Lantz audience enters Skelton's living room

by Betsey Guzior

"Since there are still people waiting to be seated here tonight, instead of starting at 8 o'clock, could we start at 8:01?"

Sure Red, you can start anytime. People clad in everything from chiffon gowns to blue jeans filtered into Lantz Gymnasium Saturday to watch comedian Red Skelton's performance.

An over-sold crowd in Lantz also witnessed the antics of Gertrude and Hecliff, Clem Kadiddlehopper, and Junior, some of the more famous characters created by Skelton.

Skelton—America's clown on radio, television and stage for more than 40 years—toddled, mimed and joked to the crowd as part of Parents' Weekend entertainment.

He had the face of a clown—minus the rubber nose, the white-face and the silly hair. His very expression changed as he went from one character to another—whether it be the baby Junior, the two seagulls Gertrude and Hecliff, or a drunken announcer for Guzzler's gin.

When he smiled as Red Skelton, though, the sincerity of the man was there. He is a dedicated man, working and enjoying it. And it showed.

Skelton spoke to the audience in such a personal manner, it was like being home on a Tuesday night, in front of the black-and-white TV, fighting for the good chair.

His rapport with both his 17-piece orchestra and the Parents' Weekend crowd was personal, considerate and kind.

"I got a joke for you—finally!"

Sure Red, you got a lot of jokes for us.

Quips about Charleston, children and mobile homes rolled off his tongue like a roller coaster ride.

He broke up the audience and his act with the kind of jokes you have often heard before, but never laughed at.

His jokes reached out to a number of life's comedies and tragedies, like discovering that the United States is uphill after buying a Winnebago, and coping with a wife who burns everything.

"Don't go 'I just heard one lousy joke.' I got a thousand of them!"

Using little props—an old brown felt derby, a table, chair and a handkerchief—Skelton transformed himself into a Greek waiter, an Italian fisherman, a new father and a vacuum cleaner salesman as part of his series of mime acts.

His mimes were smooth as silk, taking the audience from a lake to a small classroom in Vincennes, Ind., with a turn of his hat.

"Gettin' tired?"

We should be asking you, Red.

He performed non-stop for two hours, never taking a break from his comedic antics, but occasionally pausing to converse with the audience. We were in his living room, he said, and he wanted to be a good host.

"Thank you very much—both of you."

He said he wanted to make us laugh, to think of one of his jokes when we were down, and to feel better—to fulfill the purpose of the clown. And the two standing ovations indicated that indeed, he fulfilled his purpose Saturday.

"Thank you—and may God Bless."

Thank you, Red. You made us feel good.

BOG official favors limited accessibility

by Sue Ann Minor

With budget cuts in the forecast for higher education, an administrator from one Board of Governor University cited one option as a way to help universities save money—only make a few schools completely accessible to the handicapped.

Western Illinois University President Leslie Malpass said he more or less just thought of the idea at the Nov. 29 BOG meeting at Starved Rock State Park.

"I ventured the opinion from our experience at Western," he said. "Only two students are in wheelchairs and I recognize relatively few students at other schools in wheelchairs."

Malpass said that although the idea of making only a few universities accessible to the handicapped just occurred to him, he plans to pursue the thought.

Eastern has two wheelchaired students and one faculty member.

"My purpose was to raise questions among BOG universities to see if it is possible within the state (to only make a few universities accessible)," he said. "If it's a Federal government requirement, I know we couldn't."

BOG Director Donald Walters said there are currently federal statues and regulations outlining what schools are supposed to do to be accessible to the handicapped.

He said that there are also general regulations governing to provide special equipment for the handicapped.

As far as the federal government possibly reducing its requirements for the handicapped, Walters said, "I don't really see any evidence at all of the federal government getting more involved than they are."

If anything, he said he thought the government would begin de-regulating how the states handle accessibility.

"Reagan has said he wants out of the business of regulating the state's business," Walters said.

"Dr. Malpass' ideas deserve recognition and further discussion," he said, but there are several matters to be considered.

Walters said it would be difficult to (see BOG, page 10)

GPA standards increased for graduate students

by Jennifer Soule

Due to the number of current graduate assistants with low grade point averages, the Council on Graduate Studies recently voted to increase the required GPA from 2.5 to 2.75.

Graduate School Dean Larry Williams said the proposal is official and will now be sent to Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin for his action. Williams added that the recommendation was made to him from Vice President for Academic Affairs Stan Dine-

"Since the suggestion came from the vice president's office," Williams said, "I assume the president will also agree with it."

Currently, there are 35 graduate assistants with a GPA lower than 2.75, and 33 students with a GPA lower than 3.0.

Williams said the figures represent more students with lower GPA's than a year ago.

Williams added that the average GPA for undergraduates has increased to 2.75 and that the average GPA for GPA should also increase.

"The council feels that students seeking graduate assistantships should be required to have a GPA of at least 2.75," Williams said.

Under the proposed requirements however, departments would be allowed to appeal admittance decisions for students with GPA's under 2.75.

"Some students may excel in their more recent years after receiving a low GPA previously, which may not bring their average up to the requirement,"

Controversy continues over Illinois district remapping

WASHINGTON—The plan to redraw U.S. House district lines in Illinois supposedly authored by political "elder statesman" Richard B. Ogilvie and Michael J. Howlett actually was a product of Capital Hill horse-trading, interviews with congressmen and others indicate.

Rep. Edward Madigan, R-Lincoln, acknowledges that he and his administrative assistant, Chuck Hilty, wrote the downstate portion of the map and turned it in to the staff of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee on instructions from Rep. Edward Derwinski, R-Flossmoor.

Derwinski, top-ranked committee Republican, says he "might have" asked one of the panel's GOP staffers, census expert George Omas, to help in the preparation of the map. Moreover, Ogilvie says both Derwinski and Ways and Means Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Chicago, approved the plan before it was submitted to a panel of three federal judges who will have the last word on the state's upcoming congressional reapportionment.

There are indications that the map was in existence months before it was offered in federal court by Ogilvie, a former Republican governor of Illinois, and Howlett, a former Illinois secretary of state. Madigan and Ogilvie agree that the downstate congressman took the first steps in bringing Ogilvie into the picture only a week before the plan was put before the judges on Oct. 29.

Theologian asks Catholics to get answers from Cody

CHICAGO—The Rev. Hans Kung, a theologian often at odds with the Vatican, is urging liberal Roman Catholics to press Cardinal John Cody for a public accounting in response to allegations that he misused church funds.

Kung on Saturday endorsed an "open letter" to Cody from a group of 27 prominent Catholic activists in Chicago. The letter calls for Cody to respond "honestly, promptly and publicly" to questions about his handling of church money.

A federal grand jury is investigating allegations that Cody, 73, diverted up to $1 million in church funds to a longtime friend, Helen Dolan Wilson.

Cody has denied the allegations, saying that he has been "falsely accused." He has not issued a detailed response.

At a fund-raiser Saturday night for the Chicago Call to Action, a liberal Catholic group, the Swiss-born Kung called the allegations against Cody a "crisis" but said it would be unfair for him to make any judgement about the matter.

He also said more participation is needed by laymen in Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Chicago, the nation's largest.

Scotland Yard still seeking murderer after seven years

LONDON—Scotland Yard is still hunting for Lord John "Lucky" Lucan, a wealthy aristocrat wanted for the murder seven years ago of his children's nanny in one of England's most sensational crime stories.

Lady Veronica Lucan, 44, said in a television interview last week she believes her husband is alive and living in South America.

But former Detective Chief Supt. Roy Ransom, the Yard officer who led the dragnet for Lucan until his retirement three years ago, said, "I believe he's dead."

The handsome seventh Earl of Lucan is the great-grandson of the man who carried the orders that sent the Light Brigade charging into extinction in 1854 during the Crimean War.

London police say they have received scores of reports of sightings from Australia to South America since Lucan disappeared on Nov. 8, 1974, leaving behind a blood-stained car.

Under British law, starting at midnight Sunday, a court could officially declare the 46-year-old peer dead since he's been missing seven years. The family has not requested a formal ruling.

Northwestern sets record for most losses in Big Ten

EVANSTON, ILL.—Northwestern's Wildcats, living up to the chanting "We're the worst, we're the worst," absorbed their 29th straight football loss Saturday to establish an NCAA record among major colleges. They did it in the style of a loser by falling before Michigan State 61-14 in a game in which the Spartans led 14-0 at the half.

When it was over, the fans did what any other fans would do for a team setting a record—they tore down the south goal post, carried it to the east bleachers and tossed it over the top.

"I don't feel very good," said first-year Coach Dennis Green. "We were outmatched the entire game."

The 29 straight losses since a 27-22 victory over Wyoming in the second game of the 1979 season erased the previous record of 28 set by Kansas State in 1948 and equalled by Virginia.

Northwestern also has lost 33 straight in the Big Ten and has to finish the season against Ohio state and Illinois with little hope of breaking the streak this year.

Majority of students use Hardee's food coupons

by Amy Iglehart

More than half the students who received discount food coupons for use at Hardee's in the University Union Panther Lair each Sunday have turned in the coupons for food since the coupons were issued, a Residence Hall Association official said Sunday.

RHA president, Mary Tracy, said 404 students out of 720 who received coupons have used them.

Hardee's manager Dave Pettee said Hardee's has had a 4.4 percent increase in total sales over the past month, and a 4 percent increase in Sunday sales, but added that company policy does not permit him to release actual sales figures.

The idea to offer coupons to students in residence halls was devised by RHA and Hardee's earlier this semester to provide a Sunday evening meal which residence hall food services do not offer.

The coupons, which have been offered to individual halls or small group of hall residents on a trial basis, allow students to purchase a sandwich, fries, and drink at half price.

The first coupons took effect Oct. 18 and since then coupons have been distributed to various halls.

Tracy said "about 40 percent" of the students from Lincoln-Stevenson-Douglas had used their coupons by Nov. 1.

Students who used the coupons Oct. 24 said they came to Hardee's as a result of the half-price offer.

Dan Downs, a freshman resident of Douglas Hall, said he comes to Hardee's to study. He added, "I wouldn't have ordered as much if not for the coupons."

Karen Grudzien, a junior from Stevenson Tower, said she likes the idea of self-service at Hardee's.

Nancy Balmes, a junior from Stevenson, said she had never eaten at Hardee's before Sunday's discount offer.

"I will probably come back to Hardee's," Balmes said.

Cindy Hlinka, a junior resident of Stevenson also said she had never been to Hardee's before Sunday.

"It was really good tonight," she said.

Pettee said plans have been made for next semester's specials at Hardee's, but added the plans are still tentative and he did not wish to explain them further at this time. He said surveys distributed when coupons are redeemed are one way to use student input to determine future programs.

Series of culture seminars set

by Mike Nolan

A series of seminars designed to help Eastern faculty, staff and students to better understand different cultures will be held Tuesday, Robert Barger, associate professor of secondary education and foundations, said Friday.

The seminars, which begin at 9:30 a.m. in the University Union, will enable faculty, staff and students to better understand how a person of another culture, such as an Indian or Hispanic culture, attempts to relate to a culture he cannot understand, Barger said.

"This country has been mono-cultural rather than multi-cultural," Barger said. Minority groups in this country have been forced to conform to a WASP (White Anglo-Saxon Protestant) culture, he added.

Barger said the "melting pot" theory (in which various cultures adopt American culture and customs and drop many of their native customs) must give way to a belief where cultures have the right to preserve their cultural traits rather than surrender them for American culture.

Many state agencies and accrediting boards require universities to give support to cultural pluralism in academic programs and student support programs, Barger said.

Faculty members from Illinois State and Northeastern Illinois universities and other state universities and members of various state agencies will conduct workshops and discussions concerning multicultural education, Barger said.

Faculty members will have an opportunity to understand different cultures and how to cooperate with them in the educational process, Barger said.

"Staff persons working in university offices must be able to work and help persons of different cultural backgrounds," Barger said.

By having an understanding of another person's point of view and how he tries to interact with American culture, an environment develops which is more conducive to learning and friendship, he added.

Student suspended from Eastern for pulling Taylor Hall fire alarm

by Maureen Foertsch

A female Eastern student was suspended from attending school here recently until Summer, 1982 after pulling a fire alarm in Taylor Hall Oct. 23, although no area of the hall was on fire, Eastern Judicial Affairs Officer Keith Kohanzo said Friday.

The suspension decision was made by a faculty-student judicial board Oct. 25, although Kohanzo said he learned Friday the decision was approved by Eastern administrators.

Kohanzo said the student's name could not be released because of university policy.

The false fire alarm caused the evacuation of Taylor Hall residents, but Charleston Fire Department officials found no traces of any fire, Kohanzo said.

Fire department Capt. Bruce Bracy said Sunday pulling a fire alarm when there is no fire is illegal.

When the student pulled the fire alarm, another resident of the hall passing by saw her and reported it, Taylor Hall counselor Thomas Condit said Sunday. The student was apprehended and admitted guilt during questioning, he added.

The student was referred to the Judicial Affairs Office, which recommends disciplinary action for students accused of violating university regulations.

Kohanzo said the student was offered a hearing with a Student-Faculty Judicial Board.

The judicial board recommended suspension for the student until Summer, 1982, at which time the student could reapply for admission to Eastern for Fall, 1982, he said.

Take note of a student who cares

John Rigg is one student who saw changes needed in the Charleston school system and cared enough to get involved.

Rigg, an Eastern sophomore recently elected to serve on the Charleston community unit school board, said he felt he had the best experience possible for the job.

"I've had insight into what the kids and the teachers want to see in the schools," Rigg said. "I've seen it from an experience standpoint—from being there myself."

Rigg, 19, is a 1980 graduate of Charleston High School. He has been on the inside of the school system and should have a unique feel for what solutions are most feasible for any problems arising within the system.

And because he is young—right out of high school—he can bring enthusiasm and fresh ideas into the school system.

Not many young people have been concerned about the Charleston schools in this way. In fact, Rigg is only the second student in the past decade to serve on the school board.

Although Rigg is young as city officials go, voters listened to what he had to say during the campaign. And when the time came for votes to be cast, one of the candidates voters felt to be best qualified happened to be the youngest.

Perhaps this was because Rigg did not dwell on his age. While he could have played on the novelty of his being the youngest candidate, he chose to address the issues, such as transportation problems and high school curriculum changes. This shows his real concern for real problems.

Rigg should look upon this opportunity as a chance to effect changes for the betterment of the educational system in Charleston; a chance few students ever have. And at a time when budget cuts are slicing so deeply into all areas of education, his decision-making position will be quite a responsibility, as well as an excellent opportunity to increase the quality of education in Charleston.

Your Turn

Thanks contestants

Editor:

The Student Council for Exceptional Children would like to give a special thanks to the following for submitting their baby picture for our pretty baby contest that was held in the Union Oct. 28 and 29. The winner was John Jacobs, special education department chairperson.

We thank:

President Marvin, administration; Darrell Mudra, athletics; Walter Sorge, art; Merrillie Mather, English; John Best, psychology; Ann Cavanaugh, Greek representative; Jean Blair, elementary education; Bob Glover, student representative and Max Gerling, mathematics.

We would also like to thank Taylor Hall Food Service, Mollie Brumbaugh and especially, Becky Ashworth for putting together the whole contest.

Jenny Kozlowski

Officials only human

Editor:

We would like to express our opinions concerning the Nov. 3 letter concerning poor officiating at Eastern's women's volleyball match against Illinois Central College.

First of all, the line judges are volunteers (which means they do not get paid). Secondly, they are trying their best and being human, it is inevitable they are going to make mistakes. As for the lines judges being "amateurs" that is not correct for they all are members of Eastern's men's volleyball club with several years of playing experience under their wing.

In all volleyball matches there will be wrong calls made against both teams.

Since you are a "three year veteran" of line-judging, why don't you volunteer your services. It is very difficult finding volunteers willing to do the task of line-judging.

In response to your comment on the poor showing of the Eastern squad, if you would have been paying attention to the game instead of criticizing the line judges, you would have noticed the fine display of volleyball that Eastern had against the Lady Cougars.

It wasn't poor officiating and extremely amateur line judging that prohibited the Lady Cougars from "squenching" Eastern. It was the determined effort of two talented teams competing on the court.

Letter Policy

The name and phone number of at least one author must be submitted with the letter. Letters submitted without a name (or with a pseudonym) will not be published. Names are withheld upon request.

Letters should be typewritten and not exceed 250 words. Letters longer than the 250-word limit will be cut with the writer's permission. Handwritten letters will be accepted but must be legible.

Odors of change affected parents' visit

As your parents walked into your dorm room this weekend for a visit to Eastern, were they overcome by the magnificence of your decor? Or was it the smell of paint and fumigation?

Impressing the parents on Parent's Weekend fell flat on its face for some students—especially some residents of Andrews and Carman halls.

Because while the students anxiously awaited their parents and tried desperately to present a picture perfect room, a few "improvements" were being made to the halls which put a damper on things.

Still, I wonder why some things couldn't have been put off a little longer—there certainly wasn't any hurry before Parents Weekend got here.

I agree that certain improvements, like painting the rooms in Andrews and fumigating for cockroaches in Carman South, had to be done.

Room painting alone is a nuisance during the regular school year, but residents had to tear up their rooms on Friday morning, move everything into the middle of the rooms or out in the halls, then put everything back together by Friday night or Saturday morning to greet their parents.

It takes me that long just to dig out the first three layers in my room.

Solving the cockroach problem created a timing conflict too.

Personal file:

Tim Broderick

Maybe there were some lil' critters running around Carman (how they survived long enough to get noticed I don't know). On Friday, the day they fumigated, I was told that the smell would not last for long.

The trouble is, the smell has lasted; to the extent that my roommates parents noticed it. They didn't mention it until we brought it up because they thought the smell was smoke.

I'd just love to find out how Mom and Dad felt when they found out that Andrews' girls had to tear apart their rooms Thursday night before in order to have their rooms painted at 7 a.m. Friday. And I wonder what some parents in Carman South thought when they learned their sons vacated their rooms Friday because of the stench.

Therefore let me present a few suggestions of what to do the next parents weekend in order to gain the 'proper' reaction from parents.

—How about taking five snowplows and digging up the middle of the football field, just to be doing it.

—Put strobelights in all the lampposts on campus.

And lastly—Paint Old Main phosphorescent green. Parents would never get lost in Charleston at night again with this prestigious landmark lighting their way.

BOG talks on tuition plan

by Sue Ann Minor

Although the idea will probably not be pursued, an alternative to have students at each of the five Board of Governors schools pay for tuition per credit hour instead of by a block 12 to 18 hour fee was discussed at a recent BOG meeting.

BOG member Nancy Froelich introduced the idea as an informational item at the meeting. However, Froelich said the plan received a lot of feedback, mostly negative, from those attending the meeting.

Froelich added that BOG Director Donald Walters had asked for new ideas to help curb the cost of education. "It (her idea) probably won't be brought up again except in general conversation," she said.

Froelich said as far as she knows there is not a university in the state that charges tuition per credit hour, although the University of Illinois does have different tuition rates for upper and lower division students.

She said she does not think such a plan could be instituted in the five BOG schools at this time. "It is advantageous to the student to pay a block fee," she added.

Walters too did not favor paying tuition per credit hour. He said "it's a nightmare" for systems that currently pay tuition per credit hour.

Like Walters, Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said the plan could not work for the BOG system. "It is not a solution. It would not materially have any impact on tuition rates," he said.

He added he would not make a strong case for the proposal although he was "mildly" in favor of it.

Marvin said he thought there are a couple of negative aspects to paying per credit hour. The first is that it would be difficult to account for the charges or the number of students until after adddrops are completed. Also, it would tend to reduce the number of hours students would take to the minimum to graduate.

'Smelly Sneaker Contest' to be Tuesday

A "Smelly Sneaker Contest" will be held 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Jefferson Elementary gymnasium, 801 Jefferson.

The contest, sponsored by the Charleston Recreation Department, will feature a panel of judges searching for the worst looking pair of sneakers. Judges will look for sneakers not necessarily abused, but just used until they absolutely could not be used anymore, a spokesman for the department said.

The spokesman said scoring will be in six categories including wear of the tongue, sole, eyelets, heel, toe and smell.

A new pair of gym shoes courtesy of Everett and Thomas will be the prize for the owner of the worst pair of sneakers, the spokesman added.

Pre-registration for the event is required. To register, call the Charleston Recreation Department at 345-6897.

Red...

Gertrude and Hecliff flew into Charleston for Parents' Weekend Saturday. They even brought Red Skelton with them.

Skelton, veteran mime artist of stage and television for over 40 years, brought his cast of characters to Lantz gymnasium, captivating an over-sold audience with a two-and-a-half hour spectacle reminiscent of his 1960s TV show.

After soaking up local flavor for seven days prior to his one-man stage act, Red set his hook immediately at 8 p.m. and worked his catch with the expertise of the pro he is.

The Kind with their exciting blend of hard rock and power pop is a hot item from Chicago. Raw energy; Sheer ambition. What ever label you plaster over it, the Kind has got it. The lighting, an intrinsic part of the show, will reveal to you their simplicity and precision which lends the Kind a cosmopolitan sort of classiness. Tickets will be sold at the door with admission set at $1.00 for EIU students and $1.50 for public.

Williams said.

The exceptions will be made on an individual basis, he added.

Williams said once students are in the program, each must maintain a 3.0 GPA. If any student fails to maintain the average, Williams said "they will be notified that they are not in good standing and are given a semester to raise the average."

Williams added that since the stipend level has been increased, acceptance into the graduate assistantship program is somewhat more competitive.

In order to simultaneously increase the graduate school enrollment and attract better quality graduate students, the basic graduate assistant stipend was raised by $60 this semester.

"Even if the stipend were not raised, I would like to see the GPA raised," Williams said.

Since the current GPA requirement is low, we have had to take on some assistants who are less qualified.

"Raising the GPA as well as the stipend will be an all around improvement to the program," Williams said.

argue that the universities' should abandon efforts to become completely accessible to the handicapped when so much money has already been spent. He also questioned whether asking all handicapped students to only attend a couple of universities is reasonably convenient to those students.

"Questions need to be put on the table with this issue," he added.

Malpass said he did not think asking handicapped students to attend only a couple of universities would be a problem academically because the curriculum at all 11 public universities in Illinois is similar, other than engineering courses.

He said it is his experience that most handicapped students will live on campus anyway so transportation would not be an issue either.

He suggests that making about three universities in the state completely accessible would be a lot cheaper and as efficient as making all of them accessible. He said he thinks the students will still receive a comparable education.

"It would make it possible for handicapped to pursue an education and still keep the cost down," he said.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent in grants for the handicapped student, Malpass said.

"It seems logical that a few students representing a group could be encouraged to go to one or two institutions that are now accessible," he added.

Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin said, "We're caught up in all the Federal regulations. We are ahead of the other universities (in making the campus accessible), but it's costly; we've spent one half million to a million dollars already."

The recent installation of an elevator in Old Main has completed Phase II of Eastern's accessibility plan and although funding is being requested, further renovations may not begin until 1983.

"We've made good headway (with the changes). If we get a request from someone (a handicapped student) to have a class in an accessible place, we try to accommodate that request," he added.

Although Malpass said that Western has met all requirements to make the campus accessible to the handicapped, he said the two wheelchair students here are requesting further renovations.

"Both of the students live in residence halls. Our doors don't have the automatic openers," he said. "We have ramps up to all the buildings but no automatic doors."

He said that even if the university could get by with only making one residence hall accessible, there are still 17 academic buildings that the two students would like to see automatic doors installed.

"On one hand I sympathize, but for two people it's an awful lot of money," he added.

Knee slappin', hand clappin'

by Carl Pugliese

"I stumbled into this bluegrass festival last year and I found I really liked this sort of music," one man said at Sunday's 23rd Annual Bluegrass Jam Session.

"And it's worth it," he concluded.

The bluegrass jam session, held every year in the University Union, gives bluegrass musicians and old-time fiddlers a chance to get together to play some foot-stomping music.

Area resident Bill Rauwolf said this type of music is more melodious than country and western music.

Rauwolf said he felt the main difference between bluegrass and country lies within the rhythm and that the banjo is heard in bluegrass music more than any other.

A Decatur man said he knew of people who came from as far away as Joliet and East St. Louis for the bluegrass get-together.

Peggy Heneghan of Decatur said, "I like music in general, everything from classical to bluegrass."

She said she felt that attending this annual event helps further her appreciation of this brand of music.

She continued by saying, "people here are so friendly. Everyone falls into a group and starts playing along."

Quite a few of the observers had relatives performing either on the Grand Ballroom stage or in one of the sideshows in the surrounding lounges.

"I've been coming to this with my children since 1976 when it was over at Fox Ridge," area resident Marsha White said, adding that it is the type of music that "grows on you."

"It is a very comfortable occasion and I especially like the camaraderie of all the folks here," she concluded.

Top right: Fiddlers were a popular sight Sunday, and Ray Easter of Mattoon jammed with the best of them.

Bottom right: "Farmer" Stokes of Monticello, Lester Brittin of Leroy and Chlores Worlow of Mt. Carmel joined forces to entertain folks in the walkway.

Best performances lead harriers to 2nd at regional

by Fran Brolley

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Even though four of seven Panthers turned in their best performances of the year, Eastern's women's cross country team was unable to overcome a powerful Marquette University at the AIAW Division II Regionals in Columbus, Ohio, Saturday.

Eastern placed second with 50 points behind what women's coach John Craft said was a "pretty tough" 23 point total earned by the Marquette squad.

"We fell a little short of our goal of winning the regionals. We would have liked to have done a little better, but I'm not disappointed. Second place is second place," Craft said.

Cheryl Konkol, of the University of Wisconsin at Milwaukee was the individual winner in a time of 17:22. She led her team to a third place finish with a score of 58.

The Panthers were paced by junior Gina Sperry and senior Dawn Campbell who duelled for sixth place. Sperry claimed sixth place with an 18:28 timing and Campbell placed seventh in a time of 18:29.

Craft said Campbell, as well as three other Panther finishers—sophomores Carrie Mortell and Julie Curry and senior Jane Eckerson had personal bests this season.

Mortell finished in 19:02 (14th); Curry in 19:25 (16th); and Eckerson 20:04 (24th).

Freshman Nancy Kramer narrowly missed achieving a personal best with her tenth place time of 18:47.

"She ran within three seconds of her best time," Craft said.

Sophomore Kathy Donnellan finished behind Kramer in 13th place with a time of 18:47.

"Four of our seven runners ran personal bests and the others came close," Craft said. "That's always good, we had a good season."

Craft said it will be decided later this week between Eastern administration officials and himself whether the team will be able to attend the AIAW National championships in Pocatello, Idaho Nov. 20-21.

Third place finish ends spikers' regular season

by Steve Binder
 BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Competing against tough Division I schools, Eastern's volleyball team ended regular-season action with a third-place finish in the six-team Hoosier Classic Friday and Saturday.

"I'm pretty satisfied with our performance but we possibly could have beaten Ball State," Panther head coach Carol Gruber said. "We didn't play as aggressive as I thought we should have."

After finishing pool play with a 2-1 record, the Panthers advanced to semi-final action but were edged by the Cardinals in three games Saturday 15-9, 8-15, 15-11.

However, Gruber cited her squad's participation in the classic as the perfect preparation for the AIAW Division II state tournament this Friday and Saturday at Chicago State.

"I think it was the perfect tune-up for the state tournament because we needed good, tough Division I competition and we were the only Division II team there. It gave us the chance to tone up on our play and to make final adjustments," Gruber said.

"We worked on calling plays off service reception. We usually did that during free-ball play but incorporating plays off service reception is a good confidence builder. It gives us the opportunity to diligently attack the other team right away. We had several aces this weekend," Gruber said.

After dumping Northern Michigan in first-round pool play action 15-11, 15-11, the Panthers dropped their next match to a strong Indiana unit 15-6, 15-13.

"We came real close to pulling that last game out," Gruber explained. "They (Indiana) are a tough Big 10 school."

However, Eastern bounced back with a 10-15, 15-7, 15-12 victory over Morehead State which propelled them into the semi-finals.

"We have been trying to play more of an offensive type of game. Beating Morehead State was very rewarding because we lost to them early in the season at the Eastern Kentucky tournament," Gruber said.

If you're tying the knot it pays to know the ropes.

It's kind of ironic, getting engaged is one of the most emotional and sentimental times of your life. But one of the first things you have to do is spend a large amount of money in an area with which you are probably rather unfamiliar: diamond rings.

That's where S.A. Peck comes in. We've been in the business of importing diamonds and designing them into beautiful engagement and wedding rings for over 50 years. With this kind of experience, our knowledgeable gemologists can steer you through the confusing world of diamonds and settings, and help you pick the right one for you.

Once that's done, we ease your mind even more by selling you that ring for a saving of up to 50% less than what you'd pay for the same ring elsewhere.

Send for our free 44 page catalog, full of over 300 color pictures of wedding and engagement rings, all available at up to 50% saving. It'll get those knots out of your stomach fast!

National tourney bound Field hockey team tops SIU-E, second straight regional win

by Nancy Saegesser

EDWARDSVILLE—Eastern's field hockey team copped its second consecutive AIAW Division II Midwest Regional title Saturday and guaranteed itself being one of the top eight teams in the nation.

The Panthers dropped the University of Dayton 1-0 in a double-overtime opener Friday and blanked Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville 2-0 Saturday to earn a berth in the eight-team national championships to be held at Ithaca College, New York Nov. 19-20.

"We played exceptionally," elated head coach Beth Reichel said. "We've been saying all year that we want to go to New York."

Panther goalie Deb King needed to turn back just nine shots on goal through two games to record the shutout wins as her teammates outshot their opponents 53-18.

Reichel's squad defeated Dayton 4-1 on Oct. 3 but faced a tougher time in their double overtime win Friday. The two clubs battled scorelessly until freshman forward Barb Stelk sent home a Gigi MacIntosh assist with just 36 seconds left in the second 7 1/2 minute overtime period.

"They (Dayton) were a completely different team," Reichel said. "They were so much better than the first time we played.

"We knew they would be better but we weren't expecting them to be that good," she continued. "They played super.

"We had 26 corners to their seven," Reichel said, adding that the statistic shows "how much time we had in their goal cage and how much we controlled the ball.

"They (Reichel's squad) were real jumpy and nervous at the beginning of the game," Reichel added. "They missed things they should have had. But then they settled down and played well."

Friday's win set the New York-bound Panthers up in a rematch with season-long rival SIU-E. Going into tournament action, Eastern had defeated the Cougars by one point four times in five matches.

The usually volatile match-up "was one of the calmest games I've ever seen us play against them," said the Panther coach. "We had excellent officiating and they warned us beforehand that they wouldn't let it get very rough.

"There's not a whole lot to say about this game," Reichel concluded. "Everybody played fantastic and everybody gave 100 percent all the time."

Deb Seybert put Eastern in front to stay on MacIntosh's second assist of the weekend with 8:30 gone in the first half.

"That let us relax a little bit," Reichel said of the early lead. "The weather was great and we had the first game under our belt," she added. "And since it was Edwardsville, we knew we could beat them."

Senior forward Peg Moore added an insurance goal on an assist from Stelk with 29:29 gone in the second stanza.

Gridders topple talent-lacking Ferris State

by Dan Brannan

Panther linebacker Tom Murray summed up best the Ferris State Bulldogs' performance in Eastern's dominating 42-14 Parents' Day victory Saturday at O'Brien Stadium by saying, "They were just real basic.

"They (Ferris State) were not tough at all," Murray said. "There wasn't a whole lot of talent on their team."

Ferris State head coach Nick Coso agreed his squad did not play up to par Saturday.

"We came in looking to give Eastern a good battle but we're leaving dejected," Coso said. "We didn't play up to our potential today."

However, Eastern played up to and beyond its potential in rolling up 535 offensive yards while holding the Bulldogs to a mere 137 in satisfying 10,200 Parents' Day Panther fans.

"It was a fine game because we won," Panther defensive coordinator Rick Schachner said. "It was a good time of the year for this type of game. It was also good for our morale."

Eastern skillfully combined a 22 for 34 and 287-yard passing attack with a 248-yard rushing performance to notch the Panthers' fifth victory after dropping two successive turnover-ridden contests to Youngstown and Northern Iowa.

"We looked a lot better out there today," Panther head coach Darrell Mudra said. "They (Ferris State) weren't good enough to stay with us, but still we played real well."

Leading the Panthers' balanced and potent offensive display was halfback Kevin Staple and quarterback Jeff Christensen.

Staple rushed eight times for 95 yards and two touchdowns, including a 51-yard jaunt, before resting in the second half to give freshman Roy Ellis the chance to roll up yardage. Ellis responded by gaining 73 yards on 23 carries and one touchdown.

"I think today showed we should balance up our offense more," Staple said. "The run sets up the pass and the pass sets up the run. In the past games, when a team has stopped our passing game they have stopped us."

Christensen's accurate passing resulted in an 18 for 23 and 242-yard display while also setting a school season record for completions. He also sat out the second half after notching his 167th completion, topping the 160-mark set by Steve Turk in 1978.

"Christensen picked apart our secondary. Their passing game just destroyed us and Staple is an exceptional running back too," Coso said.

Heading the defensive charge for the Panthers was sophomore safety Robert Williams with two interceptions.

"Robert played real well," Schachner said. "He is really coming around for us. He was always a good player but he is getting a lot better."

For all practical purposes, the game was over after the first half as Eastern posted a 35-7 lead.
