29-year-old arrested in weekend stabbing

by Linda Charnesky

Russell Hill, 29, of 1004 Division, was arrested Tuesday on charges of aggravated battery for the alleged stabbing of Eastern sophomore Dwayne Betts Saturday night in the University Union Old Ballroom.

Betts' injury was not severe enough to require hospital emergency treatment.

Campus Security Chief John Pauley said Tuesday that along with Hill, two Eastern students, sophomore Robert Thompson and junior Michael Collins, were also arrested on charges of battery.

Hill is being held in Coles County Jail on $5,000 bail and Thompson's bail is set for $1,000, Becky McDuffie of the Coles County States Attorney's office, said Tuesday.

Collins has been released from the jail because his bail of $1,000 has been paid, she added.

These arrests were made as a result of fighting which erupted Saturday night between members of the Phi Beta Sigma and Omega Psi Phi fraternities during a "set" taking place in the Old Union Ballroom.

Several other fraternities and sororities were present at the "set," which is a party held each Friday and Saturday night in the Ballroom, Clark said.

All three persons arrested were "either past or present members" of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, Union Area Head Bill Clark, said Tuesday.

Clark explained that Phi Beta Sigma was the host fraternity for the "set" this past weekend and other fraternities and sororities attended. He added that the fraternities and sororities take turns in hosting the sets.

Clark said Monday that the dispute began between the two fraternities when a member of Phi Beta Sigma was interrupted during a routine while the dance was in progress.

A student who attended the "set," who wished to remain anonymous, said Tuesday that the fighting broke out Saturday night when the members of Phi Beta Sigma and Omega Psi Phi were chanting their fraternity songs.

The student said that both fraternities were competing toward each other when a fight broke out.

There were about 25 members of Phi Beta Sigma and about two members of Omega Psi Phi present at the "set," the student said.

Clark said the student building supervisors "did a great job" in contacting the campus security to come and handle the incident.

"We want students to know that when they come into the Union, they do not have to feel any danger," Clark said.

Fire hits Vegas hotel; more than 100 injured

LAS VEGAS (AP)—A fire erupted and "jumped from floor to floor" at the 30-story Las Vegas Hilton Tuesday night, injuring more than 100 people and shooting flames 100 feet up the side of one of the world's largest hotels.

Helicopters evacuated guests from the roof and ambulances rushed to the 2,783-room facility near the Las Vegas Strip after the first alarm was reported at 8:07 p.m. The blaze, reported under control by about 9:30 p.m., was the second major fire at a Las Vegas hotel in less than three months.

Authorities at Desert Springs Hospital said they had received 100 people who were being treated for smoke inhalation.

The most seriously injured victims were being taken by helicopter from a convention center near the Hilton to Valley Hospital.

An emergency room spokesman at Sunrise Hospital said that facility was receiving "a bunch" of injury victims, most of them with smoke inhalation. He said none had burns. Some injured guests also were being taken to Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital.

Witnesses said that while the flames were at their height, people were hanging out of windows at the hotel and authorities were telling them to get back inside.

Authorities also lifted some people off the roof in helicopters, said Rodney Davis, desk officer at the nearby Royal Americana Hotel.

He said half the building was dark and the flames reached up the side of the building at least 100 feet.

Capt. Ralph Dinsman, a Fire Department spokesman said the fire started from unknown causes on the sixth or eighth floor and then "jumped from floor to floor."

He said white smoke was still pouring out of the building but the flames were subsiding.

The fire department said the fire was burning uncontrolled on the south side of building and that several ambulances had been sent to the scene.

In an interview following the MGM Grand fire, Fritz Huebler, manager of the Las Vegas Hilton, said that his hotel "has the highest degree of safety. Like everyone else, we review it every month or so."

He said the hotel has smoke alarms and sprinklers on every floor. The MGM Grand has sprinklers on only a few floors and no smoke alarms.

Students planning trips may be stalled by weather

by Sandy Young

Students planning to travel home Wednesday for a long weekend may be deterred by the bad weather conditions which hit Illinois Monday night.

Blizzard conditions and a four-inch snowfall were predicted for Tuesday evening and throughout Wednesday.

The Coles County Sheriff's Department said road conditions Tuesday evening would be hazardous with the day's rain and snow and would freeze at the predicted temperatures of 5 to 10 below zero.

However, Deputy Sheriff Robin Heileman said she could not predict Wednesday's road conditions.

Trooper Jesse Bean of the Peoria State Police said the area already has a six-inch snow accumulation "with a couple more predicted."

He said the roads in the area were "snow-packed and hazardous." He added these conditions are occurring throughout the midwest.

Bean's advice to student's planning to travel Wednesday was simple—"Stay home!"

Roger Price, a local weather observer, said Tuesday about six inches of snow fell Monday night with about a half an inch of snow by about about 8:40 p.m. Tuesday.

In addition, Price said about a half an inch of rain fell Tuesday.

Price predicted high winds might reach the area as the temperature for the next few days continues cold.

The Associated Press reported near-blizzard conditions were forecast Tuesday night in some northern sections as temperatures were expected to plummet to around zero while winds gusted up to 40 mph.

School's open despite snow

Classes had not been canceled at Eastern as of 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams said.

Williams said classes will be in session because there are 4,500 students living on campus who will be able to reach their classes.

"We will have school until there is eight feet of snow on the ground," Williams said.

Polish courts reject farmers' union demands

WARSAW, Poland—Poland's highest court rejected private farmers' demands for an independent union Tuesday and recommended they form an association instead. Polish newspapers reported without comment the government shakeup naming Defense Minister Wojciech Jaruzelski, an army general considered a moderate, as Polish premier.

The Sejm, Poland's Parliament, was expected to meet Wednesday to approve the appointment of Jaruzelski, designated to replace Premier Jozef Pinkowski at a party Central Committee meeting Monday night. It was the fifth government shakeup since August.

Jaruzelski, a 57-year-old four-star general, has a reputation as an effective commander and is widely believed to have counseled against a use of force to end last summer's nationwide strikes. Jaruzelski is said to be a close ally to Polish Party Chief Stanislaw Kania.

There was no comment from the Soviet Union, which continues to have thousands of troops massed near Poland's borders, fueling fears in the West that the Soviets may consider intervention to end Poland's ongoing labor crisis.

American writer leaves Iran; one American still remains

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates—American writer Cynthia Dwyer flew out of Iran to freedom Tuesday after a one-day mix-up in her deportation, leaving one American still captive of the Iranians.

The 49-year-old Mrs. Dwyer, a free-lance journalist imprisoned for nine months and then convicted of espionage and ordered deported, arrived in Dubai on an Iranian plane loaded with peasants.

(AP) News shorts

Met by U.S. Embassy officials, she was whisked away in a police car without talking to reporters. She was due to fly on to Switzerland and then to New York Wednesday for a reunion with her husband and three children.

Her departure left Zia Nassry, and Afghan-born New York businessman arrested March 8, as the last American ensnared in Iran. He was seized shortly after he went there reportedly hoping to make his way into Afghanistan to support rebels fighting the Soviets. Nassry, 34, has been charged with spying.

The Swiss ambassador to Iran, Erik Lang, told The Associated Press in Beirut on Tuesday there was a "slight hope" Nassry would be included in a clemency order on the anniversary of the Iranian revolution Wednesday. The Swiss handle U.S. affairs in Iran.

Another American, 44-year-old Iranian-born Mohi Sobhani, whose family lives in Southern California, was freed last week on $1 million bond raised by his family. Four Britons also held in Iran are also expected to be freed soon.

House minority introduces proposals to stifle GOP

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—The leader of the "embattled" Democratic minority in the Illinois House introduced proposals Tuesday designed to prevent the Republicans from stacking important House committees with GOP members.

The proposals by Minority Leader Michael J. Madigan, D-Chicago, drew fire from GOP leaders during a meeting of the House Rules Committee. House Speaker George H. Ryan, R-Kankakee, suggested Madigan was attempting only to win political favor with House Democrats.

Democrats lost control of the House last November, and Republicans now hold a 91-86 advantage.

Madigan proposed during the rules committee session that the difference between the number of majority members on committees be limited to one or two, depending on the committee. Currently, the speaker determines the split between Democrats and Republicans on each committee.

Madigan, who said he was speaking in behalf of what he termed "the embattled minority," also proposed that the current House Appropriations Committee of 23 members be expanded to one committee of at least 44 members or two committees with a minimum total of 44.

House investigation claims TMI withheld information

WASHINGTON—Operators of the Three Mile Island nuclear plant in Pennsylvania withheld initial information from the government on the true severity of the March 1979 accident there, House investigators claimed Tuesday.

In the early hours of the nation's most serious civilian nuclear accident, plant managers supplied misleading data to state and federal officials, the investigators' study added.

This alleged conduct by TMI employees could have jeopardized the health and safety of area residents had "a major release of radiation occurred," the investigators asserted.

The allegations, which appeared to at least partly contradict other official investigations of the accident in placing blame, were part of a 250-page report prepared by the majority staff of the House Interior Insular Affairs Committee.

Student residents say housing hike justified

by Dawn Morville

The majority of Eastern students and residence hall counselors contacted Monday said the proposed housing increase for next year of $83.25 per semester per student is justified due to the rising costs of living.

The proposed increase includes $67.75 to cover inflation, $6 for cable television, and $9.50 for auxiliary enterprise expenses, Housing Director Lou Hencken said Monday.

Hencken said, "No matter where a student lives next year, on or off-campus, he will pay higher prices for food and utilities."

The cost of living is affecting everyone, not just Eastern students, he said.

Both Hencken and Residence Hall President Val Averill stressed the fact that Eastern maintains the lowest housing fees among state schools.

Hencken said he "takes no joy in raising the housing fees," but if a student has any questions about where the money goes, he will go over the budget "line item by line item."

"We have nothing to hide here at the Housing Office and unless someone can stop inflation, we have to pass the cost on," he said.

Averill said "it's unfortunate that we have to pass any increase on to the students, but the increase is justified due to the economy."

She said last summer the water rates doubled in Charleston so the rates for the washing machines in the residence halls had to be raised in order to pay the water bills.

Taylor Hall Counselor Bob Zinn said he feels the proposed increase is "fair."

Zinn said he thinks Hencken tries to maintain housing costs as "low as possible, but when you deal with any budget, you are dealing with inflation."

Barbara Busch, Andrews Hall counselor, said everything is going up, "so I assume the increase is fair. The money has to come from somewhere."

Pemberton Hall Counselor Nancy Cobetto also agreed with Busch that the increase was needed.

Junior David Pulliam, Taylor Hall resident, said he is against the proposed increase because tuition and other fees are also going up.

Pulliam said the proposed increase did affect his decision to move into an apartment next year.

"I figured I could find an apartment cheaper than the cost of living in the residence halls," he said.

Freshman Diane Uptegrove, Lawson Hall resident, said, "I don't appreciate it (the increase)."

However, Uptegrove said she still plans to live in a residence hall next semester because "it is still basically cheaper than an apartment and also more convenient."

The proposed housing increase, which was unanimously approved by the Housing Board, will now be sent to Glenn Williams, vice president for student affairs, and Eastern President Daniel E. Marvin for their action.

What a scoop!

Student Senate to consider bylaw revision

by Patty O'Neill

A proposal for a constitutional bylaw change, spurred by a controversy over a student government conference that executive officers will attend over break, will be considered by the Student Senate Wednesday night.

Senate Speaker Natalie Scott said the bylaw change would dictate who attends student government conferences in the future and which conference is selected.

Senators Tim Bousky and Brad Combs said they disagree with the selection of the four executive officers who will attend a conference over break at California State University-Northridge.

The four who will attend the conference are Glover, Board of Governors Representative Terry Teele, Executive Vice President Dan Hunnicut and Financial Vice President Todd Daniels.

In other business, the Senate will vote on a new pass-fail proposal to be presented by the Academic Affairs Committee.

The proposal, if approved, would extend the amount of days to sign up for the option from five days to 13 days.

In addition, if a student earns an A in a class taken pass-fail, it will be recorded on the student's record.

In addition to voting on the pass-fail proposal, the Senate will also vote on the wording of two separate fee increase proposals to appear on the Feb. 18 referendum ballot.

A proposal to increase the Textbook Library fee an additional $20 per student per semester will appear on the ballot along with a proposal to increase the student activity fee $1.75 per student per semester.

The activity fee referendum was requested by Student Publications.

The fee increase would be used for the Daily Eastern News, the Warbler and the Vehicle.

The meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the University Union addition Tuscola-Arcola Room.

Promotions help Panthers

The numerous promotions sponsored by local businesses and Eastern's athletic department are an excellent way to try to boost attendance at Eastern's basketball games.

The athletic department is sponsoring a series of promotions which Associate Athletic Director Ron Paap said are designed to stir additional support for the Panthers.

Wednesday, Eastern students will be allowed to enter the game free of charge with a valid students identification card.

At Saturday's game, the announcer said that the athletic department was allowing students to enter the game free Wednesday "in appreciation of the students passing the athletic fee increase."

Then Monday and Feb. 23, Eastern students will be able to enter Panther basketball games at no admission with a valid student identification card if they arrive before 7 p.m.

In addition to the athletic department's promotions, Charleston businesses have also contributed to the cause to increase attendance at basketball games.

One of the promotions is the current WEIC-Pepsi Shootout. The contest gives away 25 pairs of tickets for each of the remaining Panther home basketball games. Later, a drawing choosing one person to attempt a half-court shot will be held and if the contestant sinks the shot he wins a television.

Other local business promotions include the annual McDonald's Shootout, the Annual All-American Recognition of Eastern's football team, Charleston High School night and Pepsi night.

Although we applaud the athletic department and the local businesses for sponsoring these promotions, we believe it is a shame that Eastern students have to be enticed to attend basketball games.

Attendance at most of Eastern's home games have been far below average. Even though the Panthers have been pulling out victories against tough teams.

We encourage students to take advantage of the upcoming promotions by attending Panther basketball games.

With a "free ride" to the game and a chance to win various prizes, an Eastern student cannot lose and plus he or she may even find out what an outstanding basketball team Eastern really has.

AB does about face on WELH

At last Thursday's Apportionment Board meeting Eastern's student radio station, WELH, was granted $1,200 in special additional funding to save the station from bankruptcy. The AB also allocated $4,650 as funding for a broadcast cable system that is to provide clearer and expanded reception.

One might think these allocations were the only solution the AB had to resolve the problems WELH was facing. But most people, such as those members of WELH who were present at the latter part of the meeting, are not aware that the AB nearly came up with their own solution—which would have resulted in closing down the station.

Before the representatives from WELH arrived at the meeting, AB members discussed the station's requests for additional fundings.

Todd Daniels, financial vice president, said board members should be prepared for WELH to come in to the meeting with "all kinds of excuses as to why it needs more money."

Apparently, this board was not going to be fooled by any flimsy excuses or threats that the radio station would close down.

AB board member Mark Hudson said WELH had been "wobbling in it's fiscal responsibility" because they weren't being pressured to raise advertising revenue.

Board member Bill Mueller said WELH should close down if they can't stay within the station's budget.

Apparently the board believed the station misused its 1980-81 budget and didn't deserve the funding.

In all, it seemed to me that the AB was not very receptive to WELH's request and there would be a long, drawn-out argument between the two groups.

Then Frank Parcels, WELH faculty adviser, and at least 10 WELH staff members arrived at the meeting. Parcels calmly convinced the board why they needed the requests. The whole atmosphere of the meeting changed as Parcels smiled, flattered and reasoned.

The AB in turn listened, questioned a bit, changed a few things, and proceeded to give WELH just about everything they asked for, as if the earlier discussion had never taken place!

I'm not saying the AB should not have given the station its requests, because I personally think that was the best thing to do. What I would like to point out is the irony of Parcels' comment as the meeting closed.

"I was really suprised we got so much. I had heard the AB was unjust, unfair, and unreceptive. I didn't find this to be true at all," he said.

If WELH had been at the earlier part of the meeting, I think they would have even been more suprised, as I was, with the results.

Steve Dahl is just a harmless 'nut'

This can't be happening. I can't take it anymore. I'm going to crack up.

First, long-time Chicago kiddy show host Ray Rayner retires after 18 years on WGN-TV (Channel 9). And now the master, WLUP-FM disc jockey Steve Dahl, has been fired.

Since I am not a teenager anymore, one would think I'd start accepting the adult realization that nothing is sacred and that all things must come to pass.

But I just can't accept the fact that the man whose anti-disco campaign on WLUP culminated with "Disco Demolition Night" at White Sox Park in 1979 has been canned.

It's too much to bear. No more "Coho Breakfast Clubs." No more lady from Tinley Park. No more reditons of "Do You Think I'm Disco?" And most importantly, no one to blow up disco records for my pleasure anymore. (What's next? The conversion of Wrigley Field into a women's sports complex?)

Despite this new void in my life, I suppose the main reason Dahl's demise bugs me so much is that it shows how difficult it is for such an independent renegade to exist anymore.

Never mind that Dahl was, according to the Chicago Sun

Viewpoint:

Andy Savoie

Times, the main reason WLUP's market value has jumped from $5 million to $15 million in the last two years.

Never mind that he had over 400,000 listeners for his morning program. Because when push came to shove, the official reasons for his firing were "continued assaults on community standards and repeated violations of company policy."

How sad that a few stuffed shirts can't recognize the relative nature of "community standards" and accept some tongue-in-cheek lampooning. And how equally sad when an irreverent but talented man is axed for the sake of the forever-sacred "company policy."

Still, there is hope. The Sun-Times reported Monday that rival Chicago FM station WMET is in serious negotiations for Dahl's services. So, despite the misfortune which often befalls people who "march to a different drummer," maybe Dahl will be able to survive.

Success!

Snowfall spells big money for young entrepreneurs

by Tom Roberts

America has long been recognized as the land of the entrepreneur. Henry Ford, J. Paul Getty, the Rockefeller clan, Howard Hughes and his father; the list goes on and on. The two things these people have in common is ambition and a driving need to succeed.

They all had to start some place and Fred and Todd Deremiah, 908 Harrison St., figure that shoveling snow is as good a start as any.

Fred, 12, and Todd, 10, have a motto that might just destine them to greatness.

"We'll do just about any kind of work, as long as we're makin' money," Todd said.

The brothers saw Tuesday's school closure as a perfect opportunity to shovel in the green stuff. So they shouldered their scoops and headed out to do battle with the neighborhood sidewalks and driveways.

Averaging about a $1.50 each per job, the two had completed two excavations before being caught on film. Rain halted scooping after the third job, but forecasts of blizzard conditions kept their business future bright.

Board developing food service survey

by Patty O'Neill

Because not all students living in the residence halls eat every meal in the food service, the Housing Board is in the process of developing a survey to find out if those students would prefer to pay for fewer meals per week.

Housing Board co-chairmen Tony Parascondola and Val Averill, who are developing the survey, have developed alternate meal plans for students who do not eat regularly in their residence halls.

The "no breakfast" plan—which would allow students only lunch and dinner would save the student $20 per semester, Parascondola said.

The second alternative, the "no weekend" plan, would allow students to eat Monday breakfast through Friday lunch and save the student $25 per semester, he said.

Students in residence halls can currently eat 20 meals per week. There is no Sunday evening meal.

In addition to finding out if students would prefer to pay for fewer meals, Parascondola said the survey will ask students if they are aware they can purchase second helpings of meat.

He said the cost of obtaining additional meat this year was about $61 for the fall semester and $58 for the spring semester.

Residents can now request a second helping of potatoes and vegetables at no additional cost, Averill said.

The survey will also request feedback from residence hall students on obtaining an extended hot breakfast for an additional one-half hour until 8:30 a.m.

WELH awaiting OK from Senate for AB money

by Maureen Milroy

Campus radio station WELH is waiting for the Student Senates' approval of the funds allotted to it by the Apportionment Board before any further steps can be taken in installing a cable system.

The AB, Thursday, allocated WELH $5,850 to improve its facility and "to get them out of the hole."

WELH was allotted $4,650 to fund a hook up with Liberty Cable that would allow broadcasting to off campus residents who have cable television and $1,200 to keep the station operating the rest of the semester.

Frank Parcels, fiscal agent and faculty adviser of WELH is confident that the senate will approve the funds.

"Operations will begin after we have the final permission from the senate," he said.

Parcels said he expects to hear from the Student Senate within the next 10 days.

He added that nothing further can be done by the station, such as hiring an engineer to install the cable system, until the funds are approved.

Text book Library to move to Pemberton

by Cathy Crist

Beginning Monday, the Textbook Library will begin moving from Buzzard Education Building to the southend of Pemberton Hall and it is scheduled to re-open three weeks later, Textbook Library Director Richard Sandefur said Tuesday.

Because there are 80,000 to 90,000 books currently checked out from the library, Sandefur said beginning Monday was a good time to move.

"Westill will have a great number of books to move but there will be that many less involved in the change," he added.

Barbara Platt, associate director of the office of planning and budgeting said Tuesday, "The move into the new quarters is being done now because all the spring books are checked out, which will make the move a little easier."

The actual moving of the books will involve three crews, Sandefur said. The physical plant will send carpenters to take down and replace shelves and janitors to actually transfer the books.

Sandefur said student employees of the textbook library will be responsible for loading the books in boxes and unpacking them in the new location.

While most of the spring semester books have been picked up by students, Sandefur said there are a few that still have not.

"I've called instructors telling them to remind students that this is the last week we'll be open for a while, and that they should pick up their books now," he added.

In special cases, Sandefur said some kind of arrangement will be made for students who need their books during the closed period of the library.

Upon the re-opening of the textbook library in three weeks, Sandefur said the book sale that is held each semester will be conducted.

"The sale is usually done now, but because we are closing for awhile the sale will be a few weeks late," he said.

The renovations at Pemberton included structurally reinforced floors and the addition of a freight elevator and loading dock to speed the movement of textbooks, Everett Alms, physical plant director said.

Confusing W2 forms delay early tax returns

by Mickey O'Connell

Tax return time is rolling swiftly around and the key word for students awaiting tax refund money for spring break is to file their W2 forms early, an Eastern tax teacher said Tuesday.

The W2 forms being sent out by the government declare the amount of Federal and State tax being withheld from an individuals yearly wages, Wesley Ballsrud of the accountancy, data processing and finance department, said.

Students who have already received and returned their W2 forms can expect their tax refunds in about three or four weeks. Later returns may cause a delay of more than six weeks, he said.

Ballsrud suggested that students use the tax return package provided by the government to avoid delays in receiving refunds.

Tax return forms may be picked up at the reserve desk in Booth Library and in the adult area of the Charleston Public Library.

He added that W4 forms should always be filled out for an employer prior to starting a new job in order that proper tax exemptions may be declared by an employee.

As far as tax exemptions are concerned, the amount of deductibles a college student can claim on his return are practically null, Ballsrud said.

However, upon graduation a former student who is relocating to a new job or in the process of finding one may declare a moving expense.

"This moving expense allows the graduate to deduct meals and lodging expenses while looking for a place to settle", he said.

Also, students may be considered in an "unused zero bracket" if their yearly income does not exceed $2,300 earned income, and if interest on passive dividends exceed $1,000, Ballsrud said.

"This means that students who are single and not claimed by parents cannot be taxed if they fall into this bracket," he said.

"However, if these students are claimed by their parents, the government raises the tax figure by over $2,100. So if a college student earns $300 in wages and has dividends of $3,000, his parents will be taxed on $5,400," Ballsrud explained.

Ballsrud said many students make simple errors in filling out the short tax return forms.

"Some students do not declare whether or not they are dependent on their parents," Ballsrud said. "This can cost them money."

Neglect to file a form constitutes a 5 percent penalty per month and can incur a penalty as severe as 25 percent of the person's income if not returned and paid promptly, Ballsrud said.

An Eastern student fills out his tax forms hoping for a refund check.

SAM postpones speaker due to blizzard weather

The Society for the Advancement of Management was forced to postpone the appearance of its featured speaker, Lee Pryor, Tuesday night due to the bad weather obscuring visibility at O'Hare Airport.

Pryor, who has built a multi-million dollar company based on two areas of the computer field, flew up from Florida for his speaking engagement at Eastern only to be snowed in at Chicago, SAM public relations spokesman Joe Classey said.

Pryor was going to speak on his success and how tough it was for him to make the decision to go into his own business. His lecture was going to discuss the major factors to consider when starting out on your own.

The event is to be rescheduled at a date still to be disclosed. Tickets already sold will still be good, Classey said.

The news of the cancellation was announced over WEIC and WELH radio stations.

Student information forum rescheduled for Tuesday

by Jerry Falstrom

An informational forum scheduled for Tuesday on issues facing students on the Feb. 18 referendum ballot has been canceled and rescheduled, Student Senator Joel Storm said.

Storm, Student Awareness Committee chairman, said the forum was canceled do to the inclement weather that hit Charleston Tuesday.

He said the forum has been rescheduled for next Tuesday at 3:30 p.m in the west side of the University Union Old Ballroom.

The forum is designed to provide students information on the proposed $20 increase in the Textbook Library fee and a proposed $3.50 increase in the student activity fee.

Other topics to be addressed by a panel of student government leaders include a possible mass transit system for Eastern and tuition increases, Storm said.

In addition, he said the executive officers of the Student Senate will outline their responsibilities and duties and will explain the function of student government.

Blair lecture on pyramid power intrigues ELU

by Peggy McMeen

Americans carry around magic daily in their pockets, billfolds and purses, Delbert Blair, expert on the power of pyramids, said at a lecture Monday night.

The magic of the pyramids comes from "actually using the energy fields of the earth for healing," Blair said.

His theory is that the pyramid was used as a generator before the earth's axis shifted, instead of the common belief that they are tombs for pharaohs.

Electrical impulses work on cell nuclei and make them heal faster, Blair said.

He said he slept under a pyramid for seven months, and Blair said because of that rest he only sleeps five and one-half hours per night instead of eight.

He also said one woman's hair stopped turning gray and returned to brown after she slept under a pyramid.

Blair, director of the Meta Center in Hyde Park at the University of Chicago, began studying pyramid power in the late 1950s and early 1960s.

Blair told several tales of pyramids turning up mysteriously in unusual places. A pyramid with 13 steps and a glowing top can be found on the Great Seal on the back of a dollar bill.

Blair said a man gave the design for Delbert Blair, who spoke Monday night on pyramid power, claims that a person who sits under the pyramid shown will feel deeply relaxed or fall asleep after three and a half minutes. One volunteer tried the pyramid, but only felt relaxed. (News photo by Bob Shelton.)

the seal anonymously to Thomas Jefferson. Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, and John Adams had been working more than nine months on a design for the seal when suddenly the design, a pyramid, came unexpectedly.

Pyramids are found all over the world, from Cahokia Mounds, Ill., to under the water at Jamaica and Key West, Fla. He said the straight line theory states that a line can be drawn from any pyramid straight through the earth, and the other end will be less than 10 miles from another pyramid.

One of the most mysterious pyramids in the world is the Great Pyramid of Cheops, located in the province of Gizeh in Egypt, he said.

Thursday AB meeting off, rescheduled for Tuesday

by Cathy Crist

Due to the cancellation of classes in observance of Lincoln's birthday, the regular Thursday night meeting of the Apportionment Board has been rescheduled for Tuesday.

The AB will continue deliberations on four 1981-82 fiscal year budgets at that time, Financial Vice President Todd Daniels said.

Budget requests for the Art Board, forensics, health services, and general music will be reviewed. The budgets were first studied at a Feb. 5 meeting.

"The preliminary deliberations are really like a final decision because we try to make it as close as we can," Daniels said.

A final meeting will be held by the AB after all the groups that are funded by the student activity fees present their budgets and the AB reaches a preliminary deliberation.

This final meeting will involve adding up the total of all the budgets and deciding where to add or cut more from the budgets, Daniels said.

The projected income for the student activity fee for the 1981-82 fiscal year is $272,000 he said. The amount may be "a little less" because of an expected enrollment decrease, he added.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the University Union addition Arcola-Tuscola Room.

City to annex Sarah Bush complex site

by Sandy Young

Plans for a proposed medical complex can continue on schedule following a recent Charleston city council vote to annex the chosen site to the city.

The council accepted the request by the complex developers to annex 11.5 acres of land adjacent to Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center.

The council also voted to authorize $1.5 million in industrial revenue bonds to fund the complex.

The Medical Associates Complex is being developed by Drs. L.E. McNeill and James McKechnie of Charleston and Dr. Kirk Neuberger of Mattoon.

Neuberger said the request to annex the land to the city was made so as to qualify them for the bonds and to secure fire protection from the city.

Neuberger said a contractor has already been hired and the foundation of one building in the complex has been started.

He said four or five buildings will be constructed, depending on how many "firm commitments" they receive to buy or rent the offices.

"We are not trying to own or sell the buildings, just trying to get them built and hopefully have persons (medical personnel) buy them like condominiums," Neuberger said.

The three partners originated the idea of building offices because Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center does not provide doctor's offices," he said.

The complex idea evolved because of the large amount of land necessary to get involved with the project, Neuberger said.

He added that the complex will probably use less than half of the annexed 11.5 acres at first, but if there is "demand" they may use the rest.

The first building in the Medical Associates Complex is scheduled to be completed in July.

Phi Sigs, EIU to be honored by United Way

by Susan Schlanser

Eastern and the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity will be honored Tuesday at the East Coles County United Way's annual awards dinner.

The dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Charleston Country Club.

Chapter President Maurice Manbeck said Tuesday Eastern and the fraternity will each be given plaques during the dinner for contributions made to the United Way.

Manbeck said United Way board members of the Eastern Division; Leonard Durham of the life science department, Robert Karraker of the chemistry department and Dave Riddle of the business department, succeeded in raising $6,800 for the fund.

The Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity sold balloons during Homecoming for the United Way.

The total amount raised for the fund was not available.

Manbeck said these contributions helped the United Way to surpass its 1980 goal of $55,000 by $1,000 to $1,500.

Manbeck said about 40 other businesses and industries will be honored at the dinner.

Tickets for the dinner will be $6.

Urbana Nine seeks ruling from U. S. Supreme Court

by Sarah Coyle

A group of nine aldermen accused of violating the Illinois Open Meetings Act by allegedly holding an illegal closed meeting in 1978 are now trying to bring the case up before the U.S. Supreme Court.

The "Urbana Nine" is seeking a final ruling from the U.S. Supreme Court after the Illinois Supreme Court upheld the earlier decisions of the circuit and appellate courts, which ruled the informal meeting of the eight democrats and one independent in violation of the act.

There were no criminal charges filed against the aldermen.

The meeting in question took place October 23, 1978 in the home of Alderman Tom Cheverud before a scheduled city council meeting.

The "Urbana Nine" claim they did not hold an illegal meeting but a legal political caucus.

"They were meeting, but not as a legislative body," Arnold Blockman, the attorney representing the aldermen, said.

The "Urbana Nine" is seeking the appeal on the grounds that their meeting was not in violation of the act because the Illinois Open Meetings Act is unconstitutional, Blockman said. They claim it is a violation of the first and fourteenth amendments.

The act is unconstitutional because the act is vague in its definition of what a meeting is, Blockman said.

"We are trying to establish a definition of what is covered and not covered in the act," he said.

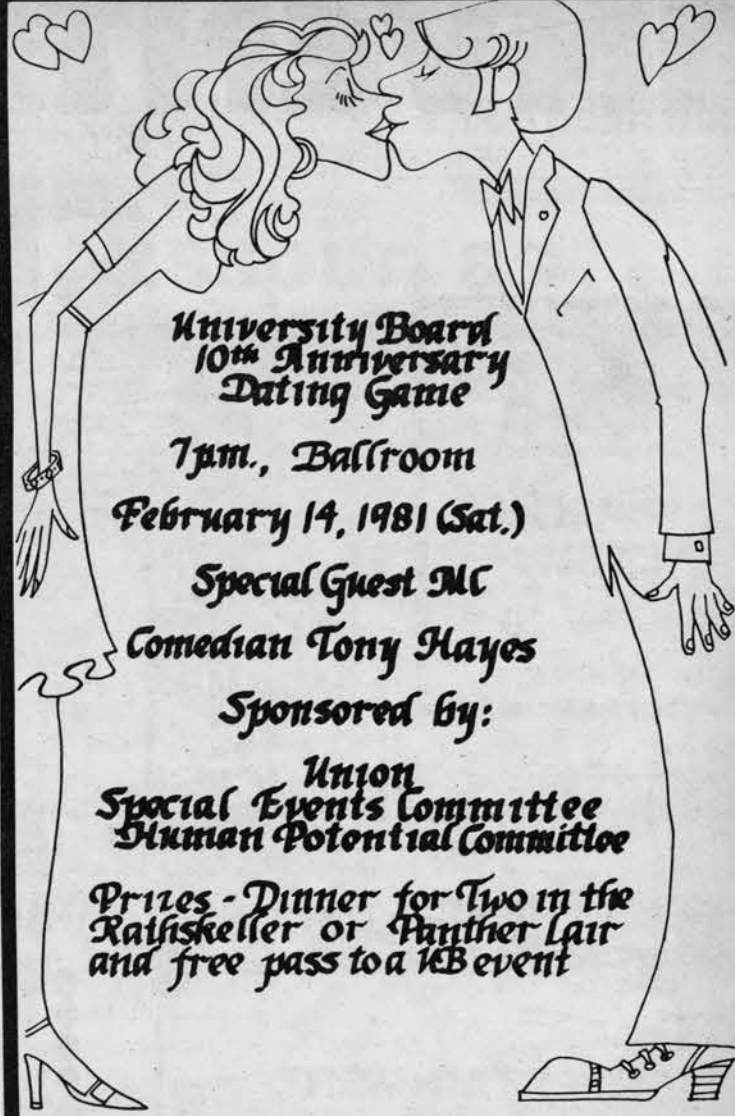

The rulings of the lower courts never established a set definition of what a meeting is. They only ruled on the case at hand, Blockman said.

But the Champaign County states attorney's office claims the act is not vague.

The wording in the act says all meetings are included, former Assistant States Attorney Joe Pavia said.

Pavia said the "Urbana Nine's" claim that the act is unconstitutional is their weakest argument, while Blockman said the "Urbana Nine" hope to swing a decision their way based on this very argument.

But Pavia also said the states attorney's office hopes the Supreme Court will establish a definition of what a meeting is.

Men to battle No. 3 Central Missouri as . . .

by Steve Binder

One good challenge deserves another, and a challenge is exactly what Eastern's basketball team will receive Wednesday when they go up against Central Missouri.

After upsetting No. 2 ranked Wright State 72-63 Saturday, the Panthers will battle No. 3 ranked Central Missouri at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Lantz Gym.

Similar to the Wright State contest, the Mules of Central Missouri should prove to be another stern test for the Panthers.

Central Missouri has compiled a 17-3 record behind its current eight-game winning streak, with one of the Mules' season victories against Eastern.

Both teams clashed in the Panthers' second game of the season, with Central Missouri squeezing by Eastern 70-69.

Eastern head coach Rick Samuels said he felt the score reflected the type of contest played—a hard-fought, intense game—in which both teams had success offensively as the Panthers shot 54 percent to the Mules' 51 percent from the field.

"For being the second game of the season, it was a really well played, intense and exciting game. We played very well," Samuels said.

However, even though both teams played well, the Panthers came up one point short on the scoreboard at the final buzzer and now Eastern's squad and coach are eager to reverse the outcome of Wednesday's game.

"We've got to get some revenge against Central Missouri because they beat us by a point," guard Ricky Robinson said.

"You can bet we'll be ready to play against Central Missouri," forward Eddie Jones promised.

Samuels agreed with Jones and said, "We feel like we can play with Central Missouri. I think that we will be mentally prepared for the game. When you get a second chance against a team, obviously you want to do well. A victory could give us a great feeling of accomplishment," Samuels said.

"Hopefully, we can dictate the boards better than we did in the first game. If we do that it should prove to be a key factor in the outcome of the game," Samuels said.

"Central Missouri is a good basketball team," he added.

In the teams' first meeting, the Mules outrebounded the Panthers 25-23, and Samuels said the turning point in the game was when a Mule dunked a rebound late in the game.

However, controlling the boards is just one factor the Panthers must deal with Wednesday.

The Mules will boast a duo termed their "F-Troop". The duo consists of 6-foot-5 senior forward Bill Fennelly and 6-foot-3 junior guard Kevin Fromm. "F-Troop" combined has been averaging 44 points a game this season.

Fennelly's 30.8 game average last year led the nation, and he is currently No. 1 with his 23 points per game average.

Rico Ellis lays up two of his 17 points in Eastern's 62-48 upset of Northern Michigan Feb. 2. (News photo by Lance Thachrey)

"Fennelly is a good one-on-one player. He made some shots in the first game that were just unbelievable," Samuels said.

The duo combined for 47 points in the first game when the Panthers played most of the game using their man-to-man defense.

However, for Wednesday's game Samuels said his squad will utilize its 3-2 zone more.

"I think we'll use our zone more. We've been playing the zone much better lately. Our problem earlier in the year was that we weren't able to rebound out of it. Now we're rebounding much better out of the zone," Samuels said.

. . . women challenge Lewis University

Eastern's Linda Ellsworth tallies two of her 18 points in the Panthers 78-50 thrashing of Bradley University Monday. (News photo by Tom Roberts)

by Terri Lear

Eastern's women's basketball team will invade J.F.K. Gymnasium to battle highly touted Lewis University at 7:00 p.m. Wednesday.

Lewis currently boasts an impressive 17-7 record and is just coming off a 77-74 loss to William Penn University, who is ranked No. 1 in the nation.

But while they have lost to Penn, the Flyers have beaten Lincoln College 58-57, and dumped Loyola by nine points.

Eastern has played both teams earlier in the season and beat Loyola 73-72, but the Panthers were nipped by Lincoln College 64-60 in over-time.

"They're (Lewis) a tough team in Division II," Eastern's head coach Bobbie Hilke said. "They're the finest passing team we have ever played."

Leading the offense for Lewis is Mary Niego, a 5-foot-8 forward with a 20 plus point average.

"She is an outstanding player," Hilke said. "She can do a lot in the key, right-handed and left-handed."

Lewis is also led by 5-foot-9 guard Kathy Surnicki. Surnicki transferred from Eastern to Lewis last year.

"She didn't get to play much for us last year," Hilke said. "She came into the season with a knee injury."

Eastern downed Lewis last season 65-61 and plans to stop them again this year by using its three guard offense and by using its man-to-man defense to stop their passing game.

Students get into game free

Eastern's basketball game against Central Missouri at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in Lantz Gym has been dubbed student appreciation night by Eastern's athletic department, honoring all university students.

Consequently, all students who present a validated I.D. at the admission gates will be allowed to enter the game free of charge.

Coach Woodall views success differently

by Dan Brannan

Eastern's men's cross country coach Tom Woodall used to view success as the production of All-American's and national titles, but today he sees it as the success of his tracksters after their college running careers are over.

Woodall's past views of success were developed when he came to Eastern in 1965. Since at Eastern, he has coached many outstanding cross country team's, including a NCAA Division II champion in 1975.

Although Woodall's views of success have changed, this year's distance running crew may fulfill his past definition of success with seniors Joe Sheeran, Reo Rorem, and Larry Schuldt, and freshman Dave Huston leading the way.

Woodall said trophies simply do not mean what they used to mean and the financial rewards are not large.

"I figure I spend 30-35 hours a week in coaching related chores, so the financial reward is not there," Woodall said. "The real rewards are

Archer tops 1,000 points, strives for success

by Terri Lear

Although Joann Archer, a 5-11 forward, is playing out her final season of women's basketball at Eastern, her career skyrocketed to a new high when she scored her 1,000th point in Eastern's 78-50 win over Bradley Monday.

Archer she accredits her recent success to her Christianity.

"Mostly it's a lot of mental work," Archer said. "My improvements through the last four years are due to getting my total act together and being in touch with God."

As a freshman Archer was a walk-on and only played a few minutes each half, but during her sophomore year—even though she did not start—Archer recieved a lot of playing time.

"Fisher was our coach at the time and she thought that I would fall apart if I was a starter," Archer said. "I think that after someone keeps telling you something you start to believe it too."

"But I liked coming off the bench to give the team a lift," Archer added.

However, this year Archer is a tri-captain and she has been averaging 16.8 points a game while shooting 51 percent from the field.

However, basketball is not just points and percentages, and this season Archer has had problems by often getting into foul trouble early in games.

"I've been thinking a lot about that," Archer said. "Maybe I go all out and go so hard that sometimes I am too aggressive. Mostly though I'm called on puppy fouls. That's what I call those fouls that you barely graze them."

"I hate to blame things on the officials," Archer added. "But there has been alot of inconsistency in the officiating and that makes it hard to set your pace."

But Archer does seem to set the pace for her team, usually being the teams' leading scorer.

"I think our success is due to our total team effort," Archer said. "We have a real high team spirit and alot of respect for each other. We're real close."

"This year's squad has a lot more talent and experience than any other team I have played on," Archer continued. "This year's freshmen have a lot of potential and experince already behind them. I think that is a big asset."

Archer said she has set high goals for her last season at Eastern.

"We have set a team goal to win the state tournament and then go on to regionals," Archer said.

Even when Archer is not playing for Eastern she is still playing basketball.

In the summer, Archer councils and coaches basketball at several Christain camp organizations.

"I love working with the kids," Archer said. "You get to know them so well and you feel like you've helped someone."

Archer's plans for the future include coaching basketball and teaching biology.

She has been offered a position at her hometown high school in Mundelein, Il., but she said she has not yet made a commitment to take the job.

Panther Joann Archer's scoring has been a familiar sight this season in women's basketball. Archer tallied her 1,000th career point in Eastern's 78-50 win over Bradley Monday. (News photo by Marcia Steele)

Hockey team bows twice

by Scott Fishel

Eastern's Hockey Club suffered two defeats Saturday at the hands of the Peoria Juniors' B and C teams.

Eastern's starters were beaten by the B team by a score of 6-1, while the remaining team members were defeated by the C team 4-1.

Coach Doug Andreassen said he was disappointed with the club's performance Saturday.

He said the much more organized and better funded Peoria teams beat the icemen because they were not playing with a full squad.

He said several vital team members, including Joe Claffey, Steve Wilson, Mike Shrader and Gary Garfola, were unable to make the trip to Peoria, which left the team shorthanded.

Andreassen said he was forced to start several players who are normally second string. These factors combined to bring the icemen a defeat, he added.

Andreassen said his starting line-up played the Peoria B team, which was ranked third in the nation last year, and he scored the team's only goal, with assists by Dave Steinberger and John Ragland.

The C team played the remaining Eastern players, and Jack Reiff was responsible for their only goal.

Saturday's defeat brings the icemen's record to 3-3-2 for the season.

White Sox sign Bosley, Kuntz

CHICAGO (AP)—Outfielders Thad Bosley and Rusty Kuntz signed their 1981 contracts with the Chicago White Sox.

Bosley, who had announced he would go to arbitration, batted .224 last season but missed the final month because of a wrist injury.

Kuntz spent most of last season at Iowa where he batted .292 with 11 home runs and 54 run batted.

With Bosley coming to terms, the White Sox now have three players still listed for arbitration next week.

They are pitcher Ed Farmer, outfielder Wayne Nordhagen and first baseman Lamar Johnson.

The Sox also announced they have hired former major league outfielder Tommie Renolds as their farm system batting instructor.

Reynolds played with Kansas City, California, Oakland and the New York Mets.

in watching the people grow in running and life in general."

In addition, Woodall said, "I'm not wrapped up in some mountaintop goal for my future," although his past seems to depict many goals.

Woodall, originally from Chicago, Ill., said he had never seen a track until he went to college in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa.

"One day my roommate, who was a quartermiler, asked me to go out for a run with him," Woodall said. "I told him track was a sissy sport, but I agreed to run with him."

Woodall added that his roommate "ran him into the ground" on their first run.

"I had planned on going out for baseball, but after that (the run with his roommate) I saw running as a challenge and I went out for track," Woodall said.

After Woodall graduated from college he took a post teaching math and coaching track at Roosevelt Jr. High School in Dalton, Ill. for a half a year.

During the fall of 1957, Woodall took over the head track and cross country job in Milledgeville, Ill.

After three years at Milledgeville, Woodall started working on his doctorate in physical education and coaching at University High School.

In the fall of 1963, Woodall accepted a job at South Dakota State University, where he coached his team's to third, fourth and third in the NCAA Division II cross country championship meet.

Woodall took an assistant coaching job at Eastern during the fall of 1965.

He assisted under head track and cross country coach Pat O'Brien for nine years before he took over the head cross country job.

Woodall did a lot of running himself during his years as an assistant coach, and he competed in the Boston Marathon during 1969 and 1970.

Woodall said today he is so busy getting other people to run that he does n't have much time to run himself.

"I'm lucky if I get in 15 miles a week in today," Woodall said.

Woodall said as a minimum, he thinks everyone should exercise at three times a week for thirty minutes.

In addition to having strong beliefs about exercise in general, Woodall also said he believes in having his distance runners run uphill in their training.
