Blood donations taken next week; goal is 200 pints

by Noreen Reilly

The American Red Cross is sponsoring a blood drive next Monday and Wednesday in Charleston and at Eastern, blood drive publicity chairman Betsy Martin said.

The theme of the drive is "Join our Lifesaving Team," which is the slogan used nationally by the Red Cross.

On Monday, the drive will be held at the Moose Lodge, on the corner of Seventh and Van Buren, from 1 to 6 p.m., Martin said.

Also, on Tuesday, the drive will take place in Eastern's Union Ballroom from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., Martin noted.

The goal for the summer drive is 200 pints. Last summer over 300 people donated blood during a one-day drive, Martin noted. Last year's drive was the first Red Cross summer blood drive at Eastern.

Today is the last day for donors to sign up, but walk-ins will be accepted. Students may sign up in Thomas Hall or the Union Walkway from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., Martin added.

In addition, Martin said volunteers who want to help but couldn't attend previously scheduled meetings are still welcome. Volunteers should show up early and a guide at the ballroom's door will give them instructions.

The blood which is donated will be sent to St. Louis for processing, and will then be distributed where it is most needed, Martin said.

Member questions vote on waiver proposal

Matthew Krasnowski

Although the Faculty Senate last week approved a proposal which would offer faculty members' tuition waivers, a senate member questioned approval of contractual matters at Tuesday's meeting.

Senate member Joe Heumann, who was not present during the discussion of the proposal last week, said that the senate "can not discuss contractual matters."

"It is not a senate duty to call for contractual matters," he said.

Senate Chairman Richard Goodrick said the proposal by which the senate will try to make the tuition waiver proposal a policy is not clear; but he said this proposal can be brought in front of the Illinois General Assembly.

"You can approach the legislature as an individual request action," Goodrick said.

After the meeting, he said he did not know where the Faculty Senate could take this proposal but it is within (the senate's) prerogative to take the proposal to the legislature."

Herbert Morice, the senate member who presented the waiver proposal because Eastern's "faculty and staff have very few fringe benefits," said he also is unsure of where the proposal can or will be presented.

However, Donald Dolton, president of Eastern's University Professionals of Illinois and American Association of Teachers local chapters, said the senate must have overlooked "the fact that the senate can be the voice of the faculty in contractual matters."

Morice said he believed he could take the proposal to the Board of Governors and not be required to present it to UPI.

Dolton said the union has attempted to present the waiver proposal before, but could not "because the administration said it would be too expensive."

He added that there are Illinois Board of Higher Education's "regulations that limit the amount of money that the university can use as tuition waivers from the income fund."

If the faculty did receive tuition waivers it would come from the income fund, Dolton said.

This would possibly cause the faculty to take a cut in salary, he said.

Dolton added that there will be attempts to change the IBHE's regulations regarding how much funding can be used toward tuition waivers in the future.

In other business, Morice and senate member Hal Nordin said they spoke with Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, about the possibility of doing away with paying for full tuition and student fees five weeks prior to when classes start.

Morice said he is opposed to paying tuition and fees that far in advance because the state, then, is earning interest on the funds when the students and/or their parents could be earning interest on the funding.

Instead of paying the full tuition and fees, Morice suggested that only a registration fee be charged.

Butler voices opposition to petition

by Matthew Krasnowski

Student Body President Joe Butler said he opposes the Council on Academic Affairs petition which calls for a reduction CAA student members, at the Faculty Senate meeting Tuesday.

The senate chose not to take a position on the petition.

The petition, written by CAA faculty member Jane Lasky, calls for the removal of one of the three student members on the council and asks that the student members be elected at-large instead of being nominated by the student body president and approved by the Student Senate.

In a statement prepared for the Faculty Senate, Butler said he and the Student Government are opposed to the petition and will try to stop its passage.

Butler said the removal of one student vote on the CAA "would show a lack in faith in the students of this university and could cause a terrific strain on student-teacher relations."

The reasons why the petition has been brought up, and the proposed means of selecting CAA student members was also questioned by Butler.

Those calling for a change in the CAA's structure "may be dissatisfied with the way the students voted, but they voted for what they believed was best for the

He added that he was going to try to contact someone from the Student Senate to work together to establish a plan.

Morice was unsure of the future of this idea. "The legislature does not want to lose all this money, but they do not deserve it."

In other business, Heumann made a report on his research into establishing a dining facility for faculty on campus.

He said he also spoke with Williams about the dining facilities and he was "very sympathetic" toward Heumann's concern.

The basement in the west wing of the Union could possibly be a location for a faculty dining area, Heumann suggested.

students," he said.

He added that means which students are selected for the CAA, by presidential recommendation and senate approval, "fairly represented" students.

He said he did not know where funding for a general election of student members to the CAA would generate from.

Whether a student has the time to serve on the CAA was questioned by senate member Joe Heumann.

He said that faculty members are contractually obligated to serve on extracurricular activities where students are not required to be involved in extra activities.

Butler said the students who serve on the CAA are usually student senators and are dedicated to spending time on campus issues.

Coon also said that at last week's meeting it was mentioned that if a student on probation was a part of discussion on probation policy there would be a conflict of interest.

"No one has raised the question of a honors student dealing with honors grade point average policies. They may also have a conflict of interest."

After discussion the Faculty Senate decided not pass a resolution on the petition.

Concerned residents speak against new bar

by Jack Palmer

There may be a new bar opening near the Charleston City Square soon—sooner than surrounding residents would like it to happen.

Mike Bickers and Jim Sears, owners of the Panther Lounge, plan to open the bar at Sixth Street and Jefferson Avenue sometime during the first week of August, when the interior renovations meet city code requirements.

The application for approval of a liquor license was first filed with the city April 9.

The bar, to be located at 221 Sixth St., would be next to the Eagles Club on Sixth Street, between Page One and Ted's Warehouse.

Bickers and Sears plan to be finished with interior renovations by Aug. 6. "We're just waiting for the inside to be finished which will probably be by the first of the month," Sears said.

But, the owners of the proposed bar have met with heated opposition by residents living in the area of the bar in the form of petition and vocal protest.

A 50-signature petition was filed with city officials and nearby residents expressed vocal protest at the May city council meeting.

The reason for the protest stems from the potential traffic problems that could occur at the intersection of Sixth and Jefferson. The proximity of the bar to

What they're saying (city officials) is, 'To hell with people who live there.' I'd be tickled pink if it was a regular 9-5 business moving in there, but I don't want to be kept up every night til 1 a.m.

—Charles Hildebrand, Charleston resident

the Jefferson Street Elementary School has also caused concern to the citizens.

Area residents feel that the already heavy traffic at the corner after school is let out will be made much worse.

One resident who has expressed objections about the new bar is Charles Hildebrand, who resides next to the bar at 614 Jefferson Ave.

"All you have to do is look at that corner at 3:30 in the afternoon some time and you could see how bad it would be with a bar there," Hildebrand said.

"What they're saying (city officials) is, 'To hell with people who live there,'" he said. "I'd be tickled pink if it was a regular 9-5 business moving in there, but I don't want to be kept up every night til 1 a.m."

"I've talked with a lot of people about this and I don't think Clancy Pfeiffer will be mayor next election," Hildebrand added.

Mayor Clancy Pfeiffer, in his role as city liquor commissioner, is caught in a bind of not legally being able to stop the opening of the bar in light of the resident's protest.

The question of the bar being too close to the grade school was also posed by those against the bar opening. It, however is beyond the 100 foot limit from the grade school required by city code.

"Legally, I can't discriminate against them. The building is zoned right, and as long as they meet city requirements and bring the building up to code we can't stop them from opening," Pfeiffer said.

At present, the bar owners have not applied for an occupancy permit, which is the final stage before they can open.

"They haven't called for their occupancy permit," City Zoning Commissioner Terry Sharp said. "They were having some problem with finding parking. Right now they have parking for 16 vehicles, and I don't think they have found any more."

Bar owners are required to provide parking space for each patron and one for employees.

Sears declined to comment on further plans for the bar or its business name.

Lengthening number of class meetings discussed

by Noreen Reilly

The academic calendar committee met for the first time Monday to discuss alternatives to lengthening the number of class meetings in the school year.

The committee, made up of deans, instructors and students, was formed in reaction to concern voiced by members of the faculty about the shrinking number of class meetings.

The Council on Academic Affairs recommends that there be 45 class meetings per semester, but last fall there were only 42 class meetings because the school year shrinks during one day each year, but it inflates one week every third year because classes always start on a Thursday, Joe Butler, student body president and member of the committee, said.

The Faculty Senate recommended last spring that a committee be set up to look into the problem and come up with a resolution.

Butler said some alternatives the committee discussed were cutting out fall break or the Wednesday before Thanksgiving. Another alternative was to start the fall semester earlier.

Butler said a possible way to lengthen the academic year could be accomplished if the registration process would work more efficiently. If this occurred then one of the days scheduled for registration could be used to begin classes.

The possibility of having Good Friday off was also discussed because several students have voiced concern about it, Butler added.

Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, said the committee plans to have a resolution within the next several weeks, to be implemented in the fall semester of 1985.

The plan will be presented to the Faculty Senate and the presidential council for approval, Williams added.

Williams served as acting chairman of the committee Monday because the regular chair, Samuel Taber, dean of student academic services, was on vacation.

The next committee meeting is scheduled for July 23.

Correction

It was incorrectly stated in a cutting in Tuesday's edition of The Summer Eastern News that Uptowner and Cellar owner Mike Knoop looked on the square's sidewalk construction "with disgust." Knoop is a member of the steering committee for the Community Development Assistance Program and is therefore in complete support of the project.

Council allows bike lane for Grant

Paul W. Smith

The Charleston City Council passed an amended ordinance Tuesday that will allow for the addition of a bike lane on the north side of Grant Street from Fourth Street to University Drive.

In its original form, the ordinance stated that the bike lane would stop at Third Street.

The ordinance was amended after City Administrator Mike Steele informed the council that the city would not receive federal highway funding for the project if cars were allowed to park on Grant Street between Third and Fourth Streets.

Steele said that he had received a Federal Highway Administration memo earlier in the day in which the agency stated that it could not help fund the project because of traffic hazards created by parking spaces and a bicycle lane being on the same side of the street.

Council members and Grant Street residents discussed the safety issue and agreed that the bicycle lane should extend to Fourth Street.

Finance Commissioner John Beusch noted that cyclists wanting to go west on Grant Street would have to go around parked cars in order to get into the westbound bike lane.

"It obviously would be a dangerously crowded intersection if cars were allowed to park on the corner. The most dangerous spot to leave parking is where we are proposing to do so," he said.

Beusch added that the extension of the bike lane to Fourth Street would be a safety feature for student bicycle riders.

Public Health and Safety Commissioner Olga Graham agreed that cyclists would be at risk if the bike lane is not extended to Fourth Street.

"People driving cars don't often recognize bicycles as vehicles. We should make it where bicycle riders do not have to go out into the traffic in order to go west down Grant Street," she said.

Before casting the only vote against the ordinance, Public Property Commissioner John Winnett said that he was not in favor of taking parking away from Marty's, 1666 Fourth Street.

"If that were my business, I would be aggravated if the bike lane went all the way to Fourth Street and took away parking for my customers," he said.

At the council's last meeting, Winnett said that the owner of Marty's had complained that he would lose customer parking space if the ordinance was passed by the council.

Marty's owner, Dave Kinnaird, was not present at Tuesday's meeting and has refused to comment on the issue.

Finance Commissioner John Beusch reminded Winnett that it was not the city's responsibility to provide parking for Charleston businesses.

He added that there was a sufficient amount of parking available for Marty's customers at night in the university parking lots adjacent to the business.

"Parking in the university lots is only enforced until 5 o'clock, so we are only talking about a few hours a day that the business at Marty's would be affected," he explained.

The ordinance was drawn-up after the council received a petition signed by Grant Street residents calling for a bike lane on the north side of Grant Street.

According to the petition, the bike lane that currently exists on the south side of the street is not sufficient enough to accommodate two-way bicycle traffic and the "increased" traffic flow on Grant Street.

CAA to discuss course changes

by Matthew Krasnowski

Council on Academic Affairs Chairman Pat Wright said at Thursday's meeting he will suggest that the Computer Awareness Requirement subcommittee resubmit a "more specific" requirement in the fall.

He added that possibly the CAA will vote on the proposed catalog statement outlining the procedure faculty members should follow when academic cheating or plagiarism occurs.

The report from the Computer Awareness Requirement sub-committee, which Wright will announce at the meeting, does not dictate what the students should be required to know about computers, he said.

The report does not say "if they should know how to program a computer, the social/ethical ramifications of computers or how to turn it on," Wright said.

He added that the course or collection of courses that are needed should be more specific also.

"I don't want them to set up an obstacle to graduation that does not mean anything," Wright said. "There should be a legitimate requirement or not one at all."

The computer awareness requirement should be reconsidered for the fall so more student and faculty reactions could be taken, Wright added.

The CAA will also discuss and possibly vote on the proposed catalog statement on academic integrity.

The proposed statement, which would be included in the 1985-86 catalog, states that faculty members can charge a student with academic dishonesty, and if the student admits the violation then the instructor can impose "an appropriate academic penalty."

If the student denies the charge, a hearing may be requested for the student under the Judicial Affairs office.

Wright said defining what "an appropriate academic penalty" is, may be discussed by the CAA.

"The statement does not specify what an appropriate academic penalty is," he said.

Wright added that the CAA wants to get the proposed statement approved as soon as possible so students and instructors have something to refer to in the fall.

In other business, Eastern's Registrar James Martin will be at the meeting to present the probation dismissal rate of the spring semester, Wright said.

Also, two Speech-Communications courses SPC 3630 "Communication in Organizations" and 3700 "Speech Communication Research" will also be discussed and possibly voted on, Wright said.

Changes in the Energy Management major will be discussed at the meeting also, he said.

The meeting will be conducted at 3:30 p.m. Thursday in the Union addition Effingham Room.

Building purchase beneficial

For the last few summers hundreds of students have been on a list. This list is called the "waiting list" for those seeking accommodations in Eastern's residence halls.

In 1982 more than 400 students were on this list in August, and the numbers last year and this year are comparable to the 1982 waiting list.

Editorial

We are happy to hear the list will drop by 54 students in the upcoming weeks because Eastern will soon acquire the former Kappa Delta sorority house, 2211 S. Ninth St. and will use it to house those folks.

The Housing Office plans to spend $10,000 to carpet and repair the hall. That aspect may and should raise some eyebrows. Though the repairs on the house are needed, carpeting the corridors and every room in the hall may be questioned by residents of halls without carpeting.

The expense for purchasing the house will be $190,000 and it is still pending the Illinois' Legislative Audit Commission's approval.

Once students do move into the house, they will be able to experience some of the benefits of living in a residence hall. And Eastern will also benefit from the house and the following lists the positive aspects to be enjoyed by both:

- Students who live in residence halls are in constant contact with the university and made more aware of issues that affect them through hall councils and their resident assistants. Living on campus also gives students the chance to meet scores of new faces.

- The new residence hall will also provide students with a few jobs. Some will be able to work at the hall's desk and a few others will have the chance to become a resident assistant.

- If a time comes when there is no longer a waiting list for students, and the Housing Office has to close the hall, it can possibly be used for other purposes, such as storage and office space.

We support the decision to purchase the Kappa Delta house and to convert it into a residence hall. We hope that it does more for students, so students can do more for Eastern.

Charleston—not a nice place to visit

It's not training camp, the football Cardinals' veterans will tell you, as much as it is the feeling of entrapment that comes from being marooned on Planet Charleston for five or six weeks.

The two-a-day workouts and the seemingly endless meetings and the weightlifting and the sweating all are easy compared to the feeling of suffocation that hits when you walk out of the dormitory and have no place to go.

There's Marty's, a college-type bar across the street from the Eastern Illinois University dormitory in which the Big Red will be quartered beginning Monday (July 16), and it has proved to be a haven for a quickie visit with reality for many younger players.

After the evening meal and the night meetings, there usually is about 45 minutes of free time before curfew. Some players will dash across the street for a few brews. They have time to ogle some of the local girls and play a game of Pac Man before the dorm doors are locked.

Actually, however, the curfew probably is a blessing in disguise. It's easy to go stir crazy in Charleston after the sun sets.

Although Coach Jim Hanifan seems too busy with his films and grading the players to notice the surroundings, he does see some humor in the small-town environment.

Before the Big Red left for London and a exhibition game with the Minnesota Vikings last summer, he told reporters that a few players would be left behind "to guard the post in case the Indians attacked from Mattoon."

Although Hanifan gets lost in his work, his coaching staff has been known to go to unusual extremes to break the monotony.

Terre Haute, Ind., hardly can be considered a bustling metropolis, but there have been some night rides across the back roads to find a more civilized watering hole. The piano bar at the Terre Haute Holiday Inn isn't exactly Studio 54, but it's more than a shade better than Mother's in Charleston.

In the smmer, there are no people in Charleston between the ages of 30 and 50. Folks either wear jeans and ride motorcycles or wear hospital robes and ride wheelchairs.

When the Cardinals trained at Lindenwood College in St. Charles, they apparently had the best of both worlds. They were somewhat removed from the city, but close enough to town not to feel totally lost.

For a number of reasons, Hanifan didn't particularly like Lindenwood. He wanted to practice during the day and the college wanted the Cardinals to work out

Viewpoint:

John Sonderegger

at night so it could sell tickets to the public. Hanifan also didn't like holding workouts before some of the crowds that packed into Lindenwood. He wanted a place where his teams could get away from it all.

He found it in Charleston. No one ventures too far from the dormitory for fear of getting lost forever in a cornfield.

The athletic facilities are excellent at Eastern Illinois, and that helps. But it all gets old after a short time.

The rookies who will be marching into Marty's for their nightly session of the good life will tire of the routine in a couple of weeks. After all, they come in and fire on the young women, flexing their muscles and using their best lines, and then they never can finish what they begin.

Fearing the wrath of Hanifan and his aides, the young players say goodnight early and retreat to their bachelor quarters. No wonder they are so frustrated at practice sessions during the day.

It may be just coincidence, but there will be a new cast of media characters at Charleston this summer. The two beat men fo St. Louis' major newspapers last year have found other endeavors—at least until after training camp.

They were so bored one night last summer that they played a game of Hound & Hair in Charleston. One of them left the motel 15 minutes before the other and tried to get lost in the tiny town. He was found within 30 minutes. The other guy got lost for nearly an hour before he was discovered playing a video game in a nearly empty tavern.

The Big Red public relations staff also will be different this summer. Susie Mathieu went back to the Blues after Charleston and Marty Igel quit the sports field altogether and entered private business.

Shortly after I turned in the Big Red beat and accepted an inside job at the Post-Dispatch, I received a note from assistant coach Dick Jamieson. It read: "You'll do anything to avoid Charleston."

Almost true.

Careless errors are difficult to swallow

One newswriting instructor used to subtract excessive points for misspellings in an assignment, and even more points were taken away if the misspelling was in a name.

"C'mon, Max," we'd argue, "it was only one word, and a typo, at that." But many "A" papers were dropped a letter grade, anyways.

Carelessness was no excuse then, and it isn't now. However carelessness slipped into Tuesday's edition of The Summer Eastern News and each time it happens, our credibility slips as does our morale.

Tuesday's error appeared in a cutline below a photograph which featured Uptowner/Cellar owner Mike Knoop. Standing outside his tavern, Knoop was pictured looking at the sidewalk construction. However, the cutline read "Knoop...looks on with disgust..."—quite inaccurate, especially considering he is a member of the steering committee for the Community Development Assistance Program. Knoop himself was instrumental in initiating the construction, yet the News implied he was "disgusted" with it.

Knoop stood with his hands on his hips and his facial expression might have been one of disgust—or maybe the sun caused him to squint. It's really hard to tell and sometimes a careless assumption is made and objectivity suffers.

Of course this problem is not limited to cutlines, as misleading phrases may appear in copy and headlines. Perhaps a basic rundown of the News operation would explain why some errors appear.

Until I worked for the News, I assumed the reporter wrote the headline for his own story and photographers wrote their own cutlines. However, most reporters spend the day gathering information and writing the story while an entirely different staff of copy editors comes in at night to write headlines and cutlines.

The copy editors' work is proofed by three other editors to ensure its accuracy; yet, some errors can pass undetected by three people as easily as it does one.

Another problem which becomes more evident during the summer is staffing, as fewer people are available to serve as editors.

During the fall and spring, each editor is responsible for stories in a particular area—city, sports, administration, etc. One staff editor, for example, is responsible for all stories relating to student government. Each has a staff of reporters and some staff editors have assistants as well.

However, this summer the editor who is responsible for student government must also take care of administration stories. In addition, this same individual is solely responsible for the Camps and Conferences Guide which appears each week. He's even got a girlfriend in Springfield to visit periodically.

The point here is not a plea for pity; rather, it is to illustrate that the summer workload has been doubled up for everyone—each editor has more to do and less resources available.

Sure, The Summer Eastern News is published only twice weekly, but the work week does not seem lighter than in the fall—staff members are still working five and six days a week.

It's very difficult to pinpoint why the error appeared, but more importantly, the error acted as a cold slap in the face emphasizing the importance of basic journalistic principles like objectivity and accuracy.

The old adage, "Doctors bury their mistakes while journalists print them," unfortunately rings true but the News staff intends to reduce its errors and strive for professionalism.

—Denise Skowron is editor in chief of The Summer Eastern News.

Senate to discuss CAA petition

Matthew Krasnowski

The Summer Student Senate will discuss a resolution that may be recommended to the fall senate dealing with the Council on Academic Affairs petition, Summer Student Senate speaker Cindy Keller said.

The petition calls for the removal of two of the three student members on the CAA and asks that the student members be chosen by an at-large election.

Currently, student CAA members are selected by the student body president's recommendation and the Student Senate's approval.

Keller added that a new revision of the Summer Senate bylaw revisions will be presented at Monday's meeting also.

On July 2, Keller and Financial Vice President John Cole discovered two different sets of bylaws, one written in 1980 and another in 1981, which conflict and limit the senate's responsibilities.

The revisions were being worked on this spring.

The Buddy Button security system will also be reported on, Keller said.

Student Awareness committee co-chairman Paula Johnson said that one problem with the system is the question of whether the university is liable if a student wearing a button is attacked.

Keller said the senate will also discuss the establishment of a rape awareness workshop for the fall senate's consideration.

The Summer Senate will meet at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

Black alumni, students to hold reunion

Diane Schneidman

Eastern's Black Student Union will sponsor the annual black student reunion this weekend, Leslye Logan-Beard, a 1974 Eastern graduate who is working on the organizing committee said.

All black student, alumni or currently enrolled students, are invited to attend, Assistant Director of Student Activities Booker Suggs said.

However, this year's reunion will be different than previous reunions as this is the first time the BSU will be working with an alumni organization in Chicago, Suggs noted.

It is hoped the get-together will bring black Eastern alumni back together. A lot of us have lost contact with each other, so it's just going to be kind of a fun weekend," Beard noted.

In addition, the alumni hope to aid current black Eastern students after graduation and help increase minority enrollment.

"We're all a little more settled," Beard said. "Now's the time to start helping the university."

The reunion will begin with a check-in reception at 3 p.m. Friday at the Afro-American Cultural Center, Beard noted. The reception will continue at the AACC until 8 p.m.

In addition, there will be a pool-side check-in reception at the Charleston Motor Inn from 5:10 to 10 p.m., Beard said. Following the pool-side reception there will be a party from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Union Ballroom, Beard said. The party will consist of music played by a disc jockey and dancing.

On Saturday from 8 to 10 a.m. Lantz Gymnasium will be open for the group's use. Among the gym activities planned are an aerobics workout, lead by 1974 graduate Sandra Rupert, basketball and mini-tennis tournaments, Beard noted. The entire gym will be open for individual use.

Also, there will be a picnic from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday at Fox Ridge, Beard said.

The group will then have time for some rest and relaxation from 6 to 10 p.m. followed by another party in the Union Ballroom, Beard noted.

After a good night's sleep, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday, the alumni will attend a Gospel Music Brunch in the Grand Ballroom, Suggs said.

Check-out time will be around 11 a.m. or noon on Sunday, Beard said.

Civil Air Patrol camp takes flight at Eastern

by Diane Schneidman

There are currently 70 cadets visiting Eastern as part of the 18th Annual Illinois Civil Air Patrol Flight Encampment (CAP), which is held in conjunction with the Coles County Airport and Eastern, CAP sponsor Murray Choate said.

The cadets are here to learn the basics of flying powered aircraft, gliders and hot air balloons, Major John Brownell of the CAP said. There are 28 powered aircraft cadets, 30 glider cadets and 12 hot-air balloon cadets, he added.

The eight-day encampment is one of three in the United States, Choate said. Also, it is the oldest and largest CAP encampment.

Cadets from throughout Illinois apply for admission to the program and then appear before a selection board composed of adult CAP members and U.S. Air Force personnel. "Usually those selected are outstanding CAP cadets," Choate said, who have displayed knowledge and practice of military history, customs and courtesies.

Approximately 60 senior CAP members are assisting the camp by acting as instructors and serving on the logistic staff volunteering for the encampment at their own expense, Choate noted.

Also assisting are Air Force Reserve Personnel and State Department of Transportation-Division of Aeronautics, Choate added.

Choate said there are 60,000 CAP volunteer members including 23,000 teenage and 37,000 adult members. Members fly 6,800 privately-owned aircraft and 600 aircraft owned by CAP. In addition, nearly 12,000 senior members are FAA licensed pilots.

The CAP camp arrived at Eastern July 13 and will be here through July 21, Choate said.

Physical plant adds shop

A new building is currently being constructed to serve as a utility maintenance shop for repairs of steam utilization and refrigeration equipment, Marty Ignazito, assistant physical plant director, said.

The new building will be a part of the Physical Plant which is located behind O'Brien Stadium.

Construction began a few weeks ago, Ignazito said. The contract was awarded during the last part of March to the Keith Dean Construction Company. In addition, he said there are several sub-construction companies which will be working on electricity and ventilation.

Ignazito said the building was needed because previously repair work has been done in one of the unused boiler buildings. "They put the shop on the firing floor," Ignazito noted. "We can't have a shop over there," he said, because there would be too many people running around.

At this point construction is about half way done. It is hoped that the project will be completed by the middle of August, Ignazito said.

eastern's summer CONFERENCE GUIDE

Thursday, July 19, 1984

A weekly supplement of The Summer Eastern News and the Housing Office

Now solo

Cadets and instructors from the Civil Air Patrol fly Cessna 150s while others practice their skill at gliders. The CAP camps are divided into three different camps, one for power flight, another for glider flight and a third in ballooning. Each cadet will fly solo at the end of the week. The Civil Air Patrol utilizes Coles County Airport and will be at Eastern until Saturday. (ESCG photo by Matthew Krasnowski)

Basketball campers to practice teamwork

A group of 250 basketball campers will be utilizing Eastern's sports facilities next week in an effort to improve their team play.

Eastern's Men's Basketball Coach Rick Samuels said both varsity and junior varsity players will be present at the camp and he and Eastern's basketball staff will instruct the campers.

The students will come Eastern with their high school teammates in tow, Samuels said.

He added that the instructors will spend sometime with fundamentals but the "real objective is to give students the opportunity to play with their teammates and develop a team concept."

Both varsity and junior varsity players will be present at the camp and Eastern's basketball staff will instruct the campers, Samuels said.

The teams will be able play at least 12 games together, he added and those who make it into the weekend tournament will be able to play two more games.

The camp will arrive Sunday and stay until July 27 at Taylor Hall.

Music camps in tune

The fourth group of student musicians will be on campus Sunday as part of Eastern's Music Camp 1984 program.

The musicians will work in four different music areas: Intermediate Keyboard, Junior High Band II, Junior High Swing Choir and Chamber Music.

The 35 members of the Intermediate Keyboard camp will be working on piano and other keyboard instrument skills during the week. They will also study music literature and theory classes.

In the Junior High Band II camp, the 74 members will practice their ensemble and small sectional skills along with studying music appreciation and specialized music theory.

The Junior High Swing Choir's 33 members will have Jody Mizener instructing their choral class and will also study choreography, basic singing and movement skills.

A sole Chamber Music For Strings Camper will also be present on campus learning that style of music.

The conferees will be able to take part in Talent Night, which is conducted at the Dvorak Concert Hall. During the show conferees share their talents with each other and every member is asked to participate.

The camps will be arriving Sunday and will stay in Lawson Hall until July 28.

The director of the camp is Joseph Martin, the assistant is James Brinkman. The deans are Chris Lange and Richard Drew.

Eastern students and faculty members will instruct the camps.

Civil Air cadets to soar

Eastern's campus will receive a unique international flavor Monday with the arrival of the International Air Cadets.

Civil Air Patrol Major Bob York said the cadets are from both Switzerland and Singapore and will be on Eastern's campus Monday as part of the International Air Cadet Exchange program.

The cadets will try to get as much power air craft experience as they can while they are here, he said.

The cadets use gliders and do not get much experience with power air crafts in their native lands, because the cost of flying is very expensive, York said.

The cadets will be flying Cessna 150 and 152 airplanes.

The group will be utilizing the facilities at Coles County Airport in Charleston.

Eastern's Civil Air Patrol representative, Murray Choate said it was possible that the cadets could be flying some unique air craft while they are here.

Biwing and dual engine planes may be used, Choate said.

The group will be at Eastern until Wednesday.

Welcome parents, students to-be...

Future Eastern students and their parents visit Eastern's campus almost every day of the summer to take part in the New Student Orientation program.

Mary Smith, assistant director of housing, said nearly 1,500 future students and their parents will tour the campus as part of E.I.U. Debut 1984.

During this program both students and parents are introduced to all different aspects of Eastern's campus and students can pre-register for classes, Smith said.

The program begins in the as soon as the parents and students arrive in the afternoon.

First, students majoring in business, industrial technology, pre-engineering, chemistry, physics or mathematics may report to Phipps Lecture Hall (Science Building) by 3:30 p.m. for the required placement examination. The placement exam will be offered during the morning of the second day for those who could not arrive in the afternoon.

After dinner, a panel program will be offered, Smith said. In this program, titled "A Student View of E.I.U." Eastern students will answer questions that the future students and parents have about life on campus and in Charleston.

At 7:45 an optional campus tour will be offered and access to free bowling lanes and billiards tables will be offered.

The next day, pre-registration activities will take place for students. Within this an adviser appointment is scheduled. Participation for students in this is mandatory and it is recommended for parents.

Smith said the program begins at 8 p.m. in Pickles (the basement of the University Union addition).

From there students will meet with advisers, register for classes and take tests that will aid in course placement.

At registration, photos will be taken for student I.D. cards.

Speech and hearing tests will be required during the afternoon, also.

After lunch, future students and their parents can tour the campus, or search for off-campus housing in Charleston, Smith said.

For those who want to see what living in one of Eastern's residence halls is like, a tour of a residence hall will be offered at 1:30 p.m., she added.

There is a greeting area in the University Union addition lobby for those who want to relax while their others tour the campus and town.

The orientation program has been popular, Smith said. "People leave with a fairly positive impression of Eastern."

"We want to show them that Eastern is a caring school and that we care about the students here," she added.

...tips to make your stay pleasant

Check-In All guests may check in and obtain their room key and linen at the main desk located in the lobby of the residence hall which you are assigned. Generally, most rooms will be ready after 1 p.m. on the specified day of arrival.

Check-Out Noon Due to the great demand for residence hall accommodations during the summer months we ask that you please plan to check out of your rooms by noon. We rotate our rooms throughout the summer and the noon check-out time allows our cleaning staff enough time to clean the rooms before our next guests arrive. If you have a conflict with scheduling, please consult the Hall Counselor at the main desk.

Meal Tickets If you have pre-ordered meal tickets through the mail or via telephone, they should be in the envelope with your key. If you have not purchased tickets and now would like to do so, they are available at the main desk.

If you want to purchase breakfast tickets, it will be necessary for you to purchase them on your arrival night, because the main desk will not open until 8:30 a.m. Breakfast is scheduled before 8 a.m. because the first pre-enrollment meeting begins at 8 a.m.

Also, lunch tickets need to be purchased before noon of the pre-enrollment day because the desk closes between noon and 1 p.m.

Meal Ticket Refunds If you have ordered tickets and are unable to use them, please leave them at the desk and your money will be refunded at a later date via Eastern Illinois University check. It is not possible to refund cash. Please make sure your correct name/address is attached to the tickets which you want refunded.

Room Refunds If for some reason, you do not use as any room reservations as you previously requested, please inform the Hall Counselor. Again, it is not possible to refund cash.

Linens/Keys When checking out of the residence hall (noon), please bring your dirty linen and key to the check-out area and have an Eastern Summer Staff member check your linen ad key in so that additional charges will not have to be assessed.

Questions? Please feel free to consult one of our Summer Staff persons.

Want to know more about Eastern? Admission information is available

Conferees who are interested in attending Eastern Illinois University should contact Eastern's Office of Admissions.

John Beacon, director of admissions, said that potential future students can receive admission information and applications for entry into Eastern by contacting the Office of Admissions.

When one receives an application it is best to wait until the early fall of a students' senior year in high school to apply, Beacon advised.

There is no fee for applying and applications are processed immediately after they are received, Beacon said.

Applicants will receive a notice from the Office of Admissions in two weeks, he added.

Guaranteed admission into Eastern does not mean that on-campus housing is guaranteed, Beacon said.

He advised students to apply for housing before applying for admission.

To be eligible for entry into Eastern some academic requirements must be met.

To be admitted to the Eastern candidates must:
Fall Semester—

1. rank in the upper half of their high school class based on six or more semesters,

2. or achieve an ACT composite score of 19 (SAT of 820).

Spring Semester or Summer Terms—

1. rank in the upper two-thirds of their high school class based on six or more semesters,
2. or achieve an ACT composite score of 17 (SAT 760).

Beacon noted that beginning freshman who could not meet regular admission requirements have the chance of entering Eastern through the Prescriptive Curriculum Admissions Program.

The PCAP is not remedial or conditional—it includes only regularly offered University courses—and the number of students accepted into the program is limited by available resources.

For more information on applying at Eastern, the requirements or PCAP contact by calling:

You can't beat fun at the ol' ballpark

IM softball play resumes in wind

By Bill Tucker
With Mother Nature in attendance in the form of Trade Winds, play continued Tuesday in the men's intramural summer softball league.

A stiff wind blowing in from the northwest, towards home plate, turned routine fly balls into adventures for both infielders and outfielders.

The wind did not seem to bother Ho Daddys however as they destroyed The Salamanders 15-1 in a six inning contest.

The 5:15 game was supposed to pit Hit List against The Dragon Flies, however, The Dragon Flies were forced forfeit for the second time in two days. Members of The Dragon Flies are attending a funeral which accounts for their recent forfeits.

In the 6:15 contest, a much improved Diablos unit whipped the Masters of the Universe 16-4.

Left fielder Keith Bradley and shortstop Alan Snyder had three hits each while first baseman David Carey had three hits and scored three runs for Diablos.

Mu Ling's Blazing Rice Balls and What Ever took a scheduled day off.

Monday's schedule will feature Mu Ling's Blazing Rice Balls matching up against The Salamanders in the 4:15 game. At 5:15, What Ever will tangle with Ho Daddys and the 6:15 contest will offer Diablos and The Dragon Flies.

QUOTE of the week

"We still don't have it. Free throw practice is tomorrow at eight. We're terrible at free throws, but were good after bars parties." IM basketball player David James critiquing his teams abilities on and off the court.

Too much rum & coke last night, Sheryl?

Cubs

Every Cubbie had a face of seriousness.

And after Sandberg belted his 12th homer of the season in the 10th inning to best L.A. 3-2, the Cubs' act probably hypnotized a few more suckers into thinking Chicago will win the division.

Wrong! Cub fans must not forget some past Cub hypnotic miracles. Ernie Banks, Don Kessinger, Glenn Beckert, Ron Santo and company spun the best web in '69, tricking everyone until September when the Mets broke out of their eight-year trance.

More recently, the '79 Bruce Sutter Cubs acted like winners for a while. They were ahead by six games at the All-Star break, but fizzled away under the hot Chicago sun.

For those still caught in the Cub trance, a comparison of this year's team with the '69 squad, considered by many to be Chicago's finest club in modern baseball, might help some snap out of their hypnotic insanity.

Ninety percent of baseball is pitching, so let's start with the hurlers. This year's staff is OK, but Rick

from page 12

Reuschel, Dennis Eckersley, Rick Sutcliffe, Dick Ruthven and Scott Sanderson do not have the talent that Ken Holtzman, Fergie Jenkins, Bill Hands, Phil Regan and Dick Selma had.

For both hitting and fielding, the '69 infield rates better than the '84 unit—even with an awesome player such as Sandberg. I would take Kessinger, Banks and Santo over Bowa, Durham and Cey any year. The '69 unit were better fielders and hitters. As a manager, I would like to have my infield batting .298, .267 and .295 instead of .232, .304 and .220.

The '69 outfield has an edge over the '84 team too. Sweet-swinging Billy Williams, Don Young and Jim Hickman made a better outfield than Gary Matthews, Bob Dernier and Keith Moreland.

For those of you still trapped in the web, there's a simple way to snap out of the hypnotic trance—don't watch the hypnotists.

Or better yet, become a Baltimore Orioles' fan.

Cubs are something at hypnosis but not as good playing baseball

Bobby Dernier expresses total concentration at the plate during batting practice. With a pinch of chew between his cheek and gums and bat in hand last Thursday at Wrigley Field he managed to connect. If you were to compare Dernier to the '69 Cub centerfielder Don Young, he would have an unfair advantage in each aspect of the game. (News photo by Gary Burrows)

Chicago Cub ballplayers are obviously in the wrong business. Instead of pretending to be contenders for the National League East pennant, the Cubs ought to change their professions to suit their real talent.

Talent! The Cubs have talent? Sure, the Northsiders have more talent in one of their little fingers than Pat Collins has in her whole body; which is why the Cubs should switch from baseball to hypnotism.

They are master hypnotists, and after a visit to Wrigley Field Thursday, I'm even more convinced that Jim Frey and company would make more dough as professional mesmerizers than professional baseball bunglers.

Almost every summer, the Cubs mastermind a brilliant trance on the baseball world. They weave a web of deception that traps fans, writers and other teams into thinking a championship flag will wave on the foul pole over Sheffield Avenue.

Talk of a Chicago league championship abounds again this season, and the Cubs are successfully weaving its newest web. Ryne Sandberg, perhaps Chicago's most sought-after male, Bob Dernier, Leon Durham, Steve Trout and the other 21 Cubbies are luring fans into their trap.

Even Lou Boudreau, one of Chicago's premier baseball experts, said the 1984 Cubs should be watched closely, and when September rolls around, the Cubs will be near the top of the division.

Perhaps Boudreau's correct, but true Cub fans unfortunately will exude feelings of despair and anger after the season's final game and the Cubs are nowhere near first place. And first place is all that matters to Cub fans. They haven't seen a Cub championship since 1945, and they are hungry for one this year.

Even the Cubs look hungry, which is a crucial part of their hynotism act. After rubbing elbows with them for two and a half hours on the field before Thursday's game against the Dodgers, I was actually believing that the darlings of baseball would be serious contenders this year.

Batting and fielding practice is not taken lightly. Even veterans like Larry Bowa and Ron Cey warm up with taught faces, hard swings and dripping sweat.

Panthers will send athletes to state play

by Dobie Holland

While competing in the first Prairie State Games, scheduled to begin Thursday in Champaign, Eastern will be well represented in women's and men's basketball, swimming, and track and field.

The Prairie State Games have been called the state wide Olympic Games in which eight regions through out the state will compete as countries would during the Olympics, Ray Padovan Eastern Swimming Coach and swimming and diving regional chairman for the Prairie State Games said in March.

Panther Basketball Coach Rick Samuels will be coaching basketball for region six, the Blue-Grey region, the team which covers an area as far North as Kankakee, as far South as Charleston-Mattoon, and as far West as Bloomington-Normal.

Samuels said that Kevin Duckworth and Jon Collins will represent Eastern at the games along with University of Illinois' Quinn Richardson, Scott Meents, Ken Norman and former Illini cager Kevin Bontemps are going to play a key role on the Blue-Grey unit.

"It will be very interesting, since this is the initial year of competition. We will be as young as any region as far as age."

The first game for the Blue-Grey cager unit will be on Thursday at 11 a.m. against the Pioneer region.

Meanwhile, Bobbi Hilke and Deanna D'Abbraccio will be co-coaching women's basketball along with Melinda Fisher from Illinois State University.

Toni Collins and Melanie Hatfield are two Eastern cagers who will suit up for the Blue-Grey 10 player team. D'Abbraccio said that outside of Collins and Hatfield, she was impressed with Kendra Gantt of U of I and Marla Maupin of ISU.

Track and field events will feature several athletes from Eastern representing the region, including Tom Akers trackster assistant coach. "Akers will run the 400 intermediate," said head coach Neil Moore who is not affiliated with the games in an official capacity.

"Austin Luckett will be in the javelin and Rick Francis will be in the weight lifting. Mark Heiss who we recruited from Charleston will be competing in the 400," Moore said.

Miguel Carrion from Ecuador is the lone representative from Eastern competing in the Blue-Grey division as a swimmer, but there are Panthers who will compete in their hometown regions, Padovan said.

IM basketball pulls through highlights and lowlights

by Dobie Holland

Basketball games can be like snowflakes. Pretty to look at until you wind up in them. And other times they are not nice to look at.

This was the case Tuesday night at McAfee Gym as Intramural competition during the first two games could have been played better. But the final contest was a pretty sight indeed.

The Ghostbusters took their unblemished record into game one against a struggling Under Surveillance squad and before Under Surveillance could bat an eye they were up to their necks in trouble as the Ghostbusters jumped ahead by 12 points, 16-4.

Turnovers and miscues were plentiful throughout the first half of play.

Despite the Surveillance's hustling attempts the Ghostbusters took a confident 28-20 lead at the half.

At the 16:45 mark of the second half, the Ghostbusters managed to put the pieces together and stretched their lead to 32-20.

Surveillance never recovered and the Ghostbusters cruised to a 46-38 win.

Sloppy run and gun offense were the lowlights of the second game as the Phi Sigs and the Lakers did not score a point until 13:40 was left in the first half. The half concluded with a tight score at 26-25, Phi Sigs.

The second half was a repeat of the first half as the Sigs managed to outlast the Lakers by a 53-45 count.

A slow down offense, crisp passing, and radar like shooting had the final contest of the evening looking more like a televised NCCA contest than an IM game.

The Superstars and G Force played each other close during the first half of the contest as they traded baskets for the first ten minutes of the first half.

Finally G Force managed to open up a four point lead with 6:26 remaining in the half. It was the awesome offensive display of Scott Kobus and the power rebounding and scoring of Jeff Fenton that fueled the G Force. But the standout effort of Greg Reinhart guided the Superstars to a 27-26 half margin.

Kobus opened the second half with two steals and two spectacular fast break lay ups to give G Force its biggest lead of the game, 32-26.

There was a trading of baskets for most of the second half. But the relentless determination of the Superstars sparked them to a comeback as they climbed to within three points with 56 seconds left.

With just 15 ticks on the clock, Reinhart sunk two clutch free throws to close the gap to one at 60-59. The Superstars proceeded to foul the G Force which stopped the clock with seven seconds left.

G Force missed the free throws but Kobus snatched the rebound and put in the security bucket sinching a 62-59 victory for G Force.
