

PEORIA (AP)—A dispute over a stuck puck has ended a contest that awards a new auto to fans who can make a goal between periods at Peoria Rivermen hockey games.

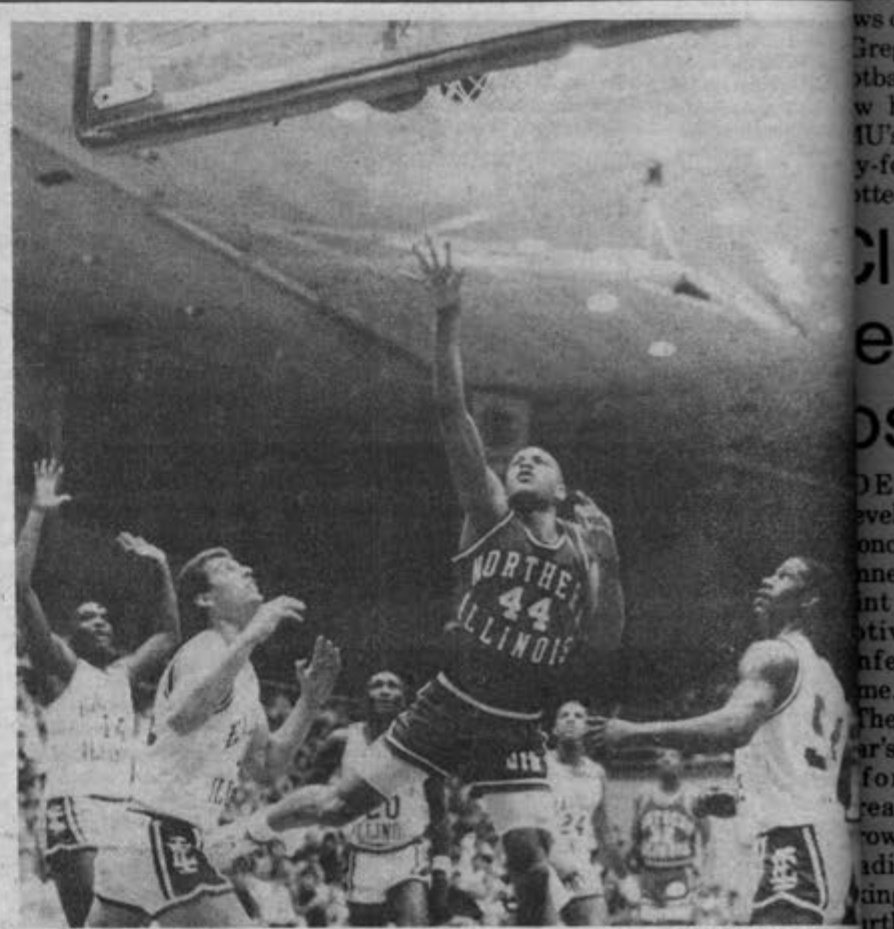

But Tom McCormack, the man whose shot started the debate, will get use of a free car for a limited time and tickets to all remaining games.

University Ford has "decided to stop participating in the shootout for the remainder of the season," Scott Wilson, Riverman business manager said Wednesday night.

The promotion, which started last season, called for Rivermen fans to slap a hockey puck through a tiny hole and win a new car.

On Dec. 29, McCormack, 41, was called out of the stands. He fired puck into a three-inch wide hole cut into a board.

SMU names new grid coach

DALLAS (AP)—Forrest Gregg left his head coaching job with the Green Bay Packers and returned to his alma mater Thursday to start anew the scandal-rocked football program at Southern Methodist.

"It's a distinct honor for us at SMU today to announce the selection and appointment of our new head football coach Forrest Gregg," SMU Athletic Director Doug Single said at a news conference.

Gregg, who was the SMU football team's captain in 1955, now has the job of restoring SMU's program tainted in a pay-for-play scandal that blotted out the school's 1987 and 1988 seasons.

"I am really pleased to be home," said Gregg, who has never coached college football, but took the Cincinnati Bengals to the Super Bowl. "I've been doing a lot of things in the National Football League for a long time and I always thought that somewhere along the line... that I'd like to be here."

Gregg was expected to get a four-year contract with a one-year option at SMU's choice, and was expected to take a two-thirds pay cut from the $300,000 salary he was going to earn with the Packers this year.

SMU originally offered the job to Colorado Coach Bill McCartney, who, at first, accepted but then declined. Former Ohio State Coach Earle Bruce and high school coach Tim Edwards of L.D. Bell were other top candidates.

The Mustangs have not had a coach since Bobby Collins left the school along with the Athletic Director Bob Hitch after disclosure of improper payments to SMU football players were made public during the 1986 season.

The team, slapped with the NCAA's so-called "death penalty," won't resume playing until the 1989 season.

Cleveland remembers loss in '87

DENVER (AP) The Cleveland Browns and Denver Broncos, the AFC's biggest winners the last two years, want to specific losses as their motivation for Sunday's conference championship game.

The Browns remember last year's AFC Championship, before nearly 80,000 screaming, dog biscuit-throwing fans in Cleveland Stadium. They remember making a 20-13 lead in the fourth quarter, then pinning Denver on its 2-yard line. They remember The Drive, engineered masterfully by Brian Ely, to the tying touchdown. And Rich Karlis' overtime field goal to win it.

The Broncos recall their first Super Bowl appearance in nine years. They recall leading 10-9 at halftime but having blown it away another 10 points. They recall how the Giants blew them out in the second half for a 39-20 victory.

Neither team can forget. Neither team wants to forget. "We got to this point last year and we didn't get the chance to take that extra step," Cleveland's Ozzie Newsome said. "But this time, we want that extra step, we're not satisfied just being in the championship game."

But they are happy to be there and not intimidated by having to play at Mile High Stadium, where the Broncos have lost only one non-strike game in two years.

"It's a great stadium," Browns Coach Marty Schotzheimer said. "I played there back when it held about 50,000 people, and they wore those vertically striped socks. I don't think the noise is anything unusual, not like playing in a dome."

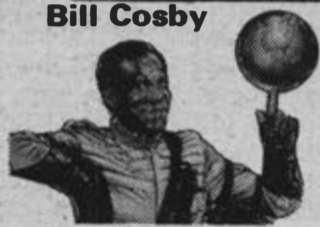

"I would say that on the basis of the best record in the AFC, the two best teams are in it this year and were last year. It was a great football game last year, you didn't care who won, and I expect it'll be another great game again this year."

The Broncos certainly thought last year's game was great; they won it. Then came the Super Bowl disaster.

"The Super Bowl is the ultimate loss," Elway said.

Eastern to face UIC at home

By DAVID LINDQUIST
Staff writer

Eastern's men's basketball team will open their AMCU-8 conference schedule at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon against Illinois-Chicago in Lantz Gym.

While the Panthers boast an 8-4 record, UIC is struggling with a 4-10 mark. But memories of the Panthers' 1986-87 AMCU start are still fresh in the mind of Eastern Coach Rick Samuels.

"There is no reason to look past UIC," Samuels said. "We got bumped pretty good last year in our conference opener and it was Illinois-Chicago who did it."

The Flames drubbed Eastern 89-69 in that contest, starting the Panthers on a long and disappointing road in the AMCU, where they finished seventh with a 3-11 league record.

However, things are looking brighter for Eastern this season; the Panthers have knocked off non-conference foes Wisconsin, Southern Illinois, and Northern Illinois while compiling a perfect 7-0 home record.

One factor that has contributed to the Panthers' recent success is the unexpected scoring and rebounding lifts provided by center Vince Macciocchi and forward Mark Fowler.

Macciocchi and Fowler both scored in double figures and were the Panthers' leading rebounders against Eastern's last two opponents, St. Louis and Northern Illinois.

"We've really tried to emphasize their scoring punch in our offense," Samuels said of the two 6-7 juniors.

But Eastern's frontcourt duo will have its hands full Saturday with the Flames' leading scorer, center Nathan Chambers, who is averaging 16.4 points and 8.4 rebounds per game spot.

Saturday's 3 p.m. tip-off marks a rare afternoon start for the Panthers at Lantz

Eastern will be in conference action again Monday night at Cleveland State, the league's pre-season favorite.

Because the Vikings have appealed the NCAA's sanctions levied Dec. 9, 1987 for alleged recruiting violations, Cleveland State will compete in league play this season.

Lady Panthers on weekend road trip

By BARRY BOTTINO
Sports editor

Eastern's Lady Panther basketball team will take its 5-0 Gateway Conference record to the road this weekend when it travels south to face league opponents in Missouri and Kansas.

The Panthers will play the first game against Southwest Missouri Friday at 1:30 p.m. in Springfield, Mo., before traveling to Wichita, Kan. on Sunday to face Wichita State Shockers at 1 p.m.

Going into weekend action, Eastern is alone on top of the Gateway as the only unbeaten team in the league following Illinois State's 65-56 loss at Indiana State Wednesday night.

The Redbirds are now 6-1 in conference play.

Coach Barbara Hilke's troops are off to their best start ever in the Gateway, and have a 9-3 record overall. The Panthers also own a five-game winning streak.

"We're pleased with the quick start, but there's still a lot of conference games left yet," Hilke said.

"The secret to doing well in the Gateway is to win on the road, so these games are going to be real crucial," Hilke added. "Every game on the road is very important to us because everybody's home record is pretty good."

Although Eastern Wichita St. in both of year's regular season meets the Lady Panthers split Southwest Missouri. The Bears won 80-69 in Springfield while Eastern posted a win in Lantz Gym.

The Lady Panthers' seven players average between 12.3 and 6.8 points per game, including junior forward Lisa Tyler (11.1), sophomore guard Perkes (11.0), senior forward Ann Brown (7.5), freshman forward Stacy Frierdich (6.9) and sophomore center Laura Mull (6.8).

"That's the beauty of our team," said Hilke. "We have to rely on one individual. Everybody is contributing probably have more depth than we've had."

The key to both Southwest Missouri and Wichita St. is the inside game, however. Lady Bears are led in scoring and rebounding by 6-1 forward Kelly Mago (16.5) and 9.4 rebounds per game while the Shockers' offensive punch comes from 6-1 center Dawna Weber (11.1 ppg).

Wrestlers prepared for competition with Miami

By BRENT FEENEY
Staff writer

Eastern's wrestling team will also take to the road Saturday as it travels to Oxford, Ohio, for a 1 p.m. match against the Miami (Ohio) Redskins of the Mid-American Conference.

The grapplers are coming off of a third-place finish at last weekend's Redbird Duals at Illinois State, and Coach Ralph McCausland is hoping his team, which is 4-2 in dual meets this season, can keep its momentum going.

"We're moving into the heart of our schedule," McCausland said. "It's going to get tougher and tougher from here on."

"What we would like to do is keep progressing until we get to the (NCAA Western) regionals (scheduled for March 4-5 at South Bend, Ind.)."

The Panthers defeated the Redskins one year ago at the 1987 Redbird Duals, but "(Miami) had several redshirt wrestlers," McCausland said. "I think that they'll be a much stronger team."

McCausland's starting lineup against the Redskins has junior Craig Sterr leading off at 118 pounds, followed by sophomore Craig Campbell at 126.

Freshman Ray Serbick will wrestle at 134 pounds while freshman David Marlow will get the nod at 142.

Freshman Bob Johnson will compete at 150 pounds followed by senior Chris Simcox at 158. Senior Herb Teverbaugh will take to the mats in the 167-pound class while junior Marty Molina will bid at 177. Freshman Mike Birt starts at 190, and junior Copache Tyler rounds out the lineup at heavyweight.

The four freshmen in the lineup have pleased McCausland so far this season. "They've really come through for us," McCausland said. "It's very pleasing to see, and we'll be all right. We just have to put our opponents away quickly as we can."

McCausland is also emphasizing what he calls the release of his wrestlers' abilities.

Horner signs deal with Cardinals

ST. LOUIS (AP) Free-agent Bob Horner, rejecting a much more lucrative offer to play again in Japan, joined the St. Louis Cardinals on Thursday and promised to help fill the power gap left by Jack Clark's departure.

"I know he's a great player," Horner said at a news conference. "But I've had a lot expected of me in the past and I've met those challenges ... I know I can help this ballclub."

Cardinals General Manager Dal Maxvill said Horner signed a one-year contract. Terms call for a base salary of $950,000 with various incentives enabling him to make up to another $500,000.

"There would have been no trouble signing back with Japan," Horner said. "It would have taken just one phone call. Financially, I turned down a lot of money to play in the states. But I'm satisfied and happy to be back in the states playing ball. That's what I wanted to do."

Horner made $1.8 million with the Atlanta Braves for the 1986 season, the last covered under a four-year $5.1 million contract. After turning down a three-year $4.5 million offer from Atlanta, and failing to find a job with another big league team in a tight free-agent market, he signed with Yakult.

Yakult had offered Horner $3 million for 1988 and $10 million total in a multi-year pact. Last season, he batted .327 with 31 homers and 73 runs batted in.
