BHE weighs 1989 budget proposal

SEAN O. HOGAN
Staff writer

Eastern administrators met last week with the Illinois Board of Higher Education to discuss how they would spend the $50.1 million in the university's 1989 spending proposal.

Of the $9.6 million in increases Eastern is asking for, more than half—$5.52 million—is targeted for new expanded program requests, or NEPRs.

Topping the list are designs for bringing faculty salaries up par with schools that have similar enrollment and program offerings to Eastern. Included was a money request aimed at improving salaries for women and minorities.

"That has to be of the highest priority for the university," Eastern President Stanley said Monday. Eastern faculty salaries, he said, are between 10 and 12 percent below the national norm among similar schools.

Another of Eastern's biggest items was a $2.62 million request for upgrading undergraduate education. That includes improving laboratory equipment, handicapped services and adding faculty to high-demand courses.

State Rep. Mike Weaver, R-Charleston, said fairness doesn't always win in the legislature. The BOG will have to compete with lobby efforts from three other college systems and the state's junior colleges—in all seeking $455 million in new state revenue. Covering the proposed increases won't be painless either.

Students around the state paid tuition hikes of as much as $150 for the spring term. With that tuition increase Eastern students covered 4 percent more of the cost of education. Tuition now covers

Eastern asks IBHE for $9.6 million in aid

SEAN O. HOGAN
Staff writer

Among the additional $9.6 million Eastern seeks in state support, there are new programs designed to upgrade general undergraduate education and attract minority students and faculty.

Eastern sought $2.62 million to improve the quality of undergraduate education, and before the Illinois Board of Higher Education and Eastern administrators finished their meeting last Thursday, it was recommended that $2 million of that be cut, according to Cynthia Nichols, assistant to Robert Kindrick, vice president for academic affairs.

The IBHE's final request will not be official until the end of this month when it should be prepared for the Jan. 5 meeting.

Included in the original proposals were plans for adding new laboratory and instructional equipment, hiring faculty for high-demand courses—specifically in business and economics fields—and support for handicapped students.

The university also sought $5.66 million to be used in attracting minority students and faculty.

"We want a culturally diverse campus," Kindrick said.

31 percent of the cost of attendance. The remaining 69 percent comes from the state.

Funding the rest of the requests would require some Members of the Black Student Union, Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Phi Alpha, Sigma Gamma Rho, Omega Psi Phi and Phi Beta Sigma sing a song Monday to remember the late Harold Washington in a vigil outside the University Union Grand Ballroom.

Mayor remembered at vigil

By RUSSELL STARE
Government editor

Students walking through the Union or attending the vigil ceremony Monday evening had the chance to express their condolences after the death of Chicago Mayor Harold Washington.

Melvin Ector, Phi Beta Sigma fraternity member and an organizer of the commemoration, said Washington was a fraternity brother. He said he believed students who were unable to attend the funeral or Washington's visitation should have a chance to pay their respects.

Ector said he thought the fraternity should do something after seeing Washington's funeral on Nov. 30.

Black ribbons to show mourning were passed out from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Union Walkway and a prayer vigil was held at 7 p.m. in front of the Grand Ballroom at 7 p.m.

"It's been pretty successful," Ector said about the ribbons. "We had the support of whites and blacks, which I think was good."

The Black Student Union,

Alpha Kappa Alpha, Alpha Phi Alpha, Sigma Gamma Rho and Omega Psi Phi worked on making flyers distributed on campus Monday and cutting out the 200 ribbons.

BSU President Calvin Malone said the vigil was along the lines of the Martin Luther King Jr. vigil held last year by the BSU.

Malone said he did not see many ribbons around campus Monday. "I would have liked to see more support from others than minorities," Malone added.

Faculty concerned about oral proficiency question

By JEFF BRITT
Administration editor

Eastern instructors said a question regarding oral proficiency on student evaluations might be needed, but some questioned whether it could accurately measure language proficiency.

"We (faculty members) don't perceive it or see it as a problem, but students who take one class here and another class in another department may very well see it as a problem," said Gary Foster, a sociology professor.

"I think the real question is, 'How do you measure language proficiency?'" Foster said, adding the Student Senate favored the oral proficiency bill and the Faculty Senate opposed it. Foster is on the Faculty Senate.

"Let's try to define it before we measure it," he said. "I don't say that we don't need it (the question). I don't say that we need it."

At the beginning of the fall semester, instructions to include the question came from Robert Kindrick, vice president for academic affairs, in compliance with the oral proficiency bill that was made law last spring.

Kindrick withdrew the instructions, however, upon questions that the law was already in effect at Board of Governors schools because

Tuition and fees payments continue Tuesday in Union

By JAMES BETZOLD
Campus editor

Payment of tuition and fees for pre-enrolled students for the Spring 1988 semester continues Tuesday in the University Union Ballroom.

Failure to complete early enrollment by Thursday will result in cancellation of scheduled spring classes.

Students pre-enrolled prior to Nov. 12 may complete early enrollment Tuesday according to the following schedule by last digit of social security number:

4-5—8:30 a.m.

6-7—noon

Students with social security numbers ending with 0, 1, 2, and 3 were scheduled to complete early enrollment Monday. However, students may report anytime after their scheduled time.

On Wednesday and Thursday early enrollment concludes according to the following schedule:

8-9—8:30 a.m. Wednesday

All students—noon Wednesday and all day Thursday

Doors close each day at 2:30 p.m.

To avoid inconvenience, it is requested that students do not have payments sent to the university by mail. Students should have their payment ready when completing early registration.

All students must stop at cashier station even if no payment is required.

Resort plans blocked temporarily

SPRINGFIELD—Developers' plans to build a luxury resort on the site of an ancient Indian village and burial ground were blocked temporarily Monday by state officials.

The action by the state Historic Preservation Society effectively bars construction at the site for at least seven months, giving preservationists time to find a buyer who would leave the property undeveloped.

After seven months, the construction could proceed if preservationists can't find another buyer, possibly the state itself, or reach agreement with developers on a way to minimize damage to historic areas.

"There's no question that's what's going to happen unless the state buys the property in the interim," said Gary Starkman of Chicago, a lawyer for the developers.

The 130-acre parcel on the Illinois River about 90-miles southwest of Chicago was the site of Illinois' first Roman Catholic mission, established in 1675, and was once home to an estimated 7,000 Illiniwek Indians.

Chicago schools get a bad grade

CHICAGO—The nation's education secretary says Chicago's public schools are the worst in the nation. A former president shakes his finger at them. Test scores, dropout rates and a history of strikes all point to a crisis in the system charged with educating 430,000 children.

Local officials readily acknowledge that reform is desperately needed in the nation's third-largest public-school system.

But they say Chicago's woes, like other urban district's, are rooted in economics and ethnicity, not education, and have been compounded by a lack of state and federal assistance.

The figures speak for themselves:

Nearly 45 percent of the Class of 1985 dropped out at some point after entering high school, school board spokesman Bob Saigh said today.

Half of its high schools rank in the bottom 1 percent of U.S. schools for student scores on the American College Test, state statistics indicate.

Sixty-seven percent of Chicago's public school children come from low-income families.

Nine teachers' strikes have halted classes in the past 18 years the last a record month long walkout in September.

Airplane crashes in California

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif.—A Pacific Southwest Airlines commuter plane crashed near here Monday evening, the Federal Aviation Administration said. It was not immediately known if there were any casualties.

An FAA duty officer said the plane went down about 4:30 p.m. on a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco. It was not immediately known how many people were on board.

The plane crashed near the community of Paso Robles, a spokesman for the San Luis Obispo Fire Department said.

Gorbachev says he hopes to hear 'new words' concerning summit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, setting foot for the first time on American soil, said Monday he hopes to hear "new words" about prospects for cutting long-range strategic weapons at his White House summit this week with President Reagan.

The Reagan administration rolled out the red carpet for Gorbachev and his wife Raisa, and in a welcoming statement the Soviet leader wished "peace and well being to all Americans."

"At the center of our discussions with the president of the United States will be the pivotal questions of Soviet-American relations, questions of reducing strategic offensive arms," Gorbachev said.

Reagan, presiding later at the lighting of the national Christmas tree, said he had invited Gorbachev to Washington to "discuss ways in which we can reduce tensions between our two countries. He and I will meet in hopes of promoting peace for our peoples and all the people of the earth."

He said the star of peace atop the tree would remain lit day and night during the summit to "remind us why we've gathered and what we seek."

Asked by reporters if he had any new works for Gorbachev, Reagan said, "He'll hear them in the morning." Asked whether he wanted a strategic-arms agreement as a Christmas present, Reagan laughed and said, "I'll take what we're going to have."

The White House summit opens Tuesday, highlighted 1:45 p.m. EST by the signing of a treaty to eliminate intermediate range nuclear weapons (INF), the first-ever agreement calling for the destruction of an entire category of atomic arms.

The shorter range weapons do not pose a threat to the United States.

Medium-range pact could signal significant struggle in the future

WASHINGTON (AP)—The brewing fight on Capitol Hill and across the country over the medium-range missile ban that President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev are set to sign may be only a warm-up for a bloodier struggle over a treaty to slash long-range missile arsenals.

Many of the same issues are in both accords, but magnified in a Strategic Arms Reduction Treaty (START) because it involves more radical changes in the American nuclear arsenal.

The weapons that would be scrapped by START are much more important to the defense of the United States and allies in Western Europe and Asia than the rockets due for dismantling under an Intermediate-range Nuclear Forces pact.

Eliminating all U.S. medium-range rockets will still leave 4,000 U.S. nuclear weapons in Europe. But a 50 percent reduction in strategic arms, the goal set by Reagan and Gorbachev, would make a vastly more substantial cut in American armaments.

Hard choices would have to be made by the Pentagon on which weapons to keep and which to scrap in order to stay under prescribed ceilings.

Those critics on Capitol Hill and elsewhere who are unwilling under any circumstances to negotiate arms reductions with Moscow will be considerably more exercised when it comes to globe-girdling bombers, missiles and submarines.

High Court to hear peyote case

GRANTS PASS, Ore. (AP)—Alfred L. Smith says he knew he was breaking the rules of his job as a drug counselor when he took peyote as a sacrament during a Native American Church service in a tepee crowded with 50 other people.

But Smith, a Klamath Indian, maintains he was exercising his constitutional right to practice his religion freely.

On Tuesday, the U.S. Supreme Court will hear arguments on whether the state's firing of Smith and another man and subsequent denial of unemployment benefits violated their First Amendment rights.

Suanne Lovendahl, a lawyer for Oregon Legal Services in Portland, will make the case on behalf of Smith, who was fired in 1984, and Galen W. Black, a non-Indian fired a year earlier.

William F. Gary, deputy attorney general for Oregon, will argue the men knowingly violated conditions of their employment—that they remain free of all drugs and alcohol—and were fired for cause by the Douglas County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. A Roman Catholic taking wine as part of communion would have been fired as well, he says.

Lockman has hints for senate

By RUSSELL STARE
Government editor

The Student Senate has been given suggestions by former Election Chair Lori Lockman concerning future elections.

Lockman said she would like to see new locks with duplicate sets of keys to make sure ballot boxes are locked during elections because "there are a bunch of locks (in the Student Activities Office) and the keys have been misplaced," and a mandatory bylaw meeting for all candidates and election judges before the start of elections.

Senate Speaker Denise Wasetis said on the morning of the Nov. 11 student government elections the keys to the padlocks on the ballot boxes were misplaced and the boxes could not be locked for the election.

"I really don't know what happened to them (the keys)," Student Body President Deb Camren said.

She said a duplicate set of keys kept by Student Activities Organizer Anita Craig would be an effective idea because the present set of keys are not designated to any one person.

Because the ballot boxes are used for elections other than student government, such as homecoming, Wasetis said the keys are kept in the Student Activities Office, usually by the secretary, but there is not a designated person to safeguard them.

Lockman said she would like to see meetings where all candidates and election judges were present to go over election bylaws and make sure all points of the bylaws were clarified.

"It would be for everyone's benefit," to have a meeting, Lockman said.

"I think the whole thing would be more efficient," she added.

Camren said she does not think a mandatory meeting is necessary because the by-laws are "pretty simple" and every election station has a copy during elections.

"I think the election bylaws definitely need some revising," Camren added.

A meeting always held before the start of every election has "never been mandatory, but people always go," Wasetis said.

She said a meeting is a good idea because in the bylaws, "A lot of stuff is up to interpretation."

City council may approve $9,500 to Eastern

CHRISTAL PHILPOTT
Associate news editor

Eastern may be getting $9,500 from the city if a resolution authorizing the money is passed at Tuesday's Charleston City Council meeting. The council will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers in the city municipal building, 100 Jackson Ave. If approved, the $9,500 would be taken from the city tourism fund to help promote and conduct Celebration '88, a three-day craft, food and music festival held annually on campus.

Finance Commissioner John Winnett said Monday he expects the resolution to pass without any problems.

According to the resolution, the funding proposal has been made because of the substantial number of people past Celebrations have brought into the community.

The resolution also said the funding was voted on favorably by the Tourism Advisory Board.

In other business, the council is expected to discuss a resolution authorizing bids to resurface Third Street from Polk Avenue to Tyler Avenue.

If the resolution were passed after the two-layover period, the Charleston city clerk would be authorized to advertise for the bids for the street improvements.

The council is also expected to discuss pool repairs for the Charleston Rotary Pool. Winnett, however, said he was unsure exactly on what aspect of the repairs the discussion would focus.

"They were getting bids on an architect for the repairs," Winnett said, adding Tuesday's pool discussion could touch on the bids, among other things.

Writing Center offers help to those with 'writer's block'

JEFF EUL
Writer

For students who have been procrastinating doing that final paper the semester, the writing center is available to provide extra help.

The writing center is an open center. Any student from any major is welcome. Appointments aren't necessary, but they are preferred," said Associate English professor Jeanne Simpson, director of the Writing Center. The writing center, located in room 301 Coleman Hall, is a tutoring service available to all Eastern students. It is open Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Simpson said.

Students wanting to improve their writing can visit the center where a tutor will be assigned to help them with their work.

The tutoring staff is made up of Eastern graduate students. The tutors will not proofread papers, but they will answer questions, offer suggestions and help make the work of writing a little easier, Simpson said.

She added that helping students to organize their ideas, develop a thesis, and look at problems with grammar are some of the ways in which the center can help.

"The tutors won't just fix the student's paper. We want students to understand what they are doing wrong," Simpson said.

The center also offers preparation for term papers and the Writing Competency Examination, Simpson said.

She said she recommends students who have final papers due to come to the center. "All writers need to work with someone else from time to time. It doesn't mean that something has to be wrong. Good writers come in also," she said.

Award program publicity is not main problem

In an effort to promote a less apathetic student body, the Student Awareness Committee is attempting to improve the publicity of the Student of the Month and the Organization of the Month awards.

This program has been in effect for about three years despite a lack of student organization interest.

Editorial

Committee Chair Roger Thomson said even after sending out letters to the various organizations on campus, the same groups as last year and the year before responded.

Thomson said either the other groups on campus aren't interested, or the letter he sent out needs to be more "appealing."

However, if certain organizations are not interested in the awards program there is not any type of letter or any amount of publicity that will change their minds.

Thomson also said the awards would be "a way of trying to get people motivated." Senator Shannon Kindred added to this by saying students need to be motivated into becoming active in campus organizations.

Although it would not hurt a student's growth by becoming involved in certain extra-curricular groups, a lot of students have their reasons for not being a part of Eastern's vast student organization system.

Granted, there is an apathy problem on campus, but every college campus faces the same situation. The situation is not unique to Eastern's campus.

However, just because students are not involved with organizations doesn't necessarily mean they are apathetic.

Organizations could also have reasons other than apathy for not participating.

And even if these students are apathetic, what is to say that this one program, even if publicized better, will fight the apathy problem that faces the student government?

If the only thing that will be changed is the amount of publicity—of which the Student Senate does not budget for and maybe it should—there is the strong chance the results will be similar to the past two years.

Maybe the committee should consider reworking the program itself to make it more appealing to the student body. It may change the attitude of the students, but at this point it couldn't hurt

Christmas decorations push religion

This is the season which, since last year will remind me of the ACLU grinchers who were able to steal Christmas.

The City of St. Charles once had the custom of stringing white lights in the shape of a cross over the city's fire station between Thanksgiving and New Year's Day. The city's mayor said it went along with several other displays, I would suppose also commemorating Hanukkah and other celebrations of the season.

So the American Civil Liberties Union, which often defends worthy causes, drummed up some citizens to complain about the lighted cross and asked them to take this case all the way to the Supreme Court.

They said the cross was the city's way of endorsing Christianity.

When the high court made its decision it left a somewhat confusing, if not contradictory, string of conclusions about the "establishment clause." That's the part of the First Amendment which is supposed to separate church and state.

The Supreme Court agreed with lower court Judge Richard Posner's reasoning that "When prominently displayed on a public building . . . the cross displays a governmental support for religion," in the St. Charles case.

The same Supreme Court though didn't seem to find the display of a manger scene on the steps to the Pantucket, R.I. Village Hall violating the separation of church and state.

And earlier the same month that the St. Charles case was decided, a federal judge in Chicago said the City Council can again erect a creche at Chicago's City Hall. It hasn't been contested, apparently because it goes along with other "secular" Christmas displays like the Christmas trees and Santa Clauses.

Christmas can barely be regarded as a secular holiday, however, since it is due to the popularity of one, Jesus of Nazareth, among his devout followers.

Certainly, most Americans agree that we don't need any particular religion force fed to anybody. But does a temporary governmental celebration with the many religious sects of our society seem way out of line?

Since the turn of the century, when the high court banned prayer in public schools, it's had a hard time clearly drawing the line on where and when government can publicly allow some sorts of religious expression.

Obviously, prayer is no longer allowed during public school day. However, a state may hire a minister to lead a prayer for the legislators because, get this, doesn't promote or benefit a religion, but rather solemnifies their meeting.

I remember being in grade school, and my class needed something to quiet us down before school hopefully more than the adults in government would.

The inscription, "In God We Trust," on our money the court said only recognizes the beliefs of America's settlers. That must be in contrast to the City of St. Charles' settlers and most of its residents.

If St. Charles can no longer light its cross, why then do villages such as Zion, Ill. have on their official seals a gold cross and the inscription "With this We Conquer?" There seems to be a double standard.

Which leads me to a real First Amendment dilemma.

My last paycheck came from a public university. My job is writing opinion articles for a newspaper which is supported in large part by the university's money.

So would I be violating the establishment clause or exercising freedom of the press if I were to ask God to bless my readers during their final exam week?

—Sean O. Hogan is a regular columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Your turn

Column was based on pure speculation

Editor:

In reply to Steve Smith's editorial on Harold Washington's sudden death, I have but three questions.

1. Do you live in the city of Chicago?
2. Do you know anything about Chicago politics or politics in general?
3. Your argument was backed up by what I thought was the idea that Washington wanted to die because he was failing in office. Who made you God?

I resent your article's idea, because it, I feel, is based on pure speculation. You painted a picture of Washington failing in office. Put your money where your mouth is and give me some hard facts. "If you can't beat 'em" is your statement. Are you saying that if you fail you have a deathwish? If this is how you feel, then say your prayers. I feel you failed as a journalist in writing this article.

Washington was hero just like close friend

Editor:

My family was one of the VIP groups at the former Mayor Harold Washington's funeral Nov. 30. The Christ Universal Church where the funeral was held was filled with family, friends, VIPs and dignitaries from all over the world. The former Mayor's family even let the media in, so they could obtain a complete and precise update on what former Mayor Washington stood for, along with all of the great things he had accomplished over his five year term in office.

I'm not writing this letter for my health, or to insult anyone, but to give Steve Smith, Eastern editor, a piece of my mind very nicely.

Mayor Harold Washington was an angel sent from above, he came here with joy to spread his good love.

He made many people smile, children laugh and play because "to overcome" he said is the only way.

Harold was my hero just like a close friend, a person who will always be in my heart so deep within.

If you feel that Harold was not grand, that's ok, because I'm a witness for the man.

So keep on pushing children of this world, especially all of the black brilliant boys and girls.

When Harold won the mayoral election in 1983 and 1987 he had many people convinced, shocked and amazed that there is a way for all of the blacks in the world to "overcome someday."

Senate votes Kennedy best of the semester

RUSSELL STARE
Government editor

Housing Committee Chair Patty Kennedy said "it's a really great honor" to be voted as Senator of the Semester for the fall 1987 semester.

"I love the senate. It's the best," Kennedy said.

Kennedy, a sophomore, said she has been active with senate since the fall of '86 and has acted as co-chair of the housing committee until, at the beginning of this semester, she took over as committee chair.

Senator of the Semester has been conducted "for as long as I know," Senate Speaker Denise Wasetis said of the award.

Candidates were nominated by fellow senators at Wednesday's Student Senate meeting. Kennedy said four candidates were nominated for the honor.

Student Body President Deb Camren and Financial Vice President Craig Wange tallied votes to determine the winner.

Wasetis said Kennedy, a member of the Old-Hat party, has always been popular in having a housing committee member attend the Town/Gown Relations committee meetings. Town/Gown is a committee designed to help improve campus/community relations, she added.

Since the beginning of the semester, Kennedy said she has helped with the Student Awareness Committee, the Designated Driver Committee and is presently working on publicity for the Community Carnival scheduled for January.

She was a candidate in the fall elections and retained her seat with 542 votes in the At-Large district. "I think they (the elections) were fine. There was a good turnout," she said.

Kennedy said the Housing Committee has been working toward organizing approved student housing. She said this project evolved from trying to collect leases from area landlords.

Eastern had approved student housing in the 1950s and 1960s but has not been used in recent years, she said.

Kennedy said the project is still in the planning stages, but the response has seemed favorable from area landlords.

"Senate deserves a lot more credit than it gets," she said.

"It's a lot more active this year than in the past.

"I would like to see more student involvement. Housing committee has four people and there's no way four people can solve all the housing problems."

Cuban priest vital in prison siege

ATLANTA (AP)—Negotiators who sought to end the Atlanta federal prison siege said Monday they were reluctant to ask the help of a Cuban cleric during the 11-day takeover because "had that failed... we were out of options." Also Monday a congressman said the Cuban inmates who rioted should not be paroled until they make "reasonable" restitution for the heavy damage from the takeover.

Senate meets Tuesday

The Faculty Senate will continue its discussion of Affirmative Action at its meeting Tuesday, Chair John North said.

The senate will meet at 2 p.m. in the Union addition Martinsville Room.

The senate will also hear a report by Senator Sharon Bartling on the Council of Faculties meeting, North said.

form of a tax hike—probably income taxes.

"There will have to be a tax increase of some kind," said William Lineman, BOG vice chancellor. Though he said no lawmakers are committed, many are sympathetic to the financial pain inflicted on Illinois schools, following the budget debates of this summer and fall.

He said Illinois has among the lowest, if not the lowest, income tax rate in the United States. With this also in mind, he said, at least a modest income tax increase may pass.

Weaver said winning support for such an increase is contingent on lowering property taxes in his district.

Ross Hodel, deputy director for the IBHE, said he may have to work on convincing the legislature to go ahead with an income-tax hike.

"Even if you cut in half (of what higher education is seeking) you'll have to raise taxes; that's our challenge."

Hodel said higher education usually wins about half of what high and elementary schools win in state support. "Two-hundred million is a good guess now, but no one knows."

Eastern's spending request, Hodel said, stands to suffer fewer cuts than many other schools because of its efficiency. Eastern is more than five percent more cost efficient than similar state schools. He said that Eastern spent about $400,000 less than comparable state colleges.

Rives said he won't know what the IBHE will recommend until later this month. The IBHE's formal proposal will be presented at its January meeting before legislators begin looking at it.

instructors are evaluated as they have their on-campus interviews.

"As a taxpayer, I want a teacher in a classroom who can communicate with my sons and daughters," said B.F. McClerren, a speech communication professor. "However, I doubt the question (should the question be included), whether it's answered affirmatively or negatively, can have anything to do with upgrading the quality of communication in the classroom."

"I'm not going to say it's valid or not," said Ebrahim Karbassoon, an associate professor of economics. "But there's a lack of measurement. There's a lack of criteria. Students saying 'he can't speak well' could not be the standard of measurement."

"I think it's a valid question," said Larry Helsel, chair of the School of Technology. "I think anything related to the context of the course should be part of the evaluation," he said, adding it is important that both the context and the content of the course be evaluated.

He said the course material isn't effective if it can't be delivered properly.

Teams tie for fourth

JAMES BETZOLD

Two Eastern debate teams tied for fourth place in a debate tournament held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Butler University in Indianapolis.

The tournament included 24 teams representing 17 colleges and universities from nine states.

Eastern debate coach Terry West said he was most pleased with the fact that Eastern was able to advance two teams to the quarterfinals of the tournament. Northwestern University was the only other school to advance more than one team to that round.

The Eastern teams consisted of: seniors Jim Conley and Jay Brezovich; and junior Shelly Seelbring and freshman Jerry Sheehan.

"Since this was a good district-level tournament, I think we have a good chance of advancing one or two teams through the District (V) tournament to the nationals," West said.

The District V tournament will be held during the last weekend in February at Butler.

West added that Northwestern University's debate program is "one of the top five in the country."

In addition, Conley finished seventh among 48 debaters in the "Best Speaker" competition. Debaters are judged individually during team competition.

"I was satisfied with all four (debaters) because they all worked very hard," West said. "Jim (Conley) really deserved what he got."

Report debates laboratory

WASHINGTON (AP)—A report on the value of a federal research complex near Chicago will rebuff arguments that Illinois has an unfair advantage in bidding for the superconducting super collider, Gov. James Thompson said Monday.

After meeting with Department of Energy officials in the nation's capital, Thompson told reporters the DOE soon will release a study assessing the value and utility of the Fermi National Laboratory toward the proposed $4.4 billion nuclear particle accelerator.

Department officials refused to comment on the report, which Thompson said would be presented only to members of Congress and would not be made public.

Although he refused to discuss specifics, the governor said, "The bottom line is that . . . other states ought to be more at ease that Illinois does not possess any inordinate advantage in the site-selection process because of the presence in our bid of Fermilab."

Twenty-five states have submitted bids for the project, which will create thousands of construction jobs, employ 2,500 people and benefit its host state through a $270 million annual budget.

Scientists say the SSC would be an underground, racetrack-shaped instrument capable of whipping proton beams together with 20 times the force of any existing atom smasher, creating subatomic particles that could be studied and give physicists new insights into the nature of matter.

Illinois is regarded as a project front-runner because of the laboratory at Batavia. It proposed a site adjacent to Fermilab using its Tevatron—one of the world's largest existing accelerators—as part of the SSC, saving $430 million in construction costs.

Haitian businesses close in keeping with protest strike

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Most businesses were closed in the capital Monday as protesters observed a general strike called to force the ruling junta to allow civilians to oversee elections thwarted by a terror campaign.

Although there appeared to have been problems spreading word of the hastily called nationwide strike, most of downtown Port-au-Prince was shut down.

Outlying factories that stayed open reported up to 70 percent absenteeism.

Radio Metropole, the only radio station broadcasting news, indicated the strike was ignored in Cap Haitien, a port city on the north coast and the country's second largest population center. But it said the strike was partly successful in St. Marc., Hinche and Port-de-Paix and had paralyzed Gonaives, the Caribbean nation's fourth-largest city.

There were no reports of violence. Trucks filled with soldiers rumbled through the streets and police and soldiers stood at bus stops.

The four leading presidential candidates endorsed the strike, which initially was called by key labor unions to protest the Nov. 29 cancellation of what would have been Haiti's first free elections in 30 years.

Bands of thugs shot and hacked to death at least 34 people that Sunday morning.

Many of the victims had lined up to vote. Soldiers did nothing to protect people and in some cases joined in the attacks.

Shocked by the killings, the independent electoral council called off the voting. Junta leader Lt. Gen. Henri Namohy dissolved the civilian-run council.

Supreme court advocates Church's tax-exempt status

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court said Monday it will consider a lawsuit that seeks to strip the Roman Catholic Church of its tax-exempt status because of the church's anti-abortion lobbying.

The justices agreed to decide whether "pro-choice" organizations and individuals have the proper level standing to sue the federal government over the church's tax status.

The court's decision is expected by July.

Monday's action spares, for now, the U.S. Catholic Conference and the National Conference of Catholic Bishops from having to pay $100,000 a day in contempt-of-court fines for not surrendering information sought in the suit.

Had the court rejected the church's appeal, lower court orders postponing the payment of those fines would have been lifted.

Mediocrity strikes the AFC; 11 teams still have title shot

By the Associated Press

The case of mediocrity that has afflicted the AFC East has spread to the rest of the conferences.

While the NFC playoff teams are about set, the AFC is in a muddle.

The way things are going, it might be best to scrap the season and call next Monday night's game, 10-2 Chicago at 10-2 San Francisco, this year's Super Bowl.

With Pittsburgh's 13-9 upset of Seattle Sunday and Indianapolis' 9-7 win over Cleveland, no fewer than 11 of the AFC's 14 teams have excellent shots at the five AFC playoff berths with three games left. Only two teams, Cincinnati and Kansas City, have records worse than 5-7. Things are so bad that San Diego, 33-18 loss to Houston Sunday was its third straight, still has the second best record in the conference at 8-4., a half-game behing the 8-3-1 Denver Broncos in the AFC West.

In fact, the operative record is 7-5, three of the four teams in the AFC Central have that record. So does Seattle, and a fifth team, the New York Jets, could have reached that mark by beating Miami Monday night.

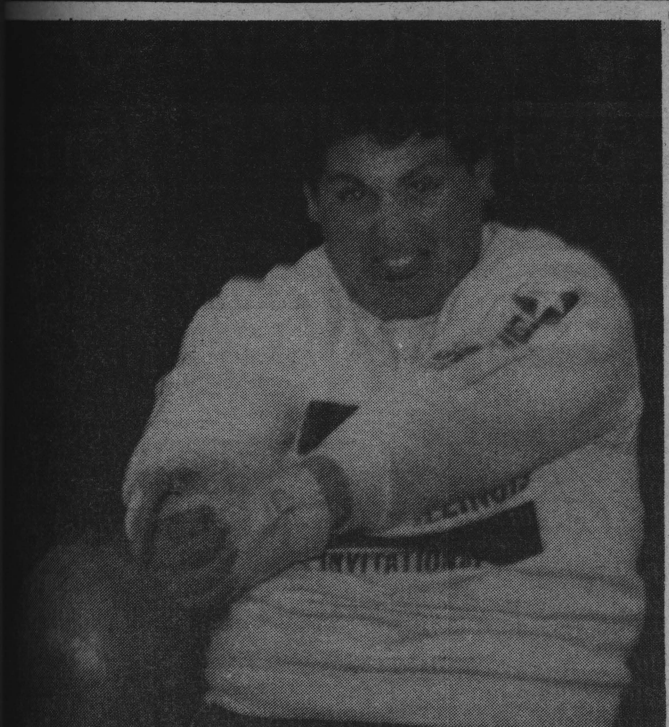

Contrast that to the NFC, where Washington clinched the East on Sunday and Chicago clinched the Central. San Francisco and New Orleans have also clinched playoff berths and Minnesota is close. New Orleans' sixth straight win, 44-34 verdict over Tampa Bay in which Vinny Testaverde threw for 369 yards in his first start, clinched at least a wild-card spot, its first playoff berth of any kind in its 21 seasons in the NFL.

Here is the way the playoff picture looks entering the final three weeks:

AFC EAST:

Suddenly, Indianapolis sits all alone atop the division at 7-5 following its 9-7 upset of Cleveland with the Jets in a position to tie them in Miami Monday night. This, of course, is the division in which all five teams were tied at 4-4 and again at 5-5.

"I saw a lot of unselfishness at the end of the game," Strickland said. "The players showed a lot of concerns about their teammates and team effort."

"We have at least 10 guys who can play," Hamilton said. "It helps us a lot and we're looking into Thursday's game with a lot of confidence."

Panthers dominate Hornets 120-41

By DAVID LINDQUIST
Staff writer

Eastern's men's basketball team ran by Harris-Stowe College Monday night in a 120-41 washout that likely rinsed away a bad taste left in the Panthers' mouths following Saturday's 64-63 loss at Indiana State.

"That loss was a disappointment," Eastern coach Rick Samuels said. "We can put Saturday night behind us now without question."

The Panthers also put seven Eastern and Lantz Gym records behind them in Monday's victory, breaking both offensive and defensive records.

"Our intensity remained good at both ends of the floor for the entire game," Samuels said.

Eastern's assault on the record book began when forward Joe Hamilton completed a three-point scoring play with 47 seconds left in the game.

Hamilton's free throw following his fast-break dunk made the score 117-39, dropping both the most points at Eastern and points scored at Lantz Gym marks.

The Panthers went on to tie the most field goals mark at Lantz Gym with 49 and hold on for the most decisive victory in Eastern basketball history with their 79-point landslide.

"We came out and played hard early," Samuels said. "We set the game's tempo."

Defensively, Eastern collected 21 steals, a new Lantz record and benefitted from poor Harris-Stowe shooting.

The Hornets shot an anemic 26.2 percent from the field en route to tying a Lantz record for fewest field goals with 16 and setting the new Lantz mark for fewest points with 41.

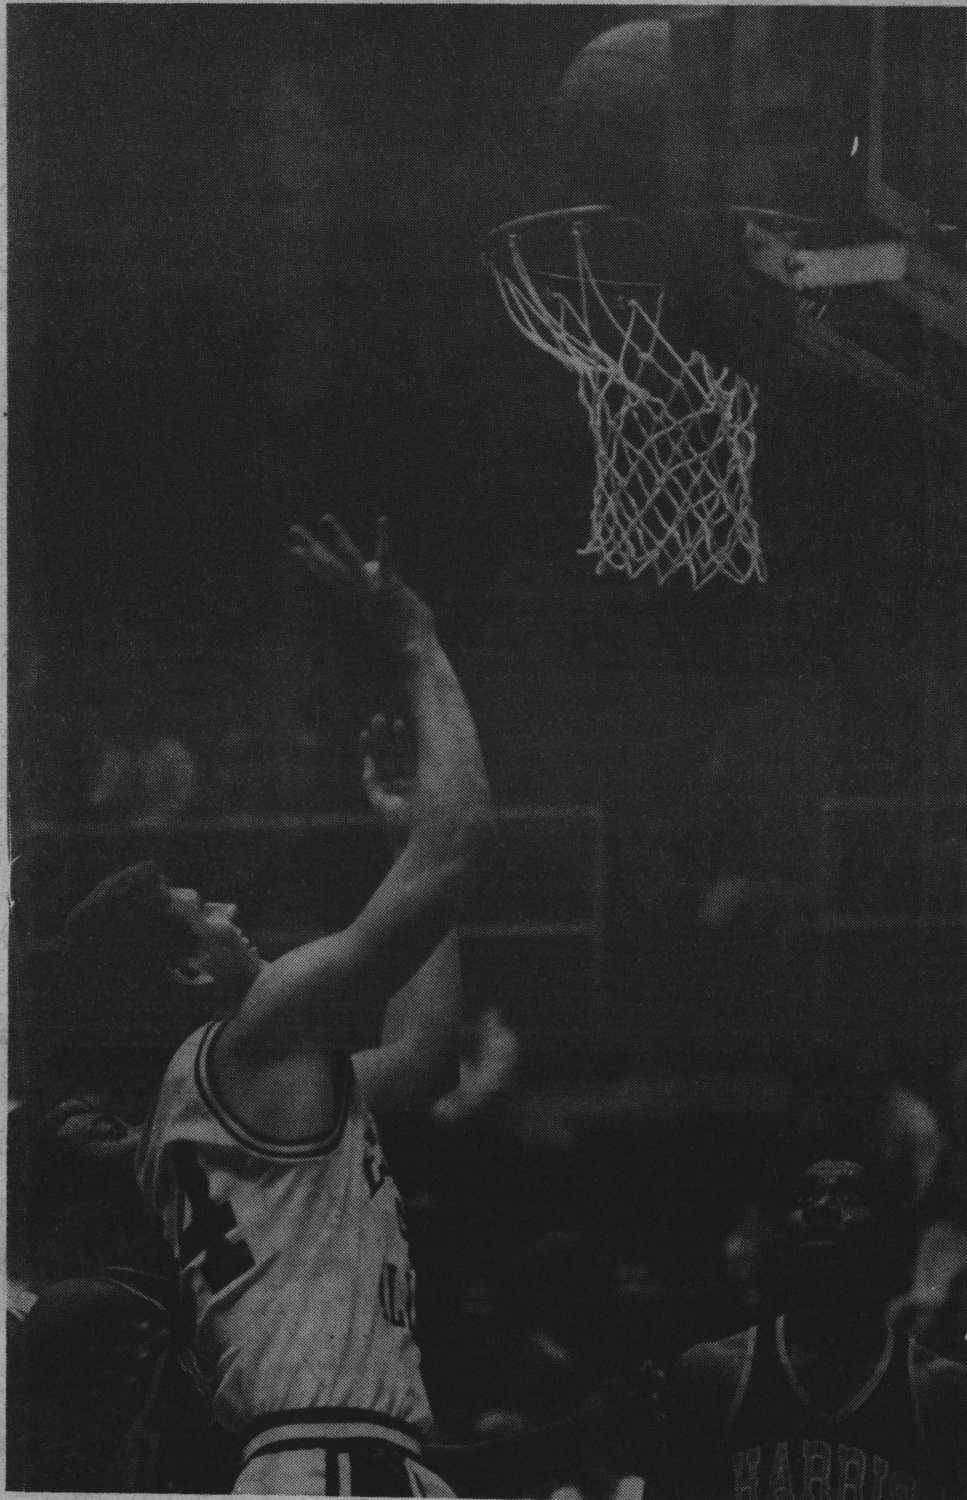

"Our one goal was to hold them down defensively," Samuels said.

The St. Louis NAIA school actually came to Lantz with a potent offense that averaged more than 90 points a game through 10 contests.

Harris-Stowe's record is now 5-6, and the Panthers are 3-1.

"A game like this gives the team confidence and gives us as coaches a chance to play a lot of people," Samuels said. "We got to look at different combinations that will help us later."

Eastern placed six players in double-figure scoring, led by Jay Taylor with 20. The 6-3 junior guard hit nine of 11 field goals and hit both of his three-point goal attempts.

Eastern forward Vince Macciocchi puts up two of his 13 points during Eastern's 120-41 trouncing of Harris-Stowe College Monday night in Lantz Gym. Eastern set records for most points scored, biggest margin of victory, most points at Lantz Gym and lowest point total by an opponent in the 79-point victory.

The Panther scoring parade was continued by junior forward Mark

Fowler, who added 14; junior forward Vince Macciocchi with 13, Hamilton with 12, and senior guard J.J. (See PANTHERS, page 11)

New Cubs' skipper not just 'old boy'

DALLAS (AP)—Don Zimmer said Monday that he was hired to manage the Chicago Cubs because he knows the team well, not because he's from baseball's so-called "old boy network."

Zimmer also said "common sense" and not their longtime friendship led Jim Frey, the Cub's new director of baseball operations, to hire him to replace Gene Michael.

"I wasn't hired just because I was his high school buddy," Zimmer said at baseball's annual winter meetings. "I might not be (Hall of Fame Manager John) 'Mugsy' Mc Graw, but I have managed for nine years and he and I work well together."

"Jim and I are both hard heads and we're going to argue. We may disagree, but at least he and I can go out later and have a Coke and still be friends."

Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberoth criticized baseball's practice of recycling managers and overlooking qualified minority candidates during his annual "state of the sport" address Monday. The Cubs have been criticized for hiring Zimmer, who has had several had undistinguished terms as a manager.

Zimmer, the NL West champion San Francisco Giant's third base coach this year, has a 620-600 major league managing record. However, he said he "didn't care if I ever managed again" after being fired by Texas.

"It was a bad situation there for me," Zimmer said. "I was actually relieved when I was fired. Eddie Robinson, the general manager who hired me, had been fired and (owner) Eddie Chiles said to me, 'What is it exactly that a General Manager does?... Because I'm the new General Manager.' I knew then I was in trouble."

Lady Panthers' win streak on the line against St. Louis

By BARRY BOTTINO
Sports editor

Eastern's women's basketball team will try to extend its winning streak in Lantz Gym to 10 games as the Lady Panthers take on the St. Louis University Billikens Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The Lady Panthers pushed their record 3-1 with wins last weekend at home over Butler, 61-57, and Bowling Green, 76-62.

Eastern is now riding a three-game win streak after beating the Falcons, who were picked as the pre-season favorite in the Mid-American Conference and were 27-3 last season.

The Billikens, who were 10-16 a year ago, will come into Lantz with a 1-2 record after losing to Indiana State 75-42 Saturday.

"They're a tall squad, and they use lots of pressure," said Eastern Coach Barbara Hilke, adding that her squad is not overconfident after winning three in a row.

"I'm pleased with our performance, but our attitudes aren't big. We've had too many mediocre performances to have any gloating."

However, the Lady Panthers can boast that four different starters have led the team in scoring in as many contests.

Eastern's starting five compiled that feat when junior forward Lisa Tyler led the way against Butler with 22 points Saturday and sophomore center Laura Mull produced 18 points against Bowling Green Sunday.

Junior guard Sheryl Bonsett led the Lady Panthers in the season opener at Purdue with 18 while senior forward Ann Brown's 15 was tops at Ball State Dec. 2.

Ironically, four of the five Eastern starters are averaging in double figures, and all five tallied double figures Sunday.

"Having five starters in double figures is an impressive statistic," Hilke said. "That shows a real unselfishness and with our make-up we play a team game."

Another statistic that has impressed Hilke is the Panthers' improved turnover-to-assist ratio.

"Our assists are finally outnumbering our turnovers," said Hilke, who has also seen her guard play improve over the past four games.

"We're getting more accurate from outside, and our guards have stopped overshooting," Hilke said. "Their shot selection has really improved, and our assists are up."

However, Hilke will have to prepare her squad for the quickness of the Billikens' back-court tandem of 5-8 junior guard Dawn Elser and 5-6 sophomore guard Valerie Hynes.

"Their quickness may give us some problems, but we're passing a lot better," said Hilke, whose team has encountered a full-court pressure defense in every game so far.

The Lady Panthers could encounter an even bigger problem if 5-8 guard Sheryl Bonsett is unable to recover from an ankle sprain she suffered in the Bowling Green contest. Hilke said Bonsett is a "questionable" starter.

If Bonsett cannot answer the call, Hilke said she will start 5-8 junior guard Shelly Ethridge.

The leading scorer and rebounder for the Billikens is 6-0 sophomore center Julie Hacker, who is averaging 16.3 points and 12 rebounds per game.

Meanwhile, Eastern is led by Tyler's 12.5 points per game and Brown's 8.3 rebounds per contest.
