Easternaires Show To Be On TV Sat.

A special half-hour show by the Easternaires, the singing ensemble now on tour for the USO, will be broadcast at 5 p.m. Saturday over Channel 10, WTHI-TV, Terre Haute, Ind.

Taped at the station last week, the show features a number of the selections the group prepared for their Caribbean tour. Earl Boyd, director, is the program host.

The television show will open with a selection of numbers from "West Side Story." Martha Van Hook, Decatur senior, will be featured in a jazz number. A barbershop quartet and a folk singing trio will also be featured.

The show closes with the entire vocal group singing "Hokum Locum."

"Now, boys, I promised their mothers . . ."

"Glad to say we're on our way, won't be back for many-a-day."

Band Plays As Easternaires Start USO Trip

Strains of the Eastern fight song followed the Easternaires and their director, Earl Boyd, as the songsters departed early Sunday morning on the first leg of their four-week USO tour.

School of Music faculty, friends and sweethearts turned out to bid farewell as a chartered bus pulled away from Fine Arts Center at 8:15 a.m. carrying the Easternaires to Terre Haute, Ind.

At Terre Haute Boyd and the 14 music majors, boarded a plane to Cincinnati, Ohio. The plane the group had planned to take from Cincinnati to Atlanta, Ga., was an hour and a half late, which caused them to miss their plane out of Atlanta.

Due in Charleston, S. C., at 5 p.m., the Easternaires arrived there at midnight and were seven hours late in leaving the United States.

Scheduled to have reached Panama Tuesday, the entertainment troop will perform at U.S. military installations in Guantanamo, Puerto Rico, Bahama Islands and the British West Indies before returning to EIU—souvenirs, suntans, snapshots and all.

The vocal ensemble, which travels in matching blue blazers, features different members of the troop in numbers ranging from jazz to spirituals to show music.

"One trunk of suntan lotion . . ."

"If I don't come back with the others . . ."

"Say, how big is that plane?"

"Tickets? Me?"

"What's this about a misplaced piano?"
