IBHE: Education budget is acceptable

By CHRIS BOGHOSSIAN
Editor in chief

An Illinois Board of Higher Education official said that funding for education "came out very positive," although state universities would have seen budget cuts in state-allocated funding without a 5 percent tuition increase.

IBHE Deputy Director Ross Hodel said Monday that overall, taking into consideration that several state agencies saw their budgets slashed, education came out very well.

"I think we have to put whatever reactions we have in the context of what happened in the rest of the state government in terms of the budget crises, because if you don't look at it in that context, it was essentially a very level year for higher education," Hodel said from his office in Springfield. "There was a minor reduction in universities — about 1 percent — but they essentially have what they had last year.

"All in all, given the cost of inflation and no additional state funds, the slight reduction is very level. In context of the nature of the entire budget year, you'd have to say that higher education came out very positive."

In all, the General Assembly allocated $1.9 billion for state universities, up from last year's $1.87 billion.

This year's figure still has to be approved by Gov. Jim Edgar. Hodel said that Edgar, who is expected to act on the appropriation by Tuesday, could still cut that appropriation.

"Other state agencies are taking major reductions from funds a year ago," Hodel said. "All of education was made the funding priority — elementary and secondary education actually went up $15 million. Higher education went down $12 million, so we net out at plus-$3 million if you look at all of higher education.

"The rest of the state budget took a big hit as funding really decreased on almost every state agency. Fortunately, they did set priorities and they reduced us less than other services in government.

The "extra" money allocated this year, though, has to be spread among the state's 12 universities, 50 community colleges, financial aid for several thousand students and other education-related areas, Hodel said.

The General Assembly approved a $52.3 million budget for Eastern, or a 0.2 percent increase from last year's $52.1 million. But this year's figure includes the 5 percent tuition increase that will generate more than $2.6 million toward Eastern's budget.

Without the tuition increase, Eastern's budget would drop 4.8 percent to $49.6 million. Hodel said that all of higher education benefited from the tuition increase.

"Given the 5 percent tuition increase, when you add that in, funding for costs for higher education in Illinois actually goes up around 1.3 percent," Hodel said. "In comparison with last year, the General Assembly cut higher education by almost $13 million.

"At the same time, we have a tuition increase that generates about $16 million, so that makes up for the reduction. In the end, higher education comes out with 1.3 percent more money than we had to spend last year. It's not a bad year, given the context of everything else."

The budget impasse lasted 17 days past the July 1 deadline and caused more than 10,000 state employees to work without pay, including about 1,000 Board of Governors' employees. The BOG is the governing body for Eastern and four other state universities.

Included in the budget agreement was making the education half of the income tax surcharge permanent, which Hodel said was a pleasant relief.

"That will work very well," he said of the surcharge, which generated more than $700 million annually for education and state and local governments.

"I think that it being made permanent provides for a very stable funding base so that we won't have to bite our nails like we did this year," he added. "(Without it), that would have been a big pit to carve out of our budget this year."

Parking fee increase postponed

By EVETTE PEARSON
News editor

Eastern's President's Council has decided to postpone the planned parking permit fee increase from $30 to $35 per year until 1992-93.

"The increase in the amounts would help, but, this way, there will be delays in some repairs and building which may hurt the parking fund some, but not too much," University Police Chief Thomas Larson said. "The prices will remain the same until the next year."

Faculty, staff and students will continue to pay $30 per year, or $15 per semester for a parking permit. The motorcycle permit fee will remain at $10 per year or $5 per semester, Larson said.

"When the prices are scheduled to increase next year, I think there will be the same amount of purchases made, for the most part," he said. "If they pay $30 now, they will pay $35 because this is a small amount to pay as compared to other universities."

Parking permits will go on sale to faculty and staff Aug. 20 at the University Police Station. Office hours are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday-Friday.

Students can purchase parking permits Aug. 20 at the Lantz Gymnasium pool area from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Thereafter, there will be permits issued at the University Police Station.

A valid driver's license and validated Eastern identification card must be presented at the time of the purchase of a parking permit.

"I commend the President's Council for looking at a leaner budget and I think all employees will benefit from it," Larson said.

Gorbachev invites Yeltsin to peace summit

MOSCOW (AP) — President Bush arrived Monday for face-to-face meetings with Mikhail Gorbachev, pressing efforts for a Middle East peace conference and reform of the Soviet economic system. The Soviet president set the stage with a dramatic gesture to leaders of the emerging Soviet republics.

The Kremlin rolled out a nighttime welcome for Bush, who was in the air when Gorbachev changed the course of the summit by inviting the presidents of two Soviet republics, including political rival Boris Yeltsin, to take part.

Gorbachev, in a television interview, said he was not troubled by sharing the spotlight with Yeltsin or that the Russian president was viewed by some as

Officials investigating death of Charleston man

By JILL BAUTER
City editor

The apparent suicide of a Charleston man is being investigated after the Charleston Police Department found his body across the street from his home, said Coles County Coroner Dick Lynch.

William Mortland, 32, was found shortly after 10:30 a.m. on Sunday at 500 N. Division St., said Lynch.

Although Lynch would not give any details of Mortland's injuries, he said that the man apparently died of more than one self-inflicted wound.

Lynch, the Charleston Police Department and the Illinois State Police Department's Bureau of Crime Scene Services are investigating the apparent suicide.

Although an inquest has not yet been scheduled for Mortland's case, an inquest will probably be held in late August for a six-year-old boy who drowned last Wednesday in a Heritage Woods subdivision pool, Lynch said.

According to Lynch, Javier J. Mendoza, Jr., the son of migrant farm workers, was living in an apartment at 2400 Cambridge St. at the time of the accident.

"We don't know how it happened," said Lynch. "He was found floating near the bottom of the pool about 4:26 p.m." Mendoza was pronounced dead at 5 p.m. at Sarah Bush Lincoln Health Center, Lynch said.

The pool had been cleared by the lifeguard on duty at 4 p.m. when the pool closed. "What happened in the meantime, we don't know," he said.

Mendoza's family returned to their home in Mission, Texas, for the funeral and the inquest will be held when they return.

Gorbachev invites Yeltsin to summit more progressive. "I'm the man who began all this," he told ABC.

Gorbachev's conciliatory gesture, announced just hours before Bush arrived, underlined the changes taking place within the Soviet Union even as the two nations emphasized their own improved relations.

"We think that this summit is historic, because we are on another level, a level of partnership and cooperation," said Gorbachev's spokesman, Vitaly Ignatenko.

Bush arrived to an airport welcoming ceremony. A military band played the national anthems of both nations as he stood at attention beside Soviet Vice President Gennady Yanayev on a platform in front of Air Force One, which gleamed in the glare of television and airport lights.

The two-day meeting, which begins on Tuesday, also will include a final push for U.S.-Soviet sponsored Arab-Israeli peace talks.

And Gorbachev will press Bush for economic favors to accelerate reforms, expanding his theme from the London economic summit two weeks ago.

Bush and Gorbachev are to sign one landmark arms deal and begin work on another. But the main focus will be the Middle East and changes inside the Soviet Union, as symbolized by the decision to include Yeltsin and the president of Kazakhstan, Nursultan Nazarbayev, in one session, Ignatenko said.

The invitation marks a significant step toward sharing power between the central government and the republics.

Bush, in an interview with Soviet journalists published Monday, said he would deal mostly with Gorbachev, despite his ties with Yeltsin.

"I don't think that means we have a triangle where I deal with Yeltsin on the same basis as I deal with Gorbachev," Bush said in the interview, conducted last week. "Having said that, that doesn't preclude good relations with Yeltsin or anybody else ... But I just don't want to equate the two."

Gorbachev, in his interview with ABC, said Bush's earlier decision to meet with Yeltsin while in Moscow and to go on his own to Kiev did not constitute interference with internal Soviet affairs — any more than his own trip to Minnesota last year interfered in U.S. affairs.

A WEEKLY COLUMN BY E. DUANE ELBERT

RECOUNTING EASTERN'S PAST...

TURNING BACK THE PAGES

Editor's note: E. Duane Elbert is Eastern's centennial historian, preparing for the university's 100th anniversary in 1995. In commemoration of that and the recent 75th anniversary of The Daily Eastern News, Elbert's weekly column will take us back to what was happening this week on campus 75, 50 and 25 years ago.

75 years ago — Normal School News, July 21, 1916

We wish to thank the Normal School faculty, students and townspeople who have given us their loyal support. We also wish to announce that the Normal School News will be published each week of the coming school year and will be under the management of John Hawkins, Lyman Ritter and Frank Harris, with Howard De F. Widger as Faculty Advisor. Hand your dollar to Frank Harris or mail it to the Normal School News.

There is now growing in the greenhouse a full fruiting banana tree. The fruit, too well known to require any detailed description, grows upside down from the way which we see it hand in the market. The sight of a banana tree, with fruit on it, is well worth seeing. This and many other interesting things may be seen by visiting the green house.

Nearly all teachers of small town and rural schools feel handicapped. Library information and advice, and traveling libraries may be had by sending to the Illinois Library Extension Commission, Springfield.

Each traveling library consists of 25 books selected by expert librarians. These books contain material for all the grades. The library is loaned, free of charge, for the full term.

50 Years Ago — Eastern Teachers News, July 30, 1941

Roy K. Wilson, public relations director, is supervising the publication of a campus photographic magazine to be distributed to prospective freshmen at Eastern.

The 24-page booklet, which is entitled "Picture Yourself at Eastern," will endeavor by means of pictures and text to acquaint freshmen students with information about Eastern which they might otherwise find it difficult to obtain. Campus, buildings, instructors, staff, courses, extra-curricular activities, social life and athletics will be highlighted in the magazine.

This fall, beginning Sept. 8, will be the last quarter in which students are allowed to register for the two-year, diploma-certificating course at Eastern, or in any of the other Illinois state teachers colleges.

Limited certification will no longer be issued upon examination, but require four years of training, including five semester hours of practice teaching and a total of 16 semester hours in education.

This bill will not be retroactive; certificates now valid would be continued in force, and would be renewable under such conditions as now exist.

25 Years Ago — Eastern News, July 27, 1966

The national government's recent clamp-down on federal spending may delay the construction of the planned Booth Library annex for as long as two months, President Quincy Doudna reported Friday.

According to Doudna, President Johnson recently issued an order for all government departments to cut down on spending. Since Booth Library's proposed annex is slated to receive $671,000 in federal funds, it will come under review with other such projects.

The new telephones in campus building, including dorms, will be ready for use Sept. 1, 1966, according to Harley Holt, director of business services.

Holt also said that the Telephone Exchange Building is complete except for some sash windows which is now being done. The telephone company is at work installing telephones in other campus buildings as part of the overall telephone project, which is proceeding on schedule.

Milwaukee area slayer admits to more killings

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jeffrey L. Dahmer has confessed to killing three more men, bringing to 15 the number of slayings he has admitted, police said Monday.

Investigators said they have determined that three of the killings occurred at Dahmer's grandmother's home in West Allis, a Milwaukee suburb.

Police believe Dahmer, in whose apartment 11 mutilated bodies were found last week, is responsible for at least 17 killings, including a hitchhiker in Ohio 13 years ago. Authorities planned to search for the Ohio victim Tuesday at a property formerly owned by Dahmer's parents.

On Monday, police confirmed three new victims — two men killed at the grandmother's home and a Milwaukee man who relatives said disappeared last summer after going to a gay pride parade in Chicago.

None of the three bodies has been found, police said.

Investigators also have determined that one man whose skull was found at Dahmer's Milwaukee apartment July 22 was killed at the grandmother's home, said Robert Due, West Allis' deputy police chief.

Two of the newly disclosed victims were men whom Dahmer said he picked up in Milwaukee bars, brought to his grandmother's house and killed, Due said. The first of those killings was in January of 1985 or 1986, the second two months later, Due said. He said Dahmer was unclear on the dates.

Due wouldn't comment on whether the two were dismembered or had sex with Dahmer.

In the previously disclosed killings, court records say Dahmer has confessed that he lured men back to his apartment to take nude photos, drugged them, strangled them and dismembered their bodies.

He said he took pictures of the victims in various stages of mutilation and boiled some of their skulls.

He had sex with some victims, including one after death, and he told police he kept one victim's heart in a freezer to eat later, court records said.

Lanham selected as acting dean

By EVETTE PEARSON
News editor

The new Acting Dean of Library Services, Allen Lanham, is set to join Eastern's staff on Aug. 12 by a unanimous vote of the library search committee, said Vice President of Academic Affairs Robert Kindrick.

"Lanham is a very capable individual who has had considerable senior level administrative experience in higher education and extensive knowledge of current technology and automation," Kindrick said.

He will be responsible for all functions of Booth Library, including budget, human resources, materials and physical facilities.

"We indicated some priorities that we feel are also necessary in order to function in his position which include the ability to deal with the library faculty and staff in a productive manner, having a type of 'service attitude' to provide services for university community, understanding the importance of the library and providing services and lastly, keeping (the university) as current as possible in library technology within the limit of the budget," Kindrick said.

Lanham replaces Wilson Luquire, who has accepted a position as chief librarian at The City University of New York, City College.

"He received excellent support and good ratings from the university community, the dean's council and the open forum who critiqued his ability," Kindrick said.

Lanham is associate professor of music at the Inter American University of Puerto Rico at San German and has been on leave this year to complete his master's degree in library and information science from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

"I am very delighted to be working with him," Kindrick said.

Scholarship to aid student leaders

By GRETCHEN MEILAHN
Staff writer

The Sean R. McKinney Memorial Scholarship has been established and will be awarded annually to new students who are involved in making other students' lives better.

The scholarship, which is created from donations from former colleagues, family, and friends of McKinney, will be given to freshmen or transfer students who live in residence halls and show participation and leadership in residence hall work.

"The scholarship was a joint decision Sean and I talked about and agreed on before his death," said Pamela Parker-McKinney, the director of Alumni and Community Relations at Eastern.

"He was devoted to helping students and cared deeply for the many students and staff he worked with, and I wanted to be able to do something to perpetuate all that work and caring he has done."

McKinney was diagnosed with bone marrow cancer in April of 1990, and in spite of more than a year of extensive chemotherapy and other treatment, lost his battle with cancer on June 29, one day before his first wedding anniversary with Parker.

McKinney, son of Alan and Judy McKinney of Olney, earned his bachelor's degree in business in 1984 and master's in guidance and counseling in 1987, both from Eastern. He worked as a campus residence hall director while earning his master's degree.

After graduating from Eastern in 1987, he joined the housing staff at Texas Tech University, and a year later returned to Eastern as Complex Director, which involved counseling students, supervising staff and other duties, at Carman Hall, which houses incoming freshman and transfer students.

"Sean was an excellent role model and certainly had a positive impact on the many students and fellow staff members with whom who he worked," said Lou Hencken, associate vice president for student affairs and director of housing at Eastern. "Because he was a complex director, he was a member of the central housing staff and offered many positive suggestions concerning residence hall living."

Bruce's lecture cancelled after death

By EVETTE PEARSON
News editor

As many as 19 students who pre-registered for the European Workspace 1992 workshop will not be taught by the distinguished visiting professor Micheal Bruce because of his recent death.

Bruce, an educator and consultant, died of cancer on July 13 and funeral services were held last Friday.

The lecturer for the week-long workshop, which began on Monday at 3:30 p.m. in Lumpkin Hall, will be replaced by Allen Smith, an Eastern economic professor.

"The workshop has been re-titled to include information from Smith's findings to 'The Global Effects of Changing Europe,'" Smith said. "This is an area that I hadn't taught before, so I had to do some research."

The public lecture has been canceled and the class has been altered slightly to fit Smith's expertise, said Genie Simpson, director of summer school.

"Bruce's public lecture scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday would have dealt with the unification of Europe and the affects of it," Simpson said.

Bruce was a native of Great Britain and "was very familiar with (Europe) as an educator and consultant," Simpson said.

Pee-Wee Herman denies exposure charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor-comedian Paul Reubens, star of the CBS children's show "Pee-wee's Playhouse," on Monday denied police charges that he exposed himself in an adult movie theater.

CBS, however, said Monday it would drop five remaining "Pee-wee's Playhouse" reruns from its Saturday morning children's lineup.

Reubens, 38, who became famous as the nasal, bow-tied pre-adolescent Pee-wee Herman, was arrested Friday night in a Sarasota, Fla., adult theater and charged with indecent exposure.

An undercover vice officer said he saw the actor masturbate.

"According to Paul, the facts as stated by the vice squad were totally untrue and he never exposed himself or engaged in any other improper activities," his Los Angeles publicists, Richard Grant & Associates, said in a statement.

"Paul's family and friends have rallied to his support, along with hundreds of fans who have called his family with their words of support," the statement said.

"Paul, who is emotionally devastated by the embarrassment of the situation, is currently in seclusion with friends and eagerly anticipating his complete vindication," the statement said.

Earlier Monday evening, CBS announced it would drop the five remaining reruns of the Emmy-winning "Pee-wee's Playhouse," which had been canceled in April.

"In light of current circumstances, and until we know more, these episodes will not be presented on CBS," network spokeswoman Ann Morfogen said in a statement.

CAA curriculum process should be commended

Next spring, Eastern will implement a new general education core curriculum for students entering the University. But it also affects the students who are presently attending this institution.

The classes and proposals that have been approved this year apply to us, too. Students will see classes, designated with the letter C, replacing old classes. Classes that did not exist before will be offered to further enrich our education. Policies ranging from placement testing to workshop course credit will take effect.

Who do we have to thank for the new and improved curriculum? The Council on Academic Affairs. The group is made up of faculty and students who have dedicated hours upon hours of their time to see that Eastern maintains its standard of excellence. Although their work is mostly unrecognized by the general student population, the importance of their decisions can not be denied.

Greek Court, Lumpkin Hall and the recreation center are supposed to enable Eastern to compete better with other state universities. But these things mean nothing without a quality education to accompany them.

The CAA is nearing a tentative deadline, Aug. 15, when they are supposed to have completed their task of approving the remaining segments of the new curriculum. Time is running short.

In the process of approving the segments, the council hears subcommittee reports, asks questions, discusses the issues and votes. The approved material can and has been in the past few months rejected by President Stan Rives, who is equally committed to the council's collective goal. This has resulted further revision and discussion.

The process has indeed been time-consuming, but it shows that the CAA truly cares about our education and understands the responsibility it is undertaking. Its efforts should be supported.

The quality of our education is the bottom line. All else – the rec center, Greek Court and especially the Aug. 15 deadline – is secondary.

Partners for Excellence was a success

Last Friday, all of the high school seniors from the Partners for Excellence Program left for home, and I'll be the first to say that I really miss them.

Five long, hard weeks seemed to really pay off, because many of them left here with new friends, more knowledge and a new experience.

On June 23, many of them walked through the doors of Thomas Hall not knowing what to expect or even how to deal with the soon to be varied changes in their lives.

But after two week of interacting with students from East St. Louis, Decatur, Danville, Champaign and Chicago, they learned how to cope with roommates, food service, no money, no food, long classes (compared to their high school classes) and college life in general.

By the end of the four-week program, they were visiting the Black Expo in Indiana, Six Flags in St. Louis and the skating rink in Mattoon, and they became very acquainted with the bowling alley in the Martin Luther King Jr. University Union.

They went to their classes together. Some had their normal high school cliques, but many were adventurous enough to stay away from the norm and learn about their roommates, classmates and lunch pals.

These students not only took home with them the experience of a lifetime, but new found friendship that can not be replaced or torn away from their hearts.

During the final week, many of them were counting down the days, hours, minutes and seconds until it was time to depart for home.

Evette Pearson

No matter how fast they talked about running away from each other, they could hardly depart from one another for taking pictures, exchanging phone numbers and addresses, making promises of visitation and saying heart-felt goodbyes.

Once the moment approached to leave each other, they noticed an empty space that will never be the same again because all of them will never be in same room again, together, or even doing or saying some of the things they encountered in the past five weeks.

It may be a good idea for each of the classes of this three-year program to have a "class" reunion so they can talk about their achievements and life's experiences. It could take place during the regular banquet and possibly attract more students to the program and to Eastern.

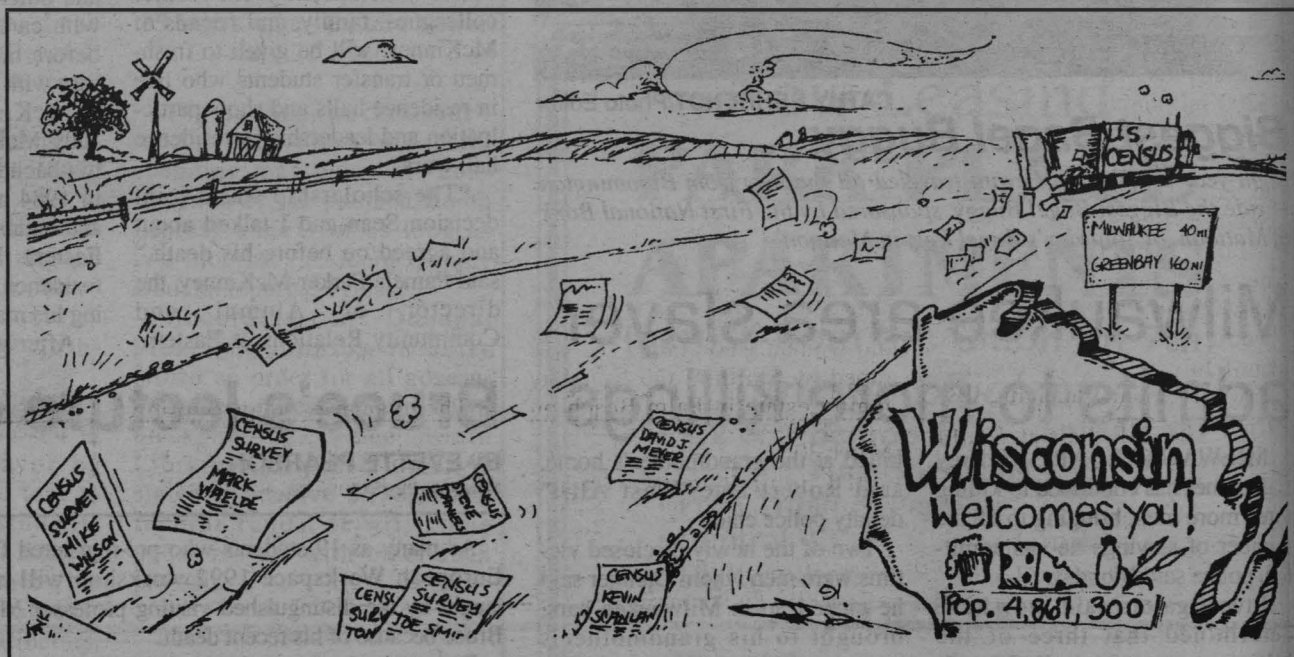

Even though many of the them were shouting to get home, they will never be able to stay away from Eastern because this was their first "home," even if they don't attend this university in the fall of 1992.

I would like to commend Hal Anderson and Charles Colbert for their will to continue the program and hope that with each year, the program increases in quality.

Secondly, I would like to commend the PFE staff for their hard work and determination to serve as positive role models to these students.

Everyone did a great job and it will show when these students are the next doctors, lawyers and engineers, saying, "I owe much of my college success to Eastern, the PFE program, the staff and all of the people who have helped me to get where I am today..."

– Evette Pearson is the news editor and a guest columnist for the summer edition of The Daily Eastern News.

Your turn

Students need to voice views on curriculum

Dear editor,

I would like to suggest that the students of this campus call to task their representatives on the Council for Academic Affairs. As three important votes on a council which is currently making decisions that will affect the curriculum on this campus for many years to come, it is appalling how little awareness it exhibits in the meetings.

The members openly admit that they have not read course proposals or are otherwise unprepared for discussions. Based on their complete silence regarding their constituency, they apparently have done little to no research into students' views on the programs being proposed for the new general education core.

If the results will affect a department or major, why are they not soliciting opinions from those students best qualified to know and then reflecting that information to the council? They even have been heard to wonder what the subject is upon which the council is voting during meetings.

This is an abuse of the responsibility which has been vested in them and, unfortunately, they are not the first ones to do so. It has been an ongoing area of neglect for many years.

Demand that you voice be heard!

Call upon your student government to appoint qualified and dedicated representatives. These positions offer some of the most powerful opportunity for student input in the university. Don't waste them.

Janet T. Marquardt-Cherry
Associate professor of art history

Wasted funding is causing federal budget problems

Dear editor,

While our representative and senators wrangle over the federal and state deficits, it is mind-boggling to read what all our taxes have been going for.

According to James C. Dobson of Focus on the Family, it took Citizens Against Government Waste, the Heritage Foundation and the National Taxpayers Union a year or more to dig some of the following federal expenditures out of budgetary documents:

- $49 million for a rock-and-roll museum.
- $5 million to help Ted Turner's Goodwill Games.
- $566 million (rising to $900 million later this year) to send American cows to Europe to participate in an "Export enhancement program."
- $107,000 to study the mating habits of Japanese quail.
- $1 million to study bicycling and walking safety.

– $46,000 to determine how long it takes to cook breakfast eggs.

– 6.1 million in the search for extraterrestrial life.

– $219,592 to teach college students how to watch television.

The National Endowment for the Arts, after fierce opposition by hundreds of thousands of citizenry last year for NEA's anti-Christian and obscene "art," had their kitty increased by $4 million after Congressional study. The list goes on and on. These were only a few of those reported by the watch dog group.

According to state Rep. E.J. "Zeke" Giorgi, D-Rockford, "our bills do sometimes border on the bizarre. I'm a little shocked myself sometimes," he said.

The Super-conducting Super Collider, the $8.25 billion atom smasher, has been called the Texas Monster and an Illinois congressman said: "This has turned out to be one of the hungriest hogs at the federal trough."

There are good men and women in our government who are doing a good job and are trying to hold the line. It is no wonder our state and federal governments are in such terrible shape. This will continue until we act as citizens – stand up and demand accountability!

Edgar offers aircraft firm tax incentives

CAHOKIA (AP) – Financial incentives worth more than $200 million are the bait Gov. Jim Edgar offered Monday to lure McDonnell Douglas Corp. to build a jet assembly plant in Southern Illinois.

Edgar signed a bill during a news conference at Bi-State Downtown Parks Airport that would give St. Clair County until July 1, 1994, to create a Tax Increment Financing district. The TIF district would allow the county to use taxes generated from a plant to pay for roads, sewers and other improvements needed for the area.

“We’re excited,” Edgar told about 75 people at the news conference. “This will mean jobs and a bright future.” John Thom, spokesman for Douglas Aircraft Co. in Long Beach, Calif., declined to comment on the governor’s plan. Douglas Aircraft is the division of McDonnell Douglas that will chose a factory location and manufacture the MD-12X jet.

Seven other areas are vying for the plant: Tulsa, Okla.; Shreveport, La.; Salt Lake City; Kansas City, Mo.; Fort Worth, Texas; Mesa, Ariz.; and Houston.

The company says it will build the $850 million jumbo jet plant only in an enterprise zone offering tax breaks and other incentives.

The company has asked for additional incentives totaling $1.5 billion. Those incentives include low-interest loans, job training credit, a 600-plus acre site and infrastructure improvements.

Edgar said he would also guarantee an enterprise zone designation for St. Clair County, including Scott Air Force Base, if the giant aircraft manufacturer locates the plant there.

Illinois Treasurer Patrick Quinn said his office would help McDonnell Douglas receive loans. The office deposits state funds with Illinois banks that will lend money at below-market rates to companies creating or retaining jobs.

Smith’s attorneys seek to move trial

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) – William Kennedy Smith’s attorneys sought to delay or move his trial and to exclude cameras from the courtroom to prevent what they called “a carnival atmosphere.” In a flurry of motions one week before the trial’s scheduled start, the defense also demanded disclosure of more extensive background information on the 29-year-old woman who claims she was raped by Smith at the Kennedy family estate in Palm Beach on March 30.

If Circuit Judge Mary Lupo won’t delay the trial, she should move it from Palm Beach County, the defense said in court papers made public Monday.

Smith, 30, a nephew of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has pleaded innocent.

A defense motion for change of venue was filed late Friday just after Smith’s attorneys moved to delay the trial for at least 90 days.

They said delay is their first choice “to allow the prejudice in this community to subside to see if a fair trial can be obtained in Palm Beach County sometime in the future.”

The change of venue motion says Smith cannot receive a fair trial in the county because of extensive publicity “in a manner so derogatory to William Smith, and prejudicial to his interest.”

Tailback Jamie Jones was one of five Panthers to be named as a preseason All-Gateway Football Conference selection.

Harbaugh, WKU ready for Gateway

By R.J. GERBER
Sports editor

ST. LOUIS — The Western Kentucky Hilltoppers won't get to compete for a Gateway Football Conference championship until 1992, but don't tell that to Jack Harbaugh.

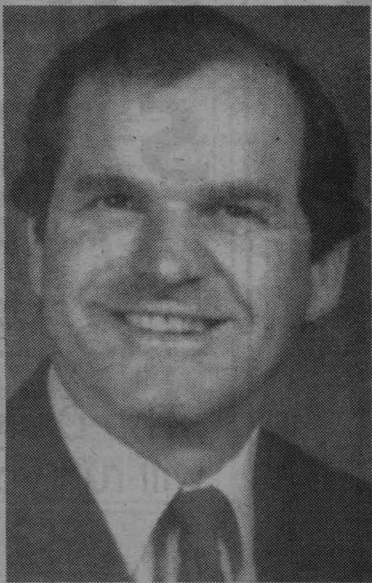

The father of Chicago Bear quarterback, Jim, and third-year head coach of the newest member of the Gateway, was one of the most excited people at St. Louis' Concourse Stouffer Hotel Monday during the league's media day event.

The Hilltoppers, independent in football since becoming a member of the Sun Belt Conference in 1982, have made the switch to the Gateway and four of the conference schools appear on the 1991 WKU schedule.

Harbaugh was elated about having the opportunity to play in a football-affiliated league.

"We haven't had this; we miss it. As an independent there's some advantages, but our kids for instance; they don't have things such as an all-league team, offensive player of the week or defensive player of the week. There's no such thing as a league championship. So through the season you can maintain that goal of achievement based on the other members of your conference — and we haven't had that.

"To be honest, until I was at Western Kentucky for a couple of years, I never understood how important it was to have that. So it's refreshing for us to compete again for a championship."

Jack Harbaugh

Harbaugh added that he's already learned some things about the Gateway. "When you have this type group, and when the presidents, coaches and athletic directors decide to expand, you look very critically at that program and make sure that program shares goals that you have. "Through the process of us getting into the league, I've discovered what the goals of this conference are. Number one, it has to be a clean program," he continued. "They're not going to tolerate anyone that's not going to do it the right way — they're interested in the student athlete.

"The other thing is competitive. For that reason we're glad to be a part of it and hopefully all of us can bring this league, collectively, to a position where it's a showcase for I-AA football."

By R.J. GERBER
Sports editor

ST. LOUIS — The preseason Gateway Football Conference poll is out, and it should come as no surprise that Northern Iowa has been selected as the favorite to win the championship and secure an automatic berth to the Division I-AA playoffs.

The purple Panthers received 10 of the 14 first place votes cast by league coaches and sports information directors. Southwest Missouri State, which shared the title with Northern Iowa in 1990, was second, followed by Illinois State, Eastern, Indiana State, Western Illinois and Southern Illinois.

As it is every year, the conference coaches played down the poll as nothing of any significance. Eastern head coach Bob Spoo, whose team received one first place vote, said he's got confidence in his senior-laden team.

"They asked us our vote and I noticed only one person picked us first and that was me," said the fifth-year coach. "That's because I believe in our players and our program and what we're trying to get done; but particularly our senior class."

The Panthers return 21 seniors including preseason all-conference picks tailback Jamie Jones, offensive guard Brad Fichtel, defensive lineman Kent McIntyre, safety Tony Farrell

1991 Gateway Football Conference Preseason Poll

(Points awarded on 7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis)

Team	Points
Northern Iowa	93.5
SW Missouri State	79.5
Illinois State	61.5
EASTERN	56
Indiana State	43.5
Western Illinois	29
Southern Illinois	29

Selections were made by Gateway Conference coaches and sports information directors.

and punter Brian Pindar. Eastern's five preseason picks were eclipsed only by the six selections from Northern Iowa.

Spoo pointed out that other coaches probably picked the Panthers to finish in the middle of the pack because of the inexperience of sophomore quarterback Jeff Thorne. He missed the final five games of 1990 with an ankle injury. "Because of the fact that our quarterback is such a youngster and they don't know a great deal about him," Spoo said of the poll. "That's the main thing that can place you lower. I think a great deal of him, and I have a lot of confidence in all our players, in our 21 seniors."

Spoo said the Panther hopes of proving the pollsters wrong depends on the condition of Thorne, although he doesn't particularly care for preseason polls. "It's going to depend on how quickly our quarterback matures and whether or not he can stay healthy, because he's got a pretty good supporting cast. If Jeff Thorne can stay healthy, I see us as a much more productive football team. Those are my expectations.

"It's something that I don't look forward to having to do (making predictions), but they want your opinion and that's my opinion. But as long as I feel good about our football team that's all that matters."

Northern Iowa coach Steve Allen said being selected No. 1 is an honor. "Everybody dreads and bemoans the fact of being picked No. 1, but it's not that bad," he said. "They have a lot of respect for the athletes that you have in your program and we've done some good things in the last couple years."

Allen said his squad will have to be successful on the road to capture the championship, because four of the six league games are away from the UNI-Dome.

"You have to play consistent football. Playing in the dome is a big factor, but playing away from the dome is a factor for us. The thing you have to look for is senior leadership when you play on the road.

"We're not blessed with a great amount of talented seniors. We've got six guys on the preseason conference list, but five of them are juniors."

Illinois State tries to take step toward Gateway championship

By R.J. GERBER
Sports editor

ST. LOUIS — After finishing in a tie for third place in the Gateway Conference last season with Eastern and Western Illinois, the Redbirds of Illinois State are trying to take the next step towards a conference championship.

Fourth-year Redbird head coach Jim Heacock, who has posted back-to-back 5-6 seasons after his first-year record of 1-10, said his experienced defense should lead the way into the 1991 campaign.

"Our defense is the best it's ever been," said the former University of Washington assistant. "If our seniors play the way I think they can, I think we will be competitive in the Gateway Conference."

Those seniors that Heacock spoke of include three Redbirds that made the preseason All-Gateway defensive list. Defensive back Anthony Burton, linebacker Wilbert Brown and lineman Tony Jones headline the ISU defense.

"Tony Jones is the best football player I've had since I've been at Illinois State," said Heacock. "Tony stands out because he is an All-American type candidate. He had a real good year last year.

"He puts pressure on the quarterback, and off the field he's a quality young man. He's going to graduate in four years, so he should be a leader off the field as well."

Jones, a 6-1, 225-pounder from Chicago, was a first-team Gateway performer in 1990 while collecting 100 tackles and 11 sacks. The Bogan High School product was named ISU's Defensive Player of the Year.

"Basically, I think that the big thing about our defense is the number of seniors we have coming back with experience," said Jones. "I think we have a good group of seniors. (The three pre-season all-conference selections) show our leadership. This year we're hoping to take each game one at a time, like it's the last game, and play as hard as we can."

Jones said he wants to gain some respect from national publications, but to do that, his squad must first be successful.

"My personal goal I want to set is a Gateway championship and that's a team goal too," he said. "I'd like to repeat (all conference) and get some national recognition too. I want to take this year and do the best I can, and hopefully move to the next level."

Heacock, whose team was picked third in a preseason poll by Gateway coaches and sports information directors, said his team has to acquire a winning attitude if it is to compete for the conference title.

"We went two years without winning a league game and after that, it's hard to win," Heacock said. "But I think now we've gotten to the point where we've won a few and the last two years we've been in the middle, so now there's a major step to the next level and that's where we're at."

"Our kids have some confidence in themselves and they think they can win some games. We've got to take the next step and win a championship."
