Chuck Berry plays to a sellout crowd Saturday night at Lantz Gym as part of the festivities during Parent's Weekend. Some of the songs Berry featured were Johnny B. Goode and Maybellene.

Berry rocks sellout crowd

By JUDY WEIDMAN
Staff writer

Even though Chuck Berry can still rock a gym full of parents and students at age 61, he said he doesn't consider himself a legend.

"I always thought a legend was someone who was dead," Berry said.

Berry, known for classics "Johnny B. Goode," and "Maybellene," performed for a sellout crowd Saturday night in Lantz Gym.

Berry also said he does not feel superior to other people. "We're all the same height, even the audience is," he said.

Berry, who does about 40 shows a year, said he "loves" playing for college crowds.

"People are my bag. I like people," he said.

After graduating from Poro University in St. Louis with a degree in cosmetology in 1954, Berry worked as a carpenter.

"I know that (carpentry) from A-Z. I'm still learning about music," Berry said.

"I do carpentry for the accomplishment of the window," he said.

"My family members were entertainingly inclined—we all performed," Berry said. "We had to entertain ourselves (on Sunday). And in the end, I stood out."

"I like to invent music, and that's part of my psychoanalytical—to entertain," Berry said.

However, Berry doesn't like to read about himself.

"I don't enjoy reading because it's all lies (about me)," Berry said. "I wrote the book to get the truth out."

"I've enjoyed this interview," Berry said, adding, "I think we've had a good time."

Conduct Code revisions approved by Student Senate

By JEFF MADSEN
Staff writer

The Student Senate approved revisions to the Student Conduct Code Wednesday providing for open hearings and more notice for those called before the Judicial Board.

The revisions, which were submitted at-large Senator Bill Helmbacher, must still be reviewed by the Judicial Board and then approved by Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams and Eastern President Stanley Rives before they are officially enacted into the Student Conduct Code.

Two of the revisions Helmbacher submitted Wednesday relate to the judicial proceedings section of the code and the third resolution concerns the disciplinary process.

Helmbacher's first revision would liberalize judicial proceedings by allowing them to be open to all students.

"I believe it's important that the hearings be open to the students and especially to the news media," Helmbacher said. "But I also wanted to establish that access to a hearing may be denied to protect the rights of the accused and the rights of the victim."

Helmbacher's second revision, one he calls a "minor revision," extends the written notice students receive for a judicial hearing from 48 hours to 96 hours.

"I felt that 48 hours was an inadequate amount of time for a student to prepare a response for any charge. The 96-hour time period should prove to be an acceptable amount of time," Helmbacher said.

Under the disciplinary process, Helmbacher suggested the five-person hearing quorum have at least three students, rather than two, as the present code stipulates. Currently, the quorum must contain two students and at least one faculty member.

Helmbacher said he felt the need for another student on the quorum because he hopes to eventually see a student majority present at J-board hearings.

"I personally have a firm belief that hearings ought to be conducted before the Judicial Board with a student majority present," Helmbacher said Friday adding, "I feel the student senate's approval of the resolution is a small step for the student majority."

Judicial Hearing Officer Keith Kohanzo was away for the weekend and not available for comment. But Helmbacher said he had an "extensive discussion" with Kohanzo previously.

"He told me he would express no opposition to these revisions, but he would not openly support them. Mr. Kohanzo felt the present conduct code was adequate," he said.

Faculty members given internships

By BECKY VAN SICKLE
Staff writer

Editor's note—This is the first in a two-part series dealing with faculty internships.

Five Eastern faculty and staff members were awarded special internships through the Program for Professional Enrichment.

The five qualified for the internships when selection began the fall of 1986.

Beginning fall internships are Patty Butler, a Booth Library accountant and Suzanne Chouinard-Stiff, an administrative assistant to the vice president of administration and finance.

In addition, Mathematics Professor Hal Anderson, Art Professor Garret DeRuiter, and Robert Jorstad, a geology and geography assistant professor, will start internships this spring.

Of the two staff members who have started internships already, both Butler and Chouinard-Stiff are working on a limited basis with the Board of Governors, Eastern's governing body.

Both Butler and Chouinard-Stiff are serving as interns for the BOG, which is based in Springfield, but both staff members are working in two different areas.

Judith Anderson, director of Eastern's affirmative action, PPE head and counseling psychology professor, said PPE was first initiated in fall of 1985.

"PPE is an exciting professional development program for Eastern faculty and staff," Anderson said.

Chouinard-Stiff's internship with the BOG administrative and financial affairs lasts until the spring. Her internship will be on a 25 percent time release basis in which she will work for the BOG one day per week.

She attend different meetings in association with various decision making processes that occur at the BOG level. She said the observations of the decision making process should provide a great learning experience.

"I felt that it (PPE) would provide me experience outside Eastern that would otherwise be unavailable," Chouinard-Stiff said. "I feel that this is one of the most significant opportunities to ever happen to me and I am grateful to Eastern for providing such a program for its employees."

Acceptance into the program was based on a letter of application, intent, long and short term career goals, and a recent resume, she said.

She said she believed selection was based on career goals and past experience.

Butler said she will also be in Springfield interning with the BOG.

Part of Butler's internship project is to promote Secretary of State Jim Edgar's literacy program by using the Eastern campus as a trial area.

In promoting the literacy program, Butler said, "We are filming 'EIU Connection,' a half hour show with WEIU-TV.

"It will work in conjunction with the Partners in Adult Literacy projects," Butler added.

Taping began Wednesday, and the half-hour literacy show is expected to be aired sometime in January.

Participants in the show will be Edgar, Lakeland Instructor Patricia Hemmet, and Doug Bock, an Eastern speech communications Professor.

For Butler, preparation for the television production included furnishing background for the state literacy project and developing a question and answer series for the show.

"I love it. It has given me an opportunity to do what I wouldn't have been able to do otherwise and expand a lot of career goals and objectives," Butler said.

"It has given me a lot of insight into myself of what I can accomplish," she added.

Steelworkers commemorate riot

FOREST PARK—A group of steelworkers sang a labor anthem and laid a wreath Sunday at the graves of four anarchists executed 100 years ago for the Haymarket riot, a bloody day in the history of the labor movement.

"People around the world know more about these martyrs than we do because it has been written out of our history books. It's simply not there," said William Adelman, a University of Illinois professor.

"People here think the Haymarket Anniversary is some kind of Russian day," said Adelman, who led about 50 members of the United Steelworkers of America and their families on a tour of Haymarket Square in Chicago and Forest Home Cemetery in this western suburb.

On May 4, 1896, a bomb was thrown during a labor rally at Haymarket Square. Several people were killed, including seven policemen, when officers opened fire on the crowd, historians say.

Cheaper food techniques studied

URBANA—University researchers are modifying an ancient Asian fish-processing technique to give consumers with a filet mignon taste and a meatball budget new foods created from cheap cuts of beef and pork.

"You can add flavor, color and shape and create a totally new red meat product that has more value to the consumer," said Floyd McKeith of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

The possibilities are nearly endless for the high-protein, low-fat raw material. They range from shredded meat for salads to snack sticks, scientists say.

Chances for conservative choice in high court may be hurt by delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—A key Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee warned Sunday that a delay in the selection of a new Supreme Court nominee might prevent President Reagan from placing a conservative choice on the high court.

Judge Douglas H. Ginsburg, the president's second choice for the high court seat vacated by retired Justice Lewis F. Powell, announced Saturday that he had asked Reagan to withdraw his nomination. Ginsburg said his views on law had been "drowned out in the clamor" over his past marijuana use.

Sen. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., praised Ginsburg for acting quickly in requesting that his name be withdrawn and said he would like to see the committee adhere to the same hearing schedule on a new nominee as the one planned for Ginsburg.

The chairman of the Senate panel, Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., had decided to begin hearings on the Ginsburg nomination the week of Dec. 7.

"I would like to see us start hearings on the same schedule early December," Specter said. ABC-TV's "This Week With David Brinkley."

"I think we can get along with the work, and I think we ought to take the time that is necessary but I have grave doubts about talk of putting off the hearing until after the first of the year," Specter said. "I think we ought to take the time we need, and if we find, after we start, that we can't get it done as rapidly as we'd like, we take what time is necessary."

Terrorist attack leaves 11 dead

ENNISKILLEN, Northern Ireland (AP)—A bomb killed 11 people and injured 55 Sunday at a Remembrance Day ceremony for Britain's war dead in the worst Irish terrorist attack in five years.

The huge explosion transformed the solemn pageant, which recalled the thousands of Ulstermen who died for king and country in two world wars, into a horror scene of bloodshed and destruction.

Friends, relatives, soldiers and bandsmen dug with their bare hands through the rubble of a community center where the bomb was planted in this County Fermanagh town near the Irish border.

The blast blew out one end of the building and the structure collapsed, trapping men, women and children against side railings.

Police said three marriages were among the women and five men killed, that many of the wounded were badly hurt in the 10:45 a.m. blast.

1st hearing postponed

The preliminary hearing for former Eastern senior Terry Zeman, the man accused of mob action following a Sept. 12 party in which two Charleston Police officers were injured, was rescheduled for 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Coles County Courthouse.

Nancy Owen, Coles County state's attorney, said she and Ron Tulin, Zeman's attorney, agreed Friday to postpone the hearing, which was originally set for 9:30 a.m. Friday. Because of the "complex" nature of the case, the extra time would benefit both sides, she said.

Owen added that the case has not been assigned to a judge because official charges have not been filed. The charges should be filed Tuesday, she added.

Zeman faces mob action charges stemming from a party Sept. 12, 1605 Ninth St., at which two Charleston Police officers were injured after being struck by bottles thrown by party goers.

Following an Eastern Judicial Board hearing, Zeman was suspended for one academic year for his involvement in the incident.

Eastern director elected to city school board

By MIKE STEINER
Staff writer

Don Schaefer, director of Eastern's Placement Center, has added yet another dimension to his interest in community service.

Schaefer was elected Tuesday to the Charleston School Board, a position he says will enable him to become further involved in enhancing the school system in and around Charleston.

"The desire to be involved in education began as a child," Schaefer said.

He said his motivation stemmed from teachers he had as role models, the possibility of getting a job he would enjoy and the need for teachers in general.

Schaefer said he feels well-qualified for the position on the school board, having spent 10 years as principal of five different schools in the Charleston district.

"I have as good a feel for the community as anyone because of the positions as principal in and around town," he said.

Schaefer said his past involvements have let him get to know many people in the area.

Some of the "involvements" Schaefer referred to are his position as vice president of Charleston's Red Cross Board, participation in the Kiwanis Club and his term as president of the Illinois Association of School, College and University Staffing.

Schaefer said his objective on the school board is to have a good working relationship.

"There will probably be some disagreements sure, but that's how you work things out," he said.

Schaefer expressed some concern about the teacher shortage in the country, particularly in the areas of technology education, speech pathology, science and foreign languages, primarily Spanish.

Today's teachers have more barriers, such as an increased amount of testing, Schaefer said.

"In some ways this is good because it increases the caliber of the teachers, but, unfortunately, it also increases the shortage," he said.

Schaefer's main job as a member of the school board will be policy-making.

"I would like to be able to take part in maintaining and enhancing what we have in the school system," Schaefer added.

Schaefer, who received his master's degree in Guidance Counseling and Administration from the University of Illinois, became the director of Eastern's Placement Center on July 1, 1981.

His duties at Eastern include securing companies to visit the campus for Career Day, helping with resumes, holding interview seminars and giving information and references about prospective employers.

Schaefer said his goal at the Placement Center is to get more job options for students and to help them prepare to land those jobs.

"They are very compatible," Schaefer said, comparing his job at Eastern and his new school board position. "I often go to meetings with school superintendents and principals and they hire the teachers. Having a strong school system is a plus when business and industry come to town," he added.

The two areas are related because business looks for a good city and prospective employees, things that a good school system usually produce, Schaefer said. "Charleston area people are supportive of anything to enhance their community," he said.

Schaefer said "there has been a negative attitude toward education in the last 10-15 years."

POW/MIA ceremony to feature candle-lighting service

By RUSSELL STARE
Government editor

A presentation honoring Vietnam POW/MIAs will be held Monday night at 7 p.m. in the Union Grand Ballroom.

Student Senate Speaker Denise Wasetis said the evening will consist of speeches from guests and a special candle-lighting ceremony performed by the Patriots of Mattoon for the 100 Illinois soldiers still missing.

The Patriots are a flag corps unit from Mattoon.

Wasetis said Dorothy Lippert, co-coordinator of the Illinois chapter of the League of Families of POW/MIAs, and Louise VanHoozer, a member of the League of Families will speak.

Lippert has a son who is missing in Vietnam and VanHoozer has a brother who is missing.

Wasetis said Vice President of Student Affairs Glenn Williams and Jan McDonald, who helped start interest in POW/MIAs at Eastern a few years ago, will also speak.

McDonald helped spur interest by talking to the Sigma Pi fraternity about its alumni who are still missing in Vietnam.

About 250 people attended last year's presentation, which was the first time student government had organized the event.

This year Wasetis is "hoping for at least 300" people to attend.

Wasetis said she is waiting to see if bracelets with names of missing soldiers will be in at the beginning of the week so they can be sold while interest is high. The bracelets will sell for $4 each.

Ad placed to broaden campus dialogue, educate in life

By ERIC WEDEKING
Senior reporter

"Starting a dialogue" on the Eastern campus was the reason an instructor paid about $90 to run an advertisement in The Daily Eastern News.

The ad proposed that the university educate students "in how to live well."

"The university should do this and can do this," said Philosophy Professor Robert Barford. "It would be good for the students."

One administrator said he and other administrators are aware of, and willing to act on, some of the problems the advertisement points out.

The advertisement, authored by Barford, was entitled, "An Open Letter to the University Community."

It (the open letter) is pointing out that there are certain things going on that are not good," Barford said. "It is a question of whether we're educating our young people in a full, human way."

In the letter, Barford voices concern about violence against women, problems created by alcohol and hints at racial prejudice on Eastern's campus, saying the root of the problem is students "reflecting the culture of classical liberalism."

Classical liberalism as defined by Barford is, "The view that you can do whatever you want, as long as it is not contrary to the law."

One administrator who read the advertisement said officials were well aware of Barford's letter to the university community.

"I read the letter very carefully," said Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs.

Williams said he and other staff members discussed the letter and Williams later telephoned Barford to further discuss some of the letter's questions and proposals.

Barford believes an "anything-goes" trend on campus is just a reflection of society today.

Barford said he is not critical of students. "I think students are short-changed, because they are not educated in value and character development," he said.

"These problems have gone on for a long time, but in the past there was an effort to encourage young people in contact with the adult world to develop an idea of moral character and value," Barford said.

"In value and character development, I don't think students are getting this," he added. "It's just not happening."

Also in the letter, Barford proposes that students be educated in "value development of character" as first proposed by Harvard President Derek Bok.

If students were educated about character and value development, Barford wrote, "This would bring students and faculty together as human beings, establishing a real community and break-down some of the power role relations."

A good effort that is worthy of recognition

Student Senate is doing its share in an effort to raise student awareness concerning the Vietnam War and the issues surrounding the many servicemen still coping with the war.

The senate recently held a fundraiser to help raise money for the POW/MIA League of Families and will be holding a presentation with a candlelight ceremony by the Patriots, a flag corps made up of Vietnam vets, Monday in honor of Veteran's Day.

Not only does this honor those who fought in Vietnam, but it will, in retrospect, honor all men who fought overseas and the men currently in the service of their country.

In addition to the candlelight ceremony, there will be members of the League of Families giving speeches on the war and the many soldiers and family members still lost in Vietnam.

Once again, the senate will be selling POW/MIA bracelets and patches to students to help raise funds for the League of Families in its effort to show that the POW/MIAs are not forgotten.

The presentation and fundraising projects on behalf of the League of Families shows initiative on the part of the senate to involve students in an important national effort to bring the missing soldiers home to their friends and families.

Former student Senator Krista Leahy spearheaded the project last year while still a senator and is working with it again this year even though she is no longer on senate.

This kind of dedication to a worthy cause, such as the fight to free the POW/MIAs, shows concern for those actually in Vietnam and the families they left behind.

The senate could have easily handled the project on its own, however, Leahy could not keep uninvolved in such an emotional and important issue.

This kind of concern for others and dedication to a cause will hopefully be continued by the senate year after year instead of thought of as an unimportant project.

It is also comforting to see the senate give attention to a group that has so long been ignored.

Hopefully, the senate will keep in mind that all issues deserve the same kind of consideration the POW/MIA fundraisers and the presentation received.

Nude pictures bad sign for new year

It looks like 1988 is shaping up to be an ugly year.

I can tell this, not because I have my finger on the pulse of the astrological stars, not because I obtained an advance copy of the National Enquirer with the year's predictions, but because I just received the 1988 Nude Coed Calendar in the mail.

Steve Smith

You see, it's bad enough that some women pose for this thing, but what is even worse is the women in this calendar are simply the most undesirable living beings on the face of this, or perhaps any other, planet in the universe.

Last year Frank Trebusak, the founder of the calendar, was soliciting women to pose for the calendar. He solicited at Northwestern Illinois, he solicited at Northern Illinois University, and he even solicited at the mecca of knowledge known as University of Illinois.

From viewing the calendar, it appears the response was mixed.

When the year starts out, the women seem to be the semi-normal, girl-who-sits-next-to-me-in-math-class types of women.

"Bonnie is a graduate music student at Northwestern in Evanston," the caption reads next to the January picture of a woman whose nightgown seems to have inadvertently slipped down revealing her you know whats.

In February we get to see a little of Erin from University of Illinois. And in March, Gina, whose hobbies include sun worshipping, shows off her favorite birthday suit.

Six months into the calendar, the year takes a drastic turn for the worse.

Star, miss June, is an animal science major at that school 45 minutes away. "I have been told that I have a beautiful body and I feel that the human body is a form of art. Why hide it?" Star says.

Well Star, let me count the ways.

Not only do looks come into play as the months pass but age does as well. In July, Linda, a student at College of Lake County, appears. Trebusak swears and down that Linda is only 28 years old, but I think discerning viewer would guess she is closer to 40 45.

August is always an ugly time of year, what with classes starting and all, but Terri, from Northern, gives new meaning to the word "eyesore."

"Look at me as I stand naked by on lakefront" Terri seems to tee hee from the picture.

What a calendar like this says is that college women are smarter than people may think. If college women were harlots and tramps, the pages would be filled with 12 different pictures.

Trebusak said some of the women who posed for the calendar backed-out of agreements while others, most notably Erika from that orange and blue school, complaining about the quality of the calendar.

"She knew she wasn't posing for Better Home Gardens," Trebusak said of Erika.

"I don't understand some of these women," bemoaned. "We're real nice about this. We're gentlemen. I'm no big bad monster."

Monster or not, there is a silver lining to this calendar. For those of you who, on-a regular basis, are given a hard time by University of Illinois friends because you attend such a small school, i.e. Eastern, there is an interesting statistic in the calendar of questionable virtue.

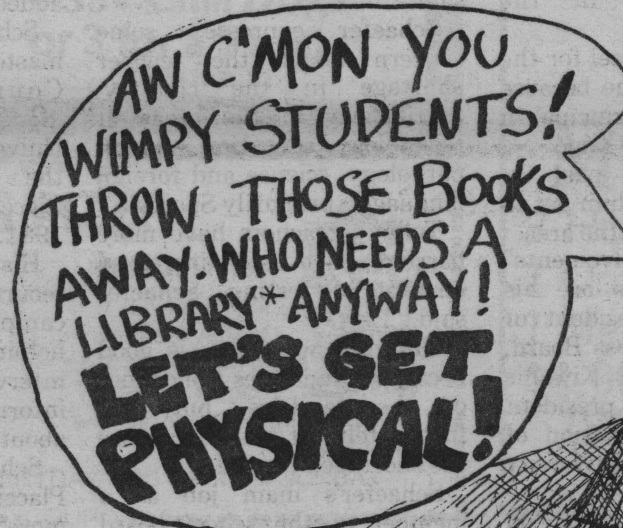

The lovely, or not so lovely, ladies from U of I are pictured an astounding three times, or in layman's terms, they are pictured one fourth of the year.

And Eastern women? Well there are no pictures of Eastern women in the calendar.

Maybe it won't be that bad of a year after all.

Students oppose activity fee hike

Editor:

This letter is in response to the letter of Eastern President Stanley Rives which appeared on Nov. 6. We find it quite appalling that the possibility of a $75 hike in activity fees for the addition of the Lantz Building exists.

First of all, it is bad enough that a $96 tuition increase and the possibility of even more tuition increases in the future have become a reality for all of us here at Eastern. The last thing that the students here need is another $75 tagged on to their college bill.

Second, President Rives claims that the current facilities are not adequate enough for $10,000 students. This may be true, but what about the current facilities at the library?

As we recall about a month ago, the library here does not even come close to providing for the needs of 10,000 students. The library is a constant victim of the budget ax year in and year out.

This has resulted in the library being understaffed as well as ill-equipped. We would rather see a $75 hike in activity fees go toward improving the library rather than provide for "adequate recreational facilities."

After all, a major priority of a UNIVERSITY should be to provide its students the BEST educational tools (like a good library) before providing its students the best "recreational facilities."

On Nov. 11, we encourage all of the students to vote NO on this ridiculous proposal of a $75 hike in activity fees.

Polls to open in four sites

By RUSSELL STARE
Government editor

Election Committee Chair Lori Lockman said polls for the Student Senate elections will be open from 7:50 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The Student Government will provide four polling places throughout campus for the election, she added.

Polls will be located in the University Union Ballroom, the main area of Buzzard Building, either set of stairs in Coleman Hall and in the Science Building.

Lockman said in the past there has not been a very good turnout for the November election, but she "would like to see 3,000 people vote."

The ballot will include 17 open senate seats with 30 candidates vying for a position and a referendum for the building of a proposed Lantz Gym recreation center addition.

Students may vote at any polling booth and Lockman said a student ID is required to vote.

Votes will be tallied Wednesday evening in the Tuscola-Arcola Room in the Union.

Panel on disabled children held

By KIM MIKUS
Activities editor

A panel presentation regarding families who have children with disabilities will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon Room.

The program will take the "viewpoint of parents and the problems we face in everyday life" concerning raising a disabled child, said panelist Bonnie Buckley.

Buckley said the program "will offer suggestions for support when dealing with children with disabilities."

"Sometimes the burden and problems we (parents of disabled children) face is unbearable," she said.

Sponsored by Citizens Against Child Abuse and Psy-Chi, Buckley said the panel will consist of parents and siblings who live in "special" families and who face issues relating to disabilities daily.

The program should be of interest to many types of groups including people with disabilities, family members and friends, educators, counselors and mental health therapists.

Buckley said the program "will offer suggestions for support when dealing with children with disabilities."

Panel Member Nancy Marlow, the mother of a 16-year-old daughter with spina bifida, will relay her experiences.

William Kirk will discuss life with his 14-year-old daughter who is profoundly mentally retarded with multiple handicaps.

Two foster parents will also sit on the panel and will speak about their mentally retarded children.

Financial hardships, effects on siblings, marriages and family life are other topics scheduled to be discussed.

Committee looks into Lantz humidity issue

By JEFF SMITH
Staff writer

The Student Senate's Student Awareness Committee is currently searching for a way to alleviate the humidity problem in the Lantz Gym weight room, said Committee Chair Roger Thomson.

The problem, said Senator Gregg Foster who is conducting research for the committee, is the lack of air circulation in the room. "Fans are currently used in the room, but they only blow around hot air," Foster said. "There are vents on the walls, but they don't bring in any outside air."

Foster said the likely solution to controlling the humidity in the weight room is to install some sort of air circulator that would bring outside air in.

Foster said students who use the weight room are aware of the humidity problem.

David Dutler, dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, said money must be appropriated by Eastern's physical plant for any changes to be made in the weight room.

Panel to discuss date rape

Date rape will be the topic of a panel discussion at 7 p.m. Monday in the Union Addition Rathskeller Balcony.

The workshop titled "How to get everything you want without getting more than you expected" will be made up of a panel of five members.

"This panel will be different than other discussions because the positive and negative aspects of dating will be discussed," said Bonnie Buckley, of the Sexual Assault Counsel and Information Service, formally known as Coles County Women Against Rape. Some topics the panel will discuss include, learning the difference between high school and college dating, what to look for in a date and identifying the positive characteristics of dating.

Workshop to address grief

"Good Grief" will be the subject of Wednesday's noon Life Skills Seminar sponsored by the Counseling Center, 1711 Seventh St.

Losing a loved one can be a traumatic experience which brings a lot of grief, but this grief does not need to last.

Counseling Center counselor Marjorie Hanft-Martone will address grief at noon in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

She will discuss the different types of losses including those caused by death, a break-up and job and health loss.

Hanft-Martone said a common grief reaction is denial. The first denial reaction to a loss is shock.

Although shock is one stage of the grieving process, it can only be obtained for a certain length of time. "It is unhealthy to stay in shock," she said.

Concert honors Danish organist

A concert in observance of the 350th anniversary of the birth of Dieterich Buxtehude will be performed at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Concert Hall of the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

The concert will be open to the public and is free of charge. Featured performers will include Gary Zwicky, organ, and Cathy Berns, soprano.

Zwicky will perform four organ works on the basis of manuscript copies he examined in a number of European libraries during his recent sabbatical leave.

The Arcadia Ensemble, a

Charleston baroque music performance group, will play a trio sonata in G.

Buxtehude was an innovative Danish musician active as organist at St. Mary's in the free Hanseatic city of Luebeck, on the Baltic Sea.

News staff announced

The Daily Eastern News announced several staff changes Sunday, including changes in all four executive editorial positions.

Senior Larry Smith replaced senior Jean Wright as editor in chief. Wright served as editor beginning in April, and now assumes the position of consulting editor.

The move set off a chain reaction of shifts on the News' executive staff.

Senior Julie Lewis, former news editor, now serves as managing editor. Senior Steve Smith, former associate news editor, replaced Lewis as news editor.

In addition, one former staff editor moved up to an executive editor's position. Junior Chrystal Philpott, former city editor, now serves as associate news editor.

In other changes, junior Donelle Pardee, former government editor, replaced senior Sean O. Hogan as editorial page editor. Six new staff editors were also chosen.

Junior Jeff McCombs replaced Philpott as city editor, and junior Russell Stare replaced Pardee as government editor.

During the mid-year shift, two of the News' staff editors are leaving to graduate in December. Sophomore Kim Mikus replaced graduating senior Judy Weidman as activities editor, and senior Jeff Britt replaced graduating senior Bill Dennis as administration editor.

Junior James Betzold replaced senior Eric Wedeking, who now fills the senior reporter position, as campus editor.

In addition, sophomore John Pletz took charge of "On the Verge of the Weekend," the weekly supplement of the News.

Butler hits 52-yard FG to give Bears 26-24 win

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Kevin Butler kicked a 52-yard field goal on the final play Sunday as the Chicago Bears rallied to beat the Green Bay Packers 26-24 at Lambeau Field for their third consecutive comeback victory.

Green Bay's Al Del Greco connected on a 47-yard field goal with a minute left to give the Packers a 24-23 lead. But Bears quarterback Jim McMahon brought Chicago to the Packers' 35 with passes of 21 yards to Ron Morris and 20 yards to Dennis McKinnon.

After three straight incomplete passes, Butler hit his fourth field goal of the game as the NFC Central Division leaders improved their record to 7-1. Butler, who also missed two field goals in the first half, matched his career longest with the game-winning 52-yarder.

Green Bay, which led 21-13 at the half, fell to 3-4-1.

Butler put the Bears ahead 23-21 with 3:59 to go by making a 24-yard field goal.

Green Bay quarterback Randy Wright, making his first start since the season opener, then moved the Packers to the Bears' 29 and Del Greco, who had two earlier misses, made a 47-yard long field goal into a stiff wind.

Walter Payton's 1-yard leap for a touchdown on a fourth down had capped an 80-yard Bear drive and cut Green Bay's lead to 21-20 with 11:36 remaining. The drive came after Del Greco missed a 26-yard field goal try in the third quarter.

The Packers took a 21-13 halftime lead as Wright hit Phillip Epps with a 26-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left in the second quarter. The 64-yard drive began when Green Bay's Mark Lee intercepted McMahon with 46 seconds to go. Epps had receptions of 18 and 25 yards in the drive before his over-the-shoulder catch in the end zone.

McMahon lofted a 59-yard scoring pass to Neal Anderson on the Bears' first offensive play of the game, giving Chicago a 7-0 lead.

But the Packers came back with two first-quarter touchdowns. Wright passed 27 yards to Ed West for the first touchdown. The score came after a 40-yard pass to Epps, originally ruled incomplete, was verified by instant replay.

Tiger Greene intercepted McMahon late in the quarter and returned 10 yards to Chicago's 34. Wright hit west for 30 yards to set up Brent Fullwood's 2-yard touchdown run making it 14-7.

Butler, who missed his first two attempts from 47 and 48 yards hit from 27 and 29 yards in the second quarter to bring the Bears back to 14-13.

Cardinals 31, Buccaneers 28

At Busch Stadium, Neil Lomax threw a 17-yard touchdown pass to J.T. Smith with 2:01 remaining to lead the St. Louis Cardinals back from a 25-point deficit for a 31-28 victory Sunday over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

The play capped an eight-play, 80-yard drive for St. Louis, 3-5. The Cardinals, who snapped a three-game losing streak, entered the fourth quarter trailing 28-3.

Only 22,449 fans were on hand at Busch Stadium.

Donald Igwebuikwe's 53-yard field goal attempt as time elapsed hit the crossbar and bounced back for Tampa Bay.

Lomax completed 25 of 36 passes for 314 yards and three touchdowns.

He hit rookie tight end Robert Awalt for a 4-yard score with 12:42 remaining. Two plays after the ensuing kickoff, linebacker Niko Noga scooped up a James Wilder fumble and returned it 24 yards for a touchdown to cut the gap to 21-17.

After a Tampa Bay punt, Lomax drove St. Louis 31 yards in five plays and hit Jeff Smith for an 11-yard score with 8:18 remaining.

Jeff Smith caught one of the touchdown passes and ran another score for Tampa Bay 4-4.

corner kicks to one for Miami (Ohio).

Jeremy Clorsene opened the scoring for the Redskins when he ran onto the ball near the goal line. Clorsene then knocked the ball over the head of Panther goalie Mark Simpson.

In the ensuing scramble to clear the ball off of the line, it was knocked into the roof of the net, giving the Redskins a 1-0 lead with 16:56 elapsed.

The booters tied proceedings up at the 70-minute mark, when sophomore David Kompare struck a direct free kick off a defensive wall the Redskins had set up near their goal.

The ball rebounded to sophomore Garry Laidlaw, who flipped the ball into the goal to tie the match up at 1-1.

But Clorsene took advantage of the situation when he picked up a loose ball, ran in and fired a low drive past Simpson at 86:42 to give the Redskins the victory.

"We had to go for the win," Callipari said, "and our defense just got caught upfield."

The loss didn't help Eastern's already slim NCAA Soccer Championship playoff hopes. "You never know but today's loss didn't help us," Callipari said.

The playoff bids are to be handed out at 9 a.m. Monday.

Saturday by sweeping the Sycamores 15-8, 15-9 and 15-10, however.

"We were aggressive at the net, and that's what we needed to do," said assistant coach Nick Cheronis.

The match against Indiana State, (13-12, 3-3) also marked the last appearance of setter Jeanne Pacione in the home blue.

The senior will leave Eastern's volleyball team as its all-time leader and assists at the end of the season.

Grapplers take 5th at MSU; Tyler No. 1 at heavyweight

By DAVID LINDQUIST

Eastern's wrestling team collected fifth place at Sunday's Michigan State Invitational, the first tournament of the Panther season.

Scoring 38½ points, Eastern finished 34 points behind Notre Dame.

With 72½ points, Notre Dame outscored the rest of the eight-team field and took first place at the invitational held in East Lansing, Mich.

"We fell a little short," said Eastern coach Ralph McCausland. "I feel we were physically ready for the tournament, but not mentally."

Individually, it was a big day for wrestlers competing for Eastern for the first time.

Junior Copache Tyler, one of three Panther medalists, won all three of his matches and placed first in the heavyweight class.

Tyler is a Lincoln College transfer who won the national

Tyler defeated Central Michigan's Steve Adams, who is currently ranked ninth among NCAA heavyweights, by a score of 8-1 in his championship match.

"Tyler did a tremendous job," McCausland said.

Craig Campbell, a transfer from Indiana State who sat out last season, finished third at the 126-pound class Sunday with a 3-1 record.

Freshman Mark Pflug also placed for Eastern, winning two of his three matches to take second at 150.

"I'm happy with the three freshmen we took," McCausland said. "Each of them won a match, and I'm especially pleased with Pflug placing second in his first collegiate tournament."

Freshmen David Marlow (142) and Bob Johnson (158) also wrestled at Michigan

State, both finishing 1-2.

While McCausland filled three weight slots with freshmen, no Panther competed at 190.

"I was comfortable with the three we took, but I felt the freshmen we have at 190 weren't ready for competition yet," he said.

Meanwhile, veteran third-year starters Craig Sterr and Marty Molina started their 1987-88 season in unfamiliar situations.

Both 20-match winners, who placed in five tournaments last season, Sterr (118) and Molina (177) failed to place at Michigan State with 1-2 records.

McCausland said the Michigan State tournament will be a good meter for his squad's progress.

"I'm not disappointed with our performance," he said. "This gives us a good indication of what we need to work on."

jumped out to a 20-3 advantage when Paul Patterson rushed for a seven-yard score which was set up by a 21-yard scamper by Moore.

Freshman quarterback Fred Gibson was the main weapon for Southern, throwing for 155 yards on 13 completions, while rushing for 102 yards.

"I was afraid of Gibson," said Moore. The freshman quarterback left the game at the 10:53 mark of the third quarter with bruised ribs but returned two plays later.

But it was the Panthers who stormed back to a 27-20 lead on Rich Ehmke field goal and a John Sengstock 13-yard touchdown run in the third quarter, a five-yard touchdown run by DuWayne Pitts and a two-yard scoring run by junior James Marable in the fourth quarter.

"I knew it wasn't over (when we got the 27-20 lead). We were feeling good but I wasn't going to put it in the bank," Pitts said.

"I think we all thought we had it won," said defensive back Daryl Holcombe who recorded 12 tackles, a blocked punt, a forced and a recovered fumble and a quarterback sack.

The Panther mistakes continued in the fourth quarter when Gibson broke free for a 22-yard run on a quarterback keeper and rambled to Eastern's three-yard line before being tripped up by sophomore R.L. Reynolds.

Less than a minute later, Mitchell plunged over the right side of the Saluki line for second touchdown of the day and a 27-26 Eastern lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, Southern placekicker John Smith pounded an onside kick toward the turf which took a generous bounce over the head of Eastern's Mike Macek and into the hands of Saluki defensive back Earnest Mangham.

With 44 seconds remaining, Moore scored his second touchdown of the day on a 20-yard run which set the final score.

Southern surprises Eastern in 32-27 shootout

By BARRY BOTTINO
Sports editor

Saturday's 32-27 loss to Southern was the kind of day that would cause Eastern coach Bob Spoo nightmares.

The first year Panther coach's season-long theory of keeping the point totals down fell out the window as the Salukis ran up 580 yards on offense, including a whopping 425 yards on the ground, which is a Gateway Conference record.

The two teams combined for 636 yards on the ground which also scored with the conference record books.

"It was my fault," Spoo said after Saturday's game. "I didn't get them ready emotionally. That's my job, and I didn't do it well.

"I came in before the start of the game, and I said that I thought that team (Southern) was ready to play," Spoo said.

The Salukis, who raised their record to 3-7 overall and 2-3 in the Gateway Conference, showed they were ready as they took the ball 97 yards for a score on their second possession of the game on a 1-yard touchdown plunge by junior tailback Byron Mitchell.

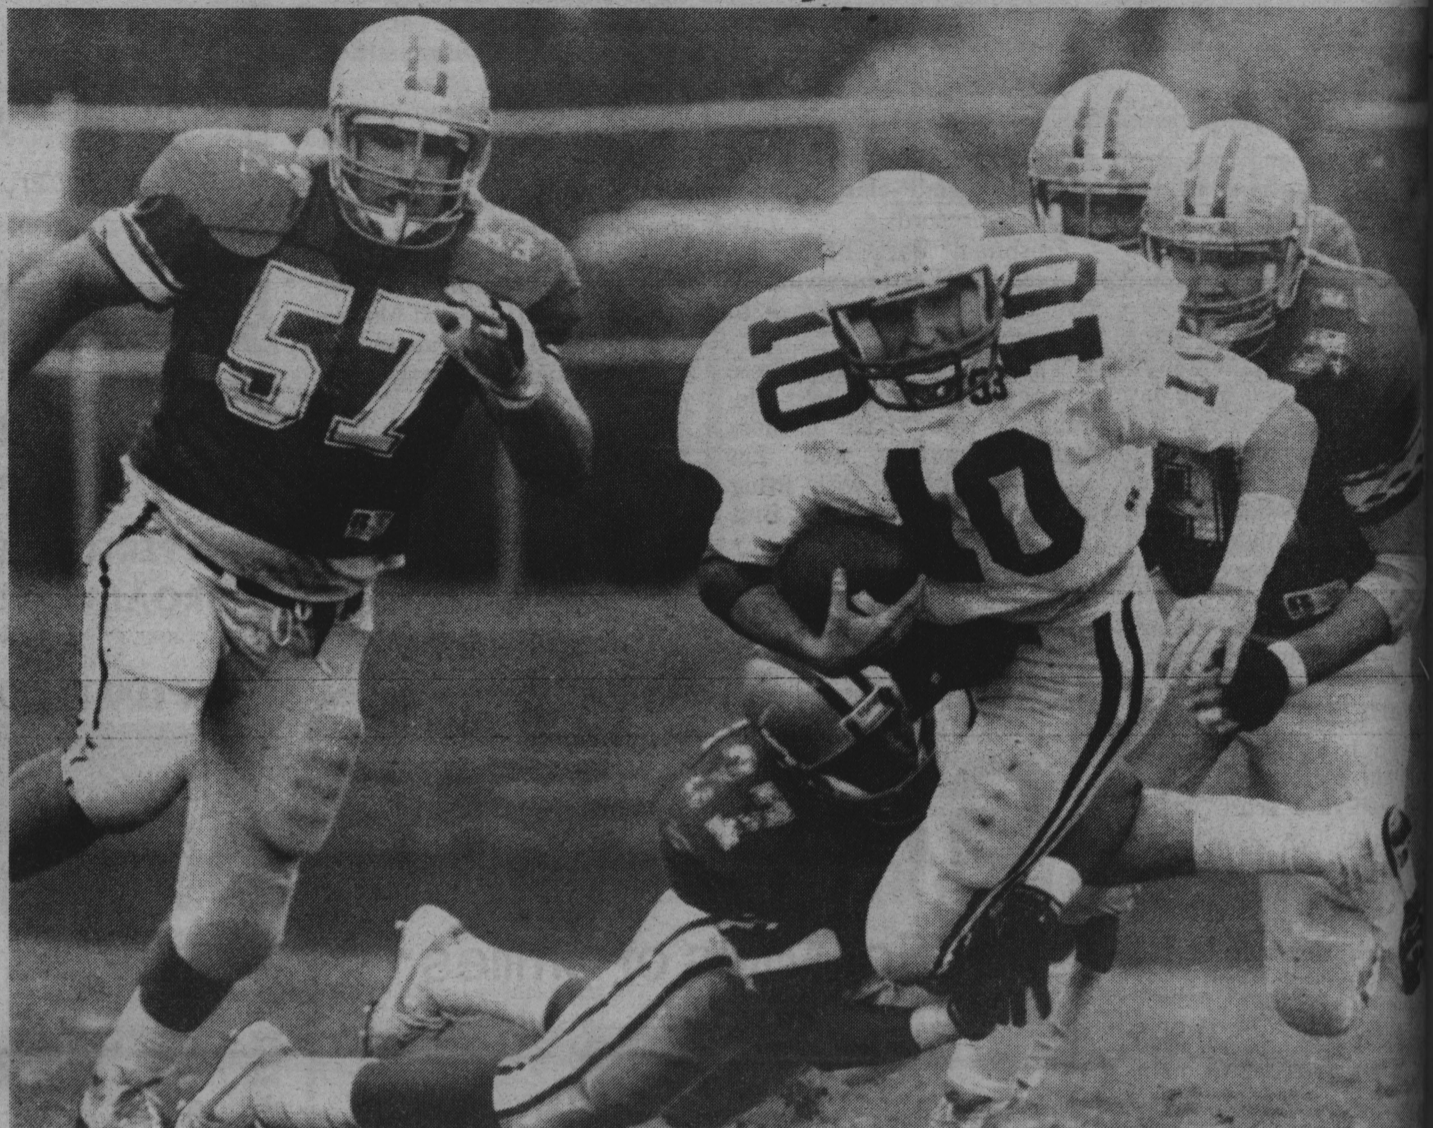

Eastern now stands at an even 5-5 overall and finishes up the Gateway season at 3-3.

Southern started on its own 3-yard line after a 48-yard Steve Tillotson punt and stunned the Panthers on a 61-yard run by Charles Harmke and a 20-yard gainer by Mitchell which set up the score.

"In the first quarter Eastern came out a little flat," said Saluki coach Ray Dorr. "We sustained a long drive (eight plays in 3:34), took some time off the clock and the emotions turned."

"They kind of hurt us in the beginning," said senior DuWayne Pitts, who rushed for 153 yards on the day including a five-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

"When we went into the half, all the seniors got together and said, 'this is our last game here and our parents are here and we have to make the most of it,'" said Pitts, who moved from fifth to third on the all-time Eastern rushing list.

In the second half, "we knew we had to go out and take it," Spoo said after the Salukis took a 13-3 lead to the locker room.

"What did they have to play for? They certainly can't get a winning season," Spoo said. "We've got to play defense and we can't rely on outscoring people that much."

Defensive tackle Aaron Thomas thought the Panthers may have been feeling some ill effects of the 19-17 loss to Northern Iowa on Oct. 31 which put Eastern out of the Gateway race.

"After playing such a tough game at UNI, I think some of our hearts were still left up there," said Thomas, who led the Panther defense with tackles.

Antonio Moore put Southern up 13-10 on a 31-yard run and Rich Ehman closed the gap for Eastern when he kicked a 24-yard field goal.

Spikers sweep weekend series; conference title hopes stay alive

By MIKE FITZGERALD

Eastern's volleyball team broke a 17-game losing streak against Illinois State on Friday and swept Indiana State Saturday to keep its hopes alive for an appearance in the Gateway Conference's final four.

The Panthers, 24-7 overall and 5-4 in the conference, also needed Southern Illinois to beat both teams to enhance their chances of making the tournament with four losses.

The Salukis obliged on Friday by beating Indiana State, but fell to the Redbirds Saturday. Indiana State must now beat Illinois State on Tuesday for the Panthers to get into the final four.

Eastern defeated the Redbirds (13-10, 4-2) by scores of 15-4, 11-15, 15-5, 8-15 and 15-11.

The Panthers and Redbirds played even early in game one with Eastern taking a 6-4 lead. The Panthers then ran off nine straight points to put it away.

Game two saw Eastern let a 7-1 advantage dissipate into a 14-4 run and victory for Illinois State.

Nine-point runs at key times in games three and four allowed the Panthers and Redbirds to gain the victory in each.

Illinois State had Eastern down 11-9 in the fifth and deciding game, but a pair of kills by middle hitter Gina Knoke and outside hitter Laura Bruce gave Eastern the lead for good at 13-9.

"Gina played very good," said Eastern coach Betty Ralston. "One of the strongest points about Gina is that when she gets a chance to start she plays great."

Knoke, who hit .355 for the match, said the biggest factor behind her performance was the dominance the Redbirds had over Eastern up until Friday.

"The 0-17 streak got me psyched up totally," Knoke said.

Eastern also received solid performances from middle hitter Gianna Galanti, who led the team in hitting with .458, and Patti Frigo who hit .412 and had six blocks.

"We practiced blocking and getting to our positions a lot in practice, and we talked a lot on the floor tonight," Frigo said.

The Panthers were also able to put the clamps on Chris Rehor, the Redbirds' all-conference selection.

"I think they thought they had to go to Chris," Ralston said. "Chris is strong, but she won't beat the block every time though."

Eastern had an easier time (See SPIKERS, page 11)

Panthers 'outplay' Redskins, but lose finale by 2-1 count

By BRENT FEENEY
Staff writer

Eastern's soccer team lost its final regular season game Sunday to the Miami (Ohio) Redskins by the score of 2-1.

The loss gave the Panthers a final season record of 11-5-3, while the Redskins finished at 5-12.

"We outplayed them," said Panther coach Cizo Mosnia, "but I think that the kids were a bit overconfident today. We had chances early in the game to score, and we didn't put them away."

"As the game went on, I think that the players felt they could come back, but we weren't able to handle the pressure they put on us," Mosnia said.

"We didn't execute very well today," said Assistant Coach Guy Callipari. "We missed some opportunities, our defense was poor today, and in general, it was just a bad game for us."

Callipari said he felt Wednesday's loss to St. Louis University might have left the team mentally flat. "We might have been a bit down from the St. Louis game (a 1-0 loss)," Callipari said.

"They might had been flat because of that loss. We weren't up for this one mentally at all. It looked like we were going through the motions out there today."

All of this came despite the Panthers leading the statistical categories. Eastern outshot the Redskins 20-8 and had five goals (See PANTHERS, page 10)
