CAFETERIA AND STUDENT LOUNGE - The Woodshed

Three surplus military buildings were erected as a single unit in 1948 and located in the area east of McAfee Gym on the site now occupied by the University Union. They served as a food service and social facility, with a student lounge located in the south end. It was known as "The Woodshed." It served the university community until 1958 when the University Union Building was completed.

For additional information, see Temporary Buildings.

CAMPUS DRIVES

A road system within the main campus area, designed originally for carriage traffic, was in use until major campus renovations and an abundance of automobile traffic eliminated it in the late 1940's. The parking lot in front of Old Main was an east-west oval fronting on Lincoln Avenue and circling past the entrance to Old Main. A road branched off south from either end of the oval. One ran past the west entrance of Old Main, down what is now the broadwalk of the campus, to the football field, turning west and entering Fourth Street just south of current McAfee Gym. The road from the east end of the oval ran past the east entrance of Old Main and south past Blair Hall until it intersected the existing roadway from Seventh Street at the north end of the Power Plant. That road ran on west between the Old Greenhouse and the Practical Arts Building (now the Student Services Building), originally exiting on Fourth Street through the entrance columns west of the Physical Science Building.

CAMPUS LIGHTING

In 1941 a system of campus lights was installed.

LABORATORY SCHOOL - See Buzzard Building

LAKE AHMOWEENAH

A lake located on the site of what is now McAfee Gym and to the south, it was originally a clay pit for a brickyard which was located where the Physical Science Building now stands. According to tradition, it was named in 1899 by a Normal School Board member for a queen of one of the Philippine Islands.

Note from Coleman's History:

The lake flourished as a beauty spot of the campus until the City of Charleston began to charge the school for water in 1913. The lake had an inadequate natural supply, and when water was free the school had kept up the lake level by adding city water when necessary. With water being paid for, this practice ceased and Lake Ahmoweenah reverted to its original condition--after every "dry spell," a slime and algae covered haven for frogs, threatened with total extinction by the end of each summer. Although of no scenic value, the dehydrated lake was useful as an outdoor laboratory for the biological science classes. In December 1915, before the water dispute was finally settled in the city's favor, the school paper called for water to be added to the lake in order to provide good skating.

". . . Five years later the school paper was still concerned with the problem of the lake. It was estimated that it would take 1,500,000 gallons of water to raise the level two feet. The city water system would be unable to supply this amount of water, even if the school were willing to pay for it. . . . Fortunately, the most important extracurricular use of the lake came in the spring, when the water level was usually high. It was there, on class day, during the 1920's that the freshmen and sophomores engaged in their annual tug of war. (The tug of war was changed to Homecoming in the fall of 1930 and then shifted to the new "artificial" lake when it was built in 1935.) In the spring of 1937, construction was started on the new Health Education Building (McAfee Gym) on the site of the lake. All that remains of the lake today is a small "sunken garden" immediately south of the new building (McAfee Gym)."

LAND ACQUISITION

Original campus: 40 acres was purchased from Virginia M. and Charles E. Bishop at a cost of $3,000 on September 24, 1895. (The Charleston Citizens Committee made a payment of $3,000 to the Board on October 1, 1895.) The site was known as Bishop's Woods and was located at the southern edge of the city, at that time outside the city limits. The initial design of the campus was planned by Walter Burley Griffin, noted architect.

"Mr. Griffin made full use of the many handsome trees standing on the site: oaks, walnuts, elms, maples and sycamores." - Coleman's History.

Addition: On June 2, 1931, a seventy-two acre tract of land was added to the campus. Land was purchased from _____ at a cost of $21,600 on _____. Land was to be used for athletics and physical education. The house was used as a club house by the Men's Union. General location of the land was west of Fourth Street and south of Garfield Street.

The "72 acres" was given the name "Lincoln Field" in 1934 in a contest sponsored by the school paper. Elbert Field, a student, suggested the name. - Teachers College News, January 16, 1934.

Note from 1935-36 Catalog:

This tract of land contains a baseball diamond, several football practice fields and a nine-hole golf course. The house is used as a cooperative dormitory by a group of men students.

Addition:

An additional thirty-acre tract was purchased in 1947. Athletic fields and a nine-hole golf course were developed on part of this land. Trailers and remodeled barracks for veterans housing were placed on other portions in 1945-47.

The land was purchased from _____ at a cost of $70,212.09 ??? on _____. General location of land was _____

OLD MAIN - See Livingston C. Lord Administration Building

OLD AUD - ASSEMBLY ROOM - OLD MAIN

The school's original auditorium in Old Main was used for daily chapel for all students during the tenure of President Lord. Under President Buzzard, the chapel became a twice-a-week college assembly and gradually disappeared in the 1950's.

In 1903 Mr. Albert Crowe, physical science teacher, and Mr. Al Livingston, school engineer, tried several experiments to improve the acoustics of the room. Reading of an experiment at Harvard University, Mr. Crowe tried the following solution and gave this account of the experiment to Dr. Charles Coleman:

"The Parker Dry Goods in Charleston lent us 250 pairs of blankets and 100 thick comforts. We stretched wires around the room, one above the window casements, the other half way down to the floor. During the day on which a concert and play were to be given in the evening, we hung the blankets, opened out full length, on these wires. They covered the walls, including the windows, entirely. The comforts we spread out on desks in the rear of the room. The audience, as it came, was asked to carry their wraps into the room and spread them out as much as they could."

The test showed considerable improvement in the acoustics and a more permanent solution of covering the walls with absorbent materials was made.

At one time it served as the Sargent Art Gallery. The stage has been removed and the ceiling lowered to accommodate the current use of administrative offices.

OUTDOOR THEATER

An amphitheater located in the area now occupied by the Life Sciences Building, it was a stone structure dug into the ground in Grecian style and used for summer theater and musical productions. Completed in the early 1950's, it was removed when the Life Science Building was constructed in 1961-63.

PANTHER LAIR

Description:	A former farm residence, located at the southwest corner of Fourth and Grant Streets.
Name:	Farm House
Name Change:	Panther Lair
Acquisition Date:	June 2, 1931
Acquisition Cost:	$21,600 - total cost of 72 acres with improvements
Purchased From:
Use:	Men's cooperative living house

Note From May 18, 1942, Board Report:

Fire was discovered in the second story of the stucco farm house known as the Lair and located west of the Health Education Building on April 28, 1942, shortly after 1:00 p.m. Much damage was done to the room and the second story by fire and to the lower floor by water. The personal belongings and books of fifteen men students were burned or ruined. An inspection of the burned building has been made by the Division of Architecture and Engineering with the recommendation that it be dismantled. . . . The men students using this building as a co-operative living and dining quarters are temporarily housed in the Men's Corrective

Room of the Health Education Building and are cooking and eating in the High School Foods Laboratory of the Practical Arts Building.

PEMBERTON HALL

Description: A four-story residence hall of wood construction with limestone facing, housing 201 students, located immediately west of Old Main.

Name: Women's Dormitory

Name Change: Pemberton Hall. Approved by Board on ????, 1908

Named in honor of: Senator Stanton C. Pemberton of Oakland who had helped for several years in getting legislation passed for the building

Construction Date: 1907

Construction Cost: Hall and Gym - $100,000

Architects: W. Carby's Zimmerman, State Architect, Chicago

General Contractor:

Completion Date: 1908 - Ready for occupancy January 4, 1909.

Square Footage: Gross - 59,403; Net - 33,638. With addition 67,080.

Use: Residence hall

Note: First women's dormitory of a state-supported college in Illinois. The gymnasium, known as "The Cracker Box," was converted into a two-story textbook library in the winter of 1969.

Note from Coleman's History:

"When the school was a little more than a year old Mr. Lord reported on the need for a women's dormitory to the Board of Trustees who included his statement in their report to Governor John R. Tanner at the close of the year 1900.

"There was no immediate result from the recommendation to the Governor, but Mr. Lord continued his campaign. Miss McKinney describes the next effort in Mr. Lord's words: 'In the winter of 1901 I went before the Appropriations Committee of the legislature asking for money for a women's building. The House Committee took the request partly as a joke and partly as an affront, one asking if I wanted to go into the lunch counter business, another if I wanted the state to build a boarding house. There wasn't a bit of sympathy with the request, that I could find.'"

PEMBERTON HALL ADDITION

Description: A wing was added on the north end of Pemberton Hall, increasing the capacity from 92 to 201 students.

SCHAHRER FIELD

Description: Football field and track located in the area south and east of McAfee and near the original Booth Library building.
 Name: Athletic Field
 Name change: Schahrer Field on November 8, 1919
 Named in honor of: Martin Otto Schahrer, President of the Class of 1917 and Captain of the 1916 football team, who was killed on September 15, 1918 in World War I.
 Dedication Date: November 8, 1919. A memorial stone was placed in his honor.

Note: The field was moved in 1948 to make way for the construction of the Library Building. The original Schahrer memorial plaque hangs today in the Schahrer Room of the University Union. When Booth Library was built, a stone marker for the field was located in the iris gardens to the south. It was later moved to the west edge of Booth Library. The plaque on the memorial stone disappeared in 1990.

SCHAHRER FIELD GATE

The iron gate which once stood at the entrance to Schahrer Field now stands on the west side of Fourth Street at the entrance to the sidewalk running west between Stevenson Tower and Lantz Building. It was a gift from the Class of 1916 which also included an iron fence.

Note from Coleman's History:

"...a Martin Schahrer Memorial Gate was planned to be located about 100 feet south of the west end of the Main Building. As planned by President Buzzard, in the academic procession at Commencement each senior will pass through this gate. The gate will be kept locked at all other times and will be forever closed to undergraduates."

SCHOOL GARDEN

During the early years, Training School students each had a small plot for growing vegetables and flowers in a garden located south of Blair Hall, with prizes awarded annually for the best results. The project was supervised by Walter Nehrling, superintendent of grounds, who had come to Eastern from the Missouri Botanical Gardens in St. Louis. After his death in 1932, the school garden was discontinued and the located used for an ornamental flower garden.

Remodeling: In 19__ at a cost of $425,174.

Note from Coleman's History:

"Mr. Ashley (teacher and head of industrial arts at Eastern from 1918-1938) was actively concerned in the planning and erection of the building and was appointed a state building inspector without pay, thus giving him authority over the details of construction. He has recalled an amusing incident in connection with the planning of the building as follows: There was a new State Supervising Architect . . . who didn't know anything about architecture and had to be coached by his employees for six months before he could pass a required examination. Yet he had ideas of his own about a building. One was that no teacher should have an office. I saw it was no use to argue with him, but I also saw how I might circumvent him, because he volunteered that there should be a great deal of storage space. So everywhere I wanted a teacher's office I called it a closet and he approved. Then when we moved in I labeled them offices."

TEMPORARY BUILDINGS

Note from October 14, 1946, Board Report:

"Contract has been made with the Federal Public Housing Authority for the gift of ten metal buildings (10' x 54'6") to be used for recreational, office, food supply, laundry, or other uses involving war veterans. These buildings were shipped by rail from the Engineer Depot, Baton Rouge, Louisiana, on October 2. Eastern must assume the cost of transportation and installation, but has applied for funds for this from the Federal Works Agency.

Application has been made to the Federal Works Agency for a cafeteria building and equipment."

Note from January 20, 1947, Board Report:

"Contracts have been completed between the college and the Federal Works Agency, through the findings of the U.S. Office of Education for Project Illinois 11-V-40, covering:

- (a) Cafeteria facilities including necessary equipment,
- (b) Such incidental and appurtenant work as may be required, and
- (c) Necessary furniture and equipment for Recreation Building

A garage building 51' x 106' located at the Sangamon Ordinance Plant has been suggested for use as the projected cafeteria building, with the possible addition of a magazine building 23' x 46' as supplementary seating space. The college has been able to locate and receive "by donation," the major portion of the needed cafeteria equipment, and has plans under organization for the purchase of the remainder from the War Assets Administration at five percent of a fair used value.

"Six all-metal barracks, 20' x 54'6" have been projected into a Recreation Building, to be furnished in part by the Federal Works agency. Four similar barracks are projected as (1) veterans laundry, (2) veterans headquarters and testing unit, (3) journalism-college publications and (4) visual education laboratory. These units must be erected by the college, and bids for construction are now being taken.

"Since these all-metal barracks were given the college by the FPHA, the FWA will not contribute towards erection. Bids for concrete floors and erection of structure, together with plumbing, lighting and heating, will probably cost in the neighborhood of $17,500, and will be financed from the supplemental appropriation."

TEMPORARY LIBRARY

A 51' x 218' structure constructed in 1947 on the west side of Seventh Street opposite Grant Street, it served as the library facility until the completion of what is now Booth Library. On March 16, 1948, students were dismissed from classes to assist in the carrying of 67,000 books to the new structure from the Library

Rehab.

TRAILERVILLE

A trailer community, known as "Campus City," it was located at Fourth and Grant Streets in the area now occupied by Lincoln-Douglas Halls and Stevenson Tower. Beginning in 1945-46, it comprised 59 trailers to house returning student war veterans. The 24' x 7 1/2' trailers were heated by kerosene stoves. The rent was $10 per month. Trailerville had its own governing council and "mayor."

Note from January 17, 1946, Board Report:

"Fifteen housing units (11 house trailers and 4 expansible trailers) and a toilet-bath utility unit have been established on campus and are housing fifteen veteran families. Fifteen added units have been assigned the college (6 house and 9 expansibles) together with a laundry utility unit and are in the process of being moved from Dayton, Ohio. Twenty additional units of similar type and an added toilet-bath utility unit have been requested."

Note from October 14, 1946, Board Report:

"Ten expansible trailers and one bath-toilet utility trailer have been secured from George Field near Lawrenceville, for use in housing new faculty families. These trailers are secured by a contract from FPHA whereby the college bears all transportation and installation expense. This addition gives "Trailerville" a total of 59 dwelling units under college rental from FPHA."

Note from January 20, 1947, Board Report:

"The "Trailerville" housing project offers fifty-nine family units, three toilet-bath utility and one laundry utility unit. Ten additional privately owned trailers are attached to the project."

Woman's Building

The legislature of 1907 appropriated one hundred thousand dollars for a woman's building and gymnasium—the first appropriation for such a purpose ever made in the state of Illinois. A fine stone structure which will furnish room and board for one hundred young women and board for about twenty-five young men, is in process of erection. The building will be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the winter term, January 5th, 1908.

A good number of rooms have already been engaged and the remaining rooms will be reserved in order of application. The building faces east and the accompanying cuts, including floor plans, give a good idea of the desirability of the rooms. A woman of education and culture has been engaged as preceptress. There will be no difficulty in getting room and board for the fall term. A bulletin giving detailed information will be issued in October. It may be said now, however, that the price charged will be very low considering the accommodations offered.

TWENTY-FIVE YEAR PLAN

In 1944 the State of Illinois adopted a Twenty-Five Year Building Program for the state colleges for teacher education.

At Eastern this plan calls for complete campus re-development, now well underway. When completed, the principal buildings will be arranged in a large rectangle, with athletic fields to the southwest and southeast.

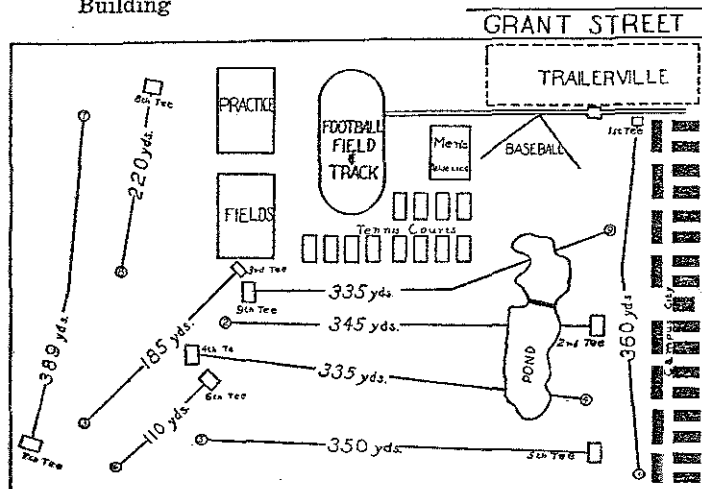

Among buildings included in the general plan are additional dormitories for men and women, a training school, a student union, a vocational education building, fine arts building, auditorium, music building, green house, home management house, field house, and other minor structures, as well as additions to present buildings.
