U.S. pondering military strike against Libya

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Reagan was Monday to be studying the possibility of a military strike against Libya as the United States compiled evidence that the renegade Arab republic was involved in the fatal bombing of a West Berlin disco.

Ambassador Richard Burt, the U.S. envoy to West Germany, said there were "very clear indications that there was Libyan involvement" in the nightclub bombing that killed an American Army sergeant and a Turkish woman.

When asked whether he favored a military move against Khadafy, Burt said that Reagan was "studying this issue right now."

One U.S. diplomat in the divided city, speaking on condition he not be identified, said: "The Libyan angle is being explored very vigorously. Khadafy is a prime suspect."

On his return from a California vacation Sunday, Reagan refused to comment when reporters asked him whether he planned to strike at the Libyan leader. He ignored questions Monday as he left the White House to watch the start of the Baltimore Orioles' season-opening baseball game against the Cleveland Indians.

At the White House, spokesman Edward Djerejian said the administration would "have to reserve final judgement on exactly who was responsible until we make further progress on the investigations."

But he said the weekend explosion in West Berlin and the bombing last week of a TWA jetliner over Greece followed the "pattern of terrorist activities that Col. (Moammar) Khadafy has sponsored in the past."

Burt, however, indicated the United States had intelligence information before the Berlin bombing that the Libyan embassy in East Berlin was planning a terrorist attack.

Djerejian said one action the United States is seeking following the two recent terrorist incidents involving Americans is "the possible closing of more Libyan Peoples' Bureaus known to be the source of terrorist planning and activity."

Although the European allies have declined in the past to go along with U.S. attempts to coordinate the economic and diplomatic isolation of Khadafy, Djerejian said the latest terrorist incidents, "both on European soil, have sensitized the Europeans to the danger, that the danger is really at their doorstep, not only at our doorstep."

Djerejian said that in its various diplomatic communications, the United States is stressing that "it's imperative for the civilized community to work together much more effectively than ever in the past."

Charleston's request rejected by ESDA

By JIM ALLEN
Senior reporter

Illinois' Emergency Services and Disaster Agency last week rejected Charleston's request to pay for $16,000 in preventative work the city did to protect its water supply from spring flooding.

In recent weeks, the city followed the recommendation of Springfield-based Hanson Engineers Inc. and piled rocks an average of five feet higher on the five "finger dikes" which extend from a main dike which holds back Charleston's water supply. The cost of building up the finger dikes was $16,000.

The main dike holds a water reservoir on one side and on the other side faces the lake bed, now dry since that portion of Lake Charleston has drained downstream through the collapsed section of the dam.

The finger dikes are currently not touching what remains of the lake—a half-filled, 10-foot-deep channel which cut its way back from the broken dam.

The city built up the dikes to a level high enough to withstand a sizable flood, Assistant City Engineer Dan England said.

But Illinois ESDA Director Chuck Jones said from Springfield Monday that Charleston was not facing an emergency when reinforcing the finger dikes, and thus the project didn't qualify for state funding.

ESDA paid for the original finger-dike construction in late November after the channel appeared ready to slice through the main dike. That prompted Gov. James R. Thompson to declare that the city was in a state of emergency, and made the project eligible for emergency funding.

"The biggest factor which is not currently present is that it's not an emergency," Jones said. "Let's say it starts raining real heavily in the Charleston area. At that time this case could be reconsidered."

"I'm frustrated that I could not make that money available, but if the flooding does not come, we will have misused the taxpayers' money," Jones said.

Another factor, Jones said, is that the state is experiencing little spring flooding and is expecting the season to remain a dry one.

Water from Lake Charleston has drained into the 10-foot-deep channel which cut its way back from the dam after it broke open last fall. The lack of rain so far this spring has left large areas of the former lake bed exposed. Finger dikes that were recently built up by the city will not be paid for out of state emergency funds because of low water levels, an Emergency Services and Disaster Agency official said Monday.

"I remember a year ago going into the appropriation meetings when at least a fourth of the state's counties fell under a federal declaration of a state of emergency," Jones said. "This year the triggering mechanisms for funding are just not in place."

"The rivers are low right now. That's not to say it won't happen, but major flooding in Illinois does not seem likely to happen and I hope I'm right," Jones said.

England, who has supervised the work on the dikes since November, said he had to agree with Jones. "Their reasoning is quite understandable—it can't really be considered an emergency when the sky is blue."

Last March and April, Jones said, some 30 Illinois counties were given emergency status after the Illinois, Rock and Wabash rivers climbed over their banks and left hundreds homeless.

With the city now stuck with the bill for the recent work, Council Executive Assistant Chris Bezruki defended the expense saying it had to be done as the city was grappling with a "calculated risk."

"I think we acted with prudence. You never know when the water will rise," Bezruki said. "The city was just not in the position to take the risk."

Rives supports reinstatement of fall break

By BILL DENNIS
and AMY CARR
Staff writers

Eastern President Stanley Rives will recommend to the Board of Governors at its June 19 meeting that fall break be included in the 1987-88 calendar without provisions for making up the lost class day.

In a prepared statement, Rives said he approved the recommendation of the Ad-Hoc Committee for the University Calendar to schedule fall break on Oct. 30, 1987. The committee made no provisions to make up the lost date.

After finding that it would not be feasible to add another class day to the calendar, Samuel Taber, dean of student academic services, sent a letter to Rives asking that fall break be scheduled without adding an extra day to make up for the lost day.

Tim Greiter, a student senator who served on the ad-hoc committee, said he was surprised a lot of administrators were for the idea of giving up a class day.

"I think it's a good idea," Greiter said. "It shows the teachers and administration are concerned about the students."

"It seems like they've been taking a lot away lately, it's nice to see the students getting something for a change."

Senate Speaker Joe O'Mera said he thinks it's great that the administration is finally doing something about the break.

He added that although the BOG must still approve the proposal, "I assume they (BOG) would say yes, if President Rives recommended it."

Lewis Coon, a member of the ad-hoc committee and the Faculty Senate, said he did not support the committee's proposal because it did not include a provision for making up the lost day.

"The original recommendation included a provision for making up the lost date," Coon said. "That was my concern as a Faculty Senate member."

Senate Chair Jayne Ozier said the loss of a class day should be no hardship for instructors.

"I tend to think faculty can be

Carson's declines buy-out offer

CHICAGO—Saying they wanted to remain independent, and weren't convinced a potential buyer had enough money to complete a sale, the Board of Directors of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. has rejected a second buy-out offer.

Baytree Investors Inc. is seeking to acquire all the outstanding common stock of Chicago's second largest department store chain.

"We have heard nothing," Carson's spokeswoman Kate Walsh said Monday, when asked if a third offer was expected.

Two Illinois lakes net big harvests

CARLYLE—The just-ended commercial fishing season on two of Illinois' largest reservoirs fell short of past harvests, but the state official in charge of the program is more than satisfied with the results.

Commercial fishermen hauled 560,000 pounds of fish from Rend Lake, a record for the reservoir straddling Jefferson and Franklin counties, said Bill Fritz, who heads the commercial program for the Department of Conservation.

However, Fritz said the haul from the 26,000-acre Carlyle Lake—the largest man-made lake in Illinois—was only about 160,000 pounds.

Cat owners to vote on new name

PEORIA—Caterpillar Tractor Co. stockholders gather this week in San Francisco for their most significant annual meeting in years, voting on a new company name and corporate charter and on tough, "poison pills" aimed at discouraging unfriendly takeovers.

Caterpillar officials say they know of no corporate raiders casting longing eyes at the company. They call the anti-takeover proposals preventive medicine, designed to let management react from a position of strength to any unsolicited takeover attempts.

The company has asked holders of about 98 million shares of common stock to change the Peoria-based company's name to Caterpillar Inc. and to move its legal residence to Delaware from California, where Caterpillar was incorporated in 1925.

Grotberg to stay in election race

WASHINGTON—Republican Rep. John Grotberg of Illinois, who earlier this year lapsed into a coma after suffering complications from an experimental cancer treatment, is alert and continuing to recover, aides reported Monday.

"He is sitting up and continuing to make progress," said Steve Trossman, the congressman's press secretary.

Trossman also said that barring a change in plans, Grotberg will remain a candidate for re-election.

Grotberg, 61, emerged from a six-week-long coma early last month. He is hospitalized at the National Institutes of Health in suburban Bethesda, Md.

Philippine finance minister says they need $680 million from U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Philippine finance minister said Monday his country needs an additional $100 million in U.S. economic aid, plus $580 million in loans, to avert a financial crisis that could undermine the new government of Corazon Aquino.

"We are in an emergency situation," Jaime Ongpin said in a speech at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

He said the Aquino government will not have enough money to pay its bills for the rest of the year unless it gets help. "We are in trouble, I can tell you."

Congress is already considering $100 million for the Philippines, in addition to $214 million previously approved, and is considered likely to appropriate the larger amount.

But Ongpin said it is equally important for Washington to help persuade the International Monetary Fund and commercial banks to make $580 million in previously approved funds available by the end of June. He also said the United States should put pressure on Japan to give assistance.

"This role is as important as direct U.S. aid," he said. "If we do not get that support from the IMF and commercial banks, we are back in a situation where we could have a foreign exchange crisis."

Such a crisis, he said, "would undermine not only the economy, but the new administration."

He said that as a result of the policies of ousted President Ferdinand Marcos, the Aquino government faces a budget deficit.

Bush says prices won't stabilize

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia (AP)—Vice President George Bush said Monday that no solution was reached on ways to stabilize plunging oil prices during his three days of talks with leaders of this oil-rich desert kingdom.

Bush also said the United States and Saudis disagree on desired oil price levels "because I think in their view, the stronger the price for international oil the better. . . . That does not coincide with the best interest of the United States."

Before he flew to Bahrain on the second stop of a Middle East trip that includes visits to Oman and North Yemen, Bush said, "We don't have a plan for stabilizing prices. We want to see what comes out of the OPEC meeting" scheduled for April 15 in Geneva.

The 13-member Organization of Petroleum

Exporting Countries last month was unable to reach an agreement to lower production to stabilize plunging oil prices.

Bush said "we didn't go in there trying to lean on somebody to do one thing or another. We believe that market (forces) can (work) even though the market is imperfect when you have OPEC."

The vice president, who met with King Fahd for two and a half hours into the early morning Monday, was asked whether any common ground was reached on ways to stabilize oil prices, which have plunged 60 percent to an average of about $12 a barrel since November.

"Not really. . . . I hope there is a better understanding on their part. . . . Certainly there wasn't any common solution found," he said.

4 gunmen shoot Irish policeman

BELFAST, Northern Ireland—Four gunmen believed to be from the Irish Republican Army Monday shot and seriously wounded a police officer in Londonderry after hijacking a taxi, officials said.

Also Monday, a gunman opened fire on an armored police Land Rover in a Protestant section of Belfast, and Protestant gangs armed with gasoline bombs and rocks attacked the homes of six policemen, authorities said.

No injuries were reported in attacks on the policemen's homes.

The attacks were the latest prompted by Protestant outrage over an Anglo-Irish accord giving the Irish Republic a consultative say in administration of the British province. The Irish Republic is predominantly Roman Catholic, while Northern Ireland is 60 percent Protestant.

Police inspector Bill Scott of Londonderry, Ulster's second-largest city, said suspected guerillas firing from the hijacked taxi shot the off-duty policeman, who was not in uniform and was driving his own car.

Asked if the gunmen appeared to be from the outlawed IRA or its Marxist offshoot, the Irish National Liberation Army, Scott told The Associated Press: "It is one of those two—look more like the IRA."

The predominantly Roman Catholic IRA is fighting to push the British out of the province and set up an all-Ireland socialist state.

Tenth Decade program raises $1 million early

By JANET SIWICKI

Staff writer

By reaching the $1 million mark by April 1, the Tenth Decade Campaign is five months ahead of schedule.

"We thought it would take 18 to 20 months to get to the point we are now," Charles Ross, Eastern University development director, said. The drive to collect $5 million in contributions by April 1 began 15 months ago.

Ross said equal amounts of donations came from alumni, friends of Eastern and corporations, foundations and organizations.

The one millionth dollar came from Dorothy Leggitt of Chicago.

Leggitt's donation qualified her for renewal of her membership to the President's Club where members contribute $1,000 annually.

"Eastern Illinois University has played a significant role in my life, and I am happy that I am able to assist the university in its development program," said Leggitt, an Eastern University honorary degree holder and distinguished Alumnus recipient.

The amount of Leggitt's donation was not released.

Endowed gifts totaled just over

$350,000 by April 1. Other balances stand at: awards and scholarships, $308,000; student life enrichment, $268,500; academic programs support, $196,000; capital development $112,600; unrestricted gifts, $100,600.

"We are extremely pleased with the progress we have made," Eastern University President Stanley Rives said in a released statement. "Now we look forward to increased attention to the 'Make Room for Art' campaign."

Currently, the $300,000 art effort is "reaching a stage where we can begin the solicitation (of bids) process," Ross said.

A Decatur architectural firm has completed a preliminary basic design for the proposed 20-room art studio, the release stated.

To help support the project, a Burl Ives benefit concert will be held at 8 p.m. on April 24 in McAfee Gym.

In addition to Make Room for Art, another Tenth Decade Campaign project is the "Brighten O'Brien" effort, which reached its $440,000 goal in January.

The money will be used for lights and renovation of O'Brien Field.

Faculty Senate to discuss liability, communications

By BILL DENNIS

Administration editor

The status of liability insurance and communication are the subjects of Tuesday's "informational" Faculty Senate meeting.

Jayne Ozier, Faculty Senate chair, and Verna Armstrong, vice president for administration and finance, will discuss liability insurance for faculty and students at 2 p.m.

Ozier said some students have been "turned away" from their scheduled internships because of the employers' concerns about a liability insurance.

The Faculty Senate will meet at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Murfreesville Room.

There has been recent controversy over communication between the Faculty Senate and administrators.

Ozier said Eastern President Stanley Rives is scheduled to speak to the senate at 2:30 p.m. about bettering communication between the administration and senate.

When a group was formed by Vice President for Academic Affairs Edgar Schick to review bylaws of the Council on Academic Affairs, the Council on Graduate Studies and the Council on Teacher Education, Faculty Senate members expressed concern that the group was bypassing the senate's jurisdiction over the three councils. That concern was reported in The Daily Eastern News.

This prompted Schick to send a memo to the senate stating that the News was not the "best form of communication." Schick said any changes the group recommended would go through the Senate.

The News reported that Schick was blaming the paper for causing the misconception.

Schick later said he was only suggesting senators talk with him directly, not through the News, and was not blaming the student press.

Conductor helps Illinois lure Japanese auto firm

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. James R. Thompson said Monday that his effort to lure a second Japanese auto manufacturer to Illinois may have been given a boost by Sir Georg Solti, conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Thompson toured Japan two weeks ago with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and used the occasion to pitch the state's financial advantages to Japanese auto manufacturer Fuji Heavy Industries Ltd., which makes Subaru cars and trucks.

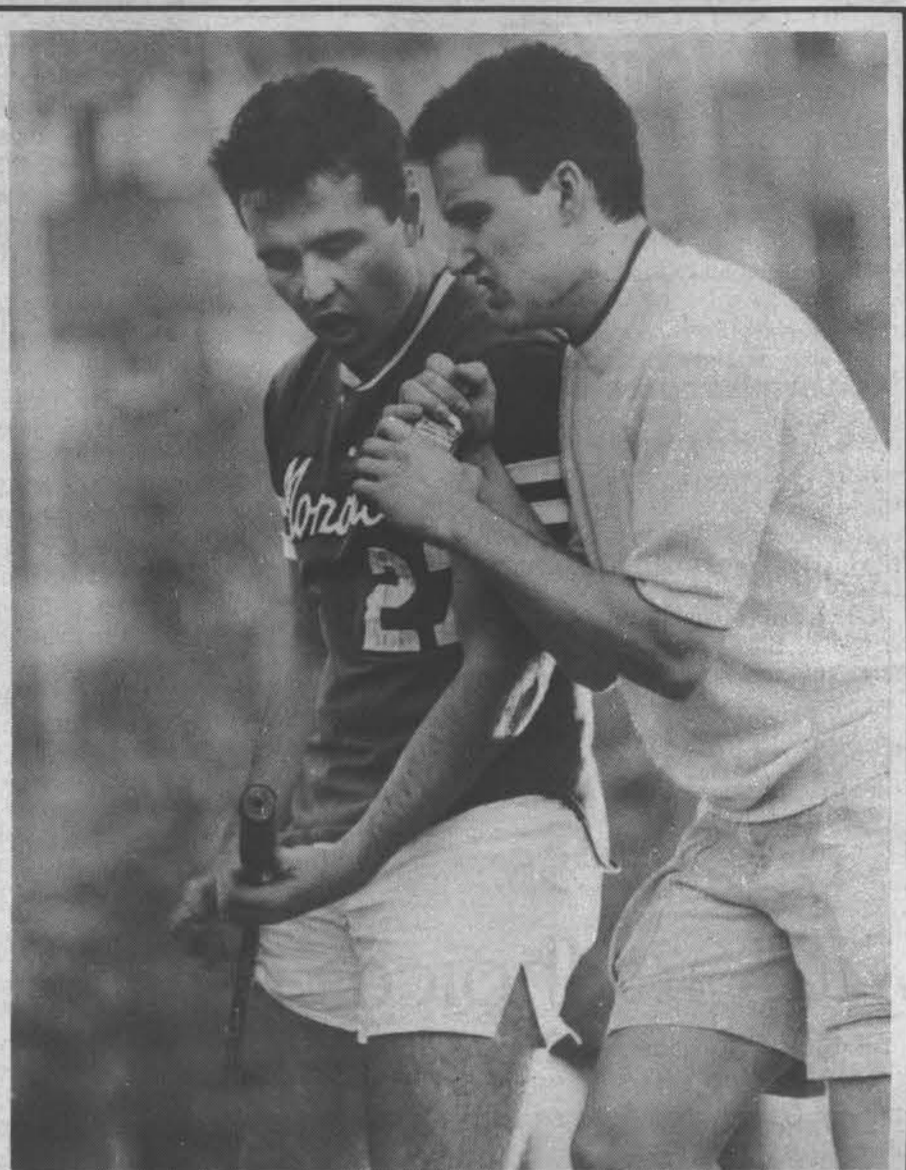

"All I've said to them simply is, 'If you plan to come to the U.S. and build a plant, we'd like a chance to compete for it'" Thompson said during an appearance Monday at the Illinois Institute of Technology.

"And all they've said is, 'If we decide to come to the U.S., Illinois will have a chance to compete.'"

Thompson said his pitch got some unexpected help when he escorted a top Fuji official to a Chicago Symphony performance. Thompson said his guest met Solti, who, it turns out, drives a Subaru.

Thompson said Fuji has not made a final decision on building a Subaru assembly plant in the United States, and that any extensive comment from him would violate the Japanese preference for secrecy in business dealings and could harm Illinois' chances for the plant.

Supreme Court votes on cross-examination

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Monday that denying a criminal defendant the right to cross-examine fully a prosecution witness is not automatic grounds for throwing out a conviction.

The court said, by a 6-3 vote, that the test must be whether limiting cross-examination is "harmless error" that had no bearing on the outcome of the verdict.

The court ordered further hearing by the Delaware Supreme Court to determine whether more complete cross-examination should have been allowed of a witness who testified against Robert Van Arsdall.

The state court threw out Van Arsdall's conviction for murdering Doris Epps, who was stabbed to death during a 1981 New Year's Eve party.

Justice William H. Rehnquist said that the Delaware Supreme Court must determine whether limiting cross-examination "was harmless beyond a reasonable doubt."

Rehnquist continued, "Whether such an error is harmless in a particular case depends upon a host of factors . . . These factors include the importance of the witness' testimony in the prosecution's case, whether the testimony was cumulative, the presence or absence of evidence corroborating or contradicting the testimony of the witness on material points, the extent of cross-examination otherwise permitted, and, of course, the overall strength of the prosecution's case."

Justice Byron R. White provided a seventh vote to overturn the Delaware Supreme Court's ruling throwing out Van Arsdall's conviction.

But White said he would give broad discretion to the trial judge to restrict cross-examination.

Justices Thurgood Marshall and John Paul Stevens dissented.

Prosecutors said Van Arsdall murdered Ms. Epps after an all-day New Year's Eve party on Dec. 31, 1981.

There was testimony that Ms. Epps was murdered after she passed out and following angry quarrels among the guests.

The party was held in a small apartment house in Smyrna, Del. Guests mingled between the apartments of Daniel Pregent and Robert Fleetwood, who live across the hall from each other.

When a fight broke out shortly before midnight, Fleetwood ordered all but two guests to leave his apartment.

Soon after, one of the guests testified, Van Arsdall knocked on Fleetwood's apartment door carrying a bloody knife. The guest quoted Van Arsdall as saying he was involved in a fight but "I got them back."

Van Arsdall testified that he did not take part in the killing. Pregent was acquitted of murder at a separate trial. The judge refused at Van Arsdall's trial to let the defendant's lawyer question Fleetwood about a prior arrest for drunkenness and about the dismissal of those charges.

The Delaware Supreme Court said barring Van Arsdall's lawyer from quizzing Fleetwood fully denied Van Arsdall a fair trial by limiting his opportunity to attack Fleetwood's possible bias against the defendant.

Delaware officials said Fleetwood was not a key witness in the case and Van Arsdall would have been convicted without Fleetwood's testimony.

RHA election is pointless without choices

Election is choice. And in a democratic society, choice offers voters the option of casting ballots for one candidate if they dislike the other.

With RHA's April 18 presidential election, that won't happen.

Junior Mark Hetzler, who is running unopposed for RHA president, no doubt is qualified to run. But, is he necessarily the best candidate?

Voters won't know the answer to that question after this pointless election because Hetzler is the only candidate. What's worse, probably no one cares, either.

Hetzler has worked his way through the ranks for RHA, so he is competent. If no one else runs, Hetzler, as president, will have to find ways to drum up interest from within the organization.

One way to do that might be if all residence hall dwellers were allowed to vote for officers. As things are now, only hall representatives, who are elected by students, can vote.

Granted, these hall representatives are elected, there is no guarantee each representative will vote the way each's constituency would want.

RHA could create a system that is similar to the electoral college that would allow both hall residents and hall representatives to vote. This could also be weighted for actual hall population. For example, every 100 residents could be equal one vote.

Allowing residents to choose representatives and officers will make RHA stronger. And, placing more than one candidate on the ballot for each office would make elections more democratic.

Life amid intolerants takes tolerance

I'm a pretty tolerant person. At least I always thought of myself that way. But lately, I'm beginning to realize just how intolerant I am.

I constantly find myself prefacing unkind remarks with, "If there's one thing I can't tolerate in a person it's..." If there really were only one thing I can't tolerate in people, this would be a reasonable statement. However, I have a list of about 90 things I can't tolerate.

For example, I cannot tolerate know-it-alls. It's obvious they don't know-it-all or they would realize that no one knows everything.

I also despise hypocrites. In fact, any type of person who can best be described with words beginning with hyper or hypo get on my nerves. Hyperactive people make me hyperactive. Those suffering from hypertension make my blood pressure rise. Hypersensitive people make me want to cry. Thank goodness I'm not a hypocrite.

Immaturity is a big peeve. I can't stand when people resort to cruelty to make their point. Further, most of these people don't have any point to make.

Intellectual snobs wear thin on my brain. I mean, who really cares how many times someone has read every book in Booth Library, let alone what great thoughts these fools have to shed on the works.

Right now, I really have a vendetta against people with dark tans. I did not have the privilege of going to Florida or any other hot spot. Even if I had, I wouldn't be tan. I don't get tan. I burn, turn white, burn, turn white. It's all or nothing with me, kids.

What's the point?

Diane Schneidman

I'm also not too fond of people who can't talk about anything but their clothes and their hair. I don't care about what people wear as long as they wear something.

Oh, I almost forgot the infamous brown-nosers. There's nothing wrong with a little pleasant chatter with those who determine one's destiny, but there's no need to act like dumb devotees of every instructors' word.

And how about those twirps who always interrupt everyone. You know the type. You'll be feeling brilliant while answering a question in class, and then some person with an inferiority complex in the back will shout out, "Yeah, but that's like totally wrong." I wonder, does rubber cement work on lips?

Finally, I can't stand people who have nothing better with their time than to complain. I mean no one would catch me taking up people's time just to get a few things off my chest. Would they? Huh?

As I said before, I'm sure glad I'm not a hypocrite. —Diane Schneidman is a regular columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

A real trip is a car not needing repairs

I don't often get upset. Unlike some people I know, I'd just rather be in a good mood than a bad one. But there are certain things about my car that give me ulcers.

For some reason, my car always needs repairs. Like most students lucky enough to have a car, I wasn't lucky enough to get a good one. No sooner do I get something fixed, than something else wears out or falls off.

Recently, the last bulb in my dashboard burned out. One night, because I couldn't see the speedometer, I had to drive home by periodically turning on my dome light so I could see how fast I was going.

Now you would think that changing a light bulb is no big deal, right? It ended up taking three hours to remove and then re-assemble the entire dash just to replace the bulbs. There originally were 74 screws that held my dash board together—but now there are only 70.

The second thing that upsets me about my car is that it is a tattletale. I can't park anywhere, especially around Eastern's campus, without getting a ticket. I think my car tells on me.

If I ever get enough money, I'm going to by one parking place from the university. Then, after posting a "no parking" sign on my parking spot, I'll retire in the Bahamas on the $10 parking tickets that will roll in from students whose cars tell on them, too.

But, what really gets me upset is that my car hangs out with the wrong crowd. When I'm on a highway, my car seems to attract only those cars that have terrible drivers. There seems to be a gang of cars, which evidently my car belongs to, that travels around breaking laws and terrorizing motorists.

Bad drivers drive me crazy. I'm not sure whether bad drivers single me out as the perfect person to pick on, or if everyone has this problem because incompetence is just prevalent on today's roads.

At first I thought I was the only one who got stuck behind someone driving 35 mph in places where passing is a gamble at best. But bad drivers seem to be everywhere.

Personal file:

Mike Burke

And they're everywhere because everyone gets a drivers license. I don't know of a single person that doesn't have one. Just once I'd like to hear of a case where the state has put its foot down and said "No. You don't know how to drive and we refuse to issue you a license."

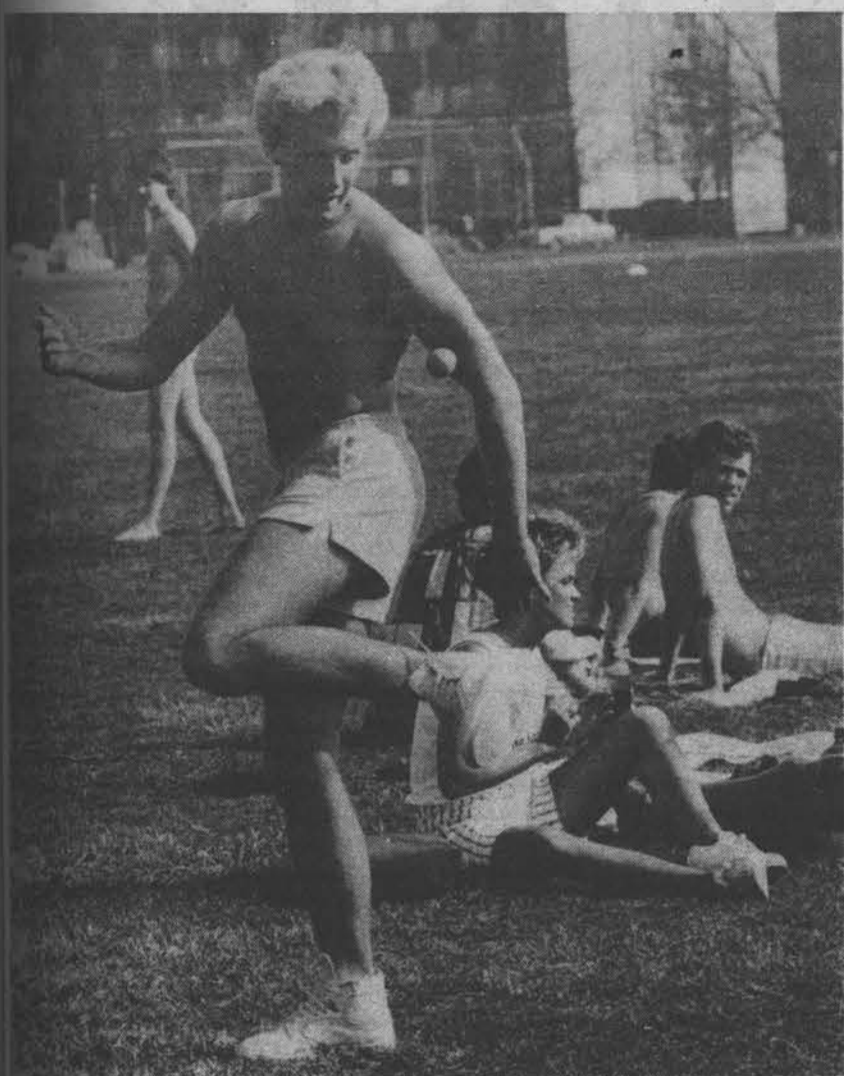

I was unfortunate enough to be assigned to the same car in high school driver's education class as one particularly terrible driver. Every time the instructor let her drive I feared for my life. While sitting in the back, I'd clutch on to the seat in front of me so tightly that I'll bet my fingerprints are still embedded in the vinyl. But she got a license.

There are those, too, that might have been responsible enough to drive at the age of 16, but have since burned through brain cells at an alarmingly consistent rate. They are so used to driving badly that they straddle lane lines even when they're sober.

But what I really hate is when someone forces me to turn off my cruise control. I'll be travelling along with the cruise control set at between 55 and 62 mph, depending on my mood, when the driver of the car behind me decides that this is too slow. After passing me, he will pull into my lane and procede to go about 50 mph.

To stop from slamming into his rear bumper I have to break, which disengages the cruise control. Now, in order to reset it at the same speed, I have to pass that same driver. And it never fails, about 10 minutes after I get my cruise control reset, the same guy will pass me and start the process all over again.

UB slates two comics for free Subway show

By LARRY PETERSON
Staff writer

Two nationally-known comedians will perform free concerts, the "UB Comedy Doubleheader," at 8 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday in the Subway.

Tuesday's show will feature the 1986 Campus Comedy Entertainer of the Year and former "Saturday Night Live" writer Andy Andrews.

Denis Hanna, University Board chairman, said Andrews will receive $850 for the Tuesday night performance and Sean Morey $875 for Wednesday's performance.

"We got them cheaper than usual because they are performing at other schools in the area too," Hanna said.

"I'm more of a comedian than a writer now," Andrews said in a telephone interview Monday.

"I wrote for Saturday Night Live for the last year and a half of the old show, but I don't emphasize that anymore," he said.

Andrews said although he has enjoyed doing colleges for a couple of years, he also performs in other arenas.

"I do cruise ships," he said. "I'm a regular headliner on the SS Norway, the world's largest cruise ship."

Andrews said he has also opened several major concerts, such as Chaka Kahn, Alabama and Joan Rivers.

Andrews said he sees differences between college audiences and other crowds.

"A college audience generally is a more intimate atmosphere," he said. "I feel like I'm more of a peer. I can identify more closely with them (students)."

Andrews said he expects the Eastern audience to enjoy his performance.

"We'll have a good time. My style is very conversational. Hopefully, we'll become friends fast," he said.

He also said he has no idea what the Eastern audience should expect from him.

Wednesday night's performance features "Tonight Show" regular, Morey.

"I'm a comedian. I tell jokes," Morey said in a telephone interview Monday.

Morey said he has been on the college circuit and doing comedy clubs for the past 10 years.

Morey didn't know what to expect from Eastern's audience.

"I haven't thought about it," he said. "The colleges are pretty routine."

Morey said that his audience should expect some variety Wednesday night.

"I do an hour of stand-up, improv, juggling, and singing," he said.

Young Palestinians joining guerrilla, terrorist groups

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Today's terrorist is sometimes 14 years old.

At that age, Tareq Same said, he joined the Palestinian guerrilla movement. He is now 17—he kicked hard on his Syrian cigarette—and ready to die.

"I want to do a suicide mission. With an explosion," the skinny boy in fatigues told a visitor. "It's my duty."

His comrades, crowded into a charcoal-heated room above the muddy lanes of the Yarmouk refugee district, said they all knew of someone who carried out suicide attacks against Israeli troops in nearby Lebanon.

And what of attacks on civilians, like the Palestinian slaughter of Americans and others at Rome and Vienna airports last December?

"If the American administration does not stop supporting Israel," a young guerrilla shot back, "we are ready to do operations worse than Rome and Vienna!"

Teen-age bravado, perhaps—but of a dangerous variety.

Like the lone surviving terrorist in the Rome attack, three of Same's companions said they lost family or friends in 1982 when Palestinians at Beirut's Sabra and Chatilla camps were massacred by Israeli-allied Lebanese Christians.

And, like the Rome gunman, they want to strike back, at almost anyone.

Such bitter desperation is bringing the Palestinian movement to a fateful crossroads, said knowledgeable Arabs, Israeli and Westerners in the region.

News analysis

Combined with new political frustrations within the Palestinian leadership, it could turn the guerrillas again toward all-out international terrorism, these diplomats and other specialists said in recent interviews.

The latest split between Jordan and Yassar Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization, derailing efforts toward an Arab-Israeli peace has left "an atmosphere of utter hopelessness," among Palestinians, said one West European ambassador in close touch with the PLO.

"Arafat's opponets can now say his policy of moderation was wrong," said the diplomat, who granted an interview on condition of anonymity, "and that terrorism, killing innocents, is the only language Israel and the United States understand."

Since 1974, "establishment" Palestinian guerrilla organizations have sought to distance themselves from terrorist outrages committed by such renegades as Abu Nidal, blamed for the Rome-Vienna attacks. But the larger groups are now feeling the pressure.

"If we oppose operations like Rome and Vienna, we will look weak in the eyes of our people," said Khaled Abdel Majid, a leader of Same's guerrilla group, the Popular Struggle Front.

The Palestinian guerrilla, in many ways, is the story of contemporary terrorism.

After King Hussein's army drove the guerrillas from Jordan in 1970, depriving them of a vital base for attacks on Israel, they plunged more deeply into global "armed struggle".

They shocked the world with bloody "spectaculars"—skyjackings, the Munich Olympics siege, the massacre at Israel's Lod Airport. They became the "godfathers" of terrorism, training radical groups from Europe and elsewhere.

But in 1974 the PLO, exploring political avenues to peace, declared it would confine future attacks to Israeli territory. Angry hard-liners split off into runaway anti-Arafat bands, such as Abu Nidal's Fatah-Revolutionary Council.

In 1982, Israel invaded Lebanon and drove the PLO from its base in Beirut. Scattered among a dozen Arab countries, the guerrilla groups quarreled, grew dispirited, became further radicalized.

Israeli terrorism expert Ariel Merari notes parallels between today and the dangerous period after 1970. Without political advances to appease the Palestinian rank-and-file, he says, the PLO leadership may again feel a "need for spectacular violent activity."

Tamar Prat, Merari's colleague at Tel Aviv University's Jaffee Institute of Strategic Studies, says the violence is already stepping up.

The number of incidents of Palestinian international terrorism doubled in 1985, to about 70, she reports. She believes it will expand further.

"I think Arafat will continue going with the political process, there will be a split, and the rest will go with the 'armed struggle' option. It will mean more international terrorism," she said in a Tel Aviv interview.

Medical society blasts universities' stock in tobacco

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois State Medical Society has criticized universities that own tobacco stock, saying such schools, "while teaching the harmful effects of tobacco ... are encouraging a major health hazard."

The 16,000-member organization of physicians this weekend said it was hypocritical of universities to maintain such holdings.

Health authorities maintain that more than 350,000 Americans a year die prematurely from lung cancer, heart attacks and other ailments caused or worsened by smoking.

Gail Herman, student delegate to the society and author of the resolution criticizing schools that own tobacco stock, said students are concerned about the way their tuition tax dollars are being invested.

The Chicago Sun-Times estimated last fall that the combined tobacco-stock holdings of Loyola University, the University of Illinois and Southern Illinois University Foundation—all tied to medical schools—was worth almost $1.5 million.

Herman, a senior medical student at the University of Illinois, said that although tobacco companies are highly diversified, with interests in fast-food services and department stores, most of their profits come from tobacco.

In response to the society's action, a University of Illinois spokesman, who was not identified, said, "The University of Illinois respects the opinion of the Illinois State Medical Society, and the resolution will be transmitted to the finance committee of the university's board of trustees for consideration."

A Loyola University spokesman, also unidentified, told the Sun-Times that the school is continuing to investigate whether its tobacco holdings violate the university's policy of applying moral principles to investments.

SIU Foundation has said it sees no conflict in investing in tobacco stocks.

The ethics of health interests owning tobacco stocks first arose in 1980 when it was revealed that the American Medical Association owned $1.4 million in tobacco stocks. The shares were sold.

Pink Panther tryouts set to begin Tuesday

By JULIE LEWIS
Staff writer

Pink Panther tryouts will be from 4 to 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, and 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday in McAfee North Gym, Captain Susan Holmstrom said.

Holmstrom, a senior squad member, said Tuesday's tryouts will consist of a short kick routine and a short march routine.

"A two-hour workshop will be given to the senior members before the actual tryouts," Holmstrom said.

After first cuts have been made the girls will spend Wednesday's workshop learning a dance routine, she said, and the dance routine tryouts will be Thursday.

There are 13 to 19 positions open. Holmstrom said she's not sure how many will try out.

"The girls will be judged on skill, showmanship and poise," she said.

She added that the ability to learn the material quickly is also a major factor in judging.

The judges will be faculty members and dance specialists from Charleston.

Holmstrom said the senior squad members will judge the Tuesday routines, but the dance tryouts are closed tryouts.

Girls interested in trying out for the 1986-87 squad should wear leotards, nylons and tennis shoes to the tryouts.

Police search powers could expand after Supreme Court decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday agreed to use a case from Arizona to consider expanding the search powers of police acting without court warrants.

The court said it will decide whether state prosecutors may use as trial evidence stereo equipment seized from the Phoenix apartment of a man accused of armed robbery and kidnapping.

Prosecutors are asking the justices to rule that police officers do not need court warrants before checking serial numbers or other identification on items found in plain view and believed to be connected with a crime.

A bullet fired through the floor of a Phoenix apartment on April 18, 1984, struck and injured a man in the apartment below. Police officers responding to a call entered the upper apartment to look for other injured people, the assailant and the weapon.

In their search, the officers found a make-shift mask, three guns and expensive stereo equipment.

One of the officers, thinking the stereo equipment seemed out of place in the low-rent, ill-kept apartment, checked the serial numbers to determine whether the components were stolen.

After learning that the stereo equipment was stolen in a March 29, 1984, armed robbery, the police obtained a court warrant to seize various items found in James Thomas Hicks' apartment, including the stereo equipment.

A state trial judge, upheld by a state appeals court, ruled that the stereo equipment may not be used as trial evidence against Hicks.

The state courts said police did not need a search warrant before entering Hicks' apartment because of the emergency situation or before seizing the guns.

Got big plans For the summer?

After classes let out this spring, you're probably going to have your hands full—finding a part-time job... hitting the beach... catching up on the sleep you've been promising yourself the past semester...

If you live in the southern suburbs of Chicago, you could take a few hours out of your week this summer to get a head start on Fall semester by taking a class at Prairie State College. A wide variety of courses will be offered, both in a 6-week session starting the week of May 27, and 8-week classes starting the week of June 9. And the $30 per credit hour charge isn't hard to handle either.

You can have more than a tan to show for your summer. Take a class at Prairie State College. Call our Admissions office for a copy of our Summer class schedule.

creative enough to accommodate a lost class session," Ozier said.

However, Coon said the problem of scheduling classes is secondary to "the amount of time students spend in class devoted to learning. Students can't do that while we're taking more and more days off the calendar."

Coon said the lack of class days could be a problem.

"The CAA (Council on Academic Affairs) requires 45 class meetings for a three credit-hour class," Coon said. "If you submit a class with less than 45 meetings, they return it to you for more work."

However, Greiter and O'Mera said even after losing a day because of break, Eastern has more class days compared to other state universities.

Sue Stoner, a member of the ad-hoc committee and CAA chairman, said the committee could not come up with a date to make up for the class day that would be lost.

"There just aren't enough days in the fall calendar," Stoner said. "The committee considered six recommendations for making up the lost date."

Holding central registration on Saturday and Monday and not on Monday and Tuesday would have forced students into residence halls a day earlier, Stoner said.

Reducing central registration to one day was considered, but that would be unfair to students, Stoner said.

Holding classes on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving was rejected, Stoner said, because many students would not attend.

The committee also rejected shortening finals week to four days, Stoner said. It is currently scheduled for four and one-half days. Members thought this could give students four finals on one day.

Another plan, which Stoner said was not seriously considered by the committee, gives instructors the discretion to schedule a make-up session for class time lost for fall break.

Plans to reinstate fall break began early last fall when student senate members gathered 5,400 student signatures on a petition asking the administration to return break to the calendar.

After setting up tables in all of the residence hall food services, Coleman Hall, the Union and Blair Hall, it took two days to gather the signatures, O'Mera said.

The Student Senate then made a list of all of the reasons they wanted fall break back, and presented it along with the petition to the Faculty Senate, O'Mera said.

The reasons included: a need for students to get away from the daily stress and pressures of college life which sometimes lead to absences and "foul-ups"; a need to catch up in school, and a need to reorganize.

Others said they wanted to visit family members, pick up winter clothes, or just relax, O'Mera said.

He added that the main reason was just because students were going to classes from Labor Day to Thanksgiving weekend without any break during the week.

Upon receiving the petition and the list, the senate was asked to look into the possibility of putting fall break back on the calendar.

A survey was then distributed by the senate among faculty members asking if they supported the reinstatement of break. The results came back with more members in favor than not, O'Mera said.

O'Mera then met with Rives and informed him of the need for a fall break. Rives said he wanted to wait for the faculty senate recommendation.

Choate was not available for comment late Monday afternoon.

If sudden rains would swell the Embarras River—which now flows down the trench-like channel—Bezruki said the city will need the added protection the higher finger dikes now provide.

"How would it look if we hadn't built up the dikes?" Bezruki said. "We have an immense responsibility that the city has to shoulder right now."

Bezruki also said the city has contacted state and federal representatives looking for funding for this and future expenses related to the dam. Besides state officials, Bezruki said he talked with U.S. Rep. Terry Bruce, D-Olemiss, and asked the congressmen to pursue federal funding.

Replacing the burst dam is expected to cost more than $2 million and the council will consider naming engineers for designing the dam at a special 6 p.m. City Council meeting Wednesday.

There are two firms, Hanson Engineers Inc. and Beam, Longest and Neff Engineers, bidding for the engineering job, Bezruki said. Both firms are out of Springfield. BL&N designed the reservoir dike, while Hanson has been performing work for the site since the dam broke.

Grinding practices aid netters in victory

LARRY PETERSON / Staff photographer

By CINDY BEAKE
Staff writer

All the hard work at Friday's practice seemed to pay off as Eastern's men's tennis team defeated Western 6-3 Monday.

It was not an impressive victory for the Panthers, who had to rally in order to win. However, it was a spirited victory over the team's cross-state rival.

The most impressive win of the afternoon came as junior Mark Matijasevich, in the No. 4 singles position, defeated George Brumis 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

"I started out slow," Matijasevich said, "but I stayed in there to pull it out."

"His serve was the big factor, but my serve was on, too," Matijasevich added.

In the No. 3 singles position, Eastern senior Scott Simon was victorious over Lance Neaville.

Simon, who beat Neaville in straight sets said, "He hits the ball really hard. I tried to return it and make him hit it out."

Senior David Brown, the No. 6 player, defeated Tony Jaworowski in straight sets (6-4, 7-6).

The final singles win came when Panthers' No. 5 player, junior Don Carstens, beat Randy Croffoot 6-3 7-6.

"I played poorly, very poorly," Carstens said.

"When you play weaker players, you tend to over hit," Carstens added.

"Don needs the easy touch," coach John Bennett said.

Bennett added, "In the long rallies, he hits the ball harder and harder until it goes out."

In other singles play, the top two Panthers were handed losses.

Junior John Suter, in the No. 1 singles position for the Panthers, lost to Bill La Tour 6-4, 6-3.

Suter said he was not playing as well as he could. "I am standing up on my shots," Suter said. "He was serving very well."

The No. 2 singles player, freshman Jon Anderson, was also beat in straight sets (6-2, 6-2) by Western's Brad Redding.

Anderson was disappointed with his loss to Redding. "He overpowered me," Anderson said.

In doubles action, both the No. 2 and No. 3 pairs were winners.

Simon and Brown, the No. 2 doubles players, won 7-5, 5-7, 6-4.

While the No. 3 doubles team of Carstens and Matijasevich won in straight sets 6-1, 6-2.

The No. 1 doubles duo of Suter and Anderson were handed their second straight loss Monday by the Leathernecks' pair of La Tour and Redding.

Suter and Anderson agreed their performance Monday was less than they had expected.

"We didn't play the big points well," Anderson said. "The momentum kept switching back and forth," he added.

Mirror image baseball teams meet; Panthers battle Illinois on the road

By DAN VERDUN
Sports editor

Tuesday's baseball game between Eastern and Illinois will match two teams that mirror each other in almost every phase of the sport.

The single game will pit the Panthers, 16-10, against the Fighting Illini, 17-7-2, in a 3 p.m. contest at Illinois Field in Champaign.

Both teams' primary strengths lie in hitting. Illinois enters the game with a .335 team batting average. Eastern is hitting .308 on the year.

However, both the Panthers and Illini have experienced problems in pitching and fielding.

Eastern, coming off a split of a four-game weekend series with Purdue, has a team ERA of 4.46. Illinois' ERA is at 4.14.

"Anytime you score 10 runs and don't win, then's something is wrong," Eastern coach Tom McDevitt said, referring to the Panthers' 11-10 loss to Purdue Sunday.

"When you start getting close to the 30-game mark (like we are), you should start playing decent baseball," McDevitt said. "We're not doing that."

Illinois coach Tom Dedin knows full well the basis for McDevitt's thoughts.

"We're still making too many mistakes," Dedin said. "We've had a lot of defensive and base-running mistakes that have taken their toll on us."

Tuesday's game will be a matchup of Eastern right-hander Bill Jose, 1-3 with a 6.20 ERA, and Illinois' Boo Champagne, 3-1 and a 3.94 ERA.

Despite his lackluster year thus far, Jose should draw some confidence in knowing that he pitched one of his finest games of the season last year at Illinois.

Jose, used last season in a similar spot start, pitched a complete game in Eastern's 8-2 win over the Illini.

Jose—who scattered nine hits, walked two, struck out four in that outing—also reaped the benefit of four Panther double plays.

Leading the Panthers' hitting attack is Tim Torricelli. The senior catcher is batting .365 with three home runs and 24 RBI.

Centerfielder Kevin Smith adds a .361 average to the Panther attack, while freshman third baseman Stan Royer comes in at a .326 clip.

Illinois is headed by junior shortstop Tony Michalak and sophomore catcher Darrin Fletcher.

Michalak leads the Illini in hitting at .402, while Fletcher is batting .387 with eight homers, eight doubles and a team-high 39 RBI.

"Fletcher is probably the finest hitter Illinois has," McDevitt said. "I always enjoy playing against someone like him."

Brewers tag Seaver for a pair of homers in opening-day win

CHICAGO (AP)— The Chicago White Sox moved home plate eight feet back this season to cut down on the rooftop home runs in Comiskey Park. It didn't keep Milwaukee's Rob Deer from using the stadium as a launching pad.

"I knew I hit it well and I didn't see it but I don't think I ever hit one that far," said Deer, whose second-inning homer onto the left-field roof, coupled with a two-run shot by Ernest Riles, led the Brewers to a 5-3 victory over the White Sox.

The shot came off loser Tom Seaver, who was making his record 16th opening day start.

"This guy has tremendous power," Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger said of Deer. "He's a good outfielder with a good arm."

Deer came to the Breweries in a trade from San Francisco for a couple of minor league pitchers. "Power was the No. 1 reason," General Manager Harry Dalton said of the trade. "He hit eight homers with San Francisco but didn't have a lot of at-bats. With 500 at-bats, he might hit 30 home runs."

Seaver, who has ben the target of trade rumors all spring, wasn't around after the game. He was on his way to California where his mother is seriously ill and he will not rejoin the club until Friday.

"He wasn't sharp at all," said White Sox Manager Tony LaRussa. "He didn't have command of his breaking pitches."

LaRussa said he wasn't surprised about the two homers. "Deer's got good power and I was (See BREWERS, page 2B)

Women netters venture to Normal for a tough GCAC match with ISU

Eastern's women's tennis team will venture into its first Gateway Conference meet Tuesday against Illinois State in Normal.

The Lady Panthers, 5-6, are coming off a 5-4 road victory last week over Division-III power Principia College.

Eastern has now won five out of its last eight matches after three early season losses.

Eastern coach Gail Richard said the match will be a measuring stick of the team's improvement since an early season loss to the Redbirds.

"I'm anxious to see if we can continue to play well," Richard said. "The loss to them (Illinois State) early in March was only a couple of weeks after we had started practice."

Richard said Illinois State conducts practice all winter, while Eastern starts practice in February.

Yet, the Lady Panthers defeated the Redbirds last fall.

"I think it will be a pretty even match," Richard said. "We have improved our singles games since the first match."

"The singles matches against Principia were quite an improvement for us," Richard said. "We won three singles matches, and that's why we won."

Richard believes the match against the Redbirds will probably be determined in the single matches.

"I feel both teams are pretty even," Richard said. "The match will probably come down to the singles matches."

During singles play against Principia, the Lady Panthers No.1 player senior Lauri Lehman was defeated by the top player in Division III, Coartney Allen.

In other singles matches, the Lady Panthers No. 2 Diane Durkee was narrowly defeated. Sally Stout, Lori Zupanci and Maureen Mckeon recorded victories.

During the Principia match, the doubles team of Stout and McKeon and the freshman duo of Lisa Stock and Beth Stuckey recorded victories.

The Lady Panthers will return home this weekend to host the EIU Quadrangular meet Friday and Saturday.

The field for match also includes Northern Iowa, Indiana State and Southwest Missouri State.

Valenzuela leads Dodgers by Padres in a 2-1 nail-biter

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Fernando Valenzuela survived 10 hits by San Diego and rode Mike Marshall's seventh-inning home run to an opening-day victory Monday as the Los Angeles Dodgers began the defense of their National League West championship by beating the Padres 2-1.

The Los Angeles victory before a sellout crowd of 49,444 at Dodger Stadium ruined the San Diego managerial debut of Steve Boros, named to succeed Dick Williams at the beginning of spring training after Williams abruptly resigned.

Valenzuela, making his fourth straight opening-day start and fifth in six years, walked one and struck out nine. He lost his shutout in the ninth inning on singles by Kevin McReynolds, Steve Garvey and Garry Templeton.

The Dodgers got a run in the second off Eric Show.

concerned about Riles before the game because he had good at bats against Seaver last year."

Riles' homer was a line shot that barely cleared the right field wall.

"I didn't waste too many inches on it," he said.

Seaver, extending his own major-league record with his 16th opening-day start, lasted 5 1/2 innings before the opening-day crowd of 42,265. He was charged with seven hits and all five Milwaukee runs. He is 7-2 on opening-day for his career, 1-1 with the White Sox.

Teddy Higuera, a 15-game winner last year as a rookie, allowed seven hits, walked four and fanned five in seven innings, with Mark Clear getting the save.

The White Sox tied it in the bottom of the second on a double by Ron Kittle and a single by Tim Hulett. Riles hit his homer in the fourth after Bill Joe Robidoux had singled, giving the Brewers a 3-1 lead.

Chicago picked up a run in the fifth on a walk to Wayne Tolleson, Harold Baines' third of four singles and a fly ball by Carlton Fisk. Fisk also had a sacrifice fly in the ninth.

Softballers ready for a pair against rival Purple Aces

By JOHN STROUD
Associate sports editor

Eastern's softball team hopes to pick up momentum for this weekend's Penn State Invitational aiming for a doubleheader sweep at 3 p.m. Tuesday at Evansville.

The Panthers defeated the Aces 1-0 at the South Carolina Invitational during the team's spring trip. But coach Janet Marquis wants to make sure her team doesn't look past Evansville to the tournament.

"The girls know how important it is to win every game," Marquis said.

"They know what they have to do and they do it.

"If we don't sweep Evansville I'll be upset," Marquis added.

Panther pitchers Zam Mogill and Sara Karcher will split the pitching duties in Tuesday's games. After weekend games with Gateway rivals Bradley and Western, Mogill has an ERA of 0.33 while Karcher has a 0.99 ERA.

"She (Mogill) has learned you have to have some finesse," Marquis said of the sophomore. "Now she's a finesse power pitcher. I also think she's a much more refined pitcher."

Marquis sees consistency and concentration in the games as the factors the team needs to work on.

"One thing I noticed this weekend is we didn't hit the easy pitcher (at Western)," she said. "Concentration is the key to winning these games. Either we hit, or we don't.

"It takes just as much concentration to hit slower pitchers as it does fast pitchers. And concentration is something I can't teach them," she added.

The Panthers will be without short stop Mary Jo McCarthy, who is recovering from a bruised head. Marquis hopes she'll be ready for the weekend.

Even with the injury, Marquis mentioned that the third short stop, Cindy Streid, received compliments on her play over the weekend.

"This shows how deep we are," Marquis said. "We have a lot of depth on our bench . . . and I hate to call it a bench; it's a team."

Cardinals host Cubs in their season opener

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog is a bit nervous about his pitching staff as the National League champions prepare for their season opener against Chicago Tuesday night, and that's a feeling Cubs Manager Jim Frey can relate to.

"It'd be hard to have more problems than we did last year," Frey said as the Cubs, 13-20 in exhibition play, worked Monday at Busch Stadium. "We lost every one of our starters. I know what it's like not to have the people you want to send out there."

Frey will send Rick Sutcliffe to the mound Tuesday night to face John Tudor.

"We were frustrated last year," Sutcliffe said. "But we're ready to go."

Frey said he's been pretty pleased with the recent performances of each of his starting pitchers as well as with Dick Ruthven, who will start working out of the bullpen and possibly become a fifth starter. Rick Sutcliffe is scheduled to pitch for the Cubs Tuesday night against John Tudor.

"They're all healthy, there's no question in my mind," Frey said. Herzog isn't so lucky.

Danny Cox, second in the Cardinal rotation, is on the 15-day disabled list with a bone chip in his right ankle. Cox broke the ankle when he jumped off a sea wall on a fishing trip in Florida last week.

Even before Cox hurt himself, the starting corps of the Cardinals, 12-15 this spring, was the team's biggest question mark, largely because of the departure of Joaquin Andujar in an off-season trade with Oakland.

And Cox, who was 1-0 this spring with a 4.77 ERA, is not the only ailing Cardinal hurler. Tim Conroy, acquired in the Andujar deal, is on the 21-day disabled list with a sore shoulder. Reliever Jeff Lahti also is nursing a sore shoulder, but has not been placed on the disabled list.

"Any time you come out of spring training with some injured ballplayers (Cox, Conroy and Lahti), you can't feel too happy," Herzog said. "That's 30 percent of your pitching staff."

Herzog said that in the early going, the Cardinals will be counting heavily on the hitting of first-baseman Jack Clark, who this spring had a .290 average with 11 RBI and five home runs.

"He's been swinging the bat good," Herzog said. "Even his outs have been 'hard' outs."

Then there's the Cardinal defense. "To me, and I don't like to put out accolades too much, I think it may be the best defensive team ever assembled in baseball," Herzog said.

"Our club is pretty much the same as last year," said Cardinal All-Star shortstop Ozzie Smith. "The only thing that's really changed is (catcher) Mike Heath, and I think that anything that he does is going to help us."

The Cubs, meanwhile, are hoping to do a lot better than last year, a season of injury and disappointment after 1984's Eastern Division championship.

Frey didn't make a prediction about who would win the division.

MixEd Nuts

family memories..... of the nutty nuts family....

rog was a great guy who would do anything for a friend in need, here he models his classic leaf making outfit when your only friend is tippy the squirrel, you either need help or more beer nuts, you see that's all tippy will eat.

smelly bill, as he was affectionately called, was a no-good punk, whose tuffness was solely attributed to the fact the he was 80 pounds overweight. He met his fate trying to rob the ice cream man (who was not in & good humor.)

elma the knot never existed. the whole thing was a lie and we corrected the perpetrators of such a gross fabrication.
