Professor pleads guilty to mail fraud

By DEBBIE CARLSON
Managing editor

A Dec. 27 sentencing has been scheduled for an Eastern psychology professor who has pleaded guilty to one count of mail fraud.

Gary Holt, 50, of rural Charleston, pleaded guilty Monday in a Danville court with defrauding the Illinois Department of Public Aid of $362,467.76 in illegal Medicaid payments.

The possible sentence he faces is five years in prison, a $250,000 fine (or both) and restitution, according to a press release from Assistant U.S. Attorney Frances Hulin.

According to information filed by the U.S. Attorney's Office, Holt had an out-of-town psychiatrist sign and submit Medicaid forms to receive payments at his business, the Coles County Counseling Center in Mattoon, between 1984 and 1988.

"Holt gave the treatment, and

Senate: Officials got jobs without a search

By JAMIE RILEY
Staff writer

The Faculty Senate Tuesday announced the names of three administrators who allegedly were given their positions by the university without a normal job search to fill the posts.

The positions, all under Vice President for Academic Affairs Robert Kindrick, are the Director of General Education and Senior Seminar Stephen Whitley, Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs Cynthia Nichols and Director of the Honors Program Herbert Lasky, according to Faculty Senate members.

Senate Vice Chair Gary Wallace said the senate gave the names and positions of two of the people to Judith Anderson, director of Affirmative Action and cultural diversity, five weeks ago, and the senate has not received word from her as to the direction of her investigations.

Chair David Carpenter said Anderson told him in a phone conversation last week that she has completed the investigation, and is referring her findings to Kindrick and President Stan Rives.

Kindrick announced his resignation and relocation, effective Dec 1., to the University of Montana on Sept. 12. The Faculty Senate gave the names of Nichols and Whitley to Anderson on Sept. 4. Kindrick denied any connection between the closeness of the dates.

Carpenter said that in the past week, he has received at least three phone calls telling him the director of the honors program had been given his job in June of 1990 when the job became full time. Lasky had previously served part time in the same position.

Lasky, while serving as part-time director, also was a full professor in the history department. He was the only full professor besides the chair of the department.

All administrative positions must be filled as the result of a search, according to Eastern's internal governing policies and Affirmative Action guidelines,

After controversy: White Student Union cancels first meeting

By DON O'BRIEN
Staff editor

A "last-minute glitch" forced White Student Union founder Doug Hettinger to cancel his group's initial meeting scheduled for Wednesday night.

"We had a last-minute glitch with the administration," said Hettinger, a senior accounting major. "I was informed that we needed a faculty adviser, but I had been told ... that it wasn't required until after the initial meeting. I thought you got a freebie (meeting) before you needed a faculty adviser."

The meeting had been

announced in the Daily Eastern News last week and was scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday at a location yet to be determined.

Hettinger said he was informed Tuesday around 11:30 a.m. by the campus scheduling office that his reserved room, which he had not specifically been told he could use, couldn't be used.

"We had completed the application for recognition by the Student Activities Office," he said. "We thought everything was taken care of."

The announcement of the cancelling of the White Student Union's first meeting was met with relief and surprise. "He basically told me that he never meant for it to get this out of hand," Student Body President Martha Price said. "It was just some kind of a hoax that people took offense to."

"It is a surprise and a shame that he had to go through all of that to try and discredit the Black Student Union as an organization," BSU President Kevin Evans said. "It is truly a shame. I don't think anyone expected it turn out as a joke."

Hettinger said he hasn't stopped looking for a faculty adviser, and his group will press on.

"The rumors about this organization have made it difficult to find a faculty adviser," said Hettinger, who claimed to have talked to a number of faculty members, but wouldn't give specific names or numbers of faculty members.

"We are still in search of a faculty adviser so we can be a recognized student organization," he added. "Until then, I guess in the eyes of the university we aren't recognized."

In Tuesday's original Campus Clip, which the News didn't run, Hettinger states: "Due to the likelihood of constant outside interference and the prospects of an overly diverse membership, the WSU has opted against a weekly meeting format in favor of a trip to beautiful Forsyth County, Ga., and a periodic newsletter."

"That (the newsletter) is still in question and there is no date set (for the first release)," Hettinger said. "The trip to Forsyth County, Ga., is to attend the Conservative Student Convention held in late October."

"We deeply regret cancelling the meeting," he added. "But it was a last-minute glitch cancelled on a technicality."

University Board plans to expand entertainment and concerts

By CASSIE SIMPSON
Activities editor

The University Board's concert committee is trying to expand this year's entertainment, and do more in the way of concerts, according to Jason Dotson, concert committee chairman.

"We're definitely trying to expand what the concert committee does," Dotson said.

Dotson said there will not be a concert for homecoming, but there will be a fall concert coming up in the later part of October.

"We were planning one (homecoming concert)," Dotson said. "I really wanted one, but with the coronation and game it would just be too much in one day."

"However, we are looking at one coming up around the 27th," he added.

"The concert will be on a Sunday, so it'll be interesting to see how that will turn out," Dotson said.

Although Dotson would not release the names of the music groups being considered for the Fall concert, he did give an idea of what type of a band the committee is looking at.

"We're working on it right now," he said. "We're waiting on confirmation from the band. It'll be an up-and-coming band, probably an alternative group."

Dotson said the concert would be on a small scale in the Grand Ballroom of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union, and tickets for the concert would be kept relatively cheap.

"Tickets will probably be from $3 to $5 - really cheap and reasonable," Dotson said. "We'd like to give students something back."

Like last year, the concert committee again has planned a concert for entertainment on Parents Weekend.

"It'll be the Temptations with (comedian) Barber and Seville," Dotson said.

"Right now we're waiting for the contract to get back, but as of now, that's who we plan to have."

Dotson said parents should have received information in the mail regarding the concert and ticket prices.

"If they haven't received it they should in a week or two," Dotson said.

The Temptations will be performing in Lantz Gymnasium on Nov. 16. "We hope to almost sell out this year," Dotson said.

The committee already has concerts for the spring semester in the planning stages, and hopes to have more than just one.

"For the spring we'll have the one in April and I'd like to try to do two more," Dotson said. "We'll try to have one in January and one in February."

"I'd really like to get the use of O'Brien Stadium for an outdoor concert because it would bring in big-name performers," Dotson said. "The facilities used in the past don't accommodate the equipment of big-name entertainers."

According to Dotson, the problem encountered in the past with using O'Brien Stadium for a concert was the amount of money it would take to build a stage for the performer.

"It would take too much money to build a special wooden platform needed for the stage," Dotson said. "I think damage to the field was also a concern."

Dotson said the committee is trying to do more in the way of concerts for Eastern's students.

"I'd like to do more for the students," Dotson said. "I like to get a top-name performers."

Dotson also mentioned that ushers are needed for the upcoming concerts, and anyone interested can contact him or stop by the committee's regular weekly meeting on Thursday night in the student government office on the second floor of the union.

"I'd prefer they contact me, but they can just show up at the meeting," Dotson said.

Carpenter said.

When reached Tuesday night, Kindrick said he would have no comment on the individual cases. "That situation is being investigated by the Affirmative Action director and she will be discussing the matter with the Faculty Senate and President Rives. It would be inappropriate for me to make any comments at this time," he said, adding that once Anderson shares her findings, he will be happy to answer any questions about individual searches.

Kindrick did say he believed all three hirings were proper, and all three individuals were employed by Eastern previous to attaining their present positions. "The title changes were the result of administrative upgrades," he said, adding, "The administrative upgrades were, as far as I know, in complete compliance with (Board of Governors) and Eastern guidelines. If there were problems in the procedures, they are pervasive in the university."

Kindrick said if any problems exist within the procedures, it "affects not only academic affairs, but every department on campus," and that at the time of Whitley's promotion, many other administrative upgrades were taking place under virtually every vice president.

Faculty Senate members emphasized the fact that the people in the positions are not to blame. "The important thing here is the process and not the individuals. The individual is being compromised by the administration," Carpenter said.

Under the suggestion of senate member Laurent Gosselin, the Faculty Senate will invite Anderson to discuss these hirings with the senate as soon as possible.

Nichols said she had no comment on the subject. Anderson, Lasky, and Whitley could not be reached for comment Tuesday night.

Before the senate discussed the alleged improper hirings, they went into executive session to deal with a confidential memo from Rives concerning the president's appointment to the position of acting vice president for academic affairs, the position Kindrick will vacate on Dec. 1.

Carpenter said the senate will not object to the appointee named by Rives in the memo, but due to the confidentiality of the subject, the discussion was held behind closed doors. Rives will announce later this week who he has appointed as acting vice president for academic affairs.

One of the leading candidates for the interim position was Dean of Applied Sciences Barb Hill, according to sources who wish to remain anonymous.

Also at the meeting, the Faculty Senate appointed Carpenter and senate member Ed Marlow to the search committee being formed to find a replacement for Vic Robeson, director of the physical plant.

Robeson resigned as director of the physical plant allegedly under pressure from the administration Sept. 17.

In other business, the Faculty Senate heard a report from a subcommittee dealing with the Master Plan, which is a multi-phase plan to improve Eastern. The committee reported on the inventory and analysis phase of the plan.

In the inventory and analysis stage, all buildings on campus were evaluated. "The concern I had was that it was never made clear who evaluated the buildings," said Marlow, adding that it was never made clear whether the evaluations were done by an outside company, by the university engineer or by administration.

Also, the committee said none of the buildings were evaluated as far as handicap accessibility. Senate members said few of the buildings on campus are readily accessible to people in wheelchairs.

"This campus is so inaccessible, if I were handicapped, I wouldn't come near the place," said senate member Marietta Deming.

According to Bill Miller, the university is currently in compliance with all handicapped accessibility regulations, but as of 1992, when the second phase of the American Disability Act takes affect, Eastern will no longer be in compliance. Senate members Craig Eckert, Miller and Marlow will present a statement on handicap accessibility at Eastern at the next senate meeting.

he filled out the forms in behalf of the counseling center, and he took them to a psychiatrist," said Hulin. "The psychiatrist signed and submitted the forms ... and the bill was paid. The psychiatrist is not affiliated with the center."

Holt, who is a licensed psychologist by the state of Illinois, is not entitled to be reimbursed by Public Aid, Hulin said. A psychologist, who only has a doctorate degree, cannot receive Medicaid unless working under supervision by a physician.

Fred Yaffe, psychology department chair, said Holt's status is unknown as far as teaching next semester. "I have no idea," Yaffe said. "He's a full-time professor who's been with the department for close to 20 years."

Currently Holt is teaching his normal class load, Yaffe said.

The Dec. 27 sentencing will be before Chief Judge Harold Baker in the U.S. District Court in Danville.

At presstime, Holt could not be reached for comment.

AB slices Dutler's request to $24,788

By MIKE CHAMBERS
Staff writer

Dave Dutler's request of over $33,000 from the Apportionment Board to round out the Recreation Center's completion was lowered to $24,788 and then tabled by the board in their regular meeting Tuesday night.

Dutler, the director of intramural sports, originally approached the AB with a figure of $33,272 to purchase administrative and recreational equipment for the newly completed $6.4 million addition to Lantz Gym. However, after some discussion before the AB, Dutler tentatively bargained for the significantly lower amount.

Among the equipment Dutler claimed as the "highest priority items" were a photocopier, computers with larger storage capacity and more advanced design capabilities as well as more than $1,520 in advertising money.

Another area that Dutler considered a high priority was $860 to purchase collared-type golf shirts for Rec Center employees who would use them as uniforms. Dutler explained that the shirts would make Rec Center employees more easily identifiable.

He also said they "would be something to raise the self-esteem" of the workers.

Self-esteem aside, AB chair Steve Macaluso didn't buy the pitch.

"Our bylaws are very clear," he said. "They only allow shirts for achievement only. So I think this is prohibited by our bylaws."

Dutler bargained for a few other items as well.

One bargain came by settling for a cheaper computer system with similar capabilities as the computers the student senate currently uses. Earlier Dutler asked for a $8,000 system including a laser printer and software. But at Tuesday's meeting he proposed using a Zenith system similar to the Senate's that cost $4,316.

"Basically its the same thing as before, its just $3,000 cheaper," Dutler said.

In addition, Dutler told the AB his original estimate for a $750 Dot matrix printer was a little high. The amended price was whittled to $480.

However, the brunt of discussion centered around a proposal to buy an Olympia photocopier for $3,300 since the old copier was outdated.

"Our current copier is nearly three years old. It's really slow, (and) you can't reduce or enlarge," Dutler said.

Dutler and Macaluso are going to meet later in the week to discuss a cheaper copier system for the Rec Center.

A few of the items eliminated from the request included a tiered display rack, $210; a Bose portable sound system, $830; and $4,500 from an original estimate on a separate sound system.

Instead Dutler decided to go with a cheaper portable sound system to be used in aerobics classes. The revised $2,500 system would still include a cassette deck, 1,000 watt power amp, a pre amp, speakers with 15 inch woofers and two wireless microphones for the instructors.

Currently, said Chuck Prince, Dutler's assistant, instructors in the 10 aerobics classes use small boom boxes which are in short supply.

In other business, AB members gave the OK to Elecia Dexter, the Human Potential Coordinator, for financing a one-man play of Martin Luther King Jr.'s life, which is to be performed by Craig Edwards. But they then tabled a request by Dexter for $1,000 in "Human Potential Diversity Grants" to be used as grants for promoters looking for funding of programs that promote cultural diversity awareness.

AB members also allocated student fees to:

- The Student Senate for a $2,900 computer system.
- The University Board to pay $202 to printers to run off 1,000 more copies of the UB Eventsful Calendar/Newsletter.
- The UB to purchase a new $4,302 tent which would replace the old tent that is used for elections twice a year, Homecoming and rented out to various groups throughout the year.

The AB will meet again next week to discuss and vote on the Rec Center's proposal of $24,788 for new equipment.

Attendance policy revised

By TYLER PIERCE
Staff writer

The Council on Academic Affairs recently re-established the guidelines for Eastern's student attendance policy, which had become unclear when Assistant Dean of Student Personnel Services James Johnson retired this year.

Since Johnson's position at Eastern was eliminated when he retired, Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams inherited the task of dealing with student absences.

Under the old policy, Johnson would receive an excuse from a student who had missed classes. Johnson would then write a note to faculty members verifying that he had talked to the student and describe the student's excuse to that instructor.

The instructor could then decide whether the excuse was legitimate or not.

Williams said he now has two specific duties concerning the attendance policy.

If a student has an emergency that warrants the missing of classes, the person can call Williams, and tell him the student will miss classes. The vice president will then notify the student's instructors.

"Of course if there's an emergency, the student isn't going to come back to campus and talk to all of his instructors, so I notify them as to why he's out,"

Williams said. "Now whether or not the instructor accepts that as a valid excuse is up to the instructor, not me," he added. "The final decision on what is excused or unexcused has always rested with the instructor."

CAA Chair Ken Sutton said if there is a misunderstanding between a student and a faculty member, the process of appeals goes to the department chair and then to the deans.

Williams' other responsibility is to locate students who do not show up for class and inform them that they are still enrolled in the class.

"We have a lot of people who never even show up for class all semester," Williams said. "They just never show up."

Williams said students often think they have dropped classes until they receive their grades and find out otherwise.

"So what (faculty members) do is send me a little card or note and say (the student) has not been in the class," Williams said. "I have a form that is addressed to the student and I make a copy of what is sent to me (from the instructor) on that form."

"I then send that to the student and notify him that there is a problem and I also send a copy to the instructor," he added.

Williams said he believes the new policy is working well.

Student Senate amendment includes waiver

By CHARLENE BURRIS
Staff writer

A Student Senate constitutional amendment and bylaw change may add the position of chief of staff to the executive board by becoming an elected position, giving the executive member a full tuition waiver.

The proposed change would make the position open to all students who want to run in the spring student government election.

The position is now appointed by the student body president and the speaker of the senate, and voted on by two-thirds of the senate, said Blake Wood, speaker of the senate.

The senate will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Tuscola-Arcola Room of the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

Currently the chief of staff is compensated for a maximum of 48 hours per month at $4.25 an hour.

In accordance with the proposed bylaw the chief of staff would act as the student government secretary, liaison between the executive and legislative branches of the senate and public relations director of the student government.

Also, he would be required to act as the senate librarian, parliamentarian and serve on all standing committees as an ex-officio member to represent the concerns of the senate before any official university body or administrator.

The bylaw change would not go into effect until the spring election, making the current Chief of Staff Brett Gerber, adhere to the current constitution, Wood said.

Wood does not foresee any problems with the approval of the amendment.

In other business, according to a proposed bylaw change, the senate hopes to continue to create awareness on campus issues by appointing senate members to various organizations as liaisons.

Although the senate already has liaisons with the Residence Hall Association, Black Student Union, Hispanic Student Union, Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council, the bylaw change would provide smaller organizations with senate member liaisons, Wood said.

Organizations such as business and service fraternities and sororities and social greek bodies would be appointed a senate liaison that they could refer to for problems or questions, Wood added.

BSU puts White Student Union issue to rest

By ELLIOTT PEPPERS
Staff writer

The Black Student Union decided Tuesday to continue their focus on homecoming events and put behind them the issue of the White Student Union after the new group called off their first meeting Wednesday.

"This whole situation probably more than likely will be coming to a close," said Kevin Evans, BSU president.

Evans said he learned the purpose of the new group was an apparent hoax and allegedly an attempt to make the BSU look bad. Doug Hettinger, a senior accounting major, organized the proposed White Student Union.

"It was senseless in his (Hettinger's) attempt to discredit the BSU," Evans said.

Hettinger said Friday that some BSU members had called and threatened him after he promoted his new group in the Campus Clips of The Daily Eastern News two weeks ago.

Hettinger could not be reached for comment Tuesday night.

Evans said he will write a letter to the editor to The Daily Eastern News to explain the whole situation and further clarify the BSU's position, reaction and purpose as recognized student organization.

Also at the Tuesday meeting, the BSU held interviews for coordinate positions. Evans said selection for new coordinate positions will not be announced until later in the week. Currently, all nine of the coordinate positions remain open. Some of the open positions were for intramurals, fundraising and the Miss Black EIU Pageant.

The BSU also announced its participation in the Delta Tau Delta Big Wheel Contest to be held at 11 a.m. Saturday in front of My Place Lounge, 727 7th St., and homecoming events such as fun games and window painting at the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union. The BSU is the host organization of the homecoming dance and will provide music and catering at the event.

Correction

The approximate amount of money collected at the Delta Sigma Phi can shake fundraiser was $800, and there were 40 members that participated, which is not the entire number of fraternity members.

Handicapped report is positive move by Senate

The Student Senate has taken a positive step forward in improving Eastern Illinois University with its unanimous vote on three resolutions supporting wheelchair accessibility.

Unfortunately, the important move that the senate made in helping handicapped students on campus took a back seat to all of the controversy surrounding the senate's Oct. 2 confidence vote in favor of Stan Rives.

Editorial On Sept. 26 senate member Jeff Waldhoff toured campus during the regular class day to see what campus travel is like for students bound to a wheelchair.

So with help from Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center, senate member Amy Smith and freshman Michele Marlow, an Eastern student confined to a wheelchair, Waldhoff set off to find out how accessible Eastern's campus was.

What Waldhoff found was a mixed degree of accessibility in 14 campus buildings. In some he found good accessibility and poor bathroom facilities and in others poor accessibility and good bathroom facilities.

Waldhoff was unable to find out anything about McAfee Gym, however, because he could not find a way into the building.

However, Waldhoff did not stop there; he went on to compile a five-page report that he presented to the senate, and he wrote three resolutions in support of increased awareness of accessibility on campus.

The senate has asked that plans be made to enhance handicapped accessibility when existing buildings are renovated, that copies of the report be placed in Booth Library and sent to President Rives and Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, and that signs be placed in Old Main directing students to the building's elevator.

The News believes that with such important matters now in the hands of the administration that these issues should not be set aside. The senate has passed these issue within its own body with the belief that it will benefit students.

The senate took the ball; now the administration has to roll with it.

'Toon the truth and don't be afraid

For a year in a half now I've been picking up copies of The Daily Eastern News. Lots of people do the same thing, but I have a particular little system that I've been following. There's only one stop in between page 1 and the sports section for me, you understand.

First I flip to the comics where I peruse the adventures of Calvin and Hobbes, which is followed by my daily dose of liberal laughter in Doonesbury. This is a major part of the day, because if all goes well, I hope to be the guy that pens these little bits of humor someday.

I draw cartoons. I draw a lot of cartoons.

I've been drawing political cartoons since November of last year (those are the squiggles and blobs directly underneath this here column). With that in mind it seems that a few people need to know a few things before they read any more.

When I started at The News I had drawn only one political cartoon in my life. Eastern doesn't offer Politoon 1000, and I don't seem to remember anything about cartoons in my Introduction to Journalism either. So I never had any real training.

I mustered all of the courage I could find last year to turn in some work at The News. Thanks to the advice of Howard Price and the understanding of Jeff Madsen I got my shot.

Since then I have been giving my opinions in balloons. The best part is when I see someone enjoying my work, either sitting in class and giggling slightly or having it plastered on their residence hall doors.

The only downside is when people automatically condemn me for giving a view they don't believe in.

They call screaming at the decibel level of a Motley Crue concert or send letters that are almost too hot to touch. I've met people for the first time in local establishments who have greeted me in language too strong for even the sleaziest dive. Their criticism is never constructive, but I can't whine about that now. What lesson should I take from a phone call at 1:30 a.m. that informs me that I am a racist pig? Do they care that I draw for Minority Today, or that I've been working with Karen Medina to design a logo for the Hispanic Student Union?

Whether they think I am trying to destroy the Affirmative Action program, support an unjust war or condemn it for that matter, it doesn't seem like I'm ever able to win. I thought I could handle anything from administration scandal to the end of the Communist party. Yet it never hit me how much my opinions were valued, until I singled out the wrong person at the wrong time.

The pen went dry this week when I thought I was something more than a cartoonist. I tried to be judge and jury over someone I had never even met. Eastern placekicker Jason Caldwell.

Since then I have had the opportunity to talk to his friends, supporters and even his coach. I'm used to taking on the big boys, like university officials, leaders of foreign countries and even the President of the United States. But they never called.

I learned it was different picking on Caldwell who is a student just like myself. Like me, he is trying to get to class, get some work done and have some fun along the way.

I'm no god, so when I make mistakes I admit them.

In Tuesday's "Your turn," there was an invitation to myself and Don O'Brien to "get in the ring" to just see how it feels. Hopefully, we can get a chance to prove that we just don't hide behind a desk, rather we stand behind our names, names that are read and trusted by close to 10,000 people everyday.

P.S. Hey Stan, no hard feelings? See you in the funnies.

—Rich Bird is the art director and a guest columnist for The Daily Eastern News.

Unborn child's freedom should also be considered

In response to Mr. Askin's article, "A frightening scenario of freedom lost," (Oct. 4) I ask, where is the real freedom lost. He obviously only considers the freedom of the freedom of the mother and not of her unborn child, who would not only lose its freedom but also its life! Abortion seems to be an easy alternative when the unborn child has nothing to say in its defense.

Worse case scenarios are often brought up and rightly so because the real question of abortion lies in where we draw the line. But what about the unborn child? What is the worse case scenario? I would think imposed death would be an extraordinarily grim picture for it to face.

Mr. Askin doesn't believe government should have the right to make the decision of abortion for the mother. Then, does the government have the right to use my tax dollars to fund abortions for the poor, as they do now?

Annie would indeed have a hardship by raising her child, but I believe killing the child would be an overwhelmingly less desirable choice to make. There are many alternatives to "back alley abortions," and often those alternatives are overlooked or not understood by an expecting mother or the general public. I think education and realization of alternatives would help to solve the dilemma in many cases.

Death penalty is not a viable option

Dear editor:

In response to the death penalty article, it is more than just an issue of racism, it is an issue of injustice.

Consider these startling facts: An average of four innocent people have been executed for murder in the U.S. each year since 1900. This past January Clarence Lee Brandley was freed by the state of Texas after nine years on death row and twice coming within days of execution. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals found the actions of the police and prosecutors in this case to be racist.

Another fact is the death penalty costs more than life imprisonment. Studies show that the average murder trial and the first stage of appeal costs taxpayers $1.8 million — more than twice as much as it costs to keep a person in prison for life. Another tragic injustice is juveniles under the age of eighteen are being executed in 25 states here in the U.S.

The FBI Uniform Crime Reports prove that states who abolished the death penalty show a considerable decrease in murders — an average of 4.9 murders per 100,000 population compared to states who support the death penalty — with 7.4 murders. There is no room for ignorance when it's late to save an innocent life, reform juvenile and spend our tax dollars on this form of cruel and unusual punishment.

The truth does hurt.

Breakfast at Lanman's? Not quite

By CHRIS SEPER
Staff writer

Residents will get an opportunity to toast Mayor Wayne Lanman and the rest of the Charleston City Council when the Chamber of Commerce hosts an open breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

The meeting, sponsored by the small business committee of the chamber, will take place at the Charleston Inn, 920 West Lincoln. The cost is $6.50 for chamber members and $7.50 for the public.

"With the small business committee sponsoring it, it will lean toward that (business-oriented discussion)," said Iris Campbell, executive vice president of the chamber.

"It won't be restricted strictly toward business; we want it to be a free flow of information between city councilmen, citizens and businessmen."

City commissioners Jim Dunn, Roger Rives, Bruce Scism and John Winnett will be on hand at the forum, along with Lanman, and each will open with remarks followed by questions from the audience.

This is the first time in two years the chamber is holding the breakfast.

"We feel pretty good about it," Campbell said. "We got a positive response from all council members. Sometimes their schedules don't permit them appearing at all time. We're pleased with their effort and that they're going to appear."

"I would hope it would stay on the light side," Dunn said. "Usually that's what this is — a discussion of pro and con ideas. I hope it will stay on light side; sometimes it gets heated a bit."

"I think the mayor's done a nice job on this," Dunn added. "A lot of past situations, the meetings are closed, and I don't think that's right. More of an open air and an informal situation is good for us."

Only about 24 tickets have been sold for the breakfast so far, according to Campbell, who said the goal is to sell about 100 tickets.

But Campbell said she hopes numerous tickets would be sold Wednesday as well as at the door Thursday morning.

"We hope to have a series of these (breakfasts), depending on how the turnout is Thursday,"

Campbell said. "We hope to have them on a quarterly basis."

"It just gets us out into the community," Dunn said. "As a councilman and as a businessman, I tend to stay very, very busy. A quarterly situation (to have the breakfasts) is a real good idea. Plus you get four free breakfasts."

Members of the community do get a chance to speak out at the end of every city council meeting concerning complaints or ideas they may have, Dunn added.

Campbell reiterated that the breakfast was to be an open discussion/update on the latest government activities, and not a podium for campaigning.

"This is not to be construed as a forum for councilmen," she said. "For instance, when city council members are running for office, they can have a platform. It's not intended as that."

"We want to get away and have an open information meeting and have open dialogue between the community and the city council."

Tickets are available at the door or can be reserved at the Charleston Chamber of Commerce, 501 Jackson Ave.

One-hour constitution class to be replaced

By TANYA ZIEGLER
Staff writer

The political science department has decided that next semester will be the last time any student can take Constitution Principles 2011, which partially satisfies the constitution requirement.

The course is a team talk, one credit hour course, followed by the Constitution exam, dealing with the U.S. and Illinois Constitutions.

The new course that will replace 2011 will take a broader, more interesting view of government, according to Professor Andrew McNitt of the political science department. It will be a three credit hour class and part of the new general education requirements.

"I don't like the (current) 2011 course because I don't like team teaching. It makes coordination difficult and consultation hard between teachers and students," said McNitt.

"The enrollments will have 30 to 35 students a class, with intensive writing and smaller classes," he added. "It will not only be more interesting, but will give the students an opportunity to ask questions."

According to the old general education program, all students must take either political science courses 2011, 2603, 1153 or a history course, to meet the Constitution requirement.

In spring of 1992, the new option will consist of a history course, political science 1153 or the new class, to meet the Constitution requirement needed for graduation.

McNitt said he thinks the new change will be better for students. "Instead of talking about traditions and the presidency, you will talk about the President. I think it's a great improvement," he said as an example.

Sorority holds annual fundraiser

By RANDY LISS
Staff writer

Last Sunday's Phi Sigma Sigma rock-a-thon for the National Kidney Foundation was a "ringing success" according to Leslie Dady, public relations chair for Phi Sigma Sigma.

Members of Phi Sigma Sigma, including pledges and active members, camped out in front of the Charleston Walmart on Lincoln Avenue and asked for donations, which by the end of the day totaled around $500.

"We were extremely impressed with the amount of support we received," Dady said. "It was more than we expected."

The rock-a-thon has been an annual event for Phi Sigma Sigma at Eastern since the birth of the sorority on campus in 1985.

The fundraiser is also seen around the country on a national scale, as all Phi Sigma Sigma chapters in the United States participate in their own regions of their home state, Dady said.

All money raised by the sorority chapters is sent to the National Kidney Foundation, which uses the funds for their Kidney Camp, which is a special, fully-paid summer camp for children with kidney problems and their families, she added.

Eastern's chapter of Phi Sigma Sigma teamed up with chapters from the University of Illinois, Western Illinois University and Illinois State University to raise their funds for central Illinois.

According to Dady, the sorority was more than happy with the results.

"The community was fantastic about the entire fundraiser," Dady said.

"It was nice to see that Charleston and the Eastern students were so supportive towards the foundation and what we're trying to do."

Keynote speaker will discuss Macbeth Thursday at Booth

By EVETTE PEARSON
Campus editor

Shakespeare's Macbeth will come alive Thursday as a University of Illinois professor speaks on campus on the contemporary appeal of "Macbeth: Guilt and the High School Student" at 7:30 p.m. in the Booth Library Lecture Hall.

Michael Shapiro will be the keynote speaker for the event and will conduct a panel discussion, along with four Eastern faculty members on "The Origins of Evil in Macbeth," which will explore the psychological roots of Macbeth's violent acts.

The panel is slated to speak Friday in the Buzzard Auditorium.

"This conference is designed for high school teachers as a training conference devoted to Macbeth," said John Kilgore, professor of Eastern's English department.

"In the past, we have dealt with books such as Chaucer's 'Canterbury Tales' and Twain's 'Adventures of Huckleberry Finn,'" he added.

Throughout the conference, several events are open to the general public, for instance, the keynote address by Shapiro and comparative screening, the three different film versions of Macbeth in the Tarble Arts Center, along with many other exciting opportunities, Kilgore said.

Also on Thursday, there will be a late showing of the "Throne of Blood", a Japanese adaptation of Macbeth, Kilgore said.

The third annual two-day literature conference is running in conjunction with an art exhibit at the Tarble Arts Center titled "Shakespeare in Art: Contemporary Explorations."

Shapiro is a visiting scholar from Miami University of Ohio and has taught at Cornell University and at Reading University in England.

"The first conference, three years ago, had an enrollment of about 60 persons, and last year the enrollment peaked at 95, but this year only 90 people are scheduled to attend," Kilgore said.

"This is still a good turnout, but the scheduling of Institute Day may have been a factor in the low numbers."

"In White America" starts Wednesday

By CASSIE SIMPSON
Activities editor

The curtain goes up Wednesday for the opening night production of "In White America" on the mainstage of the Doudna Fine Arts Center.

"It's basically about the struggle of the Black-American society throughout American history," said C.P. Blanchette, the play's director and associate professor of the theater arts department. The play will begin its 10-day run at 8 p.m.

According to a release from the theater department, the play opened at an off-Broadway theater Oct. 31, 1963, and has won a Vernon Rice Award for its author, Martin Duberman, and another for an actress.

The play, while having many characters ranging from the slave-ship days to incidents at Little Rock, Ark., in the mid 1950's, has only seven actors and actresses, according to Blanchette.

"There are seven (actors and actresses) all together," Blanchette said. "Also appearing (in the production) is the Unity Gospel Choir. Three to six members of the choir are there each night."

Tickets $3 for students with an ID, $6 for adults and $5 for children and senior citizens. The ticket office is open from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and one hour before each performance.

Annual publication accepts creative works

By LISA MICKELSON
Staff writer

Eastern students currently have the chance to artistically express themselves through an English department publication.

The Vehicle is a student literary magazine that is published at the end of the fall and spring semesters, according to Beth Yates, co-editor of the publication.

The magazine consists of poems, creative essays, short stories, photography, art work and any other kind of creative work, Yates said. "It is a good opportunity to get works published, and it gives a student a real sense of satisfaction to see yourself in print."

"Any student can submit any kind of creative work," she added.

A student's work should be taken into room 308 in Coleman Hall, and will be evaluated by the English Honor Society, Sigma Tau Delta, Yates said.

All entries will remain anonymous while being voted on, and the entries with the most votes will then be published, she added.

The other co-editor of the publication is Matt Kelly, and the faculty adviser is English Professor Dana Ringuette.

Submissions for The Vehicle are due by 4:30 p.m. Friday in room 308 of Coleman Hall.

Thomas denies harassment of former aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas on Tuesday denied sexually harassing a former aide but asked the Senate to delay its confirmation vote. An agonized Senate appeared likely to put off the vote to investigate the allegations.

Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., said Thomas told him in a telephone call that "I have to restore what they have taken from me. I have to appear before the appropriate forum and clear my name." "It is in with great pain and great anger at the injustice which is being perpetrated on him that I ask for a delay," Danforth said.

Senate leaders conferred Tuesday evening on how long any delay should last.

Republican Leader Bob Dole withheld his support for the request pending a further vote count, but he conceded there might not be enough support for confirmation if the Senate voted Tuesday.

Seven of 13 Democrats who had announced their support for Thomas — Alan Dixon of Illinois, Richard Bryan and Harry Reid of Nevada, Joseph Lieberman of Connecticut, J. James Exon of Nebraska, Wyche Fowler of Georgia and Richard Shelby of Alabama — all called for a delay in the vote.

If supporters forced a vote, "this senator would be in a position to vote against the nomination," Bryan said.

Exon said he would either abstain or vote against Thomas if the vote were held Tuesday.

Boston gives Morgan the ax

BOSTON (AP) — While other manager's jobs were in danger, most people thought Boston's Joe Morgan was safe. Now he's out, too.

In a surprising move, the Red Sox fired Morgan on Tuesday and replaced him with former Boston third baseman Butch Hobson.

"Butch is highly thought of throughout baseball and we just felt that he's the man for us," Red Sox general manager Lou Gorman said. "Everyone looks for scapegoats, but we're not blaming Joe Morgan for not winning." Morgan led Boston to AL East titles in 1988 and 1990, but failed to come through this year. The Red Sox dropped 11 games out on Aug. 7, then closed within a half-game of division-leading Toronto on Sept. 21. But Boston lost 11 of its last 14 and finished seven games back, in a second-place tie with Detroit at 84-78.

"Joe took the news like the pro he is," Gorman said. "He understands. He just said, 'That's your decision to make.' Joe did an excellent job, but if we didn't make the move, we would have risked losing Butch." Morgan, who will be 61 on Nov. 16, replaced John McNamara on July 14, 1988, with the team 9 games out of first. Boston rallied to win the division, but were swept by Oakland in the AL playoffs.

The Red Sox slipped to third with an 83-79 record in 1989, then won the division in 1990 at 88-74 only to be swept by Oakland again.

Boston was 301-262 under Morgan, the eighth Red Sox manager to win 300 games. He has one year remaining on his contract at approximately $375,000 and was offered a job as special assistant for major league scouting.

Morgan said he went to Fenway Park to discuss the future of his five coaches and instead was told he had been fired.

"Sure, I was surprised," Morgan said, adding that he thinks he has done a good job.

Then he reiterated what he said last weekend when asked whether the Red Sox would allow him to keep all five coaches.

"They pay the bills, they do what they want and that's the way it should be," he said.

seven solos, and two sacks and Tim Mosley tied a conference record with three touchdown receptions (three, 67, and 36 yards) in the purple Panthers' 56-6 non-conference win over Morgan State.

WESTERN ILLINOIS' KEN McMILLAN had 17 tackles and Kevin Hart ran for 107 yards in the Leathernecks' 16-15 win over Eastern.

start is the school's best since 1972 and the Redbird defense has limited the opposition to single point totals in three of five games.

PANTHER RUNNING-BACK JAMIE JONES ranks in the Division I-AA top 10 in two categories. Jones, a senior tailback, is fifth in all-purpose running with 169 yards per game and is eighth in rushing with 123.6 yards per game. Sophomore quarterback Jeff Thorne dropped to fourth in the nation in passing efficiency with a 169.4 rating average after a 16 for 32 performance against Western Illinois.

WESTERN KENTUCKY, which will join the Gateway Conference in 1992, lost to Middle Tennessee State 23-21. The Hilltoppers travel to third-ranked Eastern Kentucky this weekend.

—Compiled by Don O'Brien.

Senior Herb Heaton returns as Western's leading scorer from a year ago, when he scored eight goals and assisted on two others. But much of the Leatherneck's scoring this year has come from sophomore Owen Raisborough and senior forward Don Moscato.

MacKenzie said that coming up with a victory over this Panther squad would be a step up for his Leathernecks.

"Obviously, we'd like to beat them," MacKenzie said. "They are a conference game for us, but they are also like a sister school to us. So it is one game on our schedule that we would like to win."

Eastern will head into the contest with Western trying to improve on its 6-3 record. A victory would keep the Panthers ahead in the Mid-Con with a 3-0 conference mark.

Senior LeBaron Hollimon, who was just selected as the Mid-Con Athlete of the Month for September, leads the Panthers, and the Mid-Con in scoring. He has 24 points in nine games, which ranks him second in the nation and in the Midwest, behind Brian Kamler of Creighton, who has 32 points in 12 games.

Hollimon said that he does not believe it will be hard for Eastern to bounce back from the loss at Illinois State.

"It won't be much of a problem," Hollimon said. "We went down to ISU and the loss put a big monkey wrench on our season. So we just have to go out and win as many games as possible, so that at least we can be happy with ourselves."

Freshman Paul Agyeaman is right behind Hollimon in scoring. The forward from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada has 19 points with eight goals and three assists.

Mosnia said that Western has been playing well this season and will pose a big test for his Panther squad.

"They are doing quite well, as far as playing goes," Mosnia said. "They just lost to Northern (Illinois) 4-2, but they scored two goals against Northern's stingy defense. We (Eastern) are not as big as Northern is, so it is going to be a tough game for us."

Denver signs Mutombo to $12 million contract

DENVER (AP) — Dikembe Mutombo, the fourth player taken in the NBA draft, signed a contract reportedly worth $12 million for five years with the Denver Nuggets on Tuesday.

The 7-foot-2 Mutombo agreed to terms on Monday, and the contract was signed Tuesday on the hood of a car in a parking lot outside the U.S. Air Force Academy field house in Colorado Springs. Mutombo then went to practice, which started 15 minutes after the signing.

"I gave a big sigh of relief when Dikembe walked through that door," coach Paul Westhead said.

"Dikembe obviously figures prominently into our long-range plans and we are glad to have him in training camp with our coaches in time to still gain a great deal from the pre-season," Nuggets general manager Bernie Bickerstaff said.

"We're obviously pleased to have this over with since Dikembe will be a focal point of the team." The Nuggets' 20-62 record was the worst in the NBA last season, and Mutombo is expected to step in immediately as the starting center.

Mutombo, Georgetown's career leader in field goal percentage at 64.4 percent, led the team in scoring with 15.2 points a game, but it was on the defensive end of the floor that he built his reputation. He was fourth in the nation in blocked shots with 151 and sixth in rebounding with a 12.2 average.

Panther golf team finishes 11th at ISU

Eastern's golf squad fell upon hard times once again this week, finishing 11th in a field of 12 at the Illinois State Invitational.

The Panthers' three-round total of 979 was good enough to better Creighton, which finished last at 1,072. The Western Illinois Leathernecks won the event with a team score of 897. Western was led by Dusti Watson, who carded a 216, carding a 72 each day.

The host Redbirds of Illinois State finished second with a total of 907. Illinois State's Tom Sipula won the individual medalist honors by recording a 214. He came through with a first-round 69, followed by rounds of 73 and 72.

Eastern head coach Paul Lueken said he expected a very competitive tournament.

"We knew going in that it was going to be a tough field," he said. "After the first round we were within a stroke of the middle of the pack. We had a tough time playing in the conditions. I'm not disgusted or upset, but we just need to keep playing."

Northern Illinois was third followed by Wright State, Southern Illinois, ISU-white, Lincoln JC, Drake, Bradley Wisconsin-Green Bay and Eastern and Creighton rounded out the field.

Eastern scores included Craig Cassata and Tom Rank (243), Brad Schwartzwalder (244), Tom Felton (254) and Tom Morrison (264).

Woman accuses Mets' pitcher Cone of rape

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An unidentified New Jersey woman claimed New York Mets pitcher David Cone raped her in a hotel, but police said Tuesday they have not determined there was a crime.

The woman claimed the attack occurred Saturday, the night before Cone tied the NL strikeout record with 19 against the Philadelphia Phillies.

Police spokesman Edward Tenuto said the allegation was under investigation and that no charges had been filed.

"It's still not being called a rape," he said. "We can't talk about charges because we don't know that there is a crime yet." Police would not identify the woman's alleged assailant, but Mets spokesman Jay Horwitz confirmed that club officials were aware the allegations concerned Cone.

"David Cone is a fine young man, a fine pitcher," New York general manager Al Harazin said. "We hope this case is quickly cleared up and that he's exonerated." Cone also was defended by his agent, Stephen Fehr.

"David did nothing wrong and I believe that very strongly," Fehr said. "We have retained counsel to work in Philadelphia to assist with the matter. Beyond that, I think it would be inappropriate to comment at this time, except to state that the publicity which the matter has received is unfortunate."

Soccer squad hosts WIU at Lakeside

By KEN RYAN
Staff writer

The Eastern soccer team will look to rebound from a disappointing, last minute 3-2 loss to Illinois State on Sunday, when Mid-Continent Conference play resumes Wednesday.

The Panthers will host the Leathernecks of Western Illinois in a 4 p.m. contest at Lakeside Field. Eastern lost to ISU on Sunday when the Redbirds played with a one-man advantage for the final 13 minutes of the game. They scored two goals in the final seven minutes, the final one coming with one minute remaining to erase a 2-1 Panther lead.

Eastern head coach Cizo Mosnia said that it was a tough loss for Eastern to handle.

"There was a letdown at the end of the game because of how we lost it," Mosnia said. "The guys took it hard, but I think we will bounce back."

Eastern is not the only school coming off a tough loss though. Western Illinois has dropped its last two games. The Leathernecks came up on the short end of 4-2 scores against Northern Illinois and Wisconsin-Green Bay.

The two defeats leave the Leathernecks at 3-6 for the season, including an 0-2 record in the Mid-Con. Leatherneck head coach John MacKenzie, in his 24th year as head coach, said that his team is not far from being a competitive team in the Mid-Con.

"I've been pleased with every aspect of the game, except scoring goals," MacKenzie said. "I think that we have played well against every opponent this year, but we just have not been able to score.

"We are coming off of 4-2 losses to Northern and Wisconsin-Green Bay. We also played Eastern evenly earlier this year in the Governor's Cup. The only difference was that they scored on a penalty shot."

Hollimon is Mid-Con Athlete of the Month

Eastern senior forward LeBaron Hollimon has picked up another award to add to his already impressive list of accomplishments this season, as he was selected as the Mid-Continent Athlete of the Month for September.

Hollimon, from Wichita, Kan., has already been named the Mid-Con Player of the Week and has been drafted by Tulsa of the National Professional Soccer League.

"It's just as much a surprise to me as it is to everybody else," Hollimon said. "It is not something that I expect to get."

Hollimon, Eastern's co-captain for the second straight season, has already scored 24 points on the season, scoring nine goals and assisting on six others in just nine games.

He was second in the nation and second in the Midwest Region with his 24 points, trailing only Brian Kamler from Creighton University, who has 13 goals and six assists in 12 games.

Hollimon was selected as the Mid-Con Player of the Week Sept. 23 when he scored two goals against Loyola of Chicago, and added one goal and an assist against Sangamon State and one goal against Western Illinois.

He has been a four-year starter for the Panthers and now has 22 goals and 17 assists during his time at Eastern. Despite all of these achievements, both Hollimon and head coach Cizo Mosnia believe that Eastern's leading scorer can get better.

"I have plenty of room for improvement," Hollimon said. "People recognize you as a good player, but I am the only one that knows that I can be better. I realize that I have a long way to go. The day I say that I have nothing more to accomplish as a player is the day it will be over because I will have nothing to work towards."

Mosnia said that Hollimon still has his down days as a player.

"He's a good player," Mosnia said. "I think he needs to become a little more mentally strong, because he still has down days, but he has done a good job."

Crying wolf

Former Eastern star Taylor gets shot with Minnesota

By R.J. GERBER

Former Eastern basketball standout Jay Taylor is hoping that a third shot at making an NBA roster will be a charm.

The Panthers' all-time leading scorer signed a two-year contract with the Minnesota Timberwolves last summer, but the deal was not a guaranteed one, which means Taylor will be battling for a spot on the Timberwolves roster with at least five other guards.

The Timberwolves, who came into the league three seasons ago, started training camp last Friday, but Taylor said he reported about two weeks before that. Minnesota is the third team which has given Taylor, the 1989 Association of Mid-Continent Universities' Player of the Year, a shot at the NBA. The 6-3 guard from Aurora was signed by the New Jersey Nets and Milwaukee Bucks, but was later cut by both organizations.

Taylor said he thinks he knows what it takes to play in the big time, but he is keeping things in perspective.

"I still have to make it. It's not guaranteed," said Taylor, who holds the AMCU record for most points in a game with 47. "I'm not doing anything differently. You've just got to wait your turn. I've just got to stick with it."

Taylor will have to beat out some stiff competition if he hopes to earn a spot on the 12-man Timberwolves roster. Besides Jerome "Pooh" Richardson, who started at the point last season, Taylor is up against Doug West, a Villanova product, Jim Farmer from Alabama, Scott Brooks from California-Irvine and the Wolves' second-round draft choice from this season - Slippery Rock's Myron Brown.

With former Boston Celtic head coach Jimmy Rodgers taking the same position with Minnesota, Taylor said things could be in his favor because everyone is getting a first look from Rodgers, who replaced Bill Musselman after last season.

"The situation in front of me looks good. That's what I'm thinking," said Taylor.

One person who expects Taylor to make a run for a spot with Minnesota is first-year scout Walt Perrin.

"First and foremost he's an excellent shooter and that helps him tremendously," said Perrin from Timberwolves' headquarters in Minneapolis. "He also has good quickness and flexibility and great athleticism. He's just now learning to play point guard, it takes time. He's picking that up."

Perrin said Taylor is trying to earn the back-up point guard position, one that he played sparingly while at Eastern. Taylor played mostly the No. 2 guard spot for Panther head coach Rick Samuels.

"Jay was the only guy that we invited back from our summer camp that wasn't already with the team," said Perrin. "He's got the ability to play two positions and that helps his situation. With the new coach in Jimmy Rodgers, everybody is starting on the same page."

Taylor has played for several other professional teams including the Wichita Falls, Texans and Grand Rapids Hoops of the Continental basketball Association.

Gateway Football

Three Gateway Conference teams remain in the NCAA I-AA top 20, compiled by The Associated Press this week. Northern Iowa moved up to seventh, Southwest Missouri State rose to 15th and Southern Illinois, which was defeated by Southwest Missouri over the weekend, dropped to 20th.

IN THE SPORTS NETWORK POLL, Northern Iowa is sixth, Southwest Missouri State is 13th, Southern Illinois is 22nd, and Western Illinois and Illinois State are tied for 26th.

THE GATEWAY is 18-6-2 against non-league opponents this year. In those games the Gateway teams have outscored those non-league teams 779-417. In non-league home games the conference is 13-1, outscoring the opposition 526-147.

THE SOUTHWEST MISSOURI STATE BEARS claimed both offensive and defensive players of the week. Senior quarterback Pat Carney led the Bears to a 17-13 upset victory over the previously 15th-ranked Southern Illinois Salukis. Carney threw for 36 yards and had over 100 yards of total offense, while scoring both of Southwest Missouri State's touchdowns. On defense, the Bears' sophomore cornerback Adrien Smith picked off a pair of Southern passes at critical points of the game that came deep in Bear territory to prevent Salukis scores.

Other outstanding performances from around the league:

• EASTERN'S JEFF MILES had 13 tackles, broke up a pass, intercepted a pass and blocked a field goal attempt, while teammate Matt Settles had 18 tackles against Western Illinois.

• ILLINOIS STATE'S TONY JONES had six tackles and a pair of quarterback sacks, while Cameron Bair hit both of his field goal attempts, including the game winner with :02 remaining in the Redbirds' 6-3 victory over Indiana State.

• INDIANA STATE'S ERIC CHRISTENSEN had 19 tackles, four of which were solo, recovered a fumble and broke up a pass, while Derrick Franklin rushed for 150 yards on 34 carries.

• NORTHERN IOWA'S WILLIAM FREENEY had 10 tackles,
