BOG gives OK to fee, housing hikes

Room and board to be $170 more

By DAVE HOSICK
Administration editor

At the request of Eastern President David Jorns, the Board of Governors approved an increase Thursday in Eastern's housing and student services fees.

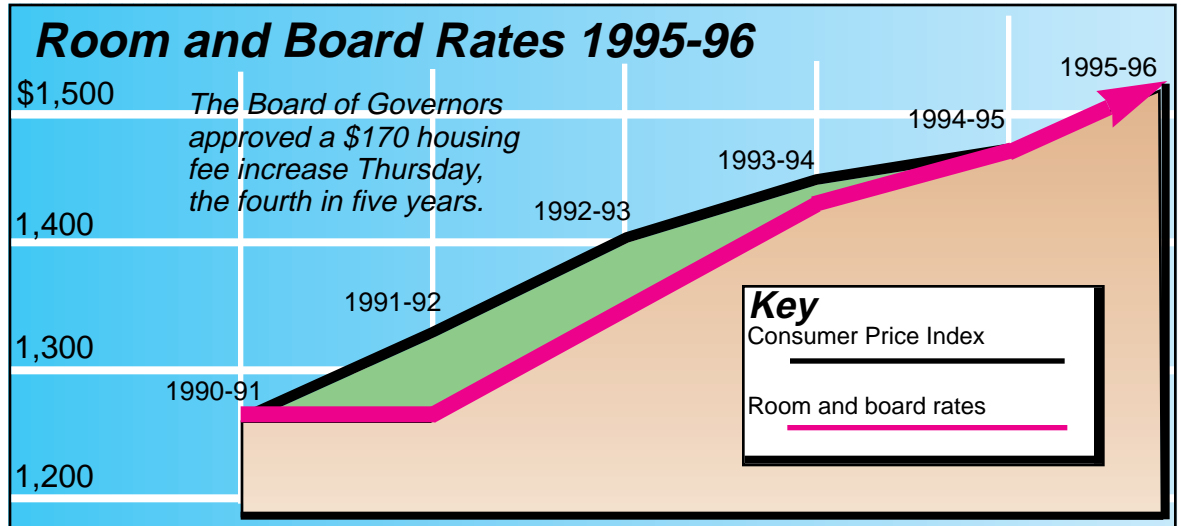

The board approved fee increases for Eastern and Western Illinois universities at a video conference held in Old Main.

For Eastern, the board approved a hike in housing fees of more than $170 per year for residence halls and $66 to $92 per semester for University Court Apartments. The residence hall increase represents a 5.8 percent increase over last year.

The board also approved the following increases: University Union fee, $6 per semester; the Student

Panther's owner skips out on hearing

By TRAVIS SPENCER
City editor

City Attorney Brian Bower said no more penalties can be levied against Panther's Lounge, despite no one appearing on behalf of owner Mike Bickers Thursday for a scheduled liquor hearing.

The liquor hearing was set to update charges involving a Jan. 20 incident in which seven individuals were arrested for reportedly drinking at Panther's, 1421 Fourth St., while Bickers' liquor license was suspended.

Bower said the defense's absence Thursday didn't threaten Panther's because Gregg Bonelli, Bicker's attorney from Mattoon, had declined to appeal the license revocation through the Coles County Circuit Court.

"The appeal time expired for the revocation," Bower said. "They had 20 days and it has been 24."

Bickers declined to comment about appealing either Cougill's decision or his absence at the liquor hearing. Bonelli could not be reached for comment Thursday.

Mayor Dan Cougill issued the license revocation Feb. 13 after Bickers was found guilty of his ninth, 10th and 11th liquor-code violations for allowing underage patrons into his establishment.

Bower said the Jan. 20 charges "were dismissed without prejudice" because Bickers no longer has a liquor license.

If charges are dismissed "without prejudice," they can be brought back up in a city liquor hearing at a later date.

Charleston police conducted the Jan. 20 compliance check and charged seven individuals with public possession of alcohol.

Cigarette in trash can sparks Weller Hall fire

By BRIAN HUCHEL
Campus editor

Residents of Weller Hall were evacuated early Thursday morning after a fire was discovered on the first floor of the building's west wing.

The fire, which began in a trash can in the floor's kitchenette area, was reported to the Charleston Fire Department at 4:01 a.m. It was discovered just before 4 a.m.

Fire Chief Tom Watson said the fire, which caused about $1,500 worth of damage, was caused by a cigarette discarded in a trash can.

Bob Peabody, first-floor resident assistant, said most of the damage was to the surrounding carpet and a nearby wooden partition. None of the equipment in the kitchenette area was damaged.

Watson said the fire had already been extinguished by Tim Marsala, a Weller first floor resident, by the time the fire units had arrived.

Although Charleston fire units were at the scene for only about 40 minutes, 150 male and female hall residents were evacuated first outside the building and then to the McKinney Hall lobby for about an hour as the first and second floors were cleared of smoke.

Several previous false fire alarms during the course of the fall and spring semesters are being blamed for the sub-standard evacuation by the residents.

Services close for break

Several university services will reduce hours or close for spring break.

Booth Library, which will be closed Saturday and Sunday, will be open from 8 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday next week. It will be closed on March 18 and will re-open from 4 to 11:45 p.m. March 19.

The residence halls are scheduled to close at 8 p.m. today. They will re-open at 1 p.m. March 19, and food services will begin offering meals again March 20.

The Student Recreation Center will be open from 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

today before closing for the next week. It will re-open at 10 a.m. March 19.

The Martin Luther King Jr. University Union will close at 5 p.m. today for spring break. It will resume its regular hours on March 20.

The business office will be open, although businesses within the Union, such as the Rathskeller and the Sugar Shack, will be closed.

The Textbook Rental Service will retain its regular hours of 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. throughout spring break.

Prisoner receives $15,000 for being held in jail nude

ROCK ISLAND (AP) - A prisoner has won $15,000 plus his lawyer's fees by settling a lawsuit over being jailed for months without clothing, blankets or silverware.

Wayne Clark was kept on a suicide watch in the Rock Island County jail for nearly five months in 1989 while awaiting trial on a rape charge. That meant he could not have any items he might use to hang or cut himself.

From his May 6 arrest until he was let off suicide watch in September, Clark slept on a concrete slab, ate with his fingers and was allowed no clothing. He was given a blanket in July.

Jailers also denied Clark exercise periods outside his cell, failed to have his mental condition evaluated for more than a month after his arrival and had female guards check on him while he was nude, assistant state's attorney Dennis Faust said Thursday.

The county decided to settle rather than risk a trial.

"What's the jury going to do? Who knows," Faust said.

The county agreed in January to pay Clark $15,000. It also has to pay $16,756 to his lawyer, U.S. District Judge Joe B. McDade ruled Tuesday.

Clark pleaded guilty to aggravated criminal sexual assault and is serving a 15-year prison sentence.

The jail now lets people on suicide watch wear gowns and use heavy blankets that can't easily be used to commit suicide, Faust said. It also evaluates their mental condition more quickly.

But Faust said harsh conditions are still a fact of life for prisoners on suicide watch.

"There's just no way we can make it pleasant for people," he said.

Clinton invites Sinn Fein leader to St. Patrick's party

WASHINGTON (AP) - Coaxing peace in Northern Ireland, President Clinton sharply eased travel restrictions on Irish nationalist Gerry Adams and invited him to the White House for a St. Patrick's Day reception.

Adams, leader of Sinn Fein, a legal political party allied with the outlawed Irish Republican Army, also will be welcomed on Capitol Hill, where House Speaker Newt Gingrich originally had planned to shun him.

Clinton personally intervened on Adams' behalf in return for Sinn Fein's commitment to make the disposal of IRA weapons a subject of talks with Britain, White House officials said Thursday.

"It's a step forward on a process that we believe needs to be nurtured and deepened," presidential spokesman Mike McCurry said.

As a reward, Clinton personally approved a three-month travel visa for Adams and agreed to let him raise funds in the United States, dropping a ban imposed on two earlier trips.

As a condition, Sinn Fein promised that money raised by Adams would be used only for peaceful political purposes, not to buy weapons, McCurry said.

The administration said Clinton's gestures were intended to encourage a peace process that has been gradually unfolding. Since last September, the IRA has observed a cease-fire in their campaign of bombings and assassinations aimed at ending British rule in Northern Ireland. Protestant gunmen declared their own cease-fire in mid-October.

Recreation Center fee, $5 per semester; and the grants-in-aid fee, $1.85 per semester. A 50-cent increase per semester in the activity fee also was approved.

These increases raise student fees from $391.20 to $404.55 per semester, or $26.70 a year. The increase will become effective this fall.

Jorns said increases such as these are not uncommon.

"These fees always go up," Jorns said. "They went up slightly more this year compared to previous years because of bond revenue needs."

Fee increases are intended to provide additional programming and services for students.

The increase in housing costs will go toward deferred maintenance for university buildings and facilities.

Ron Messina, vice chancellor for public affairs, said Eastern is unique in that it has had a large residence hall system. Many other schools do not have the services that Eastern does, and fee increases are necessary to maintain those services.

In other BOG business, the board accepted the resignation of Gordon H. Lamb, president of Northeastern Illinois University, from a position he has held since 1986.

Lamb resigned to take a position of distinguished service professor of music at Western. Lamb and his wife Nancy will move to Macomb after a short leave of absence.

Lamb's resignation will become effective on Sept. 1.

Faculty committee candidates announced

By DAVE HOSICK
Administration editor

A total of 20 positions are up for grabs in the March 23 faculty elections this year.

Polling will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on March 23 and 24 in the lobby of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union. The election will feature on-site balloting this year, as opposed to last year's mail-in balloting.

Open positions for next year include five seats on the Faculty Senate, three seats on the Council on Academic Affairs, three seats on the Academic Program Elimination Review Committee, two seats on the Council on Graduate Studies, four seats on the Council on Teacher Education and three positions on the University Personnel Committee.

As of Thursday, 27 petitions to run in the election had been returned to Gail Mason, a member of the senate Elections Committee. Candidates for the Academic Program Elimination Review Committee, the Council on Graduate Studies and the Council on Teacher Education are running uncontested.

All tenure and tenure-track faculty and department chairs are eligible to vote in the election. Approximately 330 of 654 eligible voters cast ballots in the 1994 election, Mason said.

Candidates for the Faculty Senate race include Roger Beck, associate professor of history; David Carpenter, professor of English; Charles Eberly, associate professor of educational psychology and guidance; Gary Foster, professor of sociology; Harold Nordin, professor of economics; Judy Oehler-Stinnett, associate professor of psychology; Gail Richard, associate professor of communication disorders and sciences; Joan Schmidt, associate professor of physical education; and Lankford Walker, associate professor of accountancy and finance.

Candidates for CAA include Doug Bock, professor of speech communication; Melinda Hegarty, associate professor of art; Anita Shelton, associate professor of history; Norman Spencer, assistant professor of foreign languages; Marilyn Wilkins, professor of business education; and Mary Wohlraabe, associate professor of journalism.

Running uncontested in the race for the Academic Program Elimination Review Committee are Marjorie Duehmig, associate professor of theatre arts; Nancy Marlow, professor of management and marketing; and Pat Stein, associate professor of home economics.

Uncontested candidates in the Council on Graduate Studies race include Michael Leddy, associate professor of English, and Robert Wayland, assistant professor of management and marketing.

Uncontested candidates for the Council on Teacher Education are Terry Barnhart, history; Patricia Cunningham, music; Noelle Greathouse, associate professor of elementary and junior high education; and Joan Henn, associate professor of mathematics.

Candidates in University Personnel Committee race include Ali Moshtagh, associate professor of economics; Richard Wandling, associate professor of political science; and Karen Whisler from the library.

Car damaged by thrown object

A projectile was apparently thrown through the window of a local pizza delivery truck Tuesday night as it traveled eastbound on Edgar Drive past Carman Hall.

Michael L. Malyasec, 18, reported to Charleston police that his driver's side window suddenly shattered at 8 p.m. as he was travelling in the 900 block of Edgar Street.

According to the police report, Malyasec suffered a minor cut to his chin from the incident. No projectiles were found at the scene and no suspects were listed in the report.

Damage to the window totaled $100.

In other police reports:

- Three individuals were arrested early Sunday morning at 718 Grant Ave. on alcohol-related charges.

- Michael S. McGovern, 20, of 1509 Second St., Apt. 104 was arrested at 12:28 a.m. Sunday on the charges of purchasing or accepting alcohol by an underage person, using false identification and obstructing a police officer.

Eastern students Edward F. Sircher, 20, and Jason J. Carl, 21, both of 718 Grant Ave., were also charged in the incident. Sircher was arrested on the charges of purchasing or accepting alcohol by an underage person and frequenting a liquor-licensed premises. Carl was arrested on the charge of open burning, a city ordinance violation.

Under Illinois statutes, city ordinance violations carry a maximum $500 penalty per offense.

- Michael L. Snow, 25, and Angela M. McGee, 27, both of 1400 18th St., Apt 34, were arrested at 12:15 a.m. Saturday at their residence on charges of disturbing the peace.

- Josh W. Leege and Jonathon L. Dale, both 17 and of rural Charleston, were arrested at 11:30 p.m. March 3 on the charges of criminal damage to property and illegal consumption of alcohol. Leege was also charged for possessing drug paraphernalia.

- John Barrett, 20, reported the door to his room was broken sometime between 2 and 4 a.m. Sunday in the Sigma Chi fraternity house in Greek Court.

According to the police report, Barrett found mud and a footprint on the door. The wood was splintered where the bolt meets the strike plate.

Nothing was taken from the room.

- Matthew Lybarger, a student night assistant, reported a car had been damaged at about 2:20 a.m. Feb. 26.

Lybarger said the vehicle, owned Karin Ackermann, 19, was reportedly jumped on by one or more black males, who were seen "yelling and jumping around" under the Andrews Hall parking lot canopy.

Drunk driving bill faces unlikely Senate

SPRINGFIELD (AP) - Championed by Secretary of State George Ryan, a bill to toughen the legal standard for drunken driving moved onto the floor of the House Thursday for the first time in six years.

Ryan, who made lowering the limit part of a campaign pledge, predicted passage in the House. But he is likely to face his toughest test in the Senate, where the measure stalled in 1992.

"I can assure you that this bill will save lives and reduce injuries in alcohol-related crashes," Ryan said.

The proposal would make it illegal to drive with a blood-alcohol content of 0.08 percent. The current standard in Illinois for driving under the influence of alcohol is 0.10 percent.

The measure moved to the house on a 14-1 vote by the House Judiciary Criminal Law Committee. Liquor lobbyists sensed defeat before the bill and one of them, Mark Kolaz, said he would not waste the committee's time with many statistics to support his opposition.

Kolaz, who represented the Illinois Retail Liquor Association, told lawmakers new laws should focus on cracking down against the drivers caught with blood-alcohol levels much higher than 0.10 percent. He maintained more fatal accidents are linked to those drivers.

"We don't want drunk drivers on the road any more than he does," Kolaz said.

A person who weighs 160 pounds would need to consume five drinks - such as five 12-ounce beers - in an hour to hit the 0.10 percent level, Ryan said. The same person would be limited to four drinks under Ryan's 0.08 percent proposal.

Proposal would help universities in difficult time

Gov. Jim Edgar deserves some credit for his proposal last week to increase the state's higher education budget by nearly 5 percent. With the restructuring of the Board of Governors and the Board of Regents, the added funding boost would come at an opportune time.

Edgar called for a $2.6 billion budget for all of higher education in Illinois, a 4.6 percent increase over this year.

On the same day, Edgar gave final approval to a bill that reorganizes the state's higher education governance structure by dissolving the BOG and the BOR and replacing them with individual governing boards for each university.

The coming months are sure to be busy ones for higher education leaders, who will be left with the colossal task of adjusting to a new hierarchy. The new power structure, while hopefully giving more autonomy to each campus, is bound to produce new expenses. This funding shot in the arm will help state universities make the transition. It should provide a little fiscal relief at a time of profound change in Illinois higher education.

Edgar's proposal for higher education funding includes a 5.6 percent increase in the general funds used for operating expenses. That would raise the higher education budget to $1.85 billion, or $98.1 million above this year's.

Eastern requested a 4.9 percent increase from its $58 million budget for this year. If approved by the Legislature, Eastern's total allocation would be $60.8 million.

Edgar's proposal also includes a moderate $11 million increase in scholarship assistance.

Edgar said higher education has made progress in eliminating unneeded programs and saving taxpayer money. Universities should be encouraged to know that politicians are taking note of their belt-tightening.

Edgar's recommendation goes now to the Legislature, where it could be cut, although last year lawmakers left the budget intact.

Edgar was wise to recognize this as a defining time for state universities. With the added money, schools will be able to make the most of it. This proposal deserves sound and prompt approval.

Increases will keep some students away

I'm broke. I owe a liver to Citibank, a kidney to Visa, a lung to Eastern and possibly an appendage or two to the bank.

Hell, I can't even afford the "o-r" in poor.

And thanks to President David Jorns' proposal to the Board of Governors to yet again increase the cost of university housing and student fees, it looks as though I will have to sell my soul to attend this institution of academia.

According to Jorns' proposal, students living in residence halls will be paying an additional $170 per year. Those residing in University Apartments and University Court could pay an additional $17 per month for a two-room apartment, while individual room rates might increase anywhere from $66 to $92 per semester.

And as if that wasn't detrimental enough to my pocketbook, the proposal also calls for a $26 increase in student fees.

It's not so much that I object to paying more to help residence hall renovation costs or trying to get food service a little more bearable for that matter. But it just seems as though whenever university cash flow begins to dwindle, Jorns, the BOG or Student Government calls for an avalanche of student funds to make up the difference.

Jorns almost attempts to sugar-coat the monetary blow when he said "these fees always go up."

This is a very true statement.

In the past three years, the cost of lower division undergraduate tuition, including fees, has risen from $1,057.10 to $1,299.95. Housing costs have been increased from $1,287.00 to $1,442 per semester. While it may not seem like much, many students are finding it more and more difficult to match the increase - so difficult, some students end up not being able to come back and finish their degree at degree.

"Pretty soon a vast majority of high-school graduates or adults who wish to return to school might find this an improbable goal."

By consistently raising the cost of education at Eastern - a school known and regarded for its affordability without cutting the quality of the education - we are rapidly deterring these students from their ultimate goal of learning. Pretty soon a vast majority of high-school graduates or adults who wish to return to school might find this an improbable goal.

While universities continue to call for an increase for this and that, students will rapidly relinquish their desire to better their minds as well as themselves.

And this is a shame, for universities everywhere will be denying bright men and women with dreams and desires their right to better themselves.

What universities ought to be doing to finding ways to cut back on expenditures. If it means lowering the cost of attending school, cut back on the sides that come with universities: big-screen televisions for the Rec Center and Rathskeller, taco bars for food service, open houses for high school students, or UB-sponsored events which give away beach balls.

The purpose behind going to college is to educate oneself and gain knowledge via experience for the job market. College is to challenge one's mind - not the wallet.

Your turn

Most Eastern faculty voted on referendum regarding Article XIII

Dear editor:

I am writing to dispel a minor myth - that a majority of voting faculty did not bother to vote on the referendum regarding Article XIII. In actual fact, about 57 percent of eligible faculty voted. While it is true that spoiled ballots reduced the number of counted ballots, of the 236 ballots counted, 170 were in support and 66 were opposed to Article XIII. Had all of the spoiled ballots been "no" votes, the Article still would have passed with ease - with more that a 30 percent advantage.

Article XIII, which allows 20 percent of the voting faculty to petition for and get referenda, is now approved for inclusion in the Faculty Senate Constitution. All faculty members owe a debt of gratitude to Lankford Walker. He drafted, sponsored and carried the petition that has led to an additional means for faculty members to be heard.

Columnist didn't look at right sources for campus rape policies

Dear editor:

Acquaintance rape is such a very serious problem on college campus, why oh why then is so much nonsense being written about it here? The latest ignorant pap comes from a columnist (David M. Putney) who read "just about every source I can find in regards to rape on campus."

Those sources obviously did not include the federal Campus Security Act of 1990, the Illinois Criminal Code, Eastern's Student Conduct Code, the Illinois Coalition Against Sexual Assault and Charleston's Sexual Assault Counseling and Information Service. I guess that makes his primary source The Daily Eastern News, for among his conclusions: "Eastern should emphasize assistance to the victim, through extensive counseling during the trial and a victim's advocate to look out for the woman's interest. Right now that is clearly not taking place." That is exactly what is provided through the excellent and independent services of SACIS, whose office is in Lawson Hall, and through the circuit court victim's advocate program.

"University emphasis should be on criminal prosecution in real courts." Campus police investigate crimes, but neither Eastern nor the victim prosecute anyone - the state's attorney does. If victims, often without assurance that "felons" will "suffer for what they did," opt out of the criminal justice system, the fault may be with the courts, or with the victim's decision. It does not lie with Eastern.

"... the university is considering changing its rape policy to allow students to take cases directly to J-Board, completely circumventing the police and state prosecution." Federal law mandates, and Eastern's policy has always required, the assistance of victims in seeking criminal prosecution.

In trying to explain a complex problem to student journalists who want simple answers, Chief Tom Larson has suffered some bad press as do the rest of us who do our best to deal with situations we face.

It may come with the job, but published misinformation does a disservice to the community that relies on it.

Lets understand the facts:

- Acquaintance rape is a violent act. Police will safeguard the privacy of victims, and will assist them in obtaining immediate aid and long-term support.

- Acquaintance rape is a violation of university conduct standards. Perpetrators who are students are subject to disciplinary action which, with the cooperation of the victim, may be sought with or without criminal complaint.

- Acquaintance rape is a criminal act. Police will aid victims in filing criminal complaints. Police will continue to include such incidents in Eastern's crime statistics regardless of whether there is a criminal complaint filed.

- And in all of this, let's not forget the persons accused of misconduct or crimes have rights, too.

The News' series on race was filled with distorted information

Dear editor:

The recent series in The Daily Eastern News was loaded with distorted information and I am sure will tend to worsen race relations on campus.

One of the many absurd statements was a criticism that the student newspaper "referred to African Americans as Negroes as late as the mid-1960s."

If the newspaper staff members had the slightest historical perspective they would have known that practically everyone, including Martin Luther King Jr. himself, used the term "Negro" at the time.

One of your own staff members summed it up best by referring to "lies" in the series and writing that the series "has been misleading, containing more holes that a sieve ...."

Lady Panthers head to Florida for break

By ANTHONY NASELLA
Staff writer

The Lady Panther softball team has a chance to play numerous Top 25 ranked teams at the prestigious Florida State Invitational Tournament Mar 17-19.

But that will all depend on Eastern's ability to finish either first or second in its six-team pool. There will be four pools overall in the tournament, and the top two of each pool will compete in a single-elimination tournament.

If Eastern makes it out of pool play, it could possibly play Michigan, (No. 8 in Wednesday's USA Today Top 25 softball poll), No. 12 Florida State and No. 14 Missouri, which defeated the Panthers 3-2 at the Southern Illinois Tournament last weekend. Other programs competing will be Ohio State, head coach Beth Perine's alma mater, and Southwest Missouri State, a Top 25 team last season.

Perine sees this as a great opportunity for her Lady Panthers (2-2) to play some additional ranked teams, and even come out as the tournament champions.

"Our No. 1 goal is to get out of pool play and into the elimination tournament," she said. "If we can do that, we have good shot of winning it all. When you get into the final eight, anything can happen."

"The tournament bracket is very strong.

The Florida State tournament is one of the best in country. This is a challenge we look forward to."

The Lady Panthers' pool opponents will be the University of Massachusetts, which finished third in final eight of the NCAA Tournament this past season, Big 10 champ Indiana University, which Eastern defeated 2-1 at Southern, solid hitting Northern Iowa, Miami of Ohio and Furman.

Eastern will also get a rematch in pool play against the University of Illinois-Chicago, which eliminated the Lady Panthers in the Mid-Con tourney last spring.

"We're really looking forward to playing UIC," Perine said. "We were the only conference team to beat them last year, and we're a stronger, veteran team this year. It's nice to get a chance to avenge that title game loss."

Other competition over spring break for the Lady Panthers will be a doubleheader at Eastern Michigan on March 15 and a contest against the University of Miami on March 16 in Tallahassee.

"We're keeping our intensity up," she said. "It's good that the players are responding and are excited."

Meanwhile, the team has sustained another injury. Senior infielder Luann Schleeter injured her knee this week in practice and is currently on crutches. Perine doesn't yet know the severity of Schleeter's injury.

"She's going to see an orthopedic surgeon," she said. "It's very swollen. We just don't know right now if its a ligament or sprain. We're just hoping for progress."

Panther baseball team off to play in Texas, Florida

Not all students are going to hit the warm, sunny beaches of Florida or Texas over spring break. Just ask the Eastern baseball team.

The Panthers (2-0) will begin their spring break on Saturday by traveling to Louisville, Ky., to participate in the Derby City Classic. On Saturday, Eastern is slated to play the University of Toledo at 10 a.m. and the University of Northern Iowa at 1:30 p.m.

At 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, the Panthers will play a doubleheader against the Cardinals from the University of Louisville.

On Monday, Eastern will trek further south to Lebanon, Tenn., to play Cumberland. Then on Wednesday, the team will find itself in Nashville, Tenn., to battle with the Commodores of Vanderbilt University.

Eastern will conclude its spring trip in Cape Girardeau, Mo., when the Panthers will face Southeast Missouri State on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Assistant head coach Terry McDevitt explained that going into this weekend, the team will bank on the experience in the games they have played this season.

"I think (the games are) obviously a confidence builder," McDevitt said. "We'll have to play them one at a time and see how things go."

Going into this season, there were questions about the inexperience of the Panther pitching staff. But thus far, McDevitt said that he, along with head coach Jim Schmitz, is pleased with the performance from their hurlers.

"We've had some good pitching performances from basically everyone that went out (on the mound)," McDevitt said. "I thought our pitch selection was very, very good down at Murray State."

Eastern wrestlers ready for nationals

In the last few days before collegiate wrestling's National Championships in Iowa City, Iowa, Eastern's three representatives - David Pena, Eirik Gustafson and Tim Fix - will undergo some fine tuning.

Very fine tuning. "Each has four or five little things to work on," Panther coach Ralph McCausland said. "We're going to just try to refine areas. A hand position here, an ankle pick here...it's not a complete area that we're working on. It's more technique."

Pena said that defense is the focus over the last days of practice.

"My defense just hasn't been that good," Pena said. "My opponents have been able to shoot my legs and get points pretty easily. I want to try to get that down before nationals."

Eirik Gustafson, who will be making his second straight appearance in the tournament, said that a hyperextended elbow and an injured back have forced him to adjust his moves.

"For me, I'm just working on turning my opponents,"

Gustafson said. "I'm working on stuff that doesn't hurt to do - just variations on my old moves."

"Conditioning-wise, we're fine."

McCausland reiterated that point, saying that practices didn't change because of the upcoming tournament, they just got "a little shorter and more intense."

According to McCausland, eight to 12 wrestlers in each weight class will pick up a seed, though Gustafson said that seeds mean very little to him.

"I'm not even worried about that. I don't care if I wrestle the No. 1 guy in the first round," Gustafson said. "There would be no pressure on me. On paper, I'm expected to lose."

While Pena agreed with Gustafson about wrestling the top seed without any pressure, Pena also thought that getting a good seed would be advantageous as well.

"I'm the type of person who can just go out there and wrestle, no matter the situation," Pena said. "I don't care who the No. 1 draw is."

"It's always nice to get a seed. Psychologically, they see you're seeded, and they're less prone to attack (you) and (they) open up more."

Jordan works out with Bulls for 2nd straight day

DEERFIELD (AP) - Michael Jordan worked out with the Chicago Bulls again Wednesday, prompting speculation that he is leaving baseball and preparing for a return to the NBA.

The Bulls' practice ended around 1 p.m. CST. Team spokesman Tim Hallam said Jordan would have no comment on his future.

No one seems to know what Jordan is up to. If they do, they aren't talking.

Jordan showed up before practice this morning and was one of the first players on the court, shooting baskets with Toni Kukoc. He was wearing a white sleeveless T-shirt that said "Bulls" on the front in red and black letters.

Jordan also worked out Wednesday, and while he was at the Bulls' Berto Center on Tuesday, it was unclear whether he worked out on his own since the team had no practice that day.

Outside the facility, radio talk shows buzzed with questions.

South Carolina: Netters' spring break haven

The men's and women's tennis teams will spend spring break in Hilton Head, S.C. playing various schools.

Slated to face the women's squad are Oral Roberts, Rutgers, the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay and Morehead State. The men's team will face the same schools and will also face off against Northern Kentucky.

The fact that all five of the schools on Eastern's schedule are of quality talent is a plus for Eastern coach Rosie Kramarski.

"They all are Division I teams, and they are all very competitive," Kramarski said.

After break, Eastern will be back in action on March 24, when the men's team hosts Wisconsin-Milwaukee at 2 p.m. at the Weller Courts. The women's squad will compete again when both teams host Northeastern Illinois on March 29, also at the Weller Courts at 2 p.m.
