Activity boards can adapt budgets

By Mike Walters

Student activity boards will be asked to reallocate their budgets annually and resubmit them to the Student Government Board (AB) by April 15, the AB announced Monday.

The action came at a special informational meeting called by the AB to discuss priorities taken by the AB when it cut student activity budgets by approximately $40,000 last week.

Financial Vice President Kevin Kerchner said after the meeting Monday that "it was always my intention... after the AB saw what the cut was going to be, to allow internal reallocation by the boards.

Kerchner said the student activity boards have two alternatives concerning their budgets. The boards can either shift the item funding for a particular activity or shift funding from one activity to another under a board's jurisdiction.

As an example of a possible funding shift from one activity to another, Kerchner explained that the Communications-Media Board, which governs the debate team, the Eastern News and WELH radio, may decide to reallocate funds from the News to the debate team.

If the Communications-Media Board decided to take the action, Kerchner said the board would then have to justify the shift to the AB.

Kerchner also said the AB would hold hearings "at the end of summer" in the event Tuesday's referendum passes.

The referendum asks students if they approve or disapprove a proposed $1 per student per semester shift from textbook rental fees to student fees.

If the referendum passes, the hearings would assist the AB in determining which activities would be the beneficiaries of the new funding.

Enrollment is key

An estimated $15 to $16,000 could be realized by the shift, Kerchner predicted, but warned that the enrollment figures again hold the key.

As for the prospects of internal reallocation in the boards, Kerchner said, "there could be some... but with some boards it's almost impossible... like the Communications-Media Board - I almost doubt if there'll be any."

Kerchner said he thinks there will be some priority shifting in the Performing and Visual Arts Board.

"I think there'll be a lot of changing around of line items, he said. He said he also "could possibly see some money going from Art to Music."

By allowing the boards to reallocate internally, Kerchner said he feels the AB is "showing power."

"Set priorities"

He explained that "the AB has for two years been telling the boards to set priorities" but said the boards have "held back."

The internal reallocation, he said, is the AB's way of forcing the boards to set priorities.

The budgets have a April 22 deadline to be returned to the AB, and Kerchner hopes to submit the entire activities fees budgets to the Student Senate April 25 for approval.

"This gives the senate two weeks if they so desire to act on it. Hopefully, I can have it to President Fite by the third of May," he added.

In explaining the AB's budget priorities, Kerchner told the representatives of approximately half the governing boards, "We first analyzed each activity in its priority to the student body."

"The greatest cuts were made in the travel line items and travel conference," he said.

News to resume publication April 16

This is the last issue of the Eastern News before Easter vacation. The News will resume publication on April 16, the first day of classes after break.

Ballot to decide fees for student activities

Students will decide in a referendum Tuesday whether they favor adding another dollar per student per semester to the student activity fee.

The referendum asks students if they favor transferring $1 that was cut from the textbook rental fee to the student activity fee.

The Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities approved the decrease in the textbook rental fee at its March meeting. President Gilbert Fite said the fee was being lowered because of sound management of the Textbook Library.

Student government leaders have split on the issue.

Student Body President Mark Wisser, Financial Vice President Kevin Kerchner and BOG representative Dave Davis are in favor of the measure. Student Body Executive Vice President Diane Ford and Student Senate Speaker Bob Crossman are opposed to the $1 increase in activity fees.

Voting at four campus polling places will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m.

Carman Hall residents will vote in Carman, while Lincoln-Stevenson-Douglas residents will ballot in the LSD complex.

Off campus students and Pemberton and Gregg Triad residents vote in the University Union, with Lawson, Andrews, Taylor and Thomas Hall residents voting in Coleman Hall.

Sunny, warmer

Tuesday will be mostly sunny and warmer with highs in the mid 50s.

Tuesday night should be fair and not quite so cold. Temperatures will be in the mid or upper 30s.

Proposed legislation now before Congress would reduce the amount of money students can get from federal programs, Sue Sparks, associate director of the Financial Aids Office, said Sunday.

The bill, being discussed in hearings held by the House special subcommittee on education, was announced on March 23 by President Nixon and would funnel federal money into two main programs.

Sparks said the two programs would be the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) and a national guaranteed loan program, available through local banks. Reorganization of federal aid programs would eliminate or phase out the work-study program, supplementary opportunity grants and the low-interest National Direct Student Loan program, she said.

Individual students get less

"There would be just as many total federal dollars available," Sparks explained. "But it would be in just one main program and individual students would get fewer dollars."

"What it means is that on an individual basis there would not be as much money available. Limits on the amount of aid to a student would lower the amount he could receive," she said. Also, the direct student loan program offers loans at three percent interest while the guaranteed loan program would be at seven percent, similar to the Illinois Guaranteed Loan Program.

Interest on direct student loans is not charged until after a student graduates while interest on guaranteed loans is charged from the date of the loan unless deferment is granted, she said.

Write congressman or senator

Sparks urged students to write their congressman or senator to voice opposition to the bill.

She said that a similar proposal made two years ago was defeated, and Eastern students at that time had written to Washington advising legislators of the effects the bill would have.

If Congress passes the bill, it would not take effect until the 1975-76 school year, she added.

The work-study program that would be eliminated employs about 200 students at Eastern who work as many as 15 hours per week on campus, she said. The program reduces the amount of money some students have to borrow.

Currently handled by ACT

Control of the federal programs would be switched to agencies chosen by the government and would eliminate the university's role in awarding grants.

The BEOG program is currently handled by American (See AWARDS, page 8)

$3,500 basement job

Work starts at Fites'

Work began last week at President Gilbert C. Fite's home on a $3,500 project to furnish the basement as a study and storage area, Fite announced Monday.

In a prepared statement, Fite said the estimated cost for the project was $3,522.50, but the actual cost may be lower. The money came from last year's Physical Plant commodities budget.

Physical Plant employees are performing the work, which will include construction of book and storage shelves, paneling and flooring, "plus some electrical and plumbing work," he said.

Everett Alms, superintendent of the Physical Plant, said last week that plans for the project were made last year, but workers were tied up with other projects until now.

"We've never had time to start," he said. "When we planned this, I told him (Fite)

Senate topic to be voting

Certification of the faculty elections and discussion of next year's academic calendar are the only two items on the agenda for the next meeting of the Faculty Senate.

David Maurer, chairman of the Faculty Senate, said Samuel Taber, dean of Student Academic Services, will be present at the meeting to discuss the draft for the calendar.

The meeting, which Maurer said should only last about an hour, will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Heritage Room of the Union.

that we would have to do it when time permits and he agreed. I've already stalled him for a year."

Two carpenters had been working at the Fite home last week, but Alms said they were not putting in a full day there because of other jobs on campus.

Fite said a report on the project will be filed with the central office of the Board of Governors when the work is completed.

The basement will be used primarily as a storage and study area for Fite's personal library, but will also have a washroom

Anderson finds error in Income Tax Act

CHICAGO (AP) — Businessman and historian W.R. Anderson claims he's found the biggest tax loophole of all time. Anderson says he's discovered the federal Income Tax Act of 1913 is illegal and the government should return all the income taxes it has ever collected.

When William Howard Taft signed the income tax law 60 years ago, he was not legally President, Anderson explained.

"Through a monumental oversight, Ohio, Taft's home state was not officially admitted into the union until 1953," Anderson contends. "He could not have been a legal President because he did not qualify under Article 2, Section 1 of the Constitution, which specified 14 years' residence in a state."

Anderson said congressional doubts over Ohio's legal status as and an area that can be used as a guest area.

Eastern News reporters visited the Fite home last week before work began and saw that the basement was still in its original, unfinished condition.

Fite's books and documents were stacked in boxes on the bare basement floor where he said they have been since he moved there three years ago.

Harley Holt, vice president for business affairs, said last week that the house, at 1112 Coolidge, was purchased in 1972 for $85,000 through the University Foundation.

a state prompted a 1953 action in which Congress "went through the motions of making Ohio a state, just in case."

Despite the congressional action, Anderson said, laws enacted under Taft's administration including the income tax were and still are illegal.

"Taxes collected for the last 60 years should be refunded because they were not obtained through due process of law," Anderson concluded.

Nixon's tax penalty is 'private matter' — IRS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House Monday refused to say whether a negligence penalty was included in the Internal Revenue Service's assessment for back taxes owed by President Nixon, contending that is a matter of privacy between Nixon and the IRS.

"It's a closed book," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said as he turned aside questions on the IRS assessment of $432,787 in back taxes against Nixon.

"The President is going to pay the full total of the assessment... and that's all I'm going to say," Warren said in response to questions at a briefing.

Kluge to discuss fees

By Susan Black

Dorm residents will have a chance to find out exactly why the room and board rates are going up next fall, Dean of Housing Donald Kluge said Monday.

The meeting of the Bond Revenue Committee will be held at the Lab School Auditorium, at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

"It will be designed so that we (the committee) can answer questions students may have regarding the increase," he said.

The bond revenue committee last week revealed the proposed increase in room and board rates for next fall as $60.

$560 for fall

This would make room and board for fall $560 and spring $535.

These increases as well as the increase in the cost of single rooms from $45 to $75 per semester, will be open for discussion at the meeting.

The initial reasons for these increases, Kluge said, is to make up for the deficit which is expected due to the fact that the residence halls are not at full capacity.

A flyer passed out to dorm residents Friday said the deficit would be given as $290,000 and an increase in rates of $87 per year would be needed to wipe out the deficit.

Other measures

At the RHA meeting Thursday, Kluge said that the increase would only be $60 for room and board since other measures such as floor consolidation, food service consolidation on the weekends and limiting the number of single rooms could be taken to help meet the deficit.

The ten members of the bond revenue committee will be present at the Tuesday meeting and all concerned residents are encouraged to attend, Kluge said.

Coed hit by car Sunday, taken to Chicago hospital

A Lawson hall resident suffered injuries Sunday night when she was struck by an auto north of Coleman Hall around 7:55 p.m.

Monica Davis, 18, was apparently walking across Garfield Street between Coleman and the tennis courts when she was hit by an auto driven by Eastern student Gaye Engler, 21.

The auto was traveling east. In a police report, Engler said she did not see Davis until she was hit and then stopped the car immediately.

An ambulance took Davis to the Charleston Memorial Hospital.

No citations were issued in the accident.

Officer Wes Corbin, filing the report, said the rain and weather conditions contributed to the accident.

The report said visible damage done to the Engler car was a slight crease in the top center of the right fender and a bent radio antenna.

A hospital spokeswoman said Monday that Davis had been transferred to Chicago hospital, the student's home town.

The transfer was made at the request of Davis's parents, she said. She said the coed was apparently "in fair condition."

Monica Davis is a political science major.

Final confirmation on her condition was unavailable at press time.

Pemites elect new officers

The new officers of Pemberton Hall and this year's Pem Hall Queen were announced at the Recognition Banquet Wednesday.

Marilyn Becker, of Paris, Ill., won the title of Pem Hall Queen.

It is "given to the one girl of the hall who has dedicated a great deal of her time and efforts in helping the hall in all its activities," Melinda Record said Monday.

Officers initiated at the banquet included Kathy Barrett, president; Melinda Dueland, vice president, and Rita Gale, secretary.

Date set Oct. 19

Homecoming plans being made

By Susan Black

Plans for "a whole new type of homecoming" are already being made, Ed McClane, homecoming coordinator said Monday.

Right now the committee is in the process of trying to choose a theme for the activities surrounding homecoming.

"We are soliciting themes from anyone who wants to submit one," McClane said.

Themes will be accepted by McClane until Monday and any students is eligible to submit a suggestion.

Call suggestions in to McClane

Those with suggestions can call them in to McClane at either 581-3829 or 345-3759.

The date for this year's homecoming, McClane said, is set for Oct. 19th.

"We have been planning this year's activities since after spring break," McClane said.

"We (the homecoming committee) are making plans to have the best homecoming ever," he said and explained that they are trying to make homecoming a whole week of activities instead of just a two day affair.

Special lectures

Plans are being made to have the whole week made up of special lectures, movies and anything else that will make it a "festive week," McClane said.

One of the special events already planned, McClane said, is a mini concert by Peter Yarrow, who used to be part of the folk group Peter, Paul and Mary, admission being somewhere between $1 and $2.

McClane said that there will be a homecoming queen this year but that the rules regarding the way in which the campaigns and voting procedures for the queen are to be carried out will be changed.

He did not say exactly what these new changes will be except that they will be discussed at the communications meeting.

This meeting will be held for those people involved in planning homecoming April 18, at 8:30 p.m. in the Union Ballroom, at which time the theme will be announced.

Leg contest sponsored for Easter Seals Foundation

Students living in residence halls will have their chances to donate money to the Easter Seals Foundation by contributing to Groove Phi Groove's "funny leg contest."

Pictures of the new fraternity's pledge class, the Swanxman Club, are being sent to each of the residence halls.

A jar will be set at each one's desk to collect money in, Jim Peterson, a member of the pledge class, said.

The pictures will be moved from hall to hall until Easter break, when all of the money collected will be donated to the Easter Seals Foundation, Peterson said.

Cast your absentee ballot for Wayne Owens

As students at Eastern, we should be interested in the administration of education in both our hometown and the locale around the university.

Of particular interest to students registered to vote in Coles County is the April 13 school board election for Community Unit No. 1 (school district).

Two men will be elected to the board; one of them will be James Frazier who is running unopposed. The other man must be selected from four candidates for the Charleston Township position.

Of those four Henry Taitt and Wayne Owens are from Eastern and are the two best qualified men for the Charleston slot.

Taitt is a physics professor with degrees in physics, astronomy and education administration. He has three children in the local school system.

He knows the good points and shortcomings of the present board and seems to have a thorough understanding of the local school administration in most aspects.

For the position of school board member, he is eminently qualified.

Wayne Owens, currently director of institutional research and studies, has a doctorate in education and teaches part time in special education.

Owens is a member of the Mayor's Advisory Committee, Faculty Senate and is on the board of directors for the Charleston Chamber of Commerce and Coles County United Fund with membership in many other community organizations.

He is knowledgeable in the ways of management and commands an overall knowledge of the Charleston school system.

He has one daughter in the elementary school system.

While both men are highly qualified for the post, we support Wayne Owens for the school board because of his involvement and leadership with a wide variety of local programs.

His experience in heading many local organizations gives him a broad background of knowing people in the community and is strong evidence of good leadership.

Don't forget the election will be held Saturday—a bad time considering the holiday.

If you care enough to vote but will not be here for Easter break, we strongly urge you to vote absentee at the Unit One Administration Building before April 13 for Wayne Owens.

Transfer your dollar for activities' sake

Today a referendum is being held which may very well determine the fate of student activities at Eastern Illinois University.

The object of the referendum is the controversial transfer of money from the textbook library fees to fees assessed for activities, a transfer we feel is imperative in order to keep activities alive and healthy on campus.

At the present time students pay $89.50 per semester in fees. If the proposed fee transfer is approved the student will pay $89.50 per semester.

If students defeat the proposed transfer, they then will pay only $88.50 per semester in fees, a savings of one dollar or approximately eight cents a week. However, all students will be paying a dollar less for textbook fees.

While controversy rages over whether the fee shift is a good or bad move, we feel it is the most realistic approach to take as we confront the problem of student fees.

One faction of the Student Senate believes that without the fee transfer, students' activities will be subject to even more drastic cuts than were exhibited Wednesday night when the Apportionment Board went on a butchering spree, slashing away at budgets like a rerun of "Psycho."

On the other side is the faction which seems to think activity boards can manage through thick and thin, regardless of any budgetary crisis that may occur.

The opponents of the fee transfer argue money can be generated by reducing some activities (such as men's collegiate athletics) and demanding that some activities raise their anticipated income, a feat not so easily accomplished as it is demanded.

If another across the board cut in budgets attacks us, the only difference would be that all the boards would lose their monetary status rather than the few which were slashed Wednesday night.

Selective cutting is no more desirable than those across the board.

The situation may not get better, but things can get worse if we don't act to pass the referendum today which may ultimately determine the future of activities at Eastern.

Vote for the passage of the referendum to transfer the one dollar to the activity fees before it's too late. Activities serve a fine and useful purpose in our everyday college life.

It's not worth losing because we did not vote to shift a single dollar to another fund. In no way are we paying more or less on the total fees, it is simply a change of hands.

Vote "yes" today on the referendum. Shift the dollar.

Paule steals show as Wife of Bath in 'Tales'

A musical performance by the Theatre Arts Department of Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales" was highly successful and entertaining to the audience on Friday evening.

The cast members gave a professional looking performance with the assistance of an outstanding orchestra.

Four tales selected for the evening's performance were "The Miller's Tale," "The Steward's Tale," "The Merchant's Tale" and "The Wife of Bath's Tale."

Alison's escapades (played by Debbie Dawson) with three male characters was the basis for the "Miller's Tale."

A constant swapping of bed-partners led to "bedlam" in the Miller's household as told in "The Stewart's Tale."

January played by Pat Richardson and May played by Debbie Dawson along with Pluto played by Scott Stanley and Proserpina played by Anne Shapland were excellent in the third tale presented, "The Merchant's Tale."

An old woman protected a young knight from a life-and-death situation by a decree announced by the King.

In order to be saved, the knight had to answer the question, "What thing is it that a woman most desires?"

The answer to this question can be found by seeing "The Wife of Bath's Tale."

These tales were told by a group of pilgrims on a journey from the Tabard Inn, London to the Canterbury Cathedral. Debbie Dawson, Reece Brink and Nancy Paule were excellent in their roles of Chaucer's tales.

Debbie Dawson with major roles in "The Miller's Tale" and "The Merchant's Tale" came across with a smooth performance that pleased the audience.

Likewise, Reece Brink, who played opposite from Dawson in two of the tales and also had a major role in "The Stewart's Tale" was great in the way he adjusted to the different characters he portrayed.

Probably though, Nancy Paule stole the show as Wife of Bath.

Hilarious one-liners by Paule such as "You either go to heaven or to bed" kept the audience amused.

Props were cleverly created giving an unusual affect to the production. The design of the beds were unique in that they created an illusion to the audience.

Flashing lights produced a great effect for the ending of "The Stewart's Tale." Individualistic movements and dances such as the pilgrims riding their horses gave a delightful touch to the musical.

Costumes were very appropriate for the era and roles represented in the tales.

The final performance for "Canterbury Tales" will be Tuesday at 8 p.m. Tickets are $.75 for students, youth $1 and Adults $2.

To the Editor:

As one who was during the fall semester acquainted at first hand with the difficulties involved in the education of the unsighted student in the School of Music, I feel that the complaint printed in last Thursday's NEWS should not go unchallenged.

In his critical remarks, "Music Education Major" implicitly castigates the entire faculty and student body of the School of Music for what must surely be the inconsiderate or immature conduct of relatively few people.

I doubt very much that student and faculty attitudes could have changed diametrically since the fall semester, during which time I personally witnessed a multitude of acts of uncommon kindness and gallantry by both faculty and students on behalf of our handicapped student.

Surely all of us should constantly strive for improvement where the qualities of love and humanity are concerned, but "Major" scarcely exhibits the love he extols when he includes in his sweeping condemnation a sizeable group of remarkably compassionate people.

Election Saturday

4 vie for School Board

By Jim Lynch

Four candidates, including two Eastern faculty members, are in the running for one open spot on the Charleston Community Unit One School Board Post. Board president James Frazier is running unopposed for the other position.

The election will be held Saturday.

Wayne Owens and Henry Taitt are the two Eastern hopefuls. The other candidates are Carl Furry and Ed Baltmeskis. They are trying for the position being vacated by Harold Horn who is retiring after 24 years on the board.

Taitt has been a member of the physics department since 1965. His wife, Nancy, is with the math department.

Taitt gave as his qualifications for the post his experience in working with teachers both on the secondary and elementary levels. He said he has also been involved in model rocketry in the community and has worked with children.

"I think," he said, "that my

Coles County to get video voter?

By Gene Seymour

If the Coles County Board okays the purchase of a video voter system at its Tuesday morning meeting, then it will be the first county in the state to take such a step, said Larry Mantle, representative of the Frank Thornber Co., Monday.

The Video Voter System, which was approved for use by the State Board of Elections March 15, is reputedly the most modern and innovative voting device of this time, and is being displayed at the Coles County courthouse Monday and Tuesday.

Mantle indicated that Livingston County was the only other county in the state even considering the purchase of the unit at this time.

A new state law requires every county of 40,000 or more to have some sort of voting machine by November 5.

The system, a computerized television of sorts which would give an instant vote readout at the end of the day, "lists at $1500 per voting machine plus $2500 for the control unit.

"The initial cost of the system is greater than the costs of the other machines", Mantle continued, "but the Video Voter is self-liquidating in that it's upkeep is approximately $25 a year."

Hemmons to be speaker

Willa Mae Hemmons, chairman of the Afro-American Committee, will be guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP).

Hemmons will discuss new programs and plans for the Afro-American Committee.

The meeting will begin with dinner at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Fox Ridge Room of Martin Luther King Union.

Regular business will include plans for a nominating committee for the up-coming officer's election.

Powers comments on family unit

By Ann Hluchnik

The family unit, now and in the future, should concentrate on interpersonal relationships and the fulfillment of individual potentials, sociologist Ronald C. Powers emphasized Wednesday.

Conflict between the "traditional" family type and alternate life styles, such as commune living, is "not a real issue, because form is not a critical variable," Powers told an audience of predominantly Home Economics majors in the Lab School Auditorium.

Just as chain stores, private marketplaces and wholesalers all deal in food, many different family systems are capable of carrying out the same objectives, Powers illustrated in the lecture sponsored by the School of Home Economics.

In his lecture, changed to "The Family in the Year 2020," Powers, head of the Department of Family Environment at Iowa

State University, predicted continued experimentation by pointing out that "the family is in a state of transition, and family members are no longer trapped in roles."

However, Powers also said, "One cannot project ahead very intelligently for a period of such length."

As an example, Powers pointed out how difficult it would have been in 1945 to project accurately into today's "new world."

Citing ideas from Alvin Toffler's "Future Shock," Powers observed that the stresses experienced in our fast-paced world should be lessened by family members acting as "shock absorbers" for each other in order to avoid "an overload on our physical adaptation systems and mental processes."

Powers also mentioned "1984" and "Brave New World," pointing out that today's science fiction may become tomorrow's reality.

Regardless of the period it is in existence, a household should be "linked to society" and exercise rules that are "flexible and human," Powers stated.

The family, "the primary system for people-making," should be, now and in the future, "a human development firm in which true understanding and communication prevail."

Powers said.

Powers called attention to the large number of talk shows on television, indicating, in his opinion, a need to share thoughts and feelings with others.

Also cited by the lecturer were family situation shows, such as "Maude," "All in the Family," "The Waltons," "Apple's Way" and "The Courtship of Eddie's Father."

Veterans prepare for state-wide meeting

The southern region of the Illinois Veterans Congress (IVC) met Friday at John A. Logan Junior College in Carterville, Ill. to ratify the by-laws of the congress and to prepare an agenda of business for the upcoming state-wide meeting to be held in Springfield.

President Terry Thomas of the Eastern Veterans Association, and Dan Hochstetter, a state veterans out-reach worker, represented Eastern at the five hour meeting.

The IVC is a veterans service organization that review and recommends improvements on all state and federal veteran benefit programs.

IVC organizer Jack O'Dell, from Southern Illinois University, said he doesn't want the IVC to turn into a bureaucracy concerned with

Rotary Club spots Carey

Robert Carey, Eastern physical education instructor, is scheduled to discuss his participation in "World Campus Afloat" at Tuesday's Charleston Rotary Club meeting, William Buckellew, program chairman said Monday.

The noon meeting in the Union's Fox Ridge Room will begin with a luncheon and be followed by announcements, club business and finally Carey's speech, Buckellew said.

On sabbatical leave last semester at Chapman College in California, Carey took part in "World Campus Afloat" and spent the semester aboard ship and toured the world.

Future Rotary Club meetings will feature other speakers from the physical education department, Buckellew said.

Rednour's name and award was left out of the story about the pageant that ran in Monday's edition.

mounds of internal matters.

Friday's meeting was attended by representatives from the Veterans Administration, the IVC, and the VA Hospital Administration.

VA representative Joe Apadoca reported the installation of a new veterans representative that will be assigned to the southern section of the state.

This representative will travel from school to school handling any veterans problems on a one-to-one basis.

He also reported that the VA is doing everything it can to improve the handling of veterans problems at the Chicago office.

It was reported to the attending school delegates that there has been no change in the condition of the federal bill that would increase G.I. benefits by 13.6 percent.

VA Hospital representatives reported that veterans employment in the southern region is improving. He said that hospital administrators can now hire veterans for jobs that do not require a civil service test; these jobs would be rated from one to five.

The IVC representative stated that there has been no change in the status of the Illinois State Military Scholarship.

The scholarship program is now being put on a point system for junior colleges that would allow a person to attend school part time for several years without running out of time under the old system.

He also reported that next year's budget allows for continued out-reach work.

The state out-reach program employs veterans who in turn counsel other veterans on their veterans benefits, both state and federal.

You're serious about photography. So is the Canon F-1

To you, photography is more than a hobby. You may never want to become a professional. Yet, your photography is as important a means of self-expression to you as your speech. You demand the same excellence in your photographic equipment as you do of your photographic skills.

The Canon F-1 is the camera that can fulfill any photographic task to which you put it. It can stand up to your ability in any situation.

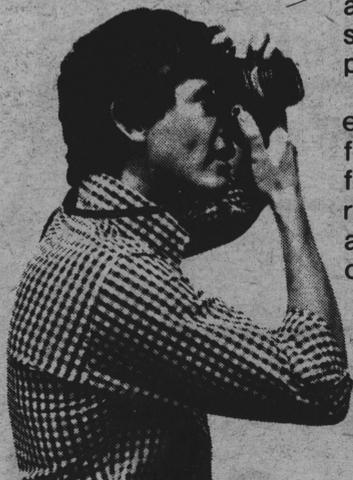

Naturally, a great camera like the F-1 won't ensure great results. That's up to you. Yet—it's nice to know that your camera can grow with you as a photographer.

Part of the reason for this is the F-1 system. Since it was designed in totality, it offers total performance. There is nothing "added on" in the F-1 system. Everything works as it was designed to, and integrates superbly with everything else. You'll spend less time worrying about operating the camera than in shooting. And that's what creative photography is really all about.

Controls fall into place under each finger. It's no accident. Professionals who depend on a camera for their livelihood have a deep regard for the F-1's handling. It's amazing how much a comfortable camera can improve your work.

Sharing these lenses and many of these accessories are the new Electronic Canon EF, with fully automatic exposure control, the FTb, now improved with all exposure information visible in the finder, and the TLb, great for a second camera body or for getting started in Canon photography. Canon. For serious applications. For serious photographers.

Isn't it time you got serious?

Football—the great Eastern joke—should go

Eastern's athletic director Tom Katsimpalis has done it this time. By saying, even though he claims to have been conjecturing, that Eastern may have to drop tennis and golf, he has aroused the ire of a good part of the campus and rightly so.

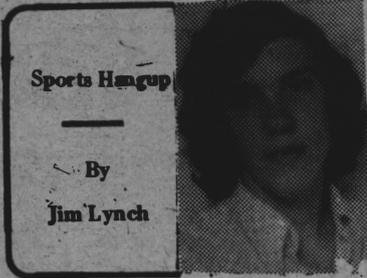

Over the years, tennis and golf have been consistent, sometimes outstanding, winners. Eastern has built up an enviable reputation in these as well as its other minor sports. Why chop them down?

Maybe, instead of cutting away golf and tennis, strong consideration should be given to axing football.

Golf and tennis have a combined operating budget of, maybe, $5,000. The football team spends that much on a road trip. Sure football is the great American college tradition, but at Eastern, it's the great American joke.

Winning is more of an American tradition than football and winning is one thing Eastern does not do on the gridiron.

It's nice to be able to go to a football game on a Saturday afternoon but not if you know

Sports Hangup

By Jim Lynch

the team is going to lose.

Let's face it, football has never been a winner at Eastern and never will be. It is, unfortunately, a hopeless cause.

It would take more money than the whole Intercollegiate Athletic Board budget combined to make the sport go. It takes money to make money, but the school just doesn't have that kind of money.

More and more schools around the country are coming to the realization that they cannot afford to fund a football team. The costs are becoming too prohibitive. The same is true here at Eastern.

Chicago Circle finally faced the facts in December of 1973 and let go of its football program. It was not something they wanted to do, but it was something that had to be done.

However, it would be not only unfair, but foolhardy to drop any sport just to pour more cash down the gridiron drain. The only possible solution is to drop football.

However, lest anyone think I'm being too harsh on the football program, let's, as they say in sports writing circles, look at the record.

Last year the golfers finished 13th in the NCAA while the tennis team was 11th in the NCAA.

In other minor sports, the baseball team was third in the College Division World Series, the swimmers were third with five All-Americans - and the gymnasts were sixth with three men picking up All-American awards. The gridgers finished somewhere north of Ashmore.

Right now these latter three minor sports are not in danger, but if golf and tennis were to be cut, a dangerous precedent would be set.

If football were the sport to go, there would be that much extra (no one, including Katsimpalis, would say how much) in student fees that could be distributed amongst the other sports and there might even be a surplus that could be turned back to the Apportionment Board to help out other student fee-funded activities that are also feeling the dollar pinch.

It has been said that college athletic programs live and die by the quality of their football teams. If this is true, (and it sounds logical—I mean who has ever heard of Johnny Wooden and his Bruins or Doc Counsilman and his super swimmers at Indiana?) then Eastern's athletic program is dying a slow death.

Anyone who would like to reply to the views expressed in this column should write to Sports Hangup, care of the Eastern News, Pem Hall Basement. As many replies as there is room for will be printed.

At University Division

Beusch is eighth among vaulters

By Harry Sharp

Tom Beusch, only the second gymnast in Eastern history to compete in the NCAA University Division gymnastics meet came back from Penn State University Saturday with an eighth place finish in vaulting.

Beusch's score was 18.15 out of possible 20, and was just five hundredths from being high enough to tie for sixth and thus qualify for the finals.

Beusch scored 8.90 in the compulsory round and 9.25 in the optionals to get his final score.

Beusch had qualified for the University Division meet by placing third in the College Division meet the previous weekend.

Second time

Head gymnastics coach John Schaefer said that this was the second time for Beusch to compete in the University Division competition. He said

Keith Fuerst was the only other Eastern gymnast to compete in the University Division.

The first time Beusch competed he finished twenty third.

Fuerst was the only other one to ever make it to the finals, as he finished third in the still rings.

One consoling note for Beusch not making the finals, Schaefer noted, was that he beat the two gymnasts who finished ahead of him in the College Division meet.

Good job

Schaefer said, "I thought he did a very good job. There is much pressure in this meet and he did very well.

"He couldn't have done much better than he did. He didn't buckle under pressure like he could have. He should be proud of himself," Schaefer said.

Beusch himself was proud of his performance.

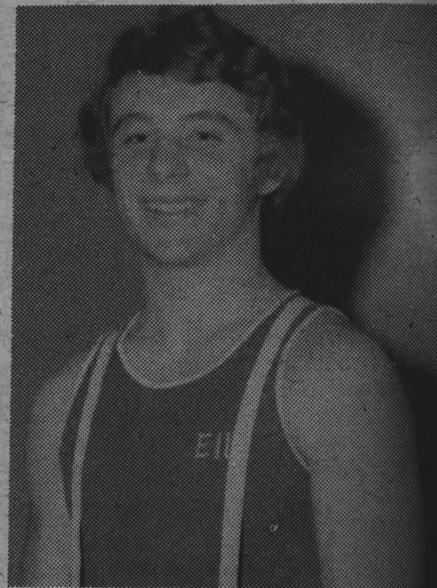

He said, "I feel I did a very good job. I was pleased with my performance."

Wrong time

Beusch felt the time he competed at was the reason for his not qualifying for the finals.

"I competed in the morning session, and as the day went on the judging got more lenient. That's the reason I felt that I didn't qualify for the finals. I felt I had the ability to make it.

Beusch also acknowledged the fact that he was very pleased finishing ahead of the two who qualified ahead of him in the College Division meet.

Beusch, a senior, also took the time to reflect on the meet itself and his career as a college gymnast.

Fantastic meet

"I thought it was a fantastic meet. I feel really good about finishing eighth in a meet that had all the top gymnasts in the country there. There were a lot of good gymnasts that fell by the wayside, that I finished ahead of.

"I also feel real good about my experiences in college gymnastics. My experiences at Eastern have been real rewarding."

Baseball postponed by weatherman again

By Gene Seymour

As the early April baseball schedule progresses, Eastern's Panthers find now that Mother Nature is every bit a common opponent as are other schools with teams.

After Monday's doubleheader snow-out with Indiana State, the Panthers face the possibility of playing seven games in five days, or more realistically in four days because the prospects of a Tuesday make-up with the Sycamores seems dismal, to match the weather.

An Eastern-ISU makeup date could be Thursday, and if such were the case it would leave the Panther mound corps with quite a bit of work cut out for them.

In addition to a twin-bill at Greenville College Wednesday, Eastern will have two more games on Thursday (ISU), plus a nine-inning event on Friday with St. Mary's of Minnesota.

Bradley on Monday

A doubleheader finale with St. Mary's on Saturday would give the Panthers Sunday to rest before they entertain Bradley at Monier Field Monday; nine games in six days, which should be grueling.

The Panthers will be trying to bounce back from their disastrous weekend in southern Indiana when they dropped two games to minute Indiana State-Evansville, 3-0, and 4-3.

Coach Bill McCabe said that such a loss was irrational, and that the Panthers would pick themselves up and prepare for the busy upcoming week.

"I told the guys after the game to do two things. Go to church tomorrow (Sunday) and don't practice. . . With all the games coming up this week we certainly need the Lord on our side. He wasn't with us Saturday."

Tucker excellent

During the next week, Panther Hurlers Bill Tucker, Dwaine Nelson and Wally Ensminger figure to get in a lot of work.

Tucker, who has been nothing short of excellent in his first two starts, will be looking to up his record to 3-0.

Nelson, who presently sports an identical 2-0 slate, will be trying to iron out some of the kinks in his performance that were in evidence in his last start against Indiana State.

Canoe trip is planned for April 20

She said that preference will be given to students who register early as determined by dates on entries. She asked students who have cars to contact the Intramural Office to let them know if they can help in the transportation of people and paddles.

She said that any student who knows how to swim but has no proof, must take a proficiency test on either Tuesday from 7:30 to 8:15 p.m. or April 16 at the same times.
