Wesel elected new speaker, Good ousted

by Nancy Yamin

In a secret ballot, the Student Senate Wednesday elected Senator Ron Wesel as the new senate speaker for the spring semester.

Wesel defeated incumbent Glenn Good by a vote of 18-12.

Wesel, who was elected to the senate last spring, served fall semester as the senate academic affairs committee chairman.

Student Body President John Cole, who presided over the election, asked that former Senate Speaker Natalie Scott serve as parliamentarian for the meeting.

Before the election, the senate approved an "incidental" motion to accept nine rules as procedure for electing the speaker by a 19-11 vote.

The adopted procedures' ninth point declares the rules will be the official policy for electing the speaker.

However, before approving the procedures, many senators objected because of a controversial section which called for a ballot vote rather than roll-call vote.

The procedures also stipulate each candidate may speak for 10 minutes and may have two endorsers address the senate for five minutes.

Scott said according to these stipulations, no debate may take place.

Because Senator Scott Calhoun objected to the in-

Official presents college proposal to Faculty Senate

by Deann Leatherwood

Faculty Senator Gerald Sullivan presented to the senate Tuesday a proposal to establish five colleges at Eastern. No action was taken on the plan.

The proposal would establish five colleges and or schools. The colleges would include the College of Arts and Letters, College of Business, College of Education, College of Sciences and the Graduate School.

The proposal states, "at the present time Eastern is organized into eight college and/or schools including the Graduate School."

The plan would affect the Colleges of Arts and Sciences; School of Business; School of Fine Arts; the graduate school; School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation; School of Home Economics; and School of Technology.

Sullivan said humanities areas would be listed under the College of Arts and Letters. Some examples of departments under the arts and letters college include art, English, economics and philosophy.

Science areas such as physics, anthropology, home economics and technology are listed under the College of Sciences.

The College of Education would include departments currently in the college and all other areas which deal with education such as physical education, cooperative education and student teaching.

The graduate school would retain its current structure under Sullivan's proposal.

However, Sullivan said, "Even some of those (departments) would be questioned about where they belong by people in those disciplines."

Sullivan said the plan is a "discussion proposal." He added, "I'm sure it (the proposal) would be controversial to some."

IBHE prepares for voting on Fiscal Year '85 budget

by Graham Whitehead

The Illinois Board of Higher Education Tuesday prepared for January voting on the fiscal year 1985 education budget.

IBHE Deputy Director Paul Lingenfelter said the board conducted "major discussion on planning and budgeting" in preparation for January's IBHE meeting when voting on budgetary issues will be taken.

Lingenfelter said an IBHE report on planning and budgetary issues for Illinois higher education sums up the board's objectives.

The report states that the current capacity of Illinois higher education should be maintained rather than increased.

The report also states that the major emphasis for the future must be on improving the quality of educational programs.

Lingenfelter said with the current drop in people enrolled in universities between the ages 18 and 24, the IBHE is concerned with the repairs needed to current educational facilities.

The report also states that more than 38 percent of public university facility space is more than 20 years old, he added.

In addition, the report suggests the problem of improving the quality of higher education should primarily be tackled by restoring the competitiveness of staff and faculty salaries.

Lingenfelter added that the IBHE is also seeking to improve quality by providing greater program evaluation in its budget recommendation.

Although the report on planning and budgetary issues describes the IBHE's budget goals, Lingenfelter added that "a separate budget document will be prepared on which the votes will be taken."

Lingenfelter said the budget issue will be presented at the Jan. 10 IBHE meeting.

In other action, the board considered an annual progress report on minority enrollment in health profession programs.

Lingenfelter said the IBHE has been monitoring minority enrollment figures in these programs for three years.

"The board has been concerned for a number of years with the supply of doctors—particularly in urban, downtown and rural areas," Lingenfelter said.

Rape victim 'doing well'

by Sheila Billerbeck

The condition of the Eastern student who was raped Nov. 30 is "very good," Karen Carlson, Pemberton head counselor, said.

"Fortunately, she's doing really well," Carlson said.

Campus Security Chief Thomas Larson said the victim was admitted to Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center for tests following the incident, which occurred in Pemberton Hall.

"The only hospitalization she required was the tests and then she was released," he said.

Rape victims are tested to determine whether they are pregnant or have contracted venereal disease, he added.

Bonnie Buckley, Coles County

Women Against Rape member, said the victim sought help from CCWAR. However, Buckley said she could not release information about the victim's condition.

"When we work with someone we guarantee confidentiality," she said.

The role CCWAR plays in the aftermath of rape is determined by the victim, Buckley said.

"We are here for them," she said. "It is up to the victim how much they want us to get involved."

Larson said no leads have been obtained in the case since Wednesday and added "we've had a couple of calls in general" regarding information on rape.

Navy pilot held prisoner by Syria

(AP)—Syria released the body of U.S. Navy pilot Lt. Mark A. Lange on Wednesday but said the return of American prisoner Robert O. Goodman depended on relations with the United States.

Syria also accused the United States of direct involvement in the Lebanon war.

Meanwhile, bombs and rockets slammed into residential neighborhoods in Christian east Beirut from Druse positions in the hills overlooking the city. Police reported two civilians killed and 16 wounded by shrapnel.

The body of Lange, 27, of Fraser, Mich., was flown by the Marines to the aircraft carrier Independence off the Beirut coast for its eventual journey home, said Maj. Dennis Brooks, the Marine spokesman.

Lange's A-6 fighter-bomber was shot down Sunday in an attack on Syrian positions in Lebanon's central mountains. His body was delivered by the Syrians to the Lebanese army, which in turn handed it to the Marines.

Fire ruins uranium warehouse

EAST ST. LOUIS (AP)—A fire Wednesday damaged a warehouse where tons of uranium is stored, but neither the public nor firefighters were in danger, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission said.

The fire at an Edlow International Inc. warehouse broke out about 12:40 a.m. "There were no problems, no injury, no hazard to firefighters," said Jan Strasma, NRC public affairs officer in Chicago.

Strasma said the fire was confined to an area where 39 drums of uranium ore concentrate were stored. He said the Illinois Department of Nuclear Safety inspected them and found each of the 55-gallon drums' seals to be intact.

Another area houses 18 2.5-ton steel containers of uranium hexafluoride, which also eventually is processed into fuel. Strasma said that area was not damaged.

Two jetliners crash; 93 killed

MADRID, Spain (AP)—A Spanish jetliner got lost in fog and taxied into a Boeing 727 that was accelerating at about 100 mph prior to takeoff from Madrid airport Wednesday, setting off a fiery explosion that killed 93 people, officials said.

It was the second air disaster in Madrid in 10 days. One survivor of the latest crash, an American, said he thought neither plane should have been allowed to take off in the dense fog.

The airport, which has no ground radar, had been closed to incoming flights.

Air traffic control officials said the collision occurred at 9:45 a.m. EST when an Iberia Air Lines Boeing 727 carrying 84 passengers, including 40 Japanese, and nine crew members, accelerated to take off toward the north for Rome. They said the pilot, after apparently spotting the other jet approaching on the ground, just managed to get the 727's nose up.

BOG plans to discuss graduate degrees

by Sheila Billerbeck

A standard list of graduate degrees awarded in the Board of Governors' system in 1982-83 will be discussed by the BOG Thursday.

Jack Bleicher, BOG legal lawyer, said the board will also review the number and types of degrees awarded through the last 10 years.

Bleicher said the purpose of reviewing degrees is "to keep the board advised of trends.

"By doing this, they get some idea perhaps of decreasing interest in a particular educational field," he said.

"The report can also show where students ought to be taking interest in," he added.

In the BOG system, Bleicher said, the majority of degrees awarded are in business.

For the 1982-83 academic school year, 1,588 bachelor's degrees in business were awarded, he said. The number of master's degrees awarded in business was 175.

Education followed business with 1,073 degrees awarded in 1982-83, Bleicher said.

In other business, the board will review a report regarding 1983 enrollment figures at the five BOG schools.

The BOG will meet at 8 a.m. Thursday at Northeastern Illinois University.

Lecture slated

Students interested in discovering how extracurricular activities affect their class work may want to attend a lecture Thursday.

Education instructor Ronald Gholson will give the lecture "Curricular and Extra-Curricular: Fusion During the Fourth Phase."

The seminar is scheduled for noon Thursday at the Rathskeller balcony.

Store begins business in new location

by Karen Sisulak

The Charleston True Value hardware store has opened its doors for business at a new location in the Wilb Walker Shopping Center, 1320 E. St., owner Gene McQueen said.

"It has taken about two weeks to move from the old location," McQueen said. The old location was at 1450 E. St. between Wilb Walker's Groceries and Family Pharmacy.

"We didn't close the other place until we were completely moved here," he said. The store has been unofficially open since Nov. 28.

"We are planning an open house for Dec. 22, 23, and 24 as our official grand opening," McQueen said.

The new building has given True Value more room to expand the number of household, electrical and plumbing lines, he said.

"We'll now be a complete hardware store," McQueen said.

Construction for the new store started last July and "just needs finishing up right now," he said. McQueen supervised and contracted the construction of the new building through his own construction business.

Christian store opens Thursday

by Denise Nolan

A new Christian giftstore, 7th and Glory, will celebrate its grand opening Thursday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., owner Debbie Zabka said.

Zabka said that there will be free gifts for customers during the grand opening celebration.

The new store, located at 1443 S. 7th St., will offer a complete selection of Christian-related gifts.

Some of the items include greeting cards, Bibles, books, jewelry, posters, children's items and a music center, Zabka said.

The shop's music center allows the customers to listen to sample tapes of albums and tapes in stock, she added.

"We are really proud of our music center," Zabka said.

The music center contains music from rock to easy listening, she noted.

She added that the store is located close to campus so it will be convenient for students.

The store's business hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Bruce to work for college funding hike

by Karen Sisulak

State Sen. Terry Bruce, who recently announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the 19th Congressional District, said he will work to increase funding for college students.

Bruce, a Democrat from Olney who lost to Republican Dan Crane in 1978, said he is seeking the Democratic nomination because he can "give the leadership necessary to give America and our government new direction and purpose.

"The people of this district need, but not have, a congressman who is a worker for the elderly, for schools, for jobs and for the environment," Bruce said.

Bruce is the fourth Democrat to announce his candidacy for U.S. Congress in the 19th district. Danville attorney Tom Lindley, University of Illinois professor Eric Jakobssen and Urbana attorney John Gwinn have also announced their candidacy in the March Democratic primary.

State Senator Max Coffey and the 19th district incumbent Dan Crane will run in the Republican primary.

Bruce said he believes improving the quality of education is essential to keeping Illinois and the country growing.

"We are going to rely on the community colleges and universities to help pull Illinois out of its economic situation," he said.

Bruce said he worked as a state senator to increase funding for college students, adding that he will continue to promote federal assistance for college students if elected to the U.S. House.

"The Illinois Congress just changed the funding level for student aid. The Illinois State Scholarship Commission fund has just doubled," Bruce said.

Bruce said Crane supports the federal government's attempt to cut education by 40 percent.

"Crane has been forefronting the cutting of Pell Grants," Bruce said. "We can't promote industry and business without trained people. The scholarships are essential."

Bruce said he "is determined to provide financial security and provide a chance for the average working person to get ahead while rebuilding the economy in the long run so that both business and working people achieve financial security."

Bruce said he is late announcing his candidacy because the Illinois legislature was in session until Nov. 4. "First, my job as state senator has to be done well," he said.

Words from China

Editor:

I am here at Xian Northwestern Polytechnical University (Shaanxi Province, China)—a sister school to Eastern—teaching and taking care of a few chores. I am on something of a good-will teaching mission for Eastern.

You would be interested to know that I lecture (there is no open discussion) about five and a half hours a day. After five and a half hours a day of marathon talking, you are about ready for total silence.

We go to class six days a week and when they talk about the "weekend," they are talking about Saturday night. We have Sunday off at the school, but different parts of the city have different days off as their weekend.

The students are very eager to learn; you have to be since the classrooms are not heated and the temperature dips into the 20s at night. On any morning you can see students everywhere, walking in the cold, holding a book and reciting their lessons for the day.

To be able to go to a university is a great honor and they work very hard to stay here once they get here.

The U.S. is very popular with the people here and English is taught in many places. I am also surprised at how much people know about our country and our history.

The people here work hard, but from 12 until 2 p.m. every day the whole town shuts down. Men feed their horses and take a nap on the cart the horse is pulling. Stores close and everyone just takes a little siesta.

To say that I don't miss you all would not quite be true. No matter where my body is, my heart is always on that campus. This, I hope, will help the university as it grows and international relations as well.

I will look forward to working with you all again when I return—in the meantime, if you have some extra space or things get slow—write a feature on the women's basketball team, they'll need the support and have great promise of being one of our best.

Glenn Williams
vice president for student affairs

Ticket prices too high

Editor:

I would like to express a concern of my family and several other people I have talked to regarding the price of admission to Eastern sporting events.

My family enjoys basketball and would attend the Eastern games if the price of tickets weren't so high. It would cost our family (Two adults and two small children) $10 plus another $3 to $4 at the concession stand to attend one game.

One suggestion would be to offer a discount to the families of Eastern faculty and staff. What happened to the good old days when a sporting event was considered cheap entertainment?

Wouldn't it be better to have a packed house to cheer the team on rather than turn the fans off by pricing the tickets out of their range?

Name withheld by request

Cabbage kids would make better cole slaw

It has really gotten out of hand this time. Once again someone is getting rich quick—someone that doesn't really deserve to. It is nothing new. Smart marketers have been doing it for years.

What they have been doing is making a fortune off of a clever but simple idea.

In this case, the children of America are once again making someone, or some people, wealthy by gobbling up the latest market entry—Cabbage Patch Dolls.

Ah, but what makes this market craze so different from all the rest is that it is just that—a craze. Demand has exceeded supply so much for these dolls with molded vinyl faces that people are practically killing themselves to buy the dolls which come with their own birth certificate and adoption papers.

Reports across the country have surfaced about violent episodes in department and toy stores. One man hit a woman over the head with a baseball bat during a fight over who would get to purchase one of the homely dolls for a retail value of $21.98.

Others have been trampled as they stampede to displays of the Cabbage Patch crew. Lines miles long of customers three and four abreast have been reported at Zayre and K-Mart stores across the nation.

Even in Nampa, Idaho a newspaper reporter lucky enough to purchase one of the last Cabbage kids in the area had the doll stolen out of the trunk of his car and the poor dolly is now being held for ransom. What is this nation coming to?

It was sickening enough when some joker named Peyo make a few million blue bucks off of those gooeey Smurfs. It was worse when American Greetings saturated the market with pretty pink Strawberry Shortcake and her pals. And now folks are literally clawing at each other to buy their good little boys and girls their own little bundles of Cabbage joy.

But, what does this mean? What are the implications when

Personal file:

Madeleine Doubek

a society can't get enough of these orphan dolls? Could it mean that we value individualism or that we should care for the orphans in our world? Maybe that's what the children who want the dolls think, maybe not.

But what would they be learning if they knew their parents were beating each other up to get the dolls? Certainly not how to care.

Then again, maybe it's not really the children who initiated the unhealthy scramble for toys born in the cabbage patch. Maybe it's truly the parents who demand the dolls. It is unlikely that anyone will ever know for sure what has motivated so many people to behave so strangely over a toy. But, that won't stop some people from theorizing just a bit.

Celebrity psychologist Dr. Joyce Brothers said recently she believes "children see the Cabbage Patch dolls as orphans needing adoption" and that "it is wonderful to have something so ugly, yet loveable."

But whatever the correct theory may be, whatever the reasons for this crazy cabbage mania, it is truly appalling to conceive that people would physically abuse each other over a doll with a gimmick.

And as Cabbage Patch doll manufacturer Coleco has so richly learned—all you need is a gimmick these days.

So while one may wish to relax thinking there are no more gimmicks left which are worth marketing, duck because here comes punk pet rocks!

Awesome, totally awesome.

Students get awards for grades

David Gronowski
Lisa Johnson

Two Eastern students recently received honors recognizing them as outstanding students in Illinois. Senior Samoria Caffie has been named a Student Laureate of the Lincoln Academy of Illinois. Caffie, a journalism major, was recognized by Gov. Jim Thompson as one of the outstanding college students in Illinois during Nov. 19 ceremonies at the state Capitol.

Student Laureates of the Lincoln Academy are chosen for overall excellence in curricular and co-curricular activities by the chief executive officers of the four-year colleges and universities in Illinois.

Eastern journalism instructor James Anderson, who nominated Caffie for the award, said, "She showed responsibility, was academically prepared, cooperative and involved in extracurricular activities."

Caffie is student adviser for the Afro-American Studies Committee, director of public relations for the Afro-American studies department and staff member for the Warbler and The Priority Newsletter.

This is the second consecutive year Eastern journalism major has received the award.

In addition, senior Kent Boyles was named one of eight winners of a $600 4-H scholarship. Boyles won the award for "Changing Economics of Agriculture," a 25-page research paper prepared concerning his attitudes toward agricultural economics.

"I feel it was a great accomplishment for my time, thought and research," Boyles said.

Argo Tyler, assistant director of communications for the National 4-H Council, said Boyles was selected from 100 entries at more than 282 schools. To be eligible for the award, an applicant must have been a national 4-H member, Boyles said.

CAA talks plans

Sheila Billerbeck

The Council on Academic Affairs Wednesday will discuss reviewing and approving a series of course proposals. Robert Wright, CAA chairman, said the previously tabled speech-communication department course proposals will be considered by the council.

The proposal recommends changing "Speech-Communication 2830 Language Habits in Human Affairs" to an upper-division course and removing it from the humanities list.

To offer an alternative humanities option, a second proposal requests approving a new course "Speech-Communication 2630 'Language and Human Communication.'"

In other action, the foreign language department is requesting CAA approval of two new courses: Spanish "Business Spanish" and Spanish "Problems in Spanish Grammar," Wright said.

In addition, the CAA will also approve an experimental course proposal from the music department, Wright said. The course "Music 4075 Music of the Americas" would be offered for one semester on a trial basis.

The CAA will meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the Union addition Tuscola room.

Instructor receives award for outstanding research

by Rick Lansing

An Eastern instructor was recently selected to receive the Outstanding Achievement Award from the Illinois Speech and Hearing Association.

Jill Nilsen, speech pathology and audiology instructor, received the annual award based on her research in speech, language and hearing supervision and service.

"It's a great honor for me to be the only one in Illinois to be recognized," she said.

Nilsen, an Eastern graduate, was also selected by the Illinois Speech and Hearing Association as a nominee for the American Speech and Hearing Association's annual Louis Di Carlo award.

Nilsen was one of 42 award nominees among the 9,000 members who attended the national convention in Cincinnati Nov. 17-21.

"I had no idea that I was being considered for the award so when I received a phone call saying that I had won, it was quite a surprise," Nilsen said.

"It's very gratifying as a professor to be recognized by your peers for your everyday work," she added.

Nilsen's work entails supervising the training of student clinicians as well as working with clients.

"I enjoy working with college students and clients," she said. "I like watching the progress of people with speech or hearing disabilities."

Some of the problems Nilsen and student clinicians help remedy are stuttering, loss of voice because of illness such as cancer, a disability caused by stroke called aphasia and childhood speech impediments.

"Think of how many times a day you communicate. For someone who has trouble communicating, it can be a difficult problem," Nilsen said.

cidental motion, a vote "to not consider the procedures" was taken.

Because two-thirds vote is required in this case, the motion failed 19-11.

Although some questions were raised about the incidental motion, Student Senate Adviser Mike Long could not attend the meeting due to prior commitments.

Cole said he discussed the procedures with Long earlier in the week and Long declared the procedures to be an incidental motion.

Graduate student Jack Kelly, an audience member, addressed the incidental motion issue. Kelly said, "Do you realize what you (senators) did? You can't change this (procedures)."

"We, as students should be able to debate such important issues as the election of a speaker," Kelly said.

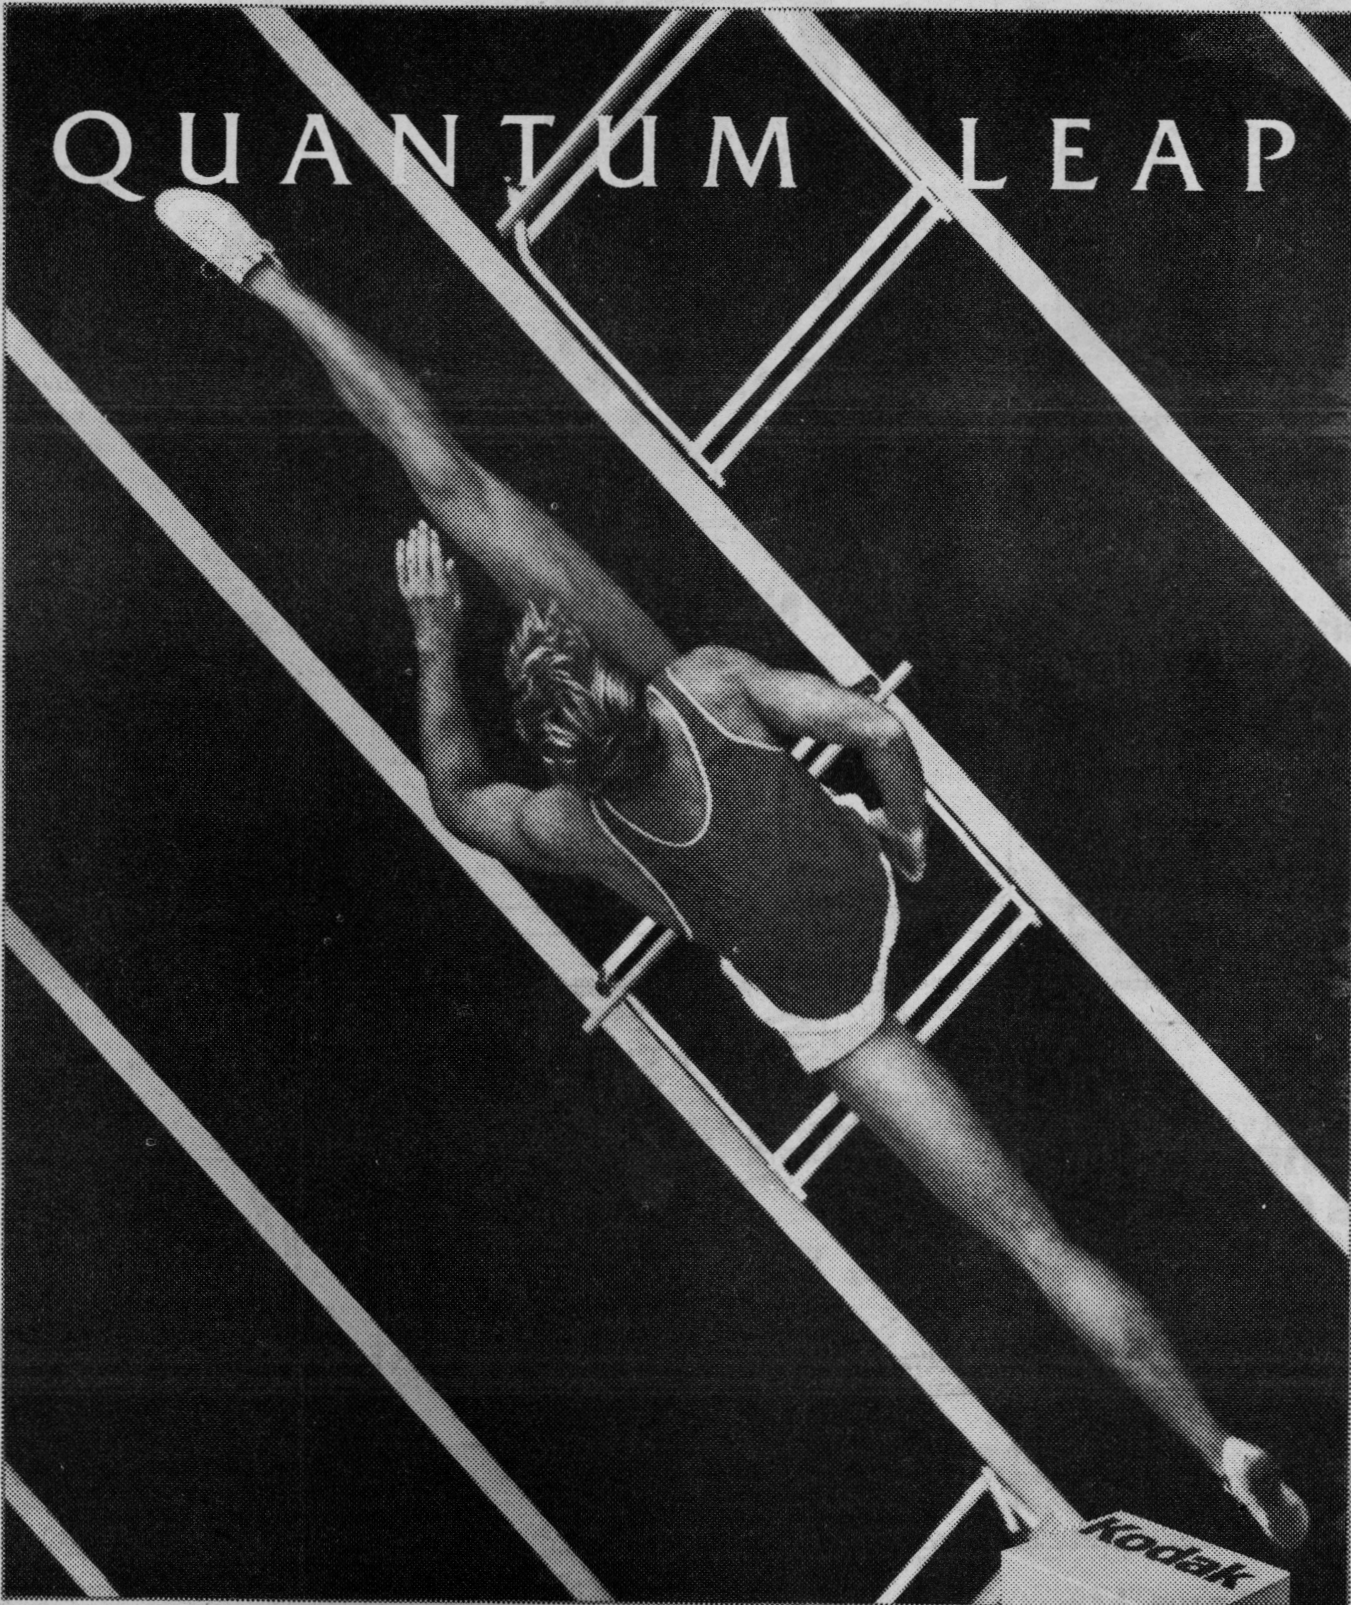

Senator Audrey Dumentat nominated Wesel and encouraged senators to vote for Wesel to provide "a fresh outlook."

Senator Lynn Lippoldt said "I am asking all of you with the same frustrations (with senate) to join me in supporting Ron Wesel."

However, Calhoun, who nominated Good for the post, encouraged senators to elect Good because of his leadership qualities and experience as speaker.

Wesel told senate, "I represent a change in student government and we can all accomplish it together."

Overtime thriller

Panthers fall to Ball State

by John Humenik

Chris Shelton's basket with five seconds remaining in overtime Wednesday night erased a one-point Eastern lead and lifted Ball State to a 77-76 victory at Lantz Gym.

Shelton's game-winner came on Ball State's third attempt to score following one of three costly Eastern turnovers in the extra period.

The reserve guard rebounded an air ball from teammate Larry Jones and beat Panther center Kevin Duckworth to hand the visitors their first win against two losses.

"I just knew that when I got it, I was going up strong," said Shelton who scored 12 points including four of the Cardinals' five overtime markers.

"I put it up there pretty good, because I knew if it wasn't going in I was going to get fouled," he continued. "We work on those kind of shots all the time and I know how Larry shoots."

Duckworth, expecting a rebound, got turned around under the basket as Shelton snuck in from the right side after taking a step backward.

"I turned around and he was right behind me," Duckworth said. "I thought the shot was going to hit the rim and bounce right to me, but it fell not even a foot short."

Duckworth, who scored 18 points on the night, gave the Panthers a 74-72 advantage to open the overtime, but back came Shelton and company.

Forward Mike LaFave connected on one of two charity tosses with 2:50 to play and Ball State trailed 74-73. Eastern's Tim Wyss, who scored 20 points, added a pair of free throws to keep the Panthers ahead.

Down 76-73, Shelton went to work and notched his first bucket of the period to ease the Cardinal deficit to one point—76-75 with

Jones quits grid helm as Schachner is fired

by Kirby Flowers

Headed for another coaching shuffle, Eastern's head football coach Al Molde has accepted the resignation of defensive coordinator Cal Jones and has fired secondary coach Rick Schachner.

Jones and Schachner become the sixth and seventh Panther coaches to leave Eastern in two years when their contracts expire Dec. 30, it was learned Tuesday.

Last year, the Panthers lost head coach Darrell Mudra and four of his assistants Chuck Dickerson, Alonzo Lee, Mike Williams and Chris Peterson.

However, Jones' resignation came as no major surprise to Molde.

"It was no big surprise," Molde said Wednesday. "He came to me about mid-season and indicated that he would not be returning next season."

Jones said he had no one reason for leaving, but added his decision was basically planned out when he accepted the coaching job two years ago.

"I came here on a short-term basis," Jones said Wednesday. "Our goal was to win a national championship and unfortunately we weren't able to."

Currently, Jones said he is looking at positions in the Big Ten and PAC Ten conferences and has denied reports to join Mudra at the University of Northern Iowa.

"There is nothing official right now," he added. "But I have about 10 different interests that I am looking into. I just want to continue to grow as a coach."

Jones stressed his resignation had nothing to do with any conflicts between coach Molde and himself.

"I had complete freedom of the defense," Jones said. "On any team the defense coordinator usually has control. We did our thing and they (the offense) did theirs and hopefully we put it together on Saturday."

Players will miss coaches

by John Humenik

Player reaction to the resignation of Eastern defensive coordinator Cal Jones and to the firing of secondary coach Rick Schachner Tuesday was of disappointment.

Though many players said Wednesday the moves were probably for the best, they were saddened to see the two coaches leave the NCAA I-AA program.

"They'll be missed. They went on the line for us and were fair, you really could believe in what they said," senior defensive captain Robert Williams said. "They would go into a dark alley for you."

However, many players said Jones and Schachner's departures would alleviate the friction in coaching styles between head coach Al Molde and the defensive coaches.

Returning linebacker David Ferguson said, "I think it's going to be a good thing, because there was so much friction between the coaches. I don't even know if the coaches really liked each other."

"It was something you could just tell was there," he continued. "I often Molde said, "Jones is an excellent coach. He deserves a lot of credit for Eastern's defensive success in the last two years."

"He was the architect of Eastern's eight-man line," Molde added. "We are going to miss him."

However, when Schachner found out his contract would not be renewed after five seasons it came as a big surprise.

"I was surprised to an extent," Schachner said Wednesday. "I wasn't notified until the playoffs and that didn't give me much time to look for another job."

"I really don't know why I was not rehired," he added. "I feel I have done my job well and don't quite understand why I was let go."

"I am disappointed that I have to leave Eastern, but I am not bitter," Schachner added. "Now I am going to move on and look for another job."

Molde praised Schachner for "a fine job," but said he felt it was in the best interest of team to let him go.

"Rick has done a good job here, but I decided against renewing his contract," Molde said. "It was more of a philosophical reason than anything he had done."

"We differed too much in our philosophy of the game, so in my judgment it was best for the football team to let him go," he continued.

Jones said Eastern's outstanding success at the NCAA I-AA level should continue without him.

"It was no magic that Eastern has had a great defense," he said. "Eastern has a tradition of being a great defensive team and it will continue to be successful."

"We have had some extraordinary players on defense in the past few years and they committed themselves to excellence—that is why we had such a great defense."

wonder what kind of team we'd have if they just put their heads together."

Jones' resignation preceded tentative renewal of his current contract which was set to expire Dec. 30. Many defensive players said Wednesday they were aware of the two-year coach's intentions as early as January.

Returning defensive tackle Tom Moskal said, "I'm not surprised at all, that was a well-known fact. I really don't know what to expect next season. It may be for the best."

Williams said, "We kind of knew that they weren't going to be around. But we thought it was going to be one of those things while we were out for Christmas."

Originally, Jones was a logical choice for Molde's job following former head coach Darrell Mudra's resignation in January but was refused an interview for the post.

Several players were upset by Athletic Director R.C. Johnson's decision to hire Molde without granting Jones an interview. Consequently, trouble between the Mudra-coached players, 16 returning starters, and

Holmes decides not to quit

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J. (AP)—Larry Holmes, the unbeaten World Boxing Council heavyweight champion, said today: "I'm not gonna quit."

The 34-year-old Holmes also told reporters at a news conference "I'm not going to be forced to quit by any organization or by any promoter."

Holmes feels that the WBC is putting undue pressure on him to make mandatory defense against No. 1 contender Greg Page. He has agreed to fight Page in February or March for promoter Don King.

However, Holmes has said the $2.55 million offered by King is not enough and today he indicated how unlikely the fight was by saying Murad Muhammad now is his exclusive promoter.

If Holmes did not fight Page, the WBC certainly would withdraw championship recognition from Holmes.

On Nov. 28, Holmes knocked out Marvis Frazier in the first round of a bout in Las Vegas, Nev. Holmes was angry that the WBC wouldn't give title sanction to that fight because Frazier was not a top-ranked opponent.

Women cagers end losing streak, crush Butler 95-41

by Kathy Leahy
Eastern's women's basketball team snapped its four-game losing streak Wednesday with a 95-41 thrashing of Butler University at Lantz Gym.

"I was happy with the way we played," Eastern head coach Bobbie Hilke said. "We were playing up more to our capabilities."

"Our lack of assists have hurt us before, but we're doing better," she added. "I thought we showed an unselfish display of teamwork tonight. Hopefully, tonight's game will get us back on the right track."

However, the margin of victory surprised the Panther mentor.

"I'm a bit surprised that it wasn't closer though," she said. "What we lost from last year they lost (which was three players). It was similar, so I thought the game would be close."

Hilke said it was her squad's ability to capitalize on a weak Butler back court that proved to be the difference in the game.

"We did a good job of capitalizing on their guard situation," Hilke said. "Their two guards are young and we took advantage of it."

"That's what we need to do if we want to keep on winning," Hilke said. "We have to capitalize on the other teams weaknesses."

Although the Panthers dominated the visiting Bulldogs throughout the entire contest, Hilke said she was a bit disappointed with her squad's sluggish start.

"We are good shooters. I thought we should have started with a bigger bang than we did," Hilke said. "Once we get the first conversion we are all right."

Eastern jumped out to an early 11-2 advantage against the Bulldogs and never lost control. The Panthers went into the locker room at halftime with a 44-16 lead.

The Panthers were equally as dominant in the second half, and led by as much as 88-33 with just under four-and-one-half minutes to play.

Defensively, Eastern posted one of its finest performances of the season, forcing 50 Butler turnovers. In addition, the Panthers recorded a season-high 35 steals against the visiting Bulldogs.

"We worked well together and we talked well. We played good, aggressive defense," Hilke said. "I also thought we anticipated well on the boards."

"When we went into the locker room at halftime we talked about rebounding," she continued. "It still needs some work, but we are improving."

Reagan's chief aid, Baker top choice for Kuhn's job

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—White House Chief of Staff James Baker is the top contender for the job of baseball commissioner, a source said today. But a White House spokesman circulated reports that Baker might change jobs, and President Reagan said the report caught him by surprise. A source with contacts both in baseball and in Washington said Baker apparently was the "fifth or sixth choice" of a search committee seeking replacement for Bowie Kuhn. "But now, it looks like that's how they've done the list they have gone," the source said. The source has said earlier that the White House delegated to find a successor to Kuhn was looking for a man in the nation's capital who could easily break government commitment. Their main care there was exemption from antitrust laws," the source said. "And, they fear a strike in 1985." Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., and former Treasury Secretary William Miller both declined the job, the source said.

Another baseball source confirmed that Baker's name had surfaced in connection with the commissioner's job. Both sources asked not to be identified.

Although the search committee, headed by Milwaukee Brewers owner Bud Selig, has been sworn to secrecy, many names have surfaced.

Initially, the White House issued a statement that it said Baker had not been authorized. The statement said: "In the past three years, there have been several press reports of job changes for Mr. Baker, and we didn't choose to comment on them then, and we don't intend to start now."

Reagan, when asked about the report this morning, said: "I was surprised as anyone to read that."

Presidential spokesman Larry Speakes refused to comment directly, but joked: "The truth is there's been a mixup. He's going to replace Billy Martin as manager of the New York Yankees."

1:05 remaining. Shelton's final basket did in the Panthers, who were outscored 35-30 in the second half, and moved their record to 1-1 at home. Eastern had a chance to put the game away in the closing minutes of the second half, as the Panthers lead by as many as four points at one time. With five minutes to play, Eastern came to a two-point advantage 68-66. Two of three straight Cardinal shots sparked the visitors ahead 70-63 with 3:06 left. Ball State's advantage marked the first time the Cardinals led in the second half and the sixth time in the contest. They had trailed by five points into the second quarter. Ron Collins, who scored 20 points and 12 in the second quarter, picked a Ball State pass with 1:20 to play and dish it off to transfer guard Troy Richardson. Richardson scored two of his four points to pull the Panthers from behind 72-72 and sent the contest into overtime.

de tarnished this season. When Molde came in we were still staples of Mudra," Williams said. "It was hard to change, and when I got out there playing I was a symbol of some players said even though there talk circulating about it prior to NCAA I-AA playoffs, Molde's firing of Schachner came as a surprise. "Boy, are they tough over there," Williams said. "To see Schachner leave though I'm leaving is bad. When I got over to the office last week both their desks were cleared off." Schachner and Jones were the only coaches left from the Mudra era. Schachner boasted an NCAA II championship in 1978, a runner-up finish in 1979, and a I-AA playoff bid last year. Schachner came to Eastern in 1979 as a linebacker coach and later moved to defensive secondary. During his time he produced two professional players and coached Williams to his second Kodak All-American award. The Mudra era is over and it might be for the good because a lot of people need to see it out," Williams said. "I hope the players won't lose sight of a winning program."
